PREFACE

THE present volume contains the description of the Persian MSS. in the India Office Library exclusive of those dealt with in the Catalogue of Messrs. E. D. Ross and E. G. Browne (1902) and of the Delhi collection of MSS. The second volume, which is in a forward state of preparation, will consist of the following parts:

1. The description of a number of Additional Persian MSS., recently discovered in the Library.
2. A complete Index of the whole work in five distinct sections: (a) index of titles of books; (b) index of proper names of persons, authors, rulers, scribes, owners, &c.; (c) index of geographical names and ansâb; (d) general index of subjects; (e) index of dates or chronological register of historical and literary events.
3. A Conspectus of Manuscripts.
4. A concise statement on the various Collections of Persian MSS. in the Library and their origin.
5. A full List of Corrections and Additions.

As all the mistakes that have, inadvertently, crept into the text, will be rectified in the last-mentioned part, it will be sufficient to correct here only a few more serious errors or misleading statements, viz.:

No. 157: Imâm Mahdî, represented in the MS. as thirteenth Imâm, is, of course, identical with the twelfth, Abû-alkâsim Muḥammad bin al-Ḥasan (see Safinat-alauliya, No. 647, 16).

No. 170 (and likewise Nos. 175 and 558): read جهانکشای for جهاننگشای.

No. 190: read 'Abd-alsattâr bin Kâsim for 'Abd-alsattâr Kâsim, see No. 619.

No. 214: the Turki Wâq'ât-i-Bâbari, contained in this copy, and stated to be complete, is, as has been shown in Mrs. Beveridge's 'Notes on the MSS. of the Turki Text of Bâbar's Memoirs' in J. R. A. S., 1900, pp. 439-475, rather defective, going down to p. 403 in Ilminski's edition and p. 352 in Leyden and Erskine's translation: this error has already been rectified in No. 2989 (col. 1625).

No. 216: the description of this MS. correctly applies to No. 217 (30 according to the original Press-mark): 2654, given as the original Press-mark of No. 216 in the Catalogue, contains a copy of the first volume of the Akbarnâma.

No. 287: the statement, that this collection was never met with before, is due to an oversight; it is found in Rieu ii. p. 838^b.

No. 321: read 'Civil College' for 'Civil Collection.'

No. 400: A. H. 1137-1167, given as Shâhjahân's reign, must of course be 1037-1067 (or rather 1068).

No. 407: the names given in this MS. are very incorrect; they must be rectified by a collation with No. 449.

No. 409: read Mu'izz-aldin Muḥammad bin Sâm Ghûri for Mu'izz-aldin bin Muḥammad Sâm Ghûri.

No. 445: read دلکشا for دلگشا.

No. 508: read A. D. (1819-1849) for A. H.

No. 600: read Îltamish or rather Îltatmish for Altamish.

No. 605: read معراج النبوة for معراج النبوة.

No. 614: the author of the Arabic original is not Suhrawardi, who is mentioned himself as the last philosopher in the book, but Shahrâzûrî, comp. H. Beveridge in J. R. A. S., 1900, pp. 550 and 551.

No. 619 (col. 251, l. 26): read بواسطه مرد for بواسطه مرد.

No. 630, faṣl ix: read 'and was succeeded by the younger son of Calabi Amir 'Âbid, 'Âlim,' comp. ib. faṣl x, e. 2.

No. 647, 174: read Abū Turāb Nakhshabi for Abū Turāb Bakhshi; ib., 307, and No. 724, 1017: read Miyānaji for Miyānji.

No. 667 (col. 344, l. 7): read 'mystical love' for 'mystical lore.'

No. 724, 485: Al-Āmir biāḥkām-illāh reigned twenty-nine years, not nine; ib., 997: read Shāh Ismaʿil II for Ibrāhīm II.

No. 828: read 'translated from Hindi' for 'translated from Hindūstāni.'

No. 1241 (col. 717, l. 10): read صفای for صفوای.

No. 1821 (col. 998, l. 3): read 1650 for 650.

No. 1850 (col. 1021, l. 35): read p. 17, No. 5, for p. 7, No. 5.

No. 2093: read Nos. 1574 and 1575 for Nos. 1074 and 1075.

No. 2792, VII, 9: read Harisah and حرسة for Harisah and حرسة.

Incomplete or incorrect Press-marks are:

No. 275: 8. J. 6. = 3476. No. 276: 8. J. 3. = 3475. No. 279: 8. J. 5. = 2473. No. 283: 8. J. 8. = 3491. No. 286: 8. J. 9. = 2503. No. 357: 14. J. 11. = 3486. No. 511: 14. J. 23. = 3501. No. 848: 1481, read 481. No. 1000: 381, read 384. No. 1063: 2875, read 2815. No. 1236: 3124, read 3214. No. 1295: 3514, now 3535. No. 1462: 3514, read 3542. No. 1527: 3374, olim 13. J. 10, read 3474. No. 1730: 2148, now 3444. No. 2505: 10. J. 12. = 3305. Duplicate Press-marks are 3112 in Nos. 668 and 2833; 3520 in Nos. 942 and 2765.

The system of transliteration is the same as in my Bodleian Catalogue, viz.:

ʾ = ' (except at the beginning of words, where any distinctive mark appeared unnecessary).

ب = b	پ = p	ت = t	ث = th
ج = j	چ = c	ح = h	خ = kh
د = d	ذ = dh	ر = r	ز = z	ژ = zh
س = s	ش = sh	ص = s	ض = d	ط = t	ظ = z
ع = 'e'	غ = gh	ف = f	ق = k
ک = k	گ = g	ل = l	م = m	ن = n
و = w (occasionally v)		ه = h	ی = y

In transcribing Persian and Arabic words (also Turkish, Hindūstānī and Pushtū) the principle of representing Eastern orthography—not the pronunciation—has been followed.

In the following table of 'Contents' all single works or collected works of one and the same author, appearing in five or more copies in this Catalogue, as well as the larger collections of biographical accounts, and any other rare or particularly interesting and important book are specially mentioned under each chapter-heading, with the addition of those copies, found in the 'Additional MSS.' and the 'Appendix' at the end (columns 1524-1632). Only the contents of Chapter VIII (Poetry) of the 'Additional MSS.' (columns 1548-1580) have been given in full in their proper place, on account of their detailed subdivisions.

CATALOGUE OF PERSIAN MSS.

A. HISTORY.

I. GENERAL HISTORY.

A succinct chronological list of all the rulers of the world, that is, in particular, of Īrān, Tūrān, and Hindūstān (تواریخ پادشاهان ایران و توران و هندوستان و غیره), see the colophon on fol. 19^b), beginning with Gayūmarth (see fol. 6^b, l. 1: اول تخت نشین جهان کیومرث از فرزندان بهلائیل بن قینان بود اورا سیاه نیز), and concluding the list of the emperors of Dihlī with Muḥammadshāh (on fol. 14^a). The remainder of this short tract contains the rulers of the Dakhan on fol. 14^a, of Bijāpūr on fol. 15^a, of Gujarāt on fol. 15^b, of Mālwa on fol. 16^a, of Bangālūh and Lakhnau on fol. 17^b, of Jaunpūr, Multān, and Kashmīr on fol. 18^b.

Dated in the month Āsin, in the year 1196 of the Bangālī era.

No. 3058, ff. 6-19, ll. 14-15; Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 6½ in.

Old copy of the Persian translation of Abū Ja'far Muḥammad bin Jarir bin Yazīd al-Ṭabarī's general history, made at the request of the Sāmānide prince Abū Ṣāliḥ Maṣṣūr bin Nūḥ (A. H. 350-366 = A. D. 961-976) by Abū 'Alī Muḥammad bin Muḥammad al-Ba'fāmī in A. H. 352 (A. D. 963), comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 2-13; Rieu i. p. 68 sq.; W. Morley, p. 17 sq.; G. Flügel ii. p. 64, etc.; and Zotenberg's French translation in four volumes, Paris, 1867-1874. Beginning: سیاس و آفرین مر خدا برا که کامگار کامگاران و آفریننده زمین و آسمان و روزی دهند انس و جان آنکش نه همتا و نه انباز و نه دستور و نه بار و نه زن و نه فرزند است الخ.

Author's and translator's names on fol. 1^b, ll. 8 and 9. A detailed index with the chronological tables on ff. 2^a-4^b. Creation of the world on fol. 4^b, l. 5. This copy goes down to the reign of the Khalīf Almu'taṣim-billāh, who died A. H. 227 (A. D. 842), after which follows the usual abridged account of the succeeding Khalīfs down to Alnaṣir-billāh, with whose accession, A. H. 575

IND. OFF.

(A. D. 1180), the work concludes. There is no date, but the original portions of the MS., viz. ff. 13-129, 131-164, and 166-314, are very old, exhibiting all the common features of primitive Persian MSS., written in Naskhī. Ff. 294 and 311 greatly injured, portions of the leaves being torn away.

No. 2669, ff. 353, ll. 33; excellent Naskhī; ff. 1-12, 130, 165, and 315-353 supplied by a later hand; size, 11¼ in. by 8¼ in.

The same.

This excellent copy agrees upon the whole with the preceding one, beginning: سیاس و آفرین مر خدای را که کامگار کامگاران الخ.

The same chronological tables in the preface, but all except the first are left blank and not filled in. The first page is a little injured at the inner corner. The abridged continuation goes down, as in the preceding copy, to the accession of Alnaṣir-billāh, A. H. 575.

No. 738, ff. 401, ll. 29; very clear and equal Nasta'liq; size, 15½ in. by 9½ in.

The same.

Beginning as in the preceding copies, but with some slight modifications, viz. سیاس و آفرین مر خدای را که (کامگار) کامگاران و آفریده زمان و زمین را آنکس کسی است که نه همتا بود و نه دستور الخ.

The names of author and translator in the preface on fol. 1^b; also the full chronological tables. The copy goes down to the reign of Khalīf Almustaẓhir-billāh (who reigned A. H. 487-512 = A. D. 1094-1118).

Dated the 9th of Dhū-alhijjah, A. H. 1025 (A. D. 1616, Dec. 18).

No. 125, ff. 617, ll. 21; written partly in Naskhī, partly in Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, 13½ in. by 9 in.

The same.

Beginning again slightly modified, viz. سیاس و آفرین مر خدای را که کامگار و بنده بروراست و آفریده زمین و زمان الخ.

The preface contains, as in the preceding copies, the names both of author and translator, and the full chronological tables. The copy ends likewise with Almustazhir-billah's reign. Between ff. 27 and 28 there is a lacuna, corresponding to No. 738 (3 in this Cat.), fol. 20^b, l. 17-fol. 22^a, l. 6. Fol. 411^b is left blank.

Copied in the twenty-first year of (? probably 'Alamgir's reign = A. H. 1089 = A. D. 1678).

No. 318, ff. 608, ll. 21; unequal Nasta'lik, written by several hands, as it seems; some lines here and there, especially Arabic quotations, in large Naskh; many water-spots; size, 13 m. by 9 $\frac{7}{8}$ in.

The same.

The beginning runs here thus: سپاس و آفرینش (read آفرین) مر خدای کامگار و کامران را آفرینندهٔ زمین و آسمان را الحم.

The names both of author and translator appear on fol. 1^b, ll. 6 and 7; but there are no chronological tables. The history of the creation begins on fol. 2^b. The copy goes down to the death of Ma'mûn only, A. H. 218 (A. D. 833).

No date.

No. 2527. ff. 452, ll. 25 on ff. 1-333, ll. 26 on ff. 334-452; Nasta'lik by two different hands, the second, resembling Shikasta, on ff. 334-452; all the Arabic quotations in Naskhi; illuminated frontispiece; size, 15½ in. by 10½ in.

The same.

This copy agrees upon the whole with the immediately preceding one, beginning: سَاس و سَتَابَش مَر
خَدَای گَامَگَار و کَامَرَانَرَا و آفَرِیَنَدَه زَمِیَن و سَمَان

Author's and translator's names on fol. 1^b, ll. 6 and 7. No chronological tables. The story of the creation begins on fol. 4^a. This copy breaks off in the story of Bālak (who first appeared A. H. 201 = A. D. 816); the rest is wanting. One of the missing leaves is represented by fol. 2, which has been by mistake inserted between ff. 1 and 3, the text of fol. 3 following immediately that of fol. 1. Small injuries throughout. Some English and French accounts of Ṭabari's work on the fly-leaves. Among various entries on fol. 1^a there is one from A. H. 1035 (A. D. 1625, 1626). Presented by Capt. J. Salmond. July 8, 1814.

No. 3310, olim 15. J. 8, ff. 672, ll. 21; careles and not seldom very incorrect Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

The same.

Another redaction of Bal'ami's version, agreeing with Morley's first copy, and beginning: الحمد لله العلى الاعلى
الولى مرولى الوفى ذى الاسماء الحسنى والصفات الحم

Comp. H. Khalfa ii. p. 136, and Bodleian Cat., No. 5. Ṭabari's name occurs in the preface, prince Maṣṣūr's too, but not the translator's. It goes down to Almuṭaṣṣim's death in A.H. 227 (on fol. 703a), and is concluded by the same abridged continuation as most of the preceding copies.

Good old but undated copy. After fol. 65r a lacuna, as it seems.

No. 3315, olim 15. J. 9, ff. 72⁵, ll. 21; Naskhi, the last twenty-four leaves supplied by another hand; injured in many places; size, 9⁵/₈ in. by 6¹/₄ in.

The same.

Another, tolerably old, but undated copy of Ṭabari's chronicle, completely agreeing with Morley's second copy and Fraser 131 in the Bodleian Library (Bodleian Cat., p. 5, No. 9). Like those two it consists of two portions, the first, on ff. 1^b-309^a (نصف اول), comprising the whole historia-anteislamica (including Muḥammad's birth, etc., on fol. 268^a sq.), the second (on ff. 310^b-718^b) beginning with Muḥammad's genealogy and life and going down to the Khalf al-Mustaẓhir-billāh. The names of the author, Ṭabari, and of the Persian translator, Bafāmi, appear on fol. 1^b, ll. 8-10, and in the subscription at the end on fol. 718^a, l. 4 ab infra sq.

Beginning of the first portion, on fol. 1^b: سباس و
آفرین مرخدای جهانیان و آفریننده زمیں و زمان الخ

Beginning of the second portion, on fol. 310^b: الحمد لله فصل در ذکر آغاز اخبار بیغامبر ما صلی الله علیه و سلم و باران و (او read) رضی الله عنهم الخ

On fol. 1^a various entries from A.H. 1192 (A.D. 1778).
Lacunas after ff. 15 and 21.

No. 1938. ff. 718, ll. 21; small but distinct Nasta'lik: small and very effaced frontispiece on fol. 1^b; worm-eaten; the first five and some of the last leaves considerably damaged; size, 10 $\frac{5}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

10

The same.

This redaction is different again—it begins with a full index in four columns, on ff. 1^b-3^b (فهرست نأربع). The work itself opens on fol. 4^b in this manner: آفریننده زمين و آسمان را و آنچه بدو اندرست و بپدا کننده شب و روز را سپاس دارم. برآن نيكوئتها كه بندگان خوش را مخصوص فرمود آني.

A few lines of a preface follow in which the names of the author, the translator, and the Sāmānide prince are quoted, and immediately on the same page the history itself, which is styled here تاريخ نامه بزرگ, begins with the آغاز سخن. It is divided into two portions, the first of which, on ff. 4^b-180^a, contains the pre-Muḥammadan history. The second begins on fol. 181^b with Muḥammad's birth: خبر ولادت بیغامر ما محمد مصطفی قال التی صلی اللہ علیہ وسلم وُلِدْتُ فِي زمن الملك العادل انوشرواں الخ, and goes down, as in most copies, to Almustażhir-billāh.

Fol. 1b is greatly damaged, especially the heading. Slight injuries throughout. The last leaf is partly torn out. Copied for the library of Nawwabkhan Amunkhan bin 'Azizkhan, A. H. 1013 (A. D. 1604, 1605).

No. 747, ff. 467, ll. 27; Naskhi; size, 12 in. by 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

A defective copy of the same.

Three leaves are missing in the beginning; the copy opens abruptly thus (on fol. 8^a): از آدم تا نوح واز
نوح تا ابراهيم واز ابراهيم الخ, corresponding to No. 2669 (2 in this Cat.), fol. 3^b, last line.

Account of the creation on fol. 8^b. The copy goes down to the reign of the Khalif Alkhalir (A. H. 320-322 = A. D. 932-934). The proper order of ff. 1-9 is: 8, 7-2 (turned upside down), 1, 9; of ff. 195-202: 195, 200, 201, 198, 196, 197, 202; of ff. 610-613: 610, 613, 612, 611. In a few other places besides these the catchword does not agree with the beginning of the next page. Many corrections in the beginning. Worm-eaten throughout.

No. 2370, ff. 613, ll. 21; Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 7½ in.

A still more defective copy of the same.

This copy begins abruptly in the middle of the chronological tables, agreeing with No. 2669, fol. 2^b middle, and breaks off towards the end of Bâbak's story; the last words on fol. 710^b agree with No. 2669, fol. 351^a, l. 4 ab infra. The account of the world's creation begins on fol. 17^a, Muhammad's life on fol. 331^c. The proper order of the leaves is this: 1-678, 711-732, 757-762, 679-685, 733-756, 686-710.

No. 1888, ff. 762, ll. 21; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 12½ in. by 7½ in.

A large fragment of the same.

This copy contains only the second half of the work, from Muhammad to the reign of Almustazhir-billah, beginning abruptly thus: و حربى او بسياراست و . . .
اندر خلافت عمر گفته شد و تا بدان وقت الخ corresponding to No. 738 (3 in this Cat.), fol. 178^a, l. 11. The first heading which occurs here, in l. 4, is: آغاز دىغامير ما محمد مصطفى صلوات الله وسلامه عليه والخلفاء والسلطين agreeing with No. 738, fol. 178^a, l. 14. The redaction of this as well as of the other two defective copies is the same as in Nos. 2669, 738, etc.

No date.

No. 340, ff. 396, ll. 25; distinct Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

Tabakât-i-Nâsiri (طبقات ناصرى).

General history of the world, from the oldest times to A. H. 658 (A. D. 1259, 1260), beginning: الحمد لله الاول الذى لا ابتداء لوجوده الآخر الذى لا انتهاء لوجوده الخ.

The author's name is partly destroyed by worms; the remaining portion runs here thus: Abû 'Amr (عمرو, instead of the usual 'Umar) an ('Uthmân) bin . . . (Sirâj-al-din) alminhaj aljuzjani; comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 16; Ricu i p. 72; W. Morley, p. 21 sq.; J. Aumer, p. 67; Elliot, History of India, ii. p. 259 sq.,

etc. The work was completed A. H. 658, see fol. 338^a, ll. 11 and 12. The twenty-three tabakât are found here as follows:

I. The prophets, on fol. 3^a.

II is not marked here; the first four Khalifs and the Imâms follow without interruption at the close of Muhammad's life, on fol. 42^b.

III. Here consequently styled الطبقة الثانية: the Banû Umayyah, on fol. 53^a.

IV. Correctly styled الطبقة الرابعة (number III is therefore left out altogether): the Banû 'Abbâs, on fol. 58^b.

V. Not numbered as tabakâh, but simply styled ذكر: the kings of Persia down to Yazdajird III, subdivided into five tabakât, on fol. 73^a.

VI. The Tubba's and kings of Yaman, on fol. 100^b.

VII. The Tahirides, on fol. 110^a.

VIII. The Saffarides, on fol. 113^b.

IX. The Sâmanides, on fol. 116^a.

X. The Bûyides or Dailamis, on fol. 127^a.

XI. The Ghaznawides, on fol. 130^b.

XII. The Saljûks, on fol. 141^b.

XIII. The Sanjariyyah kings, on fol. 156^a.

XIV. The kings of Nîmrûz and Sijistân, on fol. 160^a.

XV. The Kurdish kings, on fol. 167^a.

XVI. The Khwârizmshâhs, on fol. 174^a.

XVII. The Shansabânîs and kings of Ghûr, on fol. 187^b.

XVIII. The Shansabâniyyah kings of Tukhârîstân, on fol. 225^b.

XIX. The Shansabâniyyah Sultâns of Ghazna, on fol. 230^b.

XX. The Mu'izzi Sultâns of Hindûstân, on fol. 243^a.

XXI. The Shamsiyyah Sultâns of Hindûstân, on fol. 257^a.

XXII. The Mulûk-alshamsiyyah, or the vassals and eminent men who served under the Shamsiyyah kings, on fol. 289^a.

XXIII. On the inroads of the infidels, C'ingizkhân and his descendants, on fol. 337^b.

Dated at Sûrat the 8th of Sha'bân. A. H. 1113 (A. D. 1702, Jan. 8), by Hâjî Muhammad Sharif ibn Mullâ Muhammad Sharif ibn Mullâ Muhammad Tâhir Hîşârî. The middle part of the MS. contains a great number of pencil-notes in English and emendations to the Persian text. The first pages greatly injured. The main portions of the work, viz. tabakas XI, XVII-XXIII, have been edited by Capt. W. Nassau Lees, Calcutta, 1864 (Bibliotheca Indica, Series III). English translation by Major H. G. Raverty (in the same Bibliotheca Indica), London, 1873-1881.

No. 2553, ff. 402, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5 in.

Another slightly defective copy of the same.

The beginning is missing. The author is called Abû 'Umar 'Uthmân bin Muhammad bin Sirâj (in the text stood originally al-Minhâj, but this is struck out) aljuzjani. His usual name, Minhâj bin Sirâj, is quoted here at the end.

The date, given in the last line of the last page, viz.

A. H. 650, is apparently a mistake for A. H. 658, comp. fol. 449^a, l. 10: در تاریخ سنه ثمان و خمسين و ستمائه که اتمام آن تاریخ و طبقات است.

The upper half of the first fourteen leaves is entirely torn away; in the following pages the damage is repaired by a later hand. Ff. 341-348 and 436 are also added by later hands. An entry from Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1157 (A. D. 1744, April-May), on fol. 1^a.

No. 1952, ff. 450, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5¼ in.

Nizâm-altawârikh (نظام التواريخ).

An abridgment of general history from the beginning to A. H. 674 (see the date of the preface, viz. 21st of Muharram, 674 = A. D. 1275, July 17, on fol. 2^b, last line but two), by the Kâdi-alkudât Nâsir-ahmîllah wa-aldin Abû Sa'id 'Abdallâh bin almaulâ kâdi-alkudât Abi-alkâ'im 'Umar bin al-Inâm al'allamah Fakhr-ahakki wa-aldin Muḥammad bin 'Ali al-Baidâwi, the famous commentator of the Kūrân (see fol. 2^a, l. 8 sq.), and entitled نظام التواريخ (see fol. 2^b, ll. 6 and 7). For further details we refer to the Bodleian Cat., Nos. 18-22; Rieu ii. p. 823; Notices et Extraits iv. pp. 672-699; G. Flugel ii. p. 60; Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Batav. iii. p. 1; H. Khalfâ vi. p. 354; Elliot, History of India, ii. p. 252 sq., etc.

Beginning: حمد بی نهایت و شکر بی غایت مبدعی را که بیک امرکن عالم ارواح و اشباح را بدد کرد الخ

The work is divided into four kisms. Index on fol. 3^a.

Kism I on fol. 3^b: God's prophets and elects, from Adam to Noah.

Kism II on fol. 6^a: Old Persian kings, in four ṭabaḳât (Pishdâdians, Kayâniâns, Ashkânians, and Sâsânians). This kism breaks off in the fourth ṭabaḳah with Nûshirwân bin Kubbâd, on fol. 24^b, in consequence of a large lacuna after fol. 24, which comprises not only the remainder of this kism, but also the greater portion of the first ṭabaḳah of Kism III (History of Muḥammad, the first four Khalifs, the Umayyades, and the Abbâsides, in three ṭabaḳât); it opens here on fol. 25^a with the end of 'Ali's reign.

Kism IV on fol. 36^b: Minor dynasties (read قسم چهار instead of طیفه چهارم), in nine ṭâ'ifas, viz. 1. Saffârîdes, on fol. 37^a; 2. Sâmanîdes, on fol. 38^a; 3. Ghaznawîdes, on fol. 39^b; 4. Dailamis, on fol. 42^b; 5. Saljûks, on fol. 47^b; 6. Isma'îlis or kings of Kûhistan, on fol. 52^b; 7. Salgharîdes, on fol. 54^b; 8. Khwârizmshâhs, on fol. 60^a; 9. Moghuls, on fol. 62^b.

No date. On fol. 1^a there are seals of former owners, with the dates A. H. 1051 (A. D. 1641, 1642), 1122 (A. D. 1710, 1711), and 1182 (A. D. 1768, 1769).

No. 1346, ff. 63, ll. 12; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

Jâmi'-altawârikh (جامع التواريخ).

The first volume of the general history of Rashid-aldin Faḍl-allâh bin 'Imâd-aldaulah Abû-alkhair bin Muwaffik-aldaulah 'Ali, usually called Rashid Ṭabib, who was born at Hamadân, A. H. 645 (A. D. 1247), and executed A. H. 718 (A. D. 1318). The common title of the work is Jâmi'-altawârikh, but it is also styled Ta'rikh-i-Mubâraghâzânî (see fol. 4^b, l. 11), in honour of Sultân Maḥmûd Ghâzânkhân, at whose command the author began this work and finished it in Uljâitû's reign, A. H. 710 (A. D. 1310, 1311). The history is brought down to A. H. 703 (A. D. 1303, 1304); comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 23; W. Morley, p. 1 sq.; Rieu i. p. 74 sq.; G. Flugel ii. pp. 179-181; Elliot, Bibliogr. Index, pp. 1-47, and History of India, i. p. 42, and iii. p. 1 sq.; J. Aumer, p. 69; Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society, vi. pp. 11-41, and vii. pp. 267-272.

This first volume, a large portion of which has been published in text and French translation by Etienne Quatremère in his 'Histoire des Mougols de la Perse,' Paris, 1836, contains in two books the origin and history of the Turkish tribes and the history of Čingizkhân, his ancestors and descendants, to the end of Ghâzânkhân's reign. The preface begins here thus: حمد و ثناء فراوان و شکر و سپاس بی پایان مر آفریدگار بیجون و مبدع صنائع کن فیکون را جل جلاله الخ

First book, on the Turkish tribes, on fol. 6^a باب اول از مجلد اول از کتاب جامع التواريخ در بیان حکایات ظهور اقوام اترک و کیفیت انشعاب ایشان بقبائل مختلفه (و شرح حال آبا و اجداد هر قوم بر سبیل کلی subdivided into a dibâ'ca and four chapters.

Second book, on the history of Čingizkhân, etc. باب دوم از مجلد اول از کتاب جامع التواريخ در بیان (داستانهای اقوام مغول و اترک و غیرهم), subdivided into two fasls: 1. Čingizkhân's predecessors and ancestors, on fol. 56^a; 2. History of Čingizkhân, on fol. 73^a (heading is omitted). This book is interspersed with detailed accounts of contemporary dynasties in Irân, Rûm, Syria, Egypt, Khwârizm, Khurâsân, 'Irâq, Ghazna, Transoxania, etc.; comp. ff. 85^a, 100^b, and 140^a.

On fol. 157^a begins the history of Čingizkhân's sons and successors, viz. Uktâikhân on fol. 157^a, Jûjikhân on fol. 177^a, Čaghatâikhân on fol. 188^b, Tûlûikhân on fol. 194^a, Kuyûkkhân on fol. 198^a, Mungghâkhân on fol. 203^a, Kûblâikhân on fol. 215^a, Tumûrkhân on fol. 238^a, Hûlâgûkhân on fol. 242^b, Abâkâkhân on fol. 265^a, Sultân Almad, i. e. Tâkûdâr bin Hûlâgûkhân, on fol. 283^a, Arghûkhân on fol. 289^b, Kaikhâtûkhân on fol. 298^b, Ghâzânkhân on fol. 302^a. The history of each of these sovereigns is divided into three kisms; the third kism of Ghâzânkhân's history consists of the forty حکایات on the virtues and prominent qualities of that monarch, which are quoted by Rieu and Aumer, loc. cit., and begins on fol. 336^a. An abridgment of this kism is found in Capt. W. Kirkpatrick's 'Institutes of Ghazan Khan' (New Asiatic Miscellany, pp. 171-226). The same W. Kirkpatrick presented this copy to the library, May 30, 1804.

No date. Many small blanks. On the fly-leaves indices, written in English.

Ta'rikh-i-Banâkiti (تاریخ بناکتی).

General history, abridged from the Jâmi'-altawârikh of Rashid-al-din, by Abû Sulaimân Dâ'ud bin Abî-alfadl Muhammad albanâkiti, with the surname of Fakhr, completed the 25th of Shawwal, A. H. 717 (A. D. 1317, Dec. 31), and dedicated to Sultân Abû Sa'id bin Sultân Muhammad Uljâitûkhân bin Arghûnkhân bin Abâkâ-khân bin Hûlâgûkhân bin Tûlûikhân bin Cîngizkhân (see ff. 1b, ll. 4 and 5, and 2a, ll. 9-12). Its full title is given here as: روضة لاولی الالباب فی معرفة التواریخ; و الانساب; see fol. 2a, ll. 13 and 14. It is divided into nine kisms (an index of which is given on ff. 2a-3a):

First kism: History of the prophets from Âdam to Abraham, on fol. 3a.

Second kism: Ancient history of Persia from Gayû-marth to Yazdajird III, on fol. 13b.

Third kism: History of the Arabs from Muhammad to Almusta'sim-billah, the last 'Abbâside Khalif, on fol. 37b.

Fourth kism: History of the dynasties of Îrân, contemporary with the 'Abbâside Khalifs, on fol. 116b.

Fifth kism: History of the Jews from Moses to Zedekiah, on fol. 232a.

Sixth kism: History of the Christians and Europeans from Christ to the author's time, on fol. 150a.

Seventh kism: History of the Hindûs to Sultân 'Alâ-aldin Muhammad Shâh Khilji, on fol. 170b.

Eighth kism: History of the Chinese, on fol. 182a.

Ninth kism: History of the Moghuls from Cîngiz-khân to Abû Sa'id, on fol. 193a.

Majma'-alansâb (مجمع الانساب).

An abridgment of general history down to the death of Sultân Abû Sa'id, A. H. 736 (A. D. 1335), by Muhammad bin 'Alî bin Shaikh Muhammad biu-al-Hasan bin Abî Bakr (see this full name on fol. 7b, ll. 9 and 10), who began the first sketch of the work in A. H. 733 (A. D. 1332, 1333), see fol. 2b, l. 3, and re-wrote the whole after his MS. had been destroyed in the pillage of the house of the wazir Ghiyâth-al-din Muhammad, comp. the two dibâças at the beginning of this work, the second of which begins on fol. 6a. He completed it A. H. 743 (A. D. 1342, 1343). Comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 31; Rieu i. p. 83; and W. Morley, pp. 28-30.

Contents:

Mufattiḥ or introduction, containing a short outline of cosmography, anthropology, and geography, on fol. 13a.

Kism I: Âdam and the other prophets, on fol. 42b.

Kism II: The various dynasties of the world, on fol. 47^a.

A detailed index of this second kism, the subdivisions of which are in great confusion, see in Rieu and Morley. It concludes with the death of Abū Sa'īd, A. H. 736, after which there follows the same enumeration of the Atābegs of Lūristān down to Nuṣrat-aldīn Pir Alīmad, as in Morley's copy.

Manāhij-āl-tālibin (مناهج الطالبين).

A general history down to Shāh Shujā' Muẓaffari (who reigned A. H. 760-786, A. D. 1359-1384), entitled Manāhij-āt-tālibin fī Ma'arif al-mādqin. The last date, which occurs on fol. 653^a, is A. H. 777 (A. D. 1375-1376). The author's name seems not to be mentioned anywhere. This منتخب, or abridged compendium as it is styled on fol. 3^a sq., is chiefly devoted to the history of the prophets, Khalīfs, and Imāms, which fills the second kism, or the greater portion of the whole work. It is divided into the following three kisms (dealing respectively with the creation, the ancient prophet, Muḥammad and the Umayyade and 'Abbāsīde Khalīfs, and the dynasties contemporary with and posterior to the 'Abbāsides):

قسم اول در ابتدای آفرینش عالم و کیفیت آن, in four bābs: 1. در بدو فطرت و کیفیت خلقت عالم, on fol. 4^b; 2. در کیفیت آفرینش آسمان و شمس و قمر و در کیفیت 3. در کواکب ثوابت و سیاره الخ, on fol. 7^a; 4. در آفرینش زمین و طبقات آن و اعداد بحار الخ, on fol. 18^b; 5. در قصه جابلقا و جابلسا الخ, on fol. 28^b.

قسم دوم در احوال انبیا و اولیا و خلفا و ملوک و وقائع در کیفیت 1. در کیفیت اشکان, in twenty-two bābs: 1. در کیفیت اشکان, on fol. 31^a; 2. در نبوت و احوال ادریس, on fol. 47^b; 3. در نبوت نوح, on fol. 52^b; 4. در نبوت و

در بعثت ابراهیم خلیل, 5. در بعثت ابراهیم خلیل, on fol. 61^a; 6. در نبوت یعقوب و یوسف, on fol. 102^a; 7. در نبوت شعیب, on fol. 140^b; 8. در نبوت صبرانوب, on fol. 151^b; 9. در بعثت کلیم الله موسی, on fol. 154^a; 10. در نبوت یوشع بن نون, on fol. 222^a; 11. در نبوت داود, on fol. 241^b; 12. در نبوت داود, on fol. 241^b; 13. در نبوت و مملکت سلیمان, on fol. 254^a; 14. در نبوت یونس, on fol. 282^b; 15. در نبوت الیاس و البسع, on fol. 292^b; 16. در نبوت ارمیا بن خلفیا, on fol. 298^b; 17. در بعثت عیسی و وعزیر بن شریح, on fol. 311^a; 18. در بعثت سید المرسلین الخ محمد, on fol. 363^a; 19. در خلافت خلفاء الراشدین, on fol. 447^a; 20. در اسامی خلفاء بنی امیه و بنی مروان و بنی عباس, on fol. 517^a; 21. در مقامات و مراتب اولیا الخ, on fol. 527^a; 22. در فوائد و امثال و حکایات متفرقة الخ, on fol. 589^a.

قسم سوم در ذکر ملوک و سلاطین, in four bābs: 1. در ذکر ملوک فرس, on fol. 621^a (down to Yazdajird III); 2. در تواریخ ملوک و سلاطین که از عهد خلافت آل عباس الی یومنا هذا, on fol. 633^a (in seven tā'ifas, the last of which contains Čingizkhān and his successors); 3. در سلطنت و خلافت و اتمام مملکت بادشاه اسلام, (that is, ابو الفوارس شاه شجاع, on fol. 642^a).

Beginning: شکر و ساس و حمد و ثنا باخصاص بادهای را تقدست اسماء و تعظمت الاود که مترران الخ

Title: حانمه در بیان بدائع صنائع ملک صانع و آنچه
نگاشته کلاک قدرت حضرت است الخ.

Beginning: بر رای ارباب خیرت و اصحاب بصیرت الخ.

Both volumes are copied by the same transcriber, Muḥammad 'Aziz Wāhidbeg, at Shāhjahānābād. Vol. V was finished A. H. 1203 (A. D. 1788, 1789), vol. VIII the 7th of Shā'bān, A. H. 1204 (A. D. 1790, April 22). Many water-spots.

No. 1510, Vol. VII. Timūr and successors to the death of Abū Sa'id and the accession of Sultān Ḥusain, A. H. 873 (A. D. 1468), beginning, on fol. 1^b: جواهر حمد

No date. The first eight leaves are badly damaged. A great number of headings are wanting.

No. 1511, Vol. VII. History of Sultān Ḥusain, beginning, on fol. 1^b (rather different from the usual beginning): ای یافته از منزل مه تا ماهی - ذرات جهان

No date. The first leaves slightly injured, and the injuries repaired by another hand. Ff. 1^b, 121-123, 128, 129, and 142-165 supplied later by different hands, partly in Nasta'liq, partly in Shikasta.

Nos. 1505-1511. No. 1505, ff. 242, ll. 29; clear Nasta'liq; size, 13½ in. by 7½ in. No. 1506, ff. 410, ll. 21; Nasta'liq, sometimes like Shikasta; size, 12½ in. by 7½ in. No. 1507, ff. 183, ll. 29; clear Nasta'liq; size, 13½ in. by 7½ in. No. 1508, ff. 169, ll. 31; small Nasta'liq; size, 12½ in. by 8½ in. No. 1509, ff. 256, ll. 25; large Nasta'liq; size, 13½ in. by 7½ in. No. 1510, ff. 314, ll. 25; Nasta'liq; size, 13½ in. by 7½ in. No. 1511, ff. 165, ll. 21-24; large Nasta'liq; size, 12½ in. by 7½ in. Illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each volume, except the fourth.

The same.

The first six volumes and the eighth volume of the Raudat-al-safā; the seventh volume is missing here, as in the two following copies, and the geographical appendix must therefore be styled جلد هشتم instead of جلد هفتم (as it is called on fol. 632^a).

Vol. I on fol. 1^b, II on fol. 100^b, III on fol. 241^b, IV on fol. 318^b, V on fol. 412^b, VI on fol. 496^b, VIII on fol. 632^b. The copy is in a very bad state; many leaves are extremely damaged and spoiled. Fol. 209 is turned upside down.

At the end of the fourth volume there appears as date of transcription A. H. 976, end of Ramaḍān (A. D. 1569, middle of March); the transcriber's name is Kamāl-al-dīn bin 'Alā-al-dīn. According to a statement at the end of the third volume, the collation of this copy with the original was completed the 24th of Rajab, A. H. 1024 (A. D. 1615, Aug. 19).

No. 3290, olim 15. J. 10, ff. 651, ll. 51; extremely small Naskhi; size 11½ in. by 6½ in.

The same.

The same seven volumes (1-6 and 8), written by different hands in different sizes. The seventh volume is missing, just as in the preceding copy.

Contents:

No. 373, Vol. I. The first pages are very dirty and slightly injured. No date. Many later corrections by another hand.

No. 374, Vol. II. No date. A few corrections on the margin.

No. 375, Vol. III. A few additions on the margin. Copied A. H. 1007 (A. D. 1598, 1599).

No. 376, Vol. IV. The right order of ff. 16-49 is: 16, 41-48, 17-40, 49. No date.

No. 377, Vol. V on fol. 1^b, Vol. VI on fol. 110^b. Both written by the same 'Abd-allatīf bin Farīdūn Dā'ūd bin Mu'īn-al-dīn of Shirāz, vol. V finished the 27th of Šafar, A. H. 1011 (A. D. 1602, August 16), vol. VI the first of Rajab in the same year (A. D. 1602, Dec. 25). Additions on the margin.

No. 378, Vol. VIII (geographical appendix). Copied in the month Šafar, A. H. 1212 (A. D. 1797, August). Various readings on the margin. This vol. is wrongly styled the seventh vol. on fol. 1^a.

Nos. 373-378. No. 373, ff. 272, ll. 25; clear Nasta'liq; No. 374, ff. 356, ll. 25, seems to be written by the same hand; size of both vols. the same, 11 in. by 6½ in. No. 375, ff. 325, ll. 19; large and clear Nasta'liq; size, 11 in. by 7½ in. No. 376, ff. 269, ll. 17. Nasta'liq; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in. No. 377, ff. 264, ll. 33; small and close Nasta'liq; size, 11½ in. by 8½ in. No. 378, ff. 136, ll. 14-15; careless Nasta'liq; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in. No ornaments anywhere.

An incomplete copy of the first and second volumes of the same.

The first begins on fol. 1b, the second on fol. 291b. The latter goes down to the ذکر غزوه حنین (shortly after the conquest of Makkah), and breaks off with the first two words of this chapter, corresponding to No. 307 (28 in this Cat.), fol. 120a, l. 18.

The first volume was finished the 12th of Dhū-alhijjah, A.H. 1030 (A.D. 1621, Oct. 28).

Bought at Allahābād for 150 rupees by Alii Doue, the 10th of June, 1765. A later owner of this copy was Mr. Richard Johnson.

No. 554, ff. 483, ll. 23; excellent Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of the first as well as of the second book; size, 15½ in. by 9½ in.

Another copy of the first volume.

Beginning as usual. A full index on the fly-leaves. Copied A.H. 1002 (A.D. 1593, 1594), by Diyā-aldin Muhammad bin Hāji Mir Ibrāhīm alhusaini allaskani (اللسکني). Haileybury MS.

No. 3411, olim 16. J. 8, ff. 314, ll. 20-21; distinct Nasta'lik; size, 12½ in. by 7½ in.

The same first volume.

Beginning: بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم و بد نستعين و :
اعن يا كرم، زیب فهرست نسخه مفاهیر الع.

Most pages of this copy are badly injured in the first, second, and sometimes also in the third line.

Dated the 13th of Shawwāl, A.H. 1087 (A.D. 1676, Dec. 19).

No. 1110, ff. 435, ll. 17; unequal Nasta'lik by different hands; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

The same first volume.

Well written; the first eleven and the last three pages supplied by other hands. Colophon: تمام شد دفتر اول از تواریخ جلد اول روضة الصفا تمام شد در ماه جمادی الاول سنة اله (?).

The last page a little injured.

No. 1111, ff. 481, ll. 17-21; unequal Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

33

An incomplete copy of the first volume.

There is wanting, both at the beginning and end, about one page; it begins with the words: را بکمال استغنا, agreeing with the preceding copy, fol. 1b, last line but two, and breaks off with the words: متعارف بعینه فرماید, corresponding to the same copy, fol. 480; last line but two. Ff. 11-18 are misplaced, the right order is: 11, 14, 12, 13, 16, 17, 15, 18. Some pages are worm-eaten. A few additions on the margin.

No. 1109, ff. 542, ll. 21; Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

Another incomplete copy of the first volume.

Many headings omitted. The copy breaks off in the middle of the reign of Dahhāk with these words: ... برون برد و بگرفت ضحاک تخت. agreeing with No. 306 (28 in this Cat.), fol. 125^b, l. 3.

Another copy of the sixth volume.

Beginning: جواهر حمد و سپاس و آلتی شکر بقیاس الخ.

The proper order of ff. 126-131 is: 126, 128, 130, 127, 129, 131. Dated the 4th of Jumādā-alākhar, A. H. 1074 (A. D. 1664, Jan. 3); the transcriber and owner of this copy was Mirzā Kūlibeg Turkmān.

No. 3277, olim 16. J. 6, ff. 560, ll. 18-20; unequal Naskhi; size, 11¾ in. by 6½ in.

The same sixth volume.

No date. Many slight injuries everywhere. The right order of ff. 112-134 is: 112, 120-133, 113-119, 134.

No. 989, ff. 559, ll. 19-24; written by at least three different hands in unequal Nasta'lik; size, 9¼ in. by 5¾ in.

A defective copy of the sixth volume.

This copy is incomplete at the end, about two leaves being missing. The last words agree with No. 3277 (63 in this Cat.), fol. 559^b, l. 12; besides the text of the last six pages is severely damaged and whole portions torn away. It is worm-eaten throughout, but carefully mended in most places.

No. 2354, ff. 384, ll. 22; careless Nasta'lik; size, 13½ in. by 6¾ in.

Another defective copy of the sixth volume.

This copy is an extraordinarily strange one; the beginning is that of 'Alī Yazdī's Żafarnāma: حمداً كثيراً مباركاً لمن توتى الملك الخ goes down without interruption to fol. 56^b, last line but one, corresponding to No. 2597 (175 in this Cat.), fol. 65^a, l. 4. In the same line begins quite suddenly, and without any separation, the text of the sixth volume of the Rauḍat-al-safā, opening with the chapter: ذکر فرستادن صاحب قران گردون توان علفه (علمه) تواچی و مولانا جلال الدین . . . بجانب خوارزم و توجه آن حضرت بر عقب اشان بعزم 'زم, corresponding to No. 3277, fol. 60^a, l. 10.

Ff. 52-65 are misplaced, the proper order is: 52, 57-64, 53-56, 65.

No date.

No. 985, ff. 478, ll. 20; Nasta'lik; written by two different hands (the first of which is found on ff. 1-66); size, 11½ in. by 8 in.

Part of the sixth volume.

This copy goes down to the death of Timūr only, in A. H. 807, and the immediately following events (see fol. 233^b sq.). The last words correspond to No. 3277, fol. 296^b, l. 8. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2627, ff. 236, ll. 21; small but clear Nasta'lik; the first two pages illuminated; size, 9¼ in. by 6½ in.

A fragment of the sixth volume.

This fragment goes down to the end of A. H. 790, and breaks off with the words: بارگاه سلطنت زانو, corresponding to No. 377 (26 in this Cat.), fol. 140^a, l. 18. There seem to be lacunas after fol. 48 and fol. 56.

No. 1115, ff. 112, ll. 17; written by different hands, partly in Nasta'lik, partly in Shikasta; many pages badly injured; size, 11¼ in. by 7½ in.

Another copy of the sixth, seventh, and eighth volumes.
No date.

Sixth vol. on fol. 1^b: seventh vol. on fol. 264^b, beginning: حمد پروردگارست که ابو البشر را از قبضه خاک آفریده الخ.

Eighth vol. or geographical appendix on fol. 360^b, styled: خاتمه تاریخ روضة الصفا, and beginning: در بیان بدائع و صنائع ملک صانعی و آنچه الخ.

No. 552, ff. 404, ll. 27; careless and unequal Nasta'lik, written by different hands; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each volume; size, 16½ in. by 9¼ in.

Another copy of the sixth and eighth volumes.

The sixth vol. begins on fol. 1^b, and is dated on fol. 300^a the 2nd of Jumādā-althāni, A. H. 1007 (A. D. 1598, Dec. 31); the eighth or geographical appendix (here wrongly styled the seventh) begins on fol. 301^b: خاتمه در بدائع صنائع و آنچه گماشته بکلك قدرت اوست الخ.

No date. The real seventh volume of the Raudat-al-safā is not found in this copy.

No. 1522, ff. 338, ll. 25; Nasta'lik; partly collated; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each volume; size, 12¼ in. by 7¼ in.

Another copy of the seventh and eighth volumes.

Beginning of the seventh volume on fol. 1^b: حصول سعادت دارین حمد پروردگارست که ابو البشر را از قبضه تیر خاک الخ.

Beginning of the eighth volume or the geographical appendix on fol. 121^b: خاتمه تاریخ روضة الصفا فی سیر الانبیاء: در بیان بدائع و صنائع ممالک ملک صانعی و آنچه نگاشته بکلك قدوة اوست الخ برای ارباب خبرت و اصحاب بصیرت الخ.

No date. Richard Johnson, 1778. On fol. 121^a is stated that this copy of the eighth vol. was once in the possession of Hāji Muḥammad Ridā of Isfahān.

No. 3278, olim 16. J. 7, ff. 160, ll. 27; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 12 in. by 7 in.

Another copy of the eighth volume or the geographical appendix.

Beginning: برای ارباب خبرت الخ. Dated the 12th of Dhū-alka'dah, A. H. 1126 (A. D. 1714, Nov. 19). Slight injuries. On fol. 1^a wrongly styled جلد هفتم.

No. 1125, ff. 48, ll. 24; clear Nasta'lik; size, 12¼ in. by 7¾ in.

The same eighth volume.

No date. A little worm-eaten.

No. 1908, ff. 86, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 9¾ in. by 5¾ in.

74

The same eighth volume.

Beginning: خاتمه تاریخ روضة الصفا در بیان بدائع و صنائع ملک صانع الخ. It is incorrectly styled جلد هفتم on fol. 1^a.

No. 990, ff. 33, ll. 19; careless Nasta'lik, alternating with Shikasta; the last two leaves added by another hand in clear Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

The same eighth volume.

Another excellent copy of the geographical appendix, beginning: برای ارباب خبرت و اصحاب بصیرت بوشیده: نماید که بعضی از علمای تاریخ الخ. On the fly-leaf it is styled سیر البلاد.

No date.

No. 2540, ff. 48, ll. 25; Nasta'lik; size, 13¾ in. by 8 in.

Conclusion (احتتام), on geography and cosmography, on fol. 500^a.

No date. A note (from the 2nd of Jumādā II, A. H. 1153 = A. D. 1740, August 25) on fol. 1^a: جلد سوم حبیب السیر باخاتمه دوم جمادی الثانی سنه 1153 هجری.

No. 1788, ff. 536, ll. 29-30; partly in Nasta'lik, partly in Naskh; written by three different hands on different paper (ff. 1-286 on a more brown, the rest on a more white one); illuminated frontispiece and ornamented initial pages at the beginning of the first three chapters; size, 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 8 in.

A slightly defective copy of the same third volume.

This copy is incomplete at the end. Beginning as in the preceding copy. Chapter I on fol. 1^b, II on fol. 47^a, III on fol. 79^b (here called by mistake مجلد چهارم), IV on fol. 209^b. Biographical appendix, on fol. 249^b. Conclusion, or geographical and cosmographical part (here entitled: جلد آخر تأریخ حبیب السیر که مشهور: ومعروفست بعجائب المخلوقات), on fol. 253^a. This part breaks off, on fol. 268^a, with these words: و چون روز بآخر میرسد آن طیوران مرغان ضعیف را corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 535^a, l. 2.

According to the colophon, on fol. 78^a, the second chapter of this volume was finished by 'Abd-almalik ibn 'Imād-aldin of Kirmān, the 7th of Jumādā-althāni, A. H. 1012 (A. D. 1603, November 12).

No. 1384, ff. 268, ll. 35-38; small Nasta'lik; a few pages supplied by another hand; size, 14 in. by 9 $\frac{1}{8}$ in.

Another more defective copy of the same.

The whole conclusion on geography and cosmography is wanting in this copy. Chapter I on fol. 1^b, II on fol. 69^b, III on fol. 112^b, IV on fol. 382^b. Good old but undated copy.

No. 1892, ff. 387, ll. 35; small but distinct Nasta'lik; size, 12 in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Another copy of the first three chapters of the third volume.

Chapter I on fol. 1^b, II on fol. 225^a, III on fol. 353^a. No date.

No. 546, ff. 606, ll. 19; very large and distinct Nasta'lik; some pages a little injured; size, 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 8 in.

Another copy of the third chapter of the third volume.

Beginning: ای نام تو زیب نامه الخ.

No heading. No date. This copy is nicely written, but worm-eaten and slightly injured at many corners.

No. 3420, olim 16. J. 15, ff. 273, ll. 25; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 11 in. by 7 in.

A slightly defective copy of the same third chapter.

Heading: جزو سیوم از مجلد ثالث در ذکر صادرات افعال و واردات اقوال حضرت صاحب قران میر تیمور گورکان الخ. Beginning as usual. It breaks off with the words: ملاقات فرمود و ابواب انعام و احسان corresponding to fol. 409^b, first line, in No. 1788 (88 in this Cat.).

No. 590, ff. 564, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 10 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

A large fragment of the same third chapter.

This fragment, which does not contain the history of Timūr or of his immediate successors, begins with A. H. 855, the date of the accession of Mirzā (or Sultān) Abū-alkāsim Bābar, the son of Mirzā Bai-sunghar, and grandson of Shāhrukh. The first heading, with which the copy opens (corresponding to No. 1788, fol. 260^b, l. 19), runs thus: ذکر توچه میرزا ابو العاسم بابر بجانب بلخ و بدخشان و بیان عصان او پس بکن بدار الملک خراسان, 'account of Sultān Bābar's conquest of Khurāsān and Badakhshān.' The date of completion, given on fol. 367^a, l. 11, is exactly the same as in Ouseley 289 in the Bodleian Library (Bodleian Cat., No. 77), viz. Dhû-alḡa'dah, A. H. 929 (بهاء ذى قعدة سنة تسع و عشرين) = A. D. 1523, September–October.

This copy was finished the 8th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1026 (A. D. 1617, March 16). It is collated throughout, and bears numerous traces of correction and amplification. There are some blanks occasionally, and several leaves are misplaced; for instance, the proper order of ff. 55–60 is: 55, 59^b, 59^a (ff. 59 and 56 being turned upside down), 57, 58, 56^b, 56^a, 60; and of ff. 251–280: 251, 257, 258, 253–256, 252; 259, 261–268, 260, 269, 270, 278, 272–277, 271, 279, 280.

No. 3019, ff. 368, ll. 19–21; very careless and unequal Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5¼ in.

Another copy of the fourth chapter of the third volume.

Beginning: جزو چهارم از مجلد سیم در ذکر طلوع آفتاب دولت و اقبال شاهی و بیان اخنصاص یافتن آنحضرت باصناف الطاف عنایت الهی حبیب السیر ای یافته از منزل مه تا ماهی - ذرات جهان از کرمات آگاهی الخ. Biographical appendix, on fol. 192^b; conclusion, on fol. 208^a, first line.

No date.

No. 758, ff. 290, ll. 21; Nasta'lik, unequally written by different hands; seriously damaged in many pages, especially by worms; size, 9¾ in. by 5¾ in.

96

The same fourth chapter.

Biographical appendix, on fol. 100^a; the اختتام, or geographical conclusion, on fol. 108^a margin.

The copy, which is undated (11th–12th century of the Hijrah), was greatly injured, especially in the margin-columns, but has been carefully mended.

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2591, ff. 154, ll. 15 in the centre, ll. 28 in the margin-column; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5¾ in.

A slightly defective copy of the same fourth chapter.

The first page is wanting in this copy, which begins abruptly: بادشاه کشور عقبی: ..., corresponding to No. 758 (95 in this Cat.), fol. 1^b, last line. Biographical appendix, on fol. 152^a; conclusion, on fol. 164^b. The last pages a little damaged.

The date, written distinctly 832, is impossible; it is probably A. H. 1032 (A. D. 1623).

No. 864, ff. 219, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; ff. 7–9 and 206–211 supplied by another hand, ll. 35–42; size, 9¾ in. by 6 in.

A more defective copy of the same fourth chapter.

Biographical appendix, on fol. 321^b; conclusion, on fol. 345^a. Of the latter there are only a few pages found in this copy, which breaks off, on fol. 349^b, with these words: که سنگ اسفل آن متحرک است و سنگ اعلی

.... ساکن و از زیر سنگ, corresponding to No. 1788 (88 in this Cat.), fol. 501^b, l. 8.

No. 2988, ff. 349, ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6¼ in.

Extracts from the Habib-alsiyar.

Two large extracts from the second volume of Khwān-damir's work; the first, on ff. 1^b–69^b, comprises a portion of the fourth chapter, or the history of the dynasties, contemporary with the 'Abbāside Khalifs, from the Tahirides down to the kings of Ṭabaristān, beginning:

بعد از تمهید قواعد محمد پادشاهی الخ; the second, on ff. 73^a–245^a, contains the whole third chapter of the same volume, or the history of the 'Abbāside Khalifs, beginning: اصناف حمد و سپاس بیقیاس مالک; comp. J. Aumer, p. 76, No. 224, III and IV. An index of the 'Abbāside Khalifs (that is, of the second extract) is found on the fly-leaves.

Copied in the month Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1210 (A. D. 1795, September–October).

No. 414, ff. 245, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 9¾ in. by 6½ in.

Khulāṣa-i-Habib-alsiyar (خلاصه حبیب السیر).

The biographies of eminent Shaikhs, Amirs, 'Ulamas, and poets, which are found in different parts of Khwān-damir's Habib-alsiyar, collected into one volume and entitled: خلاصه تاریخ حبیب السیر.

These are extracts, not from the second volume of that work (از جلد دوم), as is stated on fol. 1^a and in the first heading on fol. 1^b, but exclusively from the third. They begin with the time of Timūr, and go down to that of the Āḡ-ḡoyunlū dynasty.

1. خلاصه تواریخ حبیب السیر از مجلد دوم (!!) در ذکر بعضی از سادات و مشایخ و علما و اکابر که معاصر بودند با صاحب قرآن ستوده مآثر, on fol. 1^b.

Lubb-altawârikh (لُبُّ التَّوَارِیخِ).

General history, from the earliest times to A. H. 948 (A. D. 1541, 1542), by Yahyâ bin 'Abd-allatîf Kazwîni, who died A. H. 962 (A. D. 1555); see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 88-95; Rieu i. p. 104 sq.; G. Flügel ii. p. 71; Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. iii. p. 6; Krafft, p. 87; Elliot, Bibliographical Index, p. 129 sq.; History of India. iv. p. 293 sq. H. Khalifa v. p. 307 fixes the author's death in A. H. 960 (A. D. 1553). A Latin translation, with the title 'Medulla Historiarum,' appeared in A. F. Büsching's 'Magazin für die neue Historie und Geographie,' vol. xvii, Halle, 1783. It is divided into four kîsm.

Beginning: حمد و سپاس مرخدای را که سلاطین جهان بر آستانه عظمتش الخ.

Index on ff. 2^a-3^a, in which, on fol. 2^a, l. 4 ab infra, قسم دوم must be read instead of فصل اول, and l. 3 ab infra, فصل اول instead of قسم دوم. The third kîsm has here as well as in the text only two makâlas instead of the usual three, corresponding to the second and third in Rieu i. p. 105, so that the first (Abû Bakr, 'Umar, and 'Uthmân) is omitted, probably because the copyist, being a Shi'ite, felt conscientious scruples about mentioning these enemies of 'Ali.

Kîsm I in two fasls: fasl I, Muḥammad, on fol. 3^a; fasl II, the twelve Imâms, on fol. 9^a.

Kîsm II: The ante-Muḥammadan kings in four fasls: 1. Pishdâdians, on fol. 19^b; 2. Kayâniâns, on fol. 23^a; 3. Mulûk-altawâ'if, on fol. 29^a; 4. Sâsâniâns, on fol. 30^b.

Kîsm III: The post-Muḥammadan rulers in two makâlas: 1. Banû Umayyah, on fol. 40^b; 2. Banû 'Abbâs, on fol. 44^a; and six bâbs, viz. 1. Dynasties contemporary with the 'Abbâsides, in eleven fasls, from the Tâhirides to the Karâkhitâ's of Kirmân, on fol. 53^a; 2. Ghaznawîs, from Čingizkhân to Abû Sa'id, on fol. 92^b (here باب دوم to be read instead of فصل اول); 3. Successors of Abû Sa'id in Īrân, in five fasls, from the Čupâniâns to the Sarbadârs, on fol. 106^b (on fol. 109^a, فصل to be read instead of فصل چهارم, and فصل دوم instead of فصل ششم on fol. 128^a; the third fasl, not marked, begins on fol. 111^b); 4. Timûr and his successors in Īrân, on fol. 132^b; 5. Karâ-koynlû and Āk-koynlû Sultâns, on fol. 156^a, without heading, in two fasls; 6. Uzbegs of Transoxania and Khurâsân, on fol. 172^a (باب چهارم to be read instead of باب ششم).

Kîsm IV: Šafawîs, on fol. 174^a. Acce-sion of Tah-mâsp, on fol. 191^a. A small lacuna after fol. 191.

Dated at Lâhûr, Ramadân, A. H. 1031 (A. D. 1622, July-August).

No. 1986, ff. 192, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; worm-eaten and damaged, particularly on the last twenty-six leaves; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

102

The same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. Index on ff. 2^b-3^b.

Kîsm I in two fasls, on ff. 3^b and 10^a.

Kîsm II in four fasls, on ff. 22^a, 25^b, 31^a, last line, and 33^a.

Kîsm III, here in three makâlas, as in Rieu i. p. 105, on ff. 43^b (Abû Bakr, 'Umar, 'Uthmân, and 'Ali), 44^b (Banû Umayyah), and 49^b (Banû 'Abbâs); and six bâbs, on ff. 57^a (read here فصل اول instead of باب اول in l. 4), 90^a, 101^b, 125^a, 145^b, and 160^b.

Kîsm IV on fol. 162^a. Beginning of Tahmâsp's reign, on fol. 181^a.

No date. Eleventh century of the Hijrah. The copy belonged formerly to Mr. Richard Johnson.

No. 526, ff. 184, ll. 15 on ff. 1-51, ll. 17 on ff. 52-184; Nasta'lik by different hands, as it seems; worm-eaten throughout; size, 7 in. by 4½ in.

The same.

The index is wanting in this copy; there appears besides a most peculiar date, viz. A. H. 977 (حالا که سنه), on fol. 225^b, l. 7, due no doubt to a later addition, as foreign to the original as the date 963 in the second copy of Rieu's Cat., p. 105.

Kîsm I on fol. 4^b, II on fol. 26^a, III on fol. 51^b (where سوم must be read instead of دوم), IV on fol. 225^b. Dated the 25th of Shawwâl, A. H. 1053 (سنه) = A. D. 1644, Jan. 6, at Jahângirnagar by Khwâjah Muḥammad bin 'Abd-alrasûl bin Khwâjah Hamid-alkhâlidi. The last three leaves of this MS., from fol. 262^b to 264^b, are filled with a qaṣidah on the bow and arrow, تیرو کمان, by Tâhir of Balkh (see the third bait), which begins:

ای برسر نشانه نشان کرد شانه را
وی شانه را به تیر زده با نشانه را

This copy was presented by J. H. Peile, Esq., and received 19th of September, 1818; transferred to Civil College 9th of August, 1819.

No. 3394, olim 14. J. 24, ff. 264, ll. 11; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

Ta'rikh-i-Ibrāhīmī (تأريخ ابراهيمي).

A general history of the world, of a rather desultory character, from Ādam to A.H. 956 (A.D. 1549), see this date on fol. 206^b, l. 7 (compare the following copy, fol. 218^b, l. 13), or even to A.H. 957 (A.D. 1550), see Bodleian Cat., No. 97 (identical with this work). In Elliot's History of India, iv. pp. 213-217, and Rieu iii. pp. 1013^a and 1046^b, A.H. 952 (A.D. 1545, 1546) is given as final date of the composition of this work, because the history of Humāyūn's reign is brought down to that year, see fol. 238^b, l. 5. Another title of this history is تأريخ هماونی, because it was compiled in Humāyūn's reign. The author's name is given on fol. 1^a of the following copy as Ibrāhīm bin Ḥarir (probably Jarir, since on fol. 1^b the great Ṭabari is likewise called Muḥammad bin Ḥarir instead of Jarir). In Beale's 'Oriental Biographical Dictionary,' Calcutta, 1881, p. 115, the author is styled Ibrāhīm bin Ḥariri, and the work is said to have been dedicated to Bābar (?).

The preface, which begins on fol. 1^b: بعد از حمد الهی و نعت حضرت رسالت بنای نموده میشود الخ contains only a few lines, and gives neither title, date, nor author's name. It starts at once with a discussion on ante-Muḥammadan chronology, the age of the world, etc.

History of the Israelites (old prophets, Jewish kings, etc.), beginning with Ādam, on fol. 3^a; Jesus, on fol. 22^b; Seven Sleepers, on fol. 25^a.

Old philosophers (شمع از احوال حکما), from Luḡmān to Buzurjmīhr, on fol. 27^b.

Old Persian kings, from Gayūmarth to Yazdajird III, on fol. 32^a.

History of Muḥammad, his family, children, companions, the first four Khalīfs and the twelve Imāms, on fol. 53^b.

Umayyade Khalīfs, on fol. 103^b.

'Abbāsīde Khalīfs, on fol. 118^b (interspersed with short biographical accounts of contemporary shāikhs, poets, etc.; for instance, Abū-alḥasan Kharakāni, on fol. 135^b; Abū Sa'īd bin Abū-alkhair, on fol. 138^b).

Minor dynasties: Ṭāhirīdes and Ṣaffārīdes, on fol. 158^b; Sāmānīdes, on fol. 159^a; Ghaznawīdes, on fol. 162^b; Khwārizmshāhs, on fol. 165^b; Atābegs, on fol. 167^b; Ghūrīdes, on fol. 170^a; Kurt kings, on fol. 174^a; notices of renowned shāikhs, etc., on fol. 176^b.

Čingizkhān, his ancestors, children, and successors, going down to A.H. 956, on fol. 178^b; Karā-koynlū, on fol. 195^a; Āk-koynlū, on fol. 199^a; Ṣafawīs, on fol. 202^b.

History of India, beginning with a general survey of the kings of Dihli (ملوک هند) from the time of Kutb-al-din Aibak, on fol. 206^b. Kings of Gujarāt, beginning with Muẓaffarshah, and other minor dynasties, on fol. 211^b.

History of Timūr and his successors, with notices of shāikhs and poets of the same time, on fol. 213^a.

IND. OIF.

Sultān Bābar, on fol. 234^b, last line. Birth of Humāyūn, and account of his reign to A.H. 952, on fol. 235^b.

Dated the 4th of Ṣafar, A.H. 1096 (A.D. 1685, Jan. 10).

No. 1874, ff. 239, ll. 17; Nasta'liq; size, 10½ in. by 6¼ in.

Another defective copy of the same.

This copy is in a very precarious state, it is not only incomplete at the end (about three pages wanting here, the last words agreeing with fol. 238^b, l. 14, in the preceding copy), but defective in many other places, and greatly damaged in the first 150 leaves. Fol. 79 is almost completely torn away; considerable lacunas after ff. 134 and 137 (the first corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 122^b, l. 1, to fol. 126^a, l. 9; the second to fol. 129^a, l. 3, to fol. 129^b, last line, chiefly comprising the biographical account of Bāyazīd Bisṭāmī). A great number of leaves are like cinder, and almost fallen to pieces. Beginning the same as in the preceding copy.

History of the Israelites, etc., on fol. 3^a.

Old philosophers, on fol. 31^a.

Old Persian kings, on fol. 36^a.

Muḥammad, etc., on fol. 60^a.

Umayyade Khalīfs, on fol. 114^a.

'Abbāsīde Khalīfs, on fol. 130^b (Kharakāni, on fol. 144^b; Abū Sa'īd bin Abū-alkhair, on fol. 147^b).

Minor dynasties: Ṭāhirīdes and Ṣaffārīdes, on fol. 169^a; Sāmānīdes, on fol. 170^a; Ghaznawīdes, on fol. 173^b; Khwārizmshāhs, on fol. 177^a; Atābegs, on fol. 178^b, last line; Ghūrīdes, on fol. 181^b; Kurt kings, on fol. 185^b. Notices of renowned shāikhs, etc., on fol. 188^b.

Čingizkhān, etc., on fol. 190^b; Karā-koynlū, on fol. 207^b, l. 3; Āk-koynlū, on fol. 211^a, l. 2; Ṣafawīs, on fol. 215^a, l. 4 (the latter three without headings).

History of India, etc., on fol. 218^b; kings of Gujarāt, etc., on fol. 223^b.

Timūr, etc., on fol. 224^b; Bābar, on fol. 247^b; Humāyūn, on fol. 248^a.

No date. An entry from A.H. 1069 (A.D. 1658, 1659), on fol. 1^a.

No. 428, ff. 251, ll. 19; Nasta'liq; ff. 240-251 are written by another hand; size, 9 in. by 4¾ in.

Nusakh-i-Jahānārā (نسخ جهان آرا).

General history of the world from the oldest times to A.H. 972 (A.D. 1564, 1565), commenced A.H. 971 (A.D. 1563, 1564) by Kādī Aḥmad bin Muḥammad Alghafārī of Rai (who died A.H. 975=A.D. 1567, 1568). The title of the book is a chronogram, see fol. 3^a, l. 5; author's name on fol. 2^a, l. 11. It is dedicated to Abū-almuẓaffar Shāh Ṭahmāsp Ṣafawī, and divided into one عنوان and three نسخ; comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 98; Rieu i. p. 111 sq.; Elliot, History of India, iv. p. 298 sq.; G. Flügel ii. p. 72; H. Khalfa ii. p. 658, etc.

Contents:

An incomplete copy of the same.

This copy is extremely defective, not only in the beginning, but in many places in the text, where extensive lacunas are found. The first leaf is missing. The author's name appears on fol. 1^b, l. 3: Aḥmad bin Muḥammad al-kādi Ghaffārī; the dedication to Abū-al-muẓaffar Shāh Tāhmāsp Bahādurkhān on fol. 2^a, last line; and the title on fol. 2^b, l. 6. Index on ff. 2^b-4^b.

'Unwân or introduction, on fol. 4^b, in two harfs.

First Nuskah, in two āyahs, on fol. 5^a. The larger portion of the first āyah is missing, as well as the beginning of the first naṣṣ of the second (comprising the life of Muḥammad), in consequence of a large lacuna after fol. 7; see the preceding copy, ff. 5^b-13^b, and the following copy, No. 101, ff. 10-16. The second naṣṣ of the second āyah begins on fol. 8^a.

Second Nuskah: Šahīfah I, in two saḥḥas, on ff. 14^b and 18^b. Šahīfah II, in twenty saḥḥas: 1. on fol. 24^a; 2. on fol. 27^b; 3. on fol. 36^b; 4. on fol. 65^a; 5. on fol. 68^a; 6. on fol. 75^b; 7. on fol. 104^b (read here هفتم instead of هفدهم); 8. on fol. 110^a; the end of the first and the beginning of the second kalimah of the second ḥarf of the offshoots (A'ālī or Amirs) are missing in consequence of a lacuna after fol. 115, corresponding to the following copy, No. 101, fol. 110^b, l. 8, to fol. 111^b, last line; 9. on fol. 116^b; 10. on fol. 119^a; the larger portion of the third saṭar (Banū Asad) is missing, as there is again a lacuna after fol. 121, corresponding to No. 101, fol. 118^b, l. 9, to fol. 120^b, middle of l. 3 ab infra; 11. on fol. 122^a; beginning missing in consequence of the same lacuna; 12. on fol. 124^a; again a lacuna after fol. 127, which comprises the few concluding words of the second saṭar and the beginning of the thirteenth saḥḥah, corresponding to No. 101, fol. 127^a, l. 3 ab infra, to fol. 128^a, lin. penult.; 13. on fol. 128^a; beginning missing, second saṭar on fol. 128^b; 14. on fol. 132^b; again a lacuna after fol. 135, comprising a portion of the first saṭar, corresponding to No. 101, fol. 138^a, l. 8, to fol. 139^a, l. 7; the second saṭar begins on fol. 136^a;

a lacuna after fol. 141, comprising the end of the second saṭar and the beginning of the fifteenth saḥḥah, corresponding to No. 101, fol. 145^a, l. 11, to fol. 147^b, l. 8, middle; 15. beginning missing; 16. on fol. 145^a; a very large lacuna after fol. 147, comprising almost the whole four saṭars and a portion of the seventeenth saḥḥah, corresponding to No. 101, fol. 153^a, l. 9, middle, to fol. 178^b, first line; 17. opens abruptly in the history of Timūr's ancestors, on fol. 148^a; the first saṭar of the descendants, which begins on fol. 153^a, is defective owing to a lacuna after fol. 153, corresponding to No. 101, fol. 183^b, l. 10, to fol. 184^a, end of l. 9; the second saṭar is for the same reason defective in the beginning; 18. on fol. 168^b; 19. on fol. 174^a, breaking off on fol. 177^b; a large lacuna after fol. 177, corresponding to No. 101, fol. 196^b, l. 3, to fol. 210^b, l. 3, comprises the end of the nineteenth saḥḥah, the whole of the twentieth (the Āk-koynulū), and the beginning of the Third Nuskah, which opens abruptly, on fol. 178^a, in the reign of Shāh Isma'il. The record of events from A. H. 906 to 972 begins here on fol. 179^a. The copy breaks off on fol. 234^b, in A. H. 972, after the first twelve lines, just as in Rieu i. p. 115.

The remainder of this copy, viz. ff. 235^a–259^b, contains a fragment of Amir Yahyā bin 'Abd-allatīf al-Husaini al-Kazwini's Lubb-altawārīkh (compiled A. H. 948, see above, 101–103 in this Cat.), beginning with the fifth bāb of the third kism (the Karā- and Āk-koynulū), and breaking off in the reign of Shāh Isma'il Ṣafawī; the sixth and last bāb of the third kism (the Uzbegs) is found here on fol. 247^a, the beginning of the fourth kism (the Ṣafawī dynasty) on fol. 248^b.

This defective copy belonged formerly to Mr. Richard Johnson.

No. 61, ff. 259, ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; ff. 235–259 written by several other hands; size, 9 in. by 4½ in.

Another equally defective copy of the same.

It begins abruptly on fol. 3^a in the preface. First words: ملال زدوده و پایۀ قدر الخ, corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 1^a, middle of l. 2.

Author's name on fol. 3^b, l. 1; dedication to Tahmâsp on fol. 4^b, l. 3 sq.; title on fol. 4^b, ll. 7 and 8. Index on ff. 4^b–7^a, first line.

'Unwân on fol. 7^a.

Nuskah I, first ayah, on fol. 7^b, last line; a lacuna after fol. 9, comprising one leaf (Yafeth to Ishâk). Second ayah, first nass, on fol. 14^b; this part breaks off on fol. 16^b, in consequence of a very extensive lacuna after fol. 16, which comprises the end of the first nass and almost the whole second nass, together with the first Sahifah of Nuskah II, except a short portion of the second nass, the beginning of the first Sahifah of Nuskah II (on ff. 1 and 2), and the portion from the end of the fourth saṭar of the second saḥḥah to the end of the sixth saṭar of the same (on ff. 17^a–20^a). These small remnants, which are preserved here, correspond to the preceding copy, fol. 13^b, l. 7, to fol. 15^b, l. 3, and fol. 21^a, l. 1, to fol. 24^a, l. 14.

The second Sahifah of Nuskah II, in twenty saḥḥas, is found here: 1. on fol. 20^a; 2. on fol. 23^b; 3. on fol. 33^b; 4. on fol. 60^b; 5. on fol. 63^b, l. 6 (heading omitted); 6. on fol. 70^b; 7. on fol. 98^a; 8. on fol. 103^b (read هشتم instead of ششم, and غوريه instead of قوريه); 9. on fol. 113^a; 10. on fol. 115^b, last line; 11. on fol. 119^b, first line; 12. on fol. 123^a; 13. on fol. 127^a; 14. on fol. 133^a; 15. on fol. 145^b, first line; 16. on fol. 151^a; 17. on ff. 177^a–187^b and 223–231^a; 18. on ff. 231^a, 231^b, 188^a–193^a (read هزدهم instead of سيزدهم); 19. on fol. 193^a; 20. on fol. 196^b.

Nuskah III, on ff. 204^b–222^b and 232^a–244^b. There is a lacuna after fol. 222, corresponding to the preceding copy (No. 61), fol. 190^a, last line, to fol. 191^b, l. 2. On fol. 244^b this Nuskah breaks off in A. H. 936, corresponding to No. 61, fol. 207^b, l. 4 ab infra, so that the final portion of No. 61 (viz. ff. 208–234) is entirely missing here. But there is another lacuna on the last page, between ll. 1 and 2, where the copyist probably found a gap in the MS., from which he transcribed this, corresponding to No. 61, fol. 205^a, lin. penult., to fol. 207^a, lin. penult. A seal of A. H. 1188 (A. D. 1774, 1775) on the fly-leaf.

The proper order of the leaves is: 3–16, lacuna, 1, 2, lacuna, 17–187, 223–231, 188–222, lacuna, 232–244, lacuna.

No. 101, ff. 244, ll. 15; Nasta'liq; greatly injured and part totally destroyed by the worms; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

Mirât-aladwâr (مرآت الادوار).

General history, from Âdam to A. H. 974 (A. D. 1566, 1567), by Muhammad Muṣliḥ-aldin al-Lâri al-Anṣârî, who died at Âmid in Diyârbakr, A. H. 979 (A. D. 1571, 1572); see Rieu i. pp. 116 and 117; H. Khalifa i. p. 241; G. Flügel ii. p. 74 (where it is wrongly styled مختصر تاريخ لاری), etc. As five leaves are missing at the beginning of this copy, the author's name does not appear. It is divided into ten bābs, viz.

1. Âdam and the first prophets, imperfect at the beginning.
2. The Pishdādians of Persia and the prophets and holy men of their time, on fol. 4^b.
3. The Kayâniâns and their contemporaries, on fol. 27^b.
4. The Sāsâniâns and their contemporaries, on fol. 47^b.
5. Origin and rise of the Islâm, history of Muhammad, the first four Khalifs, the Imâms, the Umayyades, and the Abbâsides, on fol. 65^b.
6. The other dynasties contemporary with and posterior to the Abbâsides, on fol. 216^b, in eight ṭabâkas, viz. (a) the Saffarides, on fol. 216^b; (b) the Sāmânides, on fol. 219^a; (c) the Dailamis, on fol. 223^a; (d) the Ghaznawides, on fol. 230^b; (e) the Saljûks, on fol. 246^a; (f) the Khwârizmshâhs, on fol. 280^b; (g and h) the Isma'ilis of Maghrib and Îrân, on fol. 287^b.
7. Çingizkhân and his successors, on fol. 300^a.
8. Timūr and his successors in Îrân, on fol. 354^b.
9. Hasanbeg and his successors (the Āk-koynulū), beginning not marked. The brief mention of the Ṣafawî rulers, Shâh Isma'il and Shâh Tahmâsp, is found on ff. 426^b and 427^a. 10. The first 'Uthmânî or Turkish Sultâns from their origin to A. H. 974, the date of the death of Sulaimân I and the accession of Salim II, on fol. 428^b.

No date.

The abrupt beginning runs thus: فابیل رسم نکاح را ترک کردند و شوق فجزر و فسوق بظهور آوردند الخ

No. 166, ff. 451, ll. 21; Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Ta'rikh-i-Alfi (تأریخ الفی).

The first half, or about the first two volumes of the very rare and valuable general history, which is known as the Ta'rikh-i-Alfi, and gives a detailed account of the millennium after Muhammad's death to A. H. 997 (A. D. 1589). It was commenced, by order of the emperor Akbar, in A. H. 993 (A. D. 1585), by Mullâ Ahmad Tatawi, and continued, after his assassination on the 15th of Šafar, A. H. 996 (A. D. 1588, January 15), see below, No. 3293 (112 in this Cat.), fol. 2^a, l. 9 sq., by Āsafkhân. The final revision of the first two volumes was undertaken by Badā'uni in A. H. 1000 (A. D. 1591, 1592), that of the third by Āsafkhân; comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 99; Rieu i. p. 117 sq.; Elliot, Bibliographical Index, p. 143 sq.; and History of India, v. pp. 150-176. This copy comprises the first five hundred years, and goes down to A. H. 510.

Beginning of the first volume, on fol. 1^b: آغاز کاب در بیان اموریکه واقع شده بود در سال اول از رحلت خاتم النبیین که چون خاتم النبیین رحلت فرمودند اهل بیت آغاز کرده و زاری کردند الخ

The second volume begins here, on fol. 254^b, with the 135th year of the Rihlat or death of Muhammad (=A. H. 145): و از جمله وقائع این سال آنکه ابراهیم عبد الله الخ

The copy is very badly written, and extremely incorrect in dates. There is the greatest confusion in the headings, but the text seems to be in proper order and uninterrupted.

Dated the 5th of Rajab, A. H. 1058 (A. D. 1648, July 26).

No. 836, ff. 602, ll. 27-32; very unequally written in different kinds of careless Nasta'lik and Shikasta by many different hands; some pages seriously damaged; illuminated frontispiece; size, 13¾ in. by 8 in.

The same.

Another copy of the second volume, beginning exactly like the preceding copy with the 135th year of the Rihlat, but going down to the middle of the 506th year of the same era (A. H. 145-516), that is, six years further than No. 836. It comes to an abrupt end with the words: . . . قرار بآن داد که روز نهم . . . The 500th year of the Rihlat (the end of the second volume in the preceding copy) concludes here on fol. 253^b, l. 3.

Most of the last thirty-eight leaves are severely damaged.

No. 10, ff. 262, ll. 30; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 14 in. by 8½ in.

The same.

The second, third, and fourth volumes of the Ta'rikh-i-Alfi.

Second volume (No. 3291) begins here (much later than in the two preceding copies) with the Khilâfat of Muhammad Amin bin Hârûn-abrâshud, in the year of the Rihlat, 183 (=A. H. 193), and goes down to that of Al-Muktafi (Abû 'Abdallâh bin almustâzhir) in the year of the Rihlat, 520 (=A. H. 530), that is, twenty years further than No. 836.

Third volume (No. 3292) begins with the year of the Rihlat, 521 (=A. H. 531), and breaks off in the year of the Rihlat, 682 or 683 (=A. H. 692 or 693); there are besides two large lacunas in this volume, viz. between ff. 312 and 313 (eight blank leaves being inserted), and between ff. 409 and 410 (six blank leaves).

Fourth volume (No. 3293) begins, after the preface of the continuator Āsafkhân, with the end of the year of the Rihlat, 684 (=A. H. 694), and goes down to the year of the Rihlat, 987 (=A. H. 997).

This excellent copy was finished the 14th of Rabi'-althâni, A. H. 1015 (A. D. 1606, August 19).

No. 3291, ff. 442; No. 3292, ff. 415; No. 3293, ff. 494, ll. 27; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 12-12½ in. by 8-8½ in.

The same.

The second half or the third and fourth volumes of the Ta'rikh-i-Alfi, together with a small portion of the second volume, incomplete at the end. It begins in the midst of the 484th year of the Rihlat (=A. H. 494): در آن سعی و اجتهاد نمودند اثری الخ (111 in this Cat.), fol. 221^a, first line, and goes down to the beginning of the 975th year of the Rihlat (=A. H. 985). The second half (or the 501st year of the Rihlat = A. H. 511) begins on fol. 33^b, l. 4. There is a lacuna after fol. 59. Ff. 85 and 542-549 are severely damaged. The right order of ff. 141-149 is this: 141, 143-148, 142, 149; and of ff. 183-187 this: 183, 186, 184, 185, 187. Most of the headings and dates are missing.

No. 312, ff. 549, ll. 30; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 14½ in. by 8½ in.

The same.

A large portion of the same second half, beginning in the midst of the 545th year of the Rihlat (=A. H. 555): مابعد از چند روز زن الدن الخ (555) and going down to the end of the 974th year of the Rihlat (=A. H. 984). It breaks off with these words: و بکھزار دوست کس . . . ازیشان بعقل آوردند مجملًا درین روز . . . corresponding to No. 3293 (112 in this Cat.), fol. 493^a, l. 9.

Many headings are omitted.

No. 121, ff. 495, ll. 30; clear Nasta'lik; size, 14½ in. by 8½ in.

The same.

Another portion of the second half of the Ta'rikh-i-Alfi, beginning in the midst of the 585th year of the Rihlat (=A.H. 595): متوجه قطع و قطع مادّة ملاحده: اسمعيلىه, corresponding to No. 312 (113 in this Cat.), fol. 127^a, l. 26, and going down to the midst of the 974th year of the Rihlat (=A.H. 984). It breaks off with the words: ... از نسل شاه اسمعیل, corresponding to No. 312, fol. 548^b, last line.

A full index of this copy's contents is found on the fly-leaves.

No. 316, ff. 476, ll. 29-30; written in good and distinct Nasta'lik by at least three different hands; size, 13 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

The same.

Another portion of the same second half, beginning with the 553rd year of the Rihlat (=A.H. 563): ذکر وقائع سال بانصد و بنجاه و سیوم از رحلت سید الشریع و آله التحیة من الملك الخ, and going down to the end of the 932nd year of the Rihlat (=A.H. 942). It breaks off with these words: محمد سلطان و سلطان, جنید برلاس فیط حرائن دهلی مأمور شدند و آنحضرت, corresponding to No. 3293 (112 in this Cat.), fol. 388^b, first line.

No. 152, ff. 211, ll. 31; small, but clear Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; slightly worm-eaten throughout; size, 12 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

The same.

A smaller portion of the second half, or the third volume of the Ta'rikh-i-Alfi, beginning with the 501st year of the Rihlat (=A.H. 511): ذکر وقائع سال بانصد و بنکم از رحلت سید بشر, ... در اوائل این سال سلطان سنجر الخ, and going down to the middle of the 679th year of the Rihlat (=A.H. 689). It breaks off with the words: ... بجانب روم فرسنادند و بادشاه, corresponding to No. 316 (115 in this Cat.), fol. 147^b, l. 5. Blanks on ff. 186^b, 196^a, 196^b, 199^a, 199^b (entirely blank), 200^a, and 215^a.

No. 835, ff. 320, ll. 29; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Muntakhab-i-Ta'rikh-i-Alfi (منتخب تاریخ الفی).

Extracts from the Ta'rikh-i-Alfi, comprising:

1. Account of the Russians, on fol. 1^b.
2. Extract from the history of Shāhrukh and account of Khotan and Khotā, in the years 806 and 812, on fol. 9^b.
3. Extract from the history of Sulṭān Sa'idkhān and account of Tibet, in the year 929, on fol. 22^b.
4. Account of Kashmir, on fol. 27^b.

5. Account of the fortress of Kangra and its capture in 1029, on fol. 33^a.

6. Account of Mālwah, Gujarāt, Fathpūr, etc., on fol. 35^b sq.

No. 1719, ff. 46, ll. 15; Shikasta; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Majāmi'-alakhbār (مجامع الاخبار).

A compendium of general history, from the beginning to A.H. 1000 (A.D. 1591, 1592), by Muḥammad Sharif alḥusaini, known as Wuḳū'i, who entered a second time the service of the emperor Akbar in A.H. 998 = A.D. 1590 (see fol. 3^b, l. 3 ab infra). The title, written here incorrectly as مجامع الاخبار, appears on fol. 4^a, l. 5. On fol. 1^a the work is simply called: تاریخ محمد شریف و فوعی.

Beginning: ستایش سعادت اساس مالکی را سزده ملک قدیمش بیروالست الخ.

There is no proper subdivision to be found in this copy; we only learn from fol. 64^b and other occasional headings, that it comprises two makālas of very unequal proportion, the first comprising the ante-Muḥammadan, the second the post-Muḥammadan history.

First makālah (not marked) begins with a short sketch of the usefulness of historiography (بما فوائد علم تاریخ), on fol. 4^a, after which follow:

Old prophets, kings of the Israelites, etc., on fol. 4^b, beginning with Ādam and ending with Khālīd bin Sinān (Jesus on fol. 21^a, Seven Sleepers on fol. 23^a, St. George on fol. 23^b, Simeon on fol. 24^b).

Old philosophers and sages, on fol. 25^a, ending with Buzarjmihr.

Old Persian kings, on fol. 29^a, in four ṭabaḳāt, from Gayūmarth to Yazdajird III.

Banū Lakhm in the Arabian Trāk, on fol. 56^a.

The Ghassānians in Syria, on fol. 57^b.

The Tubba's in Yaman, on fol. 58^b.

Second makālah, on fol. 64^b, beginning with the history of Muḥammad's life, his genealogy, wives, children, etc.; the first four Khalīfs, the twelve Imāms, the Aṣḥāb, etc. (Abū Bakr on fol. 74^a, 'Umar on fol. 76^a, 'Uthmān on fol. 78^b, 'Ali on fol. 83^a, the Imāms on fol. 90^b).

The Umayyade Khalīfs, on fol. 92^b.

The 'Abbāsīde Khalīfs, on fol. 114^a.

Minor dynasties, contemporary with the 'Abbāsides: Ṭāhirides, on fol. 204^a; Saffārides, on fol. 205^a; Sāmānides, on fol. 206^a; Dailamis, on fol. 209^a; Ghaznawides, on fol. 214^a; Ghūrīdes, on fol. 217^a; Kurt kings, on fol. 219^b; Saljūks, on fol. 221^a (Saljūks of Kirmān, on fol. 220^b; Saljūks of Rūm, on fol. 230^a); Khwārizmshāhs, on fol. 230^b; Isma'īlis, on fol. 237^b (this part is curiously styled باب از معالّة اول); Hasan Ṣabah, on fol. 240^b; Karākhitā'is of Kirmān, on fol. 242^b; Atābegs of Fārs, Diyārbakr, and Adharbāijān, in three shu'bahs, on fol. 243^a; Atābegs of Lūristān, on fol. 246^a.

Moghuls, on fol. 246^b, to Tughātīmūrkhān.

(History of Čingizkhān begins on fol. 249^a; a short chapter on the Sultāns of Egypt, on fol. 255^a; reign of Sultān Abū Sa'idkhān, on fol. 260^b.)

Sultāns who ruled after the Moghuls in some of the Bilād-i-jibāl, that is, the local dynasties of the Čingizkhānis, in five tā'ifas, of which however only four are distinctly marked, viz. Čūpānis, on fol. 263^b; Īlkānis, on fol. 264^a; Muẓaffaris, on fol. 266^a (preceded on fol. 265^a by the history of Amir Shaikh Abū Ishāk, the last Īnjūkīng, which is probably reckoned as third tā'ifah); and Sarbadārs, on fol. 268^b.

The Timūrides in Īrān and Tūrān, beginning with Timūr himself, on fol. 271^a, and ending with a short sketch of the Čaghataikhāns of Tūrān, on fol. 304^b.

History of India, first part, beginning on fol. 306^a with Sabuktagīn; Kuṭb-al-dīn Aibak, and the following kings of Dihli, on fol. 306^b, down to Sultān 'Alā-aldīn Maḥmūdshāh bin Sultān Muḥammadshāh, the last of the Sayyids, and the rise of the house of Lūdi.

Kings of Gujarāt, from the early Rājās to A. H. 999, on fol. 334^b.

Bahmān kings of the Dakhan, on fol. 336^b.

Kings of Bangālāh, on fol. 338^a.

Rulers of Mālwah, on fol. 340^a.

Rulers of Jaunpūr, on fol. 342^b.

History of India, second part, from Bahlūl Lūdi to Ibrāhīm Lūdi, on fol. 343^b.

Sketch of the reign of the Karā-koynlū, on fol. 344^b; of the Āk-koynlū, on fol. 352^a; of the Uzbegs, on fol. 360^a; of the Šafawis, on fol. 364^b (accession of Shāh 'Abbās, on fol. 383^a); and of the 'Uthmāni Sultāns, on fol. 385^a.

History of India, third part, beginning with Bābar, on fol. 389^b (a portion of his history has been told already in the chapter of the Šafawis, on fol. 369^b sq.); first reign of Humāyūn, on fol. 391^a; Shīrkhan, etc., on fol. 393^a; second reign of Humāyūn, on fol. 398^a; Akbar, on fol. 398^b. The history of this emperor is brought down to A. H. 1000.

No date. The oldest entry on fol. 1^a is from A. H. 1027 (A. D. 1618), so that the copy of this rare work, not met with anywhere else, is comparatively old. Other seals from A. H. 1169, 1192, 1198, etc.

No. 1758, ff. 410, ll. 23; very small Nasta'liq; worm-eaten and occasionally damaged besides, particularly on fol. 55; size, 10 in. by 5½ in.

General history.

An anonymous universal history from the beginning of the world to A. H. 1001 = A. D. 1592, 1593 (the last date found here, on fol. 537^b), and the conquest of the Dakhan by Akbar. The copy is defective, both at the beginning and in many parts of the context; in fact, it is impossible to state how many lacunas there may be, and how many leaves are misplaced by the binder, as there are no catchwords at all, and the contents of the book are in the most hopeless state of confusion imaginable. No strict subdivision is visible anywhere. To give an idea of the pell-mell character of this book, we subjoin the principal headings in the order in which they appear:

Fragments of a general index, on ff. 1 and 2, with a lacuna both after fol. 1 and fol. 2.

Part of the history of the Khalif 'Uthmān, on fol. 3^a (the story of his death appears on fol. 533^b!). Again a lacuna after fol. 5.

Part of the history of 'Alī, on fol. 6^a (the beginning of 'Alī's Khilāfat appears on fol. 532^b in the middle of the page!).

History of Hasan, on fol. 15^b; of Husain, on fol. 18^a; of 'Alī ibn Al-Husain and the following Imāms, on fol. 19^b sq.

Khilāfat of Mu'awiyah, on fol. 27^a; of Yazid, on fol. 29^b. History of the martyrs of Karbalā, on fol. 32^a.

The other Umayyade Khalīfs, on fol. 32^b.

Abū Muslim, on fol. 56^b.

'Abbāsīde Khalīfs in Asia, on fol. 58^a sq.

'Abbāsīdes in Egypt, on fol. 83^b.

Kings of Yaman, on fol. 90^a.

Ghassānians in Syria, on fol. 100^b.

Banū Umayyah in Maghrib, on fol. 103^a.

Banū Aghlab in Afrika, on fol. 103^b.

Mulaththamin, on fol. 106^b.

The Tūlūnis, on fol. 108^a.

The Īkhshidīs, on fol. 108^b.

The Hamdānis, on fol. 109^a.

The Tughtiginīs, on fol. 110^b.

The Dānishmandīs, on fol. 111^a.

The Urtukīs, on fol. 111^b.

The Salīkīs, on fol. 112^a.

The Isma'īlīs in Afrika, Egypt, and Syria, on fol. 112^a.

Sharīfs of Makkah, on fol. 116^b.

The Banū Kilāb of Ḥalab, on fol. 118^a; the Banū 'Ukail, on fol. 118^b; the Banū Asad, on fol. 119^b.

The Musha'sha' Sayyids, on fol. 120^a.

The Atābegs, on fol. 121^a.

Ma'din-i-akhbār-i-Aḥmadi (معدن اخبار احمدی).

Part of the second volume of the general history of the world by Aḥmad bin Bahbal bin Jamāl Kamgū, commonly known as Kanbū, who compiled it in Jahāngir's reign, about A. H. 1023 (A. D. 1614); see Rieu iii. p. 888, where a large portion of the first volume, going down to the reign of Ibrāhīm Lūdi, is described. This second volume comprises the history of the Čaghatāi dynasty and the rulers of India from Timūr to Jahāngir, see the beginning of our copy, on fol. 1^b: تاریخ معدن اخبار احمدی در بیان خلافت سلسله شریفه جغتیه و بعضی از سلاطین دیار هند تا عهد خلافت ظل الله نور الدین محمد جهانگیر پادشاه غازی الخ. It is divided into many ذکر, like the first volume (see Rieu, loc. cit.), but only four are properly numbered, viz. the fortieth on fol. 115^b, the forty-first on fol. 127^a, the forty-second on fol. 128^a, and the forty-third on fol. 146^b, where a new section begins.

Contents:

Reign of Timūr, on fol. 2^a; Timūr's descendants, on fol. 27^a; beginning, on fol. 27^b, with 'Umar Shaikh Mirzā; Bābar, on fol. 31^b; first reign of Humāyūn, on fol. 49^a; Akbar's birth in A. H. 949, on fol. 63^b; Shir Shāh Sūr, on fol. 95^a, Islāmshāh bin Shirshāh, on fol. 115^b; Firūzshāh bin Islāmshāh, on fol. 129^a; Muḥammad 'Adil Sūr, Ibrāhīm Sūr, and Sikandar Sūr, on fol. 128^b; second reign of Humāyūn, on fol. 139^a; Akbar, on fol. 146^b.

This copy breaks off in the thirty-seventh year of Akbar's reign, A. H. 999 (A. D. 1590, 1591).

The copy belonged formerly to Sir Barry Close.

No. 814, ff. 343, ll. 14; large and very distinct Nasta'liq; size, 12 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 7 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Ṭirāz-alakhbār (طراز الاخبار).

The first volume of a large and extensive general history of the world, composed by Najm-aldin Aḥmad bin Faḍl-allāh of Khūzistān, called Aḥmadbegkhān alīṣ-fahāni, and dedicated to the emperor Aurangzib (see fol. 2^a, ll. 17 and 18, and fol. 2^b, l. 3 ab infra). The title is a chronogram, and gives as date for the commencement of this work A. H. 1052 (A. D. 1642, 1643); see fol. 2^b, l. 14, and comp. Rieu iii. p. 1056^a.

This first volume contains:

1. A large cosmographical introduction, styled افتتاح, and beginning, on fol. 3^b, last line: افتتاح در معرفت علم و بیان معنی وجود و اثبات واجب الوجود و آگاهی دادن از اولین مخلوق در سلسله ممکن الوجود و تحقیق موجودات روحانی و جسمانی و تفصیل مراتب مخلوقات از جواهر و اعراض. This introduction comprises the whole range of astronomical, physical, geographical, philosophical, and psychological sciences in the same manner, as, for instance, Kazwini's cosmography. Beginning, on fol. 1^b: طراز کارنامه اخبار عوالم ابداع بنام اقدس حق قدیم رواست که بمقومت ذات کامله فوالم انتظام اجناس جواهر موجودات الخ.

2. The first bāb of the whole work, styled ناب آغاز (see fol. 60^a), and introduced by a preface, entitled مفتاح, on the Jinns and the creation of Ādam and Eve, on fol. 57^b ذکر خلق بنی جات و احوال ایشان). The first bāb itself is divided into two تحت, the first of which comprises the whole biblical history in four جمن: (1) from Ādam to Jacob, on fol. 60^a; (2) from Joseph to Khidr, on fol. 81^a; (3) from Joshua, the son of Nūn, to David, including an account of Lukmān, on fol. 104^b; (4) from Solomon to Jesus, St. George, the Seven Sleepers, etc., on fol. 113^b. The second تحت comprises the old Persian dynasties, the Pishdādians, the Kayānians, the Mulūk-al-tawā'if, the Sāsānians, etc., together with short accounts of contemporary ante-Muhammadan rulers: likewise in four جمن: (1) on fol. 142^a, (2) on fol. 150^b, (3) on fol. 157^b, (4) on fol. 159^a, introduced by an ethical chapter on the duties and qualities of a Pādishāh. Beginning of this first bāb, on fol. 57^b: سرآغاز درنامه نامی اسم سامی واجب الاعظامی زبید که قولش از شائبة صوت و حرف میراست الخ.

No. 733, ff. 195, ll. 23; Nasta'lik; size, 15½ in. by 9½ in.

Intikhab-i-Muntakhab (انتخاب منتخب).

An abridgment of Muhammad Yūsuf bin Shaikh Rahmat-allāh al-Atakī al-Kan'ani's general history, entitled منتخب التواریخ, and completed A. H. 1056, 15th of Dhū-al-hijjah (A. D. 1647, January 22), a detailed description of which is given in Rieu i. pp. 122-124. This extract, which is styled انتخاب منتخب التواریخ, or simply انتخاب منتخب (see fol. 2^b, l. 9), was made, as far as the bad handwriting allows us to decipher, by 'Abd-alshakūr (see fol. 2^a, l. 8), and finished under 'Ālamgir, A. H. 1084 (A. D. 1673, 1674). It goes down, like the original, to the accession of Shāhjahān, A. H. 1037, and is divided into the same five kismas.

Beginning: انتخاب منتخب کلام ابلغ النظام و خلاصة معاصد و مرام سلاطین ذی الاحترام الخ.

Dated the 25th of Rajab, in the twenty-fourth year of Muhammadshāh's reign (=A. H. 1155, not 1149, as here is written, A. D. 1742, September 25).

No. 170, ff. 144, ll. 20; Shikasta; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

Mirāt-al-ālam (مرآت العالم).

General history, from the oldest times to A. H. 1078

(A. D. 1667, 1668), usually ascribed to Bakhtāwarkhān (who died A. H. 1096 = A. D. 1685), but composed in fact by Shaikh Muhammad Bakā: see below in the Mirāt-i-Jahānumā. For further details we refer to Bodleian Cat., Nos. 114-116; Rieu i. pp. 125-127 and iii. pp. 890 and 1080^a; W. Morley, p. 52 sq.; and Elliot, History of India, vii. p. 145 sq.

It is divided into a mukaddimah and seven Ārāyish (see the index on ff. 3^a-5^a), viz.:

Mukaddimah, on the creation, on fol. 5^a.

Ārāyish I, on ante-Muhammadan history, on fol. 35^a, in four numāyish.

Ārāyish II, history of Muhammad, the first four Khalifs, etc., on fol. 54^b, in twelve numāyish.

Ārāyish III, history of the Umayyade and 'Abbāsīde Khalifs, as well as of the other contemporary and succeeding dynasties to Timūr, on fol. 141^a, in eight numāyish.

Ārāyish IV, history of Timūr and his descendants, of the Turks in Asia Minor, and the Ṣafawī dynasty, on fol. 215^a, in five numāyish.

Ārāyish V, history of India to the accession of Bābar, on fol. 235^b, in nine numāyish.

Ārāyish VI, history of Bābar, Humāyūn, Akbar, Jahāngir, and Shāhjahān, on fol. 298^a, in five numāyish.

Ārāyish VII, history of Aurangzib and his contemporaries, probably beginning on fol. 459^a (the heading is missing), in three pairāyish.

The conclusion, containing the biographies of poets in alphabetical order, which is usually in other copies, and likewise in the index of this copy, called the خانمة

پیرایش forms here the fourth نمود of the third پیرایش of the seventh Ārāyish. At the end is a short addition by another author, fixing the death of Bakhtāwarkhān in A. H. 1096.

Beginning of this copy: الحمد لله الذی من علی المؤمنین اذ بعث فیهم رسولا منهم يتلو عليهم آياته و اوضح لهم الخ.

Copied by Ghulām Muhammad, but not dated. Cololated throughout. Ff. 130^b, 151^b, 152^a, 156^b, 380^b, and 435^b a little injured.

No. 986, ff. 613, ll. 21; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 11½ in. by 7 in.

A fragment of the same Mirāt-al-ālam.

Beginning: درترب گوهری که تاجداران کشور فصاحت و تخت نشینان خطه بلاغت را برانه افتخار باشد حمد و ثنای یگانه ایست الخ.

Detailed index, on ff. 4^a-7^a.

This fragment consists of two incoherent portions, written by two different hands, and contains:

The preface, on fol. 1^b.

The index, on fol. 4^a.

The mukaddimah or introduction, on fol. 8^a.

The beginning of the first Ārāyish, on fol. 9^b, which breaks off already on fol. 11^a.

An index of the 250 poets, whose short biographies are given in the khātimah of this work, on ff. 12^b-16^b.

The greater portion of the seventh Ârâyish, containing the history of 'Âlamgir's reign from A. H. 1068–1078 (A. D. 1658–1668), that of the contemporary rulers, amirs, shaikhs, etc., together with a topographical and statistical account of Hindûstân, etc., on ff. 17^a–153^b, defective both at the beginning (where two leaves are missing) and at the end (where a large lacuna of forty-seven leaves is found after fol. 153).

The last words of the khâtimah, on fol. 154^a.

Consequently there are missing in this copy: the greater portion of Ârâyish I, the entire five Ârâyish from II–VI inclusive, the beginning and end of Ârâyish VII, and the whole khâtimah or tadhkirah of Persian poets, except the last few lines.

The greater part of this copy, viz. ff. 17–154, was written by Muḥammad Mansûr, A. H. 1131 (A. D. 1719). A marginal note on fol. 4^a tells us that the muḥaddimah and first six Ârâyish formed one volume, and the rest the second; therefore ff. 1–12 (or 1–16) belong to that first, the rest to the second volume.

Several leaves are greatly injured; many parts quite effaced and illegible.

No. 899, ff. 154, ll. 24–25; Nasta'lik, by two different hands; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

Mirât-i-Jahânnumâ (مرآت جهاننما).

An almost complete copy of the extremely rare Mirât-i-Jahânnumâ or general history of the world, an enlarged edition of the Mirât-al-âlam, which is due, like the shorter work, to the authorship of Shaikh Muḥammad Bakâ (born A. H. 1037 = A. D. 1627, 1628, died A. H. 1094 = A. D. 1683), and not to Bakhtâvarkhân, as Rieu has proved in his Cat., iii. pp. 890 sq. and 1018^a; see also Elliot, History of India, vii. pp. 145–165. The usual edition of this work is that by the author's nephew Muḥammad Shafi', A. H. 1095 (A. D. 1684). Our copy wants a portion of the introduction (two leaves being missing in the beginning, and leaving the question who the editor was uncertain), all the rest is complete; but the division into Ârâyish differs considerably from that in Rieu's incomplete copy, especially as there are eleven instead of seven, although the contents are exactly the same. Minor differences appear in the subdivisions of the various Ârâyish, and it is not unlikely that we have got here the later edition of Muḥammad Bakâ's younger brother Ridâ, see Rieu iii. p. 1018. It opens in the elaborate index (on ff. 1^a–5^a) with the first Pairâyish of the first Ârâyish.

Contents:

Muḥaddimah, on fol. 5^a, on creation, in five Guftâr.

Ârâyish I, ante-Muḥammadan history, in three Pairâyish: 1. On fol. 11^a, old prophets, in forty-nine Numâyish, from Âdam to the Seven Sleepers, St. George, the monk Jariḥ, and Khâlid bin Sinân. 2. On fol. 63^a, old philosophers, in sixteen Numâyish, from Luḳmân to Democritus and Buzurjmihr. 3. In two Numâyish: (a) on fol. 66^a, old Persian kings, from Gayûmarth to Yazdajird II; (b) on fol. 71^b, kings of Yaman and Syria before the Islâm.

Ârâyish II, history of Muḥammad, the first four Khalifs, and the Imâms, in nine Pairâyish: 1. On fol.

72^b, Muḥammad's life from his birth to the flight, in nine Numâyish. 2. On fol. 88^a, Muḥammad's life from the flight to his death, in thirteen Numâyish. 3. On fol. 133^b, his wives, children, scribes, etc., in three Numâyish. 4. On fol. 138^b, the first four Khalifs, in four Numâyish. 5. On fol. 161^a, the Imâms, in twelve Numâyish. 6. On fol. 166^b, the Aṣḥâb, etc., alphabetically arranged in twenty-seven Numâyish. 7. On fol. 173^b, the Tâbi'in and the four Mujtahidin, beginning with Abû Ḥanifah, in two Numâyish. 8. On fol. 176^a, the seven readers of the Kurân and the traditionists, in two Numâyish. 9. On fol. 178^a, renowned Shaikhs, Saints, Hakims, etc., in four Numâyish.

Ârâyish III, the Umayyade and the 'Abbâside Khalifs, together with the contemporary minor dynasties, in eight Pairâyish: 1. On fol. 230^a, the Umayyades. 2. On fol. 234^a, the 'Abbâsides. 3. On fol. 239^b, minor dynasties, from the Tâhirides to the Karâkhitâ'is of Kirmân, in eleven Numâyish. 4. On fol. 251^b, kings of Rûm, from the Caesars to the Osmanlis, in eight Numâyish. 5. On fol. 256^b, Sharifs of Makkah and Madinah. 6. On fol. 257^a, Khâns of the Turks, in four Numâyish. 7. On fol. 258^b, Çingizkhân and his descendants, in seven Numâyish. 8. On fol. 266^b, Sultâns who ruled in Irân after Abû Sa'id Bahâdurkhân, from the Cûpânîs to the Sarbadârs, in five Numâyish.

Ârâyish IV, Timûr and his successors in Irân and Tûrân, the Karâ-koynlû and Âk-koynlû, and the Ṣafawis, down to Sulaimanshâh bin 'Abbâs II, on fol. 269^b, in five Pairâyish.

Ârâyish V, history of India, in ten Pairâyish: 1. Early Rajahs, on fol. 277^b. 2. Emperors of Dihli from Shihâb-aldin Ghûrî to Ibrâhim Lûdî, on fol. 282^a. 3. Sultâns of the Dakhan, on fol. 294^b, in six Numâyish. 4. Kings of Gujarât, on fol. 299^b. 5. Rulers of Sind, on fol. 302^a, in two Numâyish. 6. Kings of Bangâlah, on fol. 304^b. 7. Sultâns of Mâlwah, on fol. 306^a; 8. Rulers of Khândis, on fol. 309^a. 9. Rulers of Jaunpûr, on fol. 310^a. 10. Kings of Kashmir, on fol. 310^b.

Ârâyish VI, from Bâbar to Shâhjahân, in five Pairâyish: 1. Bâbar, on fol. 313^b. 2. Humâyûn, on fol. 315^b. 3. Akbar, on fol. 324^a. 4. Jahângir, on fol. 327^b. 5. Shâhjahân, on fol. 335^b.

Ârâyish VII, Aurangzib 'Âlamgir, in five Pairâyish: 1. His early life and the first ten years of his reign, on fol. 345^b. 2. His eminent qualities, on fol. 375^b. 3. His children, on fol. 377^b. 4. Extent of his empire, on fol. 378^a. 5. Contemporary Sultâns, on fol. 379^a.

This Ârâyish corresponds in its contents to the first Pairâyish, and the first four Numâyish of the second Pairâyish of the seventh Ârâyish in Rieu's copy, iii. p. 891.

Ârâyish VIII, in two Pairâyish: 1. Celebrated wazirs from the first four Khalifs to the time of 'Âlamgir, on fol. 379^b, in fourteen Numâyish. 2. 'Ulamâs and other eminent men of 'Âlamgir's time, on fol. 391^b.

This Ârâyish corresponds to the fifth Numâyish of the second Pairâyish, and the first Numûd of the third Pairâyish of the seventh Ârâyish in Rieu's copy.

Ârâyish IX, in two Pairâyish: 1. Famous calligraphers, on fol. 395^a. 2. Strange occurrences, on fol. 399^b.

This Ārāyish corresponds to the second and third Numūds of the third Pairāyish of the seventh Ārāyish in Rieu's copy.

Ārāyish X, on fol. 409^a, account of the author's ancestors, beginning with Khwājah Diyā-aldin, who came from Harāt to India A.H. 754 (A.D. 1353) and became governor of Multān, corresponding to the fourth Numūd of the third Pairāyish of the seventh Ārāyish in Rieu's copy.

Ārāyish XI, on fol. 414^b, notices of Persian poets, arranged alphabetically in twenty-eight Pairāyish, beginning with Abū Sa'id bin Abū-alkhair and Abū 'Alī Ibn Sinā. This corresponds to the first section of the khātimah in Rieu's copy.

Khātimah, on fol. 515^a, life of the author, Shaikh Muḥammad Bakā, corresponding to the second section of the khātimah in Rieu's copy.

Dated the 19th of Dhū-alka'dah, A.H. 1148 (the seventeenth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign) = A.D. 1736, April 1. From the rather defective colophon we learn that it was written for Mirzā Murshid Kulibeg Khānshāhib Tabrizi (or as he is styled on the fly-leaf, Murshid Kulikhān Bahādur Tabrizi, governor of Oudh). One of the copyists (probably the last) was Muḥammad Ḥusainbeg Khwājū Gilāni, living in Bangālah. This copy belonged formerly to Mr. A. Welland (February 4. 1810).

No. 1497, ff. 519, ll. 25; Naskhi on ff. 1-277, parts of 299 and 301, 304-331, and 340-348; the rest in Nasta'liq by various other hands; worm-eaten; size, 14½ in. by 10½ in.

Tanqīḥ-alakhbār (تنقيح الاخبار).

The sifting of the chronicles, a concise general history of the world, based on the best authorities, down to A.H. 1125 (A.D. 1713) in Farrukhsiyar's reign (see fol. 409^a, lin. penult., and the following copy, No. 1648, fol. 335^b, l. 3), by Mullā Muḥammad Māh (so the name is written on the fly-leaf and on fol. 1^a, in the text we have not succeeded in finding it), who began this work A.H. 1117 (A.D. 1705, 1706), see fol. 3^b, ll. 10 and 11. The title occurs on fol. 4^a, l. 7. It begins: سبحان ربّي الأعلى این چه استحقاق سجده مطلق و عبادت سحمان ربّي الأعلى است، على الاطلاق است الخ، and contains a muḥaddimah on the origin of the world and mankind, on fol. 5^b, seven tahrirs (تحریر)، and a khātimah.

The seven tahrirs treat of the following subjects:

1. History of the old prophets and sages, the ante-Muhammadan kings of Persia down to the last of the Sāsānians, the rulers of Yaman, the Greek emperors, and the Mulūk-alṭawā'if, on fol. 8^b.
2. History of Muḥammad, his companions and followers, the Imāms, the first four Khalifs, and other famous men of the same time, partly in alphabetical order, on fol. 51^b.
3. History of the Umayyade and 'Abbāsīde Khalifs and all the contemporary and posterior dynasties down to the successors of Čingizkhān, the Muzaffarides, Sarbadārs, and Knrt kings, on fol. 115^b.
4. History of Timūr and his successors, the Karā-ḳoyunlū and Āk-ḳoyunlū, and the Šafawis, on fol. 207^b.

5. The minor Indian dynasties of the Dakhan, Gujarāt, Sind, Multān, Bangālah, Mālwal, Khāndis, Kashmir, etc., and the kings of Dihli down to Ibrāhim Lūdi, on fol. 219^b.

6. History of the five emperors, Bābar, Humāyūn, Akbar, Jahāngir, and Shāhjahān, on fol. 258^b.

7. First section, history of the first ten years of 'Ālamgir's reign (taken from the 'Ālamgir-nāma), to which are added noteworthy dates of the later years of the same emperor's life, of Bahādurshāh's reign, and the first year of Farrukhsiyar, on fol. 383^b.

Second section, tadhkirah of the most famous Shaikhs (on fol. 410^a), Hakims (on fol. 434^a), 'Ulamās (on fol. 436^b), and poets (on fol. 459^a) of the Islām, for the greater part in alphabetical order. This copy was made from the author's autograph by Muḥammad Afḍal, and finished the third of Jumādā-alākhar, A.H. 1108 (so is here written, but as the work itself goes down to A.H. 1125, it is undoubtedly a clerical error for A.H. 1128, which is rightly styled the fourth year of Farrukhsāh's reign, that is, of Muḥammad Farrukhsiyar) = A.D. 1716, May 25. Sayyid Khair-allāh finished the perusal of this copy the 9th of Rabi'-alawwal, A.H. 1132 (A.D. 1720, January 20).

No. 579, ff. 516, ll. 15; collated; large and distinct Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, 11½ in. by 7½ in.

A defective copy of the same.

This copy is incomplete both at the beginning and end. In the beginning there are missing thirty leaves. It opens abruptly in the first tahrir with these words:

بنابر تصرفش در ممالك الخ... corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 35^a, l. 8. Tahrir II, on fol. 15^b; III, on fol. 66^b; IV, on fol. 151^b; V, on fol. 163^b; VI, on fol. 202^a; VII, first section, on fol. 313^b. The second section begins on fol. 336^a and breaks off in the beginning of the short tadhkirah of poets (چهارم بیان احوال شعرا), corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 459^b, first line. Collated throughout.

No. 1648, ff. 376, ll. 17; Nasta'liq; slightly damaged in many pages, especially towards the end; size, 12½ in. by 7 in.

Mihakk-alsulūk u miṣṣalat-alnuffis (محاکم السلوك و مصفلة النفوس).

A curious work on general history, intermixed with theological and esoteric discussions, compiled by a former companion of prince Muḥammad Mu'azzam, that is, the emperor Bahādurshāh, A.H. 1133 (A.D. 1721), see fol. 6^b. After the usual praises of the prophet, the معراج, the first four Khalifs, and the explanation of the reasons for this work's composition, a long exposition of mystical philosophy follows, dealing with the نفس معرفت گروه، فضیلت خلفا، شکر، معرفت، توبه، اماره مبداء، اقسام گروه بدعتیان، اامت چون خواجه وروافض

خلق، ومعنى قضا و قدر، and similar topics. After this introductory part the real work begins, a compendium of general history in fifteen makâlas and a khâtimah, all interspersed with theological and philosophical aphorisms. The contents are as follows:

Makâlah I: The oldest prophets, from Âdam to Nûh, on fol. 72^a.

Makâlah II: Old Persian kings down to Jamshîd (including the story of Hûd, Sâlih, etc.), on fol. 87^a.

Makâlah III: From Dâhâk to Faridûn (including Nimrûd, Ibrâhim, Lût, Ya'kûb, and Yûsuf), on fol. 94^a.

Makâlah IV: From Minûcihr to Alexander the Great (Shu'aib, Mûsâ, Khidr, Ilyâs, Samuel, David, Luqmân, Solomon, Dâniel), on fol. 102^a.

Makâlah V: Mulûk-altawâ'if and contemporary prophets (Zachariah, Yahyâ, the Seven Sleepers, Jesus, Jonah), on fol. 142^a.

Makâlah VI: The Sâsânian kings down to Nûshirwân, on fol. 162^b.

Makâlah VII: History of Muḥammad and the first four Khalifs, on fol. 189^a.

Makâlah VIII: The Umayyade Khalifs, on fol. 256^a.

Makâlah IX: The 'Abbâside Khalifs, on fol. 291^a.

Makâlah X: Rise of Islâm in India, and first Muḥammadan rulers in that country (Mahmûd of Ghazna, etc.), on fol. 360^a.

Makâlah XI: Emperors of Dihli down to Ibrâhim Lûdî (slave kings, fol. 381^a; house of Khilji, fol. 390^a; house of Tughluq, fol. 399^a; Khidrkhân, fol. 405^a; house of Lûdî, fol. 407^b), on fol. 377^b.

Makâlah XII: From Bâbar to Shâhjahân, on fol. 410^a.

Makâlah XIII: 'Âlamgir and Bahâdurshâh, on fol. 438^a.

Makâlah XIV: Jahândârshâh and Farrukhsiyar, on fol. 496^b.

Makâlah XV: Rites and duties of Islâm (واجبات اسلام), on fol. 542^b.

Khâtimah: Conclusion of the history of Farrukhsiyar, Rafî'-aldarajât, Rafî'-aldaulah, and accession of Muḥammadshâh. At the end a series of miscellaneous matters, short review of the great poets of Persia, Jalâl-al-din Rûmî, Sanâ'i, Farid 'Attâr, Firdausî, Anwarî, Sa'dî, Khâkânî, Nizâmî, Amîr Ḥusainî, Hâfiz, Nî'mat-allâh Walî, Jâmi, etc., on fol. 649^a. It is incomplete at the end; one or two leaves missing.

Beginning: مبتدای هر شی حمد و ثنای بگانه ایست (Beginning: بی ابتدا و منتهای الخ).

An endless number of marginal and also interlinear glosses and additions. The MS. is in some portions very badly preserved; many lines effaced or partly torn away. A complete index on the fly-leaves. The proper order of ff. 624-649 is: 624, 641-648, 625-640, 649.

No. 1012, ff. 704. ll. 17; very careless and inelegant Nasta'liq; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

Mirât-al-safâ (مرآت الصفی).

The second volume (دفتر دوم) of Muḥammad 'Alî bin Muḥammad Şâdik alḥusainî's work on general history, from the rise of Timûr to A. H. 1169 (A. D. 1755, 1756). The present copy is the author's autograph (see the colophon: محمد علی الحسینی مؤلف و کاتب), finished in the same year 1169, the second of Ramaḍân (A. D. 1756, May 31), and represents undoubtedly the first sketch of this volume which was afterwards revised and continued to A. H. 1179 (A. D. 1765, 1766), as the copy in Rieu i. pp. 129-131 proves. The dedication therefore to Şamşâm-aldaulah Shâhnawâzkhân Bahâdur Şamşâmjaug (the author of the Maâthir-alumarâ, who was put to death A. H. 1171 = A. D. 1758), which in Rieu's copy is only found in the preface, appears here a second time at the end, immediately before the colophon, as the patron was still alive in 1169. This second daftar is subdivided into two bâbs:

First bâb, on fol. 3^b: Timûrides of Irân and Tûrân, from Timûr to Muḥammad Zamân (A. H. 920).

Second bâb, on fol. 24^a: Timûrides of India from Timûr and Mirzâ Mirânshâh (born A. H. 769) to A. H. 1169, the third year of 'Âlamgir II's reign. The latter part of this bâb is very detailed, and narrates the events in full from year to year. Bâbar, on fol. 25^a; Humâyûn, on fol. 27^a; Akbar, on fol. 32^b; Jahângîr, on fol. 38^b; Shâhjahân, on fol. 40^b; 'Âlamgir Aurangzib, on fol. 44^b; Bahâdurshâh, on fol. 50^b; Mu'izz-al-dîn Jahândârshâh, on fol. 56^b; Muḥammad Farrukhsiyar, on fol. 60^b; Rafî'-aldarajât, on fol. 66^b; Rafî'-aldaulah, on fol. 67^a; Muḥammadshâh, on fol. 67^b; Aḥmadshâh, on fol. 136^b; 'Âlamgir II, on fol. 168^b.

Undoubtedly for the sake of selling the MS. at a higher price, a clumsy forger's hand has effaced the proper title on fol. 3^a, ll. 1 and 2, مرآت الصفی, by writing over it رعات عالمگیری (Letters of 'Âlamgir), and the same nonsensical description appears on fol. 1^a.

Beginning: مبتدای هر شی حمد و ثنای بگانه ایست (Beginning: بی ابتدا و منتهای الخ).

No. 3038, ff. 175, ll. 14; Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

II. HISTORY OF MUḤAMMAD, THE KHALÍFS, AND IMÂMS.

Kitâb-i-Futûḥ (کتاب فتوح).

Persian translation of the Arabic work فتوح ابن اعثم, or history of Islâm from Muḥammad's death to the death of Ḥasan and Husain and the accession of Yazid in A. H. 60 and 61 (A. D. 680), by Khwâjah Abû Muḥammad Aḥmad bin A'tham al-Kûfi, who died about A. H. 314 (A. D. 926). The translation was undertaken in or soon after A. H. 596 (A. D. 1199, 1200) by Muḥammad bin Aḥmad al-Musta'fi al-Harawi, chiefly encouraged and supported by a nobleman of Khwârizm and Khurâsân, see ff. 1^b, l. 6 and 2^a, l. 12. As we learn from Ouseley 284 in the Bodleian Library, this first translator died when he had only finished a small portion of the work, viz. the greater part of Abû Bakr's Khilâfat, and was succeeded by Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin Abi Bakr al-Kâtib al-Mâbarnâbâdi, who carried the translation to an end. Comp. for fuller details, Bodleian Cat., Nos. 124-126; Rieu i. p. 151 sq.; W. Morley, p. 16, etc.

Ta'rikh-i-Futūh-i-Shām (تأريخ فتوح شام).

Persian translation of an Arabic history of the conquest of Syria, perhaps—although no author's or translator's name appears in the text—of Muḥammad bin 'Umar al-Wāḳidi's (died about A. H. 207, A. D. 822) فتوح الشام or rather Pseudo-Wāḳidi's, a Turkish translation of which is described in G. Flügel ii. p. 134. It begins under Abū Bakr and ends under 'Umar, comprising altogether forty-two غزوات or battles. It is interspersed with many Arabic verses. As title appears, on fol. 1^a, تأريخ فتوح شام and تأريخ فتح شام.

Tarjuma-i-Siyar-alnabi (ترجمه سیر النبی).

A Persian translation of Muḥammad ibn Ishāq Almutṭalibī's Arabic biography of the Prophet. The anonymous translator made the first acquaintance with this famous book in Egypt in the majlis of Kādi Ḥasan Rūkn al-dīn ibn Ḥasan (in the copy of the Bodleian Library, Walker 96: زکی الدین ابن حسان, see Bodleian Cat., No. 127) and Kādi Ḥasan ibn Muḥali (see fol. 2^b, ll. 9 and 10), and began after his return to Persia to put it into a Persian garb, at the request of the Atābeg Sa'd bin Zangi, Sa'di's patron, A. H. 620 (در شهور سنة = A. D. 1223; the Bodleian copy has A. H. 612 = A. D. 1215). It is divided into the following thirty bābs:

1. در نسب بیغامبر ما علیه السلام تا آدم, on fol. 8^b, l. 1.
2. در تفصیل نسب بیغامبر ما از اسمعیل تا عبد الله, in seven bābs, on fol. 8^b.
3. در تعاقب ولایت بخانه کعبه و ترتیب ولایت ایشان, on fol. 53^b (in the Bodleian copy the first and second bābs are contracted into one; from that arises the apparent inconsistency in the numbering of the following chapters there).
4. در ظاهر شدن جاه زمزم دیگر بار بر دست عبد المطلب, on fol. 59^a.
5. در ذبح عبد الله پدر بیغامبر الخ, on fol. 62^a.
6. در مولد بیغامبر ما, on fol. 64^b.
7. در رضاع بیغامبر ما, on fol. 65^a.
8. در کفالت ابو طالب سید را, on fol. 68^a.
9. در اوصاف و اخلاق بیغامبر ما پیش از حد بلوغ, on fol. 69^b.
10. در تقدیم قریش بیغامبر ما پیش از مبعث, on fol. 72^b.
11. در خبر دادن اخبار یهود و رهبانیه عرب و نصاری, on fol. 73^b.
12. در مبعث بیغامبر ما, on fol. 81^a.
13. در اسلام حمزه رضی الله عنه, on fol. 95^a.
14. در ماجراها که میان بیغامبر و رؤساء قریش گذشته, on fol. 96^b.
15. در هجرت صحابه رضی الله عنهم بجانب حبشه باذن سید, on fol. 107^b.
16. در معراج بیغامبر ما, on fol. 123^a.
17. در وفات خدیجه رضی الله عنها و وفات ابو طالب الخ, on fol. 126^b.
18. در رفتن بیغامبر بطرف طائف و نصرت طلبیدن, on fol. 128^a.
19. در عرض دادن سید علیه السلام خود را در موسم حاج, on fol. 129^b.
20. در بیعت انصار با بیغامبر و احوال آن, in three fāṣls, on fol. 130^b.
21. در هجرت سید علیه السلام بمدينه, on fol. 135^b.

22. در هجرت صحابه رضی الله عنهم اجمعین بمدینه، on fol. 136^b (this bâb does not appear at all in the Bodleian copy).

23. در ظاهر کردن یهود عداوة سید علیه السلام، on fol. 144^a.

24. در مناظره سید علیه السلام والتحیه با یهود، on fol. 145^b.

25. در مناظره نصاری بحران (نجران) با سید، on fol. 147^b.

26. در مغازی پیغامبر ما علی التفصیل (twenty-seven battles according to the index, twenty-eight in the text), on fol. 149^b (this is the twenty-fourth bâb in the Bodleian copy).

27. در ذکر وفود عرب که بطوع و رغبت باسلام آمدند، بی دعوت، on fol. 216^a.

28. در حج الوداع، on fol. 217^b.

29. در فرستادن سید علیه السلام لشکر باطراف بلاد، on fol. 219^a.

30. در وفات پیغامبر، on fol. 220^b (this is the twenty-eighth bâb in the Bodleian copy; bâbs twenty-nine and thirty of that MS., which are to deal, according to the index, with the prophet's wives and Abû Bakr, are not found here).

Beginning: حمد و ستایش آفریدگاری را که کسوت وجود در تن عالم از آثار قدرت الهی.

Siyar-alnabi (سیر النبی).

The last part of a very extensive history of the prophet's life and actions, with many traditions about his companions and successors. Since this MS. comprises fasls 32-45 and the khâtimah of the whole work and begins with the 5th year of the Hijrah, it is very likely that it forms the continuation and conclusion of the immediately preceding copy, the thirtieth or last fasl of which deals with A. H. 3. It goes down to Muḥammad's death.

Beginning: الحمد لله رب العالمين و الصلوة والسلام (!) الاتقان الاكملان الامجدان على خير خلقى الله محمد رسول الله اللهم صلى وسلم و بارك على سيدنا محمد صاحب النبوة فصل سى دوم در ذكر وقائع سال بنجم. The 6th year of the Hijrah begins on fol. 18^b, the 7th on fol. 35^b, the 8th on fol. 40^b, the 9th on fol. 54^a, the 10th on fol. 68^b, the 11th on fol. 103^b. The story of Muḥammad's illness and death begins on fol. 123^b, the chapter about his companions and successors on fol. 153^a, the khâtimah on fol. 222^a.

Dated A. H. 871 (A. D. 1466, 1467). This copy is injured at many places, especially in the last half, and worm-eaten.

No. 1337, ff. 226, ll. 21; Nasta'liq; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

Ma'ârij-alnuhuwwah (معارج النبوة).

The detailed biography of the prophet, composed by Mu'in almiskin, who died A. H. 907 (A. D. 1501, 1502), and divided into a muḥaddimah, four rukns, and a khâtimah; comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 128-130; Rieu i. p. 149 sq.; J. Aumer, p. 100; G. Flügel ii. p. 391; see also H. Khalfa iii. 20 and 513; v. 12, 251, and 608. According to Rieu the work was commenced A. H. 891 (A. D. 1486), but a note in Ouseley 364 in the Bodleian Library proves beyond doubt that already, A. H. 866 (A. D. 1461, 1462), a considerable portion of it existed in a copy, corrected and revised by the author himself.

Muḥaddimah, on the praise of God, invocations, prayers, etc., in five fasls (فصل اول در تحميدات فصل دوم) در مناجات فصل سيم در نعوت و مناقب ذات و صفات حضرت سيد المرسلين فصل چهارم در فضائل خصائص حضرت رسالت بنامى فصل پنجم در فضيلت و ثواب صلوات (و محامد و مناجات النج) on ff. 6^b, 16^b, 29^b, 44^a, and 64^b. Copied A. H. 1008 (A. D. 1599), by Khwâjah 'Alī Ibn Mirkâ of Samarkand.

Rukn I, on the former prophets, Âdam, Sheth, Idris, Nûh, Hûd, Ibrâhîm, on 'Abd-almuttalib and 'Abdallâh, Muḥammad's father, through all of whom the prophetic light has transmigrated into Muḥammad himself, in eight bâbs, on ff. 77^b, 83^a, 104^a, 111^b, 113^a, 121^a, 124^b, and 160^a. Dated by the same the 5th of Jumâdâ-althânî, A. H. 1008 (in the text . . . v, 1007, which seems to be a mistake for . . . 8) = A. D. 1599, December 23.

Rukn II, on Muḥammad's life, from his birth to his prophetic mission, i. e. to his fortieth year, in seven bâbs, on ff. 171^b, 188^b, 191^a, 207^a, 211^a, 216^b, and 222^b. Dated by the same, end of Muḥarram, A. H. 1009 (A. D. 1600, August 11).

Rukn III, on Muḥammad's life, from his prophetic mission to his flight, in five bâbs, on ff. 227^b, 244^b, 257^a, 272^a, and 340^a. Dated by the same the 1st of Rabi'-althânî, A. H. 1009 (A. D. 1600, October 10).

Rukn IV, on Muḥammad's life, from his flight to his death, in fourteen bâbs (here and in all the other copies there is stated at the beginning of the Rukn that it contains twelve bâbs only, but the internal arrangement in many copies is incompletely concealed by an arbitrary omission of numbers, or by the repetition of the same numbers in two places), on ff. 345^b, 354^a, 360^b, 366^b (correctly styled باب چهارم), 388^a, 391^b (correctly styled باب ششم), 407^b, 414^b, 433^b, 448^a, 458^a (correctly styled باب يازدهم), 483^a (correctly styled باب چهاردهم), 499^a, and 507^a (correctly styled باب چهاردهم). Dated by the same the 9th of Şafar, A. H. 1010 (A. D. 1601, August 9).

Khâtimah, on Muḥammad's miracles and marvellous deeds, on fol. 529^b.

The whole copy was finished by the same at Samarkand, the 18th of Jumâdâ-alawwal, A. H. 1011 (A. D. 1602, November 3). Printed in Lucknow, A. H. 1292. A Turkish translation has appeared in Constantinople, A. H. 1257, under the title: دلائل نبوت محمدى.

No. 122, ff. 564, ll. 27; excellent Nasta'liq; many additions on the margin; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of the muḥaddimah, the khâtimah, and each of the four rukns; a vignette on fol. 1^a; ff. 1^b and 2^a splendidly adorned; size, 14½ in. by 8½ in.

Another complete copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. It consists of two parts, the first comprising the muḥaddimah and the first two rukns, the second the last two rukns and the khâtimah.

Muḥaddimah, in five fasls, on ff. 10^a, 27^a, 49^a, 71^b, and 102^b.

Rukn I, in eight bâbs, on ff. 120^a, 129^b, 165^b, 178^b, 181^b, 195^b, 201^a, and 261^a. Title: ركن اول در ذكر خلقت وجود باجود محمدى صلى الله عليه وسلم از حين خلقت نور تا بوقت ولادت آنحضرت.

Rukn II, in seven bâbs, on ff. 278^a, 306^a, 309^b, 333^a, 338^b, 346^b, and 355^a. Title: ركن دوم در ذكر ولادت حضرت صلى الله عليه وسلم و مقدمات آن از دلائل و شواهد نبوت و واقعاتى كه در حين ولادت حضرت رساله بوقوع پيوسته و اوضاع و وقائعى (!) تا بحين نزول وحى.

Rukn III, in five bâbs, on ff. 361^b, 389^b, 411^a, 438^b, and 561^a (the last bâb is not marked). Title: ركن سيم

Rukn IV, here only in twelve bâbs, on ff. 566^a, 577^b, 588^b, 640^a, 645^a, 678^a, 711^a, 739^a, 757^a, 798^a, 823^b, and 835^a. Title: رکن چهارم در ذکر هجرت آن حضرت از مکه بمدينه و درین رکن واقعاتی که از هجرت تا وفات آنحضرت بوقوع پیوسته.

Khâtimah, on fol. 864^a. Title: خاتمة الکتاب فی المعجزات (!) النبی.

Dated A. H. 1029 (A. D. 1620). A full index on the fly-leaves.

No. 1259, ff. 928, ll. 19-21; Nasta'lik, written by many different hands; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

140

Another slightly defective copy of the same.

Beginning as usual.

Mukaddimah, in five fasls, on ff. 6^a, 16^a, 28^b, 40^b, and 59^a.

Rukn I, in eight bâbs, on ff. 70^b, 76^a, 96^a (heading of the bâb omitted), 101^b (called by mistake فصل), 103^a (again فصل instead of باب), 111^a, 114^a (on fol. 141^b مقدم must be read instead of بنجم, and on fol. 142^a فصل هزدهم instead of ششم, being the last two of the eighteen fasls of the seventh bâb), and 145^b. Title of this rukn here: رکن اول در بیان ایجاد نور حضرت محمدیہ صلعم از حین خلقت الح.

Rukn II, in seven bâbs, on ff. 154^b, 169^b, 171^a, 184^a, 187^a, 191^b, and 196^b. Title here: رکن دوم این کتاب معارج التبت در ذکر ولادت حضرت رسالت صلعم شواهد نبوت و واقعاتی که در حین ولادت بوقوع پیوسته و ارضاع و وقائع دیگر تا حین نزول وحی.

Rukn III, in five bâbs, on ff. 199^b, 213^b, 224^a, 236^a, and 294^a (here the number of the bâb is omitted). Title here: رکن سیم در وقائعی که از سال چهارم از مولود حضرت رسالت صلعم بظهور پیوسته تا بوقت هجرت آنحضرت بمدينه سکینه.

Rukn IV, in fourteen bâbs, on ff. 297^b, 304^b, 310^b, 315^b (no number of the bâb), 322^b, last line, 335^b, 348^a, 352^b, 366^b, 378^b (no number), 386^b (no number), 406^b (here called دهم, the tenth, dealing with the 9th year of the Hijrah, so that the previous two bâbs, the 7th and 8th years of the Hijrah, have not been counted at all), 419^b (10th year of the Hijrah, called the eleventh bâb), and 425^b (11th year of the Hijrah, called the twelfth bâb). Title here: رکن چهارم در ذکر هجرت آنحضرت صلعم از مکه متبرکه بمدينه سکینه و درین رکن واقعات که از هجرت تا ایام وفات آنحضرت صلعم بوقوع رسید مبین گردد. The fourth bâb of this rukn has here seven fasls (in other copies only six, the first of which is split here into two).

Khâtimah, on fol. 442^b. Title here: خاتم (!) الکتاب فی المعجزات (!) النبی صلعم.

This copy is slightly incomplete at the end; although the lacuna is disguised, the last words of it agree with No. 3264 (143 in this Cat.), fol. 465^a, l. 13.

Copied by Muḥammad Ṣāliḥ bin Bâbâ bin Ḥusain, A. H. 1025 (A. D. 1616), at Balkh.

No. 3262, ff. 471, ll. 25; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b, 70^b, 154^b, 199^b, 297^b, and 442^b; size, 15¼ in. by 9½ in.

The same without the khâtimah.

This copy is very much injured on many pages, and contains only the mukaddimah and the four rukns.

Mukaddimah, on fol. 5^b, in five fasls, on ff. 6^a, 16^a, 28^a, 41^a, and 59^a.

Rukn I, in eight bâbs, on ff. 70^a, 76^a, 98^a, 106^b, 108^b, 117^a, 120^b, and 157^a.

Rukn II, in seven bâbs, on ff. 167^a, 177^a, 181^a, 186^a, 188^a, 191^b, and 195^b.

Rukn III, in five bâbs, on ff. 246^b, 261^a, 271^b, 198^a, and 243^a (by mistake ff. 198-245 are placed before ff. 246-283).

Rukn IV, here for once in fifteen bâbs (in the heading as well as in the text), on ff. 284^b, 290^a, 295^b, 301^a, 320^a, 323^a, 337^a, 342^b, 358^b, 372^a, 375^b, 377^b, 393^b, 408^b, and 415^a.

Copied A. H. 1022 (A. D. 1613) by Muḥammad Ḥusain bin Khâkrâh bin Khâkpâi bin Naurûz Muḥammad bin 'Abd Muḥammad bin Nazar Muḥammad bin یقلانی.

No. 566, ff. 434, ll. 27; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of the preface and of every rukn; size, 14½ in. by 9 in.

The same without the mukaddimah.

Rukn I, in eight bâbs, on ff. 1^b, 7^a, 26^b, 33^b, 35^b, 43^a, 46^b, and 79^a.

Rukn II, in seven bâbs, on ff. 89^b, 103^b, 105^b, 118^a, 120^a, 125^a, and 130^a.

Rukn III, in five bâbs, on ff. 133^b, 146^b (no heading), 156^a, 169^a, and 217^a.

Rukn IV, in fourteen bâbs (although there are mentioned in the heading of this rukn, as usually, only twelve), on ff. 220^b, 227^a, 232^b, 237^b, 254^b (styled by mistake باب چهارم, instead of باب پنجم), 257^b, 270^a, 275^b, 289^b, 302^a, 310^a, 329^a (comprising the events of the 9th year of the Hijrah, and wrongly styled باب دهم, although the immediately preceding bâb is rightly called باب یازدهم, and the immediately following باب سیزدهم), 341^b, and 347^b.

Khâtimah, without a heading, on fol. 363^b, beginning: باب در بیان معجزات و واقعه معجزات آنحضرت صلعم اما در بیان معجزات حسنی الخ. From these introductory words it is apparent that the first portion of the khâtimah is entirely missing, viz. ff. 442^b-445^b.

l. 11, of No. 3262 (140 in this Cat.), altogether six and a half pages.

No date; probably 11th century of the Hijrah. Two seals of a former owner, 'Abd-alkhâlik, with the date A. H. 1162 (A. D. 1749), on fol. 1^a.

No. 3258, olim 23. J. 4, ff. 384, ll. 27; large and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each rukn; size, 15 in. by 9 in.

Another copy without the mukaddimah.

Rukn I, in eight bâbs, on ff. 1^b, 6^b, 26^b, 34^a, 35^b, 43^a (heading omitted), 46^a, and 82^b (heading omitted, but partly restored on the margin).

Rukn II, in seven bâbs, on ff. 93^b, 110^a, 112^b (heading added on the margin), 127^a, 130^b, 136^a, and 142^a.

Rukn III, in five bâbs, on ff. 146^b, 164^a, 177^a, 193^a, and 268^b.

Rukn IV, in twelve bâbs, on ff. 272^b, 281^a, 288^a, 294^b, 317^a, 320^b (with four faṣls only, although there are stated to be five in the beginning of the bâb; the fourth and last here corresponds to the usual fifth, so that the proper fourth faṣl is missing), 335^a (wrongly called پنجم), 341^a (wrongly called ششم), 359^b (wrongly called هفتم), 405^a (styled دهم, the tenth, and dealing with the 9th year of the Hijrah; consequently the 7th and 8th years of the Hijrah are, as in No. 3262, included in the previous ninth bâb), 415^a (eleventh bâb), and 428^a (twelfth bâb).

The khatimah begins (without any heading), on fol. 439^a, exactly in the same abrupt way as the preceding copy.

After the conclusion of the khâtimah there follow here, on ff. 467^b-469^a, eulogiums on the prophet, فى بهترین نعت النبى صلعم الخ، the first of which begins: نغمه نوائى كه بلبان گلستان فصاحت و عندلیبان بوستان بلاغت الخ.

No date. Dûst 'Ali ibn Maulânâ 'Ali Muhammad is mentioned as scribe on fol. 467^a, margin. Various seals of a former owner, Diyâ-aldin bin Kâdi Khwâjah Kalân.

No. 3264, ff. 469, ll. 25; Nasta'lik, Arabic quotations in Naskhi; size, 15½ in. by 9½ in.

The first half of the same.

This copy contains only the mukaddimah and the first two rukns, preceded by a detailed index of the whole work, on ff. 1^b-10^b (without, however, any mention of the khâtimah). Beginning of the preface on fol. 11^b.

Mukaddimah, in five faṣls, on ff. 18^a, 30^a, 45^a, 61^b, and 87^b. This part is dated the last of Muḥarram, A. H. 1015 (A. D. 1606, June 7).

Rukn I, in eight bâbs, on ff. 102^b, 110^b, 141^a, 151^a, 153^b, 164^a, 168^b, and 216^b.

Rukn II, in seven bâbs, on ff. 230^b, 250^b, 253^a, 271^a, 276^a, 282^a, and 289^b.

No. 3266, ff. 293, ll. 25; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; a splendid vignette on fol. 11^a; ff. 11^b and 12^a are most luxuriously ornamented, all the lines being surrounded by a gorgeous framework of variegated colours, in the highest style of Eastern ornamental art; illuminated frontispieces besides on ff. 102^b and 230^b, and a similar illumination at the end of the first rukn, on fol. 230^a; size, 15 in. by 9½ in.

Rauḍat-alahbâb (روضة الاحیاء).

Amir 'Atâ-allâh bin Faḍl-allâh Jamâl al-Ḥusainî's famous history of Muḥammad, his family, companions, followers, and successors, the first book of which was finished by the author already on the 11th of Dhû-alḥijjah, A. H. 888 (A. D. 1484, January 10), as we learn from a subscription at the end of the first maḳṣad on ff. 287^a, last line, and 287^b, first line, and from the colophon of No. 1674 (149 in this Cat.); comp. Rieu i. p. 148^a, first line. The whole work was completed A. H. 900 (A. D. 1494, 1495), and dedicated to Mir 'Alishir. The author died A. H. 926 (A. D. 1520); comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 131-133; Rieu i. p. 147 sq., and iii. p. 1081^b; W. Morley, p. 15; Cat. des MSS. et Xyll. p. 298; G. Flügel ii. pp. 368 and 369; Dorn, Das Asiatische Museum, p. 348; H. Khalfa iii. p. 495, etc. It is divided into three books or maḳṣads.

Contents:

Maḳṣad I, beginning on fol. 1^b: الحمد لله الذى منّ على المؤمنين اذ بعث رسولا منهم يتلو عليهم آياته و اوضح لهم مناهج الصدق الخ. It contains the history of Muḥammad's life and exploits, and is subdivided into a mukaddimah (در بیان ابتداء آفرینش و آنکه اول مخلوقات), on fol. 3^a, and three bâbs, the first (در بیان نسب اطهر بیغمبر) on fol. 4^a, the second (در ذکر تاریخ ولادت آن سرور و بیان مکان ولادت و کیفیت آن و ذکر شمه از غرائب که در حین تولد وی بظهور آمده و ذکر بعضی از حوادث که در شب ولادت آن سرور واقع شده و شرح نبذة از احوال و وقایع که در مدت در (حیوة آنحضرت روی نموده) on fol. 28^a, the third (در (متممات و مکملات فن سیرت) on fol. 230^b, in eight faṣls. A part of fol. 271^a, and the whole of fol. 271^b, left blank. Dated by Abû-almafâkhir Nasim-aldin Muḥammad bin Jamâl-aldin Ḥusainî, known as Mirak-shâh, in Jumâdû-alâkhar, A. H. 954 (A. D. 1547, July-August).

Maḳṣad II, beginning on fol. 288^b: لك الحمد يا مستبب الاسباب و لك الشكر يا مفتّح الابواب على التوفيق للشروع فى تأليف الدفتر الثانى الخ. It contains the history of the first three Khalifs, or the first three ṣahâbe. According to the preface in the first maḳṣad, it is subdivided into two bâbs (باب اول در معرفت رجال; باب دوم در معرفت نساء صحابه and صحابه) but here, as in fact in most copies extant, only the first bâb is found, beginning on fol. 293^a and going down to the death of 'Uthmān, A. H. 35 (A. D. 655); the second bāb seems not to have been completed by the author.

Maḥṣad III contains the history of 'Alī, the twelve Imāms, and all the other famous followers of the prophet, and is subdivided, according to the preface in the first maḥṣad, into three bāhs (باب اول در ذکر تابعین) باب دوم در ذکر تبع (باب دوم در ذکر تبع) باب سوم در ذکر جماعتی که بعد (باب سوم در ذکر جماعتی که بعد) (از تبع بوده اند) but there is found, instead of this third maḥṣad, first a large fragment of another work, by the same author, on the virtues and eminent qualities of Muḥammad, 'Alī, Fātimah, etc., entitled: تحفة الاحیاء, and beginning, on fol. 406^b: الحمد لله الذى جعل فوق فرق الفرقدین اقدار اهل البيت و مطلب اول در ذکر فضائل و مناقب و احوال سید) اطلع من سماء السعادة الخ. It is divided into two maṭlābs (مطلب اول در ذکر فضائل و مناقب و احوال سید) سادات عالم و منبع سعادات دمام سرور اولاد آدم رهبر جميع طوائف امم الخ مطلب دوم در ذکر مناقب نساء الجنّة التي حرّما وحبّ اولادها من احسن وقاية و جنة الملقبة در بیان امتنان خداوند تعالی), and the first maṭlab is subdivided again into a muḥaddimah (برین امت بوجود بار جود پیغمبر خویش و بعث وی در قسم اول) and two qisms (میان ایشان و برداشتن الخ) در ذکر فضائل و مناقب و احوال سید المرسلین قسم دوم (در ذکر فضائل و مناقب و احوال امیر المؤمنین). This fragment contains only a part of the muḥaddimah, and breaks off on fol. 441^b. Then follows, on ff. 444^b-473^a, a portion of the third book of the Raudat-alahbāb, beginning: کلام در بیعت انام با امیر المؤمنین علی بن ابی طالب, and corresponding to ff. 10^b, l. 22-47^a, l. 20, in No. 557 (157 in this Cat.), the only complete copy of this third maḥṣad. Many various readings and additions on the margin. An index of the whole contents of this copy on the four fly-leaves. A Turkish translation of the Raudat-alahbāb has been published in Constantinople, A. H. 1268.

No. 1703, ff. 473, ll. 29-30; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b, 288^b, and 406^b; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Another copy of the same.

Maḥṣad I:

Muḥaddimah on fol. 4^b.

Bāb I on fol. 7^b, II on fol. 56^a, III on fol. 424^b.

Maḥṣad II:

Muḥaddimah on fol. 586^b.

Bāb I on fol. 592^a.

The second bāb is wanting, see the preceding copy.

Maḥṣad III on fol. 728^b. No subdivision.

Beginning of all the three maḥṣads the same as in the preceding copy. The third maḥṣad is nearly as incomplete here as there.

Dated the 19th of Jumādā-alākhar, A. H. 1121 (A. D. 1709, August 26).

No. 1656, ff. 780, ll. 19; Naskhi, by different hands; size, 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 7 in.

IND. OFF.

Another copy of the first maḥṣad of the same work.

Good old copy, written A. H. 984 (A. D. 1576, 1577). Muḥaddimah on fol. 4^b, first bāb on fol. 7^b, second on fol. 51^a, third on fol. 388^b. Large waterspots; many pages slightly injured at the corners.

No. 1150, ff. 480, ll. 19; Naskhi; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

148

The same first maḥṣad.

Good copy, finished the 3rd of Sha'bān, A. H. 1044 (A. D. 1635, January 22), by 'Abd-alraḥmān bin almarḥūm Tayyib bin almaghfūr 'Abdallāh bin Ya'qūb bin 'Abd-alraḥmān.

Muḥaddimah on fol. 3^b, first bāb on fol. 6^a, second on fol. 42^a, third on fol. 332^a. The proper order of ff. 65-72 is: 65, 71, 67-70, 66, 72. A blank on fol. 388^a. A few notes and additions on the margin.

No. 562, ff. 412, ll. 25; Naskhi; size, 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

The same.

Muḥaddimah on fol. 5^a, first bāb on fol. 8^a, second on fol. 56^b, third on fol. 397^b. It has no date of its own, but reproduces in the colophon the date of the original composition of this maḥṣad, viz. the 11th of Dhū-alḥijjah, A. H. 888; see No. 1703 (145 in this Cat.).

No. 1674, ff. 496, ll. 24-25; written in Nasta'lik by three or four different hands; illuminated frontispiece; size, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

The same.

Muḥaddimah on fol. 3^a, first bāb on fol. 5^a, second on fol. 37^b, third on fol. 234^b. An index on the fly-leaves, written very carelessly by another hand.

No date.

No. 1390, ff. 293, ll. 25; large, unequal Nasta'lik; size, 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

151

A defective copy of the same.

The greater part of fol. 247^a and the whole of fol. 247^b are left blank; there are also blanks on ff. 249^b and 250^a. At the end about half a page is wanting; the last words here, ترا دریای رحمت پیش از آنست, agree with No. 1703 (145 in this Cat.), fol. 287^a, l. 7.

Muḥaddimah on fol. 3^a, first bāb on fol. 4^b, second on fol. 26^b, third on fol. 210^b.

No date.

No. 1513, ff. 261, ll. 23; excellent Nasta'lik; size, 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

152

A still more defective copy of the same.

There are two lacunas in this copy, a larger one after fol. 195, corresponding to No. 1703, fol. 200^a, last line, to fol. 236^b, l. 16; and a smaller one, comprising about half a page, in the middle of the text on fol. 31^b, l. 6, between the words الواحد and جمهور, corresponding to No. 1703, fol. 27^b, l. 23, to fol. 28^a, l. 15. Fol. 181^a is left blank, but the text is uninterrupted; ff. 227^b, 228^a, and a part of fol. 227^a are also left blank.

Muḳaddimah on fol. 3^b, first line; the first bâb on fol. 5^a; the headings of the second and third bâbs are not to be found, because they just fall into the smaller and larger lacunas.

No date.

No. 866, ff. 243, ll. 25; clear Nasta'lik; slight injuries in many places; illuminated frontispiece; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

153

Another copy of the second maḳṣad of the same work.

Beginning as in No. 1703; the second bâb is missing here, as in all the other copies. Muḳaddimah on fol. 1^b; first bâb on fol. 7^b.

Dated the 4th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1094 (A. D. 1683, March 3).

No. 1266, ff. 264, ll. 24; Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 7½ in.

154

The same second maḳṣad.

Quite agreeing with No. 1703 and the preceding copy. The right order of ff. 313-319 is: 313, 318, 314-317, 319. The first bâb begins on fol. 13^a.

No date.

No. 1462, ff. 323, ll. 15; ff. 168-175 supplied later; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

155

The same.

The right order of ff. 1-7 is: 1, 2, 4-6, 3, 7; and after fol. 2 there is a lacuna, corresponding to No. 1703, fol. 289^b, l. 11, to fol. 290^a, last line but two. Ff. 49-54 are also misplaced, and must be read in this order: 49, 51, 50, 53, 52, 54.

No date. The last pages injured.

No. 1275, ff. 141, ll. 25; clear Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

The same.

At the beginning there is wanting one leaf, containing the first ten or eleven lines of the second maḳṣad. It begins abruptly: من الصلوة انتها ومن التسليمات اعتمها, agreeing with No. 1703, fol. 288^b, l. 11. The first bâb begins on fol. 8^b. It concludes on fol. 211^b in the usual manner, and then follows immediately a part of the third maḳṣad, beginning like No. 1703, fol. 444^b, with كلام در بيعت انام, and breaking off, on fol. 246^b, with these words: گفتند که ما ازین اتفاق. This fragment of the third maḳṣad corresponds to the following copy, No. 557, fol. 10^b, l. 22, to fol. 36^a, l. 20. Fol. 247 does not belong at all to the preceding or following pages, ff. 248 and 249^a are left blank, and ff. 249^b-273^b contain again a fragment of the first maḳṣad of this work, with the usual beginning: الحمد لله الذى من الخ; it comprises the muḳaddimah (on fol. 252^a), and the greater part of the first bâb (on fol. 254^b).

No. 385, ff. 273, ll. 19; very careless and unequal Nasta'lik, sometimes quite like Shikasta; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Another copy of the third maḳṣad of the same work.

This copy, the only complete one of the third maḳṣad, begins, without any heading or introduction, immediately with the history of 'Ali's life and exploits:

ارباب سير رحمهم الله آورده اند که حضرت امام المتقين و امير المؤمنين اسد الله الغالب على ابن ابیطالب عليه التحية و الثنا امام اول است الخ. After 'Ali, who represents the first Imâm, follow the other eleven: Abû Muḥammad al-Ḥasan (on fol. 100^b), Abû 'Abd-allâh Ḥusain (on fol. 108^b), Abû-alḥasan 'Ali Zain-al-'abidin (on fol. 197^a), Abû Ja'far Muḥammad al-Bâqir (on fol. 200^b), Ja'far bin Muḥammad bin 'Ali bin al-Ḥusain (on fol. 202^a), Abû-alḥasan Mûsâ al-Kâzîm (on fol. 205^a), 'Ali ibn Mûsâ al-Riḍâ (on fol. 207^a), Muḥammad ibn 'Ali al-Riḍâ (on fol. 212^a), 'Ali ibn Muḥammad bin al-Riḍâ (on fol. 213^b), Ḥasan ibn al-'Askari (on fol. 215^b), and Abû-alḥâsim Muḥammad bin al-Ḥasan (on fol. 216^b). To these is added as thirteenth, Imâm Mahulî, who is styled آخر الزمان (on fol. 222^b). This maḳṣad is concluded by an alphabetical list of famous companions and followers of Muḥammad, beginning on fol. 224^a with Ḥamzah ibn 'Abd-almuṭṭalib, the prophet's uncle. The subdivisions, which are quoted in the general preface of the first maḳṣad, are not found.

Dated the 5th of Muḥarram, A. H. 1107 (A. D. 1695, August 16).

No. 557, ff. 245, ll. 25; Nasta'lik; ff. 80-88 supplied by another hand in Shikasta, ll. 24-26; size, 13½ in. by 7½ in.

Rauḍat-al-shuhadâ (روضه الشهداء).

A detailed history of the martyrdom of 'Ali and his family, especially of Ḥasan and Ḥusain, composed by Ḥusain bin 'Ali al-wâ'iz al-kâshifî, the author of the Anwâr-i-Suhailî, who died A. H. 910 (A. D. 1505); comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 134-137; Rieu i. p. 152, etc. It has been printed in Lahore, A. H. 1287.

Beginning: اى شربت درد تو دواى دل ما - آشوب بلاى تو عطاى دل ما - از نامه حمد تو شفاى دل ما - وز نام حبيب تو شفاى دل ما الخ. It is divided into ten bâbs and a khâtimah, but the last part of the tenth bâb and the whole khâtimah are missing in this copy. The contents of the ten bâbs are as follows:

باب اول در ابتلاى جمعى از انبيا

باب دوم در جفاى قريش با سيد ابرار و افضل ملك الجبار و شهادت حمزه و جعفر طيار

باب سیوم در وفات حضرت سرور کائنات on fol. 92^a.

باب چهارم در مناقب حضرت فاطمه زهرا از وقت ولادت تا زمان وفات on fol. 115^b.

باب پنجم در اخبارات قاتل کفار شیر الملک الجبار صاحب دلداز ذو الفعار اسد الله الغالب علی ابن ابیطالب از ولادت تا وقت شهادت on fol. 143^b.

باب ششم در احوال امیر المؤمنین امام حسن بن علی ابن ابیطالب از ابتدای ولادت تا وقت شهادت on fol. 172^b.

باب هفتم در احوال امیر المؤمنین امام حسین از ابتدای ولادت و بعضی از احوالش بعد از وفات برادرش on fol. 188^a.

باب هشتم در شهادت مسلم بن عقیل بن ابیطالب و قتل بعضی از فرزندان او on fol. 207^a.

باب نهم در عزیمت امیر المؤمنین امام حسین بجانب کوفه و رسیدن بدشت کربلا on fol. 236^b.

باب دهم از آنچه بعد از شهادت امام مظلوم بر اهل بیت واقع شده on fol. 345^a.

This last bâb contains two fasls, and in the middle of the second the copy breaks off. This work was translated into Turkish by Muḥammad bin Sulaimân albaghdâdî with the takhalluṣ Fudûlî, and entitled, حديقة السعدا, comp. H. Khalfa iii. p. 500, No. 6648, and p. 41, No. 4456; Flügel ii. p. 378, etc.

No. 482, ff. 391, ll. 15; Nasta'lik, unequally written; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

Another copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. Of the ten bâbs there are marked here only the sixth: باب ششم در شهادت امام حسن on fol. 77^b; the seventh (corresponding to the eighth in the preceding copy): باب هفتم در شهادت مسلم بن عقیل و فرزندان باب دهم در وقایعی که اهل بیت را بعد از واقعه کربلا واقع شد on fol. 201^a. Of all the other bâbs we have only a few indications in form of chapter-headings marked on the margin, viz.: قصه حضرت آدم on fol. 4^a; قصه نوح پیغمبر on fol. 10^a; قصه خلیل on fol. 14^b; قصه ذبح اسمعیل on fol. 13^b; پیغمبر on fol. 13^b; قصه ابرو on fol. 33^a; قصه یوسف on fol. 21^a; وفات سرور حضرت on fol. 34^b; زکریا و یحیی on fol. 43^a; وفات حضرت فاطمه on fol. 58^b; حکایت عباس بن علی on fol. 63^b; and ابن ابی طالب on fol. 184^b.

The khâtimah, in two مقصد, begins on fol. 238^b (on fol. 245^b).

No date. College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2240, ff. 256, ll. 19; distinct Nasta'lik; the last page supplied by another hand; large waterspots throughout; many pages slightly damaged by the worms; size, 10¼ in. by 6¼ in.

Muntakhab-i-Raudat-alshuhadâ (منتخب روضة الشهداء).

An extract from the Raudat-alshuhadâ, or history of the martyrdom of 'Ali's family, similar to, but not at all identical with, the Dah Majlis (see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 136 and 137, and Rieu i. p. 155). Beginning the same as in the original work, viz.: بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم و عليك الاعتماد يا كرم رباعي ای شربت دردی (!) تو دواى دل ما - اندوه بلايتو عطاى دل ما الخ

It is probably divided into ten majlis, like the de مجلس, but only seven of these are indicated in our copy. The first is not marked at all (identical in its contents with the first in Rieu's copy of the de مجلس, and the first three in the Bodleian copy); the second deals with Fâtimah: در وفات حضرت خیر النساء فاطمه on fol. 19^b; the third with 'Ali: در بعضی از اخبار: امیر المؤمنین و امام المتقین ... علی بن ابی طالب on fol. 31^b; the fourth with Hasan: در وفات حضرت on fol. 46^a; the fifth and sixth with Husain and Muslim bin 'Akil: در مناقب امام حسین و بعضی on fol. 58^b, and از احوالش و شهادت مسلم بن عقیل on fol. 70^a; the seventh with the children of Muslim bin 'Akil: در فضیلت فرزندان مسلم بن عقیل و شهادت ایشان on fol. 83^b; and the eighth with some other martyrs of Karbalâ: در بعضی احوال شهدای کربلا که بعد از قتل on fol. 111^b. No further subdivision appears.

This copy was written in A. H. 996 (A. D. 1588). College of Fort William, 1809.

No. 2267, ff. 158, ll. 12-17; clear Nasta'lik; size, 8¼ in. by 4¾ in.

The same.

The same Muntakhab or abridgment of the Raudat-alshuhadâ, arranged in a far greater accordance with the de مجلس of Rieu's Cat. (i. p. 155) than the preceding copy, but defective at the end, and injured more or less seriously by worms, from fol. 130 down to the end. Beginning the same as in No. 2267.

Majlis I: Muḥammad حضرت سید (الانام علیه التحية والسلام), on fol. 1^b (there is no preface whatever).

Majlis II: Fâtimah (عليه السلام), on fol. 23^b.

Majlis III: 'Ali (عليه السلام), on fol. 38^a.

Majlis IV: Hasan and his children (حضرت امام حسن و احوال اولادش), on fol. 56^a.

Majlis V: Husain's noble qualities and Muslim bin 'Akil's martyrdom (در مناقب سبط بنی الثقلین ابی عبد)

الله الحسين و بعضی از شرح حالات آن حضرت و شهادت
(مسلم بن عقیل بعد از وفات برادر

Majlis VI: Muslim bin 'Aqil's children (در شهادت (فرزندان مسلم بن عقیل Majlis VII: Husain's history (شمه از قصه پرغصه (امیر المؤمنین حسین الخ Majlis VIII: The martyrs of Karbalâ (در بعضی (احوال شهدای کربلا

Majlis IX: Continuation of the same, and death of Husain (در تتمه اخبار اولاد حضرت امام حسین و سائر (شهداء و شهادت امام حسین

Majlis X: Events subsequent to Husain's martyrdom (آنچه بعد از قتل امام شهید مظلوم واقع (شده) on fol. 187^b. This chapter breaks off on fol. 195^b, corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 152^b, l. 2;
consequently 6-7 leaves are missing.

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2812, ff. 195, ll. 13; Nasta'liq, mixed in some pages with Shikasta; size, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 4 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Raudat-alshuhadâ (روضة الشهداء).

A poetical paraphrase of the same in Dakhnî verses, by a poet with the takhalluṣ Wali, as it appears, beginning:

کرون نا میکون بسم الله سون آغاز
اجیون تا مین فصاحت مین سر فرار

The subdivisions are called majlis, as in the Persian original, but their number is rather uncertain; there seem to be eleven. The arrangement of the subjects less resembles that in the Raudat-alshuhadâ than that in the Muntakhab-i-Raudat-alshuhadâ; see the two preceding copies, or Rieu's Dah Majlis (i. p. 155). The eight majlis, which are indicated in the text itself, deal with the following members of Muhammad's and 'Ali's families: I, on fol. 2^b, Muhammad; II, on fol. 10^b, Fâtimah; III, on fol. 19^a, 'Ali; IV, on fol. 30^a (not numbered), Hasan; V, on fol. 38^b, and VI, on fol. 58^b, Husain and Muslim bin 'Aqil; VII, on fol. 67^b, and VIII, on fol. 88^b, Muslim's children and other martyrs of Karbalâ. After these eight, there follow at least three chapters without heading and number, viz. on ff. 111^b, 150^b, and 165^b, comprising the materials of the last two majlis and the khâtimah of the Raudatalshuhadâ, together with a great number of marthiyyas and similar lyrical poetry, in mournful remembrance of 'Ali's family and the later Imâms. Part of fol. 183^b and the whole of fol. 184 are left blank. A lacuna after fol. 176. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

Dated by Sayyid Ja'far, known as Miyân-Sâhib, the 25th of Sha'bân, A. H. 1216 (A. D. 1801, December 31).

No. 2380, ff. 1-186, two columns, each ll. 13 (on ff. 1-8), ll. 15 (on ff. 9-114 and 177-186), ll. 11 (on ff. 115-176); written by various hands in Nasta'liq and Shikasta; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Maṭālî'-alanwâr (مطالع الانوار).

A history of Muhammad and his four immediate successors, together with a short sketch of the Umayyade Khilâfat, and a long dogmatic treatise on eschato-logy, by 'Afif Nûr-i-Kâshânî (see fol. 7^b, l. 3; Rieu iii.
p. 1037^a, calls him 'Afif Nawâ Kâshânî, and Ouseley 260 in the Bodleian Library, 'Afifah Nûr-i-Kâshânî), who became a Hanafite lawyer in his twenty-first year, and applied himself to the study of the history of Muhammad; comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 141 and 142.
The work is divided into twenty-one fasls, nineteen of which belong to the historical, and two to the dog-matical part, viz.: 1. در ولادت سید المرسلین, on fol.
10^a; 2. از (در) ابتدای نزول وحی و بیعت یاران, on fol. 13^b; 3. در اظهار دعوت و جفاى اهل قریش, on fol.
22^b; 4. در ذکر هجرت حبشی, on fol. 28^b; 5. در معراج
در بار, on fol. 35^b; 6. سید المرسلین و هجرت مدینه
(the index on fol. 9^a adds: آمدن یاران از حبشه در مدینه در بیان معجزات سید, on fol. 40^b; 7. (ونکاح ام حبیبه on fol. 41^b; 8. در جنگ بدر, on fol. 48^b; 9.
در جنگ احزاب, on fol. 52^b; 10. در جنگ احد, on fol. 54^b; 11. در هرب (حرب) بنی قریظه, on fol.
56^a; 12. در فتح خیبر, on fol. 56^b; 13. در فتح مکه, on fol. 58^b; 14. در فتح مدینه, on fol. 60^a; 15. در فتح on fol. 66^a; 16. در فتح طائف, on fol. 67^b; 17.
در کیفیت حج و وفات سید المرسلین, on fol. 69^a;
18. در خلافت خلفاء الراشدین, on fol. 73^a; 19. در خلافت معاویه و خلفاء دیگر, on fol. 79^a (down to the beginning of the 'Abbâsîde dynasty); 20. در بناء خانه در احوال آخرت, on fol. 86^b. The chief subdivisions of this last and longest chapter are: ذکر نزول مهتر, on fol. 90^b; ذکر خروج او عسی, on fol. 93^b; ذکر خروج یاجوج, on fol. 94^a; وفاات مهتر عیسی, on fol. 95^a; ذکر قیام قیامت, on
fol. 95^b; ذکر معاتبه و مجادله و امتیاز مؤمنان از کافران الخ, on fol. 100^a; ذکر دوزخ و پل صراط الخ, on fol. 104^b; ذکر تعذیب عرصات (? عرصات) مؤمنان الخ, on fol. 109^a; ذکر دخول جنت الخ, on fol. 116^a; khâti-mah, on fol. 124^b.

Beginning, on fol. 7^b: اما ... الحمد لله رب العالمین
بعد ضعیف تر بنندگان حضرت ربانی عقیف نور کاشانی
بلغه الله الخ.

The book ends on fol. 126^a, and is dated the 6th of Jumâdâ-althânî, A. H. 1088 (A. D. 1677, August 6), by Kulibeg.

Ff. 1-6 are filled with Arabic prayers and invocations, beginning with the کلمه شهادت, کلمه طیب, کلمه توحید, etc. Ff. 127-131 contain some traditions of the prophet, and short extracts from Persian poetry, ghazals, and rubá'is; on fol. 131^a there is found a longer kit'ah, styled مناجات کاکي.

164

Another copy of the same.

The same Maṭālī-ālanwār, slightly differing sometimes in the wording of the chapter-headings.

Contents:

1. در بیان ولادت حضرت سید المرسلین, on fol. 2^a.
2. در اظهار, on fol. 7^a. 3. ابتدای وحی و بیعت یاران, on fol. 13^b.
4. در ذکر هجرت, on fol. 17^b. 5. در معراج و هجرت مدینه, on fol. 22^b.
6. در بیان باز آمدن یاران از حبشه و نکاح امّ, on fol. 26^a.
7. در بیان معجزات, on fol. 27^a.
8. در جنگ بدر, on fol. 32^a. 9. در جنگ اعدا (instead of احد the index has the more correct reading اعدا), on fol. 34^b; this chapter is moreover wrongly called فصل نهم instead of فصل هشتم.
10. در جنگ احزاب, on fol. 36^a. 11. در حرب بنی قریظه, on fol. 37^b.
12. در حرب تبوک, on fol. 37^b. 13. در جنگ خیبر, on fol. 38^b.
14. در فتح حنین, on fol. 39^b. 15. در فتح مکه, on fol. 43^b.
16. در جنگ طائف, on fol. 44^b. 17. در کیفیّت حجّ و ذکر وفات سید المرسلین, on fol. 45^b.
18. در خلافت, on fol. 48^b. 19. در خلافت خلفای راشدین, on fol. 52^b.
20. در بیان خانّه, on fol. 52^b. 21. در بیان آخرت, on fol. 57^a.

Subdivisions marked here: ذکر دجال, on fol. 59^a; ذکر خروج یاجوج و, on fol. 60^b; ذکر نزول مهتر عیسی, on fol. 61^a; ذکر قرام قیامت and ذکر وفات عیسی, on fol. 61^b; ذکر عرصات (? عرضات), on fol. 65^b; ذکر کتاب, on fol. 69^b; etc. Khâtimah, on fol. 80^a.

Beginning (different from that in the preceding copy): کثرت مطالع کلام در بار نبوی و حجّت خاندان مصطفوی صلی الله علیه و سلم و علی آله الخ.

Copied A.H. 1206 (A.D. 1791, 1792), at Calcutta. College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2197, ff. 80, ll. 15-17; partly Nasta'lik, partly Shikasta; size, 8½ in. by 6¼ in.

Siyar-i-'afifi (سیر عفیفی).

A detailed biography of the prophet Muhammad, translated from the Arabic work of Sa'id-al-din Muhammad bin Mas'ud Kazaruni, divided into four kism and a khâtimah; see the index on fol. 8^a sq.

قسم چهارم در بیان آنچه در مدت سالهای هجرت, in eleven bâbs, on fol. 144^a. In the sixth bâb of this kism our copy breaks off, all the rest is wanting.

Beginning: حمد و سپاس بی قیاس خدای را که نور محمد علیه الصلوٰة والسلام الخ.

Ff. 32 and 33 a little injured. In Rieu iii. p. 1026^a this work is styled تاریخ حسینی, and even منتخب الاخبار like the following history, which is, however, quite distinct from this.

No. 67, ff. 268, ll. 15; clear Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4¾ in.

Muntakhab-alakhbâr (منتخب الاخبار).

An abridged history of the prophets, especially of Muhammad and his companions, the first four Khalifs, and the martyrdom of 'Ali, his sons, and his whole family, compiled from many sources, which are not specified, by Bahâ'-al-din bin Sa'd-al-din, beginning: الحمد لله على الآثمة والصلوة والسلام على سيد انبيائه و على آله الهدات واصحاب الشقات اما بعد ميگوید فقير مسكين بهاء الدين بن سعد الدين الخ. It opens with the creation of the world, the creation of the Jinns and Adam, and goes through all the biblical prophets down to Jesus and the Seven Sleepers; the story of Muhammad begins on fol. 58^a, of Abû Bakr on fol. 132^a, of 'Umar on fol. 135^b, of 'Uthmân on fol. 139^b, of 'Alî on fol. 140^b, of Hasan on fol. 153^b, of Husain, his family, and companions on fol. 159^b, of the Imâms on fol. 214^b. At the end a complement and continuation of Jewish and Christian history.

This copy is dated the 12th of Sha'bân, in the seventeenth year of Muhammadshâh's reign = A.H. 1148 (A.D. 1735, December 28).

No. 783, ff. 234, ll. 15; large inelegant Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5¾ in.

The same.

Another copy of the same, beginning like the preceding one. The story of Muhammad begins here on fol. 80^b, of Abû Bakr on fol. 182^a, of 'Umar on fol. 189^a, of 'Uthmân on fol. 195^a, of 'Alî on fol. 196^a, of Hasan on fol. 212^b, of Husain, etc., on fol. 225^a, of the Imâms on fol. 310^a, etc. Quite modern copy.

No. 99, ff. 340, ll. 11; modern and inelegant Nasta'lik, on European paper; size, 7¼ in. by 6¼ in.

A detailed genealogical account of the descendants of Abū Ṭālib through his three sons, 'Alī (the fourth Khalīf), Ja'far Ṭayyār, and 'Aqīl, translated into Persian from an Arabic work, styled بحر الانساب (see fol. 4^b, last line). There are two Arabic works with this title, containing genealogies of the prophets, of Muḥammad, 'Alī and his descendants, viz. one by Alfakhr-alrāzī (see H. Khalfā ii. p. 17, No. 1653), the other by Muḥammad bin Muḥammad (see W. Pertsch, Arab. Cat. of Gotha, iii. p. 335). The translator's name is Khwājah Mīr bin 'Imād-al-dīn Muḥammad bin Amīr Sayyid 'Alī alḥusaim (see fol. 5^a, ll. 5 and 6).

Beginning: الحمد لله الذي نسب المتقين الى نبيه صلى الله عليه وآله وسلم اشرف الانساب و شرف اهل بيت النج.

On the back of the binding the work is simply styled Kitāb-alansāb. There are no dates given anywhere, not even with regard to the author's own time. The work is divided into three bābs, according to the three sons of Abū Ṭālib, viz.:

Bāb I, on fol. 5^b, 'Alī's offspring (در بیان نسب اولاد), in five faṣṣ: 1. Ḥasan and his descendants, on fol. 6^b; 2. Ḥusain and his descendants, on fol. 54^b; 3. Abū-alkāsim Muḥammad Akbar Shujā' (that is, Muḥammad Ḥanīf or Ḥanīfah, styled on fol. 141^b, l. 7, also 'Ibn Ḥanīfah!') and his descendants, on fol. 141^b; 4. Abū-alfāḍl al-Abbās, called سقاء أكبر, and his descendants, on fol. 144^a; 5. Abū Ṭālib 'Umar al-aṭraf and his descendants, on fol. 148^b.

Bāb II, on fol. 157^b, Ja'far Ṭayyār's offspring (در بیان نسب اولاد جعفر الطيار بن ابی طالب رضي الله عنه).

Bāb III, on fol. 165^a, Abū Zaid 'Aqīl's offspring (در بیان نسب اولاد عقيل بن ابی طالب).

This genealogy ends on fol. 165^a, and is dated Dhū-alka'dah, A. H. 1081 (A. D. 1671, March-April), by Ibn Ṣafī-al-dīn Muḥammad alḥusaini alkhawārizmi Muḥammad Sa'īd alḥusaini. The few remaining pages are filled by another hand with some مکتوبات by 'Abdallāh, that is, Muḥammad Marwārid (who had the takhalluṣ Bayānī, and died A. H. 922=A. D. 1516).

This copy was presented to the Library by Sir W. Muir, K.C.S.I., March 7, 1877.

No. 3201, ff. 167, ll. 15; distinct Nasta'liq; the MS. is carefully mended; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

Three documents of historical interest, in Arabic with Persian paraphrase, viz.:

1. A deed or 'Ahdnāma of the prophet, addressed to Mahdī Farūh bin Shakhṣān, the brother of the well-known Salmān the Persian (مهدی فروج بن شخسان), written by 'Alī bin Abū Ṭālib, on a red skin, headed: نسخة منثورة بخط امير المؤمنين علي (أخي سلمان الفارس) تناسلو: ابن ابی طالب النج, and beginning, on fol. 404^a: من اسلم منهم او قام على دينه النج.

2. A letter of the Amīr-almu'minin 'Alī to the Parsee high-priest Bahramshāh (بهرامشاه بن خبر اداس), written by 'Alī's son Ḥusain, A. H. 39 (A. D. 659, 660), and beginning, on fol. 413^b: اتي قد امنتمكم على دمائكم و اموالكم النج.

3. The letter of emancipation by which the prophet Muḥammad declared Salmān the Persian, whom he had bought from a Jew with the name 'Uthmān bin Ashhal (عثمان بن اشهل), to be free. This letter again was written by 'Alī, in the very year of the Hijrah. Beginning, on fol. 420^b: هذا ما اقر محمد بن عبد الله النج.

On ff. 418^a-419^b is an interesting account of the discovery of these documents according to the تاریخ بر نانا بها ولد بونجيا ولد بيان (A. H. 1064 (A. D. 1654), by the Persian (Parsee) نانا بها ولد بونجيا ولد بيان.

Dated the 18th of Rajab, A. H. 1217 (A. D. 1802, November 14). Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2556, ff. 403-428, ll. 9; Nasta'liq, the Arabic text in Naskhī; size, 9½ in. by 6¼ in.

III. HISTORY OF THE MOGHULS, C'INGĪZKHÂN, TĪMŪR, AND THEIR DESCENDANTS.

Ta'rikh-i-Jahānkushāi (تاریخ جهانکشی).

History of the Moghul emperor C'ingizkhân and his successors, beginning with C'ingizkhân's accession to the throne, A. H. 599 (A. D. 1202, 1203), and going down to A. H. 655 (A. D. 1257); see this date on fol. 234^b, l. 14. It was completed A. H. 658 (A. D. 1260) by 'Alā-al-dīn 'Aṭāmalik bin Bahā-al-dīn Muḥammad al-Juwaini, who died A. H. 681, the 4th of Dhū-alḥijjah (A. D. 1283, 5th of March). H. Khalfā fixes his death in A. H. 683. Comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 145 and 146; Rieu i. p. 160 sq.; G. Flügel ii. p. 178; H. Khalfā ii. p. 685, No. 4353; Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. iii. p. 7; Elliot, History of India, ii. p. 384 sq.; Nott. et Exton ii. p. 383 sq., and iv. p. 698; Quatremère, Histoire des Mongols, pp. lxxvii and 169, note 39; etc. etc. The usual division into three books (مجلد) is not found in this copy, the text of which is uninterrupted.

Beginning: سپاس و ثنا معبودی را که واجب الودیت (الوجودست) را که وجود او النج.

Dated the 15th of Shawwāl, A. H. 1076 (A. D. 1666, April 20). The right order of ff. 229-233 is: 229, 231, 230, 232, 233.

No. 1914, ff. 236, ll. 19; many slight injuries; the first page seems to be supplied later; size, 12 in. by 6½ in.

Ta'rikh-i-Shāhrukḥ (تاریخ شاهرخ).

Portion of the history of Sultān Shāhrukḥ's reign, who succeeded his father Tīmūr in A. H. 807 (A. D.

1405), down to A. H. 816 (A. D. 1413), see fol. 182^a, with a short introduction on Timūr himself, by Nūr-aldin Luṭf-allāh bin 'Abdallāh (as he is correctly styled on fol. 1^a, whereas in the text itself, fol. 2^b, ll. 4 and 5, his name is given in this peculiar form: Nūr-allāh Kātib al-'abd 'Abd Luṭf-allāh), better known as Hāfiẓ-i-Abrū, the great historian, who died at Zanjān in Shawwāl, A. H. 834 (A. D. 1431, June-July); see Rosen, Persian MSS., p. 52 sq.; Rieu i. p. 421 sq.; Bodleian Cat., No. 33; G. Flügel ii. p. 174; Cat. des MSS. et Xyll., p. 265 sq.; Dorn, Das Asiatische Museum, p. 374; Elliot, History of India, iv. p. 3 sq.; etc. etc.

Beginning of the preface, on fol. 1^b: حمد و سپاس مبدعی را که بیک اشارت کن ابداع موجودات و احضار مصنوعات کرد اله آغاز کتاب بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم بیتس از ذکر واقعات و حالات اله.

Whether this history is a portion of the rare زبدۃ التواریخ, or rather of the geographical work described by Rieu, loc. cit. (see especially i. p. 424^b), and Bodleian Cat., No. 33, is difficult to say; but it is more likely to belong to the latter, since it is dedicated to Shāh-rukḥ, and not to prince Baisunghar, and a similar treatise on chronology (تعریف تاریخ و فوائد آن) is found here, on ff. 4^a-10^b, as in the geographical work (Bodleian copy, Elliott 357, fol. 15^b sq.).

No date.

No. 173, ff. 183, ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Ulus-i-arba'ah-i-ġingizi (الوس اربعۃ چنگیزی).

A history of the Moghul race, Ġingizkhān, his ancestors from the time of Yāfeth, son of Nūḥ, and his descendants down to the time of Timūr, styled الوس اربعۃ چنگیزی, and taken from the ذکر خاناتان الوس اربعۃ of Sulṭān alsa'id Ulughbeg Mirzā (see fol. 226^b); comp. Rieu i. p. 164. The last date, mentioned on fol. 226^a, before the short epilogue, is A. H. 805 (A. D. 1402, 1403), but a later date, viz. A. H. 831 (A. D. 1427, 1428), appears on fol. 160^b, the year of the accession of the thirty-ninth and last successor of Jūjikhān, Muḥammadkhān bin Timūrkhān bin Timūr Kutlākhān bin Timūrbeg Oghlan (comp. the marginal note on fol. 160^a). The year 851, which is mentioned in Rieu's copy, is not found here anywhere.

An abridged translation of this work has been published by Col. Wm. Miles, entitled: 'Shajrat ul Atrak, or genealogical tree of the Turks and Tartars,' London, 1838. The same title is found on the binding of this MS. too: کتاب شجرت الزنارک, without any justification in the text itself.

Beginning: الحمد لله خمیر و هو علی کذل شیء قدیر: والصلوة والسلام علی حمر خلقه اله.

Contents:

History of the old patriarchs from Ādam to Nūḥ and his three sons, Sām (on fol. 13^a), Hām (on fol. 14^a), and Yāfeth (on fol. 14^b). The eldest of Yāfeth's sons was Turk, the ancestor of the Turks and Tatars. Reign of Turk, on fol. 17^a. Line of the Tatars, on fol. 20^a (ذکر طبرستان); line of the Moghuls, on fol. 20^b (ذکر مغول), beginning with Moghulkhān, Karākhān, Aghūzkhān, Rukukhān, etc.; line of the 'Uthmān Sulṭāns, on fol. 31^b.

Birth of Ġingizkhān (or as he is called here, Timūcin Kā'an) on the 9th of Dhū-al-ḥijjah, A. H. 549, on fol. 46. Ġingizkhān's reign begins on fol. 52^b.

Uktāi Kā'an and his line, on fol. 138^a.

Jūjikhān and his line, on fol. 148^a.

Hulāgūkhān, son of Tūlkhān, and the Īlkānis, on fol. 161^a.

Ġaghataikhān and his line, on fol. 205^a.

Copied A. H. 1204 (A. D. 1789, 1790); presented by Lieut.-Col. Wm. Kirkpatrick, the 30th of May, 1804. On the margin throughout there are both Persian glosses, various readings, and short English notes, probably by Wm. Kirkpatrick.

No. 167, ff. 226, ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Zafarnāma (ظفرنامه).

The only copy of Sharaf-aldin 'Alī Yazdī's (died A. H. 858=A. D. 1454) history of Timūr from his birth to his death (A. H. 736-807=A. D. 1336-1405) in this collection, which contains the rare Introduction or Iftitāḥ on the genealogy of the Turkish Khāns (to the death of Amir Turāghā, Timūr's father, in A. H. 762), and on the history of Ġingizkhān and his descendants; see a full description of its contents in Rieu i. p. 175, and G. Flügel ii. p. 189. It was written before the Zafarnāma, and commenced A. H. 822 (A. D. 1419). The Zafarnāma itself was completed A. H. 828 (A. D. 1424, 1425): comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 153-159; Rieu i. p. 173 sq.; W. Morley, pp. 94 and 95; Elliot, History of India, iii. p. 478; J. Aumer, p. 86; etc. It was translated into French by Petis de la Croix, 'Histoire de Timur-Bec,' Paris, 1722; English version by J. Darby, London, 1723. An extract in text and translation is given by C. Stewart, Descriptive Catalogue, pp. 234-247.

Beginning of the Introduction, on fol. 1^b: افتتاح تاریخ جهاننداری و ابتداء نامۃ ظفر و بختیاری حمد و سلس حضرت بادشاهی تواند بود اله.

Beginning of the Zafarnāma itself, on fol. 73^b: حمداً کثیراً مبارکاً لمن بوتي الملك من يشاء اله.

The Introduction is dated A. H. 1054 (A. D. 1644, 1645); the Zafarnāma by the same hand three years before, A. H. 1051, the 20th of Ramaḍān (A. D. 1641, December 23). The copyist's name is Naṣr-allāh the Kātib of Tattah, son of Shaikh Ṭāhir Muḥammad. An entry of a former owner, bearing the date A. H. 1138 (A. D. 1725, 1726), on fol. 1^a.

No. 984, ff. 470, ll. 21; splendid Nasta'liq; large illuminated frontispieces of the most gorgeous kind on ff. 1^b and 73^b; arabesques in gold and other colours on the margin of ff. 1^b, 2^a, 73^b, and 74^a; size, 12½ in. by 7½ in.

The same without the Iftitāh.

The oldest of all the copies of the Ẓafarnāma in this collection without the Introduction, dated the 18th of Ramadān, A. H. 901 (A. D. 1496, May 31), by Sayyidi 'Alī bin Kamāl الكرمالي. It is incorrectly styled in the frontispiece: 'کتاب تاریخ تیموری شرفی'.

Beginning: حمداً كثيراً طيباً مباركاً فيه توتى الملك من تشاء وتنزع الملك ممن تشاء الخ.

No. 31, ff. 307, ll. 23; good Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

175

The same.

Another excellent and richly illustrated copy, dated the 5th of Ramadān, A. H. 939 (A. D. 1533, March 31), by Murshid, the Kātib of Shirāz.

Beginning: حمداً كثيراً مباركاً لمن توتى الخ. A complete index, comprising three pages, written by a different hand, on the fly-leaves, styled: فهرست طفرنامه. The work is styled on the first page: تاریخ جهان کشای تیمور که طفرنامه هم خوانند.

No. 137, ff. 474, ll. 19; small, neat, and very distinct Nasta'liq; large illuminated frontispiece; thirty fine pictures on ff. 6^a, 20^a, 34^b, 50^a, 71^b, 86^a, 102^b, 120^a, 139^b, 161^a, 176^b, 190^a, 199^b, 217^a, 230^b, 248^a, 254^b, 268^a, 284^b, 298^a, 307^b, 326^a, 351^b, 358^a, 368^b, 380^a, 404^b, 418^a, 438^b, and 450^a; some pages rather effaced, a few others damaged; size, 12 in. by 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

The same.

Excellent copy, collated and with occasional notes on the margin, dated the 25th of Ramadān, A. H. 970 (A. D. 1563, May 18), by Pir Muḥammad bin Ḥasan. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2597, ff. 359, ll. 23; splendid Naskhi; illuminated frontispiece; small illuminated headings throughout; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 7 in.

177

The same.

This fine copy is dated the 8th of Rajab, A. H. 982 (A. D. 1574, October 24), by Ḥājī Khidr bin Sulaimān bin Ḥājī Khidr Kuraishi. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

Beginning, as in No. 31 (174 in this Cat.): حمداً كثيراً طيباً الخ.

No. 2432, ff. 375, ll. 23; clear Naskhi; ff. 1-9, 13, and 352-375 are put into a modern margin; size, 11 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

178

The same.

Dated Jumādā-alākhar, A. H. 997 (A. D. 1589, April-May).

Beginning: حمداً كثيراً مباركاً لمن توتى الملك من تشاء الخ.

No. 60, ff. 490, ll. 21; small illuminated frontispiece; Nasta'liq; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 7 in.

179

The same.

Finished in the month Jumādā-alākhar, A. H. 1007 (A. D. 1599, January), by Muḥammad alkātib, in the province of Bākharz, in the village of رز. Many leaves injured by damp; many of the last pages almost entirely effaced.

No. 1104, ff. 349, ll. 19; Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, 12 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

The same.

This copy of the Ẓafarnāma, complete, with all the poetical specimens, as usual, opens with two additional portions: 1. A detailed index, on ff. 1^b-10^b, dated the 24th of Sha'bān, A. H. 1145 (A. D. 1733, February 9). 2. The introductory chapters of the abridgment of the Ẓafarnāma, noticed below in Nos. 190 and 191, and styled فتحة نامه صاحبقرانی. The latter portion goes down (see fol. 16^a, last line but two) to the گفتار در فهرست کتاب. Both pieces are written by another and more modern hand than the Ẓafarnāma itself, which begins here, on fol. 17^b: حمداً كثيراً طيباً مباركاً الخ.

No date. Excellent and tolerably old copy, collated throughout.

No. 1315, olim 14. J. 4, ff. 334, ll. 23; small and clear Nasta'liq; ff. 17^b and 18^a splendidly adorned; size, 9 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

The same.

Another very clear and correct copy, beginning as usual. No date.

No. 2859, ff. 617, ll. 16-17; Nasta'liq; size, 11 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

182

The same.

Another splendid copy, not dated.

No. 1106, ff. 254, ll. 27; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; splendid binding in red, gold, and other colours; size, 13 $\frac{1}{8}$ in. by 7 in.

183

The same.

No date.

No. 3153, ff. 538, ll. 19-21; Nasta'liq, written by different hands; splendid binding; size, 8 $\frac{7}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

184

The same.

This copy is considerably old, and being collated would be of intrinsic value, if it were not greatly damaged throughout; a number of pages are entirely spoilt by these injuries. The last leaf (fol. 428), of which unfortunately only a fragment is left, must, as it seems, be inserted between ff. 272 and 273, where a lacuna is found. The copy breaks off on fol. 427^b, towards the end of the mathnawī, in praise of Ibrāhīm Sultān (see Rieu i. p. 174^a), with the bait:

سعادت مغتی بشارت سرود - صدایش گذشته زحرخ کبود corresponding to No. 1315 (180 in this Cat.), last page, ll. 15 and 16. This mathnawī is wanting in several of the other copies, for instance in No. 3153, the immediately preceding MS.

No date; but on fol. 1^a we find an entry from A. H. 999 (A. D. 1590, 1591).

No. 3309, olim 15. J. 7, ff. 428, ll. 21; Naskhi; size, 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

A defective copy of the same.

This copy opens, on fol. 1^a, with the following chapter: ذکر غدر علی بیك جونی قربانی با امر حسن و : حضرت صاحب قرانی, corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 21^a, l. 4 ab infra, where جانی appears instead of جونی.

No. 3318, olim 14. J. 5, ff. 318, ll. 25; written by different hands in Nasta'lik and Naskhi; size 10 in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Another defective copy of the same.

Beginning as usual. The copy, which was finished the 7th of Rabi'-alākhar, A. H. 1007 (A. D. 1598, November 7; chronogram: درج درهای شرف), has been collated by Sir Barry Close with another copy of his (probably No. 984, 173 in this Cat.), and some omissions and lacunas are pointed out to the reader, for instance on fol. 173^a, l. 12 (where sixty-three and a half pages are said to be missing), and on fol. 386^a, last line (where three and a half pages are left out).

No. 851, ff. 458, ll. 21; clear Nasta'lik; size, 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Iftitāh-i-Zafarnāma (افتتاح ظفرنامه).

Another copy of the rare introduction to the Zafarnāma (see No. 173 in this Cat.). Beginning as in No. 984, fol. 1^b. Interlinear and marginal glosses on the first eight leaves.

No date; but an entry on fol. 85^a, in another handwriting, bears the date A. H. 1012, 5th of Jumādā-althāni (A. D. 1603, November 10); another entry, dated A. H. 1139 (A. D. 1726, 1727), on fol. 1^a.

No. 1905, ff. 85, ll. 25; Nasta'lik; worm-eaten: size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 4 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

The same.

Dated by Malik Muhammad bin Hāji Jumādā-althāni, A. H. 1024 (A. D. 1615, July). The similarity between this introduction to the Zafarnāma and the ninth makālah of Khwāndamir's Khulāṣat-alakhbār (see Nos. 76-78 in this Cat., and Rieu i. pp. 164 and 175) has probably caused the wrong inscription on fol.

IND. OFF.

1^a, which states that this MS. contains the third volume of the Ḥabib-alsiyar.

No. 3033, ff. 1-112, ll. 20; Nasta'lik; size, 10 in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

The same.

Dated the 10th of Jumādā-alawwal, A. H. 1182 (A. D. 1768, September 22).

No. 712, ff. 91, ll. 24; Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Fathnāma-i-Šāhibkīrānī (فتح نامه صاحبقرانی).

A more plain and simplified edition of 'Alī Yazdī's Zafarnāma, compiled, like the original, for Abū-alfath Ibrāhīm Sultān (see ff. 4^b, l. 19, and 5^b, l. 7), and differing from it only in so far as it omits the poetical pieces and the less important passages of the prose-narrative. Beginning of the (anonymous) abbreviator's preface, on fol. 1^b: ربّ كما افصيت نعمة الشروع فتتمها: بتوفيق التميم حمد و سياس ببقياس كه از فتح نامه الخ. Comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 160, and Elliot, Bibliogr. Index, p. 4, No. CXXI. This abridgment is, of course, not identical with that of 'Abd-alsattār Kāsim (made A. H. 1024=A. D. 1615); see Bodleian Cat., No. 159, and Rieu i. p. 177; comp. also No. 180 in this Cat.

The Zafarnāma itself begins, on fol. 5^b, in the same words as usual: حمداً كثيراً مباركاً لمن توتى الملك الخ. On fol. 1^a both ظفر نامه and فتح نامه are given as title to this work.

Dated the 6th of Dhū-alhijjah, A. H. 982 (A. D. 1575, March 19).

No. 1141, ff. 335, ll. 20; Naskhi; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Another copy of the same.

A defective and rather confused copy of the same simplified edition of the Zafarnāma, beginning: حمد و سياس بى قياس كه از فتح نامه الخ. The preface of the abbreviator goes down to fol. 8^b, last line; ff. 9^a-26^b, which are included here in the introductory part, contain a portion of the Zafarnāma, beginning abruptly, on fol. 9^a, l. 1: ارجمند مجيد بمعذرت برکشادند كه الحمد لله تعالى الخ.

The first heading of this portion, which ought to be inserted at the end of the volume, runs thus on fol. 10^b: گفتار در لشکر کشیدن حضرت صاحبقرانی بجانب بغداد گفتار در بیان رسدن و فتح آنملك، امر زاده سلطان حسين و سيد خواجه شيخ على بهادر. On fol. 21^a the capture of the fortress of Firūzkūh is narrated (comp. Petis de la Croix, iv. p. 153).

The Zafarnāma itself begins, in the usual way, on fol. 27^a, and breaks off with the death of prince 'Umar Shaikh, on fol. 318^a, and the end of the campaign against Mārdin, on fol. 320^a. The last words of this chapter are written by quite a different and altogether modern hand the 19th of Dhū-alkā'dah, A. H. 1211 (A. D. 1797, May 16).

No. 2940, ff. 321, ll. 17; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 11 in. by 8 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

Matla'-alsa'dain wa majma'-albahrain (مطلع السعدين

The first volume of 'Abd-alrazzāk bin Ishāk al-Samarkandī's history of the Timūrides, from A. H. 704 to A. H. 875 (A. D. 1304-1470). The author was born at Harāt, A. H. 816 (A. D. 1413), and died there A. H. 887 (A. D. 1482); see the full account of his life and work given by Quatremère in the Notices et Extraits, vol. xiv. pp. 1-514; comp. also Bodleian Cat., Nos. 163 and 164; Rieu i. p. 181 sq.; Elliot, History of India, iv. p. 89 sq.; W. Morley, pp. 96-98 (where a complete list of the various editions of fragments of this work is found); Cat. des MSS. et Xylogr., pp. 286-288; G. Flügel ii. p. 190; J. Aumer, pp. 87 and 88, etc. Extracts are edited by B. Dorn in Muhammadanische Quellen, iv, Auszüge, pp. 104-111. This first volume or first half of the work goes from A. H. 704 (the date of Abū Sa'id Bahādurkhān's birth) to A. H. 807 (the year of Timūr's death and Khalil Sultān's accession); see the beginning of the last chapter here on fol. 440^b. The death of Sultān Abū Sa'id in A. H. 736 (A. D. 1335) is related here on fol. 38^b, Timūr's birth on fol. 39^b.

Beginning, without the usual preface: ... الحمد لله
داستان سلطان سعيد علاء الدنيا والدين سلطان ابو
سعيد الخ.

Dated the 10th of Jumādā-alawwal, A. H. 1000 or 1024 (الف), but above in figures 1000 = A. D. 1592, February 23, or 1615, June 7. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2704, ff. 449, ll. 19; small, but clear Nasta'lik; collated; size, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

Matla'-alsa'dain wa majma'-albahrain.

The second volume or latter half of the same work, containing the history of Timūr's successors from A. H. 807 to A. H. 875. Beginning: کلام حمد و ثنای
فاتحه کلام حمد و ثنای
ملك علامی باید که ثنای ستایش از ضمیر منیر خورشید

Dated the 4th of Dhū-ahjijah, A. H. 992 (A. D. 1584, December 7). Fol. 268^b and part of fol. 269^a left blank.

No. 1580, ff. 463, ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 9 in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

194

Another copy of the same second volume.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. This copy, written A. H. 1010 (A. D. 1601, 1602), about four years before Akbar's death, was presented to the Library by Lieut.-Col. W. Kirkpatrick the 30th of May, 1804. A note from the 11th of November, 1868, on fol. 1^a, runs thus: 'The leaves of this book have been cut out and mounted on different paper, and whoever did it has misplaced the pages and leaves in numerous places, and some leaves are wanting likewise—a great pity, for the work is well and elegantly written. Its value as history is sufficiently well known. This is the second volume only.' By the same hand which has written this note, all the misplacings and lacunas are carefully marked on the margin. Evident lacunas are after ff. 39 and 313. The greater portion of fol. 208^b is left blank.

No. 297, ff. 353, ll. 21; large and distinct Nasta'lik; the first two pages richly illuminated; full-page pictures on ff. 20^a, 49^a, 56^a, 88^a, 118^a, 147^a, 177^b, 226^a, 258^a, and 353^b; size, 15 in. by 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

The same.

Beginning as in the preceding copies. No date. It belonged formerly to Mr. Richard Johnson.

No. 1135, ff. 376, ll. 23; written by different hands, partly in Naskhi, partly in Nasta'lik; size, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 6 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

Malfūzāt-i-Timūri (ملفوظات تیموری).

Timūr's alleged autobiographical memoirs, in the Persian translation of Abū Tālib alḥusaini al'aridi, beginning with a preface of the translator, on ff. 1^b-2^b; comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 150; Rieu i. p. 177 sq.; W. Morley, pp. 95 and 96; Elliot, History of India, iii. p. 389 sq.; and iv. p. 559 sq.; etc. This version was presented to the emperor Shāhjahān probably a short time before A. H. 1047 (A. D. 1637). The full title given here to these memoirs runs thus: واقعات السلطان بن
السلطان والمقاتل بن المقاتل پادشاه جم جاه خلائی بناه
قطب السلاطين عالی جاه امير تیمور گورگان صاحب قران
حمد بلیغ سبحانی را که
بمقتضای آیه کریمه إنا جعلناک خلیفه فی الارض الخ
after which the preface opens with these words: حمد بلیغ سبحانی را که
The memoirs begin, on fol. 4^b, with the usual account of Timūr's omens of a great future: فرزندان سعادت لیغ
وامرای دولت لیغ و وزرای کفایت لیغ معلوم نمابند که
تکری تعالی مرا بسبب دوازده چیز که شعار خود ساختم بزرگی داد الخ
and go down here to A. H. 783 (A. D. 1381), the twelfth year of his reign, which year begins on fol. 226^b. They conclude, on fol. 236^b, with these words: چنانچه جمیع راههای که گرفتن قلعه از آن طرفها ممکن بود مسدود ساخت. The transcriber adds:
معلوم باد که ازین مجلس تا مجلس وصیت و وصایا که
امیر در دست انداز صحرای خطا نموده اند تا برلیغ توزوک
قریب بچهل هزار بیت (!) دیگر خواهد بود که از سواد به
بیاض رفته انشاء الله تعالی اگر دل و دماغ یاری دهد
باتمام خواهد رسید والسلام. On ff. 237^b-320^a there are added the تذکرات تیمور, or 'Institutes, designs, and enterprises' of Timūr (comp. Institutes, political and military, written originally in the Mughul language, etc., first translated into Persian by Abu Taulib Alhusseini, and thence into English by Major Davy. The original Persian transcribed, etc., by Joseph White, D.D., Oxford, 1783), but, as a comparison with that edition shows, in a rather different version. They are entitled in the colophon at the end : سوانح نصاب که آئینه احوال ملوک پیشین و گلدسته محافل هوشمندان خبرت گزین راستی رستی تیمور ابو : المنصور تیمور سوزومیز فرزندان ملک گیر کامگار و نبائر ذوی : القدر ملک داره معلوم اولسون کیم یتمش الخ (mirror of the lives and deeds of ancient kings, and a handful of roses from the assemblies of wise men), headed at the top of fol. 237^b: راستی رستی تیمور ابو : المنصور تیمور سوزومیز فرزندان ملک گیر کامگار و نبائر ذوی : القدر ملک داره معلوم اولسون کیم یتمش الخ.

The transcriber was Muḥammad Ashraf. According to a note on fol. 1^a this copy was finished the 4th of Shawwāl, A. H. 1196 (A. D. 1782, September 12).

No. 1943, ff. 320, ll. 15; clear Nasta'liq; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

The same.

Another copy of the Malfūzāt, in a somewhat shorter redaction, as it seems. Preface, on fol. 1^b; beginning of the memoirs, on fol. 3^b; end of the memoirs, on fol. 214^b; beginning of the Institutes, designs, and enterprises, on fol. 215^a.

Dated Jumādā-althāni, A. H. 1077 (A. D. 1666, December), by Mullā Muḥammad 'Alī Khūshāni.

No. 722, ff. 277, ll. 14; Nasta'liq; worm-eaten; size, 7 in. by 3½ in.

The same.

The same Malfūzāt, in the shorter redaction, as in the preceding copy. Preface, on fol. 1^b; beginning of the memoirs, on fol. 3^a; beginning of the Institutes, designs, and enterprises, on fol. 224^a.

Dated the 15th of Jumādā-althāni, in the twenty-fourth year of (Ālamgir probably, = A. H. 1092, A. D. 1681, July 2). This copy was made at the request of Nawwāb Ḥaidar Kulikhān.

No. 1714, ff. 299, ll. 11; large and distinct Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

Another copy of the Tuzūkāt-i-Timūr.

The Institutes, designs, and enterprises, in the shorter redaction, beginning : فرزندان ملک گیر کامگار و نبائر ذوی : القدر جهاندار معلوم باد که چون از درگاه تینکری تعالی توژک تیموری. It is styled in the colophon: توژک تیموری.

Dated the 7th of Šafar, A. H. 1229 (A. D. 1814, January 29). Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2435, ff. 50, ll. 15; Nasta'liq; size, 10½ in. by 7½ in.

200

The same.

Many blanks left. No date.

No. 1538, ff. 1-64, ll. 9; large Nasta'liq; size, 10½ in. by 7½ in.

201

The same.

A still shorter redaction of the Institutes, designs, and enterprises, styled in the colophon توژک تیموری, and dated the 15th of the month Aghān, in the year 1196 of the Bangālī era. Beginning as usual.

No. 3058, ff. 20-46, ll. 13-15; Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 6½ in.

202

The same.

This copy, containing the fuller redaction, is defective both at the beginning and end. It opens thus: درین وقت ببر من بمن گفت که بو المنصور تیمور آمده الله و تعالی را معلوم باد الخ, corresponding to fol. 248^b, l. 10. in No. 1943 (196 in this Cat.), and breaks off on fol. 55^b. As far as fol. 55^a, l. 6, it agrees upon the whole with the wording in No. 1943 (down to fol. 307¹, l. 10). The remainder of the copy contains the introductory portion of the Malfūzāt-i-Šāhibkīrān (see the following copy), the preface of which begins here on fol. 56^a, l. 3 sq.

On fol. 1^a the following note: ابن چند جزء از کتاب تیمور نامه در شهر دار الخلافت شاهجهان آباد گرفت و در این کتاب داخل نموده, 'these few pieces from the Timūr-nāma (!) he (the owner) found in the town of Shāhjahānābād, and inserted them in this volume.'

No date.

No. 1606, ff. 1-69, ll. 15; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

203

Malfūzāt-i-Šāhibkīrān (ملفوظات صاحبقران).

The revised and enlarged edition of the same Malfūzāt or autobiographical memoirs of Timūr, made at the request of the emperor Shāhjahān, A. H. 1047, by Muḥammad Afdal of Bukhārā (see fol. 3^b, ll. 1, 9, and 10; the title occurs on fol. 2^a, last line but one); comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 151 and 152; Rieu i. p. 179; Elliot, History of India, iii. p. 392. It comprises the whole life of Timūr from his seventh year to his death.

Beginning: حمد افزون از شمار بارگاه علی الاطلاقی سز که سر رشته امور عالم و عالمیان را بعدالت و سیاست الخ.

Ff. 565, 566, and 567^a are left blank.

No date. English references occasionally on the margin. A portion of these memoirs, down to A. H. 777, has been translated by Major C. Stewart, Oriental Translation Fund, London, 1830.

No. 455, ff. 587, ll. 15; Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 7½ in.

IV. HISTORY OF INDIA.

a. History of the early Rājās and the Emperors of Dihli, and general history of India.

204.

Aḥwāl-i-Rājāhāi-Hindūstān (احوال راجهای هندوستان).

A short tract, dealing with the early Rājās of India down to Shihāb-aldin Ghūri, who, A. H. 588 = A. D. 1192 (see fol. 414^a, ll. 1-3), defeated and killed راج پتهوری (otherwise called برتهی), that is, Rājā Pithaurā, or Prithwi, as he is called by Elphinstone, History of India, 5th ed., p. 364. This short account is stated in the colophon to have been taken from the روضة الطاهرین.

Risāla-i-Rājāwali (رساله راجوالی).

Another short account of the rulers of India, from the early Rājās down to 'Ālamgir II (پادشاه عالمگیر)، (ثانی بسر معز الدین جهاندارشاه ابن بهادرشاه), who reigned from A. H. 1167 to A. H. 1173 (A. D. 1754-1759). It consists chiefly of lists and tables with a succinct text, originally drawn up by Rājā Wali, whose real name, according to Rieu ii. p. 855, and iii. p. 916, was Banwālidās, a munshi of prince Dārā Shukūh, and continued by a later editor, but see the following copy.

Beginning:

بشنو زولی وفای دنیا ای شاه
مغرور مشو بدولت و حشمت و جاه

No date. Another copy in the Bodleian Library, Bodley 695 (Bodleian Cat., No. 170).

No. 1019, ff. 38, ll. 11; Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

206

Another copy of the Rājāwali.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. This copy goes down as far as the beginning of Muḥammadshāh's reign, and ends on fol. 23^a middle. The remainder of this copy is filled with miscellaneous writings, chiefly epistles on mystic topics, other letters, for instance, to Fāḍil-khān (see fol. 47^a), and pieces of ornate prose (see, for instance, fol. 48^a, رقعۀ جواب طوی; fol. 55^b, رقعۀ جواب; fol. 57^b, انتخاب نسخه عشقیه, etc.), compiled or collected A. H. 1103 = A. D. 1691, 1692 (see this date twice on ff. 28^a and 28^b) in 'Ālamgir's reign. This collection begins: شرح غم دل در غم جانان سوخت الخ

The author's name does not appear, as far as we can see; but as there is scarcely any separation between the راجوالی and this portion, we suppose that both are due to the same, viz. to Rājā Wali. According to an English note, by C. Mackenzie (dated May 6, 1807), on the fly-leaf, the real name of Rājā Wali would be (contrary to Rien's statement, loc. cit.) Ranjit Singh, munshi to the celebrated Āsafjāh, Šubadār of the Dakhan, Ranjit Singh had sometime a jāgir in the country of Adone from Āsafjāh, by whose order he collected this book from different authors and authorities.

This copy was transcribed in the second half of the eighteenth century from a MS. brought from Savanore.

No. 3105, ff. 61, written in diagonal lines; Nasta'lik; size, 7 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Tables, giving the names of all the Hindū Rājās and Muḥammadan rulers of Dihli, with a short remark about the duration of their respective reigns, beginning with Rājā Judishtir (راجہ جدشتر), who reigned 122 years and 8 months, and ending with Shāh 'Ālam (who ascended the throne in A. H. 1173 = A. D. 1759).

Title: نام راجهای هند و پادشاهان اسلام که از شروع اوان و زمان کلجک تا این زمان سریر آری سلطنت دار خلافت دهلی بودند و آنچه از روی کتب هندوی و تواریخ فارسی بنظر درآمده و بگوش رسیده همگی نوشته میشود که از راجہ جدشتر تا راجہ پرتھی یکصد و بیست نفر راجہ بودند و از سلطان شهاب الدین غوری تا شاه عالم که اکنون در دهلی اند شصت و یک کسر پادشاه شدند.

No. 3058, ff. 1-5, 4 coll.; Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Rājā Sohāwali (راج سوهاولی).

A history of the Hindū Rājās and the Muḥammadan rulers of India, together with statistical tables of the Šubāhs of Hindūstān, compiled from various Sanskrit (for instance, the Mahābhārata) and Persian sources, by Munshi Hīrām (or Hanīrām), son of Dhanīrām, son of Dhanrāja, the Registrar of the Pargana of Aunām in the Sarkār of Lakhnau in the Šubāh of Almadnagar Oudh (منشی هیرام (هنیرام) ولد دهنی رام ابن دهنراج) قانونگوی برگنه اوانام سرکار لکهنو بمضاف صوبه احمدنگر (اوده), after A. H. 1207 = A. D. 1192 (see fol. 7^a, ll. 8 and 9), for Colonel Robert Frith (فریط) (see fol. 2^a, l. 6, and fol. 6^b, l. 10), and entitled راج سوهاولی, in five ṭabaḳāt (see fol. 8^a, l. 1 sq.), the first three of which deal with the Hindū Rājās, the fourth with the Muḥammadan rulers down to Shāh 'Ālam (the last date mentioned in that chapter is A. H. 1194 = A. D. 1780, the time of the occupation of Almadābād in Gujarāt by the English), and the fifth with the statistics of India. This copy, which seems to be the only one extant, is unfortunately without any headings, all being left blank except those of the first and second ṭabaḳah, viz.

در بیان احوال بزرگان و آبادی وطن مصنف کتاب (1) on fol. 8^a, with interesting details about the author's ancestors and the history of his native town, and (2) در بیان احوال آفرینش راجها از ابتدای ستجک بغابت دوانر (from the Sati Yuga to the Dwāpara), on fol. 15^b. The only other subdivision, marked, is on the ten Avatārs, on fol. 19^b: احوال ظهور یافتن ده اوتار. The rise of Islām is narrated about fol. 231^{sq}. The statistical tables of the Śūbahs of India, with descriptive text, begin on fol. 462^a.

Tāj-almaāthir (تاج المآثر).

A tolerably old copy of the history of the empire of Dihli from A. H. 587 to 614 (A. D. 1191-1217), by Ḥasan Nizāmi, or al-Ḥasan al-Nizāmi al-nishāpūri (see the author's name on ff. 8^b, l. 14, and 305^b, l. 5). A fuller name of the author is given in the Raudat-alṣafā, viz. Ṣadr-al-din Muḥammad bin Ḥasan al-Nizāmi; see H. Khalfā ii. p. 92, and Rieu i. p. 239 sq. The history comprises part of the reign of Mu'izz-al-din (who was assassinated A. H. 602), the whole reign of Kuṭb-al-din Aibak (A. H. 602 to 607), and the first seven years of that of Shams-al-din Iltutmish.

Beginning of the very long and tedious preface, on fol. 1^b: حمد و سپاس بی قیاس که قدم شهسوار عقل دو: اسبه بسر حدّ عدّ و احصاء آن نرسد الخ

Beginning of the history itself, on fol. 33^a, with the conquest of Ajmir in A. H. 587. Last chapter, on fol. 248^a, account of the appointment of prince Nāsir-al-din Maḥmūd as governor of Lāhūr in A. H. 614. The work apparently ends on fol. 260^a. Compare for further details Elliot, History of India, ii. p. 204 sq.; see also G. Flügel ii. p. 173; Cat. des MSS. et Xylogr. p. 296; W. Pertseh, p. 53, etc.

The remaining portion of this MS. contains:

1. On ff. 261^a-301^b, repetitions of certain parts of the Tāj-almaāthir, viz. ff. 261^a-271^b correspond to ff. 105^a, l. 5 ab infra, to 115^a, last line; and ff. 280^a, l. 6 ab infra-301^b to ff. 125^b, l. 11-146^b, l. 11. The intervening piece, ff. 272^a-280^a, l. 6 ab infra, we have not been able to trace.

2. On ff. 302^a-304^b, part of an epilogue to the Tāj-almaāthir, chiefly consisting of a محاسن هذا (see fol. 302^b).

3. On ff. 305^a-307^b, a panegyric of Ḥasan Nizāmi, written by the transcriber of the original copy of this work, Muḥammad bin Muḥammad, at the end of his MS.

No date.

No. 1486, ff. 307, ll. 23; very small Nasta'lik; small illuminated frontispiece; ff. 209-216 and 289-298 turned upside down; size, 6½ in. by 3½ in.

210

Another copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. A detailed index on the fly-leaves. Collated; many glosses on the margin. No date. Some pages a little damaged. Ff. 272 supplied by another hand.

No. 15, ff. 278, ll. 21; clear Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 7 in.

Ta'rikh-i-Firūzshāhi (تاریخ فیروزشاهی).

The history of Firūzshāh and his predecessors, giving a full account of the kings of Dihli from the accession of Ghiyāth-al-din Balban, A. H. 664 (A. D. 1266), to the sixth year of Firūzshāh's reign, A. H. 758 (A. D. 1357), composed by Diyā-al-din Baranī; comp. Bodleian Cat. Nos. 172-174; Rieu iii. pp. 919 and 920; Elliot, History of India, iii. p. 93 sq.; Nassau Lees, Materials, pp. 441-446; Journal of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, vol. xxxviii. pp. 181-220; vol. xxxix. pp. 1-51; and vol. xl. pp. 185-247, etc. Edited in the Bibliotheca Indica, Calcutta, 1860-1862.

Beginning: حمد و ثنای مرخدای که اخبار و آثار انبیا و سلاطین را بوحی آسمانی الخ

It consists of a very flowery introduction and eight books, every one comprising the reign of one monarch, viz. Sultān Ghiyāth-al-din Balban, on fol. 16^b; Sultān Mu'izz-al-din Kaikubād, on fol. 80^b; Sultān Jalāl-al-din Firūz Khilji, on fol. 112^b; Sultān 'Alā-al-din Khilji, on fol. 158^b; Sultān Kuṭb-al-din, on fol. 246^b; Sultān Ghiyāth-al-din Tughluqshāh, on fol. 274^b; Sultān Muḥammad bin Tughluq, on fol. 289^b; Sultān Abū-almuẓaffar Firūzshāh, on fol. 328^a. Every book, except the second, is preceded by a detailed index.

Dated the 12th of Ramadān, A. H. 1007 (A. D. 1599, April 8), by Maulānā Ya'qūb, inhabitant of سودر.

No. 177, ff. 360, ll. 11-19; Shikasta; ff. 67-70, 328, 329, 331-339, two-thirds of ff. 340-356 and ff. 357-360 later supplied in Nasta'lik by two different hands; size, 11¼ in. by 6 in.

Tawārikh-i-Firūzshāhi (تواریخ فیروزشاهی).

History of Firūzshāh, king of Dihli's reign, compiled by Shams-i-Sirāj 'Afif (see fol. 11^b, last line but one), from his accession to the throne, A. H. 752, to his death, A. H. 790 (A. D. 1351-1388), with a short account of his previous life. It is an amplification, continuation, and completion of the preceding فیروزشاهی by Diyā-al-din Baranī. Shams-i-Sirāj resumed the interrupted and incomplete task, and gave a complete history of the whole reign of Firūzshāh; comp. Rieu i. p. 241 sq.; Elliot, History of India, iii. pp. 267-373; Nassau Lees, Materials, pp. 441-446.

It is divided into five kisms, each subdivided into eighteen metams. Kism I (containing Firūzshāh's life from his birth to his accession) begins on fol. 21^a, II on fol. 59^a, III on fol. 103^a, IV on fol. 141^b, V on fol. 203^b. The last kism is not complete, it breaks off in the fifteenth mukaddimah.

Copied in the twenty-fourth year of (I probably 'Ālamgir's reign, A. H. 1092=A. D. 1681), by Shaikh Fâdil. Index on ff. 18^a-21^a.

Beginning: قال الله تعالى وما يعلم تأويله إلا الله والراسخون في العلم الآية قال النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم قلوب الملوك ملهون الخ.

After fol. 109 one leaf is missing, corresponding to the following copy, fol. 57^a, l. 14, to fol. 58^a, l. 5; in the middle of fol. 162^a two lines are wanting in l. 7 (corresponding to the following copy, fol. 97^b, ll. 14-16).

This copy was acquired A. D. 1786, at Lucknow, by Mr. Mulock, and presented by W. Kirkpatrick, May 30, 1804.

No. 1002, ff. 278, ll. 15; illuminated frontispiece; large and clear Nasta'lik; many small damages throughout; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Another copy of the same.

This copy is still more defective than the preceding one, but fortunately sufficient to supply the lacunas of No. 1002. There are missing after fol. 26 about forty-five pages (corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 37^a, l. 3, to fol. 69^b, l. 8), from the middle of the eighth mukaddimah in kism I to the middle of the fifth in kism II. Another lacuna after fol. 97 (one leaf missing, corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 162^a, l. 9, to fol. 163^b, l. 8), and a third large one on fol. 166^b in the third line (comprising the whole of the rest of the preceding copy, fol. 251^a, l. 13, down to the end). The real conclusion of the work, however, is found in this copy.

No date. Index on ff. 13^a-14^b. Kism I, on fol. 14^b (heading of II missing); III, on fol. 52^a; IV, on fol. 82^a, first line; V, on fol. 128^b.

No. 1002 A, ff. 167, ll. 17; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Wâkî'ât-i-Bâbari (واقعات بابری).

A complete copy of the rare Caghatâi or Turki original of the Bâbarnama, or autobiography of the emperor Bâbar, from his accession in Ramadân, A. H. 899 (A. D. 1494, June), to Muharram, A. H. 936 (A. D. 1529, September); see the edition of this work by N. Ilminski, Kasan, 1857, French translation by Pavet de Courteille, Paris, 1871.

Beginning: رمضان ای بتاریخ سیمکیز بوز توقسان توقوز دا فرغانه ولایتکنده اون ایکی الخ.

Some marginal notes and corrections on the first pages by a European hand. Bibliotheca Leydeniana. No date.

No. 2538, ff. 234, ll. 13; large Naskhi; size, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Wâkî'ât-i-Bâbari.

The older Persian translation of the foregoing autobiographical memoirs of Bâbar, commenced A. H. 994 (A. D. 1586), at the request of Bihruzkhân, by Mirzâ Payanda Hasan Ghaznawi, and continued by Muḥammad Kuli Moghul Hişari; see the preface of the latter on fol. 74^b sq.; comp. Rieu ii. p. 799, and Bodleian Cat., No. 179.

Beginning: برضائارباب بصائر مخفی و مستور نمائد که حضرت بادشاه فردوس مکان جئت آشیان المغفور بعنايت الملك اله ظهير الدين محمد بابر بادشاه انار الله برهانه بزبان معجز بيان چنين فرموده اند که بتاریخ شهر رمضان هشتصد الخ.

The usual blanks are marked here distinctly after ff. 72^b, 177^b, in the middle of fol. 199^b, and on fol. 207^a. This copy ends with A. H. 935, so that the concluding portion of the history is missing (see the Brit. Mus. copy in Rieu, loc. cit.). No date. The title given to this work, on fol. 1^a, is توزک بابری. Many English annotations and useful hints on the margin throughout, probably written by Col. W. Kirkpatrick, who presented this copy to the Library the 30th of May, 1804. A still older translation of Bâbar's memoirs is that of Shaikh Zain-al-din Khwâfi (who died A. H. 940=A. D. 1533, 1534); see Rieu iii. p. 926.

No. 913, ff. 236, ll. 15; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Wâkî'ât-i-Bâbari.

The later Persian translation of the same autobiographical memoirs of Bâbar, made at the emperor Akbar's request, A. H. 998 (A. D. 1590), by Mirzâ Khân 'Abd-alrahim bin Bairâmkhân, who died under Jahangir, A. H. 1036 (A. D. 1626, 1627); see Bodleian Cat. Nos. 180-183; Rieu i. p. 244 sq.; Elliot, History of India, iv. pp. 218-287, etc.; English translations by J. Leyden and W. Erskine, 'Memoirs of Zehir-ed-din Muhammed Baber,' London, 1826, 2nd edit. 1844; and by M. Caldecott, 'Life of Baber, abridged from the memoirs of Zehir-ed-din Muhammed Baber,' London, 1844.

The present version agrees upon the whole—save those gaps which are found in all copies of this work—with the Caghatâi original, and begins in the same abrupt manner as that: در ماه رمضان سنه هشتصد ونود و نه در ولایت فرغانه در دوازده سالگی بادشاه شدم الخ. It goes down, like the original, to the 3rd of Muharram, A. H. 936, and breaks off with the words: فرستاده شد که گوالیار را بایشان سپرده

Not dated.

No. 2654, ff. 184, ll. 21; Nasta'lik; size, 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

217

Another copy of the same.

Beginning: در ماه مبارک رمضان سنه هشتصد الخ.

Last words: که گوالیار را بایشان سپرده شده بود.

No date.

No. 30, ff. 263, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

218

The same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. End: بایشان سپرده بیاید. Many pages slightly injured. Additions and short remarks on the margin. Two entries at the end from A. H. 1051 and 1054 (A. D. 1641 and 1644), the first of which runs thus: چهارم شهر صفر سنه ۱۰۵۱ خوانده آمده شد.

No. 29, ff. 331, ll. 17; unequal Nasta'lik, written, as it seems, by different hands; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Ta'rikh-i-Shirshāhi (تاریخ شیرشاهی).

The same slightly abridged redaction of 'Abbās Khān bin Shaikh 'Alī Sarwānī's history of the life and reign of Sultān Shirshāh Sūr of Dihli (who assumed the title of king about A. H. 946, and died A. H. 952, A. D. 1539-1545) and his immediate successors, which is noticed in Rieu ii. p. 827^b, and iii. p. 921. The original title of 'Abbās Sarwānī's work was تحفة اکبرشاهی, composed at the emperor Akbar's request soon after A. H. 987 (A. D. 1579); see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 176-178; Rieu i. pp. 242 and 243; Elliot, History of India, iv. pp. 301-433, etc.

The present redaction is called, just as in two copies of the British Museum, the third book (طبقه سوم), (در ذکر احوال سلطنت قبیله سور از قوم لودی افغان), so that there must have been two previous tabaḳas, and begins in a similar way: جنس حمد و اثنیه خالق برته را سزد که سرسبزی ریاض ممالک در میغ تیغ آیدار سلاطین الخ.

It is divided into the following three bābs:

باب اول در ذکر احوال سلطنت شیرخان سور
باب دوم در ذکر احوال سلطنت اسلامخان بن شیرخان سور

باب سوم در ذکر احوال ملوکی که از خویشان و متعلقان شیرخان بودند و بعد از اسلامخان دعوی سلطنت نمودند و سکه و خطبه بنام خود فرمودند

This copy was finished the 20th of Šafar, A. H. 1030 (A. D. 1621, January 14), by Mullā Šālīḥ Badakhshī.

No. 218, ff. 121, ll. 15; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

Ta'rikh-i-Shirshāhi.

A Hindūstānī translation of 'Abbās Sarwānī's history of Shirshāh's life and reign, which was completed the 5th of Jumādā-alawwal, A. H. 1220=A. D. 1805, August 1 (see fol. 122^a, last two lines), and dedicated to the Governor-General of India, Marquis Wellesley (see fol. 2^a, last line, and fol. 2^b, first line). A lacuna after fol. 12.

Beginning of the translator's preface, on fol. 1^b: شکر می آس شاهنشاه برترکا که وه واجب الوجود الخ.

Beginning of the history itself, on fol. 3^a: حمد و ثنا: آس خالق خلق کی لئی لائق هی الخ.

This copy, a little worm-eaten, belonged formerly to Mr. Roebuck.

No. 2936, ff. 122, ll. 13; Naskhi; size, 10½ in. by 7½ in.

Tadhkirat-alwākī'āt (تذکرة الواقعات).

Private memoirs of the emperor Humāyūn (who reigned A. H. 937-963=A. D. 1530-1556), compiled by the ewer-bearer Jauhar, who commenced this work A. H. 995 (A. D. 1587), and styled both تذکرة الواقعات and تاریخات, and even جواهرشاهی (as, for instance, here on the top of fol. 1^a, and in the colophon). For further particulars, see Rieu i. p. 246, and Elliot, History of India, v. pp. 136-149. An English translation, severely criticised by W. Erskine, was published by Major C. Stewart for the Oriental Translation Fund, London, 1832.

The first leaf is a little damaged in the corners, so that the beginning cannot be given. Part of fol. 40^a, the whole of fol. 40^b, and fol. 41^a are left blank.

Dated the last of Šafar, in the forty-first year (no doubt of 'Ālamgir's reign)=A. H. 1109 (A. D. 1697, September 16).

No. 220, ff. 55, ll. 25 (some of the first pages written in diagonal lines); Shikasta; size, 9 in. by 5 in.

Ta'rikh-i-Humāyūnshāhi (تاریخ همايونشاهی).

The revised edition of Jauhar's memoirs, made in a flowery court-style by Ilāhdād Faīdī Sirhindī, the author of a Persian dictionary مدار الافاضل (compiled A. H. 1001=A. D. 1592, 1593), and of a history of Akbar to A. H. 1010 (A. D. 1601, 1602), styled اکبرنامه; see below, No. 289 in this Cat., and Rieu iii. p. 927, and i. p. 253. It begins: همایون گوهری که در سلك تحریر و عهد تفریر منسلک و معتقد گردد، حمد و ثنای شاهنشاهی, and is divided into five bābs, viz.

1. Humāyūn's accession, and history of his reign to the year of Akbar's birth, A. H. 949=A. D. 1542 (در جلوس فرمودن بر سریر سلطنت نصیرالدین محمد همايون (پادشاه غازی الخ), on fol. 3^b.

2. Humāyūn's journey to Khurāsān (متوجه شدن آن (شاه جهانیان بقصد ملاقات شاه طهماسب بولایت خراسان), on fol. 49^a.

3. Humāyūn's return from 'Irāk to Kandahār (مراجعت نمودن آن شاه عالم از ولایت عراق بجانب (دیار قندهار), on fol. 63^a.

4. Humāyūn's war-council and invasion of India, to his death (مجلس آراستن شاه عالمیان به سپه داران (کشورستان بجهت عزیمت ملک هندوستان الخ), on fol. 96^b.

5. Akbar's accession (جلوس فرمودن جلال الدین محمد) and editor's epilogue.

Many remarks in English on the margin throughout. No date.

No. 788, ff. 114, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 7½ in.

223

Ta'rikh-i-Humâyûn (تاریخ همایون).

Another history of the emperor Humâyûn, and all the persons who were closely connected with him, and the affairs of his and his successor Akbar's reign, compiled by an old servant of the empire, and an eye-witness of most of its affairs, with the name of Bâyazîd, who was chosen for this task, at Akbar's request, by his wazîr Abû-alfadl bin Mubâarak, beginning:
چون جم
جاء جلال الدین محمد اکبر پادشاه فرموده بودند که از
بندهای درگاه هرک الله

Bâyazîd begins his story with A. H. 949 = A. D. 1542 (when Humâyûn was forced to leave India), and brings it down to A. H. 999 (A. D. 1591), the year of the beginning of this work's composition at Lâhûr. It is divided into four fasls: 1. from A. H. 949 to A. H. 953, on fol. 1^b; 2. from A. H. 953 to A. H. 959, on fol. 22^a; 3. from A. H. 959 to A. H. 961, on fol. 50^a; 4. from A. H. 961 to A. H. 999, with an account of Akbar's affairs as well as of all the high functionaries and servants of both emperors. He adds at the end that nine copies of this work were made, two of which went into Abû-alfadl's own library.

It was finished, so far as we can guess from the ta'rikh at the end, A. H. 1000 (A. D. 1591, 1592). The right order of ff. 80-105 is: 80, 97-104, 89-96, 81-88, 105.

No. 216, ff. 160, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Historical extracts dealing with Humâyûn's flight to Persia and the recapture of Kandahâr.

1. Firmân of Shâh Tahmâsp ibn Shâh Isma'il Safawi to the governor of Harât, Muhammadkhân ibn Sharaf-al-din Tuklû, fixing the ceremonies and observances for the reception of the Indian emperor Humâyûn, who had fled to Persia and asked for an interview with the Persian Shâh (A. D. 1544), on fol. 1^b.

2. Account of Humâyûn's reception in Khurâsân, and his interviews with Tahmâsp, on fol. 6^b.

3. Names of all the royal Amirs and the other distinguished attendants who accompanied prince Muhammad Murâd, third son of Tahmâsp, in his march against and his capture of Kandahâr (A. D. 1545), on fol. 11^a.

Comp. for the historical facts referred to in these extracts, Elphinstone, History of India, 5th edit., pp. 463-466.

This copy (dated the first of Dhû-alka'dah, A. H. 1194 = A. D. 1780, October 29) was made for Mr. Richard Johnson by Muhammad Bakhsh, with the takhallus Ashûb.

No. 1846, ff. 16, ll. 15; Shikasta; size, 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 4 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Tabakât-i-Akbari (طبقات اکبری).

A complete copy of the general history of India from the time of Sabuktagin of Ghazna, A. H. 367 (A. D. 977), to the end of the thirty-eighth year of Akbar's reign, A. H. 1002 (A. D. 1593), composed by Nizâm-al-din Ahmad bin Muhammad Mukîm of Harât, who died A. H. 1003 (A. D. 1594), and entitled both طبقات اکبری or طبقات تاریخی نظامی and اکبرشاهی; comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 184-191; Rieu i. p. 220 sq.; W. Morley, pp. 58-61; Elliot, Bibliogr. Index, p. 178 sq.; History of India, v. pp. 177-476; J. Aumer, p. 83, etc.

Beginning: سیاس رفعت اساس بادشاه حقیقی راست (را سزد نظام عالم الخ که حل و عقد نظام عالم الخ).

It is divided into a mukaddimah, nine tabakât, and a khâtimah, viz.

Mukaddimah, on fol. 3^a: History of the Ghaznawides (در ذکر غزنویان).

Tabakâh I, on fol. 16^a: Sultâns of Dihli (طبعة سلاطین) from Mu'izz-al-din Ghûri to A. H. 1002 (دملی).

Tabakâh II, on fol. 365^b: Kings of the Dakhan (طبعة دکنیه) to A. H. 1002.

Tabakâh III, on fol. 398^a: Kings of Gujarât (طبعة سلاطین گجرات) to A. H. 980 (A. D. 1572).

Tabakâh IV, on fol. 466^b: Kings of Mâlwah (طبعة مالدو) to A. H. 977 (A. D. 1569).

Tabakâh V, on fol. 523^b: Kings of Bangâlah (طبعة بنگاله) to A. H. 984 (A. D. 1576).

Tabakâh VI, on fol. 527^b: Sharîki kings of Jaunpûr, etc. (طبعة سلاطین شرقیه که در جونپور و آنحدود فرمان) to A. H. 881 (A. D. 1476). (روائی کرده اند)

Tabakâh VII, on fol. 533^a: Rulers of Kashmir (طبعة حکام کشمیر) to A. H. 995 (A. D. 1587).

Tabakâh VIII, on fol. 565^b: Rulers of Sind (طبعة حکام سند) to A. H. 1001 (A. D. 1592).

Tabakâh IX, on fol. 571^a: Rulers of Multân (طبعة حکام ملتان) to A. H. 932 (A. D. 1526).

Khâtimah, on fol. 579^b: Short geographical sketch of the Indian empire (در بیان حدود و ممالک هندوستان).

Dated the 11th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1031 (A. D. 1622, January 24), by حولی بیک کابلی. Many of the first and last leaves are worm-eaten; slight injuries here and there. A detailed index on the fly-leaves. The right order of ff. 38-41 is: 38, 40, 39, 41.

No. 3320, olim 15. J. 6, ff. 579, ll. 21; large, but unequal Nasta'lik; size, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 6 in.

Another complete copy of the Tabakât-i-Akbari.

Beginning as usual. The arrangement of the Tabakât the same as in the preceding copy.

Mukaddimah, on fol. 3^a.

Tabakâh I, on fol. 15^b, first line; II, on fol. 320^a, first line; III, on fol. 352^b; IV, on fol. 422^b; V, on fol. 476^a; VI, on fol. 480^b; VII, on fol. 485^b; VIII, on fol. 516^a; IX, on fol. 521^a.

Khâtimah (not marked), on fol. 530^a.

Copied in Dhû-al-hijjah, A. H. 1069 (A. D. 1659, August-September). The right order of ff. 215-223 is: 215, 224, 216-223, 225.

No. 2943, ff. 530, ll. 19; clear Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

The same.

The arrangement of the Ṭabakât in this copy, which is complete in two volumes, differs in so far from that of the two preceding copies, that the history of the kings of Málwah forms here the sixth ṭabakah instead of the fourth, and consequently the kings of Bangálah and Jaunpûr represent the fourth and fifth ṭabakât respectively. The usual ninth ṭabakah is styled here خاتمه, and the real خاتمه is not marked.

Mukaddimah, on fol. 3^a, in No. 997.

Ṭabakah I, on fol. 14^a, in No. 997; II, on fol. 1^b, in No. 998; III, on fol. 27^b, in No. 998; IV (kings of Bangálah), on fol. 81^a, in No. 998; V (Sharqi kings of Jaunpûr), on fol. 83^b, last line, in No. 998; VI (kings of Málwah), on fol. 87^b, in No. 998; VII, on fol. 126^b, last line, in No. 998; VIII, on fol. 150^b, last line, in No. 998.

Khâtimah (rulers of Multân), on fol. 154^b, in No. 998.

Copied in Muḥammadshâh's reign (A. H. 1131-1161). Occasional English notes, both in ink and pencil, on the margin, probably by Lieut.-Col. W. Kirkpatrick, who presented this copy to the Library, 1804.

No. 997, ff. 280; No. 998, ff. 162, ll. 19; good and clear Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

228

The same.

Another copy with the same arrangement of the Ṭabakât as in the preceding one, viz.

Mukaddimah, on fol. 2^a.

Ṭabakah I, on fol. 8^a; II, on fol. 151^a; III, on fol. 164^a; IV (Bangálah), on fol. 192^a; V (Jaunpûr), on fol. 194^a; VI (Málwah), on fol. 196^a; VII, on fol. 218^b; VIII, on fol. 230^b; IX, on fol. 233^a.

Collated. Many marginal additions by a later hand. No date.

No. 731, ff. 236, ll. 25; careless Nasta'lik; some leaves injured; size, 15½ in. by 9½ in.

229

The same.

This copy of the Ṭabakât-i-Akbari is incomplete at the end, the ninth ṭabakah and the khâtimah being wanting, in spite of the usual words at the end: تمت تمام شد.

Mukaddimah, on fol. 2^b.

Ṭabakah I, on fol. 12^b; II, on fol. 260^a; III, on fol. 283^b, last line; IV, on fol. 335^a; V, on fol. 338^a; VI, on fol. 342^a; VII, on fol. 383^a; VIII, on fol. 406^a.

No date; but a note in a different handwriting, on the last page, states that this copy was collated at Lâhûr in IND. OFF.

Shahbân, A. H. 1079 (A. D. 1669, January). It belonged formerly to Mr. Richard Johnson.

Ff. 83 and 88 are turned upside down, but fol. 88 must be put in the place of fol. 83, and vice versa.

No. 967, ff. 409, ll. 25; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 14 in. by 6½ in.

A part of the same work.

This copy contains only the mukaddimah, on fol. 3^b, and the first ṭabakah (the history of the kings of Dihli down to A. H. 1002), on fol. 19^a.

Dated the 9th of Jumâdâ-alawwal, A. H. 1066 (A. D. 1656, March 5), by 'Abdallâh ibn 'Aziz Muhammad. Fol. 37^b is left blank; fol. 253 is turned upside down.

No. 3289, olim 15. J. 5, ff. 415, ll. 21; unequally written in careless Nasta'lik and Shikasta; size, 12½ in. by 6½ in.

231

An incomplete copy of the same part.

Mukaddimah, on fol. 3^a, last line; first ṭabakah, on fol. 20^b. It goes down only to the sixteenth year of Akbar's reign; all the rest is wanting.

Dated the 15th of Muḥarram in the thirty-fifth year of 'Ālamgir's reign=A. H. 1103 (A. D. 1691, October 8).

No. 3419, olim 16. J. 16, ff. 282, ll. 16; Nasta'lik; size, 11 in. by 6½ in.

A still smaller portion of the same.

This copy bears, on fol. 1^a, the titles of تواريخ نامہ ذکر احوال شیرخان کہ بشیرشاہ مشہور and بشیرشاہ, whilst on the fly-leaf it is styled simply: تاریخ شیرشاہی; but—as a note in pencil on the same fly-leaf informs us—it is only a fragment of the Ṭabakât-i-Akbari, containing that portion of the first ṭabakah which relates the history of Shîrkân Sûr, commonly called Shîrshâh, who assumed the title of king about A. H. 946, and died A. H. 952 (A. D. 1539-1545); see above, Nos. 219 and 220. The history of Dihli is brought down moreover in this fragment to A. H. 963=A. D. 1556, the year of Humâyûn's death and Akbar's accession (see fol. 104^b).

Beginning: ذکر احوال شیرخان کہ در السنہ وافواہ بشیرشاہ مذکور است الخ.

Dated the 21st of Rabî'-alâkhar, A. H. 1046 (A. D. 1636, September 22). Entries of readers from A. H. 1051 and 1074 (A. D. 1641, 1642 and 1663, 1664).

No. 1585, ff. 105, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; worm-eaten throughout; size, 9 in. by 5½ in.

Muntakhab-altawârîkh (منتخب التواريخ).

A complete copy of 'Abd-alkâdir bin Mulûkshâh Badâ'ûnî's general history of India, from the time of the Ghaznawides down to the fortieth year of Akbar's reign, completed A. H. 1004, the 23rd of Jumâdâ-thânî (A. D. 1596, February 23); see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 192-194; Rieu i. pp. 222 and 223; Nassau Lees, Materials, p. 455; Elliot, History of India, v. p. 477 sq., etc. Edited in the Bibl. Indica by Maulawi Ahmad 'Ali, 3 vols., Calcutta, 1868-1869.

The first part, from Nâsir-al-din Sabuktigin to Humâyûn's death, begins on fol. 9^b: ای یافته نامها ز نام تو: راج - شاهان بدرت چوما بدیشان محتاج الیخ.

The second part (comprising the first forty years of Akbar's reign, and a tadhkirah of all the contemporary Amirs, Mullas, Kâdis, Shaikhs, and poets) begins here on fol. 208^b. The biographies of Shaikhs, Kâdis, etc., on fol. 388^a sq.; those of the poets, in alphabetical order, on fol. 454^b sq. Comp. A. Sprenger, Cat. Oudh, pp. 55-65. An alphabetical index of all the biographies contained in this work, is added on ff. 1^b-7^a. Fol. 8 is blank.

No date. The copy was presented by Lieut.-Col. W. Kirkpatrick, May 30, 1804.

Akbarnâma (اکبر نامه).

The famous history of the emperor Akbar, by Abû-alfadl bin Mubârak, who was assassinated A. H. 1011 (A. D. 1602). It was completed in Sha'bân, A. H. 1004 (A. D. 1596, April), and continued till A. H. 1010 (A. D. 1601, 1602); comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 200-212; Rieu i. p. 247 sq.; W. Morley, p. 108 sq.; J. Aumer, pp. 89-91; Sacy, Notices et Extraits, x. p. 199 sq.; Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Batav. iii. p. 9; A. F. Mehren, p. 20, etc. Large extracts are given in Elliot, History of India, vi. pp. 1-102. The text was lithographed at Lucknow, A. H. 1284.

Contents:

A preface, containing a short index of the first book of the Akbarnâma, down to the end of the seventeenth year of the emperor's reign, on fol. 1^b. Beginning: ذکر بعضی بشارت غیبی و اشارات قدسی که پیش از سعادت ولادت الیخ.

First part of the first book, on fol. 5^b, containing the preface and the history of Akbar's ancestors to the death of Humâyûn, A. H. 963 (A. D. 1556). Beginning: الله اکبر این چه دریافتی است زرف و شناختی الیخ.

Second part of the first book, on fol. 201^a, the history of Akbar's reign from his accession to the end of the seventeenth year of his reign. Beginning: سلسله انتظام کارگاه آفرینش که مظاهر حقیقت الیخ.

Khâtimah of the first book, on fol. 392^a, beginning: المنة لله الیخ.

Second book, on fol. 401^b, the history of Akbar's reign from the eighteenth to the end of the forty-sixth and the beginning of the forty-seventh year of his reign. Beginning: سخن تازه سازم بنام خدای الیخ.

Muḥammad Şâlih's continuation of the history to the fiftieth year of Akbar's reign is wanting here, and in all the following copies except two (Nos. 260 and 261 further below). A very curious feature of this MS. is, that between the end of the thirtieth and the beginning of the thirty-first year (fol. 632^b, first line, to fol. 640^b, l. 13) the whole khâtimah of the first book, together with the beginning of the second book, is repeated, so that these leaves are identical with fol. 392^a, last line but one, to fol. 402^b, l. 12.

The first book is dated the 27th of Rabi'-al-awwal, A. H. 1065 (A. D. 1655, February 4), by Shâh Muḥammad bin Fath Muḥammad of Lâhûr; the second the 24th of Jumâdâ-alâkhar, A. H. 1106 (A. D. 1695, February 9), by Muḥammad Kuraish Kuraishi.

Various readings on the margin.

No. 4, ff. 765, ll. 21-23; Nasta'lik, written by two different hands; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b, 5^b, and 401^b; size, 13½ in. by 6½ in.

236

Another copy of the same.

Contents:

First part of the first book, on fol. 1^b, beginning: سبحان الله این چه دریافتی است الیخ.

Second part of the first book, on fol. 118^b, beginning as in the preceding copy.

Khâtimah, on fol. 212^b.

Some of the last leaves of this part, from fol. 211 to fol. 220, are misplaced, their right order is: 211, 219, 218, 214-217, 213, 212, 220.

Second book, on fol. 226^b, beginning as in the preceding copy, and going down to the beginning of the forty-seventh year of Akbar's reign. It is concluded by a khâtimah, which begins (on fol. 497^a): بنامیزد ای فکر تیز رو الیخ.

Various readings and annotations on the margin, especially of the first part of the first book.

No. 564, ff. 500, ll. 25; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b, 118^b, and 226^b; size, 13½ in. by 8½ in.

237

A slightly defective copy of the same, in two volumes. Contents:

First volume (No. 1):

First part of the first book, on fol. 1^b, beginning: الله اکبر این چه دریافتیست الیخ.

Second part of the first book, on fol. 235^b. This part is rather incomplete at the end. It breaks off on fol. 531^a in the khâtimah (which begins on fol. 527^a) with the words: مرا زندگی, corresponding to fol. 222^b, l. 7, in the preceding copy.

Second volume (No. 2):

Second book, on fol. 1^b, concluding like the preceding copies with the beginning of the forty-seventh year of Akbar's reign (khâtimah, on fol. 555^a). Some small blanks on the last leaves.

The handwriting in both volumes seems to be the same (except ff. 527-531 in No. 1, which are later supplied); but the first part of the first book is dated A. H. 1111 (A. D. 1699, 1700), and the second book A. H. 1132 (A. D. 1719, 1720)!

Nos. 1, 2, first vol., ff. 531; second vol., ff. 561, ll. 19; large and clear Nasta'lik; size, 14½ in. by 7½ in.

A very incomplete copy of the same.

This copy contains:

The first part of the first book, on fol. 1^b, beginning: الله أكبر ابن.

The second part of the first book, on fol. 250^b. It concludes, on fol. 520^a, last line, with the end of the seventeenth year of Akbar's reign, but the horoscope and the khâtimah of the first book, as well as the introduction of the second book, are entirely missing in this copy.

The second book (without any heading) begins, on fol. 520^b, l. 3, immediately with the words: واز سوانحی که درین هنگام الله, corresponding to No. 564 (236 in this Cat.), fol. 227^b, l. 5, and goes down to the nineteenth year of Akbar's reign. It breaks off, on fol. 589^b, last line, with these words: بآن بادیه ادبار گشت, corresponding to No. 564, fol. 263^b, l. 6. All the rest is wanting.

Small blanks on ff. 17^b, 20^a, 23^a, 277^a, 277^b, and 284^b (entirely blank). Occasionally various readings on the margin. Presented by J. Wombell, Esq., April 10, 1804.

No. 849, ff. 589, ll. 19; careless Nasta'lik; ff. 250^b-330^b written by another hand in Shikasta; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b and 250^b; size, 12 in. by 7½ in.

Another copy of the first book of the same.

First part, on fol. 1^b, beginning: الله أكبر ابن.

Second part, on fol. 206^b, beginning: سلسله انتظام الله.

The first part is dated the 3rd of Rajab, A. H. 1073 (A. D. 1663, February 11), by پراکداس بن ادمل (A. D. 1663, February 11), by پراکداس بن ادمل, at Lâhûr; the second, the 13th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1074 (A. D. 1663, October 15), by the same.

The khâtimah begins here, on fol. 418^b, last line: المتة لله الله.

College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2238, ff. 427, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; the old and original part of this MS. is greatly damaged, but most of the injured places have been carefully mended by a later hand; quite new are ff. 64-85, 142-146, and one half in each page of ff. 172-195, supplied in Shikasta by the same who filled in the missing portions in the rest of the MS.; several blanks on ff. 390^b, 394^a, and 404^a; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

240

The same first book.

First part, on fol. 1^b, beginning: الله أكبر ابن چه در یافتیست الله.

Second part, on fol. 170^b, beginning: سلسله انتظام الله.

It is complete: the khâtimah begins, on fol. 371^b, l. 4: المتة لله الله.

Many tables in the last part of this copy are missing; the place for them is left blank; see ff. 344^a, 347^b, and 357^a.

Dated the 29th of Muharram, A. H. 1101 (A. D. 1689, November 12).

No. 3287, olim 15. J. 2, ff. 380, ll. 23; Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

241

The same.

First part, on fol. 1^b, beginning: الله أكبر ابن. Dated the 21st of Muharram, A. H. 1111 (forty-third year of 'Âlamgir's reign)=A. D. 1699, July 19.

Second part, on fol. 159^b, beginning: سلسله انتظام الله.

Khâtimah (here styled انجم این اقبال نامه), on fol. 342^a. Dated the 24th of Muharram in the same year (only three days after the completion of the first).

No. 2667, ff. 350, ll. 20-27; very unequally written, partly in Nasta'lik, partly in Shikasta, partly even in Naskhi, see ff. 199 and 200; size, 11½ in. by 7 in.

242

The same.

Index, on ff. 1^b-5^a (فهرست جلد اول أكبر نامه).

First part, on fol. 6^b.

Second part, on fol. 144^b.

Khâtimah, on fol. 307^a.

No date. A considerable number of the first and last leaves of the text severely damaged by worms.

No. 2404, ff. 314, ll. 25; Nasta'lik by various hands, all equally clear and distinct; collated throughout; size, 14 in. by 8½ in.

243

The same.

First part, on fol. 1^b.

Second part (not separated from the first), on fol. 187^b, beginning in the sixth line.

The khâtimah begins on fol. 367^b, l. 3.

The last three lines of this book are missing; it breaks off with: که خدمت او پسند شاهنشاه اوفتد و, agreeing with No. 564 (236 in this Cat.), fol. 225^b, last line but three. Various readings and short additions on the margin. Many leaves injured at the bottom.

No. 134, ff. 375, ll. 17; clear Nasta'lik; size, 13 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

A slightly defective copy of the same.

First part, on fol. 1^b; second, on fol. 136^b. At the end a leaf or two missing; the seventeenth year of Akbar's reign begins here on fol. 271^b. The first part is dated the 12th of Šafar, A. H. 1098 (A. D. 1686, December 28).

No. 3295, olim 17. J. 6, ff. 273, ll. 23; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each part; size, 13 in. by 8 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

Another copy of the first part of the first book.

Beginning as usual. Dated the 5th of Dhû-alka'dah, A. H. 1094 (A. D. 1683, October 26). All the horoscopes are left blank.

No. 3297, olim 17. J. 8, ff. 236, ll. 23-25; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 7 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

246

The same first part of the first book.

Beginning as usual. The horoscopes on ff. 25^b, 29^b, 33^b, and 41^a are omitted.

No date. Modern copy, presented by J. Wombell, Esq., April 10, 1804.

No. 232, ff. 446, ll. 15; written by two different hands in Nasta'lik, the first on ff. 1-104, the second on ff. 105-446; size, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

The same.

No date. Presented by Lieut.-Col. W. Kirkpatrick, May 30, 1804. Annotations and various readings, both interlinear and marginal, besides many English notes, written probably by Kirkpatrick himself.

No. 3330, olim 14. J. 2, ff. 289, ll. 17; Nasta'lik, written by at least three different hands; size, 10 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6 in.

The same.

Good copy, but without any headings throughout. No date. The right order of ff. 256-259 is: 256, 258, 257, 259. Partly collated.

No. 3308, olim 14. J. 3, ff. 260, ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

A defective copy of the same first part.

The original handwriting breaks off, on fol. 174^b, with the words: محمد خان جلایر و جمعی دیگر از. . . . corresponding to No. 3330 (247 in this Cat.), fol. 228^b, l. 6. On the following and last page, fol. 175^a, there are added by another hand a few lines about Humâyûn's death. All the horoscopes in the beginning are left blank.

No. 3329, olim 14. J. 1, ff. 175, ll. 19; Shikasta; the last page added in Nasta'lik; size, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{7}{8}$ in.

Another copy of the first part, and a small portion of the second part.

The second part begins here on fol. 425^a. Some pages are injured and worm-eaten. Several lacunas, for instance, after ff. 16, 102, and 438. No date.

No. 3335, olim 17. J. 10, ff. 447, ll. 16; very unequally written, for the greater part in Shikasta; size, 10 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6 in.

Another copy of the second part of the first book.

Beginning: سلسله انتظام الخ.

This copy was finished the 29th of Muharram, A. H. 1098, that is, the thirtieth year of 'Ālamgir's reign (= A. D. 1686, December 15).

The khâtimah begins on fol. 281^b, l. 9.

No. 168, ff. 294, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

253

The same second part.

No date. The khâtimah begins on fol. 125^a, l. 12. Presented by Lieut.-Col. W. Kirkpatrick, May 30, 1804.

No. 8, ff. 1-129, ll. 31-32; Nasta'lik; slightly injured at many places; size, 13 $\frac{1}{8}$ in. by 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

The same.

Beginning: جلوس مقدس حضرت شاهنشاهی بر اورنگ فرماندهی و جهانبانی سلسله انتظام الخ.

It ends with the beginning of the seventeenth year. The horoscope and the khâtimah are entirely wanting. No date.

No. 169, ff. 168, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; some slight injuries; size, 10 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Another copy of the second part of the first book, and the whole second book.

The second book is not separated from the first, and the usual beginning of the latter, سخن تازه سازم الخ, is quite missing in this copy; the seventeenth year of Akbar's reign begins here on fol. 167^a, the eighteenth on fol. 170^a, and it seems as if by mistake of the transcriber a good portion of text between both is omitted. It goes down to the beginning of the forty-seventh year, and is concluded by the same khâtimah, as, for instance, in No. 564 (236 in this Cat.), beginning, on fol. 494^b, l. 18: بنامیزد ای فکرت الخ.

The date is incomplete (the 11th of the second Jumâdâ, in the thirty-third year of, probably, 'Âlamgir's reign = A. H. 1101, A. D. 1690, March 22).

No. 3298, olim 17. J. 9, ff. 498, ll. 25; large and distinct Nasta'lik; ff. 58, 59, and 64 supplied by other hands; large illuminated frontispiece; size, 13½ in. by 8½ in.

Another copy of the second book of the same.

The second book of the Akbarnâma, without Muhammad Sâlih's continuation. The forty-seventh year of the emperor's reign is noted on fol. 339^b, lin. penult. The khâtimah begins, on fol. 340^a, l. 3: بنامیزد ای فکرت الخ.

Beginning of this second book, on fol. 1^b: سخن تازه سازم بنام خدای الخ.

Dated the 24th of Ramadân, A. H. 1048 (A. D. 1639, January 29). The proper order of the leaves is: ff. 1-144, 153-160, 145-152, 161-343.

No. 2403, ff. 343, ll. 21; distinct Nasta'lik; collated throughout; illuminated frontispiece; worm-eaten in some places; size, 13¼ in. by 9¾ in.

The same second book.

It begins, on fol. 8^b: سخن تازه سازم الخ. Ff. 1^a-3^b are filled with letters of Mullâ Tughrâ and others; ff. 4^b-7^a contain a فهرست or complete index of this second book. It concludes with the forty-seventh year of Akbar's reign on fol. 443^b, and the last five pages, on ff. 444^a-446^a, contain a prose-essay, intermixed with verse, entitled: دل صاحب‌دلاں آئینه: تعریف آئینه: and beginning: معنی نما باشد الخ.

This copy is dated the 29th of Dhû-alhijjah, A. H. 1159 (the twenty-ninth year of Muhammadshâh's reign) = A. D. 1747, January 12, by اودوت رای, who is at the same time the author of the تعریف آئینه.

No. 3288, olim 15. J. 3, ff. 446, ll. 19; careless Nasta'lik; size, 12½ in. by 6¾ in.

258

The same.

All the horoscopes are left blank; see, for instance, ff. 267^a, 290, and 309^a. The copy ends with the beginning of the forty-seventh year of the emperor's reign. No date.

No. 3257, olim 17. J. 5, ff. 405, ll. 21; large and clear Nasta'lik; a few pages a little effaced; size, 14½ in. by 9¼ in.

The same.

This copy contains the same long introduction about the conquest of Sûrat as Aumer's No. 251 (p. 90); the eighteenth year of Akbar's reign begins here on fol. 19^a. The copy concludes, like the preceding ones, with the beginning of the forty-seventh year. The horoscopes are likewise left blank.

Copied by Abû-alkhair ibn Muḥammad Sâkî at Lâhûr; date incomplete.

No. 3206, olim 17. J. 7, ff. 419, ll. 19; very careless Nasta'lik; size, 13½ in. by 8½ in.

260

The same.

The second book, with the complete continuation of Muhammad Sâlih, beginning, on fol. 502^b: حکم اشرف اعلیٰ حضرت الخ.

Beginning of the khâtimah, on fol. 532^b, l. 9 (headed: خاتمة دفتر دوم تصنیف شیخ ابو الفضل).

Collated. Dated by Sayyid Bahâdur 'Alî the 2nd of Rabi'-althâni, A. H. 1225 (A. D. 1810, May 7).

No. 2853, ff. 175-336, ll. 21; clear Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 175^b and 502^b; size, 12¾ in. by 8¼ in.

The same.

The same second book, with Muhammad Sâlih's continuation, incomplete at the end. The continuation begins, on fol. 259^a, as in the preceding copy: حکم اشرف اعلیٰ حضرت الخ; the forty-ninth year of Akbar's reign on fol. 266^a (heading omitted), the fiftieth on fol. 269^a (here headed by mistake ونهم); but on fol. 270^a, l. 3, the continuation breaks off (corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 530^a, l. 5 ab infra), and is immediately followed by the khâtimah, beginning as usual: بنام ایزدی الخ (corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 532^b, l. 9), so that fol. 530^a, l. 4 ab infra, to fol. 532^b, l. 8, of No. 2853 are missing here.

No date. The colophon gives the 12th of Safar, but no year. Ff. 114-132 are misplaced, their proper order is: 114, 131, 115, 116, 130, 117-129, 132.

No. 2867, ff. 274, ll. 23; large Nasta'lik; size, 12½ in. by 8 in.

A large fragment of the second book.

This copy breaks off in the middle of the thirty-first year of Akbar's reign, with these words: وگران ازی و آروق باز گردیدن (Cat.), fol. 400^a, l. 10.

No. 1324, ff. 279, ll. 15-22; very unequally written by different hands, partly in Nasta'lik, partly in Shikasta; the first leaf is supplied later; size, 9¼ in. by 5 in.

A smaller fragment of the same.

This copy goes down to the twenty-third year of Akbar's reign only. The last words on fol. 271^b, last line, correspond to No. 564, fol. 322^a, l. 2.

No. 8, ff. 130^b-272, ll. 21: Nasta'lik, written by two different hands, the first on ff. 130-177, the second on ff. 178-272; size, 13½ in. by 7½ in.

Ā'in-i-Akbarī (آئین اکبری).

The third book or supplement of the Akbar-nāma, containing the detailed statistical description of the Indian empire and the Institutes of Akbar, by the same Abū-alfadl bin Mubārak; comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 213-216; Rieu i. p. 251 sq.; W. Morley, p. 112; J. Aumer, p. 91, etc. etc.

Beginning. on fol. 13^b: ای همه در پرده نهان راز تو آید.

Ff. 1^b-12^b contain a full index of the contents of this work. It has been edited by H. Blochmann in the Bibliotheca Indica, Calcutta, 1877; English translation by the same in the same collection, vol. i, Calcutta, 1873. An abridged and insufficient paraphrase of this work was published by Gladwin in three volumes, Calcutta, 1783-1786; reprinted in two volumes, London, 1800.

Ff. 51^b, 52^a, 241^b, 332^a, and 332^b are left blank.

Copied by Muhammad Husain Kāshī, and finished the 17th of Dhū-alka'dah (the year is missing).

No. 6, ff. 365, ll. 21; Nasta'lik; size, 13½ in. by 9 in.

Another copy of the same.

This copy is the only one among those of the Ā'in-i-Akbarī in this collection which is dated, viz. 14th of Šafar, A. H. 1119 (A. D. 1707, May 17); but there is only a very short fragment of the index found here on fol. 1^b. The text of the work itself begins already on fol. 2^a in the usual manner.

No. 316*, ff. 379, ll. 23; clear Nasta'lik; ff. 2, 3, and 101-107 supplied by another hand in Shikasta; ll. 24-27; fol. 104^a left blank; size, 13½ in. by 8½ in.

The same.

No date. Well-written copy. Bought A. H. 1196 (A. D. 1782); belonged formerly to Mr. Rich. Johnson.

Mukātabāt-i-'allāmi (مکاتبات علّامی).

The official letters and refined prose-writings of the same Abū-alfadl, which were collected between A. H. 1011 and 1015 (A. D. 1602-1606, 1607), by 'Abd-alsamad bin Afdal Muhammad; comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1378-1383; Rieu i. p. 396; W. Morley, p. 109; A. F. Mehren, p. 26; J. Aumer, pp. 18 and 124, etc.

This collection is sometimes called Abū-alfadl or an-nash'at, and has been printed under the latter title in Calcutta, 1810, in Lucknow, A. H. 1262 and 1280. It was originally divided into three books (dafṭar), which are, however, marked in very few copies only.

First daftar (letters, written in Akbar's name), on fol. 1^a, beginning: گوناگون نیایش مرداور پیرا که وجود بشر را از کارخانه عنایت کسوت حیات آید.

Second daftar (letters, written by Abū-alfadl himself to Akbar and to Amirs), beginning here on ff. 96^b, last line, and 97^a, first line, a little before the usual beginning in most other copies, thus: آغاز دفتر دوم از نسخه علّامی، بموقف عرض حضرت مخدومی قبله گاهی آید.

The usual beginning of the second book, viz. حضرت بحضرت شاهنشاهی عرضه داشت آید, is found here on fol. 99^a, last line.

Third daftar (miscellaneous letters and prose-pieces) is not marked here, but a comparison with other copies shows that it must begin on fol. 233^b. Beginning: خطبه تفسیر بعضی از آیات سورة فتح بسم الله آید.

At the end of the first book is given as date the 4th of Šafar, A. H. 1211 (A. D. 1796, August 9).

No. 2985, ff. 334, ll. 12; very careless Nasta'lik, often like Shikasta; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

Another complete copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. The second daftar (without a special heading) opens on fol. 70^b; the third (also without a heading), on fol. 191^b.

Collated in some parts. No date. A little injured here and there.

No. 1456, ff. 329, ll. 15; large, but rather rude Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

273

The same.

Beginning of the first daftar as usual. The second and third daftars are not marked in this copy.

No date.

No. 2444, ff. 199, ll. 12-16; written by different hands, partly in Shikasta, partly in Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

274

A slightly defective copy of the same.

Beginning of the first daftar as usual. Second daftar on fol. 40^a, l. 9; third daftar on fol. 126^b, l. 3. The last page is missing; the copy breaks off with the words: . . . دو سه حرفی رقم کنیم, corresponding to the following copy, fol. 189^a, l. 1.

No. 3334, olim 8. J. 4, ff. 228, ll. 17; unequal Nasta'lik, written by three different hands, the first on ff. 1-39, the second on ff. 40-95, the third on ff. 96-228; size, 10½ in. by 6 in.

275

A somewhat more defective copy of the same.

Beginning as usual; second daftar, on fol. 50^a, l. 10: بحضرت شاهنشاهی الخ; third daftar, on fol. 116^b, l. 13: خطبة تفسیر بعضی الخ.

No date. After fol. 40 a lacuna, corresponding to the following copy, fol. 53^b, l. 1, to fol. 54^b, l. 15. Another lacuna in the midst of the text, on fol. 43^a, last line but one, corresponding to the following copy, fol. 58^b, l. 13, to fol. 61^a, l. 1. Collated throughout. Many interlinear English translations, written in pencil.

No. 8. J. 6, ff. 189, ll. 17; small, careless Nasta'lik; some pages in a much larger handwriting; size, 10 in. by 4½ in.

Another copy of the first two daftars of the same.

The second begins here on fol. 71^b. Dated the 17th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1186 (A. D. 1772, June 18).

No. 8. J. 3, ff. 198, ll. 17; large and clear Nasta'lik; size, 10 in. by 6½ in.

277

The same.

Another copy of the first and second daftars, dated the 27th of Jumâdâ-althâni, A. H. 1204 (= March 15,

A. D. 1790), at Dânapûr, by Bâbar 'Ali. Collated throughout.

The second daftar begins here on fol. 68^a.

No. 435, ff. 187, ll. 15; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

278

The same.

The same first and second daftars, not dated.

Many interlinear glosses. The second begins on fol. 57^b.

No. 807, ff. 165, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

279

The same.

A defective copy of the first two daftars, the second of which begins on fol. 49^a. It breaks off, on fol. 110^b, with the words: . . . نمی باشد زیادت, corresponding to No. 8. J. 6 (275 in this Cat.), fol. 107^b, l. 4. Many interlinear and marginal glosses on the first sixty-three leaves.

No. 8. J. 5, ff. 110, ll. 17-19; Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

Another copy of the first daftar.

It is styled in the colophon قسم اول از مکتوبات علامی ابو الفضل, and dated the first of Jumâdâ-althâni, A. H. 1161 (A. D. 1748, May 29).

No. 2327, ff. 52; written by different hands in Shikasta; partly in diagonal lines; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

281

The same.

Dated in the month Rabi'-alâkhar, in the third year of (probably Shâh 'Âlam's) reign=A. H. 1176 (A. D. 1762, October-November). Interlinear glosses on the first pages.

No. 3269, olim 9. J. 2, ff. 67, ll. 12-17; very unequal and careless Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 7 in.

282

The same.

287

Ruḡa'at-i-Shaikh Abû-alfadl (رقعات شیخ ابو الفضل).

Private letters, addressed by Abû-alfadl to his friends and contemporaries, and collected by Nûr Muhammad (see fol. 1^b, ll. 6 and 7); this collection, never met with before and quite distinct from the usual Mukâtabât-i-'Allâmi, is perhaps that fourth book, of which the Sawâniḥ-i-Akbari speak; comp. Rieu i. p. 396.

Beginning: بعد از انشای و ثنای حضرت خداوند واهب العطایا که بخشندۀ روزی انسان و حیوان الهی.

There appear scarcely any names of the persons addressed. Some letters are obviously written to Faiḏi (برادر عزیز). Copied in the reign of Muḥammad-shâh by 'Atâ-allâh; first owner, Sayyid Ni'mat-allâh; last owner, Sir Charles Wilkins.

No. 2357, ff. 34, ll. 12, towards the end ll. 14; Nasta'lik, slightly mixed with Shikasta; size, 8¼ in. by 6 in.

Gulshan-i-Balâghat (گلشن بلاغت).

Official letters and documents, collected by 'Abd-alwahhâb bin Muḥammad Ma'mûrî alḥusainî alhasanî, with the takhalluṣ Fanâ'î, a contemporary of Abû-alfadl, and beginning: فرخنده انشای که مترسلان بلاغت آئین دیباجۀ هر مقصود رساند الهی.

The first letter is addressed to Ibrâhîm Khân, the governor of Lâr; several letters to Abû-alfadl are found on ff. 41^a and 43^a. The date, A. H. 996 (A. D. 1588), appears on fol. 37^a; the date, A. H. 1019 (A. D. 1610, 1611), on fol. 73^a.

The copy is not dated.

No. 1895, ff. 77, ll. 15; large and distinct Nasta'lik; small illuminated frontispiece; size, 10 in. by 5½ in.

Tawârîkh-i-Akbarnâma (تواریخ اکبرنامه).

A short and abridged history of the first forty-eight years of the emperor Akbar's reign, from his accession, A. H. 963=A. D. 1556 (see fol. 3^b), to A. H. 1010=A. D. 1601, 1602 (see fol. 250^a sq.), composed by Shaikh Ilâh-dâd Faiḏi Sirhindî (see the author's name on fol. 3^a, l. 13: بنام حضرت دادار اکبر—که کنه او زفهم ماست برتر—کنم آغاز در ذکر کرامی—که از نامش شود این نامه نامی' سیاس بقیاس شاهنشاهی را که صیت بسیط توتی الملک من تشاء الهی comp. Rieu i. p. 253; Elliot, History of India, vi. pp. 116–146.

Copied by Muḥammad Husain, and finished the 14th of Dhû-alka'dah, A. H. 1104 (A. D. 1693, July 17). Presented by Lieut.-Col. W. Kirkpatrick, May 30, 1804.

No. 192, ff. 252, ll. 15; clear Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9¼ in. by 5 in.

Zubdat-altawârîkh (زبدة التواریخ).

General history of India from Mu'izz-al-din bin Sâm to the accession of Jahângîr, A. H. 1014 (A. D. 1605), being a revised and greatly enlarged edition of the Ta'rikh-i-Hakki by 'Abd-alhakḡ (see fol. 2^b, last line, sq.), made by the son of that author, Nûr-alhakḡ almarshriḡi aldiḥlawî albukhârî (see fol. 3^b, lin. penult.), who died A. H. 1073 (A. D. 1662, 1663); see Rieu i. p. 224, and Elliot, History of India, vi. p. 182 sq. On the Ta'rikh-i-Hakki, comp. Rieu i. p. 223, and Bodleian Cat., Nos. 195–198.

Beginning of this work: خطبه کبریا و جلال بنام پادشاهی سزد که عالم و هر چه در عالم است الهی.

The title appears on fol. 4^a, l. 13.

The arrangement of the subdivisions agrees with that in Rieu iii. p. 906.

Muḡaddimah, on the meaning of 'Pâdishâh' and the usefulness of historiography (در بیان معنی لفظ (پادشاه و فائده علم تاریخ), on fol. 4^a.

Kings of Dillī, on fol. 5^b, beginning with Mu'izz-aldīn bin Sām, on fol. 6^a.

Bābar, on fol. 61^b; Humāyūn, on fol. 68^a; Shirshāh (or as he is called here, Shīrkhan), on fol. 81^a. On fol. 94^a, l. 12, there is a considerable but carefully concealed lacuna (as an English note on the margin points out), comprising part of the history of Shirshāh and his successors as well as of the second reign of Humāyūn.

Akbar, on fol. 95^b.

Accession of Jahāngir, on fol. 203^a.

Kings of Mālwah, on fol. 203^b.

Kings of Gujarāt, on fol. 235^a.

Kings of the Dakhan, on fol. 261^a (the Nizām-almulkis, on fol. 271^a; the 'Adilshāhs, on fol. 275^a; the Kutb-almulkis, on fol. 275^a).

Rulers of Kashmir, on fol. 276^b; of Tattah and Sind, on fol. 290^a; of Multān, on fol. 295^b; of Bangālāh, on fol. 296^a; of Jaunpūr, on fol. 307^a.

No date. Twelfth century of the Hijrah. Former owners: Mr. Richard Johnson and Mr. C. Stewart.

No. 1805, ff. 310, ll. 17-19; unequal Nasta'liq; worm-eaten; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Gulshau-i-Ibrāhīmī (گلشن ابراهیمی).

General history of India, from the oldest times to A. H. 1015 (A. D. 1606, 1607), composed by Muḥammad Kāsim Hindūshāh of Astarābād, commonly called Firishṭa, and dedicated by him to his patron Naṣir-aldīn Ibrāhīm 'Adilshāh, who ruled over Bijāpūr from A. H. 988 to A. H. 1037 (A. D. 1580-1627); see Rieu i. p. 225 sq.; Bodleian Cat., No. 217; W. Morley, pp. 63-68; Elliot, Bibliogr. Index, p. 310 sq.; History of India, vi. pp. 207-236 and 532-569. The work is also styled تاریخ نورس نامہ فرشته and commonly تاریخ فرشته.

It has been lithographed at Bombay and Poona, 1831 and 1832; 2nd edition, Lucknow, A. H. 1281. The whole has been translated into English by J. Briggs in his 'History of the rise of the Mahomedan power in India,' 4 vols., London, 1829. Former translations of select portions of the same work were Alexander Dow's 'History of Hindostan,' London, 1768; Jonathan Scott's 'History of Dekkan,' Shrewsbury, 1794; and Anderson's 'Account of Malabar,' Asiatic Miscellany, 1786. It is divided into a muḥaddimah, twelve makālas, and a khātimah. Beginning: پیش وجود همه آیندگان پیش بقای همه بایندگان آید.

Muḥaddimah, on fol. 5^a, first line: Tenets of the Hindūs and early Rājās of Hindūstān down to the rise of Islām.

Makālah I, on fol. 24^a: Ghaznawide Sultāns of Lāhūr.

Makālah II, on fol. 68^a: Sultāns of Dillī.

Makālah III, on fol. 288^b: Sultāns of the Dakhan in six raudas, viz.

1. Bahmanī kings of Gulbargah; 2. 'Adilshāhs of Bijāpūr; 3. Nizāmshāhs of Aḥmadnagar; 4. Kutbshāhs of Tiling; 5. 'Inādshāhs of Barār; 6. Baridiyyah Shāhs of Bidar.

Makālah IV, on fol. 541^b: Sultāns of Gujarāt.

Makālah V, on fol. 592^b: Rulers of Mālwah and Mandū.

Makālah VI, on fol. 626^a: Fārūkī Sultāns of Burhānpūr.

Makālah VII, on fol. 636^a: Sultāns of Bangālāh and Sharḳī rulers of Jaunpūr.

Makālah VIII, on fol. 643^b: Rulers of Sind, Tattah, and Multān.

Makālah IX, on fol. 649^a: Sultāns of Multān.

Makālah X, on fol. 663^a: Kings of Kashmir.

Makālah XI, on fol. 693^b: Kings of Malabar (heading is here forgotten).

Makālah XII, on fol. 699^b: Saints of India.

Khātimah, on fol. 742^b: Description of India, etc.

This copy, which is badly written in many places, is dated the 22nd of Shawwāl, A. H. 1058 (A. D. 1648, November 9).

No. 1251, ff. 743, ll. 15-26; very unequally written, partly in Nasta'liq, partly in Shikasta; size, 18½ in. by 10 in.

Another complete copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy.

The order of the twelve makālas in the index (on fol. 3^b) is the usual one, but in the book itself the seventh makālah of the original is split into two, the Sharḳī kings of Jaunpūr forming a special makālah, viz. the eighth; therefore the twelfth makālah here corresponds to the eleventh of the usual copies, and the chapter on the Shaikhs of India has consequently no heading whatever.

Vol. I (comprising the muḥaddimah, the first two makālas, and the first raudah of the third):

Muḥaddimah, on fol. 3^b.

Makālah I, on fol. 19^b.

Makālah II, on fol. 64^a.

Makālah III, on fol. 250^a (first raudah).

Vol. II (comprising the rest):

Second raudah of the third makālah, on fol. 1^b.

Third raudah of the third makālah, on fol. 108^b.

Fourth raudah of the third makālah, on fol. 172^b.

Fifth raudah of the third makālah, on fol. 180^a.

Sixth raudah of the third makālah, on fol. 181^b.

Makālah IV, on fol. 182^b.

Makālah V, on fol. 238^b.

Makālah VI, on fol. 278^a.

Makālah VII, on fol. 291^b.

Makālah VIII (Sharḳī Sultāns of Jaunpūr), on fol. 296^a.

Makālah IX (Rulers of Sind and Tattah), on fol. 302^a.

Makālah X (Sultāns of Multān), on fol. 312^b.

Makālah XI (Rulers of Kashmir), on fol. 319^a.

Makālah XII (Rulers of Malabar), on fol. 347^a.

The Shaikhs of India, on fol. 351^b.

Khātimah, on fol. 401^a.

The first volume is dated A. H. 1141 (tenth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign)=A. D. 1728, 1729; the second the 27th of Ramaḍān, A. H. 1163 (third year of Alḥmad-shāh's reign = Samvat, 1807) = A. D. 1750, August 30, at Shāhjahānābād.

No. 2425, ff. 336, ll. 24; careless and unequal Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; large waterspots; size, 11½ in. by 7½ in. No. 2426, ff. 402, ll. 17; written for the greater part in legible Shikasta; illuminated frontispiece; size, 11½ in. by 7½ in.

293

The same.

A third complete copy of the Gulshan-i-Ibrāhimi in three volumes.

Vol. I: Muḥaddimah, on fol. 4^b; Maḳālah I (Lāhūr), on fol. 7^a; II (Dihli), on fol. 50^a.

Vol. II: Maḳālah III (Dakhan): first raudah, on fol. 1^a; second, on fol. 129^b; third, on fol. 265^b; fourth, on fol. 348^a; fifth, on fol. 357^b; sixth, on fol. 359^b.

Vol. III: Maḳālah IV (Gujarāt), on fol. 1^b; V (Mālwah and Mandū), on fol. 79^a; VI (Burhānpūr), on fol. 127^b; VII (Bangālāh), on fol. 143^a; VIII (Sind and Tattah), on fol. 157^b; IX (Multān), on fol. 170^a; X (Kashmir), on fol. 180^a; XI (Malabar), on fol. 219^b; XII (Shaikhs, etc.), on fol. 226^a. Khātimah, on fol. 273^b.

The first volume is dated only, A. H. 1176 (A. D. 1762, 1763).

Nos. 2887, 2886, and 2885, first vol. ff. 304, second vol. ff. 361, third vol. ff. 276; ll. 21; Nasta'lik; collated; written by the same hand, except some portions at the beginning and end of the third vol.; size, 12 in. by 7½ in.

294

The same.

A fourth complete copy of the same, with a detailed index on ff. 1^b–11^a, beginning: مجلد تاریخ فرشته مستوی بنورنامه الخ.

On the back of the binding the book is also styled Naurasnāma.

The history begins on fol. 12^b.

Muḥaddimah, on fol. 16^a.

Maḳālah I, on fol. 21^b; II, on fol. 55^a; III, on fol. 232^a; IV, on fol. 461^a; V, on fol. 506^b; VI, on fol. 539^a; VII, on fol. 549^a; VIII, on fol. 558^b; IX, on fol. 566^b; X, on fol. 573^a; XI, on fol. 596^b; XII, on fol. 601^a.

Khātimah, on fol. 641^b. No date.

No. 2035*, ff. 642, ll. 23; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; beautifully illuminated on ff. 12^b and 13^a; size, 13½ in. by 8½ in.

295

The same.

A fifth complete copy of the same, arranged in the same way as Nos. 2425 and 2426 (292 in this Cat.): it contains thirteen instead of twelve maḳālas (the seventh being split into two), in the following order:

First volume (جلد اول), on ff. 1^b–366^b, beginning as usual.

Muḥaddimah, on fol. 4^b. Maḳālah I, on fol. 20^a; II, on fol. 62^a; III in six raudas, first on fol. 268^b.

Another incomplete copy of the same.

A large portion of the Gulshan-i-Ibrāhimi, defective both at the beginning and end, with a large lacuna besides after fol. 1. Many headings are entirely or partly missing. According to the date of completion, given on fol. 322^b, viz. A. H. 1018 (A. D. 1609, 1610), this copy belongs to the second recension of the work, which was finished in that year; see Rieu i. p. 226^a. It opens in the second raudah of the third maḳālah, the history of the 'Ādilshāhs of Bijāpūr, with an account of Yūsuf 'Ādilshāh, whose death is fixed on fol. 13^b, l. 7, in A. H. 916 (ta'rikh: نمانده شهنشاه عادل); the third raudah of the same maḳālah begins on fol. 130^b, the fourth on fol. 199^a, the fifth on fol. 207^b, the sixth on fol. 209^a.

301

The same.

This copy contains only the muḳaddimah, on fol. 8^a, and the first two maḳālas, on ff. 25^a and 72^b respectively. A full index of this volume on ff. 1^b-3^a. Beginning the same as in No. 1128 (299 in this Cat.), on fol. 4^b. As date is given only the 15th of Rabi'-althānī, without a year. The last twenty-seven leaves are more or less damaged.

No. 135, ff. 348, ll. 17 (ff. 1-3, ll. 18); large Nasta'lik; size, 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 7 in.

A fragment of the same.

This copy breaks off in the first half of the second maḳālah with the words: چون شنیده بود که رامدبواره . . . ; corresponding to No. 3294 (300 in this Cat.), fol. 123^b, l. 16. After fol. 3 a lacuna. About half of the first five pages is torn away. Beginning the same as in No. 1128 (299 in this Cat.).

No. 244, ff. 126, ll. 15-23; very unequal Nasta'lik, from a large and distinct one to a small and very careless one; size, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Tārīkh-i-Rājahāi-hindī (تاریخ راجهای هندی).

A short abridgment of the history of India, made from Firishta's work and other standard histories, A. H. 1018 (see fol. 36^b, l. 6: تا حال که ثمان عشر و الف است) = A. D. 1609, 1610, by an anonymous author, and beginning: در معتقدات اهل هند و ذکر رایان و بیان کعبیت ظهور اسلام در آن بلاد، ذکر فرزندان سام بن نوح علیه السلام الخ

The preface gives a short account of the ante-muḥammadan Rājahs of India; the book itself is divided, like Firishta's, into twelve maḳālas, viz. 1. سلاطین لاهور, on fol. 4^a; 2. سلاطین دهلی, on fol. 7^a; 3. سلاطین دکن, on fol. 23^b; 4. سلاطین گجرات, on fol. 36^b; 5. حکام سلاطین فاروقیه, on fol. 41^a; 6. مملکت مالوه الخ برهانپور, on fol. 44^a; 7. سلاطین بنگاله, on fol. 46^a; 8. سلاطین ملتان, on fol. 49^b; 9. حکام مملکت سند الخ, on fol. 50^b; 10. حکام کشمیر, on fol. 51^a; 11. احوال حالات مشایخ هندوستان, on fol. 53^b; 12. سلاطین ملتان, on fol. 54^a.

Dated the 19th of Rabi'-althānī, A. H. 1149 (A. D. 1736, August 27).

No. 2983, ff. 59, ll. 14-15; careless Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{7}{8}$ in.

Another copy of the same abridgment.

Beginning the same. It is styled here, on fol. 1^b, Tārīkh-i-Hakaman Hind. Maḳālah I, on fol. 3^a; II, on fol. 6^b (down to Akbar's death, A. H. 1014); III, on fol. 21^a, in six raudas; IV, on fol. 32^a; V, on fol. 36^a; VI, on fol. 38^b; VII, on fol. 41^a; VIII, on fol. 44^a; IX, on fol. 45^a; X, on fol. 45^b; XI, on fol. 47^b; XII (Saiuts of India), on fol. 48^b, in two sections: a. C'ishti order, on fol. 48^b; b. Suhrawardi order of Multān, on fol. 50^b. No date.

Jahāngirnāma (جهانگیرنامه).

The complete first or original edition of the authentic autobiographical memoirs of the emperor Jahāngir (who reigned A. H. 1014-1037 = A. D. 1605-1627), beginning: از عنایات بیغایات الهی نکساعت نجومی از روز پنجشنبه هشتم جمادی الثانی هزار و چهارده هجری گذشته الخ.

These memoirs go down to the beginning of the nineteenth year of the emperor's reign; comp. Rieu i. p. 253 sq.; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 219-220; W. Morley, p. 112 sq.; Elliot, History of India, vi. p. 276 sq.; J. Aumer, p. 93 sq.; etc. A second or revised edition by Mir Muhammad Hādi, who brought the history down to the end of Jahāngir's reign, is described in the Bodleian Cat., No. 221, and has been edited by Sayyid Aḥmad, 1864, at Ally Gurh, under the title توزک جهانگیری, which is frequently given to these memoirs.

No date.

No. 164, ff. 311, ll. 15-21; written by many different hands in very unequal Nasta'lik and in Shikasta (so on ff. 265-272); size, 10½ in. by 6¼ in.

306

Another copy of the same.

This copy is likewise complete, going down to the beginning of the nineteenth year of Jahāngir's reign (see fol. 215^a, last line but two). Beginning the same. Notes and remarks, both in Persian and English, on the margin. Presented by Lieut.-Col. William Kirkpatrick, May 30, 1804.

No. 181, ff. 216, ll. 23; good Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece, size, 10½ in. by 6¼ in.

The same.

This copy is incomplete, and goes down only to A. H. 1024, the tenth year of the emperor's reign. Muḥarram, A. H. 1024, appears on fol. 168^a, ll. 9 and 10. The last words agree with the preceding copy, fol. 86^a, l. 10. Beginning the same. No date.

No. 1603, ff. 170, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5 in.

The same.

This copy is incomplete, like the preceding one, and ends exactly in the same manner. Beginning as usual.

Copied at Banāras, and finished the 25th of October, 1835 = 2nd Rajab, A. H. 1251 = Samvat, 1892, 4th of the month Kātik or Kārtik. In the colophon these memoirs are styled واقعات جهانگیری. Purchased of General Cunningham, July, 1870.

No. 3181^b, ff. 227, ll. 11; Nasta'lik; size, 9 in. by 5½ in.

Tūzuk-i-Jahāngiri (توزک جهانگیری).

The shorter redaction of the spurious memoirs of Jahāngir, agreeing completely with No. 259 in J. Aumer, p. 94; see also Bodleian Cat., No. 222. The short preface begins, on fol. 1^b, thus: حمد بی غایت و شکر بی نهایت مبدعی را الخ.

In the last line of the first page the memoirs themselves begin: اما بعد یادگار سرگذشت احوال خود را الخ.

Jahāngir's accession is fixed here (as in the Bodleian copy and partly in Aumer too) on the 20th (بیستم, probably a mistake for هشتم, the 8th) of Jumādā-alawwal (!), A. H. 1014.

Dated the 25th of Jumādā-alawwal, A. H. 1194 (A. D. 1780, May 29).

No. 546, ff. 56, ll. 15; Shikasta; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

The same.

The amplified redaction of the same spurious memoirs of Jahāngir, on which Major D. Price's English translation, 'Memoirs of the emperor Jahangueir, written by himself' (London, 1829, Oriental Translation Fund), is based, styled in the colophon on fol. 80^a, on the fly-leaves, and on the top of fol. 1^a: جهانگیر نامه; in the various later entries on the margin of fol. 80^a and on fol. 1^a: مقالات جهانگیری. Beginning: ای نام تو سر دفتر اسرار وجود الخ.

In the second line the usual beginning appears: حمد بی غایت و شکر بی نهایت الخ; see Rieu i. p. 254.

With the exception of a number of verses and other embellishments the text agrees with that of the preceding copy.

This copy was written for Mirzā Muḥammad by 'Aṭā-allāh bin Isma'il Kādirī and finished the 17th (هفدهم, but above is written 19, 19th) of Dhū-alḥijjah, in the twenty-fourth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign. A. H. 1154 = A. D. 1742, February 23.

Collated throughout. Various later entries on fol. 1^a, and on the margin of fol. 80^a. On the fly-leaf some ḥadith with Persian translation, taken from the سراج (من کتاب سراج الهدایة بعضی احادیث و ترجمه آن) الهدایة.

No. 3393, ff. 80, ll. 17; careless Nasta'lik, very near Shikasta; size, 8¼ in. by 6 in.

311

The same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. In the colophon it is styled تاریخ جهانگیرنامه.

No date. Beginning of the present century (about 1802 or 1803).

No. 2383, ff. 127-370, ll. 11; large Nasta'lik, size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

Ikḥbālnāma-i-Jahāngiri (اقتالنامہ جہانگیری).

The first two volumes of the history of Sultān Akbar and Sultān Jahāngir, composed A. H. 1029=A. D. 1620 (see fol. 4^b, last line but two), by Muḥammad Sharif, called Mu'tamadkhān (see fol. 4^a, l. 9), who died A. H. 1049=A. D. 1639, 1640; comp. Rieu iii. p. 922 and i. p. 255; W. Morley, p. 120; Elliot, History of India, vi. p. 400 sq.; J. Aumer, p. 92, etc.

The first volume, on ff. 1^b-154^b, comprises the history of Akbar's ancestors;

The second volume, on ff. 155^b-592^b, the history of Sultān Akbar's reign, from his accession to his death.

The third volume (containing Jahāngir's reign down to his death and later added by the same author) is wanting here (see copies of this volume further below in Nos. 314-323); therefore this copy is styled both on fol. 1^a and in the colophon: اکبرنامہ معتمد خان.

Beginning of the first volume here: تعالیٰ اللہ این چہ ارتفاع شان و اعتلای مکان واجب است کہ ممکن را تصور آن در امکان نکنند الخ.

Beginning of the second volume (agreeing verbatim with the beginning of the second part of the first book of the Akbarnāma, of which it is an abridgment, see No. 235 sq. in this Cat. and J. Aumer, loc. cit.): سلسلہ انتظام کارگاہ آفرینش کہ مظاہر حقیقت نمای شہود و شواہد الخ.

The first volume is dated the 10th of Rabi'-alawwal, in the nineteenth year (probably of 'Ālamgir's reign, A. H. 1087=A. D. 1676, May 23). Ff. 17-23 are misplaced, the right order is 17, 22, 18-21, 23. Some pages a little injured at the corners.

No. 161, ff. 592, ll. 13-19; very unequally written, partly in Shikasta, partly in Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Another copy of the second part of the second volume of the same.

This part of the Ikḥbālnāma-i-Jahāngiri, styled دفتر رزم آرائی, begins in the middle of the twenty-eighth year of Akbar's reign with the chapter: میرزا خان با سلطان مظفر گجراتی و ارتفاع ربابات فتح میرزا خان, corresponding to fol. 442^a in the preceding copy, and goes down to the death of Akbar. It contains about one page more than No. 161, for the end of the preceding copy, انجامید روز نهم الخ, is found here on fol. 232^a, l. 9.

Dated the 19th of Rajab, A. H. 1064 (A. D. 1654, June 5), at Aḥmadābād.

No. 1325, ff. 233, ll. 14-15; Shikasta, ff. 1, 4, and 5 supplied by another hand in Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5¾ in.

314

Ikḥbālnāma-i-Jahāngiri.

The third volume of the same work, containing the history of Jahāngir's reign from his accession to his death; comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 224-230, and Rieu i. p. 255. Beginning: سریر سلطنت و فرمانروائی الخ. و زبندہ افسر خلافت و کشور کشائی الخ.

It has been edited in the Bibliotheca Indica, Calcutta, 1865, and in Lucknow, A. H. 1286.

A little worm-eaten. Dated the first of Šafar, A. H. 1071 (A. D. 1660, October 6).

No. 247, ff. 177, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

315

The same third volume of the Ikḥbālnāma-i-Jahāngiri.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. Lacunas after ff. 7 and 60. Dated the 10th of Šafar, in the third year of Bahādurshāh's reign, A. H. 1122 (A. D. 1710, April 10), by Muḥammad 'Alī.

No. 2007, ff. 192, ll. 15; large Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5 in.

316

The same.

This copy is dated the 12th of Jumādā-alawwal, in the eleventh year of Muḥammadshāh's reign, A. H. 1142 (A. D. 1729, December 3).

No. 3148, ff. 158; written by two different hands, the first a large and distinct Nasta'lik, on ff. 1-115^a, ll. 16-17; the second Shikasta, on ff. 115^a-158, ll. 23; splendid binding in brown and gold; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

The same.

A very inelegant copy, the last ten leaves of which are greatly injured, whole portions being torn away. Beginning as usual. Written in Muḥammadshāh's reign, A. H. 1153 (A. D. 1740, 1741), as it seems (the date being partly destroyed).

No. 2045, ff. 186, ll. 11-14; mostly written in Shikasta; ff. 74-108 by another hand in diagonal lines in Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

The same.

The chapter on contemporary poets, which is found in some copies, is wanting here; it closes with Jahāngir's death.

Dated the 9th of Jumādā-alawwal, in the twenty-fifth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign, A. H. 1156 (A. D. 1743, July 1).

No. 3285, olim 14. J. 21, ff. 159, ll. 17; Nasta'lik, mixed with Shikasta; collated; rather worm-eaten in the latter half; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

The same.

This copy, like the preceding one, has no chapter on contemporary poets; it just breaks off with the heading:

ذکر شعرا کہ معاصر آنحضرت بودند (Mullā Ḥayāti of Gilān, the first of the contemporary poets).

No date. The proper order of ff. 26–31 is: 26, 28, 27, 30, 29, 31.

No. 2937, ff. 120, ll. 17; the older part, in clear Nasta'lik, comprises ff. 4–34 and 43–120; the remaining portion is added by a modern hand, which has also repaired many injured corners in the other pages; size, 10½ in. by 6¾ in.

The same.

Dated by Ahsan-allāh ibn Shaikh Hidāyat-allāh the 20th of Rajab, in the twenty-ninth year of Shāh 'Ālam's reign, A. H. 1201 (A. D. 1787, May 8). The right order of ff. 61–68 is: 61, 62, 64, 63, 66, 65, 67, 68.

No. 1965, ff. 200, ll. 13; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

The same.

No date. This copy was purchased at Seringapatam, A. D. 1802, presented by J. H. Peile, Esq., and received the 19th of September, 1818; transferred to Civil Collection, August 9, 1819.

No. 3389, olim 14 J. 25, ff. 185; the first seventy-nine leaves written in Nasta'lik, 13–14 diagonal lines; the last 106 leaves are added by a European hand, as it seems, ll. 12–13; size, 8¼ in. by 6 in.

322

The same.

Dated the 25th of Rabī'-alawwal, A. H. 1231 (A. D. 1816, February 24). Occasionally various readings on the margin.

No. 3147, ff. 175, ll. 15; illuminated frontispiece; splendid binding in green and gold, size, 10½ in. by 6 in.

A defective copy of the same.

This copy breaks off on fol. 141^b in the middle of the nineteenth year of Jahāngir's reign, A. H. 1033, which begins on fol. 139^a. Last words: تا سر راه برآن فوج گرفته. . . . نگذارند که از آب. . . corresponding to fol. 117^b, l. 4 in No. 3285 (318 in this Cat.).

324

Maāthir-i-Jahāngiri (مآثر جهانگیری).

A large fragment of Kāngār Husaini's (died A. H. 1050=A. D. 1640, 1641) history of the early life and reign of the emperor Jahāngir, which was completed A. H. 1040 (A. D. 1630, 1631): comp. Rieu i. p. 256 sq.; Bodleian Cat., No. 223; Elliot. History of India, vi. p. 439 sq. This copy opens abruptly, on fol. 16^a, with the death of Akbar and Jahāngir's accession: رشک هشت بهشت شود و بدستاری آید. The events are narrated from year to year, viz.: first year of his reign, on fol. 19^b; second, on fol. 28^b; third, on fol. 36^a; fourth, on fol. 38^b; fifth, on fol. 41^a; sixth, on fol. 48^b; seventh, on fol. 55^a; eighth, on fol. 59^b; ninth, on fol. 63^a; tenth, on fol. 67^b; eleventh, on fol. 73^b; twelfth, on fol. 82^b; thirteenth, on fol. 90^a; fourteenth, on fol. 100^a; fifteenth, on fol. 108^b; sixteenth, on fol. 136^a; seventeenth, on fol. 145^b; eighteenth, on fol. 153^b; nineteenth, on fol. 165^a; twentieth, on fol. 183^b; twenty-first, on fol. 191^a; twenty-second, on fol. 218^a. In the middle of this year, the last but one of Jahāngir's reign, the copy breaks off on fol. 222^b. A later portion of the MS., viz. the events between Jahāngir's death and Shāhjahān's accession, going from the 19th of Rabī'-alawwal, A. H. 1037, to the 26th of Jumādā-alawwal in the same year (Shāhjahān's accession took place on the 7th of Jumādā II), on ff. 10^a–15^b, likewise incomplete both at beginning and end.

Besides the main portion, the Maāthir-i-Jahāngiri, or as it is styled on the back of the binding, the 'Jahāngirnāma,' by which more general term it is, for instance, designated by Khātkhān too, this copy contains two other fragmentary pieces, viz.

1. Ff. 1–9^b, the first part of the third book of the Maktūbāt-i-Abū-alfadl or Mukātabāt-i-'allāmi, the collection of Abū-alfadl's letters (comp. Nos. 271–286 in this Cat.), beginning: یا فاتح ابواب علوم و حکم آید. Abū-alfadl's name appears on fol. 2^a, l. 2.

2. Ff. 223^a–229^b, the last portion of the Ma'dan-aljawāhir, by Mullā Tarzi (composed A. H. 1025=A. D. 1616), comprising part of the sixteenth bāb, the whole of the seventeenth bāb, and the khātimah of the shorter redaction (comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 464 and 465; Rieu iii. p. 1038^b). Bāb XVII begins on fol. 224^b: در پاداش اندیشه تباه آید. This portion is dated the 11th of Jumādā II, A. H. 1180 (A. D. 1766, November 14).

No. 3098, ff. 229, ll. 10–15; Shikasta, by at least three different hands; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in. the last seven leaves 4½ in.).

Pādishāhnāma (پادشاهنامه).

The first volume of 'Abd-alhamid Lāhūrī's (died A. H. 1065=A. D. 1655) history of the emperor Shāhjahān, comprising the first ten years of his reign, A. H. 1037–1047 (A. D. 1627–1638), beginning: نگارین کلامی که گزارش آن دامن سامعه را جواهر آگین کند آید. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 232–235; Rieu i. p. 260 sq.; W. Morley, p. 122; J. Aumer, p. 95; Elliot, History of India, vii. p. 3 sq., etc. The introduction, on the emperor's ancestors, begins with Timūr, on fol. 23^b; Bābar, on fol. 25^a; Humāyūn, on fol. 25^b; Akbar, on fol. 26^a; Jahāngir, on fol. 27^a.

The first year of Shāhjahān's reign, on fol. 33^b; the second, on fol. 123^b; the third, on fol. 145^b; the fourth, on fol. 170^a; the fifth, on fol. 208^b; the sixth, on fol. 230^a; the seventh, on fol. 284^b; the eighth, on fol. 316^b; the ninth, on fol. 348^a; the tenth, on fol. 402^b. The appendix, containing an account of the contemporary Shaikhs, Mullās, Hakims, and poets, on fol. 440^a.

No date. An index on the fly-leaves.

No. 317, ff. 454, ll. 15; excellent, large, and clear Nasta'lik; all the pages sprinkled with gold; illuminated frontispiece; size, 12½ in. by 8 in.

Another copy of the first volume of the Pādishāhnāma.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. Timūr, on fol. 22^b; Bābar, on fol. 24^b; Humāyūn, on fol. 32^a; Akbar, on fol. 33^b; Jahāngīr, on fol. 34^b; the history of Shāhjahān's reign begins on fol. 41^b. The appendix on the contemporary learned men and poets is wanting here; ff. 10 and 102 are left blank.

No date. An index on the fly-leaves.

No. 128, ff. 384, ll. 16-17; large Nasta'lik; size, 12½ in. by 6½ in.

The same.

This copy which begins, on fol. 5^b, thus: رنکسن کلامی contains, on ff. 1^b-4^b, a short introductory chapter on Shāhjahān's life before his accession, styled ذکر احوال خجسته مال اقام شاهزادگی, and beginning: در شناختن جلوس اشرف الخ. See the same account at the end of Elliott 368 in the Bodleian Library (Cat. No. 232). The sketch of the emperor's ancestors begins with Timūr, on fol. 15^a; the history of Shāhjahān's reign, on fol. 24^a.

Dated the 24th of Rabi'-althāni, A. H. 1162 (A. D. 1749, April 13). The appendix on the learned men, etc., begins somewhere about fol. 166^a, but there is no heading marked.

No. 1495, ff. 171, ll. 27; inelegant and careless Nasta'lik; size, 15½ in. by 8½ in.

The second volume of the Pādishāhnāma, comprising the years A. H. 1047-1057 (A. D. 1638-1647).

Beginning, on fol. 4^b, سپاس والا اساس دادار کارساز و کردگار بی انباز را که الخ.

A complete index, on ff. 1^b-3^b, beginning: آغاز سال اول از دویم دور.

These first two volumes of the Pādishāhnāma have been edited in the Bibliotheca Indica, Calcutta, vol. i, 1867; vol. ii, 1868.

Copied by Maulānā Shaikh Naṣr-allāh of Sūdhan in the month Rajab, A. H. 1109, that is, the forty-first year of 'Alamgir's reign (A. D. 1698, January, February).

No. 1388, ff. 370, ll. 19; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 13½ in. by 6½ in.

Pādishāhnāma.

The third volume of the Pādishāhnāma, supplied, after 'Abd-alḥamid's death, by Muḥammad Wārith (killed A. H. 1091 = A. D. 1680), and comprising the history of Shāhjahān's reign from the twentieth to the thirtieth year, A. H. 1057-1067 (A. D. 1647-1657).

It begins, on fol. 7^b:

در سر هر نامه دبیر قلم - آنچه کند بهر تبیین رقم

An index, on ff. 3^b-4^b, beginning: افستاح نخستین سال سیوم دور غزوة جمادی النانی سنه هزار و شصت و هفت. آغاز سال اول دور سیوم الخ. Short statistical reports on ff. 1^b, 2^a, and 275^a-276^b.

The third volume itself concludes on fol. 273^b, and is copied by the same Shaikh Naṣr-allāh of Sūdhan as the second volume, in the same year 1109, in the month Ṣafar. It is incorrectly styled شاهجهان نامه in the colophon.

No. 324, ff. 276, ll. 19; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 13½ in. by 6½ in.

An incomplete copy of the second and third volumes of the Pādishāhnāma.

There are seven leaves missing in the beginning of the second volume, which opens abruptly thus, on fol. 1^a: مبلغ زبان عمده الملك برساند . . . corresponding to No. 1388 (328 in this Cat.), fol. 23^b, l. 9.

The twelfth year of Shāhjahān's reign (the second of the second decade) begins on fol. 11^b. A short appendix on Shaikhs, learned men, etc., on fol. 90^a.

Third volume, on fol. 91^b, beginning: در سر هر نامه. The literary appendix to this volume is found on fol. 178^a. On fol. 178^b the work concludes.

Ff. 179^b-186^b are filled with an interesting piece of Sūfic debate between a devout monk (زاهد) and a false anachoret (رند), beginning: ای برنو سجد زاهدان وقت نماز الخ.

No date.

No. 1494, ff. 186, ll. 32-38, different Nasta'lik, in many parts nearly equal to Shikasta, by various hands; size, 16 in. by 8½ in.

331

Shāhjahānnāma (شاهجهاننامه).

Another history of the emperor Shāhjahān's reign to the close of the thirtieth year, by Muḥammad Tahīr, with the takhalluṣ Āṣnā, commonly called 'Ināyatkhān bin Zafar khān bin Khwājah Abū-alḥasan (who died A. H. 1077 = A. D. 1666, 1667). It was composed A. H. 1068 (A. D. 1658), and is a kind of abridgment of the preceding Pādishāhnāma; comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 237. Rieu i. p. 261, and iii. p. 1083^b; W. Morley, p. 123. Elliot, History of India, vii. p. 73 sq. According to Rieu, the proper title of the work is مختص.

Beginning:

بنام پادشاه پادشاهان
سرافرازی ده صاحب کلاهان
حمدی که در خورشان الخ

At the end, on fol. 235^b sq., an account of the revenues of Hindūstān and other statistics are found.

Dated the 14th of Rajab, in the twenty-fourth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign (= A. H. 1155, A. D. 1742, September 14).

No. 981, ff. 240, ll. 21; Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

'Amal-i-Ṣāliḥ (عمل صالح).

A very large and detailed history of Shāhjahān's reign, together with a full account of his forefathers and predecessors, especially of Akbar and Jahāngir, and of the first three years of 'Ālamgir's reign, completed by Muḥammad Ṣāliḥ Kanbū, A. H. 1070 (A. D. 1659, 1660; see the chronogram. (لطعت فیض الہی): comp. Rieu i. p. 263 sq.; A. F. Mehren, p. 21; Elliot, History of India, vii. p. 123 sq.; etc. It consists here of two volumes, the first comprising the introduction and the first seven years of Shāhjahān's reign (which begins here on fol. 99^b), the second the remaining portion of his reign and the beginning of that of 'Ālamgir. The biographical appendix on famous Shaikhs, Mullās, Ḥākims, poets, etc., begins on fol. 271^a in No. 857.

Beginning of the whole work: شگفته روئی چمن بیان
و خنده رنژی گلبن سخن از حمد بهار بیری الی

An index on the fly-leaves of the first volume (No. 856), which is dated the 11th of Rajab, A. H. 1112 (A. D. 1700, December 22).

The second volume was finished the 25th of Dhūalḥijjah, A. H. 1113 (A. D. 1702, May 23).

No. 856, ff. 247; No. 857, ff. 301, ll. 23; Nasta'lik; size, 12½ in. by 8½ in.

Another copy of the same.

The first year of Shāhjahān's reign, on fol. 103^a; the second, on fol. 119^b; the third, on fol. 133^b; the fourth, on fol. 151^b; the fifth, on fol. 167^a; the sixth, on fol. 190^b; the seventh, on fol. 218^a; the eighth, on fol. 248^a; the ninth, on fol. 270^a; the tenth, on fol. 291^a; the eleventh, on fol. 305^b; the twelfth, on fol. 316^a; the thirteenth, on fol. 320^b; the fourteenth, on fol. 327^b; the fifteenth, on fol. 331^b; the sixteenth, on fol. 340^a; the seventeenth, on fol. 345^b; the eighteenth, on fol. 352^a; the nineteenth, on fol. 359^a; the twentieth, on fol. 375^a; the twenty-first, on fol. 395^b; the twenty-second, on fol. 415^b; the twenty-third, on fol. 426^a; the twenty-fourth, on fol. 430^b; the twenty-fifth, on fol. 434^b; the twenty-sixth, on fol. 442^a; the twenty-seventh, on fol. 446^b; the twenty-eighth, on fol. 454^b; the twenty-ninth, on fol. 459^a; the thirtieth, on fol. 462^a; the thirty-first, on fol. 469^a.

The first year of 'Ālamgir's reign, on fol. 493^b.

Biographical appendix, on ff. 505^b-530.

Copied A. H. 1157 (A. D. 1744, 1745). On fol. 1^a this work is incorrectly styled شاهجهاننامہ.

No. 44, ff. 530, ll. 23-25, a few pages with less lines; very careless and unequal Nasta'lik, written by different hands; size, 11 in. by 6½ in.

334

The same.

A third copy of the same, in three volumes. Beginning quite different from that in the preceding copies:

ذکری کہ حسن آغاز باید و بیانی کہ بیریہ انجام الی

The history of Shāhjahān's ancestors appears to be much shorter here. The story of Shāhjahān's accession begins here already, in No. 3132, on fol. 28^b; the second year of his reign, on fol. 107^a; the third, on fol. 129^b; the fourth, on fol. 154^a; the fifth, on fol. 190^b; the sixth, on fol. 211^b; the seventh, on fol. 262^b; the eighth, on fol. 293^a; the ninth, on fol. 323^a; the tenth, on fol. 378^b; the eleventh, in No. 3133, on fol. 1^b; the twelfth, on fol. 24^a; the thirteenth, on fol. 33^b; the fourteenth, on fol. 48^a; the fifteenth, on fol. 57^b; the sixteenth, on fol. 76^b; the seventeenth, on fol. 89^b; the eighteenth, on fol. 106^a; the nineteenth, on fol. 122^b; the twentieth, on fol. 161^b; the twenty-first, on fol. 216^b; the twenty-second, in No. 3134, on fol. 1^b; the twenty-third, on fol. 29^a; the twenty-fourth, on fol. 40^a; the twenty-fifth, on fol. 50^a; the twenty-sixth, on fol. 66^b; the twenty-seventh, on fol. 78^b; the twenty-eighth, on fol. 100^b; the twenty-ninth, on fol. 113^b; the thirtieth, on fol. 121^b; the thirty-first, on fol. 141^b.

The biographical index, on fol. 235^a, in No. 3134.

An index of the contents of the second volume is found on ff. 269^a-271^b, in No. 3133.

The first volume is dated the 1st of Sha'bān, A. H. 1213 (A. D. 1799, January 8); the second and third, A. H. 1225 (A. D. 1810). On the first leaves, as well as in the colophons, this work is again styled شاهجهاننامہ. The author's name does not occur here in the preface; only in the colophon Muḥammad Ṣāliḥ is mentioned.

No. 3132, ff. 434; No. 3133, ff. 271; No. 3134, ff. 308, ll. 17; large and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each volume; the first two pages of each volume splendidly adorned; size of No. 3132, 12½ in. by 6½ in.; of Nos. 3133 and 3134, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

The same.

A fourth complete, but very badly written, copy of the 'Amal-i-Ṣāliḥ, without any date. The main work ends on fol. 697^b (the biographical appendix beginning on fol. 663^b). There are added:

1. On the margin, frequent quotations from the پادشاهنامہ (see above, Nos. 325-330 in this Cat.) in red ink.

2. On ff. 699^a-711^a, genealogical lists and a general index of famous personages appearing in the book: تفصیل مناصب پادشاهزادہای والا مقدار و سلاطین عالی نبار و امرایان عظام اخلاص شعار و دیگر بندگان عقیدت آثار تا بانصدی.

3. On ff. 712^a-736, some other historical documents, especially letters, relating to Shāhjahān's time, probably taken from the پادشاهنامہ too, if not belonging to the عمل صالح itself.

The first heading is: نعل نامہ اعلی حضرت از منشآت

علامی سعد الله خان که بسططان محمد خان فرمانروای
روم مصحوب حاجی احمد سعید در سال بیست و پنجم

No. 1410, ff. 736, ll. 19; Shikasta; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

336

Extracts from the 'Amal-i-Şâlih.

Short extracts from the second book of Muḥammad Şâlih Kanbû's 'Amal-i-Şâlih, or Pâdishâhmâma (as it is styled here), entitled: بعضی از فوائد منقول از جلد دوم پادشاهنامه که مشتمل بر احوال حضرت صاحبقران ثانی ابوالمظفر شهاب الدین محمد شاهجهان پادشاه غازی انار الله برهانه است تألیف محمد صالح کنبوی دهلوی الخ.

It begins with ذکر طول و عرض مملکت روز افزون, in this way: طول این مملکت این: هندوستان بهشت نشان مملکت الخ.

These extracts were made by Muḥammad Bakhsh-khân, with the takhalluṣ Āshûb, the author of a history of the reign of Muḥammadshâh and other works (died A. H. 1199=A. D. 1785),—see Rieu iii. p. 944; Elliot, History of India, viii. p. 232,—for Mr. Richard Johnson, A. H. 1194 (A. D. 1780).

No. 667, ff. 24, ll. 15; Shikasta; size, 8 in. by 4½ in.

Tuhfat-i-Shâhjahânî (تحفة شاهجهانی).

A concise history of the life and reign of the emperor Shâhjahân, from his birth in A. H. 1000=A. D. 1592 (fol. 3^a, l. 6) to his death in A. H. 1076=A. D. 1666 (fol. 31^b, first line), based on the best authorities, a list of which is given in the preface, particularly on the عمل صالح (see the preceding copies, and fol. 2^b, ll. 6–10 in this work), by Sudhâri La'l (سدھاری لعل); see fol. 1^b, l. 6.

Beginning: از آنجا که تحریر مآثر جلیله و مفاخر نبیله و مقبول الخ.

No date. C. M. K. 43.

No. 2935, ff. 32, ll. 11–13; Shikasta; size, 9½ in. by 8½ in.

Latâ'if-alakhbâr (لطائف الاخبار).

Journal of the expedition of Shâhjahân's eldest son, prince Dârâ Shukûh (born A. H. 1024=A. D. 1615, murdered A. H. 1069=A. D. 1659), to Kandahâr, A. H. 1063 (A. D. 1653), composed under his auspices by somebody who accompanied him (probably Badî-alzamân Rashidkhân, who died A. H. 1107=A. D. 1695, 1696; comp. Rieu i. p. 264, and iii. p. 1083^b).

Beginning: حمد بسجّی که ابواب فتح را بر روی محمد پادشاهان تواند کشاد مر آن خدایا سزاست الخ; see also Bodleian Cat., Nos. 238 and 239; Elphinstone, History of India, 5th ed., p. 587, etc.

After the preface follows an introductory chapter on IND. OFF.

the previous expeditions under Murâd and Aurangzib, and the army's outset from Lâhûr the 24th of the first Rabi', A. H. 1063. The journal itself begins with the 10th of Jumâdâ-althâni, A. H. 1063 (A. D. 1653, May 8), and goes down to the 9th of Dhû-alhijjah of the same year (A. D. 1653, October 31).

Dated the 25th of Muharram, in the twenty-sixth year (probably of 'Ālamgir's reign, A. H. 1094=A. D. 1683, January 24), at Shâhjahânâbâd, by Mir Ghulam 'Ali bin Mir 'Abd-alrahîm, an inhabitant of Dihli.

No. 2461, ff. 282, ll. 11; clear Nasta'lik, written by two hands, the first of which goes down from fol. 1 to fol. 203, the second from fol. 204 to the end; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

Another copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. The appendix, on the march back from Kandahâr to Multân, and the general conclusion (see the Bodleian copies loc. cit.) are not distinctly marked here. No date.

No. 42, ff. 151, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

Ta'rikh-i-Shâh Shujâ'i (تاریخ شاه شجاعی).

A history of the life and exploits of Shâhjahân's second son, prince Muḥammad Shâh Shujâ', who was born A. H. 1025 (A. D. 1616), and put to death A. H. 1070 (A. D. 1660), composed by Muḥammad Ma'sûm bin Ḥasan bin Şâlih, A. H. 1070 (A. D. 1659, 1660); see this date twice, on fol. 2^a, l. 7, and fol. 5^a, l. 10. The author was himself, as he states on fol. 5^b, l. 5, twenty-five years in the prince's service. This work may be a part of the same author's فتوحات عالمگیری, or history of the early part of 'Ālamgir's reign, which was also completed A. H. 1070; see Rieu i. p. 270^a, and iii. p. 1049^a; Elliot, History of India, vii. p. 198.

Beginning: حمدیکه زبان همجو ما قاصدان را بآن دسترس است نثار کبریای مقدس خداوند الخ.

No date.

No. 533, ff. 162, ll. 11; Shikasta; size, 6½ in. by 3½ in.

'Ajiba-i-gharibah (عجیبه غریبه).

Special history of the conquest of Kûcbahâr and Āshâm (or Assam, a rich country along the river Brahmaputra), by the Khânkhânân Mir Muḥammad Sa'id Ardastâni, otherwise styled Mir Jumlah, under the emperor 'Ālamgir, A. H. 1072 and 1073 (A. D. 1662 and 1663). It is written by an eye-witness of, and co-operator in, this campaign, Ibn Muḥammad Wali Ahmad, commonly called Shihâb-al-din Tâlish; see fol. 2^b, l. 5, and fol. 4^b, l. 7. Another and more common title of this book is فتحه عربیه, or فتحیه عربیه; comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 240 and 241; Rieu i. p. 266; Elphinstone, History of India, 5th ed., p. 610 sq.; Elliot, History of India, vii. pp. 265–269; Blochmann, Journal of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, vol. xli. p. 51 sq.

The book is divided into a mukaddimah and two makālahs, viz.:

مقدمه در بیان سبب توجه اعلام ظفر فرجام به تسخیر
کوچ بهار و آشام, on fol. 4^b.

مقاله اول در ذکر توجه نواب مستغنی القاب باستیصال
بیم نراین راجه کوچ بهار و فتح آن سرزمین بتایید
آفریدگار, on fol. 7^a.

مقاله دوم در ذکر موکب عالی بجانب آشام و فتح آن
ملك بعون ملك علام, on fol. 12^a.

The continuation, relating the immediately following events down to the month Sha'bán, A. H. 1076, is missing here. As date of composition is given, at the end, the 20th of Shawwāl, A. H. 1076, but that seems to be a mistake of the transcriber, since in the Bodleian copies the 20th of Shawwāl, A. H. 1073 (A. D. 1663, May 28), appears. Probably the date of the missing continuation is confounded with that of the original report, just as the title عجیبه غریبه seems to be a mere mistake for فتحه عبریه.

Beginning: جنود نا معدود حمد ملازم حضرت مالك

quest of Kūcbahār and Āshām (کفتار در فتح ولایت کوچ)
بهار و توجه عساکر گیتی کشا از آنجا بآمنگ تسخیر
(ملك آشام و کشایش آن ناحیت الخ), on fol. 10^b.

A short sketch of the capture of the fortress of جانبکام is added on fol. 72^a.

No date.

No. 1572, ff. 79, ll. 17-18; careless and irregular Nasta'liq, mixed with Shikasta, by different hands; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

Wāqī'āt-i-'Ālamgiri (واقعات عالمگیری).

A history of the first five years of the reign of the emperor 'Ālamgir (A. H. 1068-1118=A. D. 1658-1707), to A. H. 1073, Šafar (A. D. 1662, September, October), identical with the ظفرنامه عالمگیری, described in Rieu i.
p. 265; comp. ii. p. 699^a, and iii. p. 1083^b. It concludes with a short notice on Shāhjahān's death, Rajab,
A. H. 1076 (A. D. 1666, January).

The above title appears in the colophon, where (on fol. 141^a) the work is wrongly ascribed, just as in Rieu's first copy, to Mirkhān (i. e. Sayyid Mīr, brother of Shaikh Mir Khwāfi, died A. H. 1080=A. D. 1669, 1670). The real author was 'Āqīlkhān Rāzi, better known by his diwān and several romantic mathnawīs (died A. H. 1108=A. D. 1696; see Rieu ii. loc. cit., and Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1148 and 1149). He is correctly mentioned in the colophon of the following copy.

Beginning: ابو الطغر محیی الدین محمد اورنگ زیب
بہادر عالمگیر بادشاہ غازی آن قطب فلك سلطنت و
جهانداري مركز دائره عظمت و بختياري الخ

Dated the 9th of Jumādā-althānī, A. H. 1124 (first year of Jahāndārshāh's reign=A. D. 1712, July 14), at Allahābād.

No. 212, ff. 87-141, ll. 13-18; written by different hands, partly in careless Nasta'liq, partly in Shikasta; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

346

Another copy of the same.

Beginning: آن قطب فلك سلطنت و جهانداري مركز
دائره عظمت الخ

The title given to it in the colophon is the same as in the preceding copy: واقعات عالمگیری; on the fly-leaf it is styled وقائع عالمگیری. The author 'Āqīlkhān is mentioned on the last page, last line but two.

Written by Tabir 'Alī for Mir Muḥammadshāh, and finished the 7th of Jumādā-alawwal, A. H. 1204 (A. D. 1790, January 23).

No. 1562, ff. 80, ll. 15; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6 in.

'Ālamgirnāma (عالمگیرنامہ).

A history of the first ten years of the emperor 'Ālamgir's reign, to the end of Rajab, A. H. 1078 (A. D. 1668, middle of January), by Muḥammad Kāẓim bin Muḥammad Amir Munshi, who died, according to Rieu iii. p. 1083^b, A. H. 1092 (A. D. 1681). The statement therefore in Morley's Cat. and elsewhere, that this work was completed in the thirty-second year of the emperor's reign, i. e. A. H. 1100, must needs be wrong. See other copies of the same work in Bodleian Cat., Nos. 243 and 244; Rieu i. p. 267; W. Morley, p. 125; J. Aumer, p. 97, etc.; comp. also Elliot, History of India, vii. p. 174 sq. It has been edited in the Bibliotheca Indica, Calcutta, 1865-1868.

Beginning:

ای دادہ بعقل پرتو آگاہی
شاهان ز تو کامیاب شاهنشاهی
آئرا کہ ز کائنات برتر خواهی آئ

Copied A. H. 1131 (A. D. 1719). Collated.

No. 615, ff. 316, ll. 21; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

348

Another copy of the same.

This copy is about a year older than the preceding one, dated the 10th of Shawwāl, A. H. 1130 (A. D. 1718, September 6), but it is very badly written. Collated and annotated A. H. 1138 (A. D. 1725, 1726), at Shāh-jahānābād. Beginning the same as in the preceding copy.

No. 1795, ff. 402, ll. 13-26; written for the greater part in bad Shikasta, a few leaves in Nasta'lik, by different hands; size varying from 8 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 4 $\frac{5}{8}$ in. to 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

The same.

Another old, but undated copy, a little worm-eaten. The first ten leaves are later supplied, and from the Arabic paging, which begins on fol. 11^a with 1, it appears that the original copy opened immediately with 'Ālamgir's accession, and that the missing introduction was added by another hand afterwards. Collated.

No. 853, ff. 527, ll. 16-22; large and clear, but very unequal Nasta'lik, by different hands; size, 12 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 7 in.

The same.

This copy is dated the 20th of Sha'bān, in the seventh year of Muḥammadshāh's reign (=A. H. 1138, A. D. 1726, April 23), by Muḥkam Singh. It is styled here, on fol. 1^a: تاریخ عالمگیری, and in the colophon: نوارخ عالمگیر پادشاه.

A blank on fol. 274^a.

No. 1611, ff. 334, mostly written in diagonal lines of different number; Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 in.

351

The same.

Dated by Muḥammad Husain Darwish the 8th of Rajab, in the first year of Aḥmadshāh's reign (=A. H. 1161, A. D. 1748, July 4). The proper order of ff. 384-389 is: 384, 386, 385, 388, 387, 389. No headings.

No. 3328, olim 14. J. 10, ff. 422, ll. 17; very careless Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

The same.

A very good copy, dated the 19th of Jumādā-alūlā, A. H. 1184 (Samvat, 1827=A. D. 1770, September 10).

No. 359, ff. 321, ll. 21; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

353

The same.

No date.

No. 171, ff. 332, ll. 18-21; small, but clear Nasta'lik; ff. 241-248 and 321-332 supplied by other hands; size, 10 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

354

A slightly defective copy of the same.

Ff. 547, 550, 554, and 559 are very severely damaged, considerable portions of the text being torn away.

Dated in the more modern part the 10th of Rajab, in the forty-fifth year of Shāh 'Ālam's reign (=A. H. 1217, A. D. 1802, November 6). Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2600, ff. 577, ll. 17; consisting of two portions, an older and a more modern one, the latter on ff. 1-8, 16, 22, 34-37, 40, 56-175, 234-237, 513-536, 545, 546, 551, and 577; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

An incomplete copy of the same.

This copy breaks off in the middle of the sixth year of the emperor's reign with the words غسلخانه جهت دولتخانه, corresponding to No. 359 (352 in this Cat.), fol. 236^a, l. 3. Besides fol. 557 is torn away. The right order of ff. 46-56 is: 46, 54, 55, 47-53, 56.

No. 881, ff. 611, ll. 15; large and distinct Nasta'lik, written on white and brown paper; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

Another incomplete copy of the same.

This copy, dated A. D. 1811, is very defective at the beginning; it opens abruptly in the third year of 'Ālamgir's reign, fol. 4^a, l. 3 ab infra, corresponding to No. 2600 (354 in this Cat.), fol. 276^a, l. 9. It is besides rather incorrect in many places.

The fourth year of 'Ālamgir's reign begins on fol. 56^b; the fifth, on fol. 151^b; the sixth, on fol. 213^b; the seventh, on fol. 245^b; the eighth, on fol. 265^a; the ninth, on fol. 329^a; and the tenth, on fol. 387^b.

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2545, ff. 444, ll. 13; very neat and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 7 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

A fragment of the same.

This copy contains only a small portion of the 'Ālamgir-nāma, but many headings being omitted, and no dates being found at all, it is impossible to state how far it extends; it seems to comprise only the first two or three years of the emperor's reign. Beginning as usual on fol. 4^b. The first three leaves, fol. 4^a, and the margin of ff. 4^b-45^b, as well as of ff. 143-147, and the whole of fol. 148 are filled by fragments from Muḥammad Mahdi Astarābādī's تاریخ جهانکشی, or تاریخ نادری, the history of Nādirshāh (see Rieu i. p. 192 sq., and Bodleian Cat., Nos. 302-306), beginning: بر دانایان رموز الخ.

No. 14. J. 11, ff. 148, ll. 19; careless Nasta'lik; the fragments of Nādirshāh's history written by another still more careless hand; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6 in.

Lubb-altawārikh-i-Hind (لب التواریک هند).

General history of India, abridged from Firishṭa's famous work (see Nos. 291-304 in this Catalogue), but enlarged from other sources, and brought down to A. H. 1101 (A. D. 1689, 1690), by Rāe Bindrāban, son of Rāe Bhārāmāl (see author's name and title, on fol. 1^a, l. 4, and fol. 2^a, l. 3). It begins with the reign of Shihāb-aldin Ghūrī (A. H. 572), and goes down to the thirty-third year of that of 'Ālamgir, to whom the work is dedicated; see Rieu i. p. 228 sq.; Bodleian Cat., No. 245; A. F. Mehren, p. 18; Elliot, History of India, vii. p. 168 sq.

The chronogram for the date of composition, viz. حالات ملک هندوستان (=A. H. 1106, A. D. 1694, 1695), is not found in this copy (see below, No. 360).

It is divided into the following ten fasls:

1. Kings of Dihli, on fol. 2^b, beginning with Shihāb-aldin Ghūrī.
2. Sultāns of the Dakhan, on fol. 129^b, in six shu'bas: (a) Bahmanis of Gulbargah, on fol. 129^b; (b) 'Ādilshāhs of Bijāpūr, on fol. 139^a; (c) Nizāmshāhs of Aḥmadnagar and Daulatābād, on fol. 147^b; (d) Kuṭbshāhs of Tiling, on fol. 158^b; (e) 'Imādshāhs of Barār, on fol. 161^b; (f) Baridshāhs of Bidar, on fol. 162^a.
3. Sultāns of Gujarāt, on fol. 163^a.
4. Rulers of Mālwah and Maudū, on fol. 173^a.
5. Fārūki-Sultāns of Burhānpūr and Āsir, or Khāndis, on fol. 180^b.
6. Sultāns of Bangālāh, on fol. 184^b.
7. Sharḡi-rulers of Jaunpūr, on fol. 188^b.
8. Rulers of Sind, on fol. 190^b.
9. Rulers of Multān, on fol. 192^a.

10. Rulers of Kashmir, on fol. 192^b.

Beginning: پادشاهی بیزوال مرخدا بر است جل جلاله و عم نواله الخ.

Dated the 24th of Muḥarram, in the forty-second year of 'Ālamgir's reign, = A. H. 1110 (A. D. 1698, August 2), only four years after the completion of the work.

No. 3050, ff. 193, ll. 14-17; Shikasta; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

Another copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. Author's name on fol. 1^b, l. 4; date (A. H. 1101) on fol. 1^b, l. 5; title on fol. 2^a, l. 9. The chronogram at the end (fol. 160^b) appears here in a mutilated and consequently useless form, as حالات هندوستان.

Faṣl I, on fol. 2^b; II, in six shu'bas: (a) on fol. 100^a; (b) on fol. 107^b, last line; (c) on fol. 114^b; (d) on fol. 124^a; (e) on fol. 126^b; (f) on fol. 127^a; III, on fol. 128^a; IV, on fol. 137^a; V, on fol. 145^a; VI, on fol. 149^b; VII, on fol. 155^a; VIII, on fol. 157^a; IX, on fol. 158^b, last line; X, on fol. 159^b.

Dated by Muḥammad Jalāl-aldin, the 4th of Dhū-al-hijjah, A. H. 1131 (the first year of Muḥammadshāh's reign) = A. D. 1719, October 18.

This copy belonged formerly to Mr. Richard Johnson.

No. 1127, ff. 160, ll. 20; Nasta'lik; size, 10 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

360

The same.

This copy is dated the 17th of Muḥarram, A. H. 1156 (twenty-fifth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign = A. D. 1743, March 13), at Shāhjahānābād. Collated the 24th of Ṣafar in the same year. Another collation was completed the 17th of Dhū-alka'dah, A. H. 1195 (A. D. 1781, November 4), at Haidarābād in the Dakhan.

The ten fasls are found here: 1. on fol. 71^b; 2. in six shu'bas, on fol. 192^a; 3. on fol. 226^b; 4. on fol. 236^a; 5. on fol. 243^a; 6. on fol. 247^b; 7. on fol. 251^b; 8. on fol. 253^a; 9. on fol. 255^a; 10. on fol. 255^b.

Author's name and title on fol. 70^b, ll. 3 and 4, and fol. 71^a, l. 7. The full chronogram, حالات ملک هندوستان, on the last page. As title to this work is given here, on fol. 70^a: لب التواریک, and in the colophon: لب التبار.

No. 1606, ff. 70-257, ll. 14-18, many pages written in diagonal lines; Shikasta; size, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

An extract from the same.

A select portion of the first faṣl of the Lubb-altawārikh-i-Hind, comprising the history of the emperors of Dihli from Bābar's birth in A. H. 888 = A. D. 1483 (so to be read instead of 988 on fol. 2^a, l. 9) to A. H. 1096 = A. D. 1685 (see fol. 80^a, last line), with a fragment of the history of Siwāi or Siwājī, the famous Marattah prince of the Bhoslah family, beginning on fol. 81^a.

Beginning of this extract, on fol. 1^b: از منتخب رای بندراین ابن رای بهاره مل که از مفصل تاریخ فرشته مجمل برداشته مجملی از آن مجمل بطریق الخ

Bābar's accession in A. H. 899 (A. D. 1494) is related on fol. 2^b, l. 2.

No date.

No. 2966, ff. 83, ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

Khulāṣat-altawārikh (خلاصة التواريخ).

General history of India, from the earliest times to the death of Dārā Shukūh and the accession of 'Ālamgir, completed in the fortieth year of that emperor's reign, A. H. 1107 (A. D. 1695), by the Hindū Sujān Singh Munshi (or, as his usual name runs, Sujān Rāi Munshi); comp. Rieu i. p. 230; Bodleian Cat., No. 246; W. Morley, pp. 69-71; Elliot, History of India, viii. p. 5 sq.; Garcin de Tassy, Hist. de la littérat. hind. etc. i. 31; Journal Asiat., 1854, tom. 3, p. 366; J. Aumer, p. 84.

Beginning: نقاش نگارخانه کائنات و مصور کارگاه ممکنات چون اقتضای آن کرد الخ

After the preface and an enumeration of the authorities on which this history is based, an account of the Hindūs begins on fol. 6^a; after that follows a description of the different Śūbas or provinces of India on fol. 16^b, and a history of the Hindū Rājās on fol. 57^a.

The history of the Muḥammadan dynasties begins, on fol. 102^b, with Naṣir-al-dīn Sabuktāgin of Ghazna, and goes down to 'Ālamgir. A short account of the emperor's death in A. H. 1118 (A. D. 1707) was added by the author many years afterwards.

On ff. 328^a-342^b there appears the further addition of a short compendium of local Indian history, consisting mostly of lists of rulers from the early Rājās to the forty-second year of 'Ālamgir's reign, A. H. 1109 (A. D. 1697, 1698), in which year this appendix appears to have been drawn up.

The whole work is dated the 10th of Dhū-al-ḥijjah, A. H. 1216 (A. D. 1802, April 13).

No. 1657, ff. 342, ll. 19; different handwriting, partly in Nasta'lik, partly in Shikasta; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

The same.

A still more modern copy of the Khulāṣat-altawārikh, by Munshi Sujān Rāi (so distinctly written here in the colophon), made by Nadhar Muḥammad, A. H. 1271 = Samvat, 1911 = A. D. 1854. An English note prefixed to this MS. and signed by C. Raikes, Commissioner and Superintendent, states that it was sent to the Imperial Exhibition at Paris for works of art and industry by the Punjab Committee at Lahore. The copy was received into the library from Dr. Royle, July, 1856.

Contents:

Preface, on fol. 1^b, beginning as in the preceding copy.

Title, on fol. 4^b, l. 4.

Account of the Hindūs, on fol. 7^b.

Description of the Śūbas of Hindūstān, on fol. 18^a.

Hindū Rājās, on fol. 61^a.

Muḥammadan dynasties, beginning with Sabuktāgin, on fol. 117^b; 'Ālamgir, on fol. 335^a.

Both the short account of 'Ālamgir's death, and the compendium of the local histories of India, are wanting here.

No. 3242, ff. 369, ll. 17; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; large illuminated frontispiece; the first two pages prettily adorned with gold borders round each line; size, 12½ in. by 8½ in.

A fragment of the same.

The first part of the Khulāṣat-altawārikh, comprising about a third of the whole, that is, the introduction, the account of the Hindūs (on fol. 55^b), the description of the Śūbas of India (on fol. 71^b), and the history of the Hindū Rājās (on fol. 129^a). At the end a list of the Muḥammadan dynasties down to 'Ālamgir. Beginning as in the preceding copies.

No date.

No. 3051, ff. 47-186, ll. 10-13; Shikasta; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

365

Maāthir-i-'Ālamgiri (مآثر عالمگیری).

A history of the full reign of the emperor 'Ālamgir, from A. H. 1067 to his death in A. H. 1118, completed by Muḥammad Sāḳi Mustā'iddikhān (who died A. H. 1136 = A. D. 1724), A. H. 1122 (A. D. 1710); comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 247; Rieu i. p. 270, and iii. p. 1083^b; W. Morley, p. 127; A. F. Mehren, p. 22; Elliot, History of India, vii. p. 181 sq., etc.

It consists of two unequal parts, the first of which, on ff. 1^b-25^a, comprises the first ten years of the emperor's reign, and is a mere abridgment of Muḥammad Kāzim's 'Ālamgirnāma (see Nos. 347-357 in this Cat.). The second part is Muḥammad Sāḳi's own work, and contains the history of the last forty years of 'Ālamgir's reign. The work has been edited in the Bibliotheca Indica, Calcutta, 1870-1871.

Beginning of the first part, on fol. 1^b: انتخاب صحائف ایجاد انس و جان والتقاط لطائف انشاء کون و مکان الخ

Beginning of the second part, on fol. 25^b: له الحمد فی الاولی والآخره خامه به بمرایش حمد جهان آفرینی الخ

This copy was finished the 25th of Rabi'-althānī, in the twenty-third year of Muḥammadshāh's reign, A. H. 1154 (A. D. 1741, July 10). Purchased from the executors of the Marquess of Hastings.

No. 3152, ff. 169, ll. 18; Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

366

Another copy of the same.

Beginning the same. The second part commences here on fol. 39^b. No date. Fol. 5 and many of the following leaves, especially in the second half, slightly damaged. On fol. 1^a this work is styled تاریخ عالمگیری.

No. 217, ff. 325, ll. 15; careless Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

The same.

Another quite modern copy of the same work, dated the 20th of Jumâdâ-alawwal, A. H. 1211 (A. D. 1796, November 21).

Beginning of the first part, on fol. 1^b: انتخاب صحائف ایجاد انس و جان الخ.

Beginning of the second part, on fol. 31^a: له الحمد في الاول و الآخر خامه به پيرایش الخ.

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2434, ff. 251, ll. 17; very clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 7¾ in.

368

A defective copy of the same.

Beginning of the first part, on fol. 1^b; of the second, on fol. 32^b: لله الحمد في الاولى و الاخرة الخ.

It breaks off in the middle of the forty-fifth year of 'Ālamgir's reign, A. H. 1113.

No. 1455, ff. 197, ll. 17; Nasta'lik, by different hands on various paper; size, 9 in. by 4½ in.

Extracts from the same.

These extracts from the Maāthir-i-'Ālamgiri contain the history of the proceedings in the Dakhan during the emperor's reign, styled in the colophon: وقائع دکن و جهت اندائی بر آستان عهد عالمگیری. سہاس ادائی الخ.

Dated the 12th of Rabi'-alawwal, in the seventeenth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign, A. H. 1148 (A. D. 1735, August 2), at Aḥmadāhād.

No. 1981, ff. 62, ll. 15-18; Shikasta; size, 8¾ in. by 4¾ in.

Letters.

Copies of official letters, all written in the thirty-ninth and fortieth years of 'Ālamgir's reign (A. H. 1107 and 1108=A. D. 1695-1697), and received from Sūrat, A. D. 1698. The library received them from the Register Office, August 24, 1821. After fol. 7 one leaf appears to be torn out. Ff. 24^b-27^a and 35^b-38^b are left blank.

No. 150, ff. 65, ll. 15; Shikasta; size, 12¾ in. by 7¾ in.

Ādāb-i-'Ālamgiri (آداب عالمگیری).

State papers, documents, and letters written in 'Ālamgir's name by the Munshi-almamālik Shaikh Abū-alfath, with the honourable title of Kābilkhān, and collected by Ṣādiq Muṭṭalibī (died the first day of A. H. 1129=A. D. 1716, December 16) at the request of his son, Muḥammad Zamān. The date of this collection is A. H. 1115 (chronogram: کل از باغ جان)=A. D. 1703, 1704; comp. the fuller description of the contents of this work in Rieu i. p. 399 sq., and Elliot, History of India, vii. p. 205. The majority of these letters belong to the time of Aurangzib's minority.

Beginning: خداوند علیم حکیم خرد بخش سخن آفرین را بکدام مرتبه سخن وری ستایش کنم الخ.

Dated the 17th of Jumâdâ-alawwal, A. H. 1151 (A. D. 1738, September 2), in Muḥammadshāh's reign, at Shāhjahānābād.

No. 1675, ff. 408, ll. 21-23; written by many different hands in Nasta'lik and Shikasta; size, 11 in. by 6¼ in.

372

Another copy of the same.

Beginning the same.

Dated the 12th of Rajab, A. H. 1184 (A. D. 1770, November 1), by رام کول, at Lucknow, in Shāh 'Ālam's reign.

No. 2942, ff. 188, ll. 16-22, written in a very rough and unequal way by many different hands in Nasta'lik and Shikasta; size, 11½ in. by 7 in.

Kalimāt-i-ṭayyibāt (کلمات طیبات).

Another collection of notes and orders, issued by the emperor 'Ālamgir and edited A. H. 1131 (A. D. 1719) by his favourite secretary 'Ināyat-allāh, who died A. H. 1139 (A. D. 1726, 1727); see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 248-251; Rieu i. p. 401, and iii. p. 1087^b; Elliot, History of India, vii. p. 203.

Beginning: الهی از قلم شکسته و زبان خسته چه آید که سہاس و ستایش جناب کبریا الخ.

No date. According to Rieu i. p. 401^b this collection is contained in the رقعات عالمگیری, or رقعات عالمگیری, edited Lucknow, A. H. 1260, and Lahore, A. H. 1281; but it must be noticed that there exist also two special collections of letters with the same particular title of 'Ruk'āt-i-'Ālamgiri,' different from the Kalimāt-i-ṭayyihāt; see Bodleian Cat., No. 252; Rieu ii. p. 801 (comp. i. p. 401, where a very similar collection is noticed under the title of اشارهای عالمگیری); J. Aumer, p. 96; and No. 379 in this Cat.

No. 1594, ff. 51-160, ll. 11; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5¼ in.

Another, but much shorter copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. No date.

No. 1761, ff. 39-87, 10 diagonal lines in a page; Shikasta; size, 8¼ in. by 4 in.

Rak'ā'im-i-kar'ā'im (رقائم کرائم).

A third collection of letters by 'Ālamgir, mostly written to Amirkhān (who died soon after A. H. 1131=A. D. 1719), and collected after Amirkhān's death by his son Sayyid Ashrafkhān Mir Muḥammad al-Ḥusaini; see Bodleian Cat., No. 253; Rieu i. p. 400; Elliot, History of India, vii. p. 204.

Beginning: سخن جان است و دیگر گفتگو جانا زمن بشنو الخ.

The names both of the collector Ashrafkhân and of his father Amirkhân appear on fol. 1^b, last three lines.

This copy, which is the most extensive among those of the رقائم کرائم in the India Office Library, is not dated; it belongs to the twelfth century of the Hijrah. The title on the inside of the binding, 'Rukat Alemgiri,' is incorrect.

No. 3021, ff. 53, ll. 15; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 6½ in.

376

Another copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. No date.

No. 1594, ff. 1-50^b, ll. 11; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

A much shorter copy of the same.

Beginning as usual. Dated the 24th of Shawwâl, A. H. 1154 (Samvat, 1798)=A. D. 1742, January 2. The copy belonged formerly to Mr. Richard Johnson.

No. 3388, olim 14. J. 14, ff. 41^b-68, ll. 15-16; Nasta'lik; size, 8 in. by 4½ in.

The same.

The beginning of this copy is quite different from that in all the preceding copies, viz.:

برتر از خورشید شد کار سخن - شب ندارد روز بازار سخن

The name of the collector, Sayyid Ashrafkhân Mir Muḥammad alḥusainî, appears on fol. 1^b, first line. The notes are called ارشاد.

No date.

No. 1761, ff. 1-38, 10 diagonal lines in a page; Shikasta; size, 8½ in. by 4 in.

379

Ruḳa'ât-i-Âlamgiri (رقعات عالمگیری).

A fourth collection of short notes and orders of 'Âlamgir, different from those in J. Aumcr, p. 96, and the Bodleian Cat., No. 252, which bear the same title; comp. also Rieu ii. p. 801.

Beginning: الحمد لله والصلوة على عباده الذين اصطفى
ورضا چند وصیت دارد اول آنکه این عاصی الخ

The copy belonged formerly to Mr. Richard Johnson.

No. 3388, olim 14. J. 14, ff. 1-40, ll. 12; large Nasta'lik; size, 8 in. by 4½ in.

380

Dastûr-al'amal-i-Âgâhî (دستور العمل آگاهی).

A fifth collection of notes and letters of 'Âlamgir to his father Shâhjahân, his sons, officials, and servants, collected A. H. 1156 (here wrongly called the twenty-ninth year of Muḥammadshâh's reign)=A. D. 1743; see another copy in Rieu i. p. 402.

Beginning: بعد حمد رب العالمین و نعت خاتم المرسلین بر ضمیر صیرفیان سخن و جوهر شناسان این فن الخ

The last of the collection is the well-known 'last will' (وصیت نامه) of the emperor.

No date.

No. 1344, ff. 51, ll. 15; Shikasta; size, 7½ in. by 5½ in.

381

The same.

Part of the same collection, as it seems, styled in the colophon مجموعة رقعات عالمگیر، رسالة دستور العمل، ميرزنده زاده حافظ قرآن عظیم، اورنگزیب، اورنگزیب، قرین عریضه کند بعضی کارهای ملکی الخ

No date.

No. 3301, olim 14. J. 12, ff. 1-32, ll. 11-18; Shikasta; size, 10 in. by 5½ in.

382

The same.

Another part of the same collection, as it seems, styled in the colophon کلمات اورنگزیب، and beginning abruptly thus: درنصورت تحلی عظیم درکار جهاننداری راه مییابد روز قیامت الخ

No. 3301, olim 14. J. 12, ff. 33-60, ll. 12-16; Nasta'lik. size, 10 in. by 5½ in.

Letters of 'Âlamgir to his second son, prince Muḥammad A'zamshâh, probably selected from the foregoing collections, in all of which he comes in for the largest share of notes, beginning: فرزنده سعادت نوأم شاه اعظم حفظ الله الخ

This collection is incomplete, and breaks off in the middle of a letter on fol. 32^b.

No. 3337, olim 14. J. 13, ff. 1-32, ll. 13; unequal Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

The main portion of this very uncouth and often illegible MS. contains a series of notes and letters of the emperor 'Âlamgir, chiefly to his son, prince A'zamshâh (see the preceding collection), to Dhû-alfakârkhân, and others, beginning, on fol. 4^a: پادشاه عالم گیر به ذو الفقارخان الخ

This portion comprises ff. 4-10, 3, and 11-56^a, and is dated the 23rd of Safar, A. H. 1193 (A. D. 1779, March 12). It is followed, on ff. 56^a-68^b, by a short historical piece (from Mir Ghulâm Ḥusainkhân's سیر حقیقت نادرشاهی از غلام حسین خان Cat.), entitled: حقیقت نادرشاهی از غلام حسین خان

dated likewise A. H. 1193, the 5th of Rabi'-alawwal (A. D. 1779, March 23).

On ff. 1 and 2 are fragments from the نامه عمده حان الملك بهادر بنام حسين دوست حان, in mathnawibaits ('Umdat-almulk Anwar-al-dinkhân Muḥammad 'Alī was Nawwāb of the Carnatic A. H. 1162-1210 = A. D. 1749-1795); on ff. 69^a-84^a various miscellanies: 1. extracts from Amir Khusrāu's poetry; 2. a Hindūstāni mathnawī, styled نادرنامه (Nādirnāma), on ff. 71^a-78^b, with the date of composition A. H. 1152 (A. D. 1739, 1740); 3. a few ghazals by Dhauki (see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 389), fragmentary letters, and other pieces in prose and verse, and on ff. 82^b-84^a a نامه حسين دوست خان بنوآب عمده الملك بهادر in mathnawī-baits; a reply to the poetical letter on ff. 1 and 2.

No. 3108, ff. 84, ll. 9-13, at the beginning and end in diagonal lines, written by different hands in Shikasta; size, 6½ in. by 3¾ in.

Bahādurshāhnāma (بهادرشاهنامه).

A detailed history of the first two years of the reign of Bahādurshāh, the second son of 'Ālamgir (who reigned A. H. 1119-1124 = A. D. 1707-1712), by Mirzā Nūr-al-dīn Muḥammad, generally known as Ni'matkhān, with the takhalluṣ 'Alī, and the honorary titles of Muḥarrabkhān and Dānishmandkhān, who died A. H. 1122 (A. D. 1710); see Bodleian Cat., No. 256; Rieu i. pp. 268 and 272; iii. p. 1049^b; Elliot, History of India, vii. p. 568; J. Aumer, p. 97.

Beginning: بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ دست برآورده بچود کریم، ناز و نعیم دو جهان در کفش، خلق ازل تا بابد مصرفش، افسر سلطان سخن حمد مالک المملکت که سریر الخ.

No date. Entries of A. H. 1196 and 1197 (A. D. 1782 and 1783) on fol. 1^a. Most headings throughout the text are left blank.

No. 1942, ff. 106, ll. 17; Nasta'liq, written by different hands; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

386

The same.

The same history in a rather abridged form, beginning: افسر سلطان سخن حمد ملک الملکیست که سریر شهنشاهش بجواهر کلمات الخ.

Copied A. H. 1195 (A. D. 1781), by Muḥammad Ja'far Rifāti, in the army of the Nawwāb Bahādur.

No. 3391, olim 14. J. 19, ff. 54-107, ll. 15; Nasta'liq; size, 7½ in. by 4¾ in.

387

The same.

The same abridged edition of the Bahādurshāhnāma as the previous copy, but beginning like No. 1942:

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ - دست برآورده بچود کریم - ناز و نعیم دو جهان در کفش - خلق ازل تا بابد مصرفش - افسر سلطان سخن حمد الخ

Dated the 10th of Shawwāl, A. H. 1217 (A. D. 1803, February 3), at Sarirangpatan. Presented by J. H. Peile, Esq., and received September 19, 1818; transferred to Civil Coll., August 9, 1819.

No. 3392, olim 14. J. 20, ff. 69, ll. 11; Nasta'liq; size, 7½ in. by 5½ in.

Farrukhnāma (فَرخ نامه).

A special history of A. H. 1124 and 1125 (A. D. 1712 and 1713), that is, from Bahādurshāh's death to the successful establishment of Farrukhsiyar's reign, in the form of eighteen stories (داستان) dealing with the struggles of Bahādurshāh's sons, by Shaikh Muḥammad Mun'im Ja'farābādī, who published this book at the special request of the Kuṭb-al-aḳṭāb Shāh Shukr-allāh; see fol. 1^b, last line but one, and fol. 2^a, last line.

Beginning: سپاس بقیاس قادری را که از آب سیوف شاهان کرم الخ.

Occasionally explanatory notes on the margin. There is a great want of correctness in the dates, for instance, in the very beginning of the first dāstān Bahādurshāh's death is fixed in A. H. 1123 (!), 20th of Muḥarram.

Dated by Shaikh Khair-allāh 'Abbāsī, the 24th of Rabi'-alawwal, in the fourth year of Farrukhsāh's reign (A. H. 1128 = A. D. 1716, March 18). A special history of the same eventful years, similar to, but not identical with this work, is described by Rieu i. p. 273, under the title of Farrukhsiyarnāma, and ascribed to Mir Muḥammad Aḥsan Ijād.

No. 1576, ff. 114, ll. 13-14; irregularly written in careless Nasta'liq and Shikasta; some of the last pages in diagonal lines; worn-eaten; size, 8½ in. by 4¾ in.

Tārīkh-i-Irādatkhān (تاریخ ارادتخان).

The memoirs of Mirzā Mubārak-allāh, with the takhalluṣ Wāḍih, and the honorary title of Irādatkhān, son of Kifāyatkhān Shikasta Nawis (مبارک الله متخلص بواضع), who also bore the title of Irādatkhān (Irādatkhān-i-Shāhjahāni, to distinguish him from his son Irādatkhān-i-'Ālamgiri), on the principal events during the seven years from 'Ālamgir's death, A. H. 1118, to the entrance of Farrukhsiyar into Dihli in Muḥarram, A. H. 1125 (A. D. 1713, February), completed A. H. 1126 (A. D. 1714), when the author was sixty-seven years old; see fol. 1^b, ll. 7 and 8, fol. 2^b, l. 6, and fol. 90^a, lin. penult.; comp. Rieu iii. p. 938, and Elliot, History of India, vii. p. 534 sq. An abridged English translation was published by J. Scott, London, 1780.

Beginning: تمهید نگارش یافتن این سوانح و وقائع که جامع آن میرزا مبارک الله واضح تخلص مخاطب بارادتخان ولد کفایتخان شکسته نویس مشهور است و آنچه دیده در تحریر کشید، الحمد لمن بمول فی حق کلامه فاتوا بسوره من مثله و الصلوة والسلام علی من نطق بالنطق انا اوصی الخ.

This work is wrongly styled, on fol. 1^a: واقعات عالمگیری من تصنیف مبارک الله الخ.

No date. It was presented to the library by Lieut.-Col. W. Kirkpatrick, May 30, 1804.

No. 50, ff. 1-90, ll. 16; clear Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

390

Another copy of the same.

Beginning: الحمد لمن يقول في حق كلامه الخ.

After the preface there follows here, on ff. 3^b-4^b, an index of the work, and on fol. 6^a the real beginning of the history: ابتدای تحریر کلمات چون بهنگام تغییر صوبه: داری الخ, corresponding to fol. 3^a, l. 4 ab infra, in the preceding copy. The title given to it here is توارنخ بهادرشاه.

This copy (not dated) was transcribed from the original in the possession of the king of Dihli.

No. 3139, ff. 163, ll. 17; large Nasta'lik; two illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b and 6^a; binding red with gold; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

'Ibratnâma (عبرتنامه).

The first volume (دفتر اول), or at least portions of the first volume, of the 'Ibratnâma, by Kâmrâj, son of Nain Singh of the Kâyath tribe, who, like his father and forefathers, was in the Imperial service, and personally attached to the unfortunate emperor A'zamshâh, of whose short-lived reign he wrote, as tribute of his gratitude, a detailed and circumstantial history, the اعظم الحرب (described in Rieu iii. p. 937). The present work is of a later date, and of a wider import. It gives the history of India from A. H. 1118 to 1131 (A. D. 1707-1719), that is, from the accession of the same A'zamshâh, who was defeated by Bahâdurshâh the 18th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1119 (A. D. 1707, June 19), to the elevation of prince Rûshan Akhtar to the Imperial throne, under the title of Muḥammadshâh. There is no introduction; the book begins, on fol. 9^a, immediately with the story of A'zamshâh and his accession, the 18th of Dhû-alhijjah, A. H. 1118 (A. D. 1707, March 23).

First heading, on fol. 9^a: گفتار میمنت آثار سربر آرائی پادشاه سلیمان جاه آفتاب عالمتاب همای ظفر طرازی رونق افزای افسر سری و سرافرازی ابو النصر قطب الدین شاه عالم پادشاه غازی بر ممالک موروثی هندوستان جنت نشان بکریم و فضل ایزد مٹان.

A complete index, styled عبرتنامه, on ff. 1^b-8^b.

Dated the 24th of Muḥarram, A. H. 1183 (A. D. 1769, May 30), the ninth year (sic! correctly the tenth year) of Shâh 'Ālam's reign, by Sayyid Fikr-allâh, who copied it by order of Maulawīshâhib Muḥammad Aslamīshâhib.

No. 1534, ff. 71, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

IND. OFF.

392

'Ibratnâma (عبرتنامه).

Another history with the same title, dealing like the preceding one with the first successors of 'Ālamgir from A. H. 1118 down to the death of Farrukhsiyar, A. H. 1131, by Mirzâ Muḥammad bin Mu'tamadkhân bin Diyânatkhân, who was born, according to the preface on fol. 92^a, ll. 5 and 6, in Jalâlâbâd, the 21st of Jumâdâ I, in the thirtieth year of 'Ālamgir's reign, which is A. H. 1098 (A. D. 1687, April 4) and not 1070, as it is called by mistake here; comp. Rieu iii. p. 895.

where a larger work of his, the تاریخ محمدی, is described (completed A. H. 1190=A. D. 1776). He entered the emperor's service A. H. 1115, the 25th of Jumâdâ II (A. D. 1703, November 5), and lost his father Mu'tamadkhân, sixty-nine years old, the 18th of Jumâdâ II, A. H. 1117 (A. D. 1705, October 7). In the preface the author speaks of his former life and of the last three years of 'Ālamgir's reign. On fol. 93^a he gives an account of the emperor's death, and on fol. 94^a he begins the history of Bahâdurshâh. A title does not occur, but the author calls himself very often راقم ابن عبرتنامه.

Beginning: الحمد لله على الطافه و افضاله و صلى الله على محمد و على آله و اصحابه اجمعين، اما بعد جنس گوید بنده اتمبدوار رحمت بروردگار میرزا محمد الخ.

No date.

No. 50, ff. 91-224, ll. 16; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

393

A third history of the reigns of Bahâdurshâh and Farrukhsiyar, A. H. 1118-1131, with an account of subsequent events, from Muḥammadshâh's accession to the overthrow of the Sayyids in A. H. 1133 (A. D. 1721), by a native of Lâhûr, who in consequence of bad luck was obliged to leave his home and his business and to go to Dihli. But the affairs of the realm under Farrukhsiyar being in great confusion he struggled very long to get employment, until at last he gained the favour of the Wazir Nawwâb Husain 'Ali Khân's dîwân, Śûrat Singh and his son. At their request, supported by their friends, he wrote this history, which is styled, on fol. 1^a, rather incorrectly, تاریخ قریح سبر (no title appearing in the work itself), and dedicated it to his patron. It begins, on fol. 10^b, with the death of the emperor 'Ālamgir. The author does not disclose his name.

Beginning: حمد ببعده و ثنای خداوند کارساز حقیقی را که سلطان روح انسان را از کتم عدم الخ.

A short account of the contents of this work in English is given on the margin, particularly of the first thirty-two leaves, together with some explanations and paraphrases of Persian words, probably by William Chambers, to whom this copy formerly belonged. Another copy of the same work is described in Rieu i. p. 273. No date.

No. 252, ff. 189, ll. 13; Nasta'lik, by two different hands, the second beginning on fol. 145^a; size, 8½ in. by 6½ in.

Haft Gulshan (هفت گلشن).

An autograph of Muḥammad Hâdi Kâmwarkhân's compendium of Indian history, especially of the minor dynasties, whilst the later portions of the history of Dihli and the Moghul emperors are very short, written by the author in A. H. 1136, and finished in the month Muḥarram of that year=A. D. 1723, October. In Rieu iii. p. 908 and in Elliot's History of India, viii. pp. 13-16 (in both of which the fuller title, هفت گلشن محمد شاهی, is given), the date of this book's composition is fixed in A. H. 1132 (A. D. 1720), and to that year the history of Dihli is really brought down (not to Bâbar only, as in Rieu's and Elliot's MSS.), our copy obviously being a somewhat later and revised edition, for the author enumerates in the preface the three works which he had undertaken to write, viz. گلدستۀ سعادت, a history of Muḥammad, the first Khalifs, Imâms, Saints, and Shaikhs, compiled A. H. 1133=A. D. 1720, 1721 (chronogram: هفت گلشن; گلدستۀ سعادت لایزال), which we have got here; and تذکرہ السلاطین چغتای, a more detailed history of the Moghul emperors down to Muḥammadshâh, see the immediately following copy; this last work the author states here to have commenced in A. H. 1135 (A. D. 1722, 1723).

Contents:

First Gulshan, in three gulsbuns: 1. Kings of Dibli, on fol. 12^b; 2. Sharḡi-kings of Jaunpûr, on fol. 164^a; 3. Kings of Mâlwah, on fol. 170^b.

Second Gulshan, in two gulsbuns: 1. Kings of Gujarât, on fol. 193^a; 2. Kings of Khândish, on fol. 223^b.

Third Gulshan, in one gulsbun: Kings of Bangâlah, on fol. 231^b.

Fourth Gulshan, in six gulsbuns: 1. Bahmanî Sultâns in the Dakhan, on fol. 238^b; 2. 'Adilshâhs of Bijâpûr, on fol. 277^b; 3. Nizâmshâhs of Ahmadnagar, on fol. 306^a; 4. Kutbshâhs of Haidarâbâd, on fol. 322^a; 5. Imâdshâhs of Barâr, on fol. 327^b; 6. Baridshâhs of Bidar, on fol. 329^b.

Fifth Gulshan, in two gulsbuns: 1. Jâmis of Sind, on fol. 332^b; 2. Rulers of Multân, on fol. 335^a.

Sixth Gulshan, in one gulsbun: Rulers of Kashmir, on fol. 339^a.

Seventh Gulshan, in one gulsbun: History of Muḥammad, the first Khalifs, Imâms, and holy persons, on fol. 358^b. This part is only indicated by its heading—the history itself is found, as the author repeats, in his other work: گلدستۀ سعادت. The Gulshan on the saints and holy personages of Hindûstân, which is described as the seventh in Rieu and Elliot, is not found anywhere in this copy.

Written in Shâhjahanâbâd by the author, A. H. 1136.

Tadhkirat-alsalâtin-i-Caghata' (تذکرہ السلاطین چغتای).

A large portion of the very scarce second volume of the same Muḥammad Hâdi Kâmwarkhân's later work, the general history of the Indian branch of the Timûrides down to the seventh year of Muḥammadshâh's reign (A. H. 1137, 1138=A. D. 1724, 1725); comp. Rieu i. p. 274, and iii. pp. 924 and 1084^a; W. Morley, p. 99; Elliot, History of India, viii. pp. 17-20; Nassau Lees, Materials, p. 469. This fragment begins with the third year of Shâhjahan's reign, A. H. 1039 (A. D. 1630), and breaks off with the second year of Muḥammadshâh's reign, A. H. 1132. As there is no preface or conclusion, there is consequently no author's name or title found anywhere, but a comparison of the extract on Bahâdurshâh's death, given in English translation in the History of India, viii. p. 19, with fol. 316^a, lin. penult. sq. of this MS., proves beyond doubt its identity with the تذکرہ السلاطین چغتای (commenced, according to the preceding copy, A. H. 1135).

Beginning, on fol. 1^b: سال سیوم از جلوس علیحضرت
چون در ابتدای این سال فرخنده فال الخ

'Ālamgir's reign begins on fol. 79^b, but is incomplete; it breaks off in the twenty-first year (A. H. 1088, 1089=A. D. 1678), and is immediately followed (on fol. 154^b) by the account of A'zamshâh's accession (ذکر جلوس). The first year of Bahâdursâh's reign begins on fol. 162^b; the first year of Muḥammadshâh's reign, on fol. 238^b. The right order of ff. 166-327 is: 166, 247-326, 167-246, and 327. This copy came from Farrukhâbâd, A. H. 1197 (A. D. 1783). On the back appears the title: 'Ma'âsir-i-Jahangiri,' by a very peculiar mistake, which finds its explanation on the fly-leaf in this note: کتاب

تأریخ کامگارخان حسینی. The author's name Kâmwâr had been confounded with Kâmgâr, and since the latter, viz. Kâmgâr Husaini (who died A. H. 1050=A. D. 1640, 1641), is the author of the مآثر جهانگیری (see No. 324 above), the latter title has been wrongly assigned to this MS. It was purchased from the executors of the Marquess of Hastings.

No. 3151, ff. 328, ll. 15; excellent Nasta'lik; splendid binding in red and gold; size, 9¼ in. by 6 in.

Muntakhab-i-Lubâb (منتخب لباب).

A complete copy of the second volume of Muḥammad Hâshim 'Alikhân, commonly called Khâfikhân or rather Khwâfikhân's Muntakhab-i-Lubâb, containing the history of the Timûrides in India from Bâbar to Muḥammadshâh, and completely agreeing with the copy described in Rieu i. pp. 232 and 233; see also Bodleian Cat., Nos. 259-261; W. Morley, p. 100 sq.; Nassau Lees, Materials, p. 465; Elliot, History of India, vii. pp. 211-533. It was not completed before A. H. 1143 or 1144 (A. D. 1731), and the author died probably in the same year, 1144. Edited in the Bibliotheca Indica, Calcutta, 1868-1874.

Contents:

Complete index, on ff. 4^b-11^b. Beginning of the preface, on fol. 12^b: جهان جهان شکر و سپاس افزون از: قیاس الخ.

Introduction (مقدمه) on the origin of the Timūrīdes, and the life of Timūr and his descendants, on fol. 12^b, l. 4 ab infra.

Bābar, on fol. 15^b; Humāyūn, on fol. 25^b; Shīrshāh, on fol. 29^a; Salimshāh, on fol. 32^a; Firūzshāh, on fol. 32^b; Sikandarshāh, on fol. 34^a; Akbar, on fol. 38^a; Jahāngir, on fol. 56^a; Shāhjahān, on fol. 83^a; 'Ālamgir, on fol. 157^b; Saints of the time of 'Ālamgir, on fol. 271^b; A'zamshāh, on fol. 274^b; Bahādurshāh, on fol. 281^b; Jahāndārshāh, on fol. 299^a, last line; Farrukhsīyar, on fol. 305^a; Rafī'-aldarajāt, on fol. 339^a; Rafī'-aldaulah, on fol. 344^a; Muḥammadshāh, on fol. 346^b. Last chapter (seventh to thirteenth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign), on fol. 390^a.

No date. End of the twelfth century of the Hijrah. The larger portion of this MS. (ff. 4-298) is written by Hāji Darwish 'Alī, who also wrote ff. 1^b-3^b of this copy, containing a short introduction into Persian lexicography, which deals with the deficiencies in the فرهنگ, فرهنگ رشیدی, برهان قاطع, فرهنگ جهانگیری and others, and gives valuable remarks as to the interchange of letters, etc. This short tract may perhaps be due to the authorship of Khwaṭīkhān himself, as there are enumerated at the end, on fol. 3^b, a few other early works of the composer of this tract, which have been lost, viz. شرح اخلاق هاشمی در علم اخلاق, شرح مدخل (نیلاوتی (لیلاوتی) در علم حساب, مدخل منظوم (compare on the منظوم در علم نجوم, Rieu ii. p. 801^a). Part of fol. 94^a and the whole of fol. 94^b left blank, but the text is uninterrupted. This MS. belonged formerly to Mr. Richard Johnson.

No. 323, ff. 392, ll. 25; large Nasta'lik, written by two different hands, the second on ff. 299-392; size, 14 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 9 in.

Another copy of the same.

The same second volume of the Muntakhab-i-Lubāb, beginning as in the preceding copy.

Contents:

Bābar, on fol. 9^b; Humāyūn, on fol. 30^b; Akbar, on fol. 57^a; Jahāngir, on fol. 94^b; Shāhjahān, on fol. 151^a; 'Ālamgir, on fol. 318^a; A'zamshāh, on fol. 574^b; Bahādurshāh, probably on fol. 588^b (the headings are missing throughout the latter portion of the MS.); Jahāndārshāh, on fol. 628^a; Farrukhsīyar, on fol. 647^a; Rafī'-aldarajāt and Rafī'-aldaulah, on fol. 688^a; Muḥammadshāh, on fol. 698^b.

Dated the 23rd of Jumādā-alawwal, A. H. 1225 (A. D.

1810, June 26), by Kamar-al-din Bahra, an inhabitant of Haidarābād. Collated. Many marginal notes in English. The beginning of an 'Index of Reference to Khafīkhān's History of Aurengzeb' on the fly-leaf of No. 2402. Purchased by Madden, July 18, 1843.

No date. Modern copy.

No. 3256, ff. 435, ll. 26-27; mostly in Shikasta, written by different hands; a few portions in Nasta'lik; size, 14 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

400

The same.

The first half of the same second volume, from Bābar's conquest, A. H. 932, to the end of Shāhjahān's reign, A. H. 1067 (A. D. 1526-1657), divided into two sections, viz.

First section, on ff. 1^b-139^b, beginning in the usual way: جهان جهان شکر الخ.

Bābar, on fol. 6^b; Humāyūn, on fol. 22^b; Shīrshāh, on fol. 28^a; Salimshāh, on fol. 34^a; Firūzshāh, on fol. 35^a; Sikandarshāh, on fol. 37^a; Akbar, on fol. 41^a; Jahāngir, on fol. 84^a.

Second section, on ff. 140^b-276^a, beginning: از چمن

اخبار سلاطین کامگار و گلشن آثار خوائین نامدار الی
corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 95^b, l. 16.

Shāhjahān's reign (A. H. 1137-1167). The end of this copy corresponds to fol. 189^b, l. 14, in the preceding one.

No date. Very valuable marginal glosses. Fol. 56 turned upside down.

No. 2530, ff. 276, ll. 21; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 13 $\frac{7}{8}$ in. by 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

The same.

The second half of the same volume, from the accession of 'Ālamgir to the fourteenth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign. It consists of two sections; the first, on ff. 1^b-223^a, contains the history of 'Ālamgir, headed : ذکر سوانح اتمام فرمانروائی : and beginning : ذکر خلاصه دودمان سلاطین خلد مکان وزبدۀ : ذکر شجر گلشن سلطنت امیر تیمور الی corresponding to No. 3256 (399 in this Cat.), fol. 189^b, l. 15; the second, on ff. 224^b-378^a, contains the history of Muḥammad A'zamshāh (on fol. 224^b), Bahādurshāh (heading of his accession omitted), Jahāndārshāh (on fol. 267^b), Farrukhsiyar (on fol. 279^a), Rafi'-aldarajāt (on fol. 319^a), Rafi'-aldaulah (on fol. 323^b), and Muḥammadshāh (on fol. 326^b). The fourteenth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign begins on fol. 376^a. This section is headed : ذکر سکه و خطبۀ محمد اعظم شاه , and begins محمد اعظم شاه که بصوبداري مالود از بادشاه رخست حاصل نموده الی corresponding to No. 3256 (399 in this Cat.), fol. 332^a, l. 15.

No date. From a comparison of the contents of this MS. with those of the immediately preceding one it becomes evident that both formed originally one copy, the fifth complete one in the India Office Collection. Various readings and English annotations on the margin.

No. 2400, ff. 378, ll. 21; large and distinct Nasta'lik; parts of ff. 240 and 302 supplied by another hand; size, 13 $\frac{7}{8}$ in. by 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

A portion of the same.

A large portion of the second half of the second volume of the Muntakhab-i-Lubāb, beginning abruptly in the fourth year of 'Ālamgir's reign (A. H. 1071, 1072 = A. D. 1661) and going down to the accession of Farrukhsiyar (A. H. 1124 = A. D. 1713). The first heading that appears in this copy runs thus (on fol. 2^b, last line): ذکر مهم آشام بدانجام بسرداری عمده امرای خجسته : فرجام خانانان عرب معظم خان corresponding to No. 3256, fol. 223^a, l. 20. The initial words of this defective copy, ملازمت مرحمت فرمودند الی correspond to No. 3256, fol. 222^b, l. 6; the last, جهان جمله در , گذردیدم . . . to fol. 368^a, l. 16, in the same copy.

No date. Beginning of the thirteenth century of the Hijrah.

مجموعه ميرزا مهدی (Majmū'a-i-Mirzā Mahdikhānī خاني).

Another copy of the same historical outline by Mirzā Mahdikhān Ṣafawī, beginning as in the preceding copy. The tables go down to Bahādurshāh's death only; all the later dates are wanting.

No. 339, ff. 1-7; careless Nasta'liq; size, 11½ in. by 7 in.

The same.

A third copy of the same, also ending with Bahādurshāh's death, A.H. 1124=A.D. 1712. The date of composition appears on fol. 2^a, ll. 3 and 2 ab infra. According to the wording of the title here, مجموعه مرزا مهدی خان, it would be A.H. 1122, but that must be corrected into 1142 according to the preceding copy, by adding one ی in میرزا and another ی in خاني. College of Fort William, 1809.

No. 2304, ff. 10, ll. 13; careless Nasta'liq; size, 9 in. by 5 in.

Miscellaneous tracts.

These tracts contain historical and statistical accounts of different kinds, viz.:

1. Dates of birth and death of the Moghul emperors from Timūr to Shāh 'Ālam (ولادت و وفات پادشاهان), on fol. 1^b; the last date is A.H. 1185 (A.D. 1771, 1772).

2. Dates of the demise of holy and learned Shaikhs (رحلت بعضی اولیا), on fol. 6^b; beginning with Shaikh 'Abd-alkādir of Gilān (born A.H. 471, died A.H. 561=A.D. 1078-1166).

3. On the fourteen sciences (چهارده علوم که مشهورست), on fol. 9^b, with the subdivisions علم هندی که علامی, شیعہ ابو الفضل در کتاب اکبرنامه بقلم آورده, and علوم بموجب کتب عربی و فارسی, on fol. 12^a.

4. Statistical accounts (دستور العمل), on fol. 12^b: (a) Statistics of India, especially under 'Ālamgir and his successors, beginning with Dihli or Shāhjahānābād, on fol. 15^b; after which follow Āgra (Akbarābād), Lāhūr, Kābul, Kashmir, Multān, Gujarāt, Ajmir, Mālwah, the Dakhan, Bangālāh, Allahābād, etc.; (b) Statistics of Persia (جمع ممالك ايران), on fol. 45^a.

5. Names and titles of 'Ālamgir's family, relations, and chief officials (القاب و منصب عهد عالمگیر پادشاه), on fol. 49^b.

6. A portion of 'Ālamgir's writings, orders, and letters, beginning with the 'admonitions' of Shāhjahān, related by 'Ālamgir, on fol. 56^b (نصائح و پند علیحضرت شاهجهان پادشاه که اورنگ زب عالمگیر پادشاه غازی (نقل فرموده و بعضی شقّه عالمگیر پادشاه).

7. Another statistical account, written on different paper and by a different hand, entitled: تفریق کاربخشیان عظام, that is, on the great military officials of the Moghul empire, on fol. 82^a.

No. 370, ff. 103; written in large Nasta'lik as far as fol. 81, and throughout interleaved with many English notes and translations; ff. 82-103 in smaller, careless Nasta'lik, by another hand; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Siyar-almuta'akhhirin (سیر المتأخرین).

History of the Indian empire, from A. H. 1118 (A. D. 1707), the year of 'Ālamgir's death, to A. H. 1195 (A. D. 1781), by Ghulām Ḥusain bin Hidāyat 'Alīkhān bin al-Sayyid 'Alim-allāh bin al-Sayyid Faīd-allāh alḥusaini altabātabā'i, completed in Ramadān, A. H. 1195 (A. D. 1781, August, September); comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 265; Rieu i. pp. 280 and 281; W. Morley, p. 105 sq.; J. Aumer, p. 85; Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. iii. p. 14; Elliot, History of India, viii. pp. 194-198, etc. It is divided into two volumes, the first going down to A. H. 1152 (A. D. 1739, 1740), and beginning, on fol. 1^b: سیاس بقیاس و ستایش سرمدی اساس نثار بارگاه حمد و ثنای پادشاه علی الاطلاق و شکرو سپاس: 269^b; the second, beginning on fol. 269^b: حمد و ثنای پادشاه علی الاطلاق و شکرو سپاس: 269^b; with A. H. 1153 and closing with A. H. 1195.

An English translation of this work (without the muḥaddimah) by Mustafā, a French renegade, in three volumes, Calcutta, 1789; the first portion of the same, re-edited by J. Briggs, for the Oriental Translation Fund, London, 1832; see also Jonathan Scott's 'History of the Deccan,' ii. p. 313 sq. Complete edition, Calcutta, 1833, in fol. (Seear-ool Mutakhreen), and Lucknow, A. H. 1283; the muḥaddimah was printed, Calcutta, 1836; an abridgment of the whole work under the title of 'Moolukhus-ool-Tuwareekh' appeared already, 1827.

This copy was made in the month Sha'bān, A. H. 1205 (A. D. 1791, April), by Nāsir 'Alī bin Sayyid Ḥusain 'Alī. It formerly belonged to Mr. A. Welland, whose name, with the date of February 4, 1810, is written on the top of fol. 1^b.

No. 1117, ff. 336, ll. 25; Nasta'lik, several leaves supplied by other hands; large waterspots and slight injuries throughout; ff. 119 and 192 are more severely damaged; size, 12½ in. by 9½ in.

Another copy of the same.

This copy is older than the preceding one, but slightly defective, as there is a lacuna of eight leaves after fol. 336 (corresponding to No. 2931, 419 in this Cat., fol. 175^a, l. 10 to fol. 187^a, l. 6). First volume on fol. 1^b, second on fol. 357^b; beginning of both the same as in the preceding copy. No date, but on the fly-leaves (three pages) there is added by another hand in Shikasta a complete index of the work (فهرست کتاب), dated the 27th of Shawwāl, A. H. 1201 = A. D. 1787, August 12. This copy belonged formerly to Sir Barry Close.

No. 3319, olim 15. J. 4, ff. 476, ll. 23; Nasta'lik, by different hands; size, 10 in. by 6½ in.

The same.

First volume on fol. 1^b, second on fol. 383^b.

No date.

No. 1916, ff. 526, ll. 21; Nasta'lik, by at least three different hands (the first on ff. 1-224 and 252^b-380, the second on ff. 225-252^a, the third on ff. 383^b-526); size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

A fragment of the same.

A large portion of the first volume of the Siyar-almuta'akhhirin, beginning abruptly: نمی گذشت . . . عند التکلیف الخ; corresponding to No. 3319 (417 in this Cat.), fol. 169^b, l. 6, and going down to the end of the first volume, which was completed according to the colophon the 26th of Muḥarram, A. H. 1195 (A. D. 1781, January 22), corresponding to No. 3319, fol. 354^b. The proper order of the leaves is: ff. 1-176, 180-203, 177-179.

No. 2931, ff. 203, ll. 21; clear and distinct Nasta'lik, written in the most regular style; size, 10½ in. by 7½ in.

A smaller fragment of the same.

This portion of the first volume begins with ذکر رحلت نمودن نصیر الملک مهتم الدولة سعید احمدخان (Sa'īd Ahmadkhān Bahādur Šaulatjang's death in A. H. 1169 = A. D. 1756); corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 19^a, l. 13, and goes down to Mir Muḥammad Kāsimkhān's occupation of 'Azimābād (i. e. Patna), A. H. 1174 = A. D. 1760, 1761. The last words, with which this copy breaks off, on fol. 108^a, correspond to the preceding copy, fol. 94^a, l. 4 ab infra. Ff. 109^a-110^b (ll. 13 in large Nasta'lik) contain two short fragments of questions and answers on Hindūstānī grammar, from questions 91 to 98 and 165 to 176.

No. 2594, ff. 110, ll. 17-19; Shikasta; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

Fihrist - i - Siyar - almuta'akhhirîn (فهرست سیر المتأخرين).

An index to the Siyar-almuta'akhhirîn, with references to a special copy of that work (which is not stated) and corrections by a former English owner.

No. 1825, ff. 17; Shikasta; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

A detailed history of Muḥammadshāh's reign (A. H. 1131-1161 = A. D. 1719-1748), composed at Mr. Jonathon Scott's request, A. H. 1196 (A. D. 1782). see No. 250, fol. 18^a, l. 10, by Mirzā Muḥammadbaksh, with the takhalluṣ Āshub, see fol. 17^a, l. 8, and fol. 23^a, l. 12, in two volumes. The history is styled at the end of the second volume: تاریخ سیر و جلوس محمد شاه; and a little more correctly on ff. 1^a and 175^a: تاریخ شهادت قرخ سیر و جلوس محمد شاه بادشاه; see Rieu iii. p. 944, and Elliot, History of India, viii. p. 232, where a fuller description of this work is given.

Beginning: الحمد لله اما بعد بر متجسسان (so to be read instead of متجسسان ملوک و سلاطین افالیم جهان خصوصاً ملوک و خواقین عالی شان الخ).

The preface gives a complete list of all the historical works written on the dynasty of the Moghul emperors from Bābar to Muḥammadshāh; the history itself begins with Muḥammadshāh's birth, on fol. 26^b. In the first part the author often refers among other works (see Rieu, loc. cit.) to a history تاریخ محمد شاهی, otherwise styled رساله محمد شاه نامه, the author of which is unknown. The history only goes down to the death of Zakariyyākhān, A. H. 1158 (A. D. 1745), and of Nādirshāh, A. H. 1160 (A. D. 1747); see ff. 330^a and 327^a respectively.

Dated the 3rd of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1200 = A. D. 1786, January 4.

Nos. 250, 251, ff. 332, ll. 15; Nasta'lik, by two different hands; size of No. 250, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.; of No. 251, 8 $\frac{5}{8}$ in. by 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Ta'rikh-i-Aḥmadshāhī (تاریخ احمدشاهی).

A short history of the reign of the emperor Abū-alnasr Muḥajid-aldīn Aḥmadshāh, the son of the emperor Muḥammadshāh, composed by Muḥammad 'Alīkhān Anṣārī bin Hidāyat-allāhkhān (who began six years later, A. H. 1202, a very large general history of the Timūrides, styled تاریخ مظفری; see Rieu i. pp. 282 and 283, and Elliot, History of India, viii. p. 316 sq.) in A. H. 1196 (see ff. 1^b, l. 6, and 2^a, l. 8) = A. D. 1782. Aḥmadshāh ruled A. H. 1161-1167 (A. D. 1748-1754), six years and three months, and after having been deposed and blinded he lived twenty-one years more, and died A. H. 1188 (A. D. 1775), in the sixteenth year of Shāh 'Ālam's reign.

Beginning: سیاس بی قیاس لائق صانعی که جسم انسان را از حفیض ماء و طین بعلو مراتب ظهور آورده الخ.

No date. Probably the author's autograph.

No. 194, ff. 32, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

Ā'in-i-'Ālamshāhī (آئین عالمشاهی).

The first volume of a history of Prince 'Āli Gauhar, who ascended the throne of Dīhli under the title of Shāh 'Ālam, A. H. 1173 (A. D. 1759), from Aḥmadshāh's deposition, A. H. 1167 (A. D. 1754), to about A. H. 1203 (A. D. 1788), by Ghulām 'Alīkhān bin Raushan-aldaulah Bhakhārīkhān Rustamjang; see Bodleian Cat., No. 266; Rieu i. pp. 278 sq. and 281 sq.; Elliot, History of India, viii. p. 393. It is also styled sometimes شاه عالمنامه, تاریخ عالمنامه, and on fol. 1^a of this copy (see also fol. 1^b of the following copy) and تاریخ عالمشاهی (in the colophon). This first volume corresponds to the second book of the Bodleian copy (the first book there is the مقدمه or history of 'Ālamgir's successors down to the accession of 'Ālamgir II, which is wanting here altogether), and goes down to about A. H. 1185 (A. D. 1771).

Beginning: حمد بسمت احدی را رسد که میزان ادراک هیچ فردی حقیقت ذاتش الخ.

Dated in the month Rajab, A. H. 1207 (A. D. 1793. February, March).

No. 398, ff. 290, ll. 15; large Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6 in.

The same.

The second volume of the Ā'in-i-'Ālamshāhī (styled here تاریخ عالمشاهی جلد ثانی), comprising the next seventeen or eighteen years of Shāh 'Ālam's reign from A. H. 1185 to A. H. 1203, from Dābitākhān's defeat to the dethroning and blinding of Shāh 'Ālam, by Ghulām Kādīrkhān, and corresponding to the third and fourth books in the Bodleian copy.

Beginning: الحمد لله الذي جعل السلاطين الاعظم (الحواقین المکرم الخ in the Bodleian copy).

This volume is divided here into two maḳālas, viz.:

1. در تبیین روگردانی و نافرمانی نمودن سران دکن الخ, on fol. 2^a.
2. الحال باغاز معاللة ثانی برداخته چهره عرائس افکار الخ, on fol. 31^b.

Dated in the month Jumádâ-alûlâ, A. H. 1206 (A. D. 1792, January).

No. 243, ff. 139, ll. 15; Nasta'lik, written by different hands; size, 9 in. by 5¼ in.

Haḳīkathâi-Hindūstân (حقیقتهای هندوستان).

History and topography of the Śūbahs of Hindūstân and the Dakhan, compiled A. H. 1204=A. D. 1790 (the title is a chronogram, see fol. 3^b, l. 2; the date appears besides on fol. 1^b, l. 5 and at the end of the book) by Laḥmī Narāyan, with the takhalluṣ Shafīḳ (see fol. 1^b, l. 3), the author of the Tanmīḳ-i-Shigarf, a history of the Dakhan, composed A. H. 1200 (see Nos. 447 and 448 below), the Bisât-alghana'im or history of the Marat-tahs, A. H. 1214, and several other works, for which see No. 468 (further below) in this Catal., and Rieu i. pp. 238 and 327 sq.

Beginning: بعد حمد جهاندار جان آفرین خداوند زمان و زمین جلّ جلاله و عمّ نواله و نعوت سید کائنات خلاصه موجودات الخ.

The book contains four maḳālas:

Maḳālah I (not marked here by special heading) begins on fol. 3^b, and deals with the old revenue returns, drawn up by his grandfather and signed by Nizām-almulk, extending as far as the Faṣlī year, 1139 (see fol. 2^a, l. 5), with further additions and supplements.

Maḳālah II (beginning on fol. 35^b) gives an account of the following Śūbahs of Hindūstân: Shāhjahānābād (Dihli), on fol. 36^a; Akbarābād (Āgra), on fol. 41^b; Allahābād, on fol. 43^a; Oudh, on fol. 44^b; Bahār, on fol. 46^a; Bangālāh, on fol. 47^b; Orissa (here wrongly spelt اودیس), on fol. 49^b; Mālwhā, on fol. 50^b; Ajmir, on fol. 51^a; Aḥmadāhād-i-Gujarāt, on fol. 52^a; Tattah, on fol. 55^b; Multān, on fol. 57^b; Lāhūr, on fol. 59^a; Kābul, on fol. 72^a (Kashmir, which ought to be between the last two, is not marked at all in this copy).

Maḳālah III (beginning on fol. 76^b) deals with the following Śūbahs of the Dakhan: Khāndīs, on fol. 81^b; Barār, on fol. 93^b; Aurangābād, on fol. 107^b; Bidar, on fol. 120^b; Bijāpūr, on fol. 127^b; Haidarābād, on fol. 143^a.

Maḳālah IV (beginning on fol. 163^a) contains a short chronicle of the Muḥammadan rulers of India, from Sultān Mu'izz-al-dīn Sām down to A. H. 1204 in the reign of Shāh 'Ālam. No date.

No. 3055, ff. 213, ll. 14 on ff. 1-84, ll. 16 on ff. 85-213; Shikasta; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

Notes and other official documents of the last Moghul emperors of Dihli, especially of Muḥammadshāh, Aḥmadshāh, 'Ālamgir II, and Shāh 'Ālam. The latest date that appears is A. H. 1213=A. D. 1798, 1799 (on fol. 28^a); one of the earliest, even before the accession of Muḥammadshāh, A. H. 1127=A. D. 1715 (on fol. 78^a). Even a few of 'Ālamgir Aurangzib's are found here and there.

IND. OFF.

Ff. 1-13 are turned upside down. Fol. 14 sq. begin with orders of Muḥammadshāh, dated A. H. 1155, 1156, 1158, and 1153 (A. D. 1742, 1743, 1745, and 1740).

No. 2975, ff. 89; Shikasta, by various hands; size, 9 in. by 6¼ in.

Ta'riḳh-alsalāṭin (تاریخ السلاطین).

A short chronicle of the successors of Timūr and of the Moghul emperors of India down to Shāh 'Ālam, by Ṣūfī Ṣau'ān bin Mirzā Bābā, beginning: الحمد لله رب العالمين والعاقبة للمتقين والصلوة والسلام على رسوله محمد وآله واصحابه وازواجه وذريته واهليته اجمعين، اما بوشبده نماند فقير حقير سرابا الخ.

It is scarcely any more than a mere list of the rulers with very short dates and notices, full of errors, and of very little consequence in any respect. Dated in the month Dhū-alḳa'dah, A. H. 1220 (the forty-eighth year of Shāh 'Ālam's reign)=A. D. 1806, January, February. It seems to be the author's autograph.

No. 3160, ff. 34, ll. 11; large Nasta'lik; splendid binding in green and gold; size, 6½ in. by 4¼ in.

Dhikr-alsiyar (ذكر السیر).

A history of the last times of the Moghul empire in India from A. H. 1151 (A. D. 1738, 1739), and the massacre of the people of Dihli by order of Nādirshāh, down to the end of Shāh 'Ālam's reign, completed by Ghulām Husainkhān, the son of Muḥammad Himmattkhān of Shāhjahānābād, A. H. 1221=A. D. 1806, 1807 (the title is a chronogram, see fol. 387^a, l. 2 sq.). All his ancestors were in the service of the Moghul emperors; his own father, who died A. H. 1168 (A. D. 1754, 1755), from Muḥammad Farrukhsiyar's reign down to that of 'Ālamgir II (see fol. 3^a, l. 10 sq.).

Beginning: حمد خالقي که از خاک تیره آدم صلوات الله على نبينا وعليه السلام را آفریده بنفخت فيه من روحي كسوت حیات پوشانیده الخ.

The title سیرمتأخرین, given to it on the back of the binding and on fol. 1^a, is caused by a confusion of the name of the present author with the similar one of Ghulām Husain bin Hidāyat 'Alikhān; see Nos. 416-421 above.

No. 1501, ff. 388, ll. 16; large Nasta'lik; size, 13½ in. by 8 in.

430

Two portions of a great work on the political and natural history of his own country and of India in general, projected by the ruler of the Carnatic, Nawwāb Wālājāh 'Azimjāh Bahādūr, with the epithet of Sirāj-alumarā (see fol. 2^b, l. 8 sq.), or as he is styled with his full name on fol. 219^b, l. 10: Muḥammad 'Alikhān Bahādūr Dhū-alfakārjaug Sirāj-alumarā, who was installed by the British Government as Nawwāb the 3rd of February, 1820, and died the 12th of November, 1825. Both from the prefixes of these two portions and from an English notice on the fly-leaf we learn that the superintendence over this vast enterprise was entrusted to Maulānā Muḥammad Šibghat-allāh (صبغة الله), with the epithet Maḥmadat-al'ulamā Badr-aldaulah Mufti (see fol. 3^a, ll. 2 and 3), or as he is called on fol. 220^a, ll. 3 and 4: 'Azīm Nawāzkhān Bahādūr Mu'tamadjang 'Umdat-al'ulamā Mufti Badr-aldaulah, who selected proper collaborators for the various parts, the most prominent of whom was Ridā Šāhib, known as Ḥakīm Bākīr Ḥusainkhān Bahādūr (see fol. 4^a, l. 1, and fol. 220^a, last line). He applied himself particularly to the history of the rulers of the Carnatic, from Sa'd-allāhkhān to Nawwāb Muḥammad 'Alikhān Bahādūr Wālājāh. After his death Sayyid Murtaḍā (see fol. 4^b, l. 1) took the work in hand in order to supply other necessary portions of the political history (according to the English notice, on the basis of a previous work by Sayyid Muḥammad Badakhshānī, with whose style the Nawwāb was not altogether pleased—a statement which we cannot find in the Persian introduction!). The Nawwāb's death interrupted this work, and thus it was left for ever unfinished. Both the superintendent, Šibghat-allāh, and the principal compiler, Sayyid Murtaḍā, were still alive in 1859, the latter as teacher in the Madrasah.

First portion: Political history on ff. 1-217, styled, according to fol. 4^b, l. 3: عظیم التواریخ (for the general title, given in the English notice, viz. Sirāj-altawārīkh, no corroboration is found in the text), beginning: باعث ترتیب اورنگ ظهور عالم و انتظام مسند جلوه آدم حمد مر حضرت آفریدگار الخ.

According to the index on fol. 4^b the original work was to contain seven maḳālas and five muḳaddimas, the last three of which were to follow after the maḳālas, viz.:

Maḳālah I: The Ghaznawides.

Maḳālah II: Rulers of Dihlī, from the Ghūrides to the end of the Timūride Sultāns.

Maḳālah III: Sultāns of the Dakhan, from the Balmanshāhis to the Baridshāhis.

Maḳālah IV: Sultāns of Lāhūr, etc.

Maḳālah V: Islāmitic rulers, from the Arabian Khalīfs, beginning with Mu'āwiyah, to the end of Timūr's reign.

Maḳālah VI: Persian kings, from Gayūmarth to Yazdajird III.

Maḳālah VII: Rulers of the Carnatic, history of Nawwāb Ḥaidar 'Alikhān and Tipū Sultān, and the English conquest.

Muḳaddimah I and II: The Indian Rājās and the Hindū religion, together with a short account of the creation, etc.

Muḳaddimah III: Idol and sun worship in India.

Muḳaddimah IV: The wonders of the seven climates, and the springs, wells, rivers, places of worship of the Hindū and other religious creeds, etc., in India. Of these twelve subdivisions there are found in our text only six, viz.:

1. On fol. 5^a, a general introduction on the value of historiography, the sources of Hindū history (Mahābhārata, etc.), and a general outline of the pre-Islāmitic history of India.

2. On fol. 11^a, history of the creation, of the first patriarchs and the Hindū Rājās in detail, with a concluding portion on the first rise of Islām in India (on fol. 53^b). These two parts correspond upon the whole to the first and second muḳaddimas of the original plan.

3. On fol. 56^a, the Ghaznawides from Nāṣir-al-din Sabuktāgin to Khusrāu Malik bin Khusrāushāh (here styled مقلد سیم, corresponding to the first maḳālah of the original plan).

4. On fol. 78^b, the Sultāns of Dihlī, from the Ghūrides to Sultān 'Alā-al-din (here styled مقلد چهارم).

5. On fol. 106^b, continuation of the Sultāns of Dihlī, from Bahlūl Afghān Lūdi to Timūr and Shāhrukh (here styled مقلد پنجم).

6. On fol. 140^a, the Timūrides of India: Bābar, on fol. 143^a; Humāyūn, on fol. 149^b; Shirshāh and his successors, on fol. 154^b; second reign of Humāyūn, on fol. 158^b; Akbar, on fol. 161^a; conquest of Mālwah and short history of that country, on fol. 163^a; conquest of Gujarāt and condensed history of it, on fol. 164^b; Jahāngir's birth, on fol. 171^a; conquest of Patna and Bangālāh and history of both, on fol. 172^a; conquest of Kashmīr and history of that country, on fol. 176^a; conquest of Tattah and Sind and history of Sind, on fol. 180^b; Jahāngir, on fol. 183^b; Shāhjahān, on fol. 191^b; 'Ālamgir, on fol. 204^b, first line; Bahādūrshāh and Jahāndārshāh, on fol. 215^b; Farrukhsiyar, on fol. 216^a; Rafī'-al-darajāt and Muḥammadshāh, on fol. 216^b (here styled مقلد ششم).

The last three parts correspond to the second maḳālah and to portions of the fourth and fifth maḳālas of the original plan.

Second portion: Natural history, on ff. 218^b-337^b, styled, according to fol. 220^b, last line: جامع الاشیا, with the additional title of هشت چمن, beginning:

بنام آنکه در بالا وبستی

زند اسم عظیمش کوس هستی

It is divided into the following eight bābs:

1. Roses and other flowers (در ذکر اقسام گلهای خوشبو) (و خوشرنگ), on fol. 221^a.

2. Tobacco and other kinds of trees and fruits (در شرح حال بهمرستی تنباکو وغیره بعضی ادوات) (هر درختی و ذکر اقسام اشجار و میوه), on fol. 233^b.

3. Vegetables (در بیان بعلوات), on fol. 273^b.

4. Cereals (در بیان انواع حبوبات), on fol. 281^a.

5. Birds and poultry in the Ghauts (در ذکر اقسام طیور و مرغای که در ملک دادان گهات وبلا گهات پیدا میشوند), on fol. 284^b.

6. Beasts of prey, beginning with the lion (در حیوانات) (مقتبس), on fol. 299^b.

7. Waterfowls and fishes (در بیان مرغان و حیوانات) (آبی), on fol. 303^b.

8. Domestic animals, principally the horse (در بیان) (حیوانات انعام), on fol. 313^a.

The Nawwâb's zeal for the compilation of this work seems to have been particularly stimulated by the establishment of the Asiatic Society in London in 1822, if we understand the allusion on fol. 3^b, first line sq., correctly.

No. 3216, ff. 337, ll. 19; Nasta'lik, by four different hands, the oldest (probably that of Sayyid Murtadâ himself) on ff. 1-10, another (the neatest and most distinct of the four) on ff. 11-217, a third on ff. 218-319 and 324-337, a fourth on ff. 320-323; size, 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 7 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

Ẓafarnâma-i-wakâ'i-i-ghadr (ظفرنامه وقائع غدر).

A succinct history of the Indian Mutiny in 1857 and 1858, extending from the beginning of July, 1857, to February, 1859, and completed in the same year (A. H. 1276), the title ظفرنامه being a chronogram for that year. It was written by a Muḥammadan who conceals his name, but is upon the whole friendly to the English, for the immediate information of the Secretary of State for India and Members of Council.

Beginning: بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ - هست کلید در گنج حکیم، حبذا حکمت بالغه خداوند عز و جل که آبادان کند عالم را از عهد ابو البشر الخ.

This copy was completed the 21st of Dhû-al-ḥijjah, A. H. 1285 (A. D. 1869, 4th of April), and presented to the Library, 1870, March 23. A short English statement about the contents of the book (with the mistaken date of composition, A. H. 1289 instead of 1276), dated February 16, 1870, is inserted before the first page.

No. 3403, ff. 57, ll. 16; Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 in.

Dastûr-al'amal (دستور العمل).

The revenue system under the emperor Akbar, said to have been compiled by Rājah Todar Mal (see the colophon and compare Elphinstone, History of India, 5th ed., pp. 510 and 519), Akbar's famous minister of finance; but several portions of the book do not admit of his authorship, for instance, fol. 51^a, where Shāh-jahānābād is mentioned, the new town of Dihli built in Shāh-jahān's reign, long after Todar Mal's death, and on fol. 74^b (see the remark on the margin). If the book is really Todar Mal's Dastûr-al'amal, several portions must have been added later by some one else. It was badly copied by a Hindû, ignorant of the Persian language, A. H. 1195 (A. D. 1781), for Mr. Richard Johnson, and is therefore full of the biggest blunders. It is also imperfect. Another note, on fol. 1^a, states, that it was copied by 'Rājah Anundarain from a copy belonging to the Nabob Vizier.'

Beginning: فهرست دستور العمل جمع ممالك محروسه (بر ورق سیوم) مسافت راه ممالك محروسه الخ.

The first chapter, جمع ممالك, begins on fol. 3^b.

No. 1387, ff. 184; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 12 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 7 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

433

Fihrist-i-Şubajât-i-Hindûstân (فهرست صوبجات هندوستان).

Statistical tables and revenue accounts of the single provinces and districts of Hindûstân, copied from those drawn up by Mr. James Grant (مستر جمس گرانت), beginning with Shāh-jahānābād. The first page contains an index of the whole.

No date.

No. 1131, ff. 131; Shikasta; size, 10 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{7}{8}$ in.

434

Jam'-i-kâmil baḳaid-i-gûshwâra-i-şubajât-i-Hindû Dakhan u tafsil-i-parganât-i-şubajât-i-Dakhan (جمع کامل بنقد گوشواره صوبجات هندو دکن وتفصيل پرگنات صوبجات دکن).

Statistical account of the various provinces and districts of Hindûstân and the Dakhan in general and of the latter in particular, made by جکیبون داس, sent from Haidarâbâd in A. H. 1200 (A. D. 1786).

It begins with the district of Shāh-jahānābād.

No. 1799, ff. 51; Shikasta; size, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

b. Minor Dynasties of India.

Sind.

435

Caḥnâma (حجنامه).

The legendary history of the usurpation of Brahman Caḥ, the Rājah of Alor, and the Arab conquest of Sind, by Muḥammad bin Kāsim, A. H. 92 (A. D. 710), translated from an Arabic original by Muḥammad 'Alī bin Hāmid bin Abibakr Kūfi (see fol. 7^a, l. 3), who in the reign of Nāṣir-al-din Ḳabāḥa (or Ḳubāḥa)-alsalātīn (A. H. 607-625=A. D. 1210-1228), after having retired from the public service in the 58th year of his life, A. H. 613 (A. D. 1216), devoted himself to reading and studying. This work is also styled تاریخ هند و سند (here on fol. 1^a); منهاج الدین (here in the heading of fol. 1^b); منهاج (as frequently in the text itself); and منهاج المسالك (as in the Zubdat-altawārikh and the Tabakāt-i-Akbari), comp. Rieu i. p. 290 and iii. p. 948; Elliot, History of India, i. pp. 131-211. It is dedicated to Nāṣir-al-din's wazīr, Ḥusain bin Abibakr bin Muḥammad al-Ash'arī, the same, to whom 'Anfi presented his الالباب, see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 1.

Beginning (as in Rieu iii. p. 948): سپاس وستایش : مرآن خداوندی را که ذکر کرم او خلاصه ایمانست و شکر
نعم او مقدم امان آن صانعی الخ.

The first pages and some of the last ones too are injured; in several places the damages are repaired by another hand. The same hand has added on eight leaves, attached to this copy, a portion of the work from another MS. (جمنامه از نسخه دیگر). It begins with: خریدن محمد قاسم مرزن داهر لادی را الخ. Comp. Elliot, History of India, i. p. 192 sq.

No date.

No. 73, ff. 156, ll. 13; Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

436

Ta'rikh-i-Sind (تاریخ سند).

History of Sind, from the Muhammadan conquest to the annexation by the emperor Akbar, composed by Muhammad Ma'sūm bin Sayyid Šafā'ī alḥusaini alzandi (الزندی instead of the usual altirmidhi) albhakari, with the takhalluṣ Nāmi (see fol. 2^b, ll. 8 and 9), who died shortly after A.H. 1015 (A.D. 1607), comp. Rieu i. p. 291 and iii. p. 949; Elliot, History of India, i. pp. 212-252; W. Morley, p. 72 sq. It is divided into four Juz' or chapters, viz.:

1. History of the early kings of Sind, its conquest by Muhammad bin Kāsim and its history under the Umayyade and 'Abbāside Khalifs (partly abridged from the preceding Caḥnāma), on fol. 3^a.

2. History of Sind under the Ghaznawides and their successors on the throne of Dihli to A.H. 801 (A.D. 1399), and history of the Sūmarah and Sammah dynasties, to A.H. 916 (A.D. 1510), on fol. 20^a (the heading is here omitted).

3. History of the Arghūni dynasty to the death of Sultān Maḥmūdkhān, A.H. 982 (A.D. 1574), and of some rulers of Tattah till A.H. 993 (A.D. 1585), on fol. 51^b.

4. History of Sind from A.H. 982 to the complete subjugation of the country by Akbar in A.H. 1001 (A.D. 1592, 1593), on fol. 164^a. The work ends here with the capitulation of Jānibeg, whose death is recorded in a few lines.

Beginning: بر ضمائر صافیة کار آگاهان عالم بی اساس : و خواطر زاکیه هوشمندان سخن شناس مخفی و مستور
نخواهد بود الخ.

Dated the 8th of Jumādā-alawwal, A.H. 1186 (A.D. 1772, Aug. 7), by Maẓhar-allāh بازندبوری.

No. 43, ff. 174, ll. 17; Nasta'liq; size, 10½ in. by 7½ in.

437

Another copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. Juz' I. on fol. 3^a; II (heading not marked), on fol. 22^b; III, on fol. 53^a; IV, on fol. 153^a. Copied by 'Abd-al'aziz for Colonel Mackenzie, and finished the 26th of Dhū-alḥijjah, A.H. 1216 (A.D. 1802, April 29).

No. 2952, ff. 163, ll. 15; Shikasta; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Gujarāt.

438

Mirāt-i-Sikandari (مرآت سکندری).

History of Gujarāt, from the foundation of the monarchy to the suicide of Sultān Muẓaffar III, the last king of Gujarāt, A.H. 1000 (A.D. 1591, 1592), by Sikandar bin Muḥammad, surnamed Manjhū (or Manjhū Akbar, as in other copies), who completed this work in A.H. 1020, or (according to one copy in the Bodleian Library, Hunt. 230) A.H. 1022, 9th of Rabi'-alawwal (A.D. 1611 or 1613, April 29); comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 272-275; Rieu i. p. 287 sq.; W. Morley, p. 83; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat. p. 488 sq.; and Sir Edward Clive Bayley, 'The Local Muhammadan Dynasties. Gujarāt,' London, 1886 (a sequel to Elliot's History of India), which contains an almost complete translation of this work, with numerous annotations. The text has been lithographed, A.H. 1246 (A.D. 1831), and printed at Bombay, 1851.

The present copy, although not dated, is perhaps the best and most correct in the India Office collection, and at least as old as the following ones, if not older. A seal with the date A.H. 1056 (A.D. 1646) on fol. 1^a. It belonged formerly to Mr. Richard Johnson, whose escutcheon, with the date A.H. 1194 (A.D. 1780), is found on the inner side of the binding.

Beginning: الحمد لله الذى جعل فردًا من افراد البشر : سلطانا بين الانام الخ.

The work contains the reigns of the following twelve Shāhs, with the dates of their accession:

1. Ẓafarkhān, afterwards Muẓaffar Shāh I, A.H. 810 (A.D. 1407), on fol. 3^a (the date on fol. 12^b).

2. Sultān Aḥmad I, A.H. 813, 14th of Ramaḍān (A.D. 1411, Jan. 10), on fol. 14^b.

3. Sultān Muḥammad bin Aḥmad, A.H. 845 (A.D. 1441), on fol. 31^b.

4. Sultān Kutb-al-din bin Muḥammadshāh, known as Jalālkhān, A.H. 855, 11th of Muḥarram (A.D. 1451, Febr. 13), on fol. 34^b.

5. Sultān Dā'ūd bin Aḥmadshāh, A.H. 863, 23rd of Rajab (A.D. 1459, May 26).

6. Sultān Maḥmūd I, A.H. 863, first of Sha'bān (A.D. 1459, June 3), on fol. 50^a.

7. Sultān Muẓaffar II, A.H. 917, the 7th of Ramaḍān (A.H. 1511, Nov. 28), on fol. 103^a.

8. Sultān Sikandar bin Muẓaffar, A.H. 932, 22nd of Jumādā-alākhar (A.D. 1526, April 5, but see the suggestion in Bayley, p. 307, note 3), on fol. 146^b.

9. Sultān Bahādurshāh, A.H. 932, 26th of Ramaḍān (A.D. 1526, July 6), on fol. 155^b (Bayley inserts between 8 and 9 the short reign of a certain Maḥmūdshāh II, see p. 318 sq.).

10. Sultān Maḥmūd II (styled Maḥmūd III by Bayley, but called here distinctly سلطان محمود ثانی; there is moreover in Bayley another reign inserted between 9 and 10, that of Muḥammadshāh Fārūki, see ib., p. 399), A.H. 943 (A.D. 1537), on fol. 203^b.

11. Sultān Aḥmadshāh II bin Latīfkhān, A.H. 961, 15th of Rabi'-alawwal (A.D. 1554, Febr. 18), on fol. 239^b.

12. Sultân Muẓaffar III, A. H. 968, Ramaḍân (A. D. 1561, May, June), on fol. 268^a (the last two reigns are entirely omitted in Bayley's work).

No. 1038, ff. 299, ll. 19; good Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece, the first two pages neatly embellished; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 in.

439

Another copy of the same.

Beginning as usual. Dated in the month Dhû-alka'dah, A. H. 1046 (A. D. 1637, end of March to end of April).

No. 970, ff. 166, ll. 21-24; written by different hands, partly in Nasta'lik, partly in Shikasta; some portions collated; size, 14 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 8 in.

440

The same.

This copy, which is in a very bad condition, owing to the destructive work of the worms, was completed the 5th of Shawwâl, A. H. 1072 (A. D. 1662, May 24).

Beginning: الحمد لله الذى (here جعل is omitted) فرّداً من افراد الخ.

No. 3002, ff. 397, ll. 17-20; Naskhi, mixed with Shikasta; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

441

The same.

Dated the 12th of Shawwâl, A. H. 1190 (1183 of the Bangâli era=A. D. 1776, Nov. 24).

No. 404, ff. 312, ll. 15; written by different hands, partly in Nasta'lik, partly in Shikasta; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

A defective copy of the same.

This copy is worm-eaten and more or less injured throughout; there is a large lacuna after fol. 2, comprising according to the Arabic pagination twenty-three leaves, and corresponding to No. 1038 (438 in this Cat.), fol. 2^b, l. 12, to fol. 25^a, l. 13.

Dated the 27th of Rajab, A. H. 1049 (A. D. 1639, November 23), by 'Abd-al'aziz al-kuraishi. The author's name appears here on fol. 1^b, l. 6, in full: Sikandar bin Muḥammad Manjhû Akbar. Haileybury MS.

No. 3378, olim 14. J. 17, ff. 241, ll. 19 in the older part on ff. 3-16, 18-79, and 85-97; ll. 17 in the more modern part on ff. 1, 2, 17, 80-84, and 98-241; Nasta'lik, by two hands; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 4 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Another, still more defective, copy of the same.

This copy, greatly damaged, begins: الحمد لله الذى جعل افراد (فرّداً من افراد) البشر سلطاناً الخ.

The author's name, on fol. 1^b, l. 5, is given simply as: Sikandar bin Manjhû. A large lacuna after fol. 5, comprising the end of Muẓaffarshâh's reign and the reigns of Aḥmadshâh and Muḥammadshâh, corresponding to No. 1038, fol. 6^a, l. 13, to fol. 42^b, l. 11. Fol. 6 opens in A. H. 855, the year of Kuṭb-aldin Shâh's accession. Another lacuna after fol. 201 (in the reign of Aḥmadshâh II), corresponding to No. 1038, fol. 254^a, l. 9, to fol. 256^a, l. 14. The copy breaks off on fol. 240^b, corresponding to No. 1038, fol. 297^b, l. 14. On fol. 1^a there appears in the same place the beginning of a condensed prose-narrative of the reign of Shâh 'Alam, entitled مضمون شاهنامه فردوسى (argument of Firdausi's Shâh-nâma). Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 1821, ff. 240, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; large waterspots; size, 9 in. by 5 in.

Mirât-i-Aḥmadi (مرآت احمدی).

A very extensive and rare history of Gujarât, from the earliest times to the defeat of the Mahrattas in A. H. 1174 (A. D. 1760, 1761), composed by 'Alī Muḥammadkhân, who began the introduction of this work in A. H. 1170=A. D. 1756, 1757 (see fol. 8^b, l. 14), the fourth year of the reign of 'Ālamgīr II; comp. Rieu i. pp. 288 and 289; W. Morley, pp. 84-86; Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. iii. p. 13; Bayley, 'The Local Muhammadan Dynasties. Gujarât,' p. xix sq. and p. 2 sq. (where a condensed translation of the earlier parts of this work is given). Muḥaddimah, on fol. 9^b; beginning of the ante-Muḥammadan period, on fol. 18^a; beginning of the Muḥammadan rulers, on fol. 23^a. A khâtimah or appendix, containing geographical, topographical, and biographical matters concerning Gujarât, on ff. 651^b-812^b.

Beginning: فهرس نسخه دفتر کمال حمد پادشاه مالک الملکی که نصب و عزل فرمانروایان ممالک هفت اقلیم و والیان تخت و دیهیم و اورنگ نشینان الخ.

Dated the 6th of Rabi'-alawwal, in the twenty-sixth year of Shâh 'Ālam's reign (A. H. 1199=A. D. 1785, January 17), by Luṭf-allâh. The first part of this work has been translated by Dr. J. Bird for the Oriental Translation Fund: 'The political and statistical history of Gujarât, translated from the Persian of Alī Moham-med Khân,' London, 1835.

No. 222, ff. 812, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

The Dakhan.

a. General History.

445

Ta'rikh-i-Dilkushâ (تاریخ دلکشا).

Part of the annals of military transactions in the Dakhan under the emperor 'Ālamgīr, from about A. H. 1068 to A. H. 1120 (A. D. 1658-1708), by Bhimsen ibn Raghūnandandâs (بهمسن ابن رگھونندن داس), entitled دلکشا (see author's name and title on fol. 3^b, ll. 4 and 10). The author was born in the twenty-third year of Shâhjahân's reign, A. H. 1059 (A. D. 1649), see a fuller description of this work in Rieu i. p. 271. Our copy is imperfect at the end, only going down to about the thirtieth year of 'Ālamgīr's reign, A. H. 1098 (A. D. 1687). An abridged translation of these annals is found in Jonathan Scott's 'History of the Dekkan,' vol. ii. pp. 3-123.

Beginning: ستانٹس و نمابٹس معبودی را سزد که قالب انسان را از کتم عدم بوجود آورده الخ.

No. 94, ff. 105, ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Kadâyâi-Salâtin-i-Dakhan (قصای سلاطین دکن).
A history of the Dakhan, compiled chiefly on the basis of Firishṭa's Gulshan-i-Ibrâhîmî (see Nos. 291-304 in this Cat.), by Mirzâ Mahdikhân, i.e. Nizâm-al-din Muḥammad Hâdi alḥusaini alṣafawî, the author of the تارخ نادری (Bodleian Cat., Nos. 302-306) and the مجموعه میرزا مهدی خانی (see above, Nos. 412-414), in A.H. 1156, A.D. 1743 (the title is a chronogram). According to the index on the second page, this work was to contain seven bābs, viz.:

1. Bahmanî Sultāns of Gulbargah; 2. Ādilshāhs of Bijāpūr; 3. Nizāmshāhs of Aḥmadnagar; 4. Kuṭbshāhs of Tiling; 5. Īmādshāhs of Barār; 6. Baridiyyah Shāhs of Bidar; 7. Fārūki Sultāns of Khândis, etc., with a khātimah on the history of Malabar and Sarāūdib and the European settlements in India. But this copy (or perhaps the work itself) is incomplete, giving only the first bāb (the Bahmauīs) from A.H. 748 to A.H. 934 (A.D. 1347-1528), and the greater part of the second bāb (the Ādilshāhs) to A.H. 1005 (A.D. 1596, 1597).

Beginning: سپاس و ستایش بی قیاس بادشاه ازل
و ابد بارگاه بحکم کل یوم و هوفی شان الخ

The second bāb begins on fol. 70^a.

No. 339, ff. 9-109, ll. 25; careless Nasta'liq; size, 11½ in. by 7 in.

Tanmīk-i-Shigarf (تنمیک شگرف).

History of the Dakhan, compiled by Laḥmī Narāyan, with the takhalluṣ Shafīk (comp. No. 426 above and No. 468 below), A.H. 1200=A.D. 1786 (the title is a chronogram); see the references made to this work in Rieu i. p. 238^b and ii. p. 860^a. It begins on fol. 2^a with a topographical and statistical account of the different sūbahs; on fol. 40^b follows the history of the conquest of the Dakhan under the kings of Dihli; on fol. 43^a that of the Bahmanî Sultāns, abridged from Firishṭa, and finally the ملوک الطوائف in several subdivisions, viz.:

1. Ādilshāhs of Bijāpūr, on fol. 51^b; 2. Nizāmshāhs of Aḥmadnagar, on fol. 54^b; 3. Īmādshāhs of Barār, on fol. 58^a; 4. Kuṭbshāhs of Haidarābād, on fol. 58^b; 5. Fārūki Sultāns of Khândis, on fol. 61^a; 6. Baridiyyah Sultāns of Bidar, on fol. 62^b.

On fol. 63^a begins the account of the Moghul emperors (ذکر سلاطین تیموریّه) down to A.H. 1200.

Beginning of the whole work:

بار ز تو دافت گفتگو خامه من
برخی ز سوانح دکن کرد سخن

Mr. Richard Johnson, to whom the work is dedicated (see fol. 2^a), received this copy in February, 1788 (A.H. 1202, Jumādā I), from Haidarābād.

No. 1732, ff. 203, ll. 15; Nasta'liq; size, 9½ in. by 5 in.

448

Another copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy.

Burhān-i-Maāthir (برهان مآثر).

An excellent, but defective copy of 'Alī bin 'Aziz-allāh Tabāṭabā's history of the Bahmanîs and Nizāmshāhîs of Gulbargah, Bidar, and Aḥmadnagar, commenced A.H. 1000=A.D. 1592 (the title is a chronogram), and completed in or shortly after A.H. 1004 (A.D. 1596), comp. Rieu i. pp. 314 and 315, and iii. p. 1085^a. Six leaves are missing at the beginning of this copy, and possibly one or two at the end. It opens abruptly in the first tabakah (Gulbargah), in the reign of Sultān 'Alā-al-din Ḥasaushāh Bahmanî (A.H. 742-758=A.D. 1342-1357), thus: وزیر صافی ضمیر مردم
آئملک از فتنه و فساد ایمن الخ

The first heading appears on fol. 6^a: ذکر توجّه ریات
فتح آیات سلطان بصوب گلبرگه بجهت دفع مفسدان

The following reigns (with the respective dates of accession) are these:

Sultān Muḥammadshāh I bin Sultān 'Alā-al-din Ḥasaushāh Bahmanî (A.H. 758-775=A.D. 1357-1373), on fol. 15^a.

Sultān Mujāhidshāh bin Sultān Muḥammadshāh Bahmanî (A.H. 775-779, 18th of Dhū-alḥijjah=A.D. 1373-1378, April 17), on fol. 16^b.

Sultān Dā'ūdshāh I bin Maḥmūdshāh bin Sultān 'Alā-al-din (A.H. 779-780, Muḥarram=A.D. 1378, April to May), on fol. 17^b.

Sultān Abū-almuẓaffar Muḥammadshāh II bin Maḥmūdshāh (A.H. 780-799, 26th of Rajab=A.D. 1378-1397, April 25), on fol. 18^a.

Sultān Abū-almuẓaffar Ghiyāth-al-din Bahmanshāh bin Sultān Muḥammadshāh II (A.H. 799, Rajab to 17th of Rumaḍān=A.D. 1397, April to June 14), on fol. 19^a.

Sultān Shams-al-din Dā'ūdshāh II bin Sultān Muḥammadshāh II (A.H. 799-800, 23rd of Ṣafar=A.D. 1397, June to Nov. 15), on fol. 19^b.

Sultān Taj-al-din Abū-almuẓaffar Firūzshāh bin Aḥmadkhān bin Sultān 'Alā-al-din Bahmanî (A.H. 800-825, 11th of Shawwāl=A.D. 1397-1422, September 28), on fol. 21^a.

Second tabakah (Bidar).

Sultān Shihāb-al-din Abū-alghāzi Aḥmadshāh I bin Aḥmadkhān bin 'Alā-al-din Bahmanî (A.H. 825-838=A.D. 1422-1435), on fol. 29^a.

Sultān 'Alā-al-din Abū-almuẓaffar Aḥmadshāh II bin Aḥmadshāh (A.H. 838, 22nd of Rajab, to 862, end of Jumādā-alawwal=A.D. 1435, February 21, to 1458, April), on fol. 46^a.

Sultān Humāyūnshāh bin 'Alā-al-din Aḥmadshāh II (A.H. 862-865, 27th of Dhū-alḥajjah=A.D. 1458-1461, September 3), on fol. 57^b.

Sultân Nizâmshâh bin Humâyûnshâh (A.H. 865-867, 13th of Dhû-alka'dah=A.D. 1461-1463, July 30), on fol. 64^b.

Sultân Muhammadshâh bin Sultân Humâyûnshâh (A.H. 867-887, 5th of Şafar=A.D. 1463-1482, March 26), on fol. 75^a.

Sultân Mahmûdshâh bin Muhammadshâh (A.H. 887-924, 24th of Dhû-alhijjah=A.D. 1482-1518, December 27, not 904, as in Rieu, loc. cit., since it is distinctly stated that he reigned 37 years and some months), on fol. 97^b.

Third tabakah (Ahmadnagar).

Sultân Ahmad Barî (A.H. 891-911=A.D. 1486-1505, see fol. 160^b sq.), on fol. 125^b.

Sultân Abû-almuẓaffar Burhân Nizâmshâh (A.H. 911-961, 24th of Muharrar=A.D. 1505-1553, December 30, see fol. 312^a), on fol. 186^a.

Sultân Husainshâh Nizâmshâh (A.H. 961-972, 7th of Dhû-alka'dah=A.D. 1553-1565, June 6, see fol. 376^a), on fol. 319^a.

Sultân Abû-alghâzi Muradâ Nizâmshâh (A.H. 972-996, 18th of Rajab=A.D. 1565-1588, June 13, see fol. 521^b), on fol. 376^b.

Shâhzâda Mirânshâh Husain bin Muradâ (A.H. 996-997, Rajab=A.D. 1588-1589, May), on fol. 524^b.

The subsequent reigns and events from A.H. 997 to 1004 (A.D. 1589-1596) are no longer kept distinct; a detailed account of them is given by Rieu, loc. cit. Şalâbatkhân's escape from the fortress of Karlah (قلعة كركل) is narrated on fol. 538^b sq., 'Âdilshâh's arrival and war with Jamâlkhan on fol. 543^a sq.; expedition against the Portuguese on fol. 548^b sq.; punishment of the traitors on fol. 552^b sq.

The same gap in the narrative, noticed by Rieu, is found here between ff. 556 and 557 (fol. 557^a being left blank, and fol. 557^b beginning with a new بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم). Advance of the Moghuls into the Dakhan, on fol. 557^b sq.; night attack (شبخون) of Abhangkhân, on fol. 565^a sq.; breach made in the wall of the fortress of Ahmadnagar, on fol. 574^a sq.; peace made with prince Murâd, on fol. 583^a sq.; departure of the Moghuls and submission of Ikhilâshkhân and others, 27th of Rajab, A.H. 1004 (A.D. 1596, March 27), on fol. 590^a.

Tawârikh-i-Haft Kursî (تواریخ هفت کرسی).

A short history of the 'Âdilshâhs of Bijâpûr, from the reign of Yûsuf 'Âdilshâh to the conquest of Bijâpûr, by 'Âlamgir, in A.H. 1097 (A.D. 1686), identical in its contents, its conciseness, and its richness of dates with the احوال سلاطین بیجاپور, described in W. Morley, p. 77, and Rieu i. p. 318, but nevertheless, as it appears, of different authorship, since the short preface—provided that there is no preliminary portion missing—contains no allusion to the two previous works on which that history of the 'Âdilshâhs is based. This copy contains only a reference to 'Abd-almuhammad Shāhnawāzkhān, at whose request the anonymous author (who is called—apparently on no authority—on the fly-leaf فتورخان) compiled this abridgment. It is divided into seven majlis, dealing with the first seven rulers of Bijāpūr, viz.: 1. Yūsuf 'Ādilshāh, died A. H. 925=A. D. 1519 (on fol. 3^a); 2. Isma'il 'Ādilshāh, died A. H. 931=A. D. 1524, 1525 (on fol. 10^a); 3. Ibrāhīm 'Ādilshāh I, died A. H. 965=A. D. 1558 (on fol. 11^a); 4. 'Alī 'Ādilshāh I, died A. H. 988=A. D. 1580 (on fol. 20^b); 5. Ibrāhīm 'Ādilshāh II, died A. H. 1036=A. D. 1626 (on fol. 24^b); 6. Muḥammad 'Ādilshāh, died A. H. 1067=A. D. 1656 (on fol. 27^a); 7. 'Alī 'Ādilshāh II, died A. H. 1083=A. D. 1672 (on fol. 31^b). A short appendix contains a tabulated list of these seven rulers and a few words about Sikandar 'Ādilshāh, to A. H. 1097 (A. D. 1686).

Beginning: اولاً تواریخ هفت کرسی نند آبان و جند در چند روز الخ.

Basātin-i-Salāṭīn (بساتین سلاطین).

A history of the 'Ādilshāhs of Bijāpūr, from the origin of the dynasty to its last representative, Sulṭān Sikandar, and its overthrow by 'Ālamgir, compiled by Muḥammad Ibrāhīm al-zubairi (see fol. 3^b, l. 11), and entitled بساتین السلاطین (ff. 3^b, l. 9, and 435^b, last line). The author's name therefore, as given here, agrees completely with that in W. Morley, p. 79, and the same is the case with the date of composition, viz. A. H. 1240=A. D. 1824, 1825 (see ff. 431^a, last line but one, and 433^b, l. 12, where the author states that it is the eighth year now since the conquest of Bijāpūr by the English, which took place A. H. 1233). A different author's name and an earlier date, viz. A. H. 1237 (A. D. 1821, 1822), are found in Rieu's copies, i. p. 319 sq.

Beginning: سپاس گوناگون و ستایش از حد افزون مر: صانعی را سزد که بغدرت کامله خود الخ.

The authorities on which the author based his work are six, viz.:

1. Muḥammad Kāsim Firishṭa's Nauras-nāma (or Gulshan-i-Ibrāhīmī), composed A. H. 1015, see Nos. 291-304 in this Catalogue.

2. Mir Rafī' al-dīn Shīrāzī's Tadhkirat-almulūk, composed between A. H. 1017 and 1020 (not 1000, as Morley states), see Bodleian Cat., No. 276, and Rien i. p. 316.

3. Mullā Żuhūr ibn Mullā Żuhūrī Ka'īnī's Muḥammadnāma, composed in Sulṭān Muḥammad 'Ādilshāh's reign.

4. Sayyid Nūr-allāh ibn Kādi Sayyid 'Alī Muḥammad Nūr-allāh's Inshā-i-'Alī 'Ādilshāhiyyah, composed in 'Alī 'Ādilshāh II's reign, that is, the Ta'rikh-i-'Alī 'Ādilshāh, see Nos. 450-453 in this Catalogue.

5. Miyan Nuṣratī, the king of poets in the Dakhan's versified 'Alīnāma, composed in the same reign.

6. Shaikh Abū-alḥasan ibn Kādi 'Abd-al'azīz's history of the 'Ādilshāh dynasty down to Sikandarshāh, compiled at the end of A. H. 1110.

No mention of Mr. Grant Duff is found here. The work is divided into eight gardens (būstān) and an appendix, viz.:

Būstān I, on fol. 3^b: Reign of Yūsuf 'Ādilshāh, who founded Bijāpūr, A. H. 919=A. D. 1513 (see fol. 18^b, lin. penult.), and died A. H. 925 (according to others already A. H. 913 or 916, see fol. 17^b, last two lines).

Būstān II, on fol. 19^a: Reign of Isma'il 'Ādilshāh, A. H. 925-941 (A. D. 1519-1534), see fol. 38^a, last line (not 931, as Rieu and the immediately preceding Haft Knrsī state).

Būstān III, on fol. 39^b: Reign of Ibrāhīm 'Ādilshāh I, A. H. 941-965, see fol. 61^b, l. 7.

Būstān IV, on fol. 62^b: Reign of 'Alī 'Ādilshāh I, A. H. 965-988 (see the ta'rikh on his death, شاه جهان شد شهید, on fol. 142^b, l. 8).

Būstān V, on fol. 143^a: Reign of Ibrāhīm 'Ādilshāh II, A. H. 988-1037 (1036 in the Haft Kursi), see fol. 240^b, first line.

Būstān VI, on fol. 240^b: Reign of Muḥammad 'Ādilshāh, A. H. 1037-1067, see fol. 279^a, l. 7.

Būstān VII, on fol. 286^b: Reign of 'Alī 'Ādilshāh II, A. H. 1067-1083, see fol. 318^a, first line (Rieu's copies fix his accession in A. H. 1048=A. D. 1638).

Būstān VIII, on fol. 318^a: Reign of Sikandar 'Ādilshāh, who ascended the throne in A. H. 1083 (A. D. 1672), and died A. H. 1111 (A. D. 1699, 1700), see fol. 413^a, first line.

A supplement, dealing with the last years of 'Ālamgir's reign, followed by a short summary of subsequent events down to A. H. 1233 (A. D. 1818), the date of Bijāpūr's conquest by the English, on fol. 417^a sq.

Some leaves injured, for instance, ff. 143 and 144.

No. 3406, ff. 435, written by a number of different hands; the main portion, ff. 25-270^a middle and 320-435, in very unequal Shikasta, ll. 11-20; another portion, ff. 1-24, in very clear and distinct Nasta'liq, ll. 15; and a third portion, ff. 270^a middle to 319, in another smaller Nasta'liq, ll. 21; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

Tārikh-i-Sulṭān Muḥammad Kuṭbshāhi (تاریخ سلطان محمد قطبشاهی).

History of the Kuṭbshāhi dynasty of Gulkundah, by an anonymous author, commenced A. H. 1026 (A. D. 1617) and completed in the beginning of A. H. 1027 (A. D. 1618). It was dedicated to Sulṭān Muḥammad Kuṭbshāh, see Bodleian Cat., No. 277; Rieu i. p. 320; W. Morley, p. 82; Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. iii. p. 10.

Beginning: تمجیدی که شاهباز بلند برواز اندیشه بساحت کبریای آن طبران نتواند نمود الخ.

Muḥaddimah, containing an account of Karā Yūsuf Turkmān and his family, on fol. 3^a.

Makālah I: History of Sulṭān Kūli Kuṭb-almulk, who founded the dynasty, and died A. H. 950 (A. D. 1543, 1544), on fol. 29^b.

Makālah II: History of Sulṭān Jamshīd (died A. H. 957=A. D. 1550) and of Sulṭān Subḥān Kūli, on fol. 92^a.

Makālah III: History of Sulṭān Ibrāhīm Kuṭbshāh, died A. H. 988 (A. D. 1580), on fol. 113^a.

Makālah IV: History of Sulṭān Muḥammad Kūli Kuṭbshāh, died A. H. 1020 (A. D. 1612), on fol. 190^b.

Khātimah: History of the first five years of Sulṭān

Muḥammad Ḳuṭbshāh's reign, from his accession, the 17th of Dhū-alka'dah, A. H. 1020 (see fol. 256^b, ll. 4 and 3 ab infra)=A. D. 1612, Jan. 21, to the end of A. H. 1025 (end of A. D. 1616), on fol. 254^a.

This work is interspersed with much poetry, and the khātimah especially contains a long series of ghazals, rubā'is, marthiyyas, ḳasidas, etc., composed by Muḥammad Ḳuṭbshāh himself; all the ghazals bearing consequently the takhalluṣ ظلّ الهی or سلطان.

This copy was finished the 20th of Ramaḍān, A. H. 1078 (A. D. 1668, March 4), by Shaikh 'Abd-alḥakīm.

Maāthir-i-Ḳuṭbshāhī Maḥmūdī (مآثر قطبشاهی محمودی).

A very summary account of the reign of Sulṭān Muḥammad Ḳuṭbshāh (A. H. 1020-1035=A. D. 1612-1626), together with a detailed account of all the contemporary events, especially in the Ṣafawī dynasty, with which the ruler of Gulkundah maintained friendly relations (see Rieu i. p. 186^b), by Muḥammad bin 'Abdallāh of Nishāpūr, who entered the service of Sultān Muḥammad Kūli Kutbshāh, A.H. 995 (A.D. 1587), see fol. 3^b sq. Originally he wrote it in three volumes, but afterwards he several times altered and enriched it, especially after a long journey through Persia, and a pilgrimage to Makkah. The present copy is only a portion of the whole work, and incomplete at the end; as the current year is mentioned A.H. 1033 (A.D. 1624), on fol. 153^a, l. 22, but a later date, A.H. 1038 (A.D. 1629), the year of Shāh 'Abbās' death and Shāh 'Safī's accession, appears on fol. 172^a. It begins, on fol. 5^a, with an account of the Safawis, from Shaikh 'Safī to Shāh 'Abbās, to whom the largest portion of this MS. is devoted (in twelve makālas, on the basis of Iskandar Munshi's تاریخ عالم آرای عباسی, comp. Rieu i. p. 187^a). The account of the Kutbshāhi dynasty begins on fol. 86^a, but already on fol. 92^a the Persian history is continued.

The تاریخ قطبشاه محمودی is often quoted.

Hadikat-alsalātin (حدیقة السلاطین).

The history of Sultān 'Abdallāh Kutbshāh of Gulkundah, who was born A.H. 1023 = A.D. 1614 (chronograms for his birth, see on fol. 7^a, last line, کلم بخش جانها; on fol. 7^b, l. 5, خلد الله عمره ابدا, etc.), and succeeded his father, Sultān Muḥammad, A.H. 1035 (A.D. 1626). The history goes down to the end of the sixteenth year of his reign, A.H. 1050 = A.D. 1640, 1641 (see the beginning of that year, on fol. 215^a, last line). The author's name is: Nizām-al-dīn Aḥmad bin 'Abdallāh alshirāzi alshā'idi, see fol. 3^a, ll. 4 and 5. Like the copies in the British Museum (see Rieu i. p. 321) and in the Mackenzie Collection, this work is styled on fol. 1^b: تاریخ قطبشاهی جلد دوم, with the addition of سنه 1069 (1069), as if it were the second volume of the 'Ta'rikh-i-Sultān Muḥammad Kutbshāhi' (see above, Nos. 456-462), of which there is nowhere the slightest indication. The proper title appears here, on fol. 4^a, l. 2.

Hadikat-al'alam (حدیقة العالم).

The first makālah of the history of the Kutbshāhs and the Nizāms or Āsafis of Haidarābād, by Nizām 'Alī Āsafjah II's minister, Abū-alkāsim bin Raḍi-al-dīn almūsawī, with the epithet Mir 'Ālam (see title and author's name, on fol. 6^a, l. 14, and fol. 5^b, ll. 2 and 3), who completed this work after A.H. 1218 (A.D. 1803, 1804), and died A.H. 1223 (A.D. 1808), see Rieu i. p. 323 sq. Lithographed in Haidarābād, A.H. 1265. This first makālah, dealing with the Kutbshāhs only, is subdivided into a mukaddimah and seven bābs:

Mukaddimah: Pedigree of Sultān Kūli Kutbshāh, on fol. 6^b.

Bāb I: Reign of Sultān Kūli Kutbshāh (who died after 44 years of independent sovereignty, A.H. 950 = A.D. 1543, 1544), on fol. 7^a, in three fasls.

Bāb II: Reign of Sultān Jamshid Kutbshāh (who died A.H. 957 = A.D. 1550) and of prince Subḥān Kūli, his son, on fol. 44^b, likewise in three fasls.

Bāb III: Reign of Sultān Ibrāhīm Kutbshāh (who died A.H. 988 = A.D. 1580), on fol. 59^a, again in three fasls.

Bāb IV: Reign of Sultān Muḥammad Kūli Kutbshāh (who died A.H. 1020 = A.D. 1612), on fol. 108^b, in three fasls.

Bāb V: Reign of Sultān Muḥammad Kutbshāh (who died A.H. 1035 = A.D. 1626), on fol. 143^a, in three fasls.

Bāb VI: Reign of Sultān 'Abdallāh Kutbshāh (who died A.H. 1083 = A.D. 1672), on fol. 163^a, in three fasls.

Bāb VII: Reign of Sultān Abū-alḥasan Kutbshāh, known as Tānāshāh (who was deposed by 'Ālamgir, in A.H. 1098 = A.D. 1687, and died as a prisoner in the fortress of Daulatābād, A.H. 1113 = A.D. 1701), on fol. 198^a, last line.

Beginning, on fol. 3^a: نظام ملک سخنوری وانتظام قلمرو

معنی گشتری وقف سالاری حمد شاهنشاهی اله

The second makālah, of which only a short fragment is found in the India Office Collection (see the following MS.), contains, according to the index, and to Rieu i. p. 324 sq., the history of the Āsafis of Haidarābād, in five bābs, the last of which is not extant; the same applies to the khātimah, which was to contain the author's life.

Prefixed to this first makālah of the حدیقة العالم is a preamble (on ff. 1^b-2^b) similar to that noticed by Rieu in the second makālah of this work (see i. p. 325), viz. by Mir Abū Turāb bin Sayyid Aḥmad alridawī, who states that at the request of the Nizāmshāh Mir Akbar 'Alkhān Bahādur Āsafjah II, the minister Abū-alkāsim almūsawī Mir 'Ālam (i. e. the author of the حدیقة العالم) charged him, viz. Abū Turāb, to write a history of the Kutbshāhs who reigned almost 200 years in the Tilinga empire, on the basis of the تاریخ قطبشاهی and other ta'rikhāt, and that he compiled consequently a work, styled قطب نمای عالم (see fol. 2^a, ll. 6 and 7), in A.H. 1221 = A.D. 1806 (see fol. 2^a, lin. penult.). He divided it into a mukaddimah, seven bābs, and a khātimah, the contents of which agree with the seven bābs in the حدیقة, whilst the khātimah pretends to give an account of Mir 'Ālam's life.

The beginning of the mukaddimah, of which four lines only are found, agrees word for word with that in سیاس و ستایش گوناگون مر قادر. حدیقة. viz.: بكون را اله

No. 2428, ff. 223, ll. 21; large Nasta'lik; size, 12 in. by 7½ in.

Short fragment of a history of the early life of Nizām 'Alikhān Āṣafjāh II, from his birth in A.H. 1146 (A.D. 1733, 1734), at Aurangābād (see fol. 18^b, l. 9 sq.), to A.H. 1171 (A.D. 1758; the 3rd of Ramaḍān of that year appears on fol. 39^a, ll. 5 and 6), by Abū-alkāsim almūsawī (see fol. 6^a, l. 2), the author of the ḥadīqat al-'ālam, the first maḳālah of which is contained in the preceding copy.

This fragmentary biography, which has the same introduction as the first maḳālah, beginning: نظام ملک سخنوری وانتظام قلمرو معنی گستری وقف سالاری حمد شاهنشاهی که دبیر حکمت کامله اش الیخ, is no doubt a part of the first original sketch, out of which the second maḳālah of the work has been expanded; comp. the contents of the same in Rieu i. pp. 324 and 325. The date of this copy, which was transcribed in January, 1785 (A.H. 1199, Rabi' I), at Haidarābād, is a clear evidence of it. The following headings appear in the text:

1. تذهیب سرلوحه عنوان و تهذیب دیباچه صحیفه بیان تذکر نسب همایون آصف سلیمان نشان, on fol. 13^b.
2. ضیا اندوزی مشرق سخنرانی و شمشه افروزی صبح روشن بیانی ببرتو ذکر طلوع آفتاب بیت الشرف دولت و جهانبانی یعنی ولادت باسعادت جناب ثانی آصف و آصف ثانی, on fol. 17^a.
3. بیان آغاز طلوع انوار ابن دولت ابد بنیان و شروع شیوع میامن عدل و احسان داور جهان و ذکر توجّه موبک اقبال آن خدیو کامگار بجانب مملکت برار, on fol. 23^a.
4. نهضت موبک اقبال خدیو بیهمال از مملکت برار بجانب خجسته بنیاد و دیگر سوانح آن ایام سعادت بجمام بتقدیر خالق عباد, on fol. 30^b.
5. ذکر کفران نعمت ورزیدن و فتنه اندبشیدن حیدر جنگ و کشته شدن او به تیغ سیاست جهان داور معدلت آهنک و اننهاض موبک منصور از سواد اورنگ آباد بجانب برهانپور, on fol. 32^b.

The death of Nizām-almulk Āṣafjāh, the father of Āṣafjāh II, is recorded on fol. 23^b, lin. penult. On fol. 40^a this copy breaks off suddenly.

No. 859, ff. 40, ll. 14: clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

Tadhkira-i-Āṣafi (تذکره آصفی).

A history of the Āṣafis or Nizāms of Haidarābād, from their origin to Shawwāl, A.H. 1206 (A.D. 1792, May, June; see the last date 1206 on fol. 310^a, last line), somewhat of the same character as the second part of the ḥadīqat al-'ālam (see the preceding copy), but dealing in detail only with the reign of Āṣafjāh II (A.H. 1175-1217 = A.D. 1762-1802), by Tajalli 'Alī, called Tajalli Shāh. It is the same work which is noticed under the title of توزک آصفی in Rieu i. p. 327^b, and iii. p. 1037^a, where it is stated that the author's death in A.H. 1206 prevented the completion of the history.

Beginning: اشعه ستایش بی آلیش مر احذیرا سزد که از خلوت خانه غیب هوبت خود را الیخ.

Previous history of the Amirs of Haidarābād, on fol. 5^a.

Reign of Nizām-almulk Āṣafjāh I (born A.H. 1082 = A.D. 1671, 1672, died A.H. 1161 = A.D. 1748), on fol. 14^b sq.

Reign of Nawwāb Nizām-aldaulah Nāṣirjang (died A.H. 1164 = A.D. 1750), on fol. 19^a.

Reign of Ṣalābatjang (deposed A.H. 1175 = A.D. 1762), on fol. 26^a.

Reign of Nizām 'Alikhān Āṣafjāh II, on fol. 85^b.

Copied A.H. 1226 (A.D. 1811).

No. 2923, ff. 342, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

468

Maāthir-i-Āṣafi (مائثر آصفی).

A history of the Āṣafis or Nizāms of Haidarābād, compiled between A.H. 1207 and 1208 (A.D. 1792, 1793), by Laḥmī Narāyan, with the takhalluṣ Shafīq of Aurangābād, who was born as son of Rāc Man-ārām, the diwān of Nawwāb Āṣafjāh, A.H. 1158 (A.D. 1745), see Rieu i. pp. 238, 327, and 328; and iii. pp. 1039^a and 1083^a; Mackenzie Collection, vol. ii. p. 132.

The author wrote besides:

1. Tanmīḳ-i-Shigarf, a history of the Dakhan, A.H. 1200 (A.D. 1786); comp. Nos. 447 and 448 in this Catalogue.

2. Ḥaḳīkathāi-Hindūstān, a topographical account of the Ṣūbahs of Hindūstān and the Dakhan, A.H. 1204 (A.D. 1790); comp. No. 426 in this Catalogue.

3. Description of Haidarābād, A.H. 1214 (A.D. 1799, 1800).

4. Bisāṭ-alghanā'im, a history of the Marattahs, likewise A.H. 1214. In this book the author refers to his Maāthir-i-Āṣafi for further details about the Marattahs.

5 and 6. Two tadhkiras, viz. Gul-i-Ra'nā and Shām-i-Gharibān; comp. about the former, A. Sprenger. Catal., p. 145, No. 5.

Beginning: جواهر محمد نذر مالک الملکی که شاهان ذوی الاقتدار را الیخ.

The book begins with the grandfather of Nizām-almulk Āṣafjāh I, Khwājah 'Abid, on fol. 2^a (see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 193).

History of Āṣafjāh I, on fol. 10^a; he was born A.H. 1082 (ta'rikh: نیکبخت), and died A.H. 1161.

History of Nāṣirjang, on fol. 82^b, lin. penult.

History of Ṣalābatjang, on fol. 85^b.

History of the Marattahs and their invasions of Hindūstān, on fol. 123^a, first line.

History of Nizām 'Alikhān Bahādur Āṣafjāh II

(A.H. 1175), on fol. 186^a, together with accounts of contemporary Amirs and Rājās down to the beginning of A.H. 1208. The book was finished the first of Rabi'-alākhar of that year (A.D. 1793, Nov. 6).

No. 2411, ff. 363, ll. 16; written by various hands in large Nasta'liq and Naskhi; size, 12½ in. by 9¼ in.

Tadhkira-i-Nirmal (تذکرہ نرمل).

History of the fortress of Nirmal (in the district of Haidarābād) from its foundation to A.H. 1231 (Faṣlī year 1225)=A.D. 1816, see fol. 96^a, last line, the end of the governorship of Nawwāb Ashraf-aldaulah Bahādūr (who was governor since the Faṣlī year 1220, see fol. 93^b), compiled by 'Abd-alrazzāk ibn 'Abd-alnabi, an inhabitant of Nādar (in the Šūbah of Muḥammadābād, see fol. 6^a, l. 5), and munshi to General Sir John Malcolm (جنرل سر جان مالکم), A.H. 1232 (A.D. 1817, see fol. 5^b, l. 4), at his master's request, who had reached Nirmal on his campaign against the Piudarīs in September of that year.

Our copy is apparently fuller than that in Rieu i. p. 327, which only goes down to A.H. 1198, Muḥarram (A.D. 1783, Dec.).

Beginning (the same as in Rieu), on fol. 5^b: الحمد لله وحده وصلوا على النبي بعده برضمير منير صدر نشینان چاربالش الخ.

This history ends on fol. 96^b, and is dated, by Mir Ghulām Husain, the 16th of June, A.D. 1851 (A.H. 1267, 15th of Sha'bān). The remaining portion of the MS. contains:

Extracts from the Ḥadīkat-al'ālam (منتخب کتاب)، the history of the Nizāms of Haidarābād, see Nos. 465 and 466 in this Cat., on ff. 97-198. They are taken exclusively from the first maḳālah of that work, the history of the Kuṭbshāhs, viz.

The third faṣl of the sixth bāb (reign of 'Abdallāh Kuṭbshāh, who died A.H. 1083=A.D. 1672), on fol. 97^b.

The seventh bāb, complete (reign of Abū-alḥasan Kuṭbshāh, known as Tānāshāh, who was deposed A.H. 1098=A.D. 1687, and died as 'Ālamgir's prisoner, A.H. 1113=A.D. 1701), on fol. 106^a, lin. penult.

Parts of the first, third, and fourth bābs promiscuously, on fol. 141^b sq. Events of the reign of Kūli Kuṭbshāh (who died A.H. 950=A.D. 1543, 1544), on fol. 141^b; of that of Ibrāhīm Kuṭbshāh (who died A.H. 988=A.D. 1580), on fol. 145^b, etc.

The most prominent dates which appear are A.H. 979 (A.D. 1571, 1572), on fol. 148^b; 1019 (A.D. 1610, 1611), on fol. 170^b; 972 (A.D. 1564, 1565), on fol. 188^b; and 980 (A.D. 1572, 1573), on fol. 194^b.

Ff. 1^b-3^a contain an index both of the Tadhkira-i-Nirmal and the extracts from the Ḥadīkat-al'ālam (the latter begins on fol. 2^a, second column, l. 3 ab infra); fol. 4 is left blank.

No. 3180, ff. 198, ll. 11; clear Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 7½ in.

470

The revenues of the Dakhan, according to the rent-roll (احوال صونجات دکن بقصد جمعیندی), containing full statistical tables of the assessment of all the various provinces, beginning with Khāndish, on fol. 1^b: خاندیش بتوجه عرش آستانى يعنى اكبر پادشاه چون قلعه آسير مفتوح گشت الخ.

The two latest dates which occur in these statistics are A.H. 1144 (A.D. 1731, 1732), on fol. 31^a, and 1163 (A.D. 1750), on fol. 128^a.

On ff. 156^b-176^a a short account of the kings of Dihli is given, beginning with Sulṭān Shihāb-al-din Ghūrī (A.H. 587=A.D. 1191), down to the sixth year of Akbar's reign (A.H. 968=A.D. 1561), comp. No. 412, fol. 63^a sq. above; the account of Bābar begins on fol. 167^a, of Humāyūn on fol. 168^b, of Akbar on fol. 173^a. On ff. 177^b-189^b follow the same chronological tables of the Moghul emperors from Timūr to the accession of Shāh 'Ālam, A.H. 1173 (A.D. 1759), entitled مجموعه مرزا مهدبخان, which have been noticed above in Nos. 412-414, compiled by Nizām-al-din Muḥammad Hādī alḥusainī alṣafawī, with the epithet Shāh Mirzā, usually called Mirzā Mahdikhān, beginning: سپاس بيقياس سزاوار مالك الملكيست كه انتظام جهان بوجود الخ.

No. 926, ff. 189, ll. 13; partly Nasta'liq, partly Shikasta; size, 9½ in. by 5¾ in.

The same.

Another copy of the same statistical tables, but with a much larger historical survey, beginning on fol. 84^b with Shihāb-al-din Ghūrī, and going down to A.H. 1119 (A.D. 1707), Bahādurshāh's accession to the throne. Beginning the same as in the preceding copy. Ff. 73-77 are left blank.

No. 1374, ff. 142; Shikasta; size, 8 in. by 4¼ in.

Statistical tables of all the places and villages in the provinces of the Dakhan (تفصيل ديه بديهي صونجات). Incomplete at the end.

No. 1608, ff. 120; Shikasta; size, 8½ in. by 4¼ in.

Statistical tables of all the villages, etc., in the province of Khāndish (تفصيل ديه بديهي صونجه خاندیش).

No. 1632, ff. 63; Shikasta; size, 8½ in. by 4¼ in.

474

Statistical tables of the revenues of the province of Barār (جمع خرج صونجه برار).

No. 1707, ff. 174; Shikasta; size, 8½ in. by 4¾ in.

475

Statistical tables of the province of Bījāpār, written by Amrata Rāi.

No date.

No. 227, ff. 118; Shikasta; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

476

Statistical tables of the province of Muhammadābād Bīlār, written quite in the same way, and, as it seems, by the same hand, as the preceding ones.

No date.

No. 89, ff. 65; Shikasta; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

477

1. Statistical tables of Haidarābād down to the 7th of Shawwāl, A.H. 1197 (A.D. 1783, Sept. 5), styled:

جمع کامل محالات صوبه فرخنده بنیاد حیدرآباد بغایت آخر سال سنه ۱۱۹۲ فصلی مطابق هفتم شوال المکرم سنه ۱۱۹۷ هجری، beginning on fol. 1^b.

2. Statistical tables of the influential landowners in the Dakhan down to the last of Rabi'-alawwal, A.H. 1198 (A.D. 1784, Feb. 22), styled: جاگیر داران و انعامداران صوبجات دکن بغایت آخر شهر ربیع الاول سنه ۱۱۹۸ فصلی مطابق سنه ۱۱۹۳، beginning on fol. 49^b with Asad-almulk 'Alijāh Bahādur.

No. 1015, ff. 130; Shikasta; size, 9¼ in. by 6½ in.

Bangālah.

478

Tawārikh-i-Bangālah (تواریخ بنگال).

The same history of the Nāzims of Bangālah and the transactions in that province during the governorship of Ibrāhīmkhān, Ja'farkhān, Sarfirāzkhān, Shujā'-al-aulah, and 'Alī Wirdikhān, from the rebellion of Sūbhā Singh, A.H. 1107 (see fol. 4^b)=A.D. 1695, 1696, to 'Alī Wirdikhān's death in A.H. 1169 (A.D. 1756), which is noticed by Rieu i. p. 312. It was written by order of Mr. Henry Vansittart, Governor of Fort William (1760-1764), and begins: حمد نامعدود واجب الوجود بحریست بی ساحل و ثنای بی منتهای خالق کن فیکون الخ. The author's name, not given in the history itself, is Munshi Salim-allāh; see Rieu iii. p. 1085^a. The last date that appears in this copy is A.H. 1162 (probably a mistake for 1169, the year of 'Alī Wirdikhān's death). The work has been translated into English by Francis Gladwin: 'Narrative of the transactions in Bengal,' Calcutta, 1788.

No date. Former owner of this MS. was Chas. Boddam, May 1st, 1787.

No. 2995, ff. 1-131, ll. 12; Nasta'liq; size, 9¼ in. by 6¼ in.

Muzaffarnāma (مظفرنامه).

A very explicit and detailed history of the Nāzims of Bangālah, from the rise of Nawwāb 'Alī Wirdikhān Mahābatjang to A.H. 1186, when Nawwāb Sayyid Muhammad Ridākhān, commonly called Muzaffarjang, fell a prisoner into the hands of the English, by Karam 'Alī (see fol. 1^b, last line), who was personally attached to the service of Muzaffarjang and wrote this history in the same year 1186 (A.D. 1772, 1773), see fol. 2^a, ll. 1 and 2. The title appears on fol. 3^a, l. 3 ab infra. Another copy of the same work is described in Rieu i. p. 313.

Beginning: حمد نا محدود وشکر نا معدود سزاوار صانعیت که بیک امرکن نسخه دوگون پرداخت الخ.

Contents:

1. History of Nawwāb 'Alī Wirdikhān Mahābatjang, on fol. 3^b, from his early life to his death, the 9th of Rajab, A.H. 1169 (A.D. 1756, April 9), see fol. 133^a, ll. 4 and 5.

2. Rule of Nawwāb Sirāj-al-aulah, on fol. 140^a, who was killed after a reign of fifteen months and two days, in Shawwāl, A.H. 1170 (A.D. 1757, June, July).

3. First rule of Mir Muhammad Ja'farkhān, on fol. 181^a, from the 14th of Shawwāl, A.H. 1170 (A.D. 1757, July 2), to his deposition in A.H. 1174, Rabi'-alawwal, after a reign of three years, four months, and some days.

4. Rule of Mir Muhammad Kāsimkhān, on fol. 217^b, from the 10th of Rabi'-alawwal, A.H. 1174 (A.D. 1760, Oct. 20), see fol. 218^a, l. 8, to A.H. 1177, exactly three years.

5. Second rule of Mir Muhammad Ja'farkhān, on fol. 275^a, from the 10th of Rabi'-alawwal, A.H. 1177 (A.D. 1763, Sept. 18), to his death, the 14th of Sha'bān, A.H. 1178 (A.D. 1765, Feb. 6), see fol. 286^a, ll. 1 and 2, altogether one year, seven months (so here, instead of the correct five months, هفت being a clerical error for پنج), and four days.

6. Rule of Nawwāb Najm-al-aulah and the beginning of the deputy-governorship of Muzaffarjang, on fol. 286^a, to Najm-al-aulah's death, A.H. 1179, last of Dhū-alka'dah (A.D. 1766, May 10), after a reign of one year and three months.

7. Rule of Nawwāb Saif-al-aulah, on fol. 298^a, from the 9th of Dhū-ahjijah, A.H. 1179 (A.D. 1766, May 19), to his death, in A.H. 1183 (A.D. 1770), after a reign of three years, ten months, and some days.

8. Rule of Nawwāb Mubārak-al-aulah, on fol. 341^b, from A.H. 1183, Dhū-alka'dah (A.D. 1770, Feb., March), to A.H. 1185, Dhū-alka'dah (A.D. 1772, Feb.), when the Nizāmat was abolished.

Khātimah, on fol. 353^b: Muzaffarjang's arrest, A.H. 1186, 23rd of Muḥarram (not 29th, as here is stated on fol. 354^b, l. 2, بیست ونهم having been written by mistake for بیست وسیم, since immediately afterwards the 24th is mentioned)=A.D. 1772, April 26th, and the events of the following months, to the appointment of Mani Begam as caretaker of the Nizāmat, 1st of Jumādā-althāni in the same year (A.D. 1772, Aug. 30).

No date.

No. 291, ff. 358, ll. 11; clear Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

480

Statistical accounts of the Ṣūbahs or provinces of Bangālāh, mainly in the years 1172 and 1173 of the Bangālī era (=A.H. 1179 and 1180. A.D. 1765-1766). No. 1482 comprises the year 1172, without any subdivisions, No. 1483 the year 1173, distinctly arranged according to the twelve months, in the following order:

March-April (جیت), on fol. 16^a.

February-March (بهاگن), on fol. 28^a.

January-February (ماگه), on fol. 46^a.

December-January (بوس), on fol. 64^a.

November-December (اگهن), on fol. 80^a.

October-November (کاتک), on fol. 92^a.

September-October (آسن), on fol. 106^a.

August-September (بهادون), on fol. 119^a.

July-August (سراون), on fol. 134^a.

June-July (آسار), on fol. 149^a.

May-June (جيهه), on fol. 161^a.

April-May (بيساکه), on fol. 179^a.

Ff. 1-15 and 200-204 do not strictly belong to No. 1483; they deal with accounts of various years, viz. 1172-1177 of the Bangālī era.

No. 1482, ff. 334, No. 1483, ff. 204; Shikasta; size, 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ -6 in. by 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ -4 in.

Important collection of official letters.

Copies of letters, chiefly relating to the affairs of Bangālāh, ranging from A.H. 1162 to A.H. 1187. The oldest date, 1162. 2nd of Rajab (A.D. 1749. June 18), appears in a letter of Hidāyat Muḥyir-aldmikhān to Nawwāb Sirāj-aldaulah, on fol. 26^a; some of the latest, viz. 1st of Shawwāl. 1187 (A.D. 1773. Dec. 16), and A.D. 1774, 29th of March, on fol. 49^b. The great bulk of letters, parwānas, and akhlār belongs to the first years of Shāh 'Ālam's reign, A.H. 1174-1177 (A.D. 1760-1763), especially to the fifth year of his reign = A.H. 1177, and contains the correspondence between the Nāẓim Nawwāb Kāsim 'Alikhān (see above in No. 479) and the Governor, Mr. Vansittart, as well as other officials of the East India Company; between the same Nāẓim and Nawwāb Shams-aldaulah; between the Nāẓim Mir Muḥammad Ja'far 'Alikhān (see above, No. 479) and Shams-aldaulah, the emperor Shāh 'Ālam and the Governor; between the same emperor and Shams-aldaulah, the king of England and others; between the Governor and Maharājah Shitāb Rāe, Muḥammad Īrij-khān and the Wazīr Shujā'aldaulah, etc.

There is also one letter, previous to the period mentioned above, viz. by Nawwāb Āṣafjāh (who died A.H. 1161=A.D. 1748) to the emperor Muḥammadshāh, on fol. 41^a.

Similar collections of letters, some of which are probably identical with ours, are noticed in Rieu i. p. 407 sq. Former owner: Sir Charles Wilkins.

No. 2371, ff. 50, ll. 16; Nasta'lik; worm-eaten; size, 9 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 7 $\frac{1}{8}$ in.

Dastūr-al'amāl (دستور العمل).

Statistical record of Bangālāh and adjoining parts of India, from the beginning of A.D. 1775. It is styled, on fol. 1^a: دستور العمل صوبه بنگاله وغيره بموجب اظهار, and begins, on fol. 1^b: بتاریخ سیست و چهارم ماه جامبر (جامبری or جامبر, January) سنه ۱۷۷۵ انگریزی صاحب کلان و صاحبان دیگر الخ.

It was finished the 5th of April, A.D. 1775 (1776?) = 29th of the month C'it (see No. 480 above) of the year 1182 of the Bangālī era = 15th of Ṣafar in the 17th year of Shāh 'Ālam's reign (which is A.H. 1190, as the emperor did not ascend the throne before the 4th of Jumādā I, A.H. 1173; but this date corresponds exactly to the 5th of April, 1776, and not 1775!). The copy is interleaved. Another copy of the same is noticed in Rieu i. p. 408^a.

No. 1566, ff. 1-22, ll. 15; Shikasta; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Banāras.

Tuḥfa-i-tāza (تحفه تازه).

Tuḥfa-i-tāza, also called Balwandnāma, a history of the Zamindārs of Banāras, from Rājah Mansārām and his relatives to the deposition of Rājah Cait Singh in A.H. 1195 (A.D. 1781), by Khair-aldmikhān Muḥammad (see fol. 1^b, l. 6), who died about A.H. 1242 (A.D. 1827, comp. Rieu iii. p. 946). He wrote besides the Gwālī-yār-nāma (A.H. 1206=A.D. 1792, see Rieu iii. p. 1028), a history of Jaunpūr (A.H. 1211=A.D. 1796, 1797, see Rieu i. p. 311), and the Ibratnāma or history of Shāh 'Ālam (A.H. 1221=A.D. 1806, see Rieu iii. p. 946). The present work is described in Rieu iii. p. 964. It was originally divided into five bābs, but our copy, like those in the British Museum, only contains the first three, viz.: 1. History of Rājah Mansārām and his relatives, on fol. 2^a. 2. History of Rājah Balwand Singh, A.H. 1162-1184 (A.D. 1749-1771), on fol. 17^a. 3. History of Rājah Cait Singh, A.H. 1185-1195 (A.D. 1771-1781), on fol. 48^a. The other two bābs, the histories of Rājah Mahipat Narā'in and Rājah Ūdit Narā'in, which are enumerated in the index on fol. 2^a, were to form a second volume, beginning with A.H. 1196=A.D. 1782 (see fol. 137^b, ll. 13-15). But that second volume seems to have remained unwritten.

Beginning: سپاس خداوندی که دیوان دانش دربان (نیزبان Rieu reads دانش بسراج فکر نتواند رسید الخ).

Copied from a MS., dated A.H. 1253 (A.D. 1837), by Muḥammad Amjad, for the late Principal and Professor of the Calcutta Madrasah and Secretary of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, H. Blochmann (died 1879). Received Nov. 6, 1877.

No. 3205, ff. 138, ll. 21; very clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Bundelkhand.

Farahbaksh-i-Jân (فرح بخش جان).

An encomiastic account of the life and deeds of Rājah Barsingh (or as he is called in other histories, Narsingh) Deo of Oorcha in Bundelkhand, the murderer of Akbar's prime minister Abū-alfadl, from his birth to Samvat 1664 (=A.D. 1607, A.H. 1015-1016), translated from the Hindūstāni work, برسنگه چتر, compiled by a follower of the Rājah, Gisūdās, at the request of Mr. Turner Macan (see fol. 6^a, lin. penult.), by Rāe Shiw Parshād (see fol. 6^b, l. 6), in the years 1828 and 1829 (see fol. 5^b, l. 3 ab infra, and fol. 79^b, l. 7), and finished the 15th of Shawwāl, A.H. 1244 (=20th of April, 1829, Samvat 1886). The original work contained thirty-three ذکر, to which the translator has added (on ff. 76-80) two ذکر more, on the family of the Rājah and the date of this compilation.

Beginning, on fol. 4^b: هزاران متت ایند را که از خاک هویدا ساخت صورتهای الخ. A complete index on ff. 1^a-3^a. The title is a chronogram for A.H. 1244. Dated, by Narāyan Dās of Shāhjahānābad, in the same year 1244, 4th of Dhū-alka'dah (A.D. 1829, May 8).

Presented to the library, October 17, 1842.

No. 2933, ff. 80, ll. 13; large Nasta'liq; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

Marattahs.

485

The same history of the rise and progress of the Marattah state, from the origin of the Bhoslah family down to the death of Siwāji and the accession of Sanbhāji in A.H. 1091 (A.D. 1680), which is described in Rieu i. p. 327 as the work of an anonymous Hindū writer, based on Marattah traditions. At the end the same enumeration of Sanbhāji's successors down to the accession of Raghoji in Nāgpur, 1773, and of Rām Rājah in Satārah, 1750; as Rieu remarks, it must have been compiled before A.D. 1777 (A.H. 1191).

Beginning: هزاران شکر خدای بیچون را که بیک نقطه کن این همه چهارده طبقه الخ.

The full title تفصیل احوال عروج و خروج راجدهای is found here on fol. 1^a, ll. 4 and 5.

No date. From fol. 9^b onward English references to the contents of the text are made in pencil on the margin.

No. 1957, ff. 45, ll. 12-16; Shikasta; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Another, but incomplete chronicle of the Bhoslah family of the Marattahs, from its origin, that is, Siwāji and his ancestors, to the operations against Rājah Rām after the capture of his capital (Raighar) in A.H. 1101 or 1102 (A.D. 1690). The first mention of the year 1102 appears on fol. 39^b: در سنه سی و چهار جلوس مطابق سنه هزار و صد و دو هجری. The author's name does not appear, but he shows everywhere a most hostile tendency against the Marattahs, as the very beginning of this abrupt chronicle proves: ذکر احوال و ابتدای بنای فساد سیوایی (سیوایی instead of جنگ دکن آنچه از مردم معتبر دکن و قوم مرته آن ملک در باب اصل و نسل سیوایی بد اصل الخ. The ta'rikh-i-Khwāfikhān, i. e. منتخب لباب (see above, Nos. 396-407), is quoted several times, see, for instance, fol. 39^b, ll. 3 and 4. On the outside of the binding this MS. is styled: کتاب ذکر اصل و نسل راجه سیوایی بهوسله.

No. 2990, ff. 54, ll. 12-14; very legible Shikasta; size, 10 in. by 6½ in.

An incomplete history of the rising of the Bhoslah family of the Marattahs, from Mālūji, whose son Sāhji, or Sāhūji I, married afterwards the daughter of the Rājput chieftain Jādū Rāo, and begat the great Siwāji (born in May, 1627=A.H. 1036), the real founder of the Marattah empire; comp. Elphinstone, History of India, 5th ed., p. 617 sq.

Beginning: در بیان آنکه اما (!) این کتاب نزوع (!) خاندان ترقی راجه بهوسله الخ.

On the fly-leaf this chronicle is ascribed to Daulat Singh. It is most incorrectly written, and abounds in numberless un-Persian words and phrases, looking like a bad translation from some Marattah work.

Statistical tables of the various dominions of the Marattah state, on ff. 58^b-65^a.

A second part, incomplete at the end, begins on fol. 69^b with the transactions between Sedāsheo Rāo Bhāo, Holkar, and Shujā'-al-daulah, leading up to the famous battle of Pānīpat in A.H. 1174 (A.D. 1761). This part breaks off on fol. 83^b. The proper order of ff. 1-23 seems to be this (most of the catch-words being wanting): 1, 2, 11, 3-8, 22, 9, 10, 13, 12, 14-21, 23, etc. The copy belonged formerly to D. Ruddell.

No. 3075, ff. 83, ll. 15-17; written in a curious style of Naskhi; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

Another short history of the Marattahs, especially of the Bhoslah or Bhonslah family, from the reign of Muḥammadshāh (who ascended the throne of Dihli in A.H. 1131=A.D. 1719) to the end of Shāh 'Ālam's reign (A.H. 1221=A.D. 1806), similar in its chief contents to an account described in Rieu ii. p. 801^b. It begins with Sāhū Bhoslah II, who had been crowned as chief of the Marattahs in the fortress of Satārah in the beginning of A.H. 1120 (A.D. 1708, March). At the end there are inserted some of Shāh 'Ālam's elegies. As title is given here in the beginning: احوال حسب و نسب جنوبان و کیفیت اوج و حشمت آنها آنچه عند التحقیق دریافت شد، نوشته میشود که راجه کده ستاره الخ.

No author's name. No date.

No. 3322, ff. 142-159, ll. 12-16; careless Nasta'liq; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

489

Tawārikh-i-Rājahāi-Nāgpūr (تواریخ راجه‌های ناگپور).

Annals of the Marattah Rājahs of Nāgpūr (Nagpore), of the Bhoslah (or as it is always spelt here, Bhonslah) family, compiled, and respectively translated from seven Persian and twenty-five Marattah sources, for Mr. Richard Jenkins (the former British Resident in Nagpore), December, 1823.

Beginning of the preface, on fol. 1^b: بنده پرور صاحب خداوند عالیشان رچارد جنکنس صاحب بهادر دام اقباله الخ.

The seven Persian authorities are:

خانیخان (that is, the Muntakhab-i-Lubāb, completed about A. H. 1143 or 1144=A. D. 1731, comp. above, Nos. 396-407).

تواریخ آصفیاء (a history of the Nizāms down to A. H. 1218=A. D. 1803, 1804, by Kādirkhān Munshi, see Rieu iii. p. 1037^b).

سوانح دکن (account of the Sūbahs of the Dakhan and the Nizāms down to A. H. 1197=A. D. 1783, by Mun'imkhān, see Rieu i. p. 322).

خزانه عامره (the well-known tadhkirah of 'Alī Āzād).

مآثر الامرا (wrongly spelt for معاصر الامرا, the second edition of which was completed A. H. 1194=A. D. 1780), see Rieu i. p. 339 sq.

It gives in a short and concise form the events of every year (except in the first portion), partly in narration, partly in letters, statistical tables, etc., from 1659 (Faṣlī year 1069¹) to 1818 (Faṣlī year 1228).

Beginning, on fol. 4^b: منتخب تواریخ خاندان بهونسله راجه‌های ناگپور از روی مرثی، از بزرگان خاندان بهونسله الخ.

No. 3062, ff. 236, ll. 8-10; Nasta'liq and Shikasta; size, 8½ in. by 6 in.

Historical documents, chiefly relating to the history of the Marattah power in India.

1. Extracts from the account of the Marattahs in Ghulām 'Alī Āzād's famous tadhkirah, the Khazāna-i-'āmirah (compiled in A. H. 1176 and 1177=A. D. 1763), see further below under 'Biography.'

(b) Fol. 8^a sq., corresponding to No. 2954, fol. 63^a, l. 8 sq. (A. H. 1164, امیر الممالک, third son of Nawwāb Āsafjāh).

(c) Fol. 15^a sq., corresponding to No. 2954, fol. 99^a, l. 7 sq. (A. H. 1173, در هند بار ششم, آمدن احمدشاه).

¹ This statement is wrong; it ought to be either A. H. 1069 or Faṣlī 1063.

(d) Fol. 22^a sq., corresponding to No. 2954, fol. 87^b, last line, last word sq. (A. H. 1171, وزیر الممالک شجاع (الدوله بهادر).

(e) Fol. 23^b, corresponding to No. 2954, fol. 84^a, l. 3 ab infra (A. H. 1164, نواب وزیر الممالک ابو المنصور خان (مفدر جنگ).

(f) Fol. 25^a sq., corresponding to No. 2954, fol. 53^b, lin. penult. (عماد الملك, ending with A. H. 1173).

2. Extracts from the 'Ālamgirnāma (by Munshi Muḥammad Kāzīm), or the history of the first ten years of 'Ālamgir's reign (see above, Nos. 347-357), beginning on fol. 28^b, last line, with the following chapter: فتح قلعه چاکنه از ولایت کوکن بسعی امیر الامراء صوبدار دکن, corresponding in contents to the short sketch given in fol. 1^a sq. of the previous extracts.

3. Extracts from the Ta'rikh-i-Rohillah, probably the تاریخ فیض بخش, by Shiw Parshād (see Rieu i. p. 306), beginning on fol. 52^a, and dealing chiefly with Aḥmadshāh Durrāni and his affairs with the Marattahs, shortly before and after the battle of Pānīpat (A. H. 1174=A. D. 1761).

4. The same history of the Marattahs, from Rājah Bhīm and the origin of the Bhoslah family to the death of Siwāji and the accession of his son Sanbhāji, A. H. 1091 (A. D. 1680), which is described in No. 485 above. Beginning, on fol. 68^b: هزاران شکر خدای بسجود را که بیک نقطه کن این همه چهارده طبعه الخ.

At the end the same short enumeration of Sanbhāji's successors as in No. 485 above.

No date. Quite modern handwriting.

No. 2895, ff. 112, ll. 17; large and distinct Nasta'liq; size, 12¼ in. by 9¼ in.

A large fragment of the history of the Marattah wars in India, from A. H. 1171 to 1199, A. D. 1757-1785, compiled by 'Alī Ibrāhīmkhān, who died as chief magistrate of Banāras, A. H. 1208 (A. D. 1793, 1794). This account was written under the administration of the Governor-General, Charles Earl Cornwallis, see fol. 1^b, ll. 4 and 3 ab infra, and comp. Rieu i. p. 328. The book has been translated by Major Fuller, see his printed version in Elliot's History of India, viii. pp. 257-297. Beginning, as in Rieu: الحمد لله على نعمائه والصلوة على نبيه واصاته اين وقائع بدائع آثار عبرت نامه اولو الابصار است که در عهد حکومت امير والاچاه الخ. The last two sections of this fragment, on ff. 62^b and 63^b, deal with the Peshwā Śāhib (i. e. Siwāi or Siwāji Mādhlō Rāo, son and successor of Narāyan Rāo) and the advance of the English generals to Poona. This copy was presented by J. H. Peile, Esq., and received 19th Sept., 1818; transferred to Civil Coll., 9th Aug., 1819.

No. 3390, olim 14. J. 18, ff. 64, ll. 11; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; greatly injured by worms; size, 8¼ in. by 5 in.

A first collection of Akhbār, or news-letters, chiefly relating to the Marattah affairs in 1810, beginning with the 8th of February, and ending with the 8th of December. They contain news of Jaswant Rāo Holkar, Daulat Rāo Sindhiyah (the Mahārājah of Gwāli-yār), Ranjit Singh (the Sikh ruler of the Panjāb), Rānā Zālim Singh, Mr. Archibald Seton (the Resident at the court of Dihli), of Akbarābād, Dihli, Ujain, etc. On ff. 1^a and 20^a the collection is styled: منتخب اخبار هندوستان وغيره; on fol. 60^a, اخبار منتخب هندوستان وغيره; and on the back of the binding, with reference to the chiefly Marattah news, اخبار ناگپور.

No. 2945, ff. 276, ll. 10; Shikasta; size, 10½ in. by 6¼ in.

A second collection of Akhbār, or news-letters, relating to Marattah affairs, from the end of 1811 to the autumn of 1812, beginning with the 27th of December, 1811, and ending with the 6th of September, 1812. They contain news of various agents and comptrollers (متصدی و هرکاره), chiefly of کوت کشت, that is (according to No. 2946 (496 below), fol. 49^b, l. 2: کوت), the city of Nāgpūr, the seat of the Bhoslah family (the agent's name there was Izhār اطهار); besides of Hūshangābād (agent: Mahādū), Bitūl (agent: Bāpū), Malkāpūr (comptroller: Waukat Rāo), Patua (comptroller: Narāyan Rāo), Poona, etc. A certain number of Akhbār is written by the same Pāndūrang Rām, who is mentioned in Rieu i. p. 330^b, as translator of Maratti news-letters during the years 1809 and 1810.

No. 2949, ff. 303, ll. 10-14; Nasta'lik, mixed with Shikasta; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

A third collection of Akhbār, or news-letters, relating to Marattah affairs in 1812 and 1813, beginning with the 3rd of December, 1812 (but we find news as far back as November, 1812, see fol. 1^b sq.), and ending with the 17th of December, 1813. They contain news of Mr. (afterwards Sir) C. T. Metcalfe (Resident at the court of Dihli, from 1811 to 1819, and from 1825 to 1827), Mahārājah Malhār Rāo Holkar II (the illegitimate son and successor of Jaswant Rāo Holkar), Ranjit Singh, Rānā Zālim Singh, Nawwāb Mir Khān (the Afghan general of Holkar), Daulat Rāo Sindhiyah, of Burhānpūr, Dihli, Anrangābād, Ujain, etc. This collection is styled on the back of the binding, like No. 2945 (492 above): اخبار ناگپور.

No. 2947, ff. 192, ll. 10-12; written by different hands, partly in Nasta'lik, partly in Shikasta; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

A fourth collection of Akhbār, relating to Marattah affairs in the second half of 1814, beginning with the

IND. OFF.

24th of June, and ending with the last of December, similar in its contents to the second collection. They contain chiefly news of Nāgpūr, by the same agent Izhār, besides letters of Mahādū, Bāpū, etc., see No. 2949 (493 above), news of Bitūl, etc. Many of these are translations from Maratti, as the prefixed ترجمه shows. As title appears again on the back of the binding, as well as three times in the collection itself (viz. between ff. 129 and 130, 239 and 240, and 304 and 305): اخبار ناگپور.

No. 2948, ff. 328, ll. 8-11; Nasta'lik, mixed with Shikasta; size, 10½ in. by 6¼ in.

A fifth collection of Akhbār, relating to Marattah affairs, from the end of 1815 to the autumn of 1816, similar in its contents to the third collection. The dates given in this MS. are frequently wrong, and different months have been jumbled together in the same way as in Rieu i. p. 286. According to a note on the back of the binding, the news-letters refer to 1816, and that is confirmed by the last section (fol. 102 sq.), where the 29th of February is mentioned several times, a fact that points undoubtedly to 1816, as being a leap-year, in spite of the year 1817 having been written almost continually instead of 1816. A similar confusion prevails as to the Muhammadan year, sometimes 1232, sometimes 1231. This copy contains various sections, 1. ff. 1-13, divided into 13 kitās; 2. ff. 14-84, in several unnumbered portions; 3. ff. 85-101, in 15 kitās; and 4. ff. 102-127, in 23 kitās. The last sections deal with January and February, 1816, the middle part goes as far as September, 1816 (or 1817, as written here), the first section comprises November and December, 1815 (or 1816?). The news-letters refer to the same personages as in No. 2947 (494 above), to the agents of Nāgpūr, Burhānpūr, Ujain, etc.

No. 2946, ff. 127, ll. 10-11; Nasta'lik, mixed with Shikasta; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

A sixth collection of Akhbār, relating to Marattah affairs in 1817, beginning with the 2nd of January, and ending with the 28th of September. The majority of news-letters, particularly in the second half of the copy, are those of Daulat Rāo Sindhiyah; besides Ranjit Singh, Holkar Jaswant Rāo Bhāo and various wakils and other officials have contributed letters. The collection is styled on ff. 78^a, 80^a top, and 136^a first line, اخبار سندھ.

No. 2991, ff. 167, ll. 9-11; Nasta'lik, mixed with Shikasta; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

A seventh collection of Akhbār, referring to Marattah affairs in 1818, beginning with the first of January, and ending with the last of December, quite similar in its contents to the fourth and second collections. The majority of Akhbār are by Izhār, agent of Nāgpūr. The title on the back of the binding, on ff. 19, 93, and 248, and on the fly-leaf is the usual one: اخبار ناکبیر.

No. 2993, ff. 267, ll. 7-11; partly Nasta'lik, partly Shikasta; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Gwāliyar.

Ahwāl-i-Kāl'a-i-Gwāliyar (احوال قلعه گوالیار).

A short historical account of the fortress of Gwāliyar, from its foundation under the ancient Rājās, down to the twenty-second year of Shāh 'Ālam's reign, A.H. 1194 (A.D. 1780), compiled at the request of Captain William Bruce (کپتان ولیم برس), from the dictation of two Hindūs of Gwāliyar, Motirām (موتی رام) and Khushhāl (خوشحال); see another copy of the same work in Rieu i. p. 304^b. Beginning: احوال ابتدای بنای قلعه گوالیار لغایت شانزدهم ماه شعبان سنه ۲۲ جلوس والا شاه عالم پادشاه غازی مطابق سنه ۱۱۹۴ هجری الخ. Copied by 'Abd-alrahīm.

No. 860, ff. 21, ll. 14; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Carnatic.

Sa'idnāma (سعيدنامه).

An account of the life and history of the ruler of the Carnatic, Sa'adat-allākhān, who was born A.H. 1061 (see fol. 7^a, ll. 6 and 7), and died A.H. 1145 (A.D. 1651-1732). His real name was Muḥammad 'Alī bin Aḥmad bin Sa'id-al-dīn bin Muḥammad Sa'id bin Muḥammad, and he was honoured by the title of Muḥammad Sa'id (see fol. 7^a, ll. 2 and 3, and l. 9). This work is identical with the سعیدنامه described in Rieu i. p. 331, although considerably shorter in extent; there is no mention of the real name of the author, viz. Jaswant Rāi bin Bhagwant Rāi bin Sundardās, only his takhalluṣ Munshī appears frequently, for instance, on ff. 37^b, l. 4, 40^b, lin. penult., 58^b, l. 5, 59^a, l. 3 ab infra, etc. etc. He is the same Munshī whose diwān is preserved in No. 1454. There is also in this copy no trace of the subdivision into three daftars, although the author speaks plainly of these three books on fol. 59^a, lin. penult. (سه دفتر سعیدنامه), and mentions at the same time two other works of his, viz. قصه سیف الملك و بدیع الجمال (probably a new redaction of the well-known, but much older story of 'Saif-almulk and Badī'-aljamāl') and قصه لال و هیرا (the story of 'Lāl and Hīrā').

Beginning as in Rien:

این نامه که از نام سعید است سعید
از چشم بد دهر بعید است بعید

The title of Sa'idnāma appears several times, for instance, fol. 1^b, l. 3, fol. 6^a, l. 7, etc.

This copy, which is towards the end greatly injured by worms, is dated the 12th of Dhū-alka'dah, A.H. 1229 (A.D. 1814, Oct. 26). It belonged to Narrain Row's Collections (No. 506).

No. 2034, ff. 61, ll. 13; Nasta'lik and Shikasta, partly on white, partly on brown paper; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ -10 $\frac{1}{8}$ in. by 6 $\frac{3}{8}$ -6 $\frac{1}{8}$ in.

Tāzūk-i-Wālājāhī (توزک والاجاهی).

A history of the Carnatic, especially of the time of the Nawwāb Anwarkhān, who died A.H. 1162 (A.D. 1749), of his son and successor, Nawwāb Muḥammad 'Alī (with his full name: Amir-alhind Wālājāh 'Umdat-almulk Āṣaf-akḍaulah Muḥammad 'Alī Anwar-al-dīn-khān Bahādnr Zafarjang, see fol. 13^a), who ruled over the Carnatic from A.H. 1162 to A.H. 1210 (A.D. 1749-1795), and of the first contests between the English and French in India, to the unsuccessful siege of Madras (چیناپتن) by the French under Lally, 1758, and the capture of Pondicherry (پونچری) by the English under Clive, 1761. It covers partly the same ground as the famous mathnawī انورنامه, or the exploits of the Nawwāb Anwarkhān, by Mir Isma'ilkhān Abjadi, who completed his poem in A.H. 1174=A.D. 1760, 1761 (see Sprenger, Catal. pp. 307 and 308), and to whom a special chapter, the muḥaddimah (on ff. 14^a-17^a), is dedicated. The munshi Burhān (or Burhānkhān) bin Ḥasan, see fol. 13^b, l. 4 ab infra, was commissioned in A.H. 1195=A.D. 1781 (see fol. 13^b), by the Nawwāb, to compose on the basis of the Anwarnāma, but with greater detail, and the removal of all the incongruities and deficiencies caused by a poetical treatment of the matter and the exigency of rhyme and metre, a history of the rulers of the Carnatic, from their first ancestors in Madinah, to his own time. The work was to be divided into a muḥaddimah, two daftars, and a khātimah, but our copy comprises only the muḥaddimah (on fol. 14^a sq.), containing the eulogium of Abjadi, and the first daftar, beginning on fol. 17^b with the ancestors of the Nawwābs, in fact with 'Umar ibn alkhattāb, and going down to the capture of Pondicherry. This portion was completed A.H. 1200 (A.D. 1786), see fol. 211^b in the خاتمه دفتر اول توزک والاجاهی; the second daftar was to contain the subsequent events, and particularly a series of important political correspondence, between the principal historical personages of that age, and the khātimah, a description of India, particularly of the Carnatic. Beginning of the work, on fol. 10^b: علم افرازى اقبال سخن حمد والاجاهی که دبیری نظیر سلطنت لایزالش تاریخ توزک والاجاهی الخ. It ends on fol. 215^b. The remaining portions of this volume (ff. 1^a-9^a and ff. 216^a-219^a) contain:

1. A short summary of events in the Carnatic from the time of 'Ālamgir, on ff. 1^a-2^a.

2. A short history of the progress of English conquest in India (called: جزه اول دخول انگریز در اقلیم هند), from about A.D. 1612 to the first four decades of the present century, on ff. 2^b-9^a.

3. Rules for the lower, middle, and higher style of letter-writing, each group subdivided into seven kânūns (واجبات مراسلات ادنا و اوسط و اعلی متضمن هفت قانون), on ff. 216^a-219^a.

No. 3174, ff. 219, ll. 17; clear and excellent Nasta'lik; size, 10 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 8 in.

Sawānīhāt-i-Mumtāz (سوانحات ممتاز).

A detailed history of the reign of the Nawwāb 'Umdat-alumarā, who ruled the Carnatic from the beginning of Rabi'-althānī, A. H. 1210 (A. D. 1795, Oct.), to the month Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1216 (A. D. 1801, July), with an account of the last year of the reign of his father, Muhammad 'Alīkhān, the son of Anwar-al-din or Anwarkhān, a summary of the events under 'Umdat-alumarā's successors, his nephew 'Azim-aldaulah, and 'Azim's son 'Azimjāh (who succeeded his father in A. H. 1235, A. D. 1820), and a full genealogy. The author is Khair-al-din Hasan Ghulām-i-Dāmin biu Iftikhār-aldaulah Hāfiz Muhammad Nāsirkhān Bahādūr Šamsāmjang, who was born A. H. 1194 = A. D. 1780 (see fol. 160^b sq.), received the title of Šāhib-aldaulah Jalādatjang in A. H. 1210 (A. D. 1795, 1796), that of Khwurshid-almulk in A. H. 1231 (A. D. 1816), and at his father's death in A. H. 1236 (A. D. 1820, 1821) that of Iftikhār-aldaulah Muhammad Nāsirkhān Bahādūr Šamsāmjang. In A. H. 1249, beginning of Rajab (A. D. 1833, Nov.), when living in Madras, he paid homage to 'Azimjāh, and was requested by him to draw up a history of his great ancestor and grandfather, 'Umdat-alumarā, as the poet Abjadi had done for Anwarkhān in his famous Anwarnāma. Khair-al-din set to work and finished this history (see the title on fol. 162^b, l. 13) A. H. 1252, the 27th of Dhū-llijjah (see fol. 288^a, last two lines) = A. D. 1837, April 4. It is divided into four گلزار (each of which contains four گلدسته, the first, comprising the years A. H. 1209 and 1210, on fol. 164^b, that is, the last year of Muhammad 'Alīkhān's reign, his death the 29th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1210 (A. D. 1795, Oct. 13), and 'Umdat-alumarā's accession; the second, A. H. 1211 and 1212, on fol. 188^b; the third, A. H. 1213 and 1214, on fol. 205^b; the fourth, A. H. 1215 and 1216, with a short summary of later events, and a detailed genealogy of the family and descendants of Anwarkhān, on fol. 221^a. Khātimah, on fol. 285^b, giving an account of the circumstances which led to the composition of this work.

Beginning: حمداً متواضعاً وشكراً متکثراً بخداي عز و جل. که هر نوع نکات جهانرا از کسوت رنگارنگ عمده گوناگون الخ. No other copy of this rare work is known. Copied A. H. 1266 (A. D. 1850).

No. 3176, ff. 159-288, ll. 17; very distinct Nasta'liq; size, 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 8 in.

Panjāb.

Ta'rikh-i-Panjāb (تاریخ پنجاب).

History of the Panjāb, from the earliest times to A. D. 1840, completed A. H. 1264 (A. D. 1848), by Ghulām Muhyi-al-din, known as Būti or Būtā (بوٹی in the text, بوٹا in the colophon) Shāh Lūdiyānī 'alawī kādīrī, see fol. 2^a, ll. 2 and 3. The title is a chronogram for A. H. 1264, by elimination of the units, except the ب and پ in the word پنجاب; comp. Rieu iii. p. 953, where a full description of this work is given. Beginning: حمد بیحد و ثنای بی منتهای مراددیرا سزا است که کریمه رحمتی الخ.

It contains a muḳaddimah, five daftars, and a khātimah, viz.

Muḳaddimah, on fol. 2^b: Geography of the Panjāb, در بیان احوال حدود ملک پنجاب و وجه تسمیه آن و بیان ابهار و انهار مشهوره این ملک و اجناس و اثمار و دیگر (اشیای مشهوره آنها).

Daftar I, on fol. 43^b: Hindū Rājahs, from Sadūmau to Pithaurā در بیان احوال راجهای هندو از ابتدای راجه سدومن که بقول شاستر هندو اولین راجهای روی زمین او بوده بغایت آخر رای پتھورا که آخرین فرمان فرمایان این (ملک یعنی هندوستان او گذشته).

Daftar II, on fol. 61^b: Muslim Sultāns, from Maḥmūd of Ghazna to A. H. 1183 (A. D. 1769, 1770), the date of Shāh Almad Abdālī's death, see fol. 180^a, ll. 4 and 3 ab infra در بیان احوال پادشاهان اهل اسلام من (سلطان محمود غزنوی غازی و اولاد امجادش و بیان سلطنت پادشاهان غوریان و خلجیان و لودیان و چغتایان درنملک).

Daftar III, on fol. 180^b: Gurus of the Sikhs, from Nānak to Gowind Singh در بیان احوال گوروهای فرقه سکھان من ابتدای بابا نانک بغایت آخر گورو گوبند سنگھ (واحوال بیدیان و سودھیان که اولاد گوروان اند).

Daftar IV, on fol. 224^a: Sikh Sardārs and Rājahs in the last period of the Moghul empire of Dīhli در بیان احوال سرداران و راجهای سکھان و غیره سرداران ملک پنجاب و احوال ملک گیری آنها از کنار دریای جمن تا پشاور و کشمیر و بیان کیفیت مثلثی و بتهای سکھان و دیگر رسوم آنها که بعد از اضمحلال سلطنت دهلی قابض و (متمصرف ملک پنجاب شدند).

Daftar V, on fol. 308^a: Ranjit Singh, the great Sikh Mahārājah's life and reign, to the 27th of June, 1839 (not 1838, as by mistake is written here on fol. 419^b, l. 2), the date of his death در احوال ملک گیری مهراجه رنجیت سنگھ بهادر که بر همگی ملک پنجاب و سوای آن بر ملکهای دیگر به نیروی اقبال قابض و مستلک گردید من ابتدای کیفیت آبادی و اجدادش (بغایت روز وفات او).

Khātimah, on fol. 420^a: History of the British conquests in India در ذکر ملک گیری سرکار انگریزی بهادر در (ملک هند); the account of the Rājahs of Kangrah, Jamūn, etc., mentioned by Rieu, loc. cit., as probably forming a part of the khātimah, is not found in this copy. Ff. 175 and 176 are badly injured in the middle. This MS. was received from Dr. Royle, July, 1856.

No. 3244, ff. 427, ll. 21-22; careless and coarse Nasta'liq; size, 14 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

'Ibratnāma (عبرتنامه).

Geography, statistics, and history of the Panjāb, especially of the Sikhs, from their first appearance in history down to A. D. 1849, by Mufti 'Alī-aldīn, son of Mufti Khair-aldīn of Lāhūr (see fol. 1^b, ll. 5 and 6), an official of the East India Company, who was still alive in 1856, when this MS. was received from Dr. Royle. The author left his native town, Lāhūr, in 1823 (=A. H. 1239, Samvat 1881), on account of the oppression of the Sikhs, and settled in Lūdbāna (لودیانا) Loodiana). In 1854, when he was in the service of Mr. Charles Raikes, the Commissioner and Superintendent of Lāhūr, he compiled this work (=A. H. 1270, Samvat 1911), see fol. 2^a, l. 4 sq., and fol. 2^b, l. 4 ab infra. This MS. is the author's autograph, completed, according to the colophon, in the same year, 1854, 13th of September (=20th of Dhū-ḥijjah, A. H. 1270), and styled, with its full title, عبرت نامه و عمده التواريخ; according to a note prefixed to the MS. by the before-mentioned Mr. Raikes it was sent 'to the Imperial Exhibition at Paris, for works of art and industry, by the Punjab Committee at Lahore.'

Beginning:

(so pointed instead of سیر (سیر) الحمد لله الذى جعل سیر (سیر) الاولين عبرة (عبرة! instead of عبرة) للأخريين والصلوة والسلام على رسوله وحببيه محمد واصحابه اجمعين، أما بعد ميگرود الخ.

The subdivisions are rather in a confused state, a باب اول and two دفتر دويم, but the meaning is clear—the author divided his work into three great portions, viz.:

1. Geography of the Panjāb, its flora, fauna, natural productions, etc., on fol. 4^a (باب اول).
2. History and topography of Lāhūr, from its foundation to the present day, on fol. 30^b (دفتر دويم).
3. History of the Sikhs in the Panjāb, from the birth of Bābā Nānak to the final victory of the English in 1846, and a few subsequent events, till 1849, on fol. 81^a (again styled دفتر دويم).

To these three bābs or daftars there is added, on ff. 326^a–376^b, a kind of khātimah (without a general heading), dealing in detail with the customs and usages, as well as the prevalent philosophic and religious ideas of the people of the Panjāb, beginning with a sketch of the sect of the Kādirīs; among the numerous short chapters of this part are the most prominent ones: the great days of the Muḥammadan year (در تشریح روزهای بزرگ) (اهل اسلام), on fol. 331^b, last line; the Fakirs of the three principal creeds, the Muḥammadans, Hindūs, and Sikhs, on fol. 333^a; manners and customs of the Muḥammadans, from the cradle to the grave, on fol. 334^b; of the Hindūs, on fol. 342^b; of the Sikhs, on fol. 352^a; scientific attainments (علم) of the same three creeds, on fol. 353^a; usages in eating, on fol. 356^b, last line; in dress, etc., on fol. 360^a; the court-officials under the Mahārājah Ranjit Singh (مصابیان و حکیمان و منشیان) (و مستوفیان و خدمتگاران), on fol. 364^b, etc. etc.

No. 3241, ff. 376, ll. 18; large Nasta'lik; the first two pages luxuriously illuminated; smaller gold ornaments on ff. 2^b and 3^a; size, 12½ in. by 8½ in.

Shir Singh nāma (شیر سنگھ نامه).

History of the Panjāb and the special events which took place in Lāhūr from A. H. 1255 to 1259 (A. D. 1839–1843), by an eye-witness, Muḥammad Naḳī of Pashāwar, son of Mullā Khwājah Bakhsh, who wrote it at the request of Bakhshī Bhagatrām (see ff. 4^b, ll. 5 and 6, and 6^a, l. 6). The above title of this work, which is described by Rieu iii. p. 952^b, is not found in the text itself, but assigned to it in an English note, prefixed to the fly-leaf, by the Commissioner and Superintendent, Mr. Raikes, who states that this MS. was sent 'to the Imperial Exhibition at Paris, for works of art and industry, by the Punjab Committee at Lahore.' It was received into the library from Dr. Royle in July, 1856.

The history begins with the death of Ranjit Singh in A. H. 1255, see fol. 7^a sq., and closes with the assassination of Shir Singh and the proclamation of Dalip Singh in A. H. 1259, see fol. 65^b sq.

Tawārikh-i-Mulk-i-Hazāra (تواریخ ملک هزاره).

History of the state of Hazāra and the neighbouring states and districts in the Panjāb, especially during the thirty years from about A. H. 1819 to 1849 (Samvat 1876 to Samvat 1906, see fol. 119^b, last lines, and fol. 120^a, ll. 4 and 3 ab infra), by an eye-witness of all the events recorded, Mahtāb Singh of the Kāyath tribe (fol. 3^b, l. 1), who was five years recorder of the Pargana of Sahiwal بلریان, and occupied since Samvat 1881 the same office in the state of Hazāra (or هزاره as it is called on fol. 4^a), which borders to the west on the state of سریکوت (which itself extends as far as the دریا سند ساگر), and to the south on Khānpūr of the Gākhars.

Beginning: قربان آن قادر بیخون که کریاس معلى افلاک با اینهمه نعوش رنگارنگ الخ.

Geography and topography of Hazāra and the surrounding states, as خانبور, کلال, جدون, بهکلی, تنول, etc., on fol. 4^a. Beginning of the real history with the Ghakkars (گھکران) of Khānpūr (also called Gākhars or Gukhurs, see on these, L. H. Griffin, 'Panjab Chiefs,' p. 574 sq.), on fol. 34^a. The style of the narrative is often very un-Persian, see, for instance, fol. 21^b, etc. Dated the 11th of August, A. D. 1854, by Pīrbakhsh, the Kāūngo of Rāwal Pindi, who copied this work at the request of the Assistant Commissioner of Hazâra. In a notice glued on the first page the work is rather incorrectly designated as 'Tawareekh-i-Jummoo, a history of the principality of Jummoo and the neighbouring hill-states, from the earliest times to the accession of Maharajah Goolab Singh, by an unknown author (!)'. It was sent, according to the same notice (signed by C. Raikes, Commissioner and Superintendent), 'to the Imperial Exhibition at Paris, for works of art and industry, by the Punjab Committee at Lahore.' It was received into the library from Dr. Royle, July, 1856.

Jamûn.

Tawârikh-i-Râjagân-i-Jamûn (تواریخ راجگان جمون).

A portion of the rare chronicle of the Râjâhs of Jamûn (or Jamu, according to Thornton), which is described in Rieu iii. p. 955 under the title of راج درشنی, composed by Ganeshdâs Badhrah, and completed A. H. 1263 (A. D. 1847, Samvat 1904). Our copy, being only a fragment of the whole, does not exhibit author's name or title; the name given above is the one found in the colophon. It is moreover very incorrectly written, and especially the respective Muhammadan and Hindû dates, wherever they appear together, are invariably greatly at variance with one another (take, for example, fol. 31^b, where A. H. 391, the correct date of Sultân Mahmûd's accession, is represented as Samvat 1031, whereas it ought to be 1057 or 1058, and so in many other places). It begins abruptly in the history of the early Râjâhs with بوده بهشت آنجاست (آنجا read) که آزاری (on fol. 1^a), ارجن نباشد - کسی را با کسی کاری نباشد' عاقبت الامر راجه بوده ارجن مدت هشتاد سن صاحب انجمن بوده الخ.

Chapter-headings are very few and far between; the time of Muhammad begins on fol. 26^b; that of Sultân Mahmûd of Ghazna, on fol. 31^b; Akbar's reign, on fol. 78^a; the end of Râjah Kayâ Singh's reign and beginning of that of Dharb Dew (which coincides with 'Âlamgir's death, A. H. 1118), on fol. 83^a; Gulâb Singh's obtaining possession of Kashmir in Samvat 1902 (A. D. 1846), on fol. 142^a.

Copied by Muhammad 'Ali.

The translator's name is not mentioned in this fragment, but he is undoubtedly the same Mullâ Shâh Muḥammad who translated the work from the Sanskrit original by order of Akbar, A. H. 998 (A. D. 1590), and whose version was revised by Bad'ûnî in A. H. 999 (A. D. 1591); comp. also Elliot, History of India, v. p. 478.

Another history of Kashmir, based on the same Sanskrit work and other sources, by an anonymous author, brought down to A. H. 1023, the eighth year of Jahângir's reign (see the chronogram at the end: نامۀ = A. D. 1614, and beginning, without introduction: مؤرخان اخبار سلاطین ممالک کشمیر که جملة حالات و واقعات ملوک و احکام و احوال اشراف انام را بعلم کشمیری نوشتند در دفاتر اخبار و صحائف آثار چنین ثبت نمودند که در کشمیر در زمان قدیم الخ).

It ends on fol. 213^a; comp. Rieu i. p. 297. On ff. 214^b-221^a a poetical fragment is added, a peculiar kind of didactic poem, consisting of a series of kit'as, usually two, sometimes three, and even four baits long, mixed with fards and put together in form of a mathnawi, being all of the same metre; it begins thus:

خواهی ایمان مرد بشناسی
رو نظر کن بسوی ایمانش
که بود گر بقول خود ثابت
بس بود آن دلیل ایمانش
آن برادر مدان که در راحت
روی خود سوده پیش تو بزمین
هر که در وقت سختیت یارست
آن برادر ترا بود بیقیم

Ta'rikh-i-Kashmir (تاریخ کشمیر).

A third history of Kashmir, from the earliest ages down to the twelfth year of the emperor Jahângir's reign, commenced on the base of the old Sanskrit work Râjataranginî and other authentic documents, by Haidar Malik bin Hasan Malik bin Kamâl-aldin Muḥammad Nâji bin Malik Nuṣrat of Cārwarah, commonly called Ra'is al-mulkî (see fol. 4^a), A. H. 1027 (A. D. 1618). see fol. 3^b, l. 11, and completed about A. H. 1030 (A. D. 1621), see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 316 and 317; Rieu i.

p. 297 sq.; J. Aumer, p. 98; H. N. Wilson, an Essay on the Hindû History of Cashmir, Asiatic Researches, vol. xv, Serampore, 1825, p. 1 sq.; and D. J. F. Newall, a Sketch of the Mahomedan History of Cashmere, Journal of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, new series, No. 68, Calcutta, 1854, pp. 409-460. This copy begins in the usual way:

ای آنکه جهان بوحثت تست گواه
کس را نبود در حرم کنه تو راه

but it is almost twice as large as the copies described in the above-mentioned catalogues, and the reason is obvious. Our copy consists of two portions, the first of which contains, like all the other copies, the history of Kashmir, on ff. 1^b-237^a, and concludes with these significant words: تا اینجا حقیقت پادشاهان کشمیر. باتمام رسید، حالا حقیقت پادشاهان ولایات ابتداست. Consequently the second portion, on ff. 238^a-387^b, contains a general history of all the contemporary dynasties in the different parts of Irân, Tûrân, Transoxania, etc., in six bâbs; the beginning is unfortunately missing, it opens abruptly: لشکر شد بعد از پسرش یعقوب الخ.

Bâb I comprises the history of the Tâhirides, Sâmânides, Ghaznawides, Ghûrides, Bûyides, the Saljûks, the Khwârizmshâhs, the Atâbegs, the Ismâ'ilis, and the Karâkhitâ'i Sultâns, on fol. 238^a.

Bâb II: The Moghul emperors, on fol. 281^b.

Bâb III: The kings who ruled after Sultân Abû Sa'id in Irân, from the Cûpânians to the Sarbadârs, on fol. 295^b.

Bâb IV (here wrongly styled فصل چهارم): Timûr and his successors, on fol. 322^b.

Bâb V: The Karâ-koyunlû and Âk-koyunlû Sultâns, on fol. 345^b.

Bâb VI: The Sultâns who ruled over Transoxania and Khurâsân after A.H. 906 (A.D. 1501), on fol. 363^a.

At the end of this second portion is written: تمام تاریخ کشمیری شد، consequently there is no doubt that this second portion really forms a part of that work. It is probably based on the لب التواریخ, Kism III, see above, Nos. 101-103.

No date. This copy belonged formerly to Mr. W. Chambers.

No. 1100, ff. 387, ll. 13; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 13½ in. by 8½ in.

Ta'rikh-i-Kashmîr (تاریخ کشمیر).

A fourth history of Kashmir, based on the same original Sanskrit work of Rājataranginî, by Narāyan Kûl, with the takhalluṣ 'Ājiz, a Hindû Brahman of Kashmir, composed A.H. 1122 (A.D. 1710); comp. ff. 3^b, ll. 4 and 5, and 4^a, l. 7.

Beginning: سپاس بیرون از مقیاس قیاس سزاوار جناب پادشاهی الخ.

A full description of this work is given in Rieu i. p. 298; other copies in G. Flügel ii. p. 191, and the Bodleian Catalogue, No. 318; compare also Wilson's Essay on the Hindû History of Cashmir, in Asiatic Researches, vol. xv. p. 5 sq., Serampore, 1825.

Dated the 29th of Rabi'-althânî (ربیع الثانی, sic!), A. H. 1215 (A. D. 1800, Sept. 19), at Banglûr (بنگلور). Purchased at Seringapatam, 1802, by J. H. Peile, and presented by him to the library, Sept. 19, 1818; transferred to Civil Coll., Aug. 9, 1819.

512

Another copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. Author's name and date appear on ff. 5^a, l. 3, and 6^a, l. 3. Dated, by Makhdûm Sharif, the 27th of Rabi'-alâkhar, A. H. 1217 (A. D. 1802, Aug. 27), at Seringapatam.

No. 2491, ff. 255, ll. 11; large Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 6 in.

Wâkı'ât-i-Kashmîr (واقعات کشمیر).

A fifth history of Kashmir, from the oldest times down to A. H. 1160 (A. D. 1747), by Muḥammad A'zam, son of Khair-i-Zamân Khân (see fol. 4^a, l. 12), who commenced this work A. H. 1148=A. D. 1735 (fol. 4^a, last line), and dedicated it to the emperor Muḥammadshâh (fol. 4^b, l. 6). The title of the book is a chronogram for the year in which it was commenced, but the author did not finish it before A. H. 1160, see Bodl. Catalogue, No. 319, and Rieu i. p. 300 (the versified chronogram, however, quoted there is not found in this copy). The chief aim of the compiler was to supply especially biographical notices and extracts from the writings of the principal shaikhs, 'Ulamâs, and poets of Kashmir, which were entirely wanting in works previously written on Kashmir, and being more or less mere translations from the old Hindû work Rājataranginî.

Beginning, on fol. 3^a: زینت صفحات دفتر ابداع و ایجاد و نزمت طبقات منظر عالم کون فساد الخ.

The book is divided into a mukaddimah, three kisms, and a khâtimah, viz.:

Mukaddimah: Description of Kashmir, on fol. 4^b (در بیان احوال و صفات این شهر).

Kism I: Hindû Rājahs, on fol. 8^a (در حالات ارباب حکومت که پیش از دور ظهور اسلام درین ملک حکمرانی کردند).

Kism II: Muslim rulers, on fol. 22^a (در حالات سلاطین که بعد سطوع فروغ اسلام بسلطنت رسیده اند (و از کشمیر برخاستند).

Kism III: Moghul emperors, from Akbar to Muḥammadshâh, on fol. 75^a (در ذکر سلاطین دودمان علیّه چغتائیّه که متصرف این شهر شدند تا زمان اختتام این رساله).

The heading in the text runs here thus (the number of the kism being omitted): بیان آغاز تصرف سلاطین سلسله علیّه تیموریّه در صوبه کشمیر.

Khâtimah: Curiosities of Kashmir, on fol. 192^b (در بیان بعض عجائب و غرائب که خاصه این شهر است).

Dated the 12th of Šafar, A.H. 1217 (A.D. 1802, June 14). On ff. 1^b and 2^a a short enumeration of the reigns of the Šarḡi Sultāns of Jaunpūr. A. Welland, Feb. 4, 1810.

No. 1429, ff. 195, ll. 12-17; very unequally written, both in Nasta'liq and Shikasta; size, 10½ in. by 8 in.

Nasabnāma-i-Rājahāi-Maisūr (نسب نامه راجهای میسور).

This is the same short account of the Rājahs of Mysore and Nagar, the dates of their birth, wives and children, which is noticed by W. Morley, Cat., pp. 86 and 87, and is entitled there: احوال راجهای میسور و نگر; it is styled here, in the short preface on fol. 1^b: حقیقت راجهای میسور و نگر.

The little work was originally written in the Carnataca language, and by order of Tipū Sultān two Persian translations were made of it, by Asad Anwar and Ghulām Husain (see fol. 2^a, l. 2). One of these is represented here; as date appears, on fol. 1^b, ll. 2-4, A.H. 1212, 20th of Dhū-al-ḥijjah (A.D. 1798, June 5). It begins with Timmarāj and goes down to Ḥaidar 'Alī (about 266 years). Beginning of the preface: از حضور لامع النور حضرت ظل الله الملك المتان تیبوالخ.

Kiṣṣa-i-Ḥaidar 'Alīkhān (قصه حیدر علیخان).

A biography of Nawwāb Ḥaidar 'Alīkhān of Mysore, from his rise to his death in the beginning of Muḥarram, A.H. 1197 (A.D. 1782, December; see fol. 43^a, ll. 4 and 5), by an anonymous author (according to a notice on the fly-leaf his name was Munshi Amīr), who during the last two years of Ḥaidar 'Alī's reign was in the service of Captain John Kennaway (see fol. 42^b, ll. 1 and 2: (کپتن جان کنوی), and returned to his native town of Ḥaidarābād the last of Dhū-alka'dah, A.H. 1196 (A.D. 1782, Nov. 6). He was an eye-witness of the last deeds of the hero of this book.

Beginning: ستایش ناصری که بمددگاری فوج لطفش کشورکشایان را الخ.

No date. Another copy of the same history in Rieu iii. p. 1033.

No. 3079, ff. 44, ll. 13; Nasta'liq; size, 8¾ in. by 5½ in.

Aḥwāl-i-Ḥaidar 'Alīkhān (احوال حیدر علی خان).

Another biography of Nawwāb Ḥaidar 'Alīkhān of Mysore, from his birth to his death in A.H. 1197, by an anonymous author, who compiled this work at the request of Mr. Richard Johnson; see fol. 3^a, l. 8. It is divided into nine bābs:

1. در حسب و نسب او, on fol. 4^a.
2. در چگونگی روزگار او, on fol. 6^b.
3. در ترتیب دولت او و متصرف گشتن در اکثر امکنه, on fol. 8^b.
4. در سلوک او با رفقای خود در بزم و رزم دائم الاوقات, on fol. 45^b.
5. در جمع کردن او زنهای بسیار و سلوک او با ازواج, on fol. 50^b, first line.
6. در رویه او با تعلقه داران و سوداگران, on fol. 52^a.
7. در اوقات خست و سخاوت و قوت حافظه او, on fol. 53^b.
8. در تفیید و احتیاط او در ملک خود از مردم و طریقه او, on fol. 56^b.
9. در گذشتن او از دنیا, on fol. 58^b.

Beginning: بر صورت نویسان معانی دقایق و معنی شناسان صور حقائق روشن و بر کاشفان امور غامضه ماضی و حال الخ.

Comp. Col. W. Miles' 'History of Hydur-Naik,' London, 1842, the translation of Mir Husain 'Alī's Nishān-i-Ḥaidari (see below, No. 522).

This biography was compiled A.H. 1199, and this copy is the author's autograph, finished the 5th of Rajab in the same year (A.D. 1785, May 14).

No. 1978, ff. 1-60, ll. 10; Shikasta; size, 9¼ in. by 5 in.

Tawārikh-i-Ḥaidari (تواریخ حیدری).

A third, much more detailed history of Ḥaidar 'Alīkhān, from his birth in A.H. 1125 (A.D. 1713; according to another biography, described in Rieu ii. p. 802^a, he was born A.H. 1131=A.D. 1719) to his death and the accession of his son Tipū Sultān in A.H. 1197, by Lāla Bud Singh, with the takhalluṣ Munshi (see fol. 14^a, l. 2), who spent three years in the compilation of this work (see fol. 19^a, l. 5). A date of composition is not given, but it appears to have been written very soon after Ḥaidar 'Alī's death. The author is no doubt identical with Budh Singh of the Khatri caste, who wrote, by desire of Major James Mordaunt, a short account of the Sikhs, styled رساله نانک شاه, about A.H. 1197; see Rieu ii. p. 860. The history begins with an account of Ḥaidar 'Alī's ancestors, on fol. 21^a; the story of Ḥaidar 'Alī's birth is found on fol. 29^a.

Beginning: بدائع نگار مور بیجونی و صنائع طراز اشباه بی نمونی الخ.

Dated at Patna the first of Rabi'-alâkhar, A. H. 1217 (A. D. 1802, Aug. 1). The full title on the fly-leaf is: تواریخ نواب حیدر علیخان بہادر.

519

Another copy of the same.

This copy is complete, but very badly written, and without any date. Beginning the same as in the preceding copy. Account of the ancestors of Haidar 'Ali, on fol. 10^a; of his birth, on fol. 13^a. Author's name on fol. 7^a, l. 7.

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2494, ff. 95, ll. 13; Shikasta; size, 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

A fragment of the same.

This fragmentary copy agrees with No. 2636 (518 above) as far as fol. 48^a, where the advance to the fortress of Karnûl (Kannûl or Kuruool, کرنول, in the Presidency of Madras, see Rieu i. p. 332) is described, corresponding to fol. 102^a in No. 2636. The remaining portion we have not been able to trace in that copy; for instance, on ff. 48^b-50^a a mathnawi in praise of the capture of the hill-fort of Gûti (Gutti or Gooty, گوتی, in the district of Bellary) appears, which is not found in No. 2636. That capture took place in A. H. 1187 (A. D. 1773, 1774).

Sultân-altawârikh (سلطان التواریخ).

A history of the Sultans of Mysore, viz. Fath Nâik, Haidar 'Ali, and Tipû Sultân, by an anonymous author, dedicated to Tipû (see fol. 10^a, l. 5, and fol. 12^b, last line). It is divided into two daftars, the first dealing with the history of Tipû's father and grandfather, who are respectively called جنت مکانی and فردوس آشیانی; the second relating the events in the reign of Tipû himself, who is called ظِلُّ الہی (the shadow of God), down to the march on کلبانور (see fol. 154^b sq.). The first daftar begins on fol. 13^a, the second (without this heading) in eighteen guftârs on fol. 16^a. The third and fourth years of Tipû's reign (A. H. 1199-1200=A. D. 1785 and 1786) commence on fol. 93^a, the narrative of his march on Calicut on the Malabar coast (fifteenth guftâr) on fol. 140^a. The eighteenth and last guftâr, beginning on fol. 160^b, contains a detailed genealogy of Tipû, but is apparently imperfect.

Beginning: سلطان نشاتین صوری ومعنوی الفاظ ومعانی ستایش و نبایش پادشاه علی الاطلاق است جل جلالہ وعم نوالہ الخ.

On fol. 1^a this book is styled خداداد تاریخ.

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2748, ff. 166, ll. 11; large Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

Nishân-i-Haidarî (نشان حیدری).

Special history of the reigns of Haidar 'Ali and his son Tipû Sultân of Mysore, completed A. H. 1217 (A. D. 1802), see fol. 250^b, last line (in Rieu i. p. 331^b it is stated that the work was written at the close of A. H. 1213, which probably only means, that the last events, related in it, refer to that year), by an eye-witness of the events related, and a servant of both Sultâns, from A. H. 1167 to 1213=A. D. 1754-1799 (see fol. 2^a, ll. 7-9), Mir Husain 'Alikhân Kirmâni, and entitled نشان حیدری, see fol. 3^a, l. 2, comp. W. Morley, p. 87, where a fuller title is given, viz. نشان حیدری و خروج و نزول دولت تیپو سلطان.

The same author wrote in A. H. 1215 (A. D. 1800, 1801) the تذکرۃ البلاد والحکم, or history of some principalities of the Bâlaghât country (see Rieu i. p. 331 sq.). The present work begins, after the introduction, on fol. 3^b, with an account of Haidar 'Ali's ancestors (ذکر جد); from A. H. 1163=A. D. 1749, the year of Tipû's birth and the rise and progress of Haidar 'Ali's power (on fol. 13^a, first line), the history becomes more detailed, and every subsequent year is marked by a special heading.

Haidar 'Ali's death and Tipû Sultân's accession (A. H. 1197) are related on fol. 157^b sq.

Tipû's death in A. H. 1213 (A. D. 1799), on fol. 241^a sq., followed by a short enumeration of his virtues, manners, etc.

Beginning of the introduction, on fol. 8^b: زبور نام آوری شاهد قلم وزبان وزیب انجمن آریان حدیقه شرح و بیان حمد قادریست الخ.

The first nine leaves are misplaced; their proper order is: ff. 8, 2-7, 1, 9. This work has been translated for the Oriental Translation Fund by Col. William Miles: 'The History of Hydur Naik,' London, 1842, and as sequel to it, 'The History of the Reign of Tipû Sultân,' London, 1844. Copied by Sayyid Ibrâhim.

No. 2550, ff. 251, ll. 15; large and clear Nasta'lik; size, 10 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Another copy of the same.

This excellent copy begins in a different way, viz.: شیرازہ دفتر متفرق اخبار عالم و جامع مجموعه افراد اوضاع متباین کاتہ امم حمد مالک ملکیت کہ الخ, but in every other respect it agrees completely with the previous copy. The author's name, Mir Husain 'Ali, son of Sayyid 'Ali alkâdir alkirmâni, appears on fol. 2^b, l. 4; the title on fol. 2^b, l. 10. The chapter on Haidar 'Ali's ancestors begins on fol. 3^a; that of Tipû's birth, in A. H. 1163, on fol. 10^b; that of the events of A. H. 1213, and of Tipû's death, on fol. 209^b. The date of completion is given in full as 9th of Rajab, A. H. 1217 (A. D. 1802, Nov. 5), on fol. 220^a, l. 6.

No. 3179, ff. 220, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

A fragment of the same.

A small portion of the Nishân-i-Haidarî, from the beginning to the reduction of the fort of Bâlapûr (commonly called Ballapoor, in Mysore), by Haidar 'Alikhân, in A. H. 1172=A. D. 1758, 1759 (see the last chapter-heading on fol. 13^a, corresponding to No. 2580 (522 above), fol. 41^a). The last words of this fragment, نواب ظفرمند گذاشته خود به بناء دامن (No. 2580, fol. 45^a, l. 1). Beginning of the preface on fol. 10^b: زبور نام آوری شاهد قلم و زبان و زبب انجمن آریان الخ.

The leaves of this fragment are curiously misplaced by the binder; their proper order is: ff. 10, 2-9, 1, 17-36, 11-16.

No. 3081, ff. 36, ll. 15; careless Nasta'liq; size, 8 in. by 5½ in.

Letters of Tipû Sultân.

The first volume of a large collection of letters and notes, by the famous Sultân Tipû of Mysore, presented to the library by Lieut.-Col. W. Kirkpatrick, 13th April, 1811, and annotated throughout by him. It contains, according to a note prefixed to the volume (besides more than 600 others), all the letters which appeared in the 'Selected Letters of Tippoo Sultan,' published by Black, Parry, and Co. (see preface to that work for an explanation of the confusion which prevails in the arrangement of these letters), and covers the years A. H. 1198-1201 (A. D. 1784-86, 87). This volume brings the correspondence down to the end of the 12th month of the year دلو = A. D. 1786-87, and consists of five parts, viz.: I. ff. 1-90, copied April 5th, 1800; II. ff. 91-152; III. ff. 153-241, copied 17th May, 1800; IV. ff. 242-293; V. ff. 294-356.

Address of the first letter, on fol. 1^a: هشتم ماه جعفری سال جلو بنام راجه رام چندر.

No. 2100, ff. 356, ll. 15; Nasta'liq; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

526

Copies of orders by Tipû Sultân.

No. 2102, ff. 6; Shikasta; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

Historical miscellanies.

Historical and other pieces, written by various hands, and containing, among altogether worthless fragments:

1. Account of the events of A. H. 1197 (A. D. 1783), the first year of Tipû Sultân's reign, on fol. 1^b.

2. Account of the events of A. H. 1198 (A. D. 1784).

Tipû's second year, on fol. 20^a (ff. 21^b and 22^a left blank, as well as the larger portion of fol. 21^a).

3. Account of the events of A.H. 1199-1200 (A.D. 1785 and 1786), etc., on fol. 24^b (a lacuna between ff. 37 and 38, another between ff. 39 and 40).

4. Statistical accounts of the Dârûghas, or police inspectors, the Sirdârs, the British power in India, Indian Râgs and Râginis, and an endless number of other small items, ghazals and rubâ'is, by Ḥasan 'Ali 'Izzat, Zain-al-'ābidin (the former author of the Muḥarririh-alkulûb, a work on the music of Mysore, the latter of the Faṭḥ-almujābidin), and others, on fol. 46^a sq. As dates for some of the statistical items appear the years of Muḥammad's birth (مولود محمد), 1224 and 1226, comp. ff. 47^a and 52^a.

V. HISTORY OF PERSIA.

Kitāb-almu'jam fi āthār-i-mulūk al'ajam (کتاب المعجم فی آثار ملوک العجم).

History of the kings of Persia, from Gayūmarth to Anūshirwān, by Faḍl-allāh al-Ḥusaini, who dedicated this work to Nusrat-al-din Aḥmad, the ruler of Lūristān (died A.H. 733=A.D. 1332, 1333), comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 285; Rieu ii. p. 811^b; H. Khalfā v. p. 629; W. Morley, p. 132; J. Aumer, p. 78; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 420 and 421. Edited at Ṭaharān, 1843. Dated 23rd of Safar, A. H. 1028 (A. D. 1619, Feb. 9), by 'Abd-al'aziz bin 'Abd-alkubâd. Index on ff. 161 and 162. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2780, ff. 162, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; worm-eaten, but carefully mended; size, 9½ in. by 4½ in.

A very detailed history of the rise of the Safawi dynasty, the origin of the priestly state in Ardabil and the ancestors of Shâh Isma'il, as well as the reign of that first king of the Safawi dynasty (A. H. 909-930 = A. D. 1503-1524), which fills the main portion of this work. Unfortunately the MS. is defective at the beginning, and neither title nor author's name can be ascertained. There are, moreover, no distinct subdivisions, and dates are scarcely ever given. On a piece of paper, pasted on one of the fly-leaves, it is styled:

تأريخ اسمعيل. Whether any other copy of this highly valuable history is extant in a European library we are unable to find out; all that can safely be stated is that it is neither identical with the أحسن التواريخ (see Bodleian Cat., No. 287), nor with the fourth chapter of the third volume of the حبيب السیر (see No. 88 sq. in this Cat.). It ends on fol. 305^b with the accession of Shâh Tahmâsp, A. H. 930; last words: و حضرت شاه طهماسب بهادر خان خلد الله ملكه را آوردند در دار السلطنة تبريز بر تخت نشاندند.

Ff. 306^a-312^b are filled with a kind of genealogical and chronological table of the Safawi dynasty, incomplete at the end (the last leaves being partly torn away), beginning with A. H. 892 (see fol. 306^b, l. 4) = A. D. 1487, the year of Shâh Isma'il's birth; the last date that can be found in the text itself is A. H. 1015 (A. D. 1606), on fol. 311^b, lin. penult., but according to the preliminary index on fol. 306^a, these lists were to go down to the reigns of Shâh Safi II, i. e. Shâh Sulaimân (who succeeded his father, 'Abbâs II, A. H. 1077 = A. D. 1666).

No. 1877, ff. 312, ll. 14; Nasta'lik, by many different hands; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

Futûhât-i-Humâyûn (فتوحات همايون).

A defective history of the first twelve years of the reign of Shâh 'Abbâs the Great, from his accession, A. H. 996 (A. D. 1588), to A. H. 1007 (A. D. 1598, 1599), the year of the conquest of Khurâsân, and the date of the composition of this work (the title is a chronogram, see fol. 11^b, l. 2), compiled by Siyâki Nizâm (سيماقي نظام), see fol. 8^b, l. 6, and dedicated to Shâh 'Abbâs. He gave to the book this peculiar title, because, as he says, the first twelve years of 'Abbâs' reign witnessed twelve different conquests, and the name of the Shâh شاه عباس حيدري consists itself of twelve letters. It is divided into a preface, styled كرامت, with seven اشاره, see fol. 13^b, and twelve فتوح, but unfortunately this copy contains only the كرامت and the twelfth or last فتح (فتح دوازدهم در فتح ذكر نوجة رايات نصرت آيات بصوب خراسان), which begins in the middle of Shâhân, A. H. 1006 (A. D. 1598, March), on fol. 16^b. Between ff. 15^b and 16^b all the other eleven فتوح are missing (fol. 16^a is left blank).

Beginning: لطيفترين گوهری که مورخان بلاغت نظام و منشیان فصاحت هر قسم در رشته عبارت انتظام دهند حمد و ثنای قادر لایزال یست الخ.

Copied in Ramađân, A. H. 1059 (A. D. 1649, Sept.).

No. 955, ff. 114, ll. 11; Nasta'lik; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

538

Ta'rikh-i-'âlamârâi-'abbâsi (تأريخ عالم آرای عباسی).

A complete copy of Iskandar Munshi's history of Shâh 'Abbâs the Great and his predecessors in the Safawi line, originally completed A. H. 1025 (A. D. 1616), but afterwards continued to 'Abbâs' death, and the accession of Shâh Safi in A. H. 1038 (A. D. 1629), comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 289-299; Rieu i. p. 185 sq.; W. Morley, p. 133 sq.; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 433-436; Erdmann in Zeitschrift der D. M. G. xv. p. 457 sq.; G. Flügel ii. p. 174 sq.; J. Aumer, p. 80; Journal Asiatique, v. (1824), p. 86 sq.; H. Khalfa vi. p. 564, etc. According to the preface, Iskandar Munshi divided his work originally into a mukaddimah, on the forefathers and predecessors of Shâh 'Abbâs and the virtues and eminent qualities of the Shâh himself, and two shahîfas, the first containing 'Abbâs' life from his birth to his accession (A. H. 978-996 = A. D. 1571-1588), the second the first thirty years of his reign (A. H. 996-1025 = A. D. 1588-1616). He afterwards added the history of the last thirteen years of his reign (A. H. 1025-1038 = A. D. 1616-1629), and subdivided the second shahîfah into two maqûds, the first to contain the first karn or generation, i. e. the first thirty years, to A. H. 1025, the second the remaining years to 1038. The latter is also styled in some Bodleian copies the third shahîfah. A khâtimah, which the author had intended to comprise wonderful stories and strange incidents of the time, was never completed.

Beginning of the whole work: چون نشر محمد کبریای الهی که بیرون از دائره عقول و افهام است الخ.

Muḳaddimah and first ṣaḥīfah, on fol. 1^b.

Second ṣaḥīfah, first maḳṣad, on fol. 157^b; second maḳṣad, on fol. 425^b.

Dated the 19th of Muḥarram, A. H. 1050 (A. D. 1640, May 11), by Dā'ūd Kātib, at Lāhūr.

No. 126, ff. 507, ll. 25; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each of the three parts; size, 13½ in. by 7½ in.

539

Another complete copy of the same.

Muḳaddimah and first ṣaḥīfah, on fol. 1^b.

Second ṣaḥīfah, first maḳṣad, on fol. 300^b; second maḳṣad, on fol. 663^b. The first maḳṣad is dated the first of Jumādā-alākhar, A. H. 1052 (A. D. 1642, Aug. 27). the second maḳṣad the 27th of Rajab in the same year (A. D. 1642, Oct. 21), by 'Abd-alrashid bin 'Abd-allatīf Khushnawis.

No. 1915, ff. 776, ll. 21; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each of the three parts; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

540

The same.

Another most excellent copy of the whole work, to which only the first leaf, or rather the first page, is wanting. It opens abruptly thus: جلال حضرت مقدس, corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 1^b, last line.

Muḳaddimah, on fol. 3^b.

Ṣaḥīfah I, beginning with 'Abbās' birth, on fol. 52^a; Amirs and Khāns previous to his reign, on fol. 60^a; 'Ulamās and Shaikhs, on fol. 64^b; Ḥakims, on fol. 70^a; Calligraphers, on fol. 72^a; Painters, etc., on fol. 74^b; Poets, on fol. 77^a; Singers and Musicians, on fol. 80^a. The history continues on fol. 81^a.

Ṣaḥīfah II, first maḳṣad, on fol. 236^b; second maḳṣad, on fol. 629^b.

Beginning of the year 1037, on fol. 740^b. Death of 'Abbās, on fol. 744^a. Amirs of his time, on fol. 749^b; Wazirs, on fol. 752^a. Epilogue, on fol. 755^b.

Dated the 22nd of Ramaḍān, A. H. 1099 (A. D. 1688, July 21), by Maḥmūd bin Muḥammad Ḥusain of Shūlistān. The first leaves are a little worm-eaten; on ff. 556^b-597^a all the headings are left blank.

No. 2890, ff. 757, ll. 19; Naskhi; size, 12½ in. by 8 in.

541

The same.

This, otherwise very good and correct copy, is severely injured at the bottom of the last four pages, and has besides a lacuna on ff. 726^a middle to 726^b end (the whole space being left blank), corresponding to No. 1915 (539 above), fol. 751^b, l. 18 middle to fol. 754^a, l. 2. Some leaves besides are worm-eaten.

Muḳaddimah and first ṣaḥīfah, on fol. 1^b.

Second ṣaḥīfah, first maḳṣad, on fol. 237^b; second maḳṣad, on fol. 618^b.

Not dated. Presented by J. H. Peile, Esq., and received 19th Sept., 1818; transferred to Civil Coll., Aug. 9, 1819.

No. 3435, olim 16, J. 17, ff. 753, ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 11 in. by 6½ in.

542

Another copy of the muḳaddimah and the first ṣaḥīfah of the same work.

Beginning here: بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم، برده کشای
در امبد و بیم، چگونگی نشر محمد کبریای الهی الخ

Dated the 23rd of Muḥarram, A. H. 1076 (1717?) = A. D. 1665, Aug. 5; collated A. H. 1147 (A. D. 1734, 1735).

No. 395, ff. 283, ll. 21; Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6 in.

543

The same muḳaddimah and first ṣaḥīfah.

Beginning as usual: چون نشر محمد الخ.

Copied A. H. 1091 (A. D. 1680), at Gwāliyār, by Ṣafi Kuli bin Naurūz-al-mūr Turkmān.

No. 855, ff. 1-353, ll. 17; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6 in.

544

The same.

Dated the 22nd of Dhū-alḥijjah, A. H. 1092 (A. D. 1682, Jan. 2). All the headings are omitted.

No. 300, ff. 208, ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 14 in. by 8½ in.

545

The same.

The original portion of this copy, written in Naskhi, is a very correct one, but not dated. Beginning as usual. Muḳaddimah, on fol. 4^b; Ṣaḥīfah I, on fol. 41^a; Amirs and Khāns, on fol. 49^a; 'Ulamās and Shaikhs, on fol. 53^a; Ḥakims, on fol. 58^b; Calligraphers, on fol. 60^a; Painters, etc., on fol. 62^b; Poets, on fol. 65^a; Singers and Musicians, on fol. 68^a. Continuation of the history, on fol. 69^a.

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2676, ff. 222, ll. 21, Naskhi in the older part; ff. 1-36, 84, 85, 157, and 158 are added by a later hand in Shikasta, ll. 25; size, 11½ in. by 7 in.

546

Another copy of the second ṣaḥīfah of the same work.

First maḳṣad, on fol. 1^b, beginning: عنوان صحیفه

سلطنت وعالم آرای پادشاهان کامگار الخ

Second maḳṣad, on fol. 320^b, beginning: بعد از حمد و سپاس خالق آسمان و زمین و ستایش و نبایش دادار جهان آفرین الخ

The first maḳṣad was copied in the month Ramaḍān, A. H. 1063 (A. D. 1653, July, August), the second in the month Dhū-alḥajjah of the same year (A. D. 1653, Sept., October), by Muḥammad Amin Luāsānī.

No. 298, ff. 427, ll. 23; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each maḳṣad; size, 14½ in. by 9 in.

547

The same second ṣaḥīfah.

First maḳṣad, on fol. 1^b; second, on fol. 351^b. The first is dated the twelfth of Sha'bān, A. H. 1070 (A. D. 1660, April 23), the second the same year by the same hand.

Fol. 2 must be inserted between ff. 8 and 9; ff. 252-257 very severely injured.

No. 1441, ff. 462, ll. 23; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

548

The same.

First makṣad, on fol. 1^b; second, on fol. 437^b. Good and correct copy, but not dated.

No. 1665, ff. 585, ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each makṣad; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

549

Another copy of the first makṣad of the second ṣahîfah.

Beginning as in the preceding copies. Dated the 25th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1058 (A. D. 1648, April 19).

No. 303, ff. 437, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; annotations and additions on the margin; illuminated frontispiece; size, 12½ in. by 7½ in.

550

The same first makṣad.

Beginning: 'صحیفه دوم از تاریخ عالم آرای عباسی'.
عنوان صحیفه سلطنت الخ

No date; but on the first leaf there is an entry of a former owner from A. H. 1096 (A. D. 1685).

No. 1677, ff. 427, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; the last three leaves supplied by a more modern hand; worm-eaten throughout; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

551

The same.

This copy, beginning in the usual way, may be older than the preceding one, since it is dated the 25th of Rajab, A. H. 1072 (A. D. 1662, March 16), by Hâji Darwish 'Ali, but it is somewhat defective in consequence of a lacuna after fol. 7.

No. 299, ff. 242, ll. 27; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 14½ in. by 9½ in.

552

The same.

This copy has a different beginning, viz.: 'حمد و مدح پروردگار حمدی سپاس و ستایش'; the first year of 'Abbās' reign on fol. 3^a, the thirtieth on fol. 306^b.

Ta'rikh-i-Shāh 'Abbās-i-thāni (تاریخ شاه عباس ثانی).

A history of Shāh 'Abbās II, who ruled over Persia A. H. 1052-1077 (A. D. 1642-1666), from his birth to the fifteenth or sixteenth year of his reign, by the poet 'Imād-aldaulāh Mirzā Muḥammad Tāhir Wahid of Kazwin, who was the historiographer of that king, and died nearly a hundred years old, A. H. 1110 (A. D. 1698, 1699); comp. A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 137, and the MSS. of the late Sir H. Elliot, Journal of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, vol. 23, p. 251. A fuller account of this work is found in Rieu i. p. 189, and in the Bodleian Catal., No. 301. Comp. also Catal. des MSS. et Xylogr., p. 292, and Mackenzie Coll. ii. p. 123. Shāh 'Abbās II's birth in A. H. 1041 (A. D. 1631, 1632) is related here on fol. 76^a, l. 7.

Bayân-i-Wâqî' (بیان واقع).

A history of Nādirshāh, from his invasion of India to his death in A. H. 1160 (A. D. 1747), and of subsequent events during the reigns of Muḥammadshāh and Aḥmadshāh, together with a narrative of the author's own travels to Persia and Arabia, by Khwājah 'Abdalkarim bin Khwājah 'Akibat Mahmūd bin Khwājah Muḥammad, originally of Kashmir, who came to Shāh-jahānābād and was an eye-witness of all the principal affairs which went on during Nādirshāh's invasion; comp. on this interesting work Rieu i. p. 381 sq., and F. Gladwin's incomplete translation, styled 'Memoirs of Khojeh Abdulkurream,' Calcutta, 1788. According to the index, on fol. 3^a, it was originally divided into four bābs and a khâtimah, but in the progress of his work the author must have changed his mind, for our copy contains, like those in the British Museum, five bābs, the last of which brings the history down from the time of Nādirshāh's death to A. H. 1199 (A. D. 1785), the year in which he completed this work; see the last page, l. 12: و نه یکهزار و یکصد و نود و نه. In the British Museum copies A. H. 1198 (A. H. 1784) seems to be the last date. The intended khâtimah is found neither here nor in any other known copy.

The title appears twice, on fol. 2^b, last line but one, and fol. 3^a, l. 12. The author's name is mentioned on fol. 1^b, last line but one, and last line.

باب اول در ذکر عروج و خروج نادر السلطان و آمدن او به سمت هندستان (Nādirshāh's march to India), on fol. 4^a.

باب سیوم متضمن بعضی وقائع که از دار السلطنت قزوین تا بندر هوگلی که از نادر متعلقه سلطنت هندستان است مشاهده نمود (Events that occurred to the author in his travels from Kazwin through Persia and Arabia back to the port of Hūghl), on fol. 68^a.

Fawā'id-i-Ṣafawīyyah (فوائد صفویة).

A history of the Ṣafawī dynasty from Shāh Isma'il (died A. H. 930 = A. D. 1524) to Sulṭān Abū-alfath Muḥammad Mirzā Bahādurkhān alṣafawī almuṣawī alḥusainī, who lived in exile in Lucknow as pensioner of the East India Company. The work is dedicated to him by the author, Abū-ḥasan bin Ibrāhīm of Kāzwin, A. H. 1211 = A. D. 1796, 1797 (the word تاریخ forms the chronogram), see fol. 2^a, l. 1, fol. 3^a, ll. 1-5; a more detailed account of this history is given in Rieu i. p. 133 sq. and Morley, p. 137; comp. also W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 515 sq. The book is divided into two muḥaddimās and a khūtimah.

On fol. 84^a an additional chapter begins, on subsequent events from A. H. 1212 to 1220 (A. D. 1797-1805), see the latter date on fol. 110^a; our copy contains therefore more than those in Rieu and Morley, which only go down to A. H. 1216.

Ta'rikh-i-Ṭabarī (تاریخ طبری).

Chronicle of Ṭabaristān, composed by Muḥammad bin al-Ḥasan bin Isfandiyyār in and after A. H. 613 (A. D. 1216, see fol. 39^b, ll. 11 and 12), comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 307; Rieu i. p. 202 sq.; F. Spiegel in Zeitschrift der D. M. G. iv. pp. 62-71; Sir W. Ouseley, Travels, iii. p. 554, and B. Dorn, Schir-eddins Geschichte von Tabaristan, etc. (preface, pp. 3-6). As his sources the author enumerates particularly the following three works: (1) عقود سحر و قلائد در, by Abū-ḥasan Muḥammad alyazdādi, fol. 3^b, l. 6 (comp. Dorn, p. 4); (2) a risālah, translated for Dā'ūd Yazdī, A. H. 197 (A. D. 812, 813), by a man of Sind, 'Alā bin Sa'id, from Hindūi into Arabic; and (3) another risālah, translated by Ibn al-Muḥaffa' from Pahlawi into Arabic (styled جواب نامه, according to the Bodleian copy), see fol. 5^a, ll. 4-7. Apparently, Muḥammad bin al-Ḥasan did not complete his work, since in the last portion many events are related which occurred a long time after his death (the last date mentioned here at the very end of the book is the death of Fakhr-aldaulah Ḥasan, A. H. 750 = A. D. 1349), and we must therefore assume that this chronicle was continued by another hand, more than a hundred years after the original author's lifetime. In the Bodleian copy there is a still later appendix (missing here), with short chronological notes, the last of which gives the date A. H. 842 (A. D. 1438, 1439).

Beginning: حمد و ثنا و مدح بی منتها آفریدگاری را سزاست که واهب ارواح و خالق اشباح است الخ

The work is divided into four parts (قسم).

Kism I: در ابتدای بنیاد طبرستان, subdivided into four chapters (باب), viz. 1. در ترجمه سخن ابن المقفع (The translation of Ibn al-Muḥaffa'). 2. در ابتدای بنیاد طبرستان و بنای عمارات و شهرهای وی (First cultivation of Ṭabaristān and building of its cities, etc.). 3. در خصائص و عجائب طبرستان (Peculiarities and wonders of Ṭabaristān). 4. در ذکر ملوک و اکابر و علما و زهاد و کتاب (The kings, great and rich men, 'Ulamās, ascetics, scribes, physicians, astronomers, philosophers, poets, etc. of Ṭabaristān).

Kism II: در ابتدای دولت آل وشمگیر و آل بویه (Beginning of the dynasties of Washmگیر and Buwail in Ṭabaristān).

Kism III: در نفل ملک طبرستان از آل وشمگیر که آخر انشان نوشیروان بن منوچهر بن قابوس بود با سلاطین محمودیان و سلجوقیان (Kings of Ṭabaristān to Nūshirwān bin Minūcihr bin Kābūs, etc.).

Kism IV: از ابتدای دولت آل باوند دوم نوبت تا آخر (Rule of the Bāwand dynasty).

For a more detailed description of this work, we refer to Rieu and the Bodleian Cat., loc. cit. This copy was made A.H. 1032 (A.D. 1623) by Himmat ibn Rustamāk almāzandarāni.

Akhbār-i-Barmakiyān (اخبار برمکیان).

Kitāb-i-akhbār-i-Barmakiyān, styled on the fly-leaf and on fol. 1^a, تأریخ برامکد and تأریخ برمک, a special history of the Barmakis or family of Barmak, the well-known ministers of the 'Abbāsides (the last of which was executed by order of Hārūn-al-rashid), translated from the Arabic original of Abū Muḥammad 'Abd-allāh bin Lābari,—see, for instance, fol. 55, l. 3 (چنین گوید ابو محمد عبد الله بن لاری مؤلف اول این کتاب در جمله مؤلف عربی ابو محمد عبد) and fol. 102, l. 9 (چنین گوید ابو القاسم طابقی (? طائفی) که مؤلف اصلست) ff. 11^b, l. 7, and 31^a, l. 13 (ابو القاسم طابقی که مؤلف ضیاء)—into Persian, by Diyāi Barāni (کتب عربی است), the author of the تاریخ فیروز شاهى, see above, No. 211, and dedicated to Sulṭān Firūzshāh (A.H. 752–790, A.D. 1351–1388).

Beginning: کتاب اخبار برمکیان که بنده ضیاء برنی از عبارات عربی بپارسی ترجمه کرده است و دیباچه را بخطاب همایون سلطان فیروزشاه مدد الله ظلال جلاله زیب و زینت داد حمد و ثنا مرخدا برا که بفضل خویش کرم و خلق و سخاوت را قبله بر اهل کرم و مقاصد بندگان ساخت الخ

Other copies of this work are described in the Bodleian Cat., No. 308, and Rieu i. p. 333; comp. also Elliot, History of India, iii. p. 93, and vi. p. 484; and Schefer, Chrestomathie Persane, ii. p. 6 sq., where all the histories dealing with the Barmakis are enumerated.

In the preface the author mentions an old history from the time of Sulṭān Maḥmūd of Ghazna, مآثر محمودی, composed by a certain Imām Kāfāl (so to be read here instead of فعال!).

This history concludes on fol. 102^a, and ff. 102^b–108^a are filled up with some other short stories on the same subject, the first is called the twenty-second story of the eighth book, and the second (on fol. 104^b) the thirty-sixth story of the seventh book. The first begins: آورده اند که فضل بن یحیی بن خالد البرمکی با سرور سزی (?) گوید: آنکه در مودت و فنوت الخ مأمون خلیفه بکروز مرا بخواند و گفت الخ

Dated the 7th of Rabī'-al-awwal, A.H. 1097 (A.D. 1686, Feb. 1). The same hand, who wrote this date, added: مالک و صاحبه احقر الانام و اضعف الاسلام محمد (the first owner of this book was Muḥammad 'Aziz-allāh, son of 'U'bad-allāh Nakshbandi).

No. 1961, ff. 108, ll. 18 on the first forty-eight leaves, ll. 15–17 on the rest; Nasta'lik, by two different hands; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

e. Ḳarā-ḳoyunlūs.

Ta'rikh-i-Turkmāniyyah (تاریخ ترکمانیه).

A history of the Turkman dynasty, that is to say of the Ḳarā-ḳoyunlū branch, with a detailed account of the reigns and warlike deeds of Ḳarā Muḥammad, the founder of the dynasty, and his son, Ḳarā Yūsuf (who died, according to the Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. iii. p. 11, A. H. 823=A. D. 1420). This work, composed by Ibn 'Abdallāh Maḥmūd of Nishāpūr (see fol. 6^a, last line) after A. H. 950 (A. D. 1543), is so much the more precious, as we have no other special history of this powerful Turkman tribe, and this MS. seems besides to be almost unique in European collections, having been copied, according to a note on fol. 1^a and on the first fly-leaf, from a scarce MS. in the possession of Captain Roebuck. But unfortunately the value of our copy is somewhat diminished by the absence of all dates (the only date in the whole book is A. H. 599=A. D. 1202, 1203, in the short chapter on Ḳarā Muḥammad's ancestors, on fol. 21^b, l. 2), and the apparent omission of a very considerable portion of the history of Ḳarā Yūsuf and his successors on fol. 161^a; the last chapter, on fol. 160^b, relates prince Rustam, 'Umar Shaikh Mirzā's son and Timūr's grandson's flight before his brother, prince Sikandar, and his taking refuge in the fortress of Nishāpūr, where he was besieged by his brother and escaped at last to Ḳarā Yūsuf at Tabriz. The immediately following chapter on fol. 161^a transfers the scene of action, without the slightest transition, into the kingdom of Tiling or Tilingāna in India, and deals after a preliminary account of the Rājās of Tiling with the Ḳuṭbshāhs of Gulkundah, who conquered Tiling, especially with Sultān Ḳulī Ḳuṭb-almulk, the founder of the Ḳuṭbshāhī dynasty, whose reign as independent king of Tilingāna lasted thirty-two years, from A. H. 918-950 (A. D. 1512-1543). His death is mentioned on fol. 228^b in the khātimah. Now, Ḳulī Ḳuṭb-almulk was, according to the تاریخ سلطان محمد قطبشاه (see above, Nos. 456-462, and also Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. loc. cit.), the great-grandson of Ḳarā Yūsuf, whose descendants had thrown themselves with the remnants of their defeated armies into India and waged war against the infidels, that is, the Hindū Rājās of the Dakhan, Tiling, Gulkundah, etc. The logical connection between these two separate portions of our MS. is thus cleared up, but the fact remains, nevertheless, that the whole history of the last years of Ḳarā Yūsuf, and of the reigns of his son Sikandar Turkman (who was slain by his own son Ḳubād, A. H. 841=A. D. 1437), and Sikandar's brother, Jahānshāh (who was extirpated by Ḥasanbeg, the founder of the Āḳ-ḳoyunlū dynasty, in A. H. 872=A. D. 1467), are missing.

There is another drawback in this otherwise so extremely valuable work, that is, the flowery style which often conceals under a mass of poetical phrases the real substance of the story; this is especially regrettable in the dedication on ff. 9^b-10^b, where the name of the sovereign, at whose request the work was written, is so cleverly surrounded with flattering epithets, that it is almost impossible to find it out. It seems to be Muḥammad, and as he is called further on خدایگان

مالک ممالک عرب و عجم, we suppose the Ṣafawī ruler Muḥammad Khudābanda, surnamed Sultān Sikandar Shāh, the eldest son of Shāh Tahmāsp, is meant, especially as there are several puns with the word Sikandar in the dedication, for instance, on fol. 10^a, ll. 3 and 2 ab infra (سکندر شکوهی که دین پرور است - صف لشکرش سد اسکندر است).

At what time the book was completed it is impossible to state; Muḥammad Khudābanda ascended the throne in A. H. 985 (A. D. 1577), and reigned till A. H. 995 (A. D. 1587), that seems rather late for the composition of this work, as some of the last facts mentioned in it are Humāyūn's defeat by Shurshāh, A. H. 947 (A. D. 1540), and Ḳulī Ḳuṭbshāh's death in A. H. 950 (A. D. 1543); perhaps Muḥammad Khudābanda was still prince when the book was written. That a history of the Ḳarā-ḳoyunlū and their descendants, the Ḳuṭbshāhs of Gulkundah, should have been dedicated to a Šafawī prince, is not surprising, since the author lays everywhere a particular stress on the fact, that his heroes were partisans of the Shī'ah, and one of the introductory chapters contains an eulogium of 'Alī and the twelve Imāms (see fol. 5^a sq.).

Beginning: خداوند بیجگون خدائی تراست - بر اقلیم جان بادشاهی تراست.

The history of Karā Muḥammad begins on fol. 10^b.

This copy was written in fifteen days by Munshi Mirzā'ibeg for Colonel Mackenzie at Calcutta, and completed the 19th of January, 1815.

'Abdallāhnāma (عبد الله نامه).

A copy of the extremely rare history of the Shahbānī Khāns of Transoxania, and especially of 'Abdallāhkhān, who was born A.H. 940 (A.D. 1533), became absolute ruler of Transoxania in A.H. 986 (A.D. 1578, 1579), succeeded his father Iskandarshāh in Samarkand A.H. 990 (A.D. 1582), and died A.H. 1006 (A.D. 1597, 1598)¹; comp. on this most exquisite work of unequalled value Véliaminov-Zernov in the Bulletin historico-philol. de l'Académie de St. Pétersbourg, xv. pp. 172-175, and Mélanges Asiatiques, iii. pp. 258-263. It was composed by Tanish bin Mir Muḥammad al-Bukhārī, see fol. 3^a, l. 3 ab infra, and contains an introduction (partly after Rashid-al-din, see No. 17 in this Catal.) on the genealogy of 'Abdallāh and details on the Islām in Central Asia, two parts (مغاله), the life of 'Abdallāhkhān, and a khātimah (praise of 'Abdallāh and his wazīrs). The muḥaddimah begins here on fol. 10^a; the beginning of the first part is not marked; the second begins on fol. 399^a. Between ff. 398 and 399 is a lacuna comprising the end of the first makālah, the last chapter of which ('Abdallāh's accession) begins on fol. 392^a. The khātimah is entirely missing.

Beginning of the preface, on fol. 1^b: زواهر جواهر بیغابت نثار کرباس والا اساس مالک الملکی سزاست که صدای ملکوتس الخ.

Beginning of the second makālah, on fol. 399^a: الحمد لله المتوحد بالعظمة والكبرياء والمنزه الخ.

No date. An entry from A.H. 1119 (A.D. 1707, 1708), on fol. 1^a.

No. 3, ff. 499, ll. 23; Naskhi; illuminated frontispiece on fol. 1^b; size, 14 in. by 8½ in.

Bahr-alarār fī manāqib-alakhyār (بحر الاسرار فی مناقب الاخيار).

A very rare and detailed history of the Uzbekkhāns of Transoxania, especially of the Astarkhānī Sultāns, from the accession of Din Muḥammadkhān in A.H. 1006 (A.D. 1597, 1598), after the assassination of 'Abdalmu'minkhān, to A.H. 1050 (A.D. 1640, 1641), in the reign of Nadhr Muḥammadkhān (the years A.H. 1047-1050, on ff. 235^a-274^a), with a full account of contemporary events in the neighbouring countries, and a short introduction on the descent of the dynasty from Čingizkhān and the Kipčāk rulers, by Mahmūd bin Amir Wali (see the colophon on fol. 409^a). A large portion of the work, viz. ff. 275^a-389^a, is devoted to special events of that time, not narrated in the main story, and a detailed account of all the great men, Amirs, 'Ulamās, Kādīs, Shaikhs, and poets of Transoxania, and particularly of Balkh. Ff. 389^a-409^a contain in the form of an appendix a relation of the author's extensive travels from A.H. 1034 (A.D. 1624, 1625) onwards.

Beginning: ارتفاع اعلام ظفر فرجام مواكب كواكب احتشام خوانین تقای تیموری در ساحت آسمان رتبت طارم الخ.

Copied from the author's autograph by Shāh Kāsim in Nadhr Muḥammadkhān's library, soon after the composition of the work itself, as the phrase added to the Sultān's name خلد الله ملكه وسلطانه الى يوم الدين shews, that Nadhr Muḥammadkhān (who died A.H. 1059 = A.D. 1649) was still alive when this transcript was made.

No. 1496, ff. 409, ll. 21; distinct Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece, the first two pages embellished with gold stripes between the lines; size, 14½ in. by 9½ in.

Ta'rikh-i-Khānjahānī u Makhzan-alafghānī (تاریخ خانجہانی و مخزن الافغانی).

The fuller redaction of Khwājah Nī'mat-allāh bin Khwājah Ḥabib-allāh Harawī's history of the Afghāns, which was completed the 10th of Dhū-alhijjah, A.H. 1021 (A.D. 1613, February 1), and dedicated to Khānjahān, in whose service the author was at that time. comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 2025 and 2026; Rieu i. p. 210 sq.; W. Morley, p. 74 sq.; Elliot, History of India, v. p. 67 sq.; and Dorn's History of the Afghans from the Persian of Neamet Ullah, London, 1829-1836.

Beginning: حمدی که مؤرخان وقائع نگار و مستخبران بدائع الخ.

The work is divided into a muḥaddimah, seven bābs, and a khātimah.

Muḥaddimah on Jacob, his offspring, etc. (در ذکر بنان احوال مهتر یعقوب اسرائیل الله و تعداد فرزندان و سلسله انساب این طائفه که بان بیغمبر عالمقام منتهی میشود), on fol. 3^a.

Bāb I: History of king Saul (Tālūt), the Ark, etc., and the migration of the Afghāns to Ghūr. Kūh-i-Sulaimān, and Rūh ملک طالوت و تابوت) در بیان احوال اسکینہ و در رسیدن او بامارت و ابالت بنی اسرائیل

Bâb II: History of Khâlid bin Walid, his conversion to Islâm and his campaigns, to the end of the Khilâfat of 'Umar Fârûk (در ذکر حضرت خالد بن ولید و بیان اسلام و سپه سالاری او در ولایت بصره و کوفه و شام و روم و عراق عرب و عجم تا آخر خلافت امیر المؤمنین عمر فاروق الخ) on fol. 48^b.

Bâb III: History of Sultân Bahlûl Lûdi and his successors down to the end of Sultân Ibrâhîm bin Sikandar bin Bahlûl's reign. A. H. 932 = A. D. 1526 (در بیان سلطان بهلول لودی الخ تا آخر عهد سلطان ابراهیم بن سکندر بن سلطان بهلول الخ) on fol. 75^a.

Bâb IV: History of Shir Shâh Sûr and his successors down to A. H. 1021 = A. D. 1612 (در ذکر بادشاهی شیرشاهی سور الخ تا در آمدن حضرت جنت آسبانی محمد همایون بادشاه مرتبه دوم در هندوستان و بانجام رسیدن دولت از سلسله سور و منتقل شدن بدودمان عالیشان جغتیه) on fol. 134^a, without a heading.

Bâb V: History of Nawwâb Khânjahân Lûdi and his ancestors (در احوال و کمای حقایق آباء واجداد) seems to begin on fol. 217^a (no heading).

Bâb VI: Genealogy of the Afghâns (در بیان تعداد سلسله افغان) on fol. 318^b.

Bâb VII: History of Jahângir's reign (در ذکر خلافت خدیو زمان و خافان دوران بندگان حضرت ابو المظفر نور الدین محمد جهانگیر بادشاه) on fol. 261^b.

Khâtimah: Lives of Afghân Shaikhs (در بیان احوال بعضی مشایخ ابن طائفه الخ) on fol. 297^b.

From the fifth bâb onwards the copy is in hopeless confusion; the above headings are taken from the index on ff. 7^b, 8, and 3^a. The proper order of the first seventeen leaves is as follows: 1, 2, 4-8, 9-11, 15, 16, 12-14, 17. One leaf is missing after fol. 144. Copied A. H. 1063 (A. D. 1653).

No. 1705. ff. 355, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; the first pages and some in the middle greatly damaged; waterspots throughout; size, 9 in. by 5½ in.

577

Another copy of the same.

This copy, which is considerably shorter than the preceding one, agrees entirely with the second copy of this work in Rieu i. p. 211^b (Add. 26,283) in so far as (1) the preface is wanting, and the few introductory lines are followed immediately by the index on fol. 2^a. (2) Bâb V, containing the history of Khânjahân, is altogether omitted.

Contents:

Mukaddimah (called here کتاب) on fol. 3^a; Bâb I, on fol. 8^b; Bâb II, on fol. 25^a; Bâb III, on fol. 42^a; Bâb IV, on fol. 74^a; Bâb VI, on fol. 119^a; Bâb VII, on fol. 150^a; Khâtimah, on fol. 171^a. The work ends on fol. 220^a, dated the 26th of Jumâda-alawwal, A. H. 1090 (A. D. 1679, July 5), and is followed by two appendices, viz. 1. the same genealogy of Haibatkhân bin Salimkhân, written by himself, which is noticed in the second copy of Rieu, on ff. 220^a-223^a (see Dorn's History of the Afghans, vol. ii. pp. iv-viii), and in the Bodleian Cat., No. 2026. 2. A collection of traditions (نقل) of Khwâjah Yahyâ Kabîr and Hadrat Makhdûm-i-Jahâniyân (that is, Jalâl-al-din Bukhârî, who died, according to Rieu i. p. 354^b, A. H. 785 = A. D. 1383, 1384), on ff. 223^a-226^b; comp. Bodleian Cat., loc. cit.

The first appendix is styled at the end کنز الافغانی.

Beginning of the whole work, on fol. 1^b: حمدی که مؤرخان وقائع نگار و مستخبران بدائع افکار بلسان گوهریار الخ

No. 2649, ff. 226, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 12½ in. by 8½ in.

578

Makhzan-i-Afghânî (مخزن افغانی).

The shorter redaction of the same history, in which both the fifth and the seventh bâbs are missing, completely agreeing with the copy in W. Morley and Add. 21,911 in Rieu i. p. 212.

It is divided into three bâbs, three daftars, and a khâtimah.

Bâb I, on fol. 4^a, history of Jacob, etc.

Bâb II, on fol. 9^b, history of king Saul, the Ark, etc.

Bâb III, on fol. 24^a, history of Khâlid bin Walid, etc.

Daftar I, on fol. 40^b, history of Sultâns Bahlûl, Sikandar, and Ibrâhîm Lûdi.

Daftar II, on fol. 75^b, history of Shirshâh, Islâmshâh, and some Afghân chiefs.

Daftar III, on fol. 171^a, history of the Afghân dervishes.

Khâtimah, on fol. 210^a, genealogy of the Afghâns.

At the end of Daftar II appear the same lines by Ibrâhîm Batni, which are noticed by Morley and Rieu.

Dated the 8th of Rajab, A. H. 1180 (1180? = A. D. 1766, Dec. 10). As title appears in the colophon: مجلس آرای و تاریخ مجلس آرای.

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2706, ff. 230, ll. 17, except ff. 193-230, which contain only fifteen lines in a page, and bear a slightly different handwriting; Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

579

Risâla-i-Afghânân (رساله افغانان).

A short treatise on the origin and pedigree of the Afghâns, traced back, as usually, to king Saul (طالوت). It is similar in its contents to the رساله انساب افغانه, noticed by W. Morley, p. 77, but of a much earlier date. The anonymous author refers in his statements to Abû 'Alî ibn Ahmad Mustaufi (i. e. Muḥammad bin Ahmad al-Mustaufi, we suppose, the translator of the کتاب فتوح, see above, Nos. 131-133), Junaid ibn Hâmid, and Khwâjah Ja'far.

Beginning: رساله افغانان در کیفیت نسل افغانان.

بدانکه از بشت ملک طالوت اند و ملک طالوت از بشت بهودا که بسرکلان مهتر یعقوب بود الخ.

Dated the 3rd of Muharram, A. H. 1172 (A. D. 1758, September 6). College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2124, ff. 274-277, ll. 15; large Nasta'liq; size, 12½ in. by 8½ in.

580

Two other short tracts on the origin of the Afghāns (در بیان تحقیق اصل و نسل مردم افغان) تأریخ by 'Abbās Sarwāni (that is no doubt the شیرشاهی; see above, Nos. 219 and 220).

Beginning of the first tract, on fol. 18b: . . . الحمد لله بدانکه این رساله ایست در بیان تحقیق اصل و نسل مردم افغان که پیش ازین در هندوستان الخ.

Beginning of the second tract, on fol. 25b, last line: رساله تحقیق اصل و نسل افغانان تأریخ افغانی عباس سروانی مینماید که چون آوازه طلوع آفتاب جمال محمدی الخ.

The second tract is incomplete at the end, breaking off in the middle of a phrase.

No. 1214, ff. 18b-27b, ll. 15; large and clear Nasta'liq; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

A history of the Khabāni and Ghūri tribes of the Afghāns, and especially of Yūsuf Zi (i. e. Bāyazīd Anṣārī ibn 'Abdallāh, the founder of the Rūshānian sect; comp. Ākhund Darwīza's مخزن الاسلام in Nos. 2393, 2456, 2467, 2476 and 2599 in this collection, and the Asiatic Researches, vol. xi. pp. 363-428) and his people, by Pīr Mu'azzamshāh, son of Pīr Muḥammad Fādīl, who was in the service of the famous Rohillāh chief Hāfiẓ Rahmatkhān (who died A. H. 1188=A. D. 1774; see No. 583), and got from him the order to condense and rewrite, in an easy and readable style, an old Pushtū history (written about A. H. 1031=A. D. 1622) with the title of تواریخ افغانه (see fol. 2b, l. 7 sq.).

dealing in particular with Yūsuf Zi's life and adventures; comp. W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 460, where the present work is styled حافظ رحمتخانی. As the other work of the same title (see the immediately following copy) is written three years later than this, our present book cannot have been based on that, as Pertsch assumes. This work is written in Pushtū also, with a Persian preface, and divided into the following seven makāmāt (completed, according to the colophon, A. H. 1181=A. D. 1767, 1768):

1. در ذکر اوطان اصلی اقوام خبني و غوري خصوصاً قوم يوسف زي وغيرهم من توابع ايشان و سبب ارتحال ايشان از آنجا و آمدن بمضافات دار السلطنت کابل

و مخالفت مرزا الغ بیک شاهزاده با قوم يوسف زي و گشته شدن سرداران يوسف زي از دست او و آمدن ايشان از آنجا بمضافات شهر پشاور وغيره که بالفعل 'در آن متوطن اند', on fol. 3b.

2. در ذکر رسيدن يوسف زي به پشاور و يافتن ملک. در بيان متوجه شدن يوسف زي بملک سوات و آمدن ظهير الدين محمد بابر بادشاه بتسخير مردم يوسف زي, on fol. 15b.

3. در بيان آمدن ککيانی بملک دوابه و آمدن محمد بابر پادشاه از کابل به پشاور و تاخت نمودن وی بر مردم دلزاک الخ, on fol. 58a.

4. در بيان جنگ مردم ککيانی و مردم دلزاک پشاور. در بيان قسمت کردن شيخ ملى ممالك مأخوذه و بلاد مغنومه در میان اقوام شبيخه و وفات شيخ ملى و در بيان عبور شدن يوسف زي از درياء لنکی و جنگ کردن ايشان با غوريه خيل و غير آن, on fol. 91b.

5. Copied by Ghulām Muslim Ṣadiqī. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2479, ff. 100, ll. 19; Naskhī; size, 10 in. by 6½ in.

582

(تواریخ رحمتخانی) Tawārikh-i-Rahmatkhāni.

Another work of the same title and the same contents, compiled for the same Hāfiẓ Rahmatkhān, by Hāfiẓ Muḥammad Ṣadiq, in seven majlis, A. H. 1184 (A. D. 1770, 1771); comp. on this Dorn, Bulletin scientifique de l'Académie de St. Pétersbourg, iv. p. 5 sq., where an abridged translation of the work is given; also Dorn's History of the Afghans, i. p. xi, No. 10, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 461.

Beginning: بعد از حمد صلوة بر بصائر صافية الو الالباب واضح و لائح باد که چون تمامی همت ظاهری الخ.

No date. Ff. 20b (partly), 21, 22a, 51a (partly), 51b, and 52a are left blank.

No. 1350, ff. 109, ll. 15; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 5 in.

(خلاصة الانساب) Khulāṣat-alansāb.

A genealogy of the Afghāns, by Hāfiẓ Rahmat bin Shāh 'Ālam of the Kūta-khail tribe (see fol. 6b, ll. 7 and 8), who was the ruler of Rohilkand since A. H. 1161 (A. D. 1748), and was killed in battle A. H. 1188, the 11th of Ṣaṭar (A. D. 1774, April 23), against the combined forces of the East India Company and the Wazir of Oudh, Shujā'-al-daulah; see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 321 and 322; Rieu i. p. 212 sq.; B. Dorn, History of the Afghans, i. p. xii, No. 13; K. F. Neumann, Geschichte des englischen Reiches in Asien, Leipzig, 1857, vol. i. p. 493, etc.

Beginning of the preface, on fol. 1^b: الحمد لله رب العالمين حمد بمحمد مرخالقى را که جمیع مکونات را جهت اظهار ربوبیت الخ

The work itself begins, on fol. 9^a, with the chapter در بیان احوال شیخ کوته علیه الرحمة.

The last chapter is devoted to a refutation of the doctrines of the Rāfidis: بیان تفصیل شیخین ورد روافض, beginning on fol. 39^b.

The work ends on fol. 59^b, and the last three lines give the date of the composition, viz. A.H. 1184 (in Rajab = A.D. 1770, October, Nov.). On ff. 60^a-62^b the Arabic hymn with Pushtū translation is added, which Dr. Dorn mentions in his 'History of the Afghans,' l. c. It is styled لك الحمد يا ذا الجود حضرت علی والمجد والعلی الخ.

No. 1577, ff. 62, ll. 15; large Nasta'liq; size, 10 in. by 6 in.

Ta'rikh-i-Faidbakhsh (تاریخ فیض بخش).

A history of the Rohillah Afghāns, their rise, independence, and dissolution, from the first foundation of their power by 'Alī Muḥammad, the grandson of Shāh 'Ālam the Afghān, who came, A.H. 1084 (A.D. 1673), together with Ḥusainkhān (or Ḥasankhān) to Kathér or Rohilkand, down to their defeat and destruction by the East India Company's army, the 23rd of April, A.D. 1774, which put an end to their government and independence. This book was written by Munshi Shīw Parshād, the wakīl of Nawwāb Faīd-allāhkhān Bahādūr, in the month of Muḥarram, A.H. 1190 (A.D. 1776, Febr., March); see fol. 6^b, ll. 8 and 9; fol. 7^b, ll. 9-11, and the colophon: comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 1972; Rieu i. p. 306, and Elliot, History of India, viii. pp. 175-179. The story opens, after a long-winded introduction, with a retrospect to former Afghān rulers, beginning with Shirshāh.

Beginning: فیض آفرینی را هزاران ستایش و نیایش سزد و سازگار است که طراوت الخ

It is translated by Charles Hamilton in the 'Historical relation of the origin, progress, and fatal dissolution of the Government of the Rohilla Afghans in the Northern Provinces of Hindostan,' London, 1787. This copy is not dated.

No. 249, ff. 133, ll. 14-16; Nasta'liq; size, 9 in. by 6½ in.

Another copy of the same.

The preface is wanting in this copy, which begins at once with a short account of Shirshāh: در ایام فرمانروائی و حکومت محمد فرید مخاطب بشیرشاه بن حسن افغان سور که مجمل احوال اینست الخ, corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 8^a, l. 2.

The work concludes on fol. 54^b. Ff. 55-75 contain chiefly Rekhta poetry, intermixed with a few Hindūstāni prose-pieces (on ff. 67^a-68^a); the chief headings are: نامه جرأت سلمه, on fol. 55^a (in mathnawī-baits), beginning: هجو خارش از دُر بکتای بحر محبوبی الخ; جرأت, on fol. 59^b (also in mathnawī-baits), beginning: جوش خارش هوا می اس آئین الخ, etc. Ghazals, on fol. 63^b sq. and fol. 68^b; marthiyyas or elegies (all in Rekhta), on ff. 69^a-75^b.

Bibliotheca Leydeniana. R. Chambers.

No. 2585, ff. 75, ll. 15 (on ff. 1-54, the rest in diagonal lines); Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 7 in.

586

A large fragment of the same.

This copy, which contains the greater portion of the foregoing history, comes down to A.H. 1185 (A.D. 1771); Najīb-aldaula's death is related on fol. 94^a (A.H. 1184); Shāh 'Ālam's return from Ilāhābād to Dihli, on fol. 95^a (A.H. 1185). The last chapter, found here on fol. 96^a, relates the death of Mullā Šardārkhān Bakhshī.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2773, ff. 39^b-97^a, ll. 13; Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

Gulistān-i-Raḥmat (گلستان رحمت).

A special history of the family and the ancestors of the author of this work, the Nawwāb Muḥammad Mustajābkhān, chiefly of his own father, Ḥāfiẓ-almulk Ḥāfiẓ Raḥmatkhān, after whom the book has been named, together with many details about his great-grandfather, Shaikh Shihāb-aldīn, known as Shaikh Kūti Bābā; his grandfather, Shāh 'Ālamkhān bin Maḥmūdkhān, known as Shaikh Mūti, and the history of Dā'ūdkhān, 'Alī Muḥammadkhān and other great Afghān noblemen and Amīrs, as well as a general account of the last times of the Moghal empire, from Bahādurshāh's accession, A.H. 1119 (A.D. 1707), down to the twenty-fifth year of the reign of Shāh 'Ālam, A.H. 1197-1198 (A.D. 1783, 1784); comp. on this work Rieu i. p. 307; Elliot, History of India, viii. p. 301 sq.; and Ch. Elliott's abridged English translation: 'Life of Hafiz ool-Moolk,' London, 1831. It was written A.H. 1207 (A.D. 1792, 1793), see Rieu, loc. cit.

It is divided into four چمن, that is, into a muḥaddimah, two faṣls, and a khātimah:

مقدمه در بیان حالات شیخ الشیوخ شیخ شهاب الدین شیخ کونی بابا و اولاد امجاد انشان, on fol. 4^a.

فصل اول در ولادت آنحضرت و تشریف آوردن از ولایت بهندوستان و معاودت نمودن بوطن و مراجعت فرمودن بار دیگر باستدعای علی محمدخان تا رحلت خان موصوف, on fol. 10^b.

فصل دوم در عروج آنحضرت بر مدارج امارت و سلطنت و حکومت تا حین شهادت, on fol. 32^a.

خاتمه در بیان اولاد قدسی نژاد آنحضرت و واقعاتی که
بعد آن حضرت بوقوع آمده، on fol. 213^a.

Shaikh Shihâb-al-din Kûti Bâbâ is referred to in the book as حضرت جد اعلی مرقوم, Shâh 'Âlamkhân as آنحضرت, خان شهادت نشان, and Rahmatkhân as آنحضرت.

VII. COLLECTIONS OF HISTORICAL CONTENTS.

Kisâs-alanbiyâ (قصص الانبیاء).

Undoubtedly the oldest of all the various works with the same or a similar title, identical with that in Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. iii. p. 16; Rieu i. p. 143; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 978; G. Flügel ii. p. 370; H. Khalifa iv. p. 518, etc. It is a fabulous history of the prophets from Âdam to Muḥammad, based on the Kurân and the traditions, with an appendix on the early khalifs down to the death of Mu'awiyah, and an account of Hajjâj bin Yûsuf. The author (distinctly introduced, on fol. 1^b, last line but one) gives his name as Ishâk bin Ibrâhîm bin Mansûr bin Khalaf of Nishâpûr, and traces the chain of his traditions through Abû Muḥammad bin alhasan bin Ahmad alkaşşâr almufassir alnishâpûrî—Maimûn bin Bahrâm—Ma'mûn bin Ahmad alsullamî alharawî—'Alî bin Ishâk—Sâlih bin 'Abd-alrahmân—Muḥammad bin Marwân alkûfî, and Muḥammad bin Sâ'il alkalbî (Rieu: Sâ'ib alkalbî, died A. H. 146=A. D. 763, 764) back to Ibn 'Abbâs. Rieu therefore places the author's lifetime at the end of the fifth century of the Hijrah.

Beginning: الحمد لله الحمید المبداء و صلی الله علی
محمد خاتم النبیین و آله الطیبین الطاهرین بس از
ثنای خدای عز و جل الخ

The last two leaves are greatly damaged, a considerable portion of each being torn away.

Dated the 14th of Şafar, A. H. 1125 (A. D. 1713, March 12), by Muḥammad Mu'azzam bin Muḥammad (the latter is called حاکم کنبو دهلی), College of Fort William, 1825. Arabic works of the same title and contents are mentioned in Loth, Arabic MSS. of the India Office, p. 205; J. Aumer, p. 182, etc.

No. 2224, ff. 135, ll. 25; careless Nasta'lik, mixed with Shikasta; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

Tâj-al-kisâs (تاج القصص).

A large collection of biographies and legends of the prophets from Âdam to Muḥammad, by an anonymous author (an incomplete note on the first page of Ouseley 193, in the Bodleian Library, calls him . . . Ibn Naşr albukhârî), beginning with a short Arabic introduction, الحمد لله الذى توحد بالملكوت وتعرّز بالجبروت : 4^b : والحمد لله الذى لا يموت و ربّ الازل الخ .

Then follows in the middle of the same page a Persian introduction, beginning : سپاس و ستایش براستی و آفرین بتمامی مر خداوند جهان آفرین الخ ; comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 342.

The legends of the ante-muhammadan prophets open with Adam and conclude with Jesus, Mary, the Seven Sleepers, and St. George. On fol. 215^a begins the history of Muḥammad. The work ends with Husain's death and the events which followed it. A complete index of the whole book is found on ff. 1^b-3^b.

Dated the 10th of Ramaḍān, A. H. 1104 (thirty-sixth year of 'Ālamgir's reign)=A. D. 1693, May 15, by Mullā Muḥammad Yūsuf bin Shaikh Bahā-aldin. On fol. 1^a two other titles are given to this work, viz. تاریخ انبیا and قصص الانبیا, but the latter belongs to a smaller work of the same kind; see the following MSS., and Bodleian Cat., No. 343. On fol. 6^a, l. 1, occurs the genuine title تاج القصص. This copy belonged formerly to Mr. Richard Johnson.

No. 322, ff. 299, ll. 30; clear Nasta'liq; some of the first and the last leaves very severely damaged, the whole half of fol. 297 torn away; size, 14½ in. by 9½ in.

A fragment of the same.

This incomplete copy of the تاج القصص breaks off in the story of Jacob and Joseph (in the twelfth majlis of that episode, which is divided into forty majlis). Last words: و بیاورندن بیراهن خون چکان و گفتند : یوسف . . . 84^a, ll. 9 and 10.

No. 992, ff. 169^b-320^b, ll. 19; large and distinct Nasta'liq; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Majma'-alḥasanāt (مجمع الحسنات).

A second work to which the title of قصص الانبیا is assigned, but which, according to W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 522, should bear the above designation : مجمع الحسنات, based, as the first words prove, for the greater part on the twenty-seventh book of the Ṣaḥīḥ of Muḥammad bin Isma'il bin Ibrāhīm al-Bukhārī (died A. H. 256=A. D. 870), which contains the legends of the prophets; comp. Krehl in Zeitschrift der D. M. G. iv. p. 5 sq. The real author's or translator's name is not mentioned. It begins, on fol. 3^b, thus : . . . الحمد لله اما بعد روایت میکند محمد بن اسمعیل بن ابراهیم البخاری باسنادی که اورا بود از امام المتقین جعفر صادق رضی الله عنه و او از پدر خویش محمد بن علی الخ .

An index of all the prophets, etc., whose biographies are found in this work is given on ff. 1^a-2^a. It begins with the fallen angel, عزازیل, on fol. 8^a; then follow آدم, on fol. 10^b; شبت, on fol. 22^b; ادريس, on fol. 23^b; شداد بن عاد, on fol. 29^b; هود, on fol. 25^a; نوح, لوط, on fol. 32^b; صالح, on fol. 34^a; ابراهيم, on fol. 35^b; يعقوب, on fol. 59^a; اسمعیل, on fol. 56^a; شعیب, on fol. 96^b; اصحاب اخدود, on fol. 61^b; یوسف, on fol. 97^a; یونس, on fol. 98^b; ایوب, on fol. 103^a; اصحاب كهف, on fol. 108^a; ذر العرین, on fol. 120^b; موسی, on fol. 135^a; عامل (in the following copy, مفاتل عامیل, on fol. 153^a); عوج بن خضر و موسی, on fol. 157^b; بلعم, on fol. 155^a; عنق, on fol. 159^b; حنظله, on fol. 163^b; یوشع ابن نون, on fol. 164^a; داؤد, on fol. 169^b; یحیی, on fol. 192^a; زکریّا, on fol. 178^a; سلیمان, on fol. 193^b; خضر و الیاس, on fol. 194^a; مریم و عیسی, on fol. 207^a; جرجیس, on fol. 208^a; شمعون, on fol. 212^b; محمد, on fol. 214^b. With Muḥammad's life and death this copy concludes; comp. Bodl. Cat., No. 343.

Dated by Ghulām 'Umar bin Ghulām Ḥasan, who lived in Nānūtah in the district of Shāhjahānābād, the 17th of the month Sha'bāu in the twenty-fifth year (of whose reign is not stated).

No. 1017, ff. 257, ll. 19; written for the greater part in Nasta'liq; some portions in Shikasta by another hand; size, 10 in. by 5½ in.

Another copy of the Majma'-alḥasanāt.

This redaction is substantially the same as in the preceding copy, although the wording is slightly different. It begins with the قصّة عزازیل, on fol. 198^b, after which follow exactly the same kiṣas as in No. 1017, and it also concludes with Muḥammad, whose biography begins on fol. 391^a, after those of شمعون, خضر و الیاس, جرجیس, etc. The initial words of this copy are: اللهم صلّ علی محمد و علی آل محمد و بارک و سلّم و كان ذلك النور بالطوف بالقدرة الخ . The words with which the preceding copy opens are found here in l. 11 of the first page, and run thus : . . . روایت محمد بن سهیل (!) بن ابراهیم بخاری الفارسیّة روایت کرد محمد بن عبد الله بن ابراهیم البخاری رحمهم الله بسا استادی (!) که اورا بود بالجعفر بن محمد صادق از پدری محمد بن علی الخ .

Copied by Mullā 'Abd-alkādir ibn Shaikh 'Abdallāh, known as Raji, for Hāji Thanā-allāh bin Muḥammad Muḥim Fāḍil bin Muḥammad Ghāzi of Kanéanpūr (کنجن پور) in Bangālah, and dated the 23rd of Dhū-alḥijjah, A. H. 1203 (A. D. 1789, September 14).

No. 2442, ff. 193^b-432^a, ll. 17; large Nasta'liq; size, 12½ in. by 8 in.

A shorter redaction of the same.

This copy, which is rather incorrectly written, but considerably older than the immediately preceding one, contains a sort of abridgment of the Majma'-alḥasanāt or Kiṣas-alanbiyā, with some additions however, particularly at the end.

الحمد لله رب العالمين و العاقبة للمتقين و
الصلوة و السلام على محمد و آله اجمعين روايت كرد
از ابراهيم اسكافي (!) از استاد خود از جعفر
صادق الخ.

The following prophets are mentioned: آدم, on fol. 8^b;
شيث, on fol. 22^a; ادریس, on fol. 23^a; نوح, on fol. 25^a;
صالح, on fol. 32^a; شداد بن عاد, on fol. 32^a; هود, on fol. 33^a; ابراهيم, on fol. 35^a; لوط, on fol. 54^b;
يعقوب, on fol. 57^b; يوسف, on fol. 59^b; شعيب, on fol. 87^b;
ذو القرنين, on fol. 92^b; ايوب, on fol. 96^b; يونس, on fol. 96^b; موسی, on fol. 102^a; قارون, on fol. 132^a; يوشع, on fol. 138^a; اسمويل, on fol. 140^b; سليمان, on fol. 147^a; زكريا, on fol. 153^b; يحيى, on fol. 157^a; عيسى, on fol. 157^b; جرجيس, on fol. 161^b; شمعون, on fol. 164^a; محمد, on fol. 165^a; دقيانوس, on fol. 188^b; and علي, on fol. 207^b.

Dated the 4th of Jumâdâ-lâkhar, A.H. 1076 (A.D. 1665, December 12). This date appears on the margin of the last page, but in spite of that the copy appears to be incomplete; the last words being: برفت تا بدری سرای.

No. 3489, olim 14. J. 26, ff. 209, ll. 15; Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

Ta'rikh-i-Anbiyâ (تأريخ انبيا).

Another very detailed work on the prophets and holy men before the Islâm. The proper title of the book cannot be ascertained, as the first leaf is missing; but its characteristic difference from all the other books of the same (or a similar) title is this, that it only treats of ante-Muhammadan saints, leaving out Muhammad entirely, and that the biographies are much more detailed and diversified. The title as given above, is assigned to this MS. on fol. 1^a.

It is divided into forty-one majâlis, viz.:

1. در نقل خلق کردن زمین, on fol. 1^a, in seven bâbs.
2. در خلق آسمانها و آنچه متمم است بآن, on fol. 4^b, in seven bâbs.
3. در ذکر خلق آفتاب و ماهتاب و صفت حرکت آنها, on fol. 9^a.
4. در قصه آدم, on fol. 11^b, in eleven bâbs.
One leaf is missing after fol. 22.
5. در ذکر ادریس نبی, on fol. 24^a.
6. در قصه هاروت و ماروت, on fol. 24^b.
7. در قصه نوح, on fol. 26^a.
8. در قصه هود, on fol. 29^a.
9. در ذکر عاد, on fol. 31^a.
10. در ذکر صالح, on fol. 33^b.
11. قصه اصحاب الرس (i.e. the Thamûdites), on fol. 35^b.
12. قصه ابراهيم خليل الرحمن, on fol. 38^a, in eight bâbs.

IND. OFF.

13. در بعضی اخبار اسمعيل و اسحق, on fol. 50^b.
14. در قصه لوط, on fol. 51^b.
15. در احوال يوسف, on fol. 53^b.
16. در ذکر موسی بن میثا بن يوسف (the first Moses, grandson of Joseph), on fol. 70^b.
17. در قصه ايوب, on fol. 70^b.
18. در قصه ذا (i.e. Bishr, Job's son), on fol. 75^b.
19. در قصه شعيب بیغامبر, on fol. 76^b.
20. در قصه موسی بن عمران (the real Moses), on fol. 77^b, in twenty-seven bâbs.
21. اربحا و فتح اربحا (i.e. Jericho), on fol. 121^a.
22. در بیان انبیا و پادشاهان که تدبیر امور بنی اسرائیل بعد از یوشع میکردند الخ, on fol. 122^a.
23. در قصه حزقیل ابن بوزی, on fol. 122^a.
24. در قصه الیاس, on fol. 123^a.
25. در احوال الیسع بن اخطوب, on fol. 125^b.
26. در احوال عیلا (ال) و اشمويل و صفت ثالث (usually), on fol. 127^a, in five bâbs.
27. در خلافت (خلافة) داود, on fol. 134^a, in seven bâbs.
28. در احوال سلیمان بن داود, on fol. 142^a, in four bâbs.

29. در احوال شعیا (اشعیا) و ارمیا و دانیال, on fol. 159^b, in five bâbs.
30. در ذکر لقمان, on fol. 166^a.
31. در احوال بلوقیا, on fol. 167^b.
32. در ذکر ذو القرنین, on fol. 170^a, in five bâbs.
33. در قصه ذکر زکریا و یحیی و مریم و عیسی, on fol. 176^a, in thirteen bâbs.
34. در قصه رسل ملبیه که عیسی آنها را بانطاکیه فرستاده بود, on fol. 193^b.
35. در قصه یونس, on fol. 195^a.

'Ajâ'ib-alkışaş (عجائب القصص).

Biographies of the prophets from Ādam to Muḥammad, based on commentaries of the Kurân (for instance, the کشف الاسرار, the مواهب علیہ, etc.) and works of historical and dogmatical character (like the معارج النبوة, the شواهد النبوة and others), by

R

'Abd-alwâhid bin Muḥammad Mufti, who compiled this book at the request of some أخوان الصفا و خُلائ الوفا (see fol. 2^b; the title appears on fol. 3^a, l. 8). It is divided into the following twenty bābs (see the detailed index on ff. 3^a–6^b):

1. در بیان خلقت نور مایه سرور عالم محمد مصطفی, on fol. 7^a.
2. در بیان خلقت بنی الجان یعنی جتیان و ذکر عزرائیل یعنی شیطان, on fol. 14^a.

Majma'-alhudā (مجمع الهدى).

Legends and biographies of the prophets, Imāms, and other holy men, by 'Alī bin Ḥasan alzawwārī (على بن حسن الزوارى), incorrectly styled on fol. 1^a, and in the frontispiece on fol. 1^b, قصص الانبياء, no doubt on account of its entirely similar contents and arrangement. The genuine title appears on fol. 2^a, l. 3.

It is divided into forty bābs, viz.:

1. History of Creation, on fol. 2^b.
2. Creation of the Jinns and account of Satan, on fol. 3^b.

Tafsir-i-tadhkirat-alanbiyā wa aluḥam (تفسير تذكرة الأنبياء و الامم).

A dogmatic history of the prophets from Ādam to Muḥammad, based especially on verses of the Qurān and traditions, entitled تفسير تذكرة الانبياء و الامم (see fol. 5^a, l. 15), by an anonymous author, who conceals his name and dedicated this work to Khwājah Ḥasan. According to the introduction it is divided into a preface, two chapters, and a conclusion, viz.:

دباجة در فائده ذکر قصص انبيا و فائده حکایات از اولیا و بیان بعضی از اجرام علوی و علوات مثل قلم و لوح و عرش و کرسی و آفتاب و ماه و غیر آنها و در ذکر بعضی از چیزهای غریب که در تحت فلک ممر است.

معمد اول در بیان تفسیر آیات موعود.

مقصود دوم در بیان سیرت سرور عالمیان و صفات خلاصه انسان ماه فلک اهتدا شاه سربر اصطفا تیر اعظم فلک رسالت اختر انور برج جلالت رسالت پناه رسول الله.

خاتمه در مذمت دنیا و اهل دنیا و در بیان احوال خلفاء راشدين.

The ḍibāḥa, a kind of cosmographical description of the wonderful things in heaven and on earth, begins on fol. 6^b. The first maḥṣad is not marked, but it seems to begin on fol. 4^{rb}, where is written:

رکن سیوم در تفسیر آیاتی که در قصص انبيا عليهم الصلوات واقع شد.

and contains a detailed account of all the ante-Muhammadan prophets, beginning with Ādam. The second maḥṣad, containing Muḥammad's life, begins on fol. 300^b. The khōtimah is not found.

Beginning: رت اشرح لی صدی و یسری امری و احلل عقدة من لسان یفقهوا قولی الهی بعد از آن که شرح صدر کرده دلهای مارا بنور ایمان الخ.

Dated in the month Sha'bān, A.H. 1013 (A.D. 1604, December 23, to 1605, January 20), by Ādina of Bukhārā. Collated. In some respects the copy resembles a first sketch more than a complete and finished work.

No. 319, ff. 413, ll. 24-26; Nasta'lik; size, 14½ in. by 9½ in.

Jawāmi'-alḥikāyāt wa lawāmi'-alriwāyāt (جوامع الحکایات و لوامع الروایات).

A complete copy of the famous collection of stories and anecdotes, compiled, A.H. 625 (A.D. 1228), at the court of Sultān Abū-almuẓaffar Altanish (who reigned A.H. 607-633=A.D. 1211-1236) of Dihli, by Maulānā Nūr-al-dīn Muḥammad 'Aufi, the well-known author of the oldest tadhkirah, Lubāb-alalbāb, and divided into four kisms, each of which contains twenty-five chapters; comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 324-331; Rieu ii. p. 749 sq.; G. Flügel i. p. 410; J. Aumer, pp. 56 and 57; Elliot, History of India, ii. pp. 155-203; H. Khalifa ii. p. 510, etc.

First kism (treating of the knowledge of God), on fol. 5^a.

Second kism (treating of good morals), on fol. 276^a.

Third kism (treating of blamable conduct), on fol. 374^b.

Fourth kism (treating of cosmographical matters), on fol. 448^b.

Beginning: حمد و ثنا مر مبدعی را که از بدایت صباح وجود بنهات روح عدم هرچه هست در حدّ بادشاهی الخ.

No date.

No. 595, ff. 546, ll. 27; Nasta'lik, ff. 405-447 supplied by another hand; collated; size, 11½ in. by 6¼ in.

601

A fragmentary copy of the first kism of the Jawāmi'-alḥikāyāt.

This fragment is in a very confused state, and defies thorough investigation by the almost complete absence of headings; there are many blanks besides, and lacunas after ff. 96^a (96^b being left blank) and 199. Ff. 89 and 90 are also blank, but there seems to be no gap, as the catchword of fol. 88^b agrees with the beginning of fol. 91^a.

Beginning of the preface, on fol. 1^b: ثنا و حمد مبدعی را که از بدایت صباح وجود الخ.

Title and index, on ff. 5^b-7^a. Beginning of the first bāb of kism I, on fol. 7^a; the following bābs are not marked, but the second seems to begin on fol. 17^b, the third on fol. 34^a, the fourth on fol. 47^a; this breaks off on fol. 96^a; fol. 97^a opens apparently in the seventh bāb, and the text seems to continue uninterrupted to the fifteenth, which has a proper heading, on fol. 163^a. The sixteenth seems to begin on fol. 172^a, the seventeenth on fol. 182^b, the eighteenth on fol. 189^a, and the nineteenth on fol. 197^a, breaking off on fol. 199^b. Bābs 20-25 are entirely missing. Fol. 200^a opens abruptly in the fifth bāb, and the beginning of the sixth is marked on fol. 240^b. The latter breaks off on fol. 247^b (the last page of the MS.).

No. 1385, ff. 247, ll. 19; Nasta'lik, written on paper of different colour and size; size, 13-14½ in. by 8-8½ in.

602

Fragments of the same Jawāmi'-alḥikāyāt wa lawāmi'-alriwāyāt.

This copy contains:

1. On ff. 1^b-38^b, bābs 1-6 and a portion of bāb 7 of the third kism.

2. On ff. 39^a-77^b and 143 the larger portion of the second half of the first kism, from the middle of bāb 15 to the end of bāb 25.

3. On ff. 78^a-142^b the end of bāb 6, bābs 7-11, and the larger portion of bāb 12 of the first kism.

Bibl. Leydeniana. A former possessor was Claud Martin. The first fragment begins thus: قسم سیوم از کتاب جوامع الحکایات و لوامع الروایات در بیان اخلاق مذموم الخ.

No date.

No. 3046, ff. 143, ll. 10; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

603

Extracts from the same.

Extracts from the second, third, and fourth kisms of the same work, styled (!) منتخب الحکایات از جامع

از قسم دوم، and beginning, on fol. 1^a, thus: در حزم و اندیشه و حکایات متعلقه بدان، حکایت در کتب اهل هند مذکورست که شتر سواری الخ.

These extracts end on fol. 26^b and are followed by another short tale in a different handwriting, beginning:

یکی از بزرگان دین و پیشوایان بقین نقل کرده که سالی عزیمت حج اسلام داشتم الخ.

No date.

No. 1560, ff. 28, ll. 15; large Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6 in.

604

A fragmentary piece of the same.

This short fragment of 'Aufi's جوامع الحکایات comprises the end of the 19th, the complete 20th, 21st, 22nd, and 23rd, and the beginning of the 24th bâb of the first kism. 20th bâb, on fol. 2^a (physicians and philosophers); 21st bâb, on fol. 4^a (interpreters of dreams); 22nd bâb, on fol. 9^a (astrologers); 23rd bâb, on fol. 11^a (poets); 24th bâb, on fol. 13^b (singers).

No. 1502, ff. 14, ll. 19; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 13 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Ta'rikh-i-Mūsawī (تاریخ موسوی).

A history of the prophet Moses, compiled after thirty-five years' researches by Mu'in-almiskin, that is, Mu'in-aldin Muhammad Amin Al-Farâhi alharawi, called Mu'in Miskin (who died A. H. 907 = A. D. 1501, 1502); comp. H. Khalfa iii. pp. 20 and 513; iv. pp. 251 and 608. He is the author of many interesting works, such as: روضة الواعظین; معراج النبوة (see above, Nos. 138-144); تفسیر حدائق; تفسیر سورة فاتحة الكتاب (138-144); احسن الفصص; الخفايق في كشف اسرار الدقائق (see Bodl. Cat., No. 453), and many others. This story of Moses, also called قصّة موسوّه، قصّة حضرت موسی، and معجزات موسوی، was finished A. H. 904 (A. D. 1498, 1499).

Beginning: رتّنا آتّنا من لدنک رحمة و هبّی لنا من امرّنا رشدًا الخ.

Dated the 23rd of Ramadân, A. H. 906 (A. D. 1501, April 12). It ends on fol. 180^a, and the following pages contain morning and evening prayers of the prophet, etc. etc.

No. 2029, ff. 181, ll. 27; Naskhi; much worm-eaten and damaged throughout; size, 10 in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Nigârîstân (نگارستان).

Anecdotes and curious narratives of celebrated men from the time of Nizâr bin Ma'add bin 'Adnân, one of the forefathers of Muhammad (see fol. 3^b, ll. 4 and 3 ab infra), to the beginning of the tenth century of the Hijrah, compiled by Aḥmad bin Muhammad bin 'Abd-alghafûr Alghaffârî alḳazwîni, the author of the جهان

آرا or آرا جهان نسخ (see above, Nos. 106-108), in A. H. 959 = A. D. 1552 (see the chronogram واقع نگارستان واقع at the end on fol. 169^b).

Beginning: ای طرازندۀ بهارستان - وی (وای) نگارندۀ نگارستان - از کرم تازه کن بهارم را الخ.

H. 1245 and 1275. Collated and annotated. No date.

No. 2421, ff. 169, ll. 23; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; worm-eaten; size, 12 $\frac{1}{8}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{8}$ in.

607

Another copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. No date.

No. 1992, ff. 326, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

608

The same.

Copied by Muḥammad Ṣâlih of Kashmîr; no date. Slightly injured in many places.

No. 62, ff. 302, ll. 17; unequal and careless Nasta'lik; size, 9 in. by 5 in.

609

The same.

No date; fol. 133 injured.

No. 32, ff. 289, ll. 18; Nasta'lik, ff. 1 and 255-289 apparently written by another hand; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

610

The same.

Many pages injured and worm-eaten; fol. 11 is left entirely blank, and there is consequently a lacuna, corresponding to No. 1817 (612 below), fol. 5^b, middle of l. 4 ab infra to fol. 11^a, middle of l. 12. A great portion of fol. 152 torn away. No date. Some corrections on the margin.

No. 531, ff. 395, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 8 in. by 4 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

611

A modern copy of the same.

Dated Dhû-alhijjah, A. H. 12 (1200 = A. D. 1786, September 25 to October 23). College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2137, ff. 259, ll. 17; written very irregularly by various hands in different styles of Nasta'lik and Shikasta; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

612

An incomplete copy of the same.

This copy is rather old, but defective at the end. The 5th line ab infra on the last page corresponds to No. 531 (610 above), fol. 393^a, last line.

No. 1817, ff. 194, ll. 23; Naskhi; size, 8 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 4 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

613

An abridgment of the same.

This copy, considerably smaller than the preceding ones, contains only extracts from the Nigârîstân; for instance, the story, beginning on fol. 37^b: گویند در ایام الخ, is found in No. 1992 (607 above), on fol. 22^a; the story, beginning on fol. 39^a: درین ایام غریب الخ, on fol. 50^a of the same copy, etc. There is besides a lacuna after fol. 56. Beginning as usual. Copied A. H. 1162 (A. D. 1749).

No. 1904, ff. 88, ll. 15; large Nasta'lik; very worm-eaten throughout; size, 9½ in. by 5 in.

Tarjuma-i-Ta'rikh-al-hukamâ (ترجمه تاریخ الحکما).

A Persian paraphrase of Maulânâ Shams-aldin Muḥammad Suhrawardî's biographies of ancient philosophers and wise men, entitled تأریخ الحکما, made at the request of Sultân Salimshâh (who assumed afterwards as emperor the title of Jahângir) in Akbar's reign, A. H. 1011 (A. D. 1602, 1603), by Maḥsûd 'Alî of Tabriz (see fol. 2^a, ll. 10 and 11; fol. 3^a, ll. 1, 6, and 13). The translator's preface begins, on fol. 1^b: ای حکیمی علی الاطلاق وای دانای باستحقاقی الخ.

The work itself opens thus: آغاز کتاب سیاس و ستایش خدای را که اول بی اول است الخ, and contains the biographies of nearly all the ancient Greek philosophers, physicians, etc., Socrates, Pythagoras, Plato, Aristotle, Galenus, etc., besides the wise Luḥmân and others. The main portion of the work, dealing with these ante-Muhammadan Ḥakims, ends here on fol. 136^b and is dated the 26th of Rajab, A. H. 1019 (A. D. 1610, October 14), at Âgra by Muḥammad Ḥusain bin Khwâjah Muḥammad of Samarḳand.

On fol. 137^b begins the appendix, which adds to these biographies those of celebrated Muhammadan philosophers and wise men of the Islâm, beginning: خواستیم که بتأریخ حکمای پیشین تأریخ حکمای متأخرین اسلام و بعضی فوائد ایشانرا الحاق کنیم تا صورت تمامی بهم رساند الخ.

No date at the end of this part, which is written by an entirely different hand.

No. 1579, ff. 191, ll. 19; Nasta'lik, by two different hands; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

615

Another copy of the same.

Dated the 11th of Sha'bân, A. H. 1039 (A. D. 1630, March 26), and collated with the author's autograph, A. H. 1064 (A. D. 1654), at Akbarâbâd. The appendix on the Muhammadan Ḥakims begins on fol. 161^b, equal in length and wording to the preceding copy. Beginning the same as in No. 1579.

No. 1762, ff. 213, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

616

The same.

Dated A. H. 1041 (A. D. 1631, 1632), by Muḥammad Ṣâliḥ of Kashmir; little injuries here and there. The appendix, which is considerably shorter here than in the two preceding copies, begins on fol. 180^a.

No. 63, ff. 219, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5 in.

617

An incomplete copy of the same.

The preface is missing in this copy, which begins immediately with the biography of Plato: خبر افلاطون و آداب او، معنی افلاطون بزبان یونان باشد بسیار علم الخ.

The appendix which is of the same length here, as in Nos. 1579 and 1762 (614 and 615 above), begins on fol. 42^b, l. 6. At the end of this appendix there is added an ethical treatise در انتخاب اخلاق (styled باب منت خدایرا که وجود بشر را بخلعت خوش و خوی نیکو خلعت زیبائی داد الخ).

First fâ'idah: در بیان تعریف حکمت علی الاطلاق و بیان اقسام آن اجمالاً.

The little treatise is styled in the context simply: Muntakhab. It concludes on fol. 92^a. The last page (92^b) contains a tract on opium: در توصیف افیون حلاوت معجون.

No date. On the fly-leaves as well as at the top of fol. 1^a the author is styled محقق الطوسی.

No. 1423, ff. 92, ll. 26-29; small Nasta'lik, sometimes without any diacritical points; size, 11½ in. by 5½ in.

618

(انتخاب تأریخ الحکما) Intikhab-i-Ta'rikh-al-hukamâ.

An abridgment or extract from the preceding work, made by Munshi Mir Sayyid Ṣadr-aldin bin Mir Muḥammad Ṣâdiḥ bin Mir Muḥammad Amin, beginning: سیاس و ستایش حکیمی را که اول بی اولست الخ.

Another title given to it, on fol. 1^a, is قول الحکما. On the same first page Mr. Richard Johnson states that he has received this little book from Munshi Ṣadr-aldin (that is, from the compiler himself), being an extract from his common-place book, A. D. 1778.

No. 665, ff. 108, ll. 11; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

VIII. BIOGRAPHY.

a. Christ and St. Peter.

619

Mirât-alkuds (مرآت القدس).

The life of Christ according to the Gospels, a work, the materials of which were first collected and arranged by the Portuguese Jesuit, Padre Geronimo Xavier, and afterwards translated under his superintendence into Persian by Maulânâ 'Abd-alsattâr bin Kâsim Lâhûrî at Âgra. A. D. 1602 (A. H. 1010, 1011), at the request and for the sake of the emperor Akbar. Xavier died as missionary in Goa, A. D. 1617; comp. on this work Bodleian Cat., No. 364; Rieu i. p. 3; W. Pertsch, p. 57; Cat. des MSS. et Xyl., p. 243 sq., etc. This work was edited with a Latin translation by Louis de Dieu: 'Historia Christi Persice,' Lugd. Bat., 1639. It is from this printed edition, according to a note on fol. 1^a, that the present copy was transcribed for Mr. Richard Johnson, A. H. 1185 (A. D. 1771, 1772), at Calcutta. The date given, at the conclusion of the work, viz. A. H. 1027 (A. D. 1618), is apparently that of the original MS. on which Louis de Dieu based his edition; see Rieu, loc. cit.

Beginning of the preface, on fol. 1^b: راهنمونی و هدایت صاحب ترجمه برای خوانندگان، ای عزیزان و محبوبان من ابن داستان مسیح را پادری زیرنمبر شویر بهائیزگی الخ.

The preface ends on fol. 5^a, first line, and the whole space from there to fol. 9^a is left blank.

Beginning of the life of Christ, on fol. 9^b, with the first bâb (Christ's childhood): در طعولیت مسیح و ولادت مریم و برویش یافتن، چون مسیح بواسطه مرد از مریم مقدس زاده شد الخ.

Second bâb (Christ's miracles and teaching): در معجزها و تعلیم، on fol. 43^b.

Third bâb (Christ's sufferings and death): در جفاها، on fol. 151^a.

Fourth bâb (Christ's resurrection and ascension to heaven): در برخاستن مسیح از قبر و رفتن او بر آسمان، on fol. 171^b.

Conclusion, on fol. 186^a.

As title is given on the fly-leaves, ترجمه قصه حضرت عیسی; the proper title, مرآت القدس, only appears in the preface.

No. 940, ff. 186, ll. 13; Nasta'lik; worm-eaten throughout; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

620

Kawâ'if-i-Pitar-i-'Îsawî (کوائف پیتر عیسوی).

The life of St. Peter according to the Gospels and the Acts of the Apostles, in Persian, by the same Padre Geronimo Xavier. St. Peter is usually represented by سن پیدرو or سن بیدرو.

Beginning: ای دوستان من آنچه پند کردم بر سبب ای داستان مسیح همان اکنون پند میکنم بر سبب این داستان الخ.

It has likewise been edited by Louis de Dieu, Lugd. Bat. 1639; see Rieu i. p. 3. This copy was made for Richard Johnson, 1778. Xavier also wrote a complete biographical work of all the twelve apostles, A. H. 1609; see Bodleian Cat., No. 365.

No. 1713, ff. 50, ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

b. Wazîrs, Amîrs, Nawwâbs, Khâns, etc.

Âthâr-alwuzarâ (آثار الوزرا).

Biographies of the most eminent Wazîrs from the oldest times down to the reign of Sultân Husain Mirzâ, who ascended the throne in A. H. 873 (A. D. 1469), by Saif-aldin Hâjî bin Nizâm alfadli, and dedicated to the Wazîr Khwâjah Kiwâm-aldin Nizâm-almulk alkhawâfi, who was appointed to his office A. H. 875 (A. D. 1470, 1471; comp. ff. 3^b, l. 12, 3^a, last line, and 176^a). As date of composition is given on fol. 170^b, last line but one (just as in the Bodleian copy, Bodleian Cat., No. 347), A. H. 803, which is undoubtedly a mistake for 883 (A. D. 1478, 1479). The work is divided into two makâlahs, the first dealing with the prominent wazîrs of the most renowned dynasties of the East down to the author's time, the second with the special life and deeds of his patron Khwâjah Kiwâm-aldin. Other copies in the Bodleian Cat., loc. cit., and Rieu iii. p. 969.

First makâlah (در ذکر آثار و اخبار وزرای سابق), in twelve bâbs:

1. Wazîrs of the companions of the prophet and the Imâms (در ذکر وزرای صحابه عظام و ائمه مهديين), on fol. 6^b (this bâb is in the Bodleian and British Museum copies the second).

2. Wazîrs of the ancient kings, i. e. the Persian and Greek (در ذکر وزرای سلاطین ما تقدم), on fol. 7^a (in the Bodleian and British Museum copies the first).

3. Wazîrs of the Umayyades (در ذکر وزرای بنی امیہ), on fol. 12^b.

4. Wazîrs of the 'Abbâsides (در ذکر وزرای خلفای بنی عباس), on fol. 17^a.

5. Wazîrs of the Sâmanides (در ذکر وزرای آل سامان), on fol. 85^b.

6. Wazîrs of the Ghaznawides (در ذکر وزرای غزنویان), on fol. 87^b.

7. Wazîrs of the Bûyides (در ذکر وزرای آل بویه), on fol. 115^a.

8. Wazîrs of the Saljûks (در ذکر وزرای آل سلجوق), on fol. 118^a.

9. Wazîrs of the Khwârizmshâhs (در ذکر وزرای سلاطین خوارزمشاهی), on fol. 146^a.

10. Wazîrs of C'ingizkhân and his descendants (در ذکر وزرای چنگیزخان و اولاد و احفاد او), on fol. 148^a.

11. Wazîrs of the Muẓaffarides and Ghûrides (در ذکر وزرای آل مظفر و ملوک غور), on fol. 159^b.

12. Wazîrs of Timûr and his successors (در ذکر وزرای حضرت صاحبقران امیر تیمور گورگان الخ), on fol. 162^a.

Second makâlah (در ذکر آن دادبخش دردمندان . . .), in four bâbs: (خواجہ قوام الملک و الدین نظام الملک الخ)

1. Nizâm-almulk's fine qualities and superiority over all other wazîrs (در اخلاق و اطوار آنحضرت و ترجیح او بر (وزرای عالم), on fol. 171^a.

2. His life and actions before he became wazîr (در (حالات و کیفیت مهمات آن حضرت قبل از وزارت), on fol. 175^a.

3. His actions as wazîr (در حالات زمان وزارت), on fol. 176^b.

This lāb breaks off on fol. 183^a; the fourth (which was to contain an enumeration of the distinctions gained from the Sultān) is not found at all (comp. the Bodleian and British Museum copies, where the whole second makālāh comprises only 9-10 pages!). The author probably never finished his task.

Beginning: شرافت حضرت پادشاهی را در ایجاد کائنات بشرب و وزیر الخ.

No date.

No. 1569, ff. 183, ll. 15-16; Nasta'lik, mixed with Shikasta; towards the end very badly and incorrectly written; much damaged throughout; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

622

Maāthir-alumarā (مآثر الامرا).

The first edition of the great biographical dictionary of the famous Amirs, Nawwābs, and other noblemen who lived during the reign of the Timūrides in India, alphabetically arranged. The author of this work was Nawwāb Šamsām-aldaulāh Shāhnawāzkhān Shāhid Khwāfi Aurangābādī, with his original name Mir 'Abd-alrazzāk (born A. H. 1111 = A. D. 1700, assassinated A. H. 1171 = A. D. 1758); the compiler of this first edition was Fakir Gbulām 'Alī Husaini Wāsiṭi Balgrāmi, with the takhalluṣ Āzād, the author of the Khazāna-i-'āmirāh and other famous tadhkiras, see below, Nos. 682-690; born A. H. 1116 (A. D. 1704), died A. H. 1200 (A. D. 1786); comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 166 and 167; Rieu i. p. 339 sq.; Elliot, History of India, viii. p. 187 sq.; W. Morley, pp. 101-105.

Contents:

The editor's preface, on fol. 1^b, beginning: حمد شاهنشاهی که اورنگ نشینان سلطنت را رتبه والای جهانبانی کرامت الخ.

The author's life, on fol. 2^b.

The author's original preface, on fol. 9^a, beginning: الحمد لله وسلام على عباده الذين اصطفى اما بعد عرض میدارد فقیر عبد الرزاق الحسینی الحوافی الاورنگ آبادی الخ.

The dictionary itself begins with Adhamkhān Kūka, on fol. 10^b, and concludes with Yākūtkhān (in the Bodleian copy, Yūsufkhān) Ḥabashī. This copy, which is written in Ḥaidarābād, was commenced the 25th of Sha'bān, A. H. 1199 (A. D. 1785, July 3), and finished the 22nd of Dhū-alka'dah in the same year (A. D. 1785, September 27).

No. 839, ff. 351, ll. 20-25; very irregularly written in Nasta'lik and Shikasta; ff. 78-83 added on white paper; size, 15 in. by 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

623

Another copy of the same first edition.

This copy, which is dated the 10th of Sha'bān, A. H. 1203 (A. D. 1789, May 6), by Muḥammad Yūsuf of Aurangābād, contains:

A complete index of all the biographies found in this work, on fol. 1^b.

The editor's preface, on fol. 5^b, beginning as in the preceding copy.

The author's life, on fol. 6^b.

The author's original preface, on fol. 14^a, beginning as in the preceding copy.

Beginning of the dictionary, on fol. 15^b.

Many English notes on the margin.

No. 2443, ff. 403, ll. 21; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 12 in. by 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

624

The same.

Another excellent but undated copy of the first edition of the Maāthir-alumarā, styled here (by an inference drawn from the words: اما بعد این کتابیست ممتاز و کارنامه ممتازنامه in fol. 1^b, l. 5) on the fly-leaf: Montauz-namah, i. e. ممتازنامه.

Editor's preface, on fol. 1^b.

Life of the author, on fol. 2^b.

The author's original preface, on fol. 10^a.

Beginning of the dictionary, on fol. 11^a.

No. 2847, ff. 366, ll. 21; very clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

625

The same.

Complete index, on ff. 1-6.

Editor's preface, on fol. 7^b.

Author's original preface, on fol. 20^a.

Beginning of the dictionary, on fol. 22^a.

No date.

No. 2910, ff. 672, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 11 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 7 in.

626

An addition to the same.

A shorter second or additional volume to the preceding work, serving as supplement to the first, and containing a large number of new biographies, arranged in alphabetical order like those in the first volume. It begins with Isma'ilbeg Dūldi and concludes with Yalankūshkhān Bahādur. No preface or khātimah. No date. Mr. Richard Johnson received it from Mir Muḥammad Husain in Ḥaidarābād, A. D. 1788.

No. 840, ff. 142, ll. 21; careless Nasta'lik; written, as it seems, by the same copyist who transcribed No. 622; size, 15 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

¹ According to the Bodleian and British Museum copies, the word which is erased here must be read تحمیدات.

627

Maâthir-alumarâ (مآثر الامرا).

This curious MS. of a rather unattractive exterior (both on account of the uncouth hand and the many cancelled portions) is nevertheless of singular interest and importance, as it exhibits the brouillon or first sketch of the second revised and greatly enlarged edition of Šamsam-aldaulâh's biographical dictionary, by the author's son, Mir 'Abd-alhayy (born A. H. 1142=A. D. 1729, 1730, died A. H. 1196=A. D. 1782), who commenced this edition, for which he used all the most famous historical and biographical works, A. H. 1182 (A. D. 1768, 1769), and completed it A. H. 1194 (A. D. 1780). Unfortunately there are seventy-two leaves missing between ff. 4 and 5.

Contents:

Preface of the second editor, 'Abd-alhayy, on fol. 1^b, beginning: ستادش بیکران و نیایش بی اندازه مالک الملکی را سزد که آثار الخ.

The date of completion, A. H. 1194, appears in the last line of this preface (ta'rikh: زمی ادب مصاحب: مآثر الامرا).

The author's original preface, on fol. 3^b (the first line, beginning الحمد لله و سلام علی عباده الخ, is crossed out).

The dictionary itself is subdivided into at least five parts, each of which is arranged in alphabetical order and preceded by a table of contents; the system of these subdivisions is not clear, since they all appear to be of mixed contents both as to chronology and to rank. The first part is missing; the second, on fol. 5^a, contains twenty-two biographies, beginning with Amin-aldaulâh Amin-aldukhân, who died A. H. 1152 (A. D. 1739, 1740), and ending with Muḥarrabkhân, the son of Aminkhân, who died A. H. 1158 (A. D. 1745). In the text itself there were originally a larger number of biographies, but they have been crossed out (denoted by بطل) and not inserted in the table on fol. 5^a.

The third part begins on fol. 35^a and contains 126 biographies, four of which, although first inserted in the index, have afterwards been cancelled (denoted by بطل in the text, by a big م=محر in the table of contents). First biography: Ibrâhîmikhân Aurang, under Humâyûn, who died A. H. 975 (A. D. 1567, 1568). Last biography: Yûsufkhân of Kashmir, who died A. H. 999 (A. D. 1590, 1591).

The fourth part begins on fol. 98^a and contains eighty-five biographies, three of which are afterwards cancelled.

First biography: Ihtimâmkhân, who died A. H. 1056 (A. D. 1646).

Last biography: Ya'qûbkhân Badakhshî, who died A. H. 1037 (A. D. 1627, 1628).

The fifth part begins on fol. 132^a and contains 138 biographies, four of which are afterwards cancelled.

First biography: Aḥsankhân Sultân Ḥasan, who died A. H. 1120 (A. D. 1708, 1709).

Last biography: Yalankûshkhân Bahâdur, who died A. H. 1076 (A. D. 1665, 1666).

The whole number of biographies therefore in this brouillon is 371, or deducting the eleven which afterwards have been crossed out, 360. In the first missing part there may have been eighty or ninety more, which would give a total of about 450 biographies, whereas the usual copies of this second edition contain 731.

A khâtimali, giving the editor's short account of his own life, is found on fol. 203^b; see Rieu i. p. 340.

This MS. exhibits throughout erasures of certain lines in the text and corrections and annotations in the margin, all in the same handwriting. Usually a blank space is left between the single biographies for future additions. Ff. 96, 97, and 131 are entirely blank. Presented by Lieut.-Col. W. Kirkpatrick, 30th of May, 1804.

No. 2424, ff. 204, ll. 21-23; Shikasta; size, 12½ in. by 6½ in.

628

Another copy of the same.

This copy of the second or revised and enlarged edition is the usual one, beginning on fol. 1^b with the second editor's preface: ستایش بیکران و نیایش بی اندازه الخ, after which follow:

The preface of the first editor, Faḳîr Ghulâm 'Alî, on fol. 3^b, beginning: حمد شاهنشاهی الخ.

The author's life, on fol. 4^a, and a detailed index of the whole work, on ff. 9^b-12^b.

Beginning of the dictionary with Isma'ilbeg Dûldî (see No. 626), on fol. 12^b.

The right order of ff. 206-221 is: 206, 208, 207, 209-212, 214, 213, 215-218, 220, 219, 221; of ff. 272-287: 272, 274, 273, 275-278, 280, 279, 281-284, 286, 285, 287; and of ff. 522-592: 522, 526, 525, 524, 523, 527-541, 543, 542, 544-547, 549, 548, 550-559, 561, 560, 562-565, 567, 566, 568-571, 573, 572, 574-589, 591, 590, 592.

Dated the 22nd of Shawwâl, A. H. 1221=A. D. 1807, January 2.

Nos. 837, 838, ff. 597, ll. 27; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; size, 14½ in. by 8½ in.

Tadhkirat-alumarâ (تذکرة الامرا).

The biographical dictionary of famous Amirs and Khâns who served under the Moghul emperors of India, Akbar, Jahângîr, Shâhjahân, and 'Âlamgir, compiled by Kiwal Râm, son of Raghunâth Dâs; comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 258; Rieu i. p. 339; A. Sprenger, MSS. of the late Sir H. Elliot, in Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society of Bengal, vol. xxiii. p. 239, No. 70; Elliot, History of India, viii. p. 192. The date of composition is here distinctly 1194 (A. D. 1780); see fol. 2^b, l. 3. Other copies exhibit the dates 1184 and even (if it is not a mere mistake in writing) 1140 (as the Bodleian copy does, a date which after all would not be inconsistent with the chronology of the tadhkirah, as it does not mention any Amirs beyond 'Âlamgir's reign).

The work is divided into two bâbs, the first containing the Muḥammadan, the second the Hindû Amirs, both in alphabetical order.

Beginning of the whole work : الحمد لله الذى نور قلوب اوليائه بانوار المعاني و البيان و اجرى من فيض فضله على لسان الانسان الخ

Dated the beginning of Rabi'-alawwal, A.H. 1027 (A.D. 1618, end of February). Collated. A few pages a little injured. Ff. 288 and 289 are turned upside down, so that fol. 287^b is immediately followed by fol. 289^b. A Turkish translation of the Manākib-al'arīfin, styled هشت بهشت or the eight paradises (containing only the first eight faṣls of the original), probably by Darwish Mahmūd, who died A.H. 998 (A.D. 1590), is noticed by G. Flügel ii. p. 372, and H. Khalfā vi. p. 154, No. 13037.

No. 1670, ff. 291, ll. 23; Naskhi; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Thawāqib-almanākib-i-anliyāi-allāh (نواقب المناقب) (اولياء الله).

A modern edition of Shaikh Ahmad 'Arifi Aflākī's Manākib-al'arīfin, by 'Abd-alwahhāb bin Jalāl-al-din Muḥammad al-Hamadāni (see fol. 2^b, l. 2), who revised and corrected the original work, curtailed it in some places by omitting superfluous stories and traditions, increased it in others by adding much needed explanations, and paid particular attention to dates, genealogy, etc. This edition, the title of which is a chronogram for A.H. 947=A.D. 1540, 1541 (see fol. 234^a, last two lines), is divided into a muḥaddimah, nine dhikrs or biographies, and a khātimah. The nine dhikrs deal with the same mystic Shaikhs as the first nine faṣls of the original work, viz.:

1. Bahā-alhakḥ wa-alhakikah wa-alduṇyā wa-al-din Walad Balkhi, styled Sultān-al'ulamā, the father of Jalāl-al-din Rūmī, on fol. 5^b, in six bābs. His death is fixed here in A.H. 618 (clearly a mistake for A.H. 628), the 18th of Rabi'-alākhar (see fol. 19^b, ll. 8 and 9).

2. Sayyid Burhān-al-din Muḥaḥḥik, teacher of Jalāl-al-din Rūmī and disciple of the preceding Shaikh (مرتضى مولانا و مرتضى سلطان العلماء), on fol. 20^b.

3. Maulānā Jalāl-al-din al-balkhi al-rūmī, on fol. 24^a, in ten bābs, each subdivided into two faṣls.

4. Shaikh Shams-al-din Tabrizi, on fol. 169^b, in eight bābs. His death is fixed here in A.H. 643=A.D. 1245, 1246 (see fol. 185^a, l. 4). The usual (and probably more correct) date is A.H. 645 (A.D. 1247, 1248).

5. Shaikh Ṣalāḥ-al-din Faridūn Kūnawī (قونوی, read Kūniyawi), on fol. 186^a. He died the 1st of Muḥarram, A.H. 657=A.D. 1258, December 29 (see fol. 190^a, l. 3).

6. Hadrat Ḍalabī Ḥusām-al-din, on fol. 190^a. He died the 22nd of Sha'bān, A.H. 683=A.D. 1284, November 3 (see fol. 194^b, ll. 7 and 8).

7. Sultān Bahā-al-din Walad, Jalāl-al-din Rūmī's son, on fol. 194^b. He died the 10th of Rajab, A.H. 712=A.D. 1312, November 11 (see fol. 200^a, ll. 13 and 14).

8. Jalāl-al-din Faridūn, known as Ḍalabī 'Arif, son of the preceding Shaikh, in six faṣls, on fol. 200^b. His death is fixed here on the 24th of Dhū-alhiḡjah, A.H. 729, instead of 719, as in the original work (see fol. 232^a, l. 3 ab infra).

9. Ḍalabī Shams-al-din Amir 'Ābid, brother of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 232^b.

Khātimah, on fol. 233^b, giving the ta'rikh of the work and a munājāt.

The tenth bāb of the original work is altogether omitted in this revised edition.

Beginning : نير اعظم حمدى كه مد هزاران هزار شمس فلک چهارم يکدزده از اشعات جمال الخ

No date. Eleventh century of the Hijrah. A former owner was Nawwāb 'Abd-alḥamid Miyāna.

No. 1164, ff. 235, ll. 16; Nasta'liq; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Raudat-alsālīkin (روضة السالکین).

Biographies of prominent Ṣūfī Shaikhs of the Naqshbandī order, principally of the great Shaikh Maulānā 'Alā-al-din alābizhi (الابيزي), so distinctly on fol. 31^b, last line, and fol. 170^b, l. 5; in the immediately following first copy of the Rashahāt, No. 705, the word is spelt, on fol. 152^b, first line, alābizzi, with the distinct marginal gloss: آبيز بالف ممدوده و كسرباء; whereas in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 563, it appears as آبسیر Ābsir; in all the three different forms of spelling it is the name of a village in Kūhistān) al-kūhistāni, compiled by 'Alī bin Maḥmūd alabiwardi al-kūrānī (الکوراني), and beginning:

آتبجا كه كمال كبرياى تو بود

عالم نم از بحر عطای تو بود

مارا چه حمد و ثنای تو بود

هم حمد و ثنای تو سزای تو بود

قال الفيرالى رحمة الله الغنى على بن محمود الخ

The ten introductory biographies, which precede that of the principal hero of this—hitherto unknown—work (no further copies of which are mentioned anywhere), and which are merely copied from the Nafahāt-aluns, are:

1. Khwājah 'Abd-alkhālīq Ghujdawānī (غجدوانی), died A.H. 575 (A.D. 1179, 1180), on fol. 2^a.

2. Khwājah Muḥammad Bābā-i-Samāsī (سماسی), one of the spiritual successors of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 4^a.

3. Sayyid Amir Kulāl, spiritual successor of the preceding Shaikh, died A.H. 772 (A.D. 1370), on fol. 5^b.

4. Khwājah Bahā-al-din Naqshband, with his real name: Muḥammad bin Muḥammad albukhārī, died the third of Rabi'-alawwal, A.H. 791 (A.D. 1389, March 2), on fol. 6^b.

5. Khwājah 'Alā-al-din 'Attār, friend and pupil of Bahā-al-din, died the 20th of Rajab, A.H. 802 (A.D. 1400, March 17), on fol. 10^b.

6. Khwājah Muḥammad Pārsā, likewise friend and pupil of Bahā-al-din, died end of A.H. 822 (A.D. 1420, January), on fol. 13^a.

7. Maulānā Nizām-al-din Khāmūsh, friend and pupil of 'Alā-al-din (No. 5), on fol. 17^a.

8. Khwājah 'Abdallāh Imāmi Iṣfahānī, likewise a pupil of 'Alā-al-din, on fol. 19^b.

9. Maulânâ Sa'd-aldin alkâshghari, friend and pupil of Nizâm-aldin (No. 7), died the 7th of Jumâdâ-alâkhar, A. H. 860 (A. D. 1456, May 13), on fol. 20^a.

10. Khwâjah 'Ubaid-allâh, died A. H. 895 (A. D. 1490), on fol. 29^b (see his full biography in the immediately following work, the Rashahât).

On fol. 31^b, the detailed history of the life and wonderful deeds of the principal subject of this work follows, Maulânâ 'Alâ-aldin alâbizhi alkûhistânî, with his real name, Muḥammad bin Muḥammad bin Mu'min, who died A. H. 892, in the month Jumâdâ-alawwal (A. D. 1487, April-May); see fol. 170^b. Ta'rikh of his death: رفت پیر. He was the pupil of Sa'd-aldin Kâshghari (No. 9).

A concluding chapter on the pre-eminence of the Nakshbandi order over the other Ṭarīqas and Silsilas (در بیان فضیلت این سلسله شریفه بر سایر طرق و سلاسل) begins on fol. 170^b, but is incomplete at the end. It breaks off on fol. 174^b, so that both date of completion and date of transcription are missing. Many pages injured. Numerous marginal additions. Fol. 52 must be inserted between ff. 46 and 47.

No. 698, ff. 174, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 6 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 4 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

Rashahât-i-'ain-alḥayât (رشحات عین الحیات).

Another, better known, collection of biographies of great Nakshbandi Shaikhs, principally of Shaikh 'Ubaid-allâh Ahrâr, the spiritual guide of the author of this work, by 'Alî bin al-Ḥusain al-Wâ'iz al-kâshifî, known as Šafî, who began to compile it A. H. 893 (A. D. 1488), and finished it after sixteen years' labour, A. H. 909 (A. D. 1503, 1504), see ff. 1^b, last line; 2^a, first line; 3^a, ll. 6 and 7, and the last lines of the last page of this copy. The title رشحات forms a chronogram.

Other copies are noticed in Bodleian Cat., No. 360; Rieu i. p. 353; W. Pertsch, p. 121 (where the contents are fully described); W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 563; Cat. des MSS. et Xylogr. p. 299; H. Khalfa iii. p. 461, etc. A somewhat later date than 909, viz. A. H. 912 (A. D. 1506, 1507), appears on fol. 150^a, l. 7, in the chronogram: نکشیمه بنیم ز شعبان. The author died A. H. 939 (A. D. 1532, 1533). The Rashahât are divided into a makâlah (containing the biographies of the former great Nakshbandi Shaikhs), three maḥsads (giving an elaborate account of the ancestors, the life, sayings, deeds, and miracles of Shaikh 'Ubaid-allâh, born in Ramadân, A. H. 806=A. D. 1404, March, April, died the 29th of Rabî'-alawwal, A. H. 895, 1490, February 20, see fol. 307^b, ll. 7 and 8), and a khâtimah (giving the story of the Shaikhs' death). The full headings of the various chapters are as follows:

A very similar work on the Nakshbandi order, compiled A. H. 947=A. D. 1540, 1541 (see fol. 1^b, last line), by Abû al-muḥsin Muḥammad Bâkir bin Muḥammad 'Alî, without any special title (on fol. 1^a it is styled (نأربع غریبه), in a muḥaddimah, four maḥsads, and a khâ- timah. It differs from the Rashahât only in so far, as the biography of the founder of the order, Bahâ-aldin Muḥammad bin Muḥammad Nakshband, occupies here the same space as that of 'Ubaïd-allâh Ahrâr, whose life is the principal theme of the Rashahât.

Beginning: الحمد لله رب العالمين الذى رفع اعلام الشريعة بمبامن النخ

Muḥaddimah. Introduction to the history of the Nakshbandi order, on fol. 2^b.

Maḥṣal I. Shaikhs prior to Bahâ-aldin, from the prophet and 'Alī to Nakshband himself, on fol. 9^a.

Maḥṣad II, in three kisms. Life, deeds, sayings, and miracles of Bahâ-aldin Nakshband (A. H. 718-791 = A. D. 1318-1389), on fol. 35^a.

Maḥṣad III. Shaikhs who lived from Bahâ-aldin's time to that of 'Ubaïd-allâh Ahrâr, on fol. 119^b.

Maḥṣad IV. Life, deeds, sayings, and miracles of Khwâjah 'Ubaïd-allâh (A. H. 806-895 = A. D. 1404-1490), on fol. 196^a, in three maṣads and a khâtimah, the subdivisions quite identical with that in the Rashahât.

No date. Tenth century.

No. 1426, ff. 277, ll. 19; good Nasta'liq; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Siyar-al-'arifin (سير العارفين).

Biographies of fourteen renowned Shaikhs and holy men of India, all belonging to the Cīshī order, compiled by Ḥamid bin Faḍl-allâh, known as Darwish (or Mullâ) Jamâlī, see fol. 2^b, ll. 2 and 3. Other copies of the work are described in Rieu i. p. 354, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 556. According to A. Sprenger's Cat. Oudh, p. 446, the poet Jamâlī of Dihli died A. H. 922 or 925, the author of the Safinah also fixes his death in 925 (A. D. 1519), and refutes the statement of the author of the Ṭabaḳât-i-Shāhjahānī, that he had lived until A. H. 942 (comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 376, 43). According to the same Safinah, Jamâlī was born near Dihli, went to Khurāsān under Sultān Ḥusain Mirzā, made the acquaintance of the poet Jāmi, undertook extensive journeys, returned afterwards to India and was in high favour with Sultān Sikandar Lūdi and also with the emperor Bābar. This book is dedicated on fol. 4^b, last line, to Humāyūn, and since the epithets given to his name seem to imply that he was sovereign ruler already at that time, the book must have been finished after A. H. 937 = A. D. 1530 (the date of Humāyūn's accession to the throne), and the poet cannot have died already, A. H. 925. A. H. 942 (A. D. 1535, 1536) seems therefore, after all, the more correct date of Jamâlī's death; comp. also Bodleian Cat., No. 1274. In the preface the author gives us a short statement about his pilgrimage to Makkah, and his travels in Maghrib, Yaman, Palestine, Rūm, Syria, the two 'Irāks, Adharbaijān, Gilān, Māzandarān, and Khurāsān, and tells us, that after his return to Dihli his friends requested him to write a book on the learned Shaikhs of all the countries which he had visited. But he found that too great a task, and resolved, therefore, to write a work exclusively on Indian Saints.

The fourteen biographies deal with the following Shaikhs:

1. Sultān-almashāyikh Mu'in-aldin Ḥasan bin Ghiyāth-aldin alḥusaini alḥasanī Sijzi (سجزي), as explained in a marginal gloss: بكسر سين مهملة و سكون جيم (و كسر زاي معجمة), on fol. 5^a. He died, A. H. 633 (A. D. 1236), in Ajmir, see further down in the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 110.

2. Hadrat Shaikh-almashāyikh Badr-almillat wa-aldin Maḥmūd Mū'inadūz (the furrier) Khujandi, on fol. 18^b.

3. Hadrat Shaikh-alislām Bahâ-almillat wa-aldin Zakariyyā, on fol. 20^b (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 152).

4. Hadrat Sultān-al'āshikh Burhān-alwāḥidīn Kutb-aldin Bakhtiyār Ūsbi, on fol. 54^b (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 112).

5. Hadrat Shaikh-almashāyikh wa-alauliyā Farīd-almillat wa-aldin Maṣūd (i. e. the well-known Ganj-i-Shakar, see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 113), on fol. 74^a.

6. Hadrat Sultān-almashāyikh Ṣadr-aldin 'Arif, on fol. 111^b (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 155).

7. Hadrat Sultān-almashāyikh Nizām-aldin Muḥammad Badā'ūni (i. e. Shaikh Auliya, see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 114), on fol. 128^b. He died A. H. 725 (A. D. 1325).

8. Hadrat Malik-almashāyikh wa-alauliyā Rukn-aldin Abū-alkāsim Abū-alfath, on fol. 168^b. He was the son of Ṣadr-aldin 'Arif (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 156).

9. Hadrat Malik-almashāyikh Shaikh Ḥamid-aldin Nāgūri, on fol. 178^b (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 111).

10. Hadrat Malik-almashāyikh Shaikh Najib Muta-wakkil, on fol. 189^b.

11. Hadrat Sultān-almashāyikh Shaikh Jalāl-aldin Abū-alkāsim Tabrizi, on fol. 197^a.

12. Hadrat Shaikh-almashāyikh Naṣir-almillat wa-aldin Maḥmūd Audhi (i. e. Cīragh of Dihli, see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 116), on fol. 207^b.

13. Hadrat Malik-almashāyikh Ma'rifat-shi'ari Siyādat-dithāri Sayyid Jalāl-almillat wa-aldin Makhdūm-i-Jahāniyān Bukhārī, on fol. 214^a (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 157). He died A. H. 785 (A. D. 1384).

14. Hadrat Samā almillat wa-aldin Sultān-almuḥaḳ-kiḳiu u Burhān-al'arifin Sultān-almashāyikh Samā-almillat wa-aldin, the author's spiritual guide, on fol. 226^b. He received the investiture from Shaikh Kabir-aldin Isma'il, and died A. H. 901, the 17th of Jumādā-alawwal = A. D. 1496, February 2 (see fol. 243^a, ll. 6-10, where the following ta'rikh is given by Jamālī: هشت

خلد آمد بنام او اگر برسد کسی - سال تأريخش بگو
خلد آمد بنام او اگر برسد کسی - هشت = 705, came upon (was added) to his name, viz. سماء الدين = 196, total 901).

Of these fourteen Shaikhs, No. 2 is wanting in Rieu's copy and No. 14 in Pertsch's, so that the present copy is the fullest as yet met with.

Beginning of the preface, on fol. 1^b: حمدی که ابواب سعادت بر ارباب عبادت مفتوح گردانید و سیاسی النخ

An index on the fly-leaf. Copied in Shawwāl, A. H. 1043 (A. D. 1634, April), at Lāhūr; this copy belonged formerly to Mr. Richard Johnson.

No. 1313, ff. 244, ll. 13; inelegant Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

638

Another copy of the same.

This copy contains only thirteen biographies, which completely agree with those in Rieu's copy, viz. 1. on fol. 3^b; 2. wanting; 3. on fol. 13^a; 4. on fol. 33^b; 5. on fol. 43^b; 6. on fol. 65^a; 7. on fol. 74^b; 8. on fol. 98^b; 9. on fol. 104^a; 10. on fol. 110^b; 11. on fol. 115^a; 12. on fol. 121^b; 13. on fol. 125^b; 14. on fol. 132^b.

The work ends on fol. 142^b; the remaining pages (ff. 142^b-164^a) are filled with various traditions and tales of Khalifs, saints, etc., in the same handwriting.

No date.

No. 1751, ff. 164, ll. 19; Nasta'liq; waterspots; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

639

A shorter redaction of the same.

This copy contains apparently the same thirteen biographies as the preceding one, but is much shorter in extent. It is dated the 7th of Shawwâl, A.H. 1123 (fifth year of Bahâdurshâh's reign=A.D. 1711, Nov. 18), by Muḥammad Murâd Sulṭân Shâhi Kâdirî.

No. 939, ff. 88, ll. 17; Shikasta, some pages supplied by another hand in careless Nasta'liq; worm-eaten and slightly damaged throughout; size, 8½ in. by 5 in.

Akhbâr-alakhyâr (اخبار الاخيار).

Biographies of the most renowned Shaikhs and holy men of India, from the Muḥammadan conquest to the end of the tenth century of the Hijrah, compiled by 'Abd-alḥakḥ bin Saif-aldin alṭurk aldiḥlawi alḥukhârî (see fol. 5^b, ll. 10 and 11), the well-known author of the Târîkh ḥaqî (see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 195-198; Rieu i. p. 223, and No. 290 in this Cat.), the جذب القلوب الى دار المحبوب, a history of Madinah (see further below in the next chapter 'Geography, etc.'), and many other biographical and mystical works. He was not able to finish the original sketch of this work, made many years before, until after his return from Hijâz, whither he had gone, A.H. 996 (A.D. 1588), see fol. 269^a, in A.H. 999 (A.D. 1591), according to the chronogram on fol. 268^b:

نام و تأريخ اين كتاب عزيز-گر کنی ذکر الاوليا احسن which gives us at the same time ذكر الاوليا as an additional title of this work, other copies of which are described in Bodleian Cat., No. 363, and Rieu i. p. 355, where as final date of completion, A.H. 1028 (A.D. 1619) is given, in consequence of an incidental remark in Jahângir's autobiographical memoirs. The above chronogram, which seems to fix definitely the completion of the work, has not been noticed in any previous copy. The work begins with the biography of the great Sûfic Shaikh 'Abd-alḥakḥ aljilânî, on fol. 9^b, after which follows immediately that of Khwâjah Mu'm-alḥakḥ wa-aldin Sijzi, the founder of the Cîshti order (who died A.H. 633=A.D. 1236, see No. 637, 1), his contemporaries and disciples, on fol. 22^b (طبقة اول); it goes then over to Shaikh Farid-alḥakḥ wa-aldin Gauj-i-Shakar (who died A.H. 664=A.D. 1265), his followers and pupils, on fol. 49^a (طبقة دوم); enumerates all the Shaikhs from the time of Naṣir-aldin Maḥmûd Cîrâgh of Dihli (died A.H. 757=A.D. 1356) down to the author's own epoch, on fol. 73^b; and deals towards the end in special chapters with a number of ecstatic Shaikhs (ذكر بعضى مجاذب), on fol. 240^a; with female saints (ذكر بعضى از نساء صالحات), on fol. 245^a; and the author's ancestors, family, and own life (here styled تكملة, in the index on fol. 9^a خاتمة), on fol. 248^a.

Beginning: شكر مر حضرت واهب العطيات را كه عطاى
اورا پايان نيست الخ

The margin of ff. 2-87 is covered with fragments of theological and cosmographical treatises, without any title.

No date.

No. 1450, ff. 270, ll. 17; unequal Nasta'liq; the first page supplied later; size, 10 in. by 5½ in.

641

Akhbâr-alashfiyâ (اخبار الاصفيا).

A much smaller and less known work, of very similar contents, giving likewise biographies of all the famous Saints and Shaikhs who have lived or stayed in India, compiled by 'Abd-alḥamad bin Afḍal Muḥammad bin Yûsuf Anṣarî, a nephew of the famous Abû-alfadl and editor of his official letters, the مكتابات علامى, see above, Nos. 271-286 in this Cat., compare also Rieu iii. p. 1087^a, where as title of the present work is given: اخبارات الاصفيا. It was completed A.H. 1014 (A.D. 1605, 1606) and dedicated to the emperor Jahângir, see fol. 1^b, fol. 6^b, last line, fol. 7^a, ll. 15 and 16, and fol. 7^b, ll. 14 and 15. It contains short biographical accounts of 245 male and 4 female persons, beginning, like the preceding work, with Ghauth alḥamadânî Kuṭb-i-rabbânî Shaikh Muḥyi-aldin Abû Muḥammad 'Abd-alḥakḥ alḥasanî alḥusainî aljilânî (born A.H. 471=A.D. 1079, died A.H. 561=A.D. 1166), see fol. 8^b, and ends with Fâtimah Sâlimah, on fol. 70^a. A complete index on ff. 1^b-5^a; the work itself begins thus, on fol. 6^b: جهان جهان آفرين مر جان و جهان آفرين را كه جهان دانس و جان سخن بصاحب فطرتان الخ on fol. 70^b. Ff. 71^b-74^b are filled by another hand with a story of Shaikh Sharaf-aldin Abû 'Alî Ḳalandar of Pânipat (who died A.H. 724=A.D. 1324, see Rieu ii. p. 668, and iii. p. 1090^b sq.). Copied by Bâkir Sâmanî, in the thirty-first year of 'Ālamgir's reign (A.H. 1098, 1099=A.D. 1687, 1688).

No. 868, ff. 74, ll. 19-28; very irregularly and unequally written in Shikasta; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Tarjuma-i-Rauḍat-alriyâḥin (ترجمة روضة الرياحين).
Biography of Saints and great Shaikhs, translated from the Arabic work (or more correctly روضة (روضه) الحكايات في رباحين by 'Abdallāh bin As'ad al-yāfi' al-yamāni, or with his fuller name: Abū-alsa'ād al-yāfi' al-yamāni, who died A. H. 768, the 20th or 21st of Jumādā-alākhar (A. D. 1367, February 21); compare O. Loth, Arabic MSS. of the India Office Library, p. 202; Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. ii. p. 299; H. Khalifa iii. p. 488; the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 62, etc. He was the author of many other similar works, all dealing more or less with the great Shaikh 'Abd-alkādir Jilāni and the Kādiri Saints, viz. ارشاد و التطرير (H. Kh. i. p. 254); اسنى المفاخر (ib. i. p. 293); اطراف التواريخ (ib. i. p. 344); خلاصة المفاخر (ib. iii. p. 167; comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 332); درر في كفاية المعتقد (ib. iii. p. 221); مدح سيد البشر (ib. v. p. 226); مرة الجنان و عبرة اليعظان (ib. v. p. 481; comp. O. Loth, Arabic MSS., p. 201, and G. Flugel ii. p. 43); مناقب الامام مایه (ib. v. p. 501); مرهم العلل المعطلة, in praise of Imām Māyah of the Ash'ariyyah seet (ib. vi. p. 151); منهل المفهوم (ib. vi. p. 225); نشر الریحان (ib. vi. p. 342); نشر المحاسن العالیة (ib. vi. p. 344); نفحات الزهار (ib. vi. p. 366); نوادر المعانی (ib. vi. p. 387); نهاية المحیا, a poem with commentary in praise of famous Shaikhs (ib. vi. p. 404); and the epitome of the same, styled الشاش الموعلم شاوش and the epitome of the same, styled الشاش الموعلم شاوش (Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. ii. p. 315); فوائد جلیلة عظيمة النفع جدًا مجموعة من مواضع متفرقة من كتاب الدر النظم (ib. iv. p. 341; comp. H. Khalifa iii. p. 197), etc. etc. The present work is also styled: نزهة العيون النواظر و تحفة القلوب الخواصر في حکایات الصالحين و الاولياء الاکابر.

This prose-translation in Persian, which is contained in our copy, is not mentioned anywhere. It was made by Faḍl-Allāh bin Asad-allāh alḥusaini al-rābi al-simnāni, with the takhalluṣ Jahāni (see fol. 3^b, last line but two), under Sultān Muḥammad Kutbshāh (who reigned A. H. 1020-1035=A. D. 1612-1626); see fol. 5^b, l. 1. It contains 500 hikāyāt in two fasls: 1. در اثبات کرامات اولیای عظام و اصفای کرام و ظهور کرامات, on fol. 24^a. The first story begins on fol. 31^a with a legend of Abū-alfaid Dhū-alnūn Miṣri (who died in Sha'bān, A. H. 240=A. D. 855, January). The Persian translator has added to the original work a long appendix of his own, or khātimah, treating especially of the life and miracles of the great Shaikh 'Abd-alkādir Jilāni, in three fasls, viz.:

1. در شرح احوال بعضی مشایخ, on fol. 371^a; 2. در جواب شبهاتی که بعضی از فقها مثل ابن جوزی و غیره

در حکایات این طائفة علیه آورده اند, on fol. 404^a; 3. در بیان برخی از عقائد مشایخ و علمای ربانین, بطریق اختصار, on fol. 410^b.

Beginning of the preface: حمد و ثنا مبدعی را که از بدایت صباح وجود تا نهایت رواج عدم هرچه هست در حد پادشاهی اوست الخ.

A lacuna after fol. 7. Fol. 200 and several of the last leaves injured. The title جامع للحکایات, given to this book on fol. 1^a, is a mistake, probably caused by the initial words, which are identical with those of Muḥammad 'Aufi's well-known work of the same title; see Nos. 600-604 in this Catalogue.

Dated the 10th of Jumādā-alawwal, A. H. 1026 (A. D. 1617, May 16), which cannot be much later than the completion of the work itself.

No. 1523, ff. 412, ll. 19; Nasta'liq; size, 12 in. by 7½ in.

Tarjuma-i-Khulāṣat-almafākhir (ترجمة خلاصة المفاخر).

A Persian translation of the supplement to the preceding work, usually denoted by the simple name of تکملة; see fol. 2^a, l. 4, and fol. 228^b, last line; the author of the Arabic original is the same 'Abdallāh bin As'ad al-yāfi' al-yamāni; comp. O. Loth, loc. cit., and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 66. It adds 200 stories to those in the روضه الرباحين, most of which refer to the great Shaikh 'Abd-alkādir (see above). The name of the Persian translator is not mentioned, but as the first of two other copies of the same work in the Bodleian Library (Bodleian Cat., Nos. 332 and 333) was made before A. H. 910 (A. D. 1504), and as moreover the anonymous author mentions as his spiritual guide the great Shaikh Sayyid Jalāl-aldin Makhdūm-i-Jahāniyān, who died A. H. 785 (A. D. 1384), the translation of this تکملة must have been made at least 200 years before that of the روضه الرباحين. The Persian poet 'Abdi made a poetical version of the same تکملة in A. H. 1051 (A. D. 1641, 1642), entitled ترجمة تکملة; see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 307.

Beginning: الحمد لله رب العالمين ميگويد: اضعف العباد اضع الله شأنه که چون کتاب خلاصة المفاخر في مناقب غوث الملكوت قطب الصمد الخ.

Dated the 14th of Ṣafar, A. H. 1089 (A. D. 1678, April 7). College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2271, ff. 228, written in different styles of Naskhi, mixed with Shikasta, by various hands, the oldest part, ll. 15, the more modern ones, ll. 17; very much damaged, but carefully mended; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

Maḳāmāt-i-Sayyid Atā'i (مقامات سيد اتاي).

The life, miracles, and spiritual teachings of the great Saint of the Yasawi order, Jamāl-aldin Khwājah Diwāna Sayyid Atā'i of Khwārizm and Khaiwaq, who was born in the reign of Shāh Isma'il Sāfawī (the exact date is given on fol. 14^b, last line, and fol. 15^a, first line: چون حضرت ایشان چهار ماهه شدند فتنه شاه اسمعیل واقع گردید حضرت ایشان در هنگام شیر خوارگی: and likewise on fol. 31^a, l. 1 sq.: بودند که فترات غریبه نمود و بسبب هجوم قزلباش و (فتنه شاه اسمعیل کار اکثر آخوند بقتل انجامید الخ), and died A.H. 1016=A.D. 1607, 1608 (see fol. 118^a, ll. 1 and 2, and fol. 123^a, first line; chronogram: تاج سر زهی خواجه خواجگان خواجه ما - : 100 or even 103 years old (see fol. 122^b, l. 9: - که صد سال هادی راه هدا شد خواجه خواجگان جمال الدین آن نمایندۀ طریقی هدا مرشد سالکان خفیه و جهر هادی طالبان راه خدا صد و (سی (سه) سال در جهان میزد الخ fix his birth either in A.H. 916 (A.D. 1510, 1511) or in A.H. 913 (A.D. 1507, 1508). His father was Sayyid Pādīshāh Khwājah Pardapūsh (برده پوش), of the Yasawī order, and he traces his descent to Sultān Khwājah Ahmad Yasawī, called Atā (father), the founder of the Yasawī order and third Khalīfah of Abū Ya'kūb Yūsuf bin Ayyūb of Hamadān (see the Safinat-alauliyā, Nos. 73 and 75). This work was compiled by the Saint's younger son, Muhammad Kāsim bin Khwājah Diwāna Sayyid Atā'i, with the takhalluṣ Ridwān (see fol. 2^b, ll. 8 and 9, and fol. 123^a, l. 10), on the basis of some previous works on the same subject, one by Ākhund Maulānā Darwish Tāshkandī, the other by Kādī Jān Muhammad bin Kādī Khān Bukhārī (بخاری, probably a mistake for بخاری), styled مقامات (see ff. 4^a, ll. 7 and 12-13, and 4^b, l. 3 sq.), at the suggestion of his brother Khwājah Abū-alḥasan (see fol. 4^b, last line sq.), and completed the first of Muḥarram, A.H. 1036=A.D. 1626, September 22 (see fol. 124^b, ll. 8 and 9). It is divided into a muḥaddimah, four maḳāms, and a khātimah.

Muḥaddimah, on fol. 6^b: Explanation of the Sūfī terms (در تحقیق) ولی, خوارق عادات, کرامت, ولایت, معنی ولایت و ولی و طبقات اولیاء الله و اثبات کرامات (و اقسام خوارق عادات الخ).

Maḳām I, on fol. 14^b: Genealogy and pedigree of the great Saint Jamāl-al-dīn Diwāna and the ramification of his family with the Yasawī, Kubrawī, and Naqshbandī orders (در ذکر شجره نسبی و سلسله حسبی) (حضرت ایشان).

Maḳām II: Life and travels of the Saint, on fol. 30^b (در ذکر مبادی احوال و سیاحات حضرت ایشان).

Maḳām III: Miracles of the Saint, on fol. 47^a (در ذکر بعضی از خوارق عادات و برخی از کرامات حضرت ایشان).

Maḳām IV: Spiritual sayings of the Saint, on fol. 102^a (در ذکر بعضی از کلمات قدسیه حضرت ایشان).

Khātimah: Last illness and death of the Saint, on fol. 116^a (در مرض موت حضرت ایشان و کیفیت انتقال) (الخ حضرت الخ).

Beginning: سرنامه مقامات اولیاء هستی سپاس مدبری سزد که بقدرت کامله لوی رفعت آدمی بر کافه مخلوقات افراخته الخ.

The copy is incomplete at the end; one or two leaves of the epilogue are missing. There seems to be also a small lacuna after fol. 11. Worm-eaten throughout.

No. 3100, ff. 126, ll. 15; Nasta'liq; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

Majma'-alauliyā (مجمع الاولیاء).

An almost complete copy of a hitherto unknown, extremely large and interesting biographical work, containing the lives of all the most renowned Saints, religious heroes, and great mystic Shaikhs, with its full title: مجمع الاصفیاء و مجمع الاولیاء, usually styled مجمع فیض or even مجمع الاولیاء, the latter title being a chronogram, fixing the date of the composition of this work in A.H. 1043 (A.D. 1633, 1634); see fol. 3^b, l. 3 sq. Only one leaf is missing in the beginning, the initial words لمعه ایست از لمعات حقیقت . . . corresponding to fol. 2^a, l. 3 in the following copy, and the last few leaves are greatly injured and partly torn away. The work was compiled by 'Alī Akbar Husainī Ardastānī, see fol. 1^a, l. 7 sq., and dedicated to the emperor Shāh-jahān; see fol. 2^b, first line sq. It is divided into a muḥaddimah, twelve bābs (each preceded by a complete index), and a khātimah, viz.:

مقدمه محتوی بر بیان اصطلاحات صوفیه و مقامات عشره و بیان طوائف افطاب و اوتاد و ابدال و ما یناسب (On Sūfī terminology, the ten maḳāmāt or stations, and the classes of Akṭāb or 'poles,' of Autād or 'props,' of Abdāl or 'lieutenants,' etc.), on fol. 3^b.

باب اول در ذکر خلفاء راشدین و ائمه اثنا عشر و صحابه مهاجران و انصار و تابعین و تبع تابعین و برخی از اولاد حضرت سید کائنات (The first four Khalīfs, the Imāms, the companions of the Prophet, the Tābi'īn or successors of the companions, the Tubba' Tābi'īn or successors of the Tābi'īn, etc., beginning with Abūbakr and ending with Abū Tāhir Muhammad bin Yahyā bin Zafar, who was born A.H. 466=A.D. 1073, 1074, altogether 304 biographies), on fol. 18^a.

باب دوم در ذکر خواجه حسن بصری و من ینتسب (Khwājah Ḥasan Baṣrī, whose death is fixed here in A.H. 120, or according to others in A.H. 106 (A.D. 738 or 724), and the leading Saints of his order, ending with Muhammad bin Fādhah, altogether 143 biographies, of which three, however, are cancelled in the text), on fol. 146^b.

باب سیم در ذکر سلطان ابراهیم ادهم و من ینتسب (Sultān Ibrāhīm Adham, whose death is fixed here in A. H. 166 or 162 = A. D. 782, 783, or 778, 779, and the leading Saints of his order, ending with Abūbakr Yazdāniyār Urmawī, the originally last Shaikh Abū Ishāq Shāmī having been cancelled, altogether sixty-three biographies), on fol. 240^a.

باب چهارم در ذکر شیخ معروف کرخی ومن ینتسب
(Shaikh Ma'rūf Karkhi, whose death is fixed here in A. H. 261 = A. D. 875, and the leading Saints of his order, ending with Sayyid Ibrāhīm Khūzistānī, altogether seventy-four biographies), on fol. 273^b.

باب پنجم در ذکر سلطان بابزید بسطامی ومن ینتسب
(Sultān Bāyazīd Bisṭāmī, who died A. H. 261 = A. D. 875, according to a less trustworthy source already A. H. 234, and the leading Saints of his order, ending with Sayyid Ḥaidar bin 'Alī Āmulī, altogether fifty-four biographies), on fol. 305^a.

باب ششم در ذکر سید الطائفة شیخ جنید بغدادی
(Shaikh Junaid Baghdādī, who died A. H. 297 = A. D. 909, 910, and the leading Saints of his order, ending with Shaikh Abū 'Abdallāh Ṭāḳī, altogether ninety biographies), on fol. 335^a.

باب هفتم در ذکر سلسله حضرات خواجها و مشایخ ترکی
(Shaikhs of the Naqshbandi order and Turkish Shaikhs, from Khwājah Yūsuf Hamadānī, whose death is fixed here in A. H. 555 = A. D. 1160, to Shaikh Muḥammad Ma'ṣūm, who was born A. H. 1007 = A. D. 1598, 1599, and thirty-five years old at the time when the author wrote this part of his work, altogether 162 biographies), on fol. 374^b.

باب هشتم در ذکر مشایخ عصر غوث اعظم شاه محیی
(Shaikh Ghauth-i-a'ẓam Muḥyi-aldin 'Abd-alkādir Jilānī, died A. H. 561 = A. D. 1166, his contemporaries and followers down to Shaikh Mūsā bin Māhin, altogether sixty-five biographies), on fol. 453^b.

باب نهم در ذکر مشایخ سهروردیه و کبرویه و چشتیه
(Shaikhs of the Suhrawardī, Kubrawī, and Cīstī orders, from Shaikh Shihāb-aldin Suhrawardī, who died A. H. 632 = A. D. 1234, 1235, to Khwājah Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin Muḥammad bin Yūsuf Cīstī, whose birth is fixed here in A. H. 507, and his death in A. H. 597 = A. D. 1113-1201, altogether sixty-four biographies), on fol. 508^b.

باب دهم در ذکر مشایخ دهلی و گجرات و غیر آن از
(Shaikhs of Dihli, Gujarāt, and other parts of India, from Khwājah Mu'in-aldin Ḥasan Sijzi, who died A. H. 633, 6th of Rajab or, less correctly, Dhū-alḥijjah, A. D. 1236, March 16 or August 11, to Shaikh Jauhar Sirhindī, who died A. H. 1027 = A. D. 1618, altogether 277 biographies), on fol. 592^a.

باب یازدهم در ذکر شعرا
(Poets, beginning with Amir Kāsim-i-Anwār, who died A. H. 837 = A. D. 1433, 1434, and ending with Bābā Kamāl Khujandī; the last date is

A. H. 835 = A. D. 1431, 1432, that of the death of Shaikh Abū-alwafā, one of Khujandī's pupils, altogether thirty-six biographies, being a selection only of such as were great mystic Shaikhs at the same time), on fol. 756^b.

باب دوازدهم در ذکر نساء عارفات
(Female Saints, from Rābi'ah 'adawiyyah of Baṣrah to Bibi Auliyyā, a contemporary of Sultān Muḥammad Tughluq, buried in Dihli, altogether thirty-eight biographies), on fol. 814^a.

خاتمه در ذکر فضائل و مناقب اهل بیت طاهرن و
(On the excellent qualities and virtues of the house of 'Alī and the first four Khalifs, together with some discourses on Khidr and Ilyās), on fol. 833^a.

This copy, which exhibits at the end as date only the 2nd of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1043 (A. D. 1633, September 6), i. e. the date of the completion of the work itself, is undoubtedly in its principal parts the author's own first sketch or 'brouillon,' as the whole aspect of the MS. unmistakably proves. Almost in every page portions are struck out and either replaced by others on the margin or restored later on, which gives quite a unique value to the MS. There are besides numerous marginal corrections and additions. The actual number of biographies, according to our counting, is 1370; on fol. 3^a, first line, the author states that he intends to enumerate 1000 and — biographies (هزار و), carefully avoiding any exact statement. In the following copy this passage has been filled in, and 1511 is given as the proper number, which exceeds that in the present copy by 141, but may very well be correct with regard to a later revised and enlarged edition, of which the following copy is, no doubt, an imperfect specimen. Rather peculiar are the chronological dates given in this work; they often entirely differ from those commonly fixed upon by standard authors.

No. 1647, ff. 939, ll. 19; Nasta'lik, by different hands; size, 12½ in. by 6½ in.

Another, but incomplete copy of the same.

This copy, which seems to represent a later redaction of the work, also with a few erasures and numerous marginal corrections and additions, contains only the first half of the work, viz.:

Mukaddimah, on fol. 5^b: Bāb I, on fol. 27^a; II, on fol. 230^a; III, on fol. 366^a; IV, on fol. 406^b; V, on fol. 453^b; VI, on fol. 496^a; VII (containing the index only), on fol. 553^b. There is besides a large lacuna after fol. 382 in the third bāb, corresponding to ff. 251^b, last line—257^a, l. 15 in the preceding copy.

Beginning of the preface, on fol. 1^b:
سیاس و ستایش
مصوربرا که لوح عدم را به نگارش عکوس صفائی خود
بیاراست و عرصه وجود را بمجال اسمای ذاتی خویش
مزین ساخت الخ

The proper order of ff. 112—117 is: 112, 114, 113, 116, 115, 117. No date.

No. 1022, ff. 554, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 10 in. by 5½ in.

Biographies of Saints and famous Shaikhs, from the beginning of Islām to the author's time, compiled by prince Dārā Shukūh (the author of the مجمع البحرين, the حسنات العارفين, and the نادر النكات; comp. Rieu i. p. 356; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 58 and 546; J. Aumer, p. 140. etc.), and finished the 27th of Ramaḍān, A. H. 1049 (A. D. 1640. Jan. 21), in the author's twenty-fifth year; comp. fol. 134^b, last line; see also fol. 79^a, l. 13, and fol. 86^a, l. 4. A complete index of all the persons quoted in this work is found on ff. 1-13^a (the right order of which is 1. 7-12, 6, 2-5, 13). The work itself begins, on fol. 13^b: الحمد لله رب العالمين والصلوة والسلام على محمد سيد المرسلين وعلى آله واصحابه اجمعين الطاهرين اما بعد أكرجه احوال و معجزات حضرت سيد انام الخ.

Lithographed in Lucknow, A. D. 1872. It contains the following short biographies, which are particularly valuable by a comparative strictness in the chronological order and the full dates they give:

I. Muḥammad, the first four Khālifas, the twelve Imāms, some Aṣḥāb and Ṭābiʿīn, and the four great legal authorities.

1. The prophet Muḥammad, died A. H. 11, the 12th of Rabīʿ I, on fol. 16^b.

2. The first Khālif Abūbākr Siddīq, with his real name: 'Abdallāh, son of Abū Kūhāfah (bin) 'Uthmān bin 'Āmir bin 'Amr bin Ka'b bin Sa'd and Umm-alkhair Salmā, died A. H. 13, the 22nd or, according to others, the 23rd of Jumādā II, 63 or 65 years old, on fol. 18^a.

3. The second Khālif 'Umar Fārūq ibn al-Khaṭṭāb, with the Kunyah Abū Ḥafṣ, died A. H. 23, the 28th of Dhū-al-hijjah, 63, or according to others 54, 55, or 58 years old, on fol. 19^a.

4. The third Khālif 'Uthmān bin 'Affān Dhū-al-nurain, with the Kunyah Abū 'Umar, or Abū Lailā or Abū 'Abdallāh, died A. H. 35 (or according to others 36), the 13th or 18th (15th in the following copy) of Dhū-al-hijjah, 88, or according to others 90 or only 75, 82, or 86 years old, on fol. 19^b.

5. The fourth Khālif and first Imām 'Alī Murtaḍā Asad-allāh bin Abī Ṭālib, with the Kunyas Abū-al-ḥasan and Abū-al-turāb, died A. H. 40, the 21st of Ramaḍān (according to others the 17th or 23rd), 63 or 65 years old, on fol. 20^a.

6. Hasan bin 'Alī bin Abī Ṭālib, the second Imām, with the Kunyah Abū Muḥammad and the Laqabs Ṭaqī and Sayyid, born in Madinah in the middle of Ramaḍān, A. H. 3, died 48 (in the following copy 47) years old, A. H. 50, the 11th of Rabīʿ I, on fol. 21^a.

7. Husain bin 'Alī bin Abī Ṭālib, the third Imām, with the Kunyah Abū 'Abdallāh and the Laqabs Shahid and Sayyid, born in Madinah, the 4th of Sha'bān, A. H. 4, killed at Karbalā, 57 years and 5 months old, A. H. 61, on the day 'Āshūrā, i. e. the 10th of Muḥarram, on fol. 21^a.

8. 'Alī bin Husain bin 'Alī al-murtaḍā, the fourth Imām, with the Kunyas Abū Muḥammad, Abū-al-ḥasan, and Abūbākr, and the Laqabs Sajjād and Zain-al-'abidin, born in Madinah, A. H. 33 (according to others 36 or 38), died 61 or 62 (according to others 56 or 58) years old, the 18th of Muḥarram, A. H. 94 or 95; his mother was the daughter of the last Persian king Yazdajird III, on fol. 21^b.

9. Muḥammad bin 'Alī bin Husain, the fifth Imām, with the Kunyah Abū Ja'far and the Laqab Bākir, born in Madinah, A. H. 57, the 3rd of Šafar, died 57 (according to others 58, 63, or 73) years old, A. H. 114 (according to others 117 or 118); his mother was Faṭimah, a daughter of Imām Ḥasan bin 'Alī, on fol. 22^a.

10. Ja'far bin Muḥammad bin 'Alī bin Husain, the sixth Imām, with the Kunyah Abū 'Abdallāh or Abū Isma'īl, and the Laqab Šādīq, born in Madinah, A. H. 80 (or according to others 83), the 17th of Rabīʿ I, died 68 (or 65) years old, at Madinah, the 15th of Rajab, A. H. 148; his mother was a daughter of Kāsim bin Muḥammad bin Abūbākr Šiddīq, on fol. 22^a.

11. Mūsā bin Ja'far al-šādīq, the seventh Imām, with the Kunyas Abū-al-ḥasan and Abū Ibrāhīm, and the Laqab Kāzim, born at Abūh (ابوه), between Makkah and Madinah, the 7th of Šafar, A. H. 128, died 54 (or according to others 55) years old, the 6th, 7th, or in the middle of Rajab, A. H. 183, in the prison of Ḥārūn-al-rashid; his mother was a slave-girl, bought by Imām Muḥammad Bākir and given to Imām Ja'far Šādīq, on fol. 22^b.

12. 'Alī bin Mūsā Kāzim bin Ja'far, the eighth Imām, with the Kunyah Abū-al-ḥasan and the Laqab Ridā, born at Madinah the 11th of Rabīʿ II (or according to others the 6th, 7th, or 8th of Shawwāl), A. H. 153 (or 156), died 49 (or according to others 44, 45, or 50) years old, in Tus, the 21st or 29th of Ramaḍān, A. H. 208, on fol. 23^a.

13. Muḥammad bin 'Alī bin Mūsā bin Ja'far Šādīq, the ninth Imām, with the Kunyah Abū Ja'far (usually called Abū Ja'far the second) and the Laqabs Ṭaqī and Jawād, born in Madinah the 10th of Rajab, A. H. 195, died 25 years old, A. H. 220, the 6th of Dhū-al-hijjah, under the Khālif Mu'taṣim, on fol. 23^b.

14. 'Alī bin Muḥammad bin 'Alī bin Mūsā bin Ja'far Šādīq, the tenth Imām, with the Kunyah Abū-al-ḥasan (usually called Abū-al-ḥasan the third) and the Laqabs Ḥādī, Zaki 'Askari, and Naqī, born in Madinah the 13th of Rajab (according to others on the day 'Arafah, i. e. the 9th of Dhū-al-hijjah), A. H. 214, so to be read instead of the date چهارم محرم in the text both of this and the following copy (others say A. H. 213), died 40 or 41 years old, near Baghdād, end of Jumādā I (according to others the 13th of Jumādā II), A. H. 254; under the Khālif Muntaṣir-billah (read Almu'tazz-billah, since Muntaṣir had died six years before that date), on fol. 24^a.

15. Ḥasan bin 'Alī bin Muḥammad bin 'Alī Ridā, the eleventh Imām, with the Kunyah Abū Muḥammad and the Laqabs Zaki, Khāliṣ, Sirāj, and 'Askari, born at Madinah, A. H. 231 (according to others 232), died 29 (or 28) years old, the 6th or 8th of Rabīʿ-al-awwal, A. H. 260, on fol. 24^b.

16. Muḥammad Mahdi bin Ḥasan bin 'Alī bin Muḥammad bin 'Alī Ridā, the twelfth Imām, with the Kunyah Abū-al-kāsim, born A. H. 258, the 23rd of Ramaḍān; in A. H. 265 or 266 he disappeared, according to Shi'ite belief, to turn up again at the end of time; according to Sunnite doctrine he died in one of these two years, on fol. 25^a.

17. Salmān the Persian, with the Kunyah Abū 'Abdallāh, died A. H. 33 at Madā'in, one of the companions of the prophet; some say he was 1500 years old, others 350, others again 250, and the last statement, the author of the book says, is the correct one (واين قول اصح است)!! on fol. 25^b.

18. Uwais Karri, of Najd, one of the Tabi'in, was killed, according to some authorities (see the كشف المحجوب and the تذكرة الاوليا), in the battle of Siffin (A. H. 37), according to others (see the شواهد النبوة), he died A. H. 22, the 3rd of Rajab, on fol. 25^b.

19. Hasan Basri, with the Kunyah Abû Sa'id, another of the Tabi'in, born A. H. 21, died 89 years old, the 5th of Rajab, A. H. 110; buried at Basrah, on fol. 26^a.

20. Kâsim bin Muḥammad bin Abûbâkr al-siddîq, also one of the Tabi'in and one of the seven theologians (فقيه) of Madinah, was brought up in the house of his aunt 'Ā'ishah; he died A. H. 107, 108, 112, or even 102, on fol. 26^a.

21. Imâm-i-a'zam Abû Ḥanifah of Kûfah, the first great legal Imâm, with his real name Nu'mân bin Thâbit, one of the Tabi'in and friend of Imâm Ja'far Ṣâdiq (No. 10), born A. H. 80, died at Baghdâd, the 15th of Rajab, A. H. 150. 70 years old, on fol. 26^b.

22. Mâlik bin Anas bin Mâlik, the second great legal Imâm, with the Kunyah Abû 'Abdallâh, born A. H. 95 (according to others 94 or 97), died the 7th of Rabi'-alâkhar, A. H. 179, on fol. 27^a.

23. Muḥammad bin Idris Shâfi'i, the third great legal Imâm, with the Kunyah Abû 'Abdallâh, of the Kuraish, a pupil of Imâm Mâlik, born A. H. 150, died in Miṣr, 54 years old, the last of Rajab, A. H. 204; his mother was Umm-alḥasan, daughter of Hamzah bin al-Kâsim bin Zaid bin Ḥasan bin 'Alî bin Abi Tâlib; from his father's side he was a descendant of 'Abd-almuṭṭalib bin Ḥâshim, the prophet's grandfather; after his studies under Mâlik he went to 'Irâq and associated with Imâm Muḥammad bin Ḥasan, a pupil of Abû Ḥanifah (No. 26), on fol. 27^a.

24. Aḥmad Hanbal, or with his full name: Aḥmad bin Muḥammad bin Hanbal, the fourth great legal Imâm, Shâfi'i's pupil, with the Kunyah Abû Muḥammad or Abû 'Abdallâh, born in Baghdâd, A. H. 164, died 77 years old, in his native town, the 12th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 241, on fol. 27^b.

25. Imâm Abû Yûsuf (in the following copy wrongly: Muḥammad Yûsuf) Ya'qûb bin Ibrâhîm of Kûfah, a pupil of Abû Ḥanifah, the first who ever got the title of Kâdi-alkudât, born A. H. 112, died 70 years old, the 27th of Rajab, A. H. 182, on fol. 28^a.

26. Imâm Muḥammad Shaibânî, whose father Ḥasan came from Syria to the 'Irâq; he was brought up in Kûfah and became a pupil of Abû Ḥanifah, died the 14th of Jumâdâ II, A. H. 189, on fol. 28^a.

II. Shaikhs of the Kâdiri order (which was styled Junaidi before the time of Shaikh 'Abd-alkâdir Jilânî).

27. Shaikh Ma'rûf Karkhi, son of Firûz or Firûzân (according to others of 'Alî), with the Kunyah Abû Mahfûz, originally a Christian, but converted to Muhammadanism by the Imâm 'Alî Ridâ bin Mûsâ (No. 12); he became a pupil of Abû Ḥanifah and was instructed in Sûfic lore by Ḥabîb Râ'i, who was himself a pupil of Salmân the Persian (No. 17), he died A. H. 200, the 2nd of Muḥarram, on fol. 28^b.

28. Shaikh Sari alsaḳaṭi, with the Kunyah Abû-alḥasan, a pupil of the preceding Shaikh, died over 98 years old, the 3rd of Ramaḍân, A. H. 253 (in the following copy A. H. 250), on fol. 29^a.

29. Shaikh Junaid bin Muḥammad bin al-Junaid of Baghdâd, with the Kunyah Abû-alkâsim and the Lakabs Sayyid al-tâ'ifah (because the order was called after him Junaidi), Tâ'us-al'ulamâ, Kawâriri, Zajjâj (the last two on account of the trade of his father, who was a glass-blower in Nabâwand), and Kharrâz: he was born and brought up at Baghdâd and followed the doctrines of Sufyân Thauri (No. 162); he was also the principal pupil and nephew of Shaikh Sari Saḳaṭi (No. 28), and died the 27th of Rajab, A. H. 297; others, but incorrectly, fix his death in A. H. 299, on fol. 29^b.

30. Shaikh Abûbâkr Shibli, with his real name, Ja'far bin Yûnus, pupil of the preceding Shaikh, born, according to some, in Baghdâd, according to others in Sâmirah, died 87 years old, the 27th (in the following copy the 7th) of Dhû-alḥijjah, A. H. 334; he was a follower of the Mâlikite school, on fol. 31^a.

31. Shaikh 'Abd-alwâhid Tammi (in the following copy, Yamani) bin 'Abd-al'azîz bin Harith bin Asad, with the Kunyah Abû-alfadl, a pupil of Shibli, died in Jumâdâ II, A. H. 425, on fol. 32^a.

32. Shaikh Abû-alfarah Ṭartûsi, a pupil of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 32^a.

33. Shaikh Abû-alḥasan Hakkâri, with his real name, 'Alî bin Muḥammad bin Yûsuf bin Ja'far al-kuraishi alhakkâri, pupil of the preceding Shaikh, died in Muḥarram, A. H. 486, on fol. 32^b.

34. Shaikh Abû Sa'id Mubârak bin 'Alî bin Ḥusain al-mahrûmî (المحرومي), in other places makhzûmî مخزومي and mahzûmî (محزومي), a follower of the Hanbalite school, pupil of the preceding Shaikh and spiritual Pir of 'Abd-alkâdir Jilânî (the famous غوث الغفلي; see below, No. 36), died in Muḥarram, A. H. 513, on fol. 32^b.

35. Shaikh Ḥammâd bin Muslim, with the Kunyah Abû 'Abdallâh and the epithet Dabbâs (the seller of honey made of grapes or fresh dates), the teacher of 'Abd-alkâdir Jilânî, died in Ramaḍân, A. H. 520 (A. H. 525 in the following copy), on fol. 33^a.

36. Ghauth-althakâkin or Ghauth-ala'zam Shâh Muḥyi-aldin Sayyid 'Abd-alkâdir aljili alḥasani alḥusaini, the real founder of the Kâdiri order, and the son of Abû Ṣâlih Mûsâ Jangidûst bin Abi 'Abdallâh bin Yahyâ (al-)Zâhid bin Muḥammad bin Dâ'ud bin Mûsâ-aljûn bin 'Abdallâh Maḥd bin Ḥasan Muthannâ bin Imâm Ḥasan bin 'Alî Murtadâ, who consequently traced his genealogy back to 'Abdallâh Maḥd, whose father Ḥasan was the son of 'Alî's son Ḥasan, and whose mother Faṭimah was the daughter of 'Alî's son Ḥusain; he was born in Jil (i. e. Jilân or Gilân, but according to others a village distant one day's journey from Baghdâd), the 1st of Ramaḍân, A. H. 470 (or according to others 471), went, 18 years old, A. H. 488, to Baghdâd, to apply himself to the study of the Qurân, the traditions, law, and other sciences, and entered upon his preaching and teaching career A. H. 521; he died the 8th or 9th (according to others the 11th, 13th, or 17th) of Rabi'- alākhar, A. H. 561, 90 (respectively 89) years, 7 months, and 9 days old; in India the عرس or anniversary of his death is celebrated by some on the 11th, by others on the 17th of that month, in Baghdād the 17th, but the author of this work himself (Dārā Shukūh) used to celebrate it on the 9th as the most correct date of the great Shaikh's death. Among 'Abd-alkādir Jilāni's numerous works are mentioned غنية الطالبين (styled غنية لطالبي طريق الحق in Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. iv. p. 194 sq.; comp. also H. Khalfā iv. p. 338 and O. Loth, Arabic Catalogue of the India Office Library, p. 168 sq. where, besides, a collection of sermons and another of Sūfic essays are described, see below in No. 40, and a genealogy of 'Abd-alkādir, similar to the above, is given) and فتوح الغيب (see ib. iv. p. 317; H. Khalfā iv. p. 386, and O. Loth, Arabic Cat., loc. cit.), on fol. 33^a.

37. Shaikh Saif-aldin 'Abd-alwahhāb, the eldest son of 'Abd-alkādir Jilāni and his successor in the spiritual office, born in Sha'bān, A. H. 512, died at Baghdād, the 25th of Shawwāl, A. H. 603; he left two sons, Shaikh Abū Maṣṣūr 'Abd-alsalām and Shaikh Abū-alfatḥ Salmān (but see No. 63 further down), on fol. 43^a.

38. Shaikh Sharaf-aldin 'Isā, with the Kunyah Abū 'Abd-araḥmān, 'Abd-alkādir Jilāni's second son, for whom his father composed his فتوح الغيب; he is himself the author of a Sūfic work: جواهر الأسرار, and died A. H. 573 in Miṣr, on fol. 43^b.

39. Shaikh Shams-aldin 'Abd-al'aziz, with the Kunyah Abūbakra, third son of 'Abd-alkādir Jilāni, on fol. 43^b.

40. Shaikh Sirāj-aldin 'Abd-aljabbār, with the Kunyah Abū 'Abd-araḥmān and Abū-alfaraḥ, fourth son of 'Abd-alkādir Jilāni, was mufti of 'Irāq; the author of this work (Dārā Shukūh) possessed 'Abd-alkādir's collection of sermons, styled حلاء خاطر (see O. Loth, Arabic MSS., p. 169, and H. Khalfā ii. p. 605 sq.), in Sirāj-aldin's own handwriting, on fol. 43^b.

41. Shaikh Taj-aldin Abūbakra 'Abd-alrazzāk, 'Abd-alkādir's fifth son, born A. H. 528, died 6th of Shawwāl, A. H. 623; he left five sons: Shaikh Abū Ṣāliḥ Naṣr (in the following copy, Naṣr), Shaikh Abū-alkāsim 'Abd-araḥim, Shaikh Abū Muḥammad Isma'īl, Shaikh Abū-almaḥāsīn Faḍl-allāh, and Shaikh Jamāl-allāh, on fol. 44^a.

42. Shaikh Abū Ishāk Ibrāhim, sixth son of 'Abd-alkādir, died the 25th of Dhū-alka'dah, A. H. 600, on fol. 44^b.

43. Shaikh Ahū-alfadl Muḥammad, seventh son of 'Abd-alkādir, died at Baghdād the 5th (in the following copy again the 25th) of Dhū-alka'dah, A. H. 603 (so no doubt correctly in the following copy; here is given as date again A. H. 600), on fol. 44^b.

44. Shaikh Abū 'Abd-araḥmān 'Abdallāh, eighth son of 'Abd-alkādir, died the 27th of Ṣafar, A. H. 587; he left two sons: Shaikh Abū Muḥammad 'Abd-araḥmān and Shaikh Abū Muḥammad 'Abd-alkādir, on fol. 44^b.

45. Shaikh Abū Zakariyyā (so correct in the index and in the following copy; the text here has Abūbakra Zakariyyā) Yahyā, ninth son of 'Abd-alkādir, born the 6th of Rabī'-alawwal, A. H. 550, died the 14th of Sha'bān (شعب براب), A. H. 600, in Baghdād, on fol. 44^b.

46. Shaikh Abūnaṣr Mūsā, the tenth and last son of 'Abd-alkādir, born the last of Rabī'-alawwal, A. H. 539 (sic! perhaps a mistake for 559), settled in Damascus and died there the first of Jumādā-alākhar, A. H. 618, on fol. 45^a.

47. Shaikh 'Alī bin Hai'ati, a pupil of Shaikh Taj-al'arifin Abū-al'urafā (correctly in the following copy: Abū-alwafā), and both friend and disciple of 'Abd-alkādir Jilāni, died 120 years old, A. H. 564, on fol. 45^a.

48. Shaikh Abū 'Umar (or 'Amr) 'Uthmān Yaḳīnī (so in the text here; the index and the following copy have instead of يقيني some very indistinct word, which must be read, according to the Nafahāt-aluns, Ṣarighinī or Ṣarifinī), pupil of 'Abd-alkādir, without date, on fol. 45^b.

49. Shaikh Abū Sa'id Kīlū'i (كيلوي), so in the index, from قيلوي, as on fol. 46^b, l. 9, is distinctly written, the name of a place in 'Irāq; in the heading he is called فيلوي, got his investiture from 'Abd-alkādir, died A. H. 557, on fol. 46^b.

50. Shaikh Kaḍīb-albān (the following copy has the silly reading: قصب البيان) of Maṣīl, with the Kunyah Abū 'Abdallāh, a pupil of 'Abd-alkādir, died A. H. 570, on fol. 46^b.

51. Shaikh Aḥmad bin Mubārak, a pupil of 'Abd-alkādir, died A. H. 570, on fol. 47^a.

52. Shaikh Ṣaḍākah bin Ḥusain of Baghdād, with the Kunyah Abū-alfaraḥ, a friend and disciple of 'Abd-alkādir, died A. H. 573, on fol. 47^a.

53. Shaikh Baḳāi bin Buttū (بطو), in the following copy بطور Buttūr, but the former is confirmed by the Nafahāt-aluns, No. 1412, fol. 248^a), a pupil of Shaikh Abū-alwafā (No. 313), and disciple of 'Abd-alkādir, died about A. H. 553 (the following copy has 550), on fol. 47^a.

54. Shaikh Muḥammad alawānī (الرواني), known as Ibn-alkā'id (ابن القائد), so in the index, the text on fol. 47^b, last line, and in the following copy; in the heading here he is styled Ibn-alfā'iz, (ابن الفائز), a pupil of 'Abd-alkādir, on fol. 47^b.

55. Shaikh Abū-alsu'ūd bin al-Shibli, a pupil of 'Abd-alkādir, on fol. 48^a.

56. Shaikh Abū 'Umar Kuraishi, with his real name: 'Uthmān bin Marzūk bin Ḥamid bin Ṣaḍākah (in the following copy: Ṣalām), one of the great Shaikhs of Egypt, was a Hanbalite and pupil of 'Abd-alkādir, died more than 70 years old, A. H. 564, and was buried by the side of Imām Shāfi'i's tomb in Miṣr, on fol. 48^a.

57. Shaikh Muwaffik-aldin almakdisi, with his real name: 'Abdallāh bin Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin Kudāmāh al-Hanbali, a pupil of 'Abd-alkādir and author of many works, maḳāmas, etc., died A. H. 620, on fol. 48^a.

58. Shaikh Muḥammad bin Aḥmad aljuwainī (الجويني), read الجويني, a pupil of Shaikh 'Abdallāh Yahyā (Butā'ih, بطائح, in the following copy), who was himself a pupil of 'Abd-alkādir, died A. H. 650 (according to the following copy, A. H. 558 or 658), on fol. 48^a.

59. Shaikh Abū-Madin Maghribi, with his real name: Shu'aib bin Ḥusain (or Hasan), a pupil of Shaikh Abū-algbazālī Maghribi and spiritual guide of the immediately following Shaikh Muhyi-aldin Ibn 'Arabi, one of the great Shaikhs of Maghrib, died A. H. 590, on fol. 48^b.

60. Shaikh Muḥyī-aldin Ibn 'Arabi, with his real name: Muḥammad bin 'Alī bin 'Arabi, got his investiture, according to the best traditions, from Shaikh Abū Muḥammad Yūnus alqaṣṣār alhāshimī, 'Abd-alkādir's pupil; he was initiated into Sūfism, according to his own statement in his work, كتاب الجلال (in the following copy, كتاب الملايس), by Abū-alḥasan 'Alī bin 'Abdallāh bin Jāmi', and was a friend of Shihāb-aldin Suhrawardi (No. 148); born in Spain (بلاد اندلس), the 17th of Ramaḍān, A. H. 560 (a Monday), died in the night before Friday, the 22nd of Rabi'-alākhar, A. H. 638, at Damascus, on fol. 48^b.

61. Shaikh Ṣadr-aldin Muḥammad bin Ishāq Kūnawī (or Kūniyawi, i. e. of Konia or Iconium), with the Kunyah Abū-alma'ālī, the greatest of Muḥyī-aldin Ibn 'Arabi's pupils, and the teacher of Maulānā Kutb-aldin 'Allāmah in the science of tradition; he was a special friend of Jalāl-aldin Rūmī, the great mystic poet, who died before him, on fol. 49^a.

62. Inām 'Abdallāh bin As'ad Yāfi', with the Kunyah Abū-alsā'ādāt and the Laqab 'Afif-aldin; he was originally of Yaman and dwelt always in the two holy cities, was a Shāfi'ite and a disciple of 'Abd-alkādir in the second or third line; his investiture he got first from Shaikh Maṣ'ūd Ḥāwī (in the following copy: Jādīb, جادب), and later on from Shaikh Abū-alḥasan Nūr-aldin 'Alī bin 'Abdallāh Yamanī Tawāshī (طواشي). In most of his publications, see above, Nos. 642 and 643 in this Cat., viz. the تاريخ يافعي (i. e. the روض روض الرباحين, the تكمله, (مرآة الجنان), and the نشر المحاسن, he relates episodes from 'Abd-alkādir Jilānī's life and miracles worked by him. He died the 21st of Jumādā-alākhar, A. H. 768 (in the following copy: 760), on fol. 49^a.

63. Makhdūm Shaikh 'Abd-alkādir II, a descendant of the great 'Abd-alkādir Jilānī in the eighth generation; his father was Shaikh Muḥammad bin Sayyid Sāmīr (سامير), in the following copy: Shāh Mir شاه مير bin Sayyid 'Alī bin Sayyid Maṣ'ūd bin Sayyid Aḥmad bin Sayyid Saif-aldin 'Abd-alwahrāb bin Sayyid alsādāt Sayyid 'Abd-alkādir Jilānī (comp. No. 37 above, where, however, no son of Sayyid Saif-aldin 'Abd-alwahrāb with the name of Aḥmad is mentioned; in the following copy there is inserted between Sayyid Aḥmad and Sayyid Saif-aldin a Sayyid Ṣafar-aldin, which might be the honorary epithet of one of Saif-aldin's sons). He lived at last at Uch or Ūch in Multān and is reckoned among the greatest Shaikhs of India; he died 78 (in the following copy 77) years old, the 18th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 940, and left two sons, Shaikh 'Abd-alrazzāk (died the 5th of Jumādā-alākhar, A. H. 942) and Sayyid Zain-al'ābidin; the latter died before his father and left a son, Sayyid Muḥammad, descendants of whom were still in existence at the time of this book's composition. 'Abd-alrazzāk's son, Shaikh Ḥāmid (in the following copy: چاند), was his father's successor in the headship of the order, and Shaikh Ḥāmid's son, Shaikh Jamāl-aldin Abū-alḥasan, died the 29th of Dhū-alḥaḍah, A. H. 978, on fol. 49^b.

64. Shaikh 'Abdallāh بهتھی, or, according to the following copy, بهتھی (from بتهه or بهته a place in the district of Dihli), a descendant of 'Abd-alkādir Jilānī in the 13th generation; and son of Sayyid 'Umar bin Sayyid Ḥasan (or Ḥusain) Ḥanbali; he came in his 15th year from Baghdād to India, and died more than 100 years old, the 10th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1037, on fol. 49^b.

65. Ḥaḍrat Shaikh Mir Muḥammad, known as Miyāu Mir or Miyānjiw, a descendant of the Khalīf 'Umar, born at Siwastān (سیوستان), A. H. 957 (not 938, as Rieu states i. p. 358), lived more than 60 years in Lāhūr, and died there, 88 years old, A. H. 1045, the 7th of Rabi'-alawwal. Dātā Shukūh has given a full account of the life and deeds of this Indian saint and of his chief disciples in a special work of his, the سکنه الارلیا (see Rieu i. pp. 357 and 358). Among his pupils are mentioned: Ḥājī Nīmat-allāh Sirhindī, Shaikh Tanbā, Shaikh Isma'īl, Mullā Khwājah Kalān, Miyān Ḥāmid, Mullā 'Abd-alghafūr Dāuīshmaud, Ḥājī Šālīḥ (all deceased at the time of this book's composition), Mullā Shāh, Mullā Khwājah Bihārī, Shaikh Muḥammad Lāhūrī, Shaikh Aḥmad Sunāmī, Shaikh Aḥmad Dihlawi, etc., on fol. 50^a.

III. Shaikhs of the Naqshbandī order (formerly Taifūrī, see fol. 52^b, l. 3, and fol. 59^b, l. 3 ab infra; both in the heading and index simply styled Salsalu-i-sharif-i-Khwājagān).

66. Shaikh Abū Yazid (commonly called Bāyazīd) Bisṭāmī with the honorary title of Sulṭān-al'arīfīn, whose real name was Taifūr bin 'Isā bin Ādam bin Sarūshān (سروشان). His grandfather was a Parsee, who was converted to Islamism. This founder of the Taifūrī order died the 15th of Shabān, A. H. 261 (according to others 264; the date given by Jāmi, viz. 204, or 234 as the following copy has, see the Majma'-alauliā, fith bāb, is a clerical error), on fol. 52^a.

67. Shaikh Abū-alḥasan Kharakānī (Kharakān is a place near Kazwīn), with his real name: 'Alī bin Ja'far, a disciple of the preceding Shaikh, but born a considerable time after Bāyazīd's death. He died the 10th of Muḥarram, A. H. 425, on fol. 52^b.

68. Shaikh Abū 'Alī Rūdbārī (Rūdbār is in the province of Tūs), whose father was Muḥammad bin Kāsim bin Maṣ'ūr, a descendant of the old Sāsānian kings; he was a pupil of Shaikh Junaid Baghdādī (see No. 29) and died A. H. 322 in Miṣr, on fol. 52^b.

101. Khwājah Abū Ishāk Shāmi, pupil of the preceding Shaikh, died the 14th of Rabi'-alākhar (year omitted), on fol. 62^a.

102. Khwājah Abū Aḥmad Abdāl Cīstī, the real founder of the Cīstī order, who, like Ibrāhīm Adham, renounced a princely position and became a follower of Abū Ishāk Shāmi, born A. H. 260, died the 10th of Jumādā-alawwal or Jumādā-alākhar, A. H. 355 (350 in the following copy), and was buried in Cīstī, on fol. 62^a.

103. Khwājah Muḥammad Cīstī, son and pupil of the preceding Shaikh, said to have greatly contributed by his sanctity and good counsel to the conquest of Sūmanāt by Maḥmūd of Ghazna, whom he accompanied, 70 years old, on that expedition; he died the 1st of Rajab, A. H. 411, and was buried in Cīstī, on fol. 62^b.

104. Khwājah Yūsuf bin Muḥammad Sim'ān (سمعان, in the heading سمون) the Syrian, with the Laqab Naṣīr-aldin, a nephew of the preceding Shaikh by sister's side, born in Cīstī, died the 4th of Rabi'-alākhar, A. H. 459, 84 years old; he appointed as his spiritual successor his eldest son, Khwājah Kuṭb-aldin Maudūd (see the following Shaikh), on fol. 62^b.

105. Khwājah Kuṭb-aldin Maudūd Cīstī, who knew in his seventh year the whole Qur'ān by heart; his father died when he was 26 years old, and then he assumed the spiritual leadership, but placed himself nevertheless for some time under the tuition of the Shaikh-alislām Shaikh Aḥmad-i-Jām (No. 308) in Harāt; he died the 1st of Rajab, A. H. 527, on fol. 62^b.

106. Khwājah Aḥmad bin Maudūd bin Yūsuf Cīstī, pupil of his father, made the pilgrimage and lived six months in Madinah as Jār-allāh; after his return he went to Baghdād and visited Shaikh Shihāb-aldin Suhrawardī (No. 148); he was born A. H. 500, and died A. H. 577 (so correctly according to the following copy), on fol. 63^a.

107. Shāh-i-Sanjān, with the epithet Rukn-aldin and his real name Maḥmūd, originally of Sanjān near Khwāf, a pupil of Khwājah Maudūd Cīstī, died A. H. 597, on fol. 63^b.

108. Khwājah Ḥājī Sharīf Zandani, a pupil of the same Maudūd, between whom and the subordinate order or silsilah of Khwājah Mu'in-aldin Cīstī he forms the connecting link; died the 6th of Rajab (year omitted), on fol. 63^b.

109. Shaikh 'Uthmān of Hārūn (near Nishāpūr), pupil of the preceding Shaikh, died the 16th of Shawwāl (year omitted), on fol. 63^b.

110. Khwājah Mu'in-aldin Sijzi Cīstī, born in Sijistān, but brought up in Khurāsān, son of Khwājah Ghiyāth-aldin Ḥasan (Ḥusain in the following copy), pupil of the preceding Shaikh, and head of the Cīstī order in Hindūstān; when he had renounced worldly aspirations, he travelled to Samarkand and Bukhārā, and thence to the 'Irāk-i-'Arab; in Hārūn he put himself under Shaikh 'Uthmān's tuition and remained 20 years with him. He afterwards visited for a longer time Shaikh 'Abd-alkādir Jilānī (No. 36), Shaikh Najm-aldin Kubrā (No. 124), Khwājah Yūsuf Hamadānī (No. 73), Shaikh Abū Sa'īd Tabrizi and Shaikh Husain Zanjānī in Lāhūr; from Lāhūr he went to Dihli and at last to Ajmīr, where he settled for the remainder of his life. He was born A. H. 537 and died in Ajmīr the 6th of Rajab (according to others the 3rd or, as the following copy reads, the 9th of Dhū-alḥijjah), A. H. 633. The statement therefore, made here on fol. 65^a, first line, and in the following copy too, that he lived 104 years (تکصد و چهار سال) is wrong; it ought to be 100 years less 4. The author of this work, prince Dārā Shukuh, remarks incidentally at the end of Mu'in-aldin's biography, that he himself was born in Ajmīr, the last of Ṣafar, in the middle of the night, A. H. 1024, when his mother was 24 years old, as the first son after three daughters, on fol. 64^a.

111. Shaikh Ḥamid-aldin al-ūfi al-ṣafīd al-nagūri, with the Kunyah Abū Aḥmad and the epithet Sulṭān-altārikin (or, according to the following copy, Sulṭān-alsalikin), one of the great spiritual successors of the preceding Shaikh. He exchanged a series of letters (مراسلات) on the Sūfī topics of فقر and غنا with Shaikh Bahā-aldin Zakariyyā Multānī (No. 152), and died the 29th of Rabi'-alākhar, A. H. 673, in Nagūr, on fol. 65^a.

112. Khwājah Kuṭb-aldin Ūshī Kākī, with his real name: Bakhtiyār bin Aḥmad bin Mūsā, born in Ūsh, near Farghāna; he was a pupil of Khwājah Mu'in-aldin Cīstī (No. 110), went later on to Baghdād, to enjoy Shaikh Shihāb-aldin Suhrawardī's (No. 148) tuition, and proceeded at last to Multān, where he became attached to Shaikh Bahā-aldin Zakariyyā Multānī. Shaikh Farid-aldin Ganj-i-shakar (No. 113) became his pupil there. The last years of his life he spent in Dihli and in Ajmīr in intimate friendship with Mu'in-aldin Cīstī, and died in the same year as his spiritual teacher and friend, viz. A. H. 633, the 14th of Rabi'-alawwal; he was buried in Dihli; on fol. 65^a.

113. Shaikh Farid-aldin Ganj-i-shakar, the pupil and spiritual successor of the preceding Shaikh, with his real name: Mas'ūd bin 'Aziz-aldin ('Izz-aldin in the following copy) Maḥmūd, a descendant of the Khāṭīf 'Umar on his father's side; his mother was the daughter of Maulānā Wajih-aldin Khujandi; he was born in کهرول وال, a village near Multān, and died 95 years old, A. H. 664, the 5th of Muḥarram; he was buried in Patan (i. e. Pākpatan or Ajwadhan, see Rieu i. p. 41^b, footnote), half-way between Multān and Lāhūr, on fol. 66^b.

114. Shaikh Nizām-al-dīn Auliya, with his real name: Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin Dāniyāl Badā'ūni and the epithet سلطان المشايخ, pupil and successor of the preceding Shaikh; he was born A. H. 636, and died the 18th of Rabi'-alākhar, A. H. 725. The most renowned of his disciples are the following four: Amir Khusrau (No. 115), Shaikh Naṣir-al-dīn Ġirāgh (No. 116), Shaikh Burhān-al-dīn Gharīb (No. 117), and Shaikh Ḥasan Dihlawī, on fol. 67^a.

115. Amir Khusrau of Dihli, of the princely family of Hazārah and of Turkish descent, the greatest Persian poet of India, born in Mu'minābād, died A. H. 725, shortly after his spiritual teacher's death, which affected him very deeply, on fol. 67^b.

116. Shaikh Naṣir (in the text Naṣr)-al-dīn Ġirāgh of Dihli, with his real name: Maḥmūd (in the following copy: Muḥammad); he became Nizām-al-dīn Auliya's pupil when he was 40 years old, and died the 18th of Ramaḍān, A. H. 757, on fol. 68^b.

117. Shaikh Burhān-al-dīn Gharīb, the third disciple of Nizām-al-dīn Auliya, without date of birth or death, on fol. 69^a.

118. Shaikh 'Abd-alkuddūs (or alkaddūs, see the Bodleian Cat., No. 1275) of Gangū, near Dihli, a pupil of Shaikh Muḥammad bin Shaikh 'Ārif bin Shaikh Aḥmad 'Abd-allaḥk (Shaikh Muḥammad was the pupil of his father 'Ārif, 'Ārif that of his father Aḥmad 'Abd-allaḥk; the last mentioned was the pupil of Shaikh Jalāl of Pānīpat, the pupil of Shaikh Shams-al-dīn Turk of Pānīpat, the pupil of Shaikh 'Āli Šābir, the pupil of Farīd-al-dīn Ganj-i-shakar, No. 113, see fol. 69^b); he had many sons, among whom Shaikh Rukn-al-dīn gained the highest reputation as derwish, and died A. H. 945, in Gangū, on fol. 69^a.

119. Shaikh Jalāl Thānisari, son of Kādi Maḥmūd, originally of Balkh, and pupil of the preceding Shaikh, died 96 years old, the 25th of Dhū-alḥijjah, A. H. 989, on fol. 69^b.

V. Shaikhs of the Kubrawī order.

120. Shaikh Abūbākr bin 'Abdallāh Nassāj (نَسَاج), originally of Tūs, a pupil of Shaikh Abū-alkāsim Gurgāni (see No. 71), and a contemporary and friend of Abūbākr Dinawari, on fol. 70^a.

121. Shaikh Aḥmad Ghazālī, originally of Tūs, pupil of the preceding Shaikh and brother of the famous Ḥujjat-alislām Imām Muḥammad Ghazālī, died A. H. 517, and was buried at Kāzwin, on fol. 70^a.

122. Shaikh Abū-alnajib Suhrawardi, with his real name 'Abd-alkāhīr (in the following copy: 'Aḍud-alkāhīr) and the honorary title of Diyā-al-dīn, a descendant of the Khalīf Abūbākr in the 13th generation, and disciple both of Aḥmad Ghazālī and of his uncle Shaikh Wajīb-al-dīn (No. 147); he died in the night of the 12th of Jumādā-alākhar, A. H. 563, and was buried at Baghdād, on fol. 70^a.

123. Shaikh 'Ammār-i-Yāsir (ياسر, or Yāsir ياسير), as he is styled on fol. 71^a, line 7), a pupil of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 70^b.

124. Shaikh Najm-al-dīn Kubrā, with his real name: Aḥmad bin 'Umar alkiwaḳi, and the Kunyah Abū-aljanāb (in the following copy: جنان), disciple both of 'Ammār-i-Yāsir, who traced his doctrines back to Abū-alkāsim Gurgāni, and of Shaikh Isma'il Kaṣṣari. The latter got his investiture from Muḥammad bin Mālkīl (here مَانَكَبَل, but مالَكَبَل is confirmed by a marginal gloss in the Nafahāt-aluns, No. 1412, fol. 198^a, line 9), who was connected with the prophet by the following line of Shaikhs: Muḥammad bin Dā'ūd, Abū-al-abbās Idrīs, Abū-alkāsim bin Ramaḍān, Abū Ya'kūb (Tabari, as the Nafahāt-aluns add), Abū 'Abdallāh bin 'Uthmān, Abū Ya'kūb (Ya'kūb in the Nafahāt-aluns) Nahrjuri, Abū Ya'kūb Sū-i, 'Abd-alwāḥid bin Zaid, Kumail bin Ziyād, 'Alī bin Abū Tālib, the fourth Khalīf. Shaikh Najm-al-dīn died the 10th of Jumādā-alawwal, A. H. 618, the year when Hūlāgū entered Khwārizm, more than 60 years old; his chief companions and disciples were, besides the five immediately following Shaikhs, Bābā Kamāl Khujandi (or according to the Nafahāt-aluns, Jaudi), Shaikh Jamāl-al-dīn Kālī (کَلِي), and according to some, also Maulānā Bahā-al-dīn Walad, the father of Jalāl-al-dīn Rūmī (No. 136), on fol. 70^b.

125. Shaikh Majd-al-dīn (in the following copy: Majid-al-dīn) Baghdādī, with his real name: Sharaf (in the following copy: Sharif) bin al-Mu'ayyad bin Abū-alfath, and the Kunyah Abū Sa'id, pupil of the preceding Najm-al-dīn Kubrā, died A. H. 607 or, according to others, 616, and was buried in Asfārā'im, on fol. 71^b.

126. Shaikh Sa'd-al-dīn Hummū'i, with his real name: Muḥammad bin Mu'ayyad bin Abibākr bin alḥasan (Abi-alḥasan according to the Nafahāt-aluns), another pupil of Najm-al-dīn Kubrā, died 63 years old, A. H. 650, the 10th of Dhū-alḥijjah (عيد الفصحى), and was buried in Baḥrābād in Khurāsān, on fol. 71^b.

127. Shaikh Saif-al-dīn Bākhari, also pupil of Najm-al-dīn Kubrā, died 73 (in the following copy 70) years old, A. H. 658, and was buried in Bukhārā, on fol. 71^b.

128. Shaikh Najm-al-dīn Rāzi, known as Dāya, pupil of the same Najm-al-dīn Kubrā, and author of many works, for instance, the تفسير بحر الدقائق, died A. H. 654, and was buried at Baghdād, on fol. 72^a.

129. Shaikh Raḍi-al-dīn 'Alī Lālā, with his real name: 'Alī bin Sa'id bin 'Abd-aljahl Lālā of Ghazna, pupil of Najm-al-dīn Kubrā; he made among other journeys one to India, and died the 3rd of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 642, and was buried at Ghazna, on fol. 72^a.

130. Shaikh Jamāl-al-dīn Aḥmad Jūrfāni (جورفاني), so further down and in the following copy as well as in the Nafahāt-aluns, No. 1412, fol. 207^a, l. 6; here Jūr-kāni, (جورقاني), a pupil of the preceding Shaikh, died end of Rabi'-alākhar, A. H. 669, on fol. 72^b.

131. Shaikh Nūr-al-dīn 'Abd-alraḥmān of Asfārā'in or rather of Kasirk (کَسِرَن), a dependency of that town, a pupil of the preceding Shaikh, born in Shawwāl, A. H. 639, died the 14th of Jumādā-alawwal, A. H. 700, buried in Baghdād, on fol. 72^b.

132. Shaikh Rukn-al-dīn 'Alā-aldaulah Simnāni, with his real name: Aḥmad bin Muḥammad bin Abānki of the greatest pupils and spiritual successors of Shihâb-aldin Suhrawardî, born A. H. 566, died the 7th of Safar, A. H. 666, 100 years old; he is buried in Multân, on fol. 77^a (the headings of Nos. 150-152 are in great confusion in the text, but both the index and the following copy enable the correction of the text).

153. Shaikh Fakhr-aldin 'Irâkî, pupil of the preceding Shaikh, well known as author of a diwân and of the لمعات; he was originally of Hamadân and died the 8th of Dhû-alka'dah, A. H. 688 (read in the text here, as well as in the following copy, ششم instead of هشتصد), 82 years old; he was buried in Damascus, on fol. 77^b.

154. Amîr Husaini Sâdât, with his real name: Husain bin 'Âlim bin Abi-alhusain, originally of Ghûr, author of the كنز الرموز, زاد المسافرين, نزهة گلشن راز, and the questions put in Shabistari's الارواح; he was a pupil of Shaikh Bahâ-aldin Zakariyyâ Multânî (No. 152), and died in Harât the 10th (18th in the following copy) of Shawwâl, A. H. 718, on fol. 78^a.

155. Shaikh Šadr-aldin Muḥammad, with the Kunyah Abû-alna'â'im (أبو النعائم), son, pupil, and spiritual successor of his father Bahâ-aldin (No. 152), died the 23rd of Dhû-alhijjah, A. H. 684, and was buried in Multân by the side of his father, on fol. 78^a.

156. Shaikh Rukn-aldin, with the Kunyah Abû-alfath and the epithet Faql-allâh, son, pupil, and spiritual successor of the preceding Shaikh Šadr-aldin; he filled his holy office 52 years, and died the 9th of Jumâdâ-alawwal, A. H. 735, 88 years old; he was buried by his father's and grandfather's side, on fol. 78^a.

157. Ḥadrat Makhdûm-i-Jahâniyân, i. e. Sayyid Jalâl Bukhârî (see the Siyar-al'arifin, No. 13), whose grandfather, Sayyid Jalâl Bukhârî Surkh (سرخ), was the first of this order who went from Bukhârâ to India and became a pupil of Shaikh Bahâ-aldin Zakariyyâ Multânî (No. 152); he had three sons, viz. Sayyid Ahmad Kabir, Sayyid Bahâ-aldin, and Sayyid Muḥammad; the eldest of these had again two sons: Makhdûm-i-Jahâniyân Sayyid Jalâl and Sayyid Râjû Kattâl. Makhdûm-i-Jahâniyân received his spiritual tuition both from his father and from Shaikh Rukn-aldin bin Shaikh Šadr-aldin bin Shaikh Bahâ-aldin Zakariyyâ Multânî (No. 156); in Makkah he formed a sincere friendship with the Imâm 'Abdallâh Yâfi'î (No. 62), and after his return to India he became in Dihli closely associated with Shaikh Našir-aldin Ġirâgh of Dihli (No. 116) and finally a member of the Ġishti order. He was born the 14th of Sha'bân (جمعة براءت), A. H. 707, and died the 10th of Dhû-alhijjah (عيد الضحى), A. H. 785, 78 years, 3 months, and 26 days old, on fol. 78^b.

VII. Shaikhs who had little or no connection with any of the before-mentioned orders (منابع متفرقة).

160. Mâlik-i-Dinâr, one of the Tubbâ-i-Tâbi'in, friend of Ḥasan Bašrî (No. 19); his surname is explained in the following miraculous way: when once on a voyage, the crew of the ship demanded passenger-money from him, and beat him several times in consequence of his declaration that he had none; at last a number of fishes appeared, each with a dinâr or gold piece in its mouth; Mâlik-i-Dinâr took one and paid therewith his passage; the crew worshipped him as a saint, but he stepped out upon the sea and walked over the waves; he died A. H. 137, on fol. 80^a.

161. Shaikh Ḥabîb-i-'ajami ('Umar, as the following copy adds), with the Kunyah Abû Muḥammad, a native of Fârs and pupil of Ḥasan Bašrî, died A. H. 156 and was buried in Bašrah, on fol. 80^b.

162. Sufyân Thaurî, son of Sa'îd Kûfi, with the Kunyah Abû 'Abdallâh, died in Bašrah the 3rd of Sha'bân, A. H. 161 or 162, 63 years old, on fol. 80^b.

163. Dâ'ûd bin Našr Tâ'i, with the Kunyah Abû Sulaimân (in the following copy Abû Salmân), disciple of Abû Ḥanifah of Kûfah (No. 21), pupil of Ḥabîb Râ'i (comp. No. 27), and friend of Fuḍail bin 'Iyâd (No. 96) and Ibrâhîm Adham (No. 97), died A. H. 162 or 165 and was buried in Baghdâd, on fol. 81^a.

164. 'Atabah bin al-Ghulâm (in the following copy bin Salâm, in the Haft Iklim, No. 49, fol. 67^b ibn-al'allâm, ابن العلم), son of Âbân bin Jum'ah, one of the Tubbâ-i-Tâbi'in and pupil of Shaikh Ḥasan Bašrî, died A. H. 160 (167 in the following copy), on fol. 81^b.

165. Imâm 'Abdallâh bin Mulârak, a disciple of the Imâm-i-a'zam, i. e. Abû Ḥanifah, and contemporary with Sufyân Thaurî (No. 162) and Fuḍail bin 'Iyâd (No. 96); he was born A. H. 118 and died in Ramaḍân, A. H. 181, on fol. 81^b.

166. Muḥammad bin Šabîḥ (صبح), in the following copy Šubhî, صبح, known as Ibn Sammâk (سمك according to a marginal gloss in the Nafahât-aluns, No. 1412, fol. 34^b), with the Kunyah Abû-alabbâs, friend of Sufyân Thaurî, died A. H. 183, on fol. 82^a.

167. Shaikh Shaḳîḳ bin Ibrâhîm Balkhî, with the Kunyah Abû 'Alî, a Hanafite, friend of Ibrâhîm Adham and personally acquainted with the seventh Imâm Mûsâ Kâzîm (No. 11), died as martyr, A. H. 194, on fol. 82^a.

168. Yûsuf-i-Ašbât, who inherited 70,000 dirhems and gave all of them to the poor, died A. H. 196, on fol. 82^b.

169. Abû Sulaimân (Abû Salmân in the following copy) Dârânî, with his real name: 'Abd-alrahmân bin Ahmad bin 'Atiyyah, one of the great Shaikhs of Syria (Dârân is a village near Damascus); he died A. H. 215 and was buried in Dârân, on fol. 82^b.

170. Fath bin 'Ali of Mauṣil, died the 10th of Dhū-alḥijjah (عيد الفصحى), A. H. 220, on fol. 82^b.

171. Bashar Ḥāfi, son of Ḥārith bin 'Abd-alraḥmān bin 'Aṭā bin Ḥamān bin 'Abdallāh, with the Kunyah Abū Naṣr, friend of Aḥmad Hanbal (No. 24) and Fudail biu 'Iyād (No. 96), born in Baghdād A. H. 150, died the 10th of Muḥarram, A. H. 227, and was buried outside the town of Baghdād, on fol. 83^a.

172. Aḥmad bin Abi-alḥawāri (الحواري), so to be read instead of الجواري both in the text here and in the following copy, according to fol. 90^a, l. 7, and the Nafahāt-aluns), with the Kunyah Abū-alḥasan, originally of Damascus, pupil of Abū Sulaimān Dārānī (No. 169), died A. H. 230, on fol. 83^a.

173. Ḥātim bin 'Unwān (عنوان, so correctly in the Nafahāt-aluns; here and in the following copy عفوان) alasmam (the deaf one), with the Kunyah Abū 'Abd-alraḥmān, originally of Balkh, pupil of Shaikh Shaḥīk Balkhī (No. 167) and a Ḥanafite, died A. H. 237, on fol. 83^b.

174. Shaikh Aḥmad bin Khidrawaih, with the Kunyah Abū Ḥamid (in the following copy Abū 'Ābid), originally of Balkh, pupil of the preceding Shaikh; he was personally acquainted with Ibrāhīm Adham, Shaikh Bāyazīd Bisṭāmī (No. 66), Abū Turāb Bakhshī (who died, according to the Nafahāt-aluns, A. H. 245, in the same year as Dhū-alnūn Miṣri), and Abū Ḥafṣ Ḥaddād (No. 184); he died A. H. 240, 95 years old, and was buried in Balkh, on fol. 83^b.

175. Shaikh Abū-al'abbās Ḥamzah bin Muḥammad of Harāt, died A. H. 241, on fol. 84^a.

176. Shaikh Ḥārith (in the following copy 'Āris, عارس) bin Asad Muḥāsabi, with the Kunyah Abū 'Abdallāh, of Baṣrah, died in Baghdād, A. H. 243, on fol. 84^a.

177. Ḥadrat Shaikh Dhū-alnūn Miṣri, with his real name: Tūbān (here ثوبان) bin Ibrāhīm, and the Kunyah Abū-alfaiḍ, a follower of the Imām Mālik (No. 22), and a pupil of Isrāfil, died the 26th of Sha'bān, A. H. 245 (so correctly in the following copy), on fol. 84^a.

178. Abū Turāb Nakhshabi, with his real name: 'Askar bin alḥaṣin (بن الحصين), or according to others: 'Askar bin Muḥammad bin alḥaṣin (the following copy reads alḥusain), a great Shaikh of Khurāsān, contemporary and friend of Abū Ḥātim 'Attār Baṣri and Ḥātim alasmam (No. 173), died the 17th of Jumādā-alawwal, A. H. 245, on fol. 85^a.

179. Ibrāhīm bin 'Isā, of Isfahān, was in friendly intercourse with Ma'rūf Karkhī (No. 27), died in Isfahān, A. H. 247, on fol. 85^a.

180. Zakariyyā bin Yahyā alharawī, praised by the Imām Ḥanbal (No. 24), died in Harāt in the month Rajab, A. H. 255, on fol. 85^a.

182. Muḥammad bin 'Ali Ḥakim altirmidhī, with the Kunyah Abū 'Abdallāh, founder of the طريفة حكيمة, died A. H. 255; he is called one of the special friends (از خواص باران) of the Imām-i-a'zam, i. e. Abū Ḥanifah (No. 21); but this can scarcely be taken in the literal sense of the word, as Abū Ḥanifah died

A. H. 150; a great stress is also laid upon his continual intercourse with the prophet Khidr, on fol. 85^b.

183. Yahyā bin Ma'adh Rāzi, with the Kunyah Abū Zakariyyā and the Laḳab Wā'iz, died A. H. 258, and was buried in Nishāpūr, on fol. 86^a.

184. Abū Ḥafṣ Ḥaddād, with his real name: 'Amr bin Salamah (عمرو بن سلمة), of Nishāpūr, pupil of Abū 'Abdallāh Bāwardī (باوردي), teacher of Abū 'Uthmān Hiri (No. 205), and contemporary with Junaid (No. 29), died A. H. 264 or 265, on fol. 86^b.

185. Shaikh 'Ali bin Muwaffaq Baghdādi, who had met with Dhū-alnūn Miṣri (No. 177), and performed the pilgrimage seventy times, died A. H. 265, and was buried in Harāt, on fol. 86^b.

186. Aḥmad bin Wahab, with the Kunyah Abū Ja'far, died A. H. 270, on fol. 87^a.

187. Shāh Shujā' Kirmāni, with the Kunyah Abū-alfawāris, of royal descent, and pupil of Abū-alḥafṣ Ḥaddād (No. 184); he was a friend of Abū Turāb Nakhshabi (No. 178), Abū Dharrā' Baṣri, Abū 'Ubaid Baṣri, etc., and died after A. H. 270, on fol. 87^a.

188. Shaikh Ḥamdūn Kaṣṣār, with the Kunyah Abū Ṣāliḥ, son of 'Umārāh (in the following copy 'Imād); he founded the طريفة قصارى, was a follower of Sufyān Thauri (No. 162), and a friend of Abū Turāb Nakhshabi (No. 178), 'Ali Kaṣrābādi (read Naṣrābādi or Naṣirābādi), and Abū Ḥafṣ (No. 184), and died A. H. 271, on fol. 87^a.

189. Fath bin Shakhraf (شخرف), with the Kunyah Abū Naṣr, born in Marw, died the 15th of Sha'bān, A. H. 273, on fol. 87^b.

190. Shaikh Abū 'Abdallāh (in the following copy Abū Muḥammad) Mukhtār, son of Muḥammad bin Aḥmad, born in Harāt; he was the Pir of Shaikh Abū-al'ali bin Mukhtār al'alawi alḥusaini (alsakhi in the following copy), and died in Harāt, A. H. 277, on fol. 87^b.

191. Abū 'Abdallāh Maghribī, with his real name: Muḥammad bin Isma'il, the spiritual guide of Ibrāhīm Khawwāṣ (No. 199) and Ibrāhīm bin Shaibān Kirmānshāhi (No. 232), and the pupil of Abū-alḥasan (Abū-alḥusain in the following copy) 'Ali Zarzin, who was himself a disciple of Khwājāh 'Abd-alwāhid Zaid (No. 95), whose teacher Shaikh Ḥasan Baṣri (No. 19) had been; he died, 122 years old, A. H. 279, on fol. 87^b.

192. Shaikh Abū 'Abdallāh Khāḳān alshūfi, of Baghdād, died A. H. 279, on fol. 88^a.

193. Sahl (in the following copy Suhail) bin 'Abdallāh Tustari, with the Kunyah Abū Muḥammad, a Ḥanafite, pupil of Dhū-alnūn Miṣri (No. 177), died in Muḥarram, A. H. 283, 80 years old, on fol. 88^a.

194. Abū Sa'id Kharrāz, with his real name: Aḥmad bin 'Isā, born in Baghdād, and founder of the طريفة خزازت; he was a pupil of Muḥammad bin Maṣṣūr Ṭusi, and friend of Dhū-alnūn Miṣri (No. 177), Sari Saḳāṭi (No. 28), Bashar Ḥāfi (No. 171), and others, and died at Makkah, A. H. 286 (according to others 285 or 287), on fol. 88^b.

195. 'Abbās bin Ḥamzah Nishāpūri, with the Kunyah Abū-alfadl, friend of Dhū-alnūn Miṣri and Bāyazīd Bisṭāmī (No. 66), died in Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 287 (288 in the following copy), on fol. 89^a.

196. Abū Ḥamzah Baghdādi, with his real name:

Muhammad bin Ibrāhīm, friend of Bashār Hāfi, Sarī Saḳaṭī, and Abū Turāb Nakhshabī (No. 178), pupil of Hārith Muḥāsabī (No. 176), and contemporary with Abū-alḥusain (in No. 201 and in the following copy Abū-alḥasan) Nūri and Khair alnassāj (No. 221), died A. H. 289, on fol. 89^a.

197. Abū Hamzah Khurāsāni, born in Nishāpūr, friend of Abū Turāb Nakhshabī and Abū Saʿid Kharrāz (No. 194), and contemporary with Shaikh Junaid (No. 29), died A. H. 290, on fol. 89^a.

198. Shaikh Abūbākr Daḳḳāk, with his real name: Muḥammad bin ʿAbdallāh, contemporary with Abū-alḥusain Nūri and Abū Hamzah Khurāsāni, died A. H. 290, on fol. 89^b.

199. Ibrāhīm alkhawwāṣ, with the Kunyah Abū Ishāk, of Baghdād, belonging to the same group of friends and contemporaries as the previous Shaikhs; he died A. H. 291, and the statement of a conversation between him and Abū-alḥasan Kharakāni who died A. H. 425 (No. 67) must needs be wrong, unless a mere spiritual intercourse is meant, on fol. 89^b.

200. Zakariyyā bin Dulūya (دلویه), with the Kunyah Abū Yahyā, of Nishāpūr, died A. H. 294, on fol. 90^a.

201. Abū-alḥasau (according to Nos. 196, 198, and 222, and the Nafahāt-aluns: Abū-alḥusain) Nūri, with his real name: Aḥmad bin Muḥammad or Muḥammad bin Muḥammad, known as Ibn Baghawī, his father having been a native of Baghshūr between Harāt and Marw (see on Baghshūr, also called Bagh, with the nisbah Baghawī, Barbier de Meynard's Dictionnaire géographique etc., p. 109); he was born and brought up at Baghdād, pupil of Sarī Saḳaṭī, friend of Muḥammad bin ʿAlī Kaṣṣāb and Aḥmad bin (Abī) alḥawārī (No. 172), and contemporary with Shaikh Junaid and Dhū-alnūn Miṣri; the Shaikhs of his time gave him the honorary epithet of أمير القلوب or prince of hearts; he instituted the طريقه نوریه, and died A. H. 295 (others fix, less correctly, his death in A. H. 286), on fol. 90^a.

202. Shaikh ʿAmr (in the following copy ʿUmar) bin ʿUthmān Makki Šūfi, with the Kunyah Abū ʿAbdallāh, pupil of Junaid, and teacher of Ḥusain bin Manṣūr Hallāj (No. 211), died in Baghdād, A. H. 296 (according to others, A. H. 291 or most likely 297, the same year in which Junaid died), on fol. 90^b.

203. Abū ʿUthmān Wāʿiz, with his real name: Saʿid bin Ismaʿil bin (Saʿid bin) Manṣūr, born and brought up in Rai, lived afterwards in Nishāpūr, where he died, A. H. 298, on fol. 91^a.

204. Samnūn bin Muḥibb (according to the Nafahāt-aluns: bin Hamzah almuḥibb) Kadhdhāb, with the Kunyah Abū-alḥusain or Abū-alḥasan (according to others Abū-alkāsim), friend of Sarī Saḳaṭī (No. 28), Muḥammad bin ʿAlī Kaṣṣāb, and Abū Aḥmad Kalānisi, died A. H. 298, on fol. 91^a.

205. Abū ʿUthmān Hiri, with his real name: Saʿid bin Ismaʿil Hiri Nishāpūri (Hirah is a quarter of Nishāpūr), originally of Rai, pupil of Shāh Shujāʿ (No. 187), Abū Haṣṣ Haddād (No. 184), and Yahyā bin Maʿādh Rāzi (No. 183, in the following copy the latter two are called his friends, not his teachers), and friend of Shaikh Junaid, Ruwaim (No. 143), Yūsuf bin Ḥusain (No. 208), and Muḥammad bin Faḍl Balkhi (No. 217), died in Rabiʿ-alawwal, A. H. 298, on fol. 91^a.

206. Shaikh Aḥmad bin Muḥammad bin Masrūk, with the Kunyah Abū-alʿabbās, originally of Tūs, teacher of Shaikh ʿAlī Rūdbāri and pupil of Hārith Muḥāsabī (No. 176), died A. H. 299 (this Shaikh is entirely wanting in the following copy), on fol. 91^b.

207. Talḥah (so to be read instead of طلیح both in text and index, according to the Nafahāt-aluns) bin Muḥammad Ṣabāḥ Nili, pupil of Shaikh Abū ʿUthmān Hiri (No. 205), died A. H. 302, on fol. 91^b.

208. Yūsuf bin Ḥusain Rāzi, with the Kunyah Abū Yaʿqūb, pupil of Dhū-alnūn Miṣri, and follower of Imām Ḥanbal, died A. H. 303 or 304, on fol. 92^a.

209. Abū-alʿabbās Busti, with his real name: ʿAbdallāh bin Muḥammad bin Nāfi (bin Muḥammad, as the following copy adds) Mukarram, died in Ramaḍān or Muḥarram, A. H. 304, on fol. 92^a.

210. Abū ʿAbdallāh bin Jallā (so according to No. 224, the following copy and the Nafahāt-aluns, No. 1412, fol. 58^b; the text here has جلد instead of جلّاء), with his real name: Aḥmad bin Yahyā, originally of Baghdād, lived in Ramlah (near Damascus), pupil of Abū Turāb Nakhshabī (No. 178) and Dhū-alnūn Miṣri, and friend of Junaid and Nūri (No. 201), died A. H. 306, on fol. 92^a.

211. Ḥusain bin Manṣūr Hallāj, with the Kunyah Abū-almughith, originally of Baiḍā in Fārs; the views of the greatest Šāfiʿ Shaikhs are utterly at variance with regard to his spiritual authority; some, like his own Pir ʿAmr bin ʿUthmān Makki (No. 202), Abū Yaʿqūb Nahrajūri (No. 228), and ʿAlī bin Sahl (in the following copy again Suhail, comp. No. 193) Isfahāni, reject him altogether; whereas Shaikh Abūbākr Shibli (No. 30), Abū-alʿabbās bin ʿAtā (in the following copy incorrectly ʿAṭṭār, No. 212), Shaikh ʿAbdallāh (correctly Abū ʿAbdallāh in the following copy) bin Khafif (No. 144), Shaikh Abū-alkāsim Naṣrābādi (No. 267), Shaikh Abū Saʿid bin Abū-alkhair (No. 294), Khwājah ʿAbdallāh Anṣārī (No. 300), Shaikh Abū-alkāsim Gurgāni and Pir ʿAlī Hujwiri, the author of the كشف المحجوب (No. 298), fully believe in him. Khwājah Muḥammad Pārsā (No. 83) in his فصل الخطاب refutes the common idea that Shaikh Junaid had written a fatwā for the execution of Hallāj, by simply referring to the fact of Junaid having died eleven or twelve years before his alleged victim. Hallāj was put to death in Baghdād on the 25th of Dhū-alkaʿdah, A. H. 309, on fol. 92^b.

212. Shaikh Abū-alʿabbās bin ʿAtā, with his real name: Muḥammad bin Aḥmad of Baghdād, friend of Junaid and Shaikh Abū Saʿid Kharrāz (No. 194), died in Dhū-alkaʿdah, A. H. 309 (according to others, but less correctly, A. H. 311, in the following copy this Shaikh is wanting), on fol. 93^a.

213. Abūbākr Rāzi, with his real name: Muḥammad bin Zakariyyā, died A. H. 310, on fol. 93^a.

214. Abū-alkhair Himsi, died A. H. 310, on fol. 93^b.

215. Abū Muḥammad Jursiri (جریری), with his real name: Aḥmad bin Muḥammad bin Ḥusain (according to others: Ḥusain bin Muḥammad, and even: ʿAbdallāh bin Yahyā), one of the most excellent pupils of Shaikh Junaid and friend of Sahl bin ʿAbdallāh Tustarī (No. 193), died A. H. 312 (according to others, A. H. 314), on fol. 93^b.

216. Nabân bin Muḥammad alḥammâl, originally of Wâsiṭ, lived in Miṣr, was a friend of Shaikh Junaid, and one of the spiritual teachers of Nûrî (No. 201), died in Ramaḍân, A. H. 316, on fol. 93^b.

217. Muḥammad bin Fadl (Fudail in the following copy), with the Kunyah Abû 'Abdallâh, born in Balkh and pupil of Shaikh Ahmad bin Khidrawaih (No. 174), died A. H. 319, and was buried in Samarḳand, on fol. 93^b.

218. Abû-alḥusain (in the following copy and the Nafahât-aluns: Abû-alḥasan) Warrâk, with his real name: Muḥammad bin Sa'd, one of the great Shaikhs of Nishâpûr, pupil of Abû 'Uthmân Ḥirî (No. 205), died A. H. 319, on fol. 94^a.

219. Shaikh Abû-alḥasan aldarrâj, born in Baghdâd, was a pupil of Ibrâhîm Khawwâs (No. 199), and died A. H. 320, on fol. 94^a.

220. Shaikh Abû 'Umar (in the following copy Abû-bakr) Dimishki, friend of Abû 'Abdallâh bin Jallâ (No. 210), and one of the companions of Dhû-alnûn Miṣrî, died A. H. 320, on fol. 94^a.

221. Shaikh Khair aluassâj, with the Kunyah Abû-alḥasan, and the real name of Muḥammad bin Isma'il, originally of Sâmirah, lived in Baghdâd and was a pupil of Sarî Saḳatî, as well as a contemporary of Shaikh Junaid, Ibrâhîm Khawwâs (No. 199), and Shibli, died 120 years old, A. H. 322, on fol. 94^a.

222. Shaikh Abûbâkr alwâsiṭî, with his real name: Muḥammad bin Mûsâ, known as Ibn Farḡhânî, one of the old companions of Shaikh Junaid and Abû-alḥusain (or Abû-alḥasan, as the following copy has) Nûrî (No. 201), died in Marw, A. H. 320 (according to others, after A. H. 320), on fol. 94^b.

223. Shaikh Abûbâkr Kitâbî (كتابي, in the following copy and the Nafahât-aluns Katâni, كتناني), with his real name: Muḥammad bin 'Ali bin Ja'far, originally of Baghdâd, pupil of Shaikh Junaid, honoured by the epithet جراح حرم, because he spent 30 years in the حرم or precincts of the temple of Makkah, and died there, A. H. 322, on fol. 94^b.

224. Shaikh Ibrâhîm bin Dâ'ûd alkaṣṣâr alraḳḳî (so according to the Nafahât-aluns, No. 1412, fol. 81^b marginal gloss; the text here has الرقي or الرقي), with the Kunyah Abû Ishâk, one of the Syrian Shaikhs, contemporary with Junaid, Dhû-alnûn Miṣrî, and Abû 'Abdallâh bin Jallâ (No. 210), died A. H. 326, on fol. 95^a.

225. Abû-alḥasan (according to the Nafahât-aluns, No. 1412, fol. 80^a, Abû-alḥusain) bin Muḥammad al-muzayyin (المزني), with his real name 'Alî, of Baghdâd, friend of Junaid and Sahl (in the following copy again Suhail) bin 'Abdallâh Tustari (No. 193); there are said to have been two Shaikhs with the name Muzayyin, viz. Muzayyin-i-Kabir and Muzayyin-i-Ṣaghîr, the greater and the smaller Muzayyin; the present Shaikh is Muzayyin-i-Ṣaghîr, who died in Makkah, A. H. 327 or 328, on fol. 95^a.

226. Abû 'Ali Thakâfi (ثعفي, confirmed by a marginal gloss in the Nafahât-aluns, No. 1412, fol. 97^b; in the text of the Nafahât and the following copy الشففي), with his real name: Muḥammad bin 'Abd-alwahhâb, contemporary with Abû Ḥafṣ Haddâd (No. 184) and Ḥamdûn Kaṣṣâr (No. 188), died A. H. 328 (so correctly according to the following copy, instead of 308 سيمد وهشت, as is written here), on fol. 95^b.

227. Shaikh Abû Muḥammad Murta'ish, with his real name: 'Abdallâh bin Muḥammad Nishâpûrî, lived in Baghdâd, and was a pupil of Abû Ḥafṣ Haddâd and of Shaikh Junaid (No. 29); he died A. H. 328, on fol. 95^b.

228. Shaikh Abû Ya'qûb Nahrajûrî, with his real name: Ishâk bin Muḥammad, pupil of Abû Ya'qûb Ṣûfî and friend of Junaid and 'Amr (in the following copy again 'Umar) bin 'Uthmân (No. 202), stayed many years in Makkah, and died there A. H. 330, on fol. 95^b.

229. Shaikh Abû-alḥasan alṣâ'igh (الصائع) Dinawarî, with his real name: 'Ali bin Muḥammad bin Suhail (in the Nafahât-aluns, No. 1412, fol. 80^b, Sahl), lived in Miṣr, pupil of Shaikh Abû Ja'far Ṣaidalâni (in the following copy Ṣailâni), and spiritual guide of Abû-alḥasan (according to others Abû-alḥusain) Karâfi (قرافي, nishah of قراف, a town in Egypt) and Abû 'Uthmân Maghribî; he died the 15th of Rajab, A. H. 331 (or according to others 330), and was buried in Miṣr, on fol. 96^a.

258. Abū 'Abdallāh Muḳrī, with his real name: Muḥammad bin Aḥmad almuḳrī (Nafahāt-aluns, No. 1412, fol. 127^a, almaghribī), friend of Abū Yūsuf (in the following copy Yūsuf) bin Ḥusain, 'Abdallāh Kharrāz of Rai, Muṣaffar Kirmānshāhī, Ruwaim, Jurairi, Ibn 'Aṭā, and others, died A. H. 366, on fol. 99^b.

259. Abūbākr Kaṭrī, Ḥāfiẓ and Imām of Baghdād, was in the science of tradition (حديث) a pupil of 'Abdallāh bin Aḥmad bin Hanbal and had also personally known Shaikh Junaid; he died in Baghdād, Dhū-alḥijjah, A. H. 360 (a mistake for A. H. 368, see the Nafahāt-aluns, No. 1412, fol. 96^a), on fol. 99^b.

260. Shaikh Abū Muḥammad (Abū Aḥmad in the following copy), son of Muḥammad bin 'Īsā Nishāpūri, died A. H. 368 (so to be read according to the following copy, instead of 308 سبعمد و هشت, the word شصت being omitted), on fol. 99^b.

261. Abū 'Abdallāh Rūdbāri, with his real name: Aḥmad bin 'Aṭā, one of the Syrian Shaikhs, lived in Šūr (Tyros) and died there, A. H. 369; his grave is now covered by the sea, on fol. 99^b.

262. Abū Sahl (in the following copy again Abū Suhail) Ṣa'lūki (فقیه=معلوكی), with his real name: Muḥammad bin Sulaimān Ṣa'lūki al-faḳir, born in Nishāpūr, A. H. 290, died 79 years old, A. H. 369; he was a friend of Shibli, Murta'ish (No. 227), and Abū

'Ali Thakafi (or Shafaḳī, as the text of the Nafahāt-aluns spells the name again, No. 1412, fol. 146^b; comp. No. 226 above), on fol. 99^b.

263. Shaikh Ibrāhīm bin Thābit, with the Kunyah Abū Ishāq, friend and older contemporary of Shaikh Abū 'Abd-alrahmān Sullami (comp. No. 257), died A. H. 369, on fol. 99^b.

264. Shaikh Abūbākr Warrāḳ, with his real name: Muḥammad bin 'Umar alḥakīm, originally of Tirmidh, but lived in Balkh; he was the pupil of Muḥammad bin 'Ali Ḥakīm Tirmidhī (No. 182), and the author of a diwān and of several other works; he had studied the Pentateuch, the Gospels, and Psalms, died A. H. 370 and was buried in Tirmidh, on fol. 100^a.

265. Abūbākr Farrā (the following copy has an incorrect فرار), with his real name: Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin Ḥamdūn Farrā, of Nishāpūr, friend of Abū 'Ali Thakafi (here the Nafahāt-aluns, No. 1412, fol. 92^b, also read distinctly ثقفى, see No. 226 above), 'Abdallāh Manāzil (No. 231), Abūbākr Shibli, Abūbākr bin Ṭāhir Alḥarī (No. 230), and Murta'ish (No. 227), died A. H. 370, on fol. 100^a.

266. Abū-alḥusain Ḥuṣrī, with his real name: 'Ali bin Ibrāhīm, originally of Baṣrah, lived in Baghdād; he was a Hanbalite, pupil of Shaikh Shibli, and died in Dhū-alḥijjah, A. H. 371, on fol. 100^a.

H. 372, according to Yāfi, the محاسن الاخبار, and others in the month Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 367, which seems to be more correct, on fol. 100^a.

268. Abūbākr alṭarsūsi, with his real name: 'Ali bin Aḥmad bin Muḥammad Ṭarsūsi; he was a disciple of Abū-alḥaramain (probably Abū-alḥusain, as the following copy reads) Māliki, friend of Ibrāhīm bin Shaibān Kirmānshāhi (No. 232), and received the nickname of طاووس الحرمين, 'the peacock of the two holy places (Makkah and Madinah),' in consequence of a lengthened stay in Makkah; he died A. H. 374 and was buried in Makkah, on fol. 100^b.

269. 'Abd-alwāḥid bin 'Ali alsayyārī, nephew and pupil of Abū-al'abbās Sayyārī (No. 240), died A. H. 375 (the following copy has—no doubt incorrectly—370), on fol. 100^b.

270. Shaikh Abū 'Abdallāh albarḳī, born in Barḳ, a suburb of Khwārizm, where he also spent his life; he died A. H. 376, on fol. 100^b.

271. Abū Naṣr Sarrāj, with his real name: 'Abdallāh bin 'Ali alṭūsī, with the nickname طاووس الغر, 'the peacock of the dervishes;' among his numerous works is the كتاب المع on Ṣūfism; he was a pupil of Abū Muḥammad Murta'ish (No. 227) and had personally known Sari Saḳāṭi (I see No. 28) and Sahl (in the following copy again Suhail) Tustari (No. 193), died in Tūs, A. H. 370 (correctly 378, as the following copy has), on fol. 100^b.

272. Abū-alkāsim Rāzi, with his real name: Ja'far bin Aḥmad bin Muḥammad, lived in Nishāpūr and was a friend of Ibn 'Atā (No. 212), Muḥammad bin Abi-aljawārī (correctly alḥawārī, as in No. 172), and Abū 'Ali Rūdbārī (No. 68), died in Rai, A. H. 378, on fol. 101^a.

275. Shaikh Abū-alkhair (ابو الخير), so according to the index on fol. 2^a, the following copy, and the Nafahāt-aluns, No. 1412, fol. 102^b, last line; the text here reads Abū-aljunaid, (ابو الجنييد) Ḥabashi, with the nickname of طاووس الحرمين (like Abūbākr alṭarsūsi, see No. 268; but a marginal note in the Nafahāt-aluns, No. 1412, fol. 103^a, declares this to be a mistake), for sixty years he stayed in the holy places and died in Makkah, A. H. 383, on fol. 101^a.

276. Aḥmad bin Ibrāhīm almusawwami (المسومي), in the following copy (متوفى), with the Kunyah Abū 'Ali, one of the Shaikhs of Baghdād, died 83 years old, A. H. 386, in the month Sha'bān; he is called here a friend of Shaikh Sari Saḳāṭi, which is an impossibility, since that Shaikh died fifty years before Aḥmad bin Ibrāhīm was born (see No. 28), on fol. 101^b.

277. Shaikh Abū-alḥusain bin Sam'un, with his real name Muḥammad (in the Nafahāt-aluns more fully: Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin Isma'il bin Sam'un) and the Laḳab بالحكمة, ناطق بالحكمة, 'wisdom-speaking,' a contemporary of Shaikh Shibli, born A. 379. Ḥaḍrat 'Ā'ishah Ṣadiqah, with the Kunyah Umm 'Abdallāh, Muḥammad's third and best beloved wife after Khadijah, daughter of Abūbakr, died the 17th of Ramaḍān, A. H. 58, 66 years old, and was buried in the cemetery Al-Baqī' in Madīnah; Abū Hurairah read the prayer over her body, on fol. 125^b.

380. Zainab, daughter of Khuza'imah bin Hārith bin 'Abdallāh bin 'Amr bin 'Abd-Manāf bin Hilāl bin 'Amir bin Sa's'ah (معصده), Muḥammad's fifth wife, married to him in Ramaḍān, A. H. 3, died the first of Rabī'alākhar, A. H. 4 (in Muir's Life of Mahomet, A. H. 4 and 5 respectively are given), on fol. 126^b.

381. Zainab bint Jahsh, with the Kunyah Umm-allukm, whose mother Umamah (in the following copy Aminah) bint 'Abd-almuttalib was Muḥammad's aunt, the prophet's seventh wife, married to him in the month Dhū-alḥajjah, A. H. 5; her original name was Bariah, and her first husband Zaid, Muḥammad's adopted son; she died A. H. 20 or 21, on fol. 126^b.

382. Saudah, with the Kunyah Umm-alaswad, daughter of Rabi'ah bin Kais bin 'Abd Shams bin 'Abd . . . bin Nasr bin Malik bin Hanbal bin 'Amir bin Luwayy bin Ghaliib al-kurashiyah al-'amiriyah, and Bint Kais bin 'Amr, Muhammad's second wife, whom he married in the tenth year of his prophetic mission, shortly after Khadijah's death; she died at the end of the Khalif 'Umar's reign or (according to a less trustworthy authority) during the reign of Mu'awiyah, on fol. 127^a.

383. Safiyyah, daughter of Hayy bin Akhtab bin Sa'batah (سعبته) bin Tuqailah (تفيلة) and Hurrah (so in the following copy حرة; here it is spelt خرة) bin Samwan (سموان, in the following copy سموال), a Jewess, Muhammad's ninth wife; she died A.H. 36, or according to others, A.H. 50 or 52, or even, as some assert, in Khalif 'Umar's reign, on fol. 127^a.

384. Umm Habibah, daughter of Abu Sufyan, and Safiyyah bint al-'as (in the following copy Abi-al-'as) bin Umayyah bin 'Abd-al-hams, the aunt of the Khalif 'Uthman. Umm Habibah was Muhammad's tenth wife, whom he married in her 35th year in Madinah, A.H. 7, her dowry was 400 gold dinars, or according to others, 4000 silver dirhams; she died A.H. 42 or 44, on fol. 127^b.

385. Hafsa, daughter of 'Umar the second Khalif, and Zainab bint Ma'fun bin Habib bin Wahab, Muhammad's fourth wife, married to him A.H. 2 or 3; she was born 5 years before Muhammad's prophetic mission, and died A.H. 45 or 47 (in the following copy a third alternative, viz. A.H. 41, is given), on fol. 127^b.

386. Juwairiyah, daughter of Harith bin Abi Darar (Darari in the following copy) bin Habib bin 'Abid bin Malik, married to Muhammad as his eighth wife in Sha'ban, A.H. 5 or 6; she died in Madinah, A.H. 55 or 56, 65 years old, on fol. 127^b.

387. Maimunah, daughter of Harith bin Huza bin Bahr bin al-Hazm, and Hind bint 'Auf bin Zamir bin al-Harb, married to the prophet as his eleventh wife, A.H. 7; she died, according to the most trustworthy authorities, A.H. 51, according to others, A.H. 61, 63 or 66, on fol. 128^a.

388. Umm Salmah, with her real name: Hind bint Abi Umayyah, married to the prophet in Shawwal, A.H. 4, as his sixth wife; she died the 3rd of Rabi'-al-akhar, A.H. 61 or 59, 84 years old; Abu Hurairah read the prayer over her body, on fol. 128^a.

389. Hadrat Fatimah Zahrâ, with the Kunyah Umm Muhammad, and the Laqabs Tahirah, Zakiah, Radiah, Mardiyah, and Batul; she was the youngest daughter of the prophet, and married to 'Ali in Ramadan, A.H. 2, after his return from the battle of Badr, when she was 15 or (more correctly) 18 years old; she bore him three sons, Hasan, Husain, and Muhsin, and three daughters, Zainab, Umm Kulthum, and Ruqayyah; Muhsin and Ruqayyah died quite young; Zainab, who was married to 'Abdallah Ja'far, and Umm Kulthum, who was married to the (Khalif) 'Umar, left no children behind; Fatimah was born five years before Muhammad's prophetic mission, and died the 3rd of Ramadan, A.H. 11, six months after the prophet's death, 28 years old, on fol. 128^a.

390. Hadrat Zainab, the eldest daughter of the prophet, married to her cousin Abu-al-'abbas bin al-

Rabi'; issue: one son, 'Ali, and one daughter, Inamah, who became 'Ali's wife after Fatimah's death; the son, 'Ali, died when he had just reached manhood; Zainab was born before the prophetic mission, and died A.H. 8, on fol. 128^b.

391. Hadrat Ruqayyah, Muhammad's second daughter, born after Zainab, married to the (Khalif) 'Uthman, to whom she bore one son, who died in his second year; she was born before the prophetic mission, and died A.H. 2 (so correctly in the following copy: در سال دوم از هجرت; here it is written by mistake: در سال هشتم از هجرت), on fol. 128^b.

392. Hadrat Umm Kulthum, Muhammad's third daughter, born after Ruqayyah, and before Fatimah; her real name was Aminah (آمنه), in the following copy Aminah (امينه); she was married to 'Uthman after her sister Ruqayyah's death, A.H. 3, and died A.H. 9, on fol. 129^a.

(c) Other famous women.

393. Zaidah, a slave-girl of (the Khalif) 'Umar, on fol. 129^a.

394. Shu'wanah (شُعَوَانَة), a Persian by birth, settled in Ubullah (four farsangs from Basrah), where her majlis was frequented by many learned and pious men; she was contemporary with Fadil bin 'Iyad (No. 96) and died A.H. 175, on fol. 129^b.

395. Hadrat 'Ukairah (عَكِيرَة), in the Nafahât-aluns: 'Ufairah) al-'abidah, of Basrah, died A.H. 180, on fol. 129^b.

396. Hadrat Rabi'a-i-'adawiyyah of Basrah, contemporary with Sufyan Thauri (No. 162); she was the fourth daughter of her father, therefore her name Rabi'ah; her pilgrimage to Makkah occupied 14 years, because at every step in the desert she said a full prayer. She died A.H. 185, on fol. 129^b.

397. Nafiyyah (نَفِيَّة), perhaps Nakiyyah (?) of Mîsr: Imâm Shafi'i (No. 23) visited her, and when he died in Mîsr, his corpse was taken into her house; she died in Ramadan, A.H. 208. Her husband, Ishak bin Ja'far, wanted to bury her in Madinah, but the people of Mîsr insisted on her interment in their own city, on fol. 130^b.

398. Fatimah of Nishapur, dwelt for some time in the holy city of Makkah, and also in Jerusalem; Shaikh Bayazid Bishtami (No. 66), her contemporary, admired and praised her very much; she died A.H. 223, on fol. 131^a.

399. Tuhfah, originally a slave-girl, whose romantic rescue through the agency of Shaikh Sari Sa'atî (No. 28) is here related with all details, on fol. 131^a.

400. Umm 'Isa, daughter of Ibrahim Harbi, a great authority in legal matters, died in Rajab (according to others, in Ramadan), A.H. 328, on fol. 133^a.

401. Umm Muhammad, the mother of Shaikh 'Abdallah (or Abu 'Abdallah) bin Khafif (No. 144), in whose company she made by sea the pilgrimage to Hijaz, on fol. 133^a.

402. Ummat-al-walid, with her real name ستميه (in the following copy سنيمه), daughter of Husain bin Isma'il Hakimi, famous as Kurân-reader, traditionist, legal authority, etc.; she died in Ramadan, A.H. 377, more than 90 years old, on fol. 133^a.

403. Ummat-alsalam, daughter of Kadi Abubakr bin Kamil bin Khalaf and disciple of Muhammad bin Isma'il بصلانی (in the following copy بصلانی); her pupils were Tanūkhī, Zāhidi, and Abū-al'ali; she was born in Rajab, A. H. 318 (the date is omitted here, in the following copy only هژده appears), and died in Rajab, A. H. 390, on fol. 133^a.

404. Maimūna-i-Wā'izah, daughter of Shākhūlah (شاقوله), in the following copy شاقولی, and mother of 'Abd-alšamad, died A. H. 393, on fol. 133^b.

405. Khadijah, with the kunyah Umm Salmah, daughter of Mūsā bin 'Abdallāh, died A. H. 407 (or according to the following copy, 437, و چهار صد و سی و هفت, which is probably the correct reading), on fol. 133^b.

406. Umm Muḥammad, the aunt of Shaikh 'Abd-alkādir Jilāni, on fol. 133^b.

407. Khadija-i-Wā'izah, daughter of Muḥammad bin 'Alī bin 'Abdallāh and intimate friend of Ibn Sam'ūn (No. 277), was born A. H. 374, died A. H. 460, 86 years old; she was buried by the side of Ibn Sam'ūn, on fol. 133^b.

408. Karimah of Marw, daughter of Ahmad bin Muḥammad bin Abi Hātim, died A. H. 460 or (according to the following copy) 463, on fol. 134^a.

409. Fātima-i-Wā'izah, daughter of Ḥusain bin Ḥasan bin Faḍlawaih (or Faḍlūyah), died A. H. 521, on fol. 134^a.

410. Fātimah, daughter of Naṣr bin 'Aṭā, who during her whole life had only three times left her house; she died A. H. 573, on fol. 134^a. The author adds here a few remarks (taken from Imām 'Abdallāh Yāfi'i's تاریخ (روض الراحين) about a pious Egyptian woman, who stood for thirty years in the same place, unmoved by cold or heat, never sleeping and never taking any food, and about another woman in Khwārizm, who for twenty-five years neither slept nor ate; he also quotes (from Jāmi's Nafahāt-aluns) a report of Abū Sa'id bin Abū-alkhair's about a pious old lady in Marw.

411. Bibi Jamāl Khātūn, daughter of Kādi Sā'in-lata (سائین دت) and sister of Hadrat Miḡān Mir (No. 65), on fol. 134^b; she was over 60 years old, and lived in Siwastān, when this work was composed in A. H. 1049.

No date; but this copy appears to be older than the following (dated) one, and is, with very few exceptions, much more correct in the spelling of names as well as in the dates.

No. 660, ff. 135, ll. 17; Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 6½ in.

648

Another copy of the same.

This copy concludes on fol. 129^a, and is dated the 12th of Dhū-alhiḡjah, A. H. 1120 (A. D. 1709, February 22), by 'Alā-aldin, known as Lār Muḥammad bin 'Alī Ridā. Ff. 130-134 are written by quite a different hand, and filled with some traditions in Arabic, beginning: قال على ابن ابى طالب رضى الله عنه وكرم وجهه سمعت النبی الهی

The proper order of the leaves is: ff. 1-89, 97-105, 90-96, 106-134.

No. 1363, ff. 134, ll. 17 (except ff. 130-134, ll. 10); clear Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

649

The same.

A very badly written copy, spoiled and damaged in many places. Dated the 20th of Rabi'-althāni, A. H. 1179 (A. D. 1765, October 6), by Fadl-allāh, son of Ghulām Mahdi (sixth year of Shāh 'Ālam's reign).

No. 1878, ff. 108, ll. 15-19; irregularly written, partly in careless Nasta'liq, partly in Shikasta; size, 8½ in. by 5 in.

Fātiḡ-alḡulūb (فاتح الغلوب).

History of the life and wonderful deeds of the great Shaikh Mir 'Abdallāh ibn Mir Muḡaffar alḡusaini altirmidhi (who died A. H. 1035=A. D. 1626, according to the two chronograms on fol. 19^a: زدنای دنی قطب و روضه جاوید زمان رفت شیخ زمانه, a date also given in Beale's Oriental Biogr. Dictionary, p. 6^b, whereas, according to another chronogram on the same page, viz. شیخ زمانه, and the statement on fol. 18^b, line 7, see also Rieu i. p. 154^a, his death took place ten years sooner, in A. H. 1025=A. D. 1616), by one of his disciples, divided into twelve bābs, and beginning: الحمد لله . . . بعد از بیان توحید و ثنای باری عز اسمه و نعت سید المرسلین و خاتم النبیین امیرالمؤمنین و امامان دین علیهم السلام و مدح اصحاب مستطاب الخ

Mir 'Abdallāh Tirmidhi, with the takhalluṡ Waṡfī, was a clever calligrapher, who got from the emperor Akbar the honorary epithet of Mushkin Kalam, and a good poet too, see Rieu, loc. cit., and Bodleian Catal., No. 1894.

The last year that appears in this little work, mentioned as date of the death of one of the Shaikh's great pupils, is A. H. 1054 (A. D. 1644, 1645), on fol. 31^a, l. 15.

This copy was finished the 23rd of Dhū-alka'dah, in the 20th year (either of Shāhjahān, which would be A. H. 1056=A. D. 1646, December 31, or more likely of 'Ālamgir, A. H. 1087=A. D. 1677, January 27). On fol. 1^b the work is simply styled: تاریخ میر عبد الله.

No. 645, ff. 32, ll. 17; Nasta'liq; worm-eaten; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

Rāḡat-alarwāḡ (راحت الارواح).

The life, miracles, and maxims of the great Sūfi Shaikh 'Aziz-allāh (born in Lāhūr, the 3rd of Jumādā II, A. H. 1047=A. D. 1637, October 23, died 37 years, 4 months and 17 days old, the 20th of Shawwāl, A. H. 1084=A. D. 1674, January 28), by Ḥafīz Muḡammad Sa'id bin Ḥafīz (see fol. 2^a, ll. 6 and 7; fol. 3^a, line 4; and fol. 5^a, line 4), who commenced the compilation of this work in the beginning of Rajab, A. H. 1084 (A. D. 1673, October 12), and finished it after some interval during prince Muḡammad Sulṡān's campaign against Kābul, A. H. 1085=A. D. 1674, 1675 (comp. fol. 4^a, ll. 3 and 4, and fol. 253^b, ll. 4 and 5). It is divided into the following five bābs:

1. در تاریخ ولادت و احوال ایام طفولیت و اخذ نعمت در آنحضرت از اعتراف زمانه, on fol. 5^b.

2. در معاش و لباس آنحضرت, on fol. 15^a.
 3. در اخلاق و شمائل و صرف اوقات و شمه از ریاضات آنحضرت, on fol. 20^b.
 4. در خوارق عادات آنحضرت, on fol. 52^a.
 5. در ملفوظات و تأریخ وفات آنحضرت, on fol. 133^a.
 Beginning: الحمد لله الذى ارسل عبده الذى هو عزير
 الله الخ.
 Dated the 11th of Jumâdâ I, A. H. 1108 (A. D. 1696, December 6).

No. 1165, ff. 255, ll. 11; large Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 in.

Manâqib-alḥaḍarât (مناقب الحضرات).

A more modern history of the great Shaikhs of the Naḡshibandî order, especially of Shaikh Aḥmad Fârûkî, who died in Sirhind, A. H. 1034 or 1035 = A. D. 1625 or 1626 (referred to as ايشان), Shaikh Muhammad Sa'id Ma'sûm 'Umari, the son of the preceding Shaikh, who died, according to Beale, Oriental Biogr. Dictionary, p. 190^b, A. H. 1079 = A. D. 1668 (simply styled مخدومى or معصوم الزمانى), and Shaikh Âdam Naḡshbandî (called خليفة الزمانى or سيدى), the same who wrote in A. H. 1035-1037 (A. D. 1626-1628) the خلاصة المعارف, their contemporaries and disciples. The full title of the book is: مناقب آدميه و حضرات احمديه, and it is divided, according to the index on ff. 2^b and 3^a, into a mukaddimah, three matlabs, eleven bâbs, and a khâtimah. But unfortunately the MS. is in a hopeless confusion; many leaves are misplaced, several lacunas are found besides, and a great number of catchwords being torn away, it is impossible to restore order. There are three distinct beginnings in the book, the first, on fol. 1^b: الحمد لله رب العالمين والصلوة الخ; the second, on fol. 40^b: الحمد لله رب العالمين الرحمن الرحيم مالك; الحمد لله الذى; the third, on fol. 189^b: يوم الدين الخ; جعل الامكان مرآة للوجوب الخ.

Accordingly we have three large divisions, probably comprising the mukaddimah, the three matlabs, and the khâtimah, respectively.

Mukaddimah (در ترغيب بر محبت نيكان و سبب) تأليف اين كتاب و مناقب سلسله نقشبنديه و تنبيهات (و فوائد ضروريه), on fol. 3^a.

Matlab I, in four faṣls, on fol. 163^a, margin: faṣl 1. در مناقب اجمالى حضرت شيخ احمد فاروقى; 2. در مناقب اجمالى حضرت شيخ محمد سعيد عمرى; 3. در فضائل اجمالى حضرت شيخ محمد معصوم نقشبندى; 4. فضائل, on fol. 177^a; 5. اجمالى بعضى از مشايخ خليفة الزمانى, on fol. 185^a, margin.

Matlab II. در مناقب حضرت خليفة الزمانى, on fol. 188^b, margin, in nine bâbs, only eight of which are found in this copy, viz. the first, on fol. 188^b, margin; the third, on fol. 116^a, margin; the fourth, on fol. 118^a; the fifth, on fol. 122^a, margin; the sixth, on fol. 129^a, margin; the seventh, on fol. 133^a, margin; the eighth, on fol. 140^b, margin; and the ninth, on fol. 152^b, margin.

The beginning of the third Matlab (در بيان احوال در بعضى از خلفاى ايشان) and of the Khâtimah (در بعضى از مكتوبات و ملفوظات عرفانيه و سلوك و موعظه) cannot be traced anywhere; but the greater portion of both is undoubtedly contained in this copy. There appears an eleventh bâb, on fol. 49^a: در بيان احوال بعضى خلفا, probably belonging to the third Matlab.

On fol. 189^b, margin, in the third beginning, there seems to be given the author's name, viz. Muhammad Murâd bin Ḥabîb-allâh bin Sa'dî, who is probably identical with the holy Shaikh of Kashmir, Muhammad Murâd Naḡshbandî, who died, according to Rieu i. p. 300^a, A. H. 1134 (A. D. 1722); in the first beginning, on fol. 2^b, margin, is stated, that this work is the third kism of the نتائج الحرمين.

It was written, according to the colophons on ff. 39^b and 226^a, in A. H. 1139 and 1140 (A. D. 1726-1728).

No. 1940, ff. 226, centre-column, ll. 13, and a margin-column, ll. 32-34; Nasta'lik; many little damages throughout; size, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Maṭlûb-alṭâlibîn (مطلوب الطالبين).

A detailed biography of the great Shaikh of the Cîshtî order, Nizâm-aldin Muhammad Auliya, who was born in Badâ'un, the 27th of Šafar, A. H. 636 (A. D. 1238, October 9), became a pupil of Shaikh Farid-aldin Ganj-i-shakar, the 15th of Rajab, A. H. 655 (A. D. 1257, July 29), was nominated by him his Khalfah or spiritual successor, the 2nd of Rabî'al-awwal, A. H. 656 (A. D. 1258, March 9), died the 18th of Rabî'al-âkhar, A. H. 725 (A. D. 1325, April 3), and was buried in Ghiyâthpûr, near Dihli (see fol. 113^b, line 11 sq., and compare the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 114), together with a full account of his deeds and doctrines, of the other great Shaikhs of the Cîshtî order from Farid-aldin upwards, his relations and disciples, as well as of the pedigree of the compiler of this work, Muhammad Bûlâk bin Shaikh Abû Muhammad Khâlidî Dihlawî bin Shaikh 'Alî Akbar, who was a descendant of the hero of this biography, and completed this history of the life of his great ancestor A. H. 1111 = A. D. 1699, 1700 (see the two chronograms on fol. 2^a, line 9, and fol. 2^b, line 2). Nizâm-aldin Auliya was the spiritual teacher of the two great poets of Dihli, Amir Khusrau and Amir Hasan.

The work is divided into the following 17 matlabs:

1. Pedigree and birth of Nizâm-aldin, account of his parents, and genealogy of the author of this work در بيان حسب و نسب و مولد سلطان المشايخ و اجمال احوال والدين شريفين وى و مجملا ذكر آباء و اجداد (اين احقر العباد راقم اوراق محمد بلاق الخ), on fol. 5^b. Nizâm-aldin's father is called here Khwâjah Aḥmad bin Khwâjah 'Alî of Bukhârâ (died the 5th of Dhû-al-hijjah, A. H. 641 = A. D. 1244, May 15, five years after the birth of his son; his mother was Bibi Zalikhâ).

2. Nizām-aldin's earlier education in the exact sciences (در بیان تعلّم و تفرّس سلطان المشايخ و تفصيل). on fol. 10^a.

3. Nizām-aldin's journey from Badā'un to Dihli, and thence to Ajwadhan, in Multān, to become a pupil of Shaikh Farid-aldin Ganj-i-shakar in Sūfic lore (در بیان بسا آمدن محبّت شيخ الاسلام شيخ فرید گنجشکر در دل سلطان المشايخ و رسیدن وی بدان اخلاص از شهر ندان بشهر دهلی و از آنجا رو نهادن بطرف اجودهن که (مسکن خاصّ شيخ فرید گنجشکر بود و هم مدفن اوست), on fol. 12^a. The death of Farid-aldin Ganj-i-shakar, the pupil of Khwajāh Kutb-aldin Bakhtiyār Kākī Ūshī and the spiritual guide of Nizām-aldin Auliya, is fixed in this work, on fol. 124^a, in A.H. 668, the 5th of Muḥarram (A.D. 1269, September 4), instead of the usual date, given in all other biographies, see the Safināt-alauliyā. No. 113, cf. A.H. 664=A.D. 1265, October 17 (comp. also No. 640 above in this Catalogue).

4. Nizām-aldin's arrival in Ajwadhan, and beginning of his studies under Farid-aldin Ganj-i-shakar (در بیان رسیدن سلطان المشايخ در شهر اجودهن و ارادت آوردن وی (در خدمت شيخ فرید الدین گنجشکر), on fol. 14^a.

5. Nizām-aldin's steadiness, devotion, confidence, and obedience as Farid-aldin's pupil, the Shaikh's tender affection for him, explanation of the rules and rites of the Bai'at or initiation, the duties and relations of Pir and Murid, and account of Bibi Faṭimah Sām (در بیان رسوخیت و فدویت و اعتقاد و انقیاد سلطان المشايخ در خدمت ببر خود فرید الدین گنجشکر و شفقت و مرحمت شيخ در باب او و تشریح آداب بیعت و ارادت و توضیح حقوق پیری و مربدی و اجمال احوال حضرت بی بی فاطمه (سَم). on fol. 15^a. Bibi Faṭimah Sām, a very spiritual woman, was the adopted sister of Shaikh Farid-aldin, and his brother Shaikh Najib-aldin Mutawakkil, see fol. 19^a.

6. Nizām-aldin's nomination as Khalifah of Farid-aldin, and explanation of the various kinds of the Khilāfat, the origin of the Khirḳah or devotee's garment, the Kulah or cowl, and other matters pertaining thereto (در بیان یافتن خلافت سلطان المشايخ از خدمت پیر خود فرید الدین گنجشکر و توضیح اقسام خلافت و شروح (اصل خرقة و کلاه و اسباب خلافت باطنی و غره فوائد), on fol. 29^b.

7. Nizām-aldin's setting up a Sūfic convent in Ghiyāthpūr, near Dihli, and account of Shaikh Malikyār-i-Parrān and Shaikh Abūbakr Ṭūsī Haidari (در بیان تشریف آوردن سلطان المشايخ در شهر دهلی از خدمت ببر خود شيخ فرید الدین گنجشکر و سکونت اختیار کردن در موضع غیاث پور باشاره غیبی و موجب نعمت خانقاه و اجمال احوال شيخ ملکبار نران و شيخ ابا بکر (طوسی حمیدی), on fol. 37^a. The renowned Shaikh Nūr-aldin Malikyār-i-Parrān came from Lār to Dihli in the reign of Ghiyāth-aldin Balban (A.H. 664-686=A.D.

1266-1287) and entered there into close friendship with Shaikh Abūbakr Ṭūsī Haidari, see fol. 40^b.

8. Nizām-aldin's practice of poverty, resignation, trust in God, worship, ascetism, and spiritual exertions in his earlier years in Ajwadhan and Dihli (در بیان فقر و قناعت و توکل و اطاعت و بعضی رياضات و مجاهدات اوائل حال سلطان المشايخ که در ديار اجودهن و دهلی (کشفه و بران شاکر و صابر مانده), on fol. 41^a.

9. Nizām-aldin's offerings and donations, and princes coming to beg at his door, together with an account of the seven Sultāns of Dihli, who were his contemporaries and partly hostile, partly friendly to him (در توضیح فتح و فتوح و بذل و ایشار و انعام و اطعام سلطان المشايخ و آمدن بادشاهان با تمجد گدائی بر در او و اجمال احوال هفت سلاطین دهلی که معاصر آن حضرت بودند بعضی (مخالف و بعضی مخلص), on fol. 46^a. The seven Sultāns are: 1. Ghiyāth-aldin Balban, reigned 21 years, and died A.H. 686 (A.D. 1287); 2. Mu'izz-aldin Kai-kubād bin Nāsir-aldin, grandson of the former, the same to whom Amir Khusrau dedicated his Qurrān al-saʿdīn, reigned three years, and was killed A.H. 689 (A.D. 1290) by 3. Jalāl-aldin Khilji, one of his Amirs, who became his successor, reigned six or seven years, and was in his turn killed in Ramadān, A.H. 695 (A.D. 1296, July), by 4. 'Alā-aldin, his nephew and son-in-law, who reigned twenty years, and died the 6th of Shawwāl, A.H. 715 (A.D. 1316, January 3; the usual date is A.H. 716=A.D. 1316, December 22); 5. Kutb-aldin, son of the former, commonly known as Mubārakshāh, who killed his three brothers Khidrkhān, Shādikhān (both pupils of Shaikh Nizām-aldin), and Shihāb-aldinkhān; he was, contrary to his predecessors, hostile to the Shaikh, and was killed after a reign of four years and four months, A.H. 720=A.D. 1320 (so here distinctly; the usual date of his death is A.H. 721=A.D. 1321), by Khusraukhān, who usurped the throne for four months, after which he was slain in his turn by 6. Ghiyāth-aldin Tughluq, the governor of Multān, who became king, A.H. 720 (again distinctly: (سبعمانه یعنی در سال هفصد و بیست), the same to whom Amir Khusrau dedicated his Qurrān al-saʿdīn; he was crushed by the fall of a pavilion in A.H. 725 (A.D. 1325); 7. Muḥammad bin Ghiyāth-aldin Tughluq (A.H. 725-752=A.D. 1325-1351), in the beginning of whose reign the Shaikh died.

10. Nizām-aldin's great forbearance with and kind affection to high and low, his intercourses with Shaikh Rukn-aldin Abū-alfath and their mutual humility and civility (در بیان تحمل و تأمل و بردباری و دلداري سلطان) المشايخ که با خاصّ و عامّ داشت و ذکر بعضی مجالس که در میان سلطان المشايخ و شيخ رکن الدین ابو الفتح نمبره شيخ بهاء الدین زکریا واقع شده و تواضع و سلوک (نمودن این هر دو بزرگ با یکدیگر), on fol. 55^a. Shaikh Rukn-aldin Abū-alfath was the son of Shaikh Šadr-aldin Arif, and grandson of Shaikh Bahā-aldin Zakariyyā; he died A.H. 735, the 9th of Jumādā-alawwal (A.D. 1335, January 5), comp. the Safināt-alauliyā, No. 156.

11. Stories of Nizām-aldin's supernatural powers and the miracles worked by him, with an explanation of the various stages of the mystic road, the different kinds of Wilāyat or saintship, the terms Akṭāb or 'poles,' Abdāl or 'lieutenants,' the condition of the 'beloved,' and the like (در بیان حکایات تصرفات و کشف کرامات) سلطان المشايخ و تفصيل مراتب سلوك و اقسام ولايت و تفسير تعداد اساميهاي اقطاب و ابدال و غيره که قيام عالم بوجود شان موقوف است و تشریح مرتبه (محبوبی يعنى معشوقی), on fol. 61^b.

12. Nizām-aldin's Samā' and some of its ceremonies (در بیان شنیدن سماع سلطان المشايخ و بعضی آداب آن), on fol. 76^a.

13. Nizām-aldin's humility, asceticism, and devotions in his later years, and account of the prayers, fastings, and breviaries of himself and other Cīstī Pīrs (در بیان خشوع و خضوع و بعضی ریاضات و عبادات آخر عمر حضرت سلطان المشايخ و ترتیب و توصیف نماز و روزه و اوراد که معمول آن حضرت و غيره بپیران چشت است), on fol. 88^b.

14. Nizām-aldin's last illness, death, and burial (در بیان حقایق زحمت کشیدن و خزامیدن سلطان المشايخ (از دار دنیا سوی روضه عقبی و کماهی تکفین و تجهیز و تزیین), on fol. 108^a.

15. Account of the prominent Shaikhs of the Cīstī order, its fourteen Khānwādas or families, and its fourteen branches (در بیان اجمال احوال هر يك از پیران) شجره عالیّه چشتیه و بعضی وطن و مسکن و مدفن و مدت حیات و تأریخ وفات ایشان و مجملًا مذکور چهار پیر و چهارده خاندان (خانواده) اصل و (چهارده فرع (فروع), on fol. 114^b.

The chain of the Cīstī Pīrs is the usual one, but in an inverted order, comp. Rieu i. pp. 359 and 360^b, viz. 1. Farīd-aldin Ganj-i-shakar (see above in the third maṭlah), who had five sons, viz. (a) Shaikh Naṣr-aldin, the father of Maulānā Kamāl-aldin; (b) Shaikh Shihāb-aldin; (c) Shaikh Badr-aldin Sulaimān, who occupied his father's position with the consent of his brothers, and was succeeded by his famous son, Maulānā 'Alā-aldin; (d) Shaikh Nizām-aldin, the father of Khwājah Ibrāhīm, and grandfather of another renowned Shaikh, Maulānā 'Aziz-aldin; and (e) Shaikh Ya'qūb, the father of Maulānā A'azz-aldin (اعزّ الدین) and Khwājah Kādī; and three daughters, viz. (a) Bibi Mastūrah; (b) Bibi Sharīfah, and (c) Bibi Fātimah, the wife of Maulānā Badr-aldin Ishāq, and mother of Khwājah Muḥammad and Khwājah Mūsā; 2. Khwājah Kutb-aldin Bakhtiyār Kākī, son of Khwājah Kamāl-aldin Ahmad bin Mūsā Ūshī (Ūsh is a village in Transoxania, according to others in Farghāna, see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 112); 3. Khwājah Mu'in-aldin Cīstī, see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 110. His death is fixed here in A. H. 632, 6th of Rajab (A. D. 1235, March 27), that is, before Kutb-aldin's, who died A. H. 633, 14th of Rabi'-alawwal (A. D. 1235, Nov. 27). 4. Khwājah 'Uthmān Hārūnī (Hārūn is a village in Khurāsān, or according to others in Farghāna), see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 109. He died A. H. 607, 6th or 16th of Shawwāl (A. D. 1211, March 23 or April 2).

The

Junaidis, beginning with Junaid Baghdādī (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 29, and the Majma'-alauliyā, sixth bāb). 11. The Kāzarūnis, beginning with Abū Ishāk Kāzarūnī (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 292). 12. The Tūsis, beginning with 'Alā-aldin Tūsi, the pupil and spiritual successor of Shaikh Wajih-aldin Abū Ḥafṣ (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 147). 13. The Suhrawardis, beginning with Diyā-aldin Abū Najīb Suhrawardī, likewise a pupil and successor of Wajih-aldin Abū Ḥafṣ (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 122). 14. The Firdausis, beginning with Najm-aldin Kubrā Firdausi (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 124).

The fourteen branch-families (خانوادهای or فروع, otherwise styled silsilas, i. e. subordinate orders, see Rieu i. p. 360^b) are: 1. The Kādiris or Ghanthis (قادرية غوثية), beginning with 'Abd-alkādir Jilānī (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 36, and the Majma'-alauliyā, eighth bāb). 2. The Yasawis, beginning with Aḥmad Yasawī, the pupil and successor of Khwājah Abū Yūsuf Hamadānī (usually called Yūsuf Hamadānī, comp. on both the Safinat-alauliyā, Nos. 73 and 75, the Majma'-alauliyā, seventh bāb, and the Makāmāt-i-Sayyid Atā'i, No. 644 in this Catalogue). 3. The Nakshbandis, beginning with Bahā-aldin Nakshband (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 82). 4. The Nūris, beginning with Abū-alḥasan Nūri (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 201). 5. The Khidrawis, beginning with Aḥmad bin Khidrawāhī (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 174). 6. The Shattāris or 'Ishkis (شطارية عشقیه), beginning with 'Abdallāh Shattār, the pupil and spiritual successor of Shaikh Muḥammad 'Ārif. 7. The Husainis or Bukhāris (حسینیه بخاریه), who trace their line from Sayyid Jalāl Makhdūm-i-Jahānīyān Bukhārī (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 157) back to Imām Ḥusain and 'Alī bin Abī Ṭālib. 8. The Zāhidis, beginning with Khwājah Badr-aldin (in Rieu, loc. cit., Badr-aldin) Zāhid, the pupil and spiritual successor of Fakhr-aldin Zāhid. 9. The Anṣāris, beginning with 'Abdallāh Anṣārī (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 300). 10. The Ṣafawis, beginning with Ṣafī-aldin Ishāk Ardabili, pupil, son-in-law, and successor of Shaikh Zāhid Ibrāhīm Jilānī. 11. The 'Aidarūsīs, beginning with Sayyid 'Abdallāh 'Aidarūsī, the pupil and successor of Shaikh Abūbākr. 12. The Kalandaris, beginning with Shaikh Haidar Kalandar and Shāh Ḥusain Balkhī Kalandar; this order, often called the Kalandari and Cīstī branch (خانواده چشتیه قلندرک) was spread in India by Shāh Khidr-i-Rūmī, a pupil of Khwājah Kuṭb-aldin Bakhtiyār Kāki (No. 2 in the list of Pirs above; comp. also Bodleian Cat., No. 1997). 13. The Uwaisis, who trace their line back to Uwais Karni (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 18); Nizāmī of Ganja was one of the prominent Shaikhs of this order. 14. The Madāris, beginning with Badī-aldin Shāh Madār, whose life has been described by his pupil Shaikh Maḥmūd in his ایمان محمودی (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 358, and Rieu i. p. 361).

16. Nizām-aldin's relations, spiritual successors, down to the author of this book, and pupils (در بیان احوال اقربای صالحین و خلفای راشدین و بعضی مریدان سلطان المشايخ و تفصيل شجره این رافم اوراق که بحضرت سلطان المشايخ (سلطان المشايخ منتهی میشود, on fol. 144^b).

Principal relations: 1. Khwājah Muḥammad, pupil and nephew of Nizām-aldin, son of his sister Bibi Jannat. 2. Khwājah Rafī-aldin Hārūn, son of Khwājah Muḥammad. 3. Khwājah Naf'-aldin Nūh, son of a younger brother of Rafī-aldin Hārūn, who bore likewise the name of Khwājah Muḥammad. 4. Khwājah Abūbākr, a son, or son-in-law, as it seems, of Bibi Jannat, and father of Khwājah 'Aziz-aldin.

The first ten Khalifas or spiritual successors: 1. Naṣir-aldin Muḥammad Cīrāgh of Dihli, son of Shaikh Yahyā Audhī (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 116, and the Siyar-afārifin, No. 12). 2. Shaikh Shams-aldin Muḥammad bin Yahyā. 3. Shaikh Kuṭb-aldin Muawwar bin Shaikh Burhān-aldin bin Shaikh Jamāl-aldin Hānawī; his son was Shaikh Nūr-aldin. 4. Shaikh Ḥusām (so correct instead of جسام in the text) -aldin Multānī. 5. Shaikh Fakhr-aldin Zarāwī. 6. Shaikh 'Alā-aldin 'Alī. 7. Shaikh Burhān-aldin Gharīb (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 117), died the 12th of Ṣafar, A. H. 732 (A. D. 1331, Nov. 14), at Daulatābād. 8. Shaikh Wajih-aldin Yūsuf II. 9. Shaikh Shihāb-aldin Imām, died in Dihli. 10. Shaikh Sirāj-aldin 'Uthmān, known as Akhī Sirāj. All these ten Khalifas survived Nizām-aldin by a few years only.

The chain of Khalifas which connects Shaikh Sirāj-aldin with the author of this work, Muḥammad Būlāk, is as follows: 11. Shaikh 'Alā-alḥaḳḳ wa-aldin Bangālī, pupil and successor of Akhī Sirāj, and son of 'Umar bin As'ad Lāhūrī. 12. Shaikh Nūr Kuṭb-i-'ālam, son and successor of the preceding Shaikh. 13. Makhdūm Shaikh Ḥusām (here again spelt جسام) -aldin of Mānikpūr (a place in Audh, see W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 998). 14. Sayyid Rāji Hāmidshāh. 15. Shaikh Ḥasan Ṭāhir, originally of Jaunpūr, came under Sultān Sikandar (i. e. Sikandar Shāh Lūdi, A. H. 894-923 = A. D. 1489-1517) to Dihli. 16. Kādikhān Yūsuf Nāṣihī (in one place here ماصحی Māṣihī). 17. Shāh 'Abd-al'aziz Kashkī (کاشکی), with the honorary epithet of Jamāl-alḥaḳḳ, the younger son of Shaikh Ḥasan Ṭāhir, and brother of Shāh Diyā, came from Jaunpūr to Dihli, and lived there seventy years. 18. Shāh Najm-alḥaḳḳ wa-aldin Cā'in lodhā (جائین لدھا). 19. Shaikh Balā-aldin Shāhābādī (Shāhābād is a place near Karnāl). 20. Hadrat Shāh Aḥmad Asad-allāh. 21. Makhdūm Shāh Khūb-allāh (خوب الله), son and successor of the preceding Shaikh, and Pir and predecessor of Muḥammad Būlāk, who was honoured by him with the epithet of Kamāl-alḥaḳḳ wa-aldin, and appointed his Khalifah, in the 84th year of Makhdūm Shāh, and the 50th of his own life.

Principal pupils of Nizām-aldin: 1. Khwājah Abūbākr of Māndū. 2. Kādī Muḥyi-aldin Kāshānī. 3. Amīr Khnsrau of Dihli, the great poet who only survived his master's death by six months, and died the 18th of Shawwāl, A. H. 725 (A. D. 1325, September 27). 4. Amīr Ḥasan, the poet. 5. Maulānā Wajih-aldin Pā'ili (پايلي). 6. Maulānā Fakhr-aldin Rūzī (or perhaps Rūzani). 7. Maulānā Faṣīḥ-aldin. 8. Maulānā Jamāl-aldin. 9. Maulānā Jalāl-aldin (the last three died during their master's lifetime). 10. Khwājah Muḥammad Imām ibn Maulānā Badr-aldin Ishāk (the husband of Bibi Fāṭimah, daughter of Shaikh Farid-aldin Ganj-i-shakar), author of the انوار المجالس in which he collected the sayings of Nizām-aldin. 11. Khwājah Mūsā, brother of the preceding Khwājah. 12. Maulānā 'Aziz-aldin Ṣūfī, son of Bibī Mastūrah, one of Shaikh Farid-aldin Ganj-i-shakar's daughters (see about the last three above, in maṭlab 15), and author of the تحفة الأبرار, in which sayings of Nizām-aldin are collected also. 13. Khwājah Karim-aldin bin Khwājah Kamāl-aldin Samarkandī, who married the daughter of Khwājah Muḥammad (No. 10), the grandson of Farid-aldin Ganj-i-shakar. 14. Kādi Sharaf-aldin Firūzgahī (فیروزگاهی). 15. Maulānā Bahā-aldin Audhī, originally of Multān; he lived and died in Dihli. 16. Shaikh Mubārak Ghūyā, called Amirdād, because he was Amirdād or Mirdād (i.e. chief-justice) under Sultān 'Alā-aldin Khiljī (see above, in maṭlab 9). 17. Khwājah Mu'ayyid-aldin Kurri, who was originally prefect of کریه under Sultān Jalāl-aldin (i.e. Jalāl-aldin Khiljī, see above, maṭlab 9). 18. Khwājah Tāj-aldin Dāwari. 19. Khwājah Diyā-aldin Barani, intimate friend of Amir Khusrau and Amir Ḥasan, rose to a high position under Sultān Muḥammad Tughluḳshāh (see above, maṭlab 9), and composed a number of renowned works, for instance, the ثنای محمدی, the صلوات, مآثر سادات, عنایت نامه الهی, and particularly the تاریخ فیروزشاهی (see above, No. 211, in this Cat., and also No. 569, where the same author's انخبار برمکیان are noticed). 20. Khwājah Mu'ayyid-aldin Anṣārī. 21. Khwājah Shams-aldin, a nephew of the poet Amir Ḥasan (by others, but wrongly, called a nephew of Amir Khusrau). 22. Hāji Nizām-aldin Shirāzi. 23. Khwājah Sālār. 24. Maulānā Fakhr-aldin of Mirath (Meerut). 25. Maulānā Mahmūd. 26. Maulānā 'Alā-aldin of Andhipat. 27. Maulānā Shihāb-aldin کشتواری. 28. Maulānā Ḥajib-aldin Multānī. 29. Maulānā Badr-aldin نوله. 30. Maulānā Rukn-aldin چغمه. 31. Khwājah Aḥmad Badā'ūni. 32. Khwājah Kuṭb-aldin Kuhausālī. 33. Maulānā Najm-aldin Maḥbūb, with the epithet Shakarkhān-i-Thānisari (شکرخان), also called Janbi (جنبی), he wrote a book, containing sayings of his master (ملفوظات آنحضرت). 35. Maulānā Yūsuf Badā'ūni. 36. Maulānā Kādi یشه باثلی. 37. Maulānā Kīwām-aldin Yakdāna Audhī. 38. Maulānā Burhān-aldin Sāwī. 39. Khwājah 'Abd-al'aziz Bāngarmū'i. 40. Maulānā Jamāl-aldin Audhī. 41. Shaikh Nizām-aldin Mū'i (موئی), friend of Shaikh Sharaf-aldin Munyari (died A. H. 782 = A. D. 1380, 1381), who went for his sake to Bihār, and settled there. 42. Kādi 'Abd-alkarim فدوی, lived and died in Audh. 43. Kādi Kīwām-aldin فدوی. 44. Makhdūm Shaikh Ḥaidar. 45. Sayyid Muḥammad (bin Mubārak) Kirmāni, the author of the سیر الاولیا (see Rieu iii. p. 976^a).

17. Pithy sayings and stories of Nizām-aldin, as collected by Amir Ḥasan, Amir Khusrau, and other pupils of his در بیان بعضی کلمات و حکایات نوادر که بر زبان دربار گهر نثار سلطان المشایخ گذشته و آنها را امیر حسن و امیر خسرو و غیره مریدان در تصانیف خود جمع کرده (بنوک قلم در آورده اند, on fol. 169^b.

Beginning of the whole work, on fol. 1^b: لله الحمد و المنة که دین متین خاتم النبیین را بر آئین انبیای بزمین سلام الله علیهم اجمعین کرامت و شرافت بخشید الخ.

A full index of the seventeen maṭlabs is found on ff. 2^b, 3^a, 3^b, and 5^a. The proper order of the leaves, which are curiously misplaced, is: ff. 1-3, 5, 4, 6-106, 115-121, 107-114, 122-175. Among the numerous authorities, constantly referred to in this work, the most prominent and most frequently occurring ones are: فوائد القواد and راحت المحبتین, both containing sayings and discourses of Nizām-aldin, taken down by his pupils (the latter by Amir Ḥasan, see above, and comp. Rieu iii. p. 973^b); راحت القلوب by Farid-aldin Ganj-i-shakar (ib. p. 974^a); اوراد جشتیه (see Nos. 637-639 in this Cat.); سیر العارفین by Sayyid Muḥammad Kirmāni (see above), etc.

This copy was transcribed A. H. 1137 (A. D. 1724, 1725), in Muḥammadshāh's reign, by Sayyid Mir Muḥammad Ganjāhi (گنجاهی), known as گجرائی شاه دوله (!).

كتاب چشتية بهشتيه نوار الانوار
گلزار الابرار

and others (a work often quoted in this book, but not mentioned in the list of authorities, is the جوهر فردي, see further below).

The Sawāṭi'-alanwār are divided into four اقتباس (found here respectively on ff. 7^b, 45^a, 91^a, and 358^b), each subdivided into three نور, with many smaller divisions, called شعاع, لامع, and ساطع.

The first Iktibās treats of the lives and deeds of Muhammad, the first four Khalīfs, and the twelve Imāms.

The second, third, and fourth Iktibās give detailed biographies of the whole chain of Cīshī Pīrs, from Ḥasan Baṣrī to the author's own father Muḥammad 'Alī, covering a space of more than 1000 years.

List of the great Cīshī Shāikhs in the order of their spiritual succession (the first seventeen are identical with those given in the fifteenth maṭlab of the preceding work, of course in an inverted order):

1. Khwājah Ḥasan Baṣrī, son of Abū-alḥasan Yaṣār, with the Kunyas Abū Sa'īd and Abū Muḥammad, born

A.H. 21 (A.D. 642), died. 89 years old, the 1st or 5th of Rajab, A.H. 110 (A.D. 728, October 10 or 14), on fol.
45^a (No. 17 in the Maṭlūb-altālibin).

2. Khwājah 'Abd-alwāḥid bin Zaid, died the 27th of Ṣafar, A.H. 177 (A.D. 793, June 13); the تأريخ المصر fixes his death as early as A.H. 128 (!), on fol. 52^b (No.
16 in the Maṭlūb-altālibin).

3. Khwājah Fudail bin 'Iyād, with the Kunyas Abū
'Alī and Abū-alfaid, on fol. 56^b (No. 15 in the Maṭlūbaltālibin; as birth-places are given here: Marw, Bukhārā, Kūfah, or Samarkand).

4. Khwājah Ibrāhīm bin Adham, died the 16th of Jumādā-alawwal, A.H. 161, 162, or 166 (A.D. 778, February 19, 779, February 8, or 782, December 26), on fol. 62^a (No. 14 in the Maṭlūb-altālibin; his father's name is given here as Adham bin Sulaimān bin Maṣṣūr Tamīmī).

5. Sayyid Badr-aldin Ḥudhaifah almar'ashī, contemporary with Shāḡik Balkhī and Abū Sulaimān Dārānī, exchanged many letters with Yūsuf-i-Asbāt, on fol.
70^b (No. 13 in the Maṭlūb-altālibin; date of death, as in all other biographies, only the 4th of Shawwāl).

6. Shaikh Amin-aldin Ḥubairah albaṣrī, died the 8th of Shawwāl (no year mentioned), 120 or even 130 years old, on fol. 71^b (No. 12 in the Maṭlūb-altālibin).

7. Khwājah 'Ulū Dinawari (Dinawar is a place in Kūhistān, between Hamadāu and Baghdād, near Kar-mīsīn or Kirmīsīn, قرمسين, the Arabicised Kirmānshāh), died the 24th of Muḥarram (no year), on fol. 73^a (No.
11 in the Maṭlūb-altālibin).

8. Sharīf-aldin Abū Ishāḡ Cīshī (Cīshī is a place in Khurāsān, in the district of Harāt; another Cīshī is in India, near Multāu), on fol. 73^b (No. 10 in the Maṭlūbaltālibin).

9. Abū Aḡmad Abdāl Cīshī, died, 95 years old, A.H.
355 (A.D. 966), on fol. 75^a (No. 9 in the Maṭlūb-altālibin).

10. Khwājah Abū Muḥammad Cīshī, son of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 76^b. His death is fixed here on the 4th of Rabī'-althānī, A.H. 421=A.D. 1030, April 11 (No. 8 in the Maṭlūb-altālibin).

11. Khwājah Nāṣir-aldin Abū Yūsuf Cīshī, son of Khwājah Muḥammad Sim'ān (سمعان) ibn Sayyid Ibrā-hīm ibn Sayyid Muḥammad ibn Sayyid Ḥusain ibn
Sayyid 'Abdallāh, known as 'Alī Akbar, ibn Imām 'Alī
Naḡī ibn Imām Muḥammad Takī aljawād, etc., on fol.
79^b. He left two sons: Khwājah Kutb-aldin Maudūd, his Khāḡfah, and Tāj-aldin Abū-alfath, and died the 3rd of Rajab, A.H. 459=A.D. 1067, May 20 (No. 7 in the Maṭlūb-altālibin).

12. Khwājah Kutb-aldin Maudūd Cīshī, died A.H.
527=A.D. 1133, on fol. 81^a (No. 6 in the Maṭlūb-altālibin). His three most prominent Khalīfas were: (a) Hāji Sharīf Zandani; (b) Khwājah Aḡmad, born A.H.
507, died A.H. 577=A.D. 1113, 1114-1181, 1182 (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 106), Maudūd's son, and brother of Khwājah 'Abd-al'ah; (c) Shāh Sanjān, i.e. Rukn-aldin Maḡmūd, died A.H. 597=A.D. 1200, 1201 (Safinatalauliyā, No. 107).

13. Khwājah Hāji Sharīf Zandani, died the 3rd of Rajab (year unknown), on fol. 87^b (No. 5 in the Maṭlūbaltālibin).

14. Khwājah 'Uthmān Hārūnī (Hārūn is a place in the district of Nishāpūr or in that of Farghāna), on fol. 88^b (No. 4 in the Maṭlūb-altālībīn).

15. Khwājah Mu'in-aldin 'Īshtī Sijzi, son of Khwājah Ghiyāth-aldin Hasan ibn Sayyid Ahmad Hasan ibn Sayyid Tāhir ibn Sayyid 'Abd-al'aziz ibn Sayyid Ibrāhīm ibn Imām 'Alī Ridā ibn Imām Mūsā Kāzīm ibn Imām Ja'far Ṣādiq ibn Imām Muḥammad Bākir ibn Imām Zayn-al-'ābidīn ibn Imām Ḥusain, on fol. 91^b (No. 3 in the Maṭlūb-altālībīn). He was born, A. H. 537 (A. D. 1142, 1143), in Sijstān, went to India and enjoyed the tuition and companionship of 'Abd-alkādir Jilānī and Najm-aldin Kubrā, and died the 6th of Rajab, or according to others, the 20th of Dhū-al-ḥijjah, A. H. 632 = A. D. 1235, March 27 or September 5, quite as in the preceding work. He had two wives, viz. Bibi 'Ismat, the daughter of Shaikh Wajih-aldin Mashhadī, and Immat or Ummat-allāh (امّة الله), a Rājah's daughter; one daughter, Bibi Ḥāfiẓ Jamāl, and three sons, viz. (a) Shaikh Abū Ṣā'id, (b) Shaikh Faṭh-aldin, (c) Shaikh Ḥusām-aldin. His two most renowned disciples and Khalifas were: (a) Ḳuṭb-aldin Bakhtiyār, and (b) Ḥamid-aldin Ṣūfī alsa'idi alnāgūri alsiwālī (السوّالي), Siwāl being one of the townships of Nāgūr, with the Kunyah Abū Ahmad and the epithet of Sulṭān-altārikīn, died the 11th of Ramaḍān, A. H. 641 (A. D. 1244, February 22), or, more correctly, the 29th of Rabi'-alākhar, A. H. 673 = A. D. 1274, Nov. 1 (see the Safinat-akauliyā, No. 111).

16. Khwājah Ḳuṭb-aldin Bakhtiyār Kāki Ūshī, son of Khwājah Kamāl-aldin bin Ahmad bin Mūsā Ūshī, on fol. 107^b (No. 2 in the Maṭlūb-altālībīn). His chief disciples were: (a) Shaikh Farid-aldin Ganj-i-shakar; (b) Shaikh Badr-aldin Ghaznawī, who came from Ghazna to Lāhūr, and later on to Dihli, whose Khalifah was Shaikh Imām-aldin Abdāl, succeeded by Shaikh Shihāb-aldin 'Ashīq, whose Khalifah again was Shaikh 'Imād-aldin Dihlawī, likewise a pupil of Imām-aldin Abdāl, succeeded in his turn by Shaikh Tāj-aldin Imām; (c) Shāh Khidr Rūmī (see the list of subordinate orders of the 'Īshtīs, No. 12 in the Maṭlūb-altālībīn), whose pupil was Shaikh Najm-aldin Kalandar; (d) Kādī Ḥanīd-aldin Nāgūri (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 149), with his real name: Muḥammad bin 'Atā, who belonged at the same time to the Suhrawardī order, being a disciple of Shaikh Shihāb-aldin Suhrawardī, and died the 5th of Ramaḍān, A. H. 643 (A. D. 1246, January 24), at Dihli; his son was Maulānā Nāsih-aldin.

17. Shaikh Farid-aldin Maṣ'ūd Ajwadhani Ganj-i-shakar, on fol. 118^b (No. 1 in the Maṭlūb-altālībīn). His father's name appears here as Shaikh (or Kādī) Jamāl-aldin Sulaimān bin Shaikh Shu'āib bin Shaikh Ahmad II bin Shaikh Yūsuf bin Shaikh Muḥammad bin Shaikh Shihāb-aldin bin Shaikh Ahmad I (known as Farrukhshāh of Kābul) bin Shaikh Naṣir-aldin bin Sulṭān Maḥmūd bin Shaikh Sāmān bin Shaikh Maṣ'ūd bin Shaikh 'Abdallāh Khwurd bin Wā'iz alagghar bin Wā'iz alakbar bin Shaikh Abū-alfath bin Shaikh Ishāq bin Shaikh Ibrāhīm bin Shaikh Naṣir-aldin bin Shaikh 'Abdallāh Kalān ibn Amir-almu'minin 'Umar ibn Alkhaṭṭāb. His elder brother was Shaikh 'Azz-aldin Muḥammad, his younger brother Shaikh Najib-aldin Mutawakkil. His death is fixed here, as usual, on the 5th of Muḥarram, A. H. 664 (A. D. 1265, Oct. 17), when he was 95 years old; but the immediately following remark, that he survived by 35 years Ḳuṭb-aldin Bakhtiyār Kāki (who died the 14th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 633), would rather point to A. H. 668, the date given in the preceding work. As ta'rikh, however, appears فرید الله شد (= 664). Both order and names of the five sons and three daughters of Ganj-i-shakar are the same as in the Maṭlūb-altālībīn, except that the first is called here (probably more correctly) Shaikh Naṣir-aldin, known as Naṣr-allāh; but according to the جواهر فریدی—a statement which the author of this work has apparently adopted—the five sons were: (a) Shihāb-aldin Ganj-i-'ilm, (b) Nizām-aldin Shahid, (c) Badr-aldin Sulaimān, (d) Shaikh Ya'qūb, (e) 'Abdallāh, who died very young; Shaikh Naṣr-allāh was, according to this authority, only a stepson (ریب). The proper order of Ganj-i-shakar's three daughters, according to the same authority, is: Bibi Fātimah, Bibi Sharifah, and Bibi Mastūrah, who became the wife of Shaikh 'Umar Ṣūfī Fārūkī and the mother of Shaikh 'Izz-aldin (so on fol. 186^a, last line, whereas on fol. 165^b, line 7, he is called 'Aḍud-aldin, and in the Maṭlūb-altālībīn, 16th maṭlab, No. 12 in the list of pupils: 'Aziz-aldin). Ganj-i-shakar's wife was a daughter of Sulṭān Ghiyāth-aldin Balban (see the Maṭlūb-altālībīn, 9th maṭlab).

Ganj-i-shakar's grandchildren: I. Sons of Shaikh Shihāb-aldin Ganj-i-'ilm: (a) Shaikh Ḥusām-aldin, (b) Shaikh 'Abd-alḥamid, (c) Shaikh Maṣ'ūd, (d) Shaikh Muḥammad, (e) Shaikh 'Alshir, (f) Shaikh Jamshid. II. Sons of Shaikh Nizām-aldin: (a) 'Aḍud-aldin, known as Shaikh Ibrāhīm, father of Shaikh Nūr-aldin (called in the Maṭlūb-altālībīn: 'Aziz-aldin), the father of Khwājah 'Aḍud-aldin, who had again three sons: Khwājah Badr-aldin, Khwājah Rukn-aldin, and Shaikh Khwājah; (b) Khwājah 'Alī, the father of Shaikh Salār. Shaikh Nūr-aldin, Shaikh Yahyā, and Shaikh Khusrāu. III. Sons and daughters of Shaikh Badr-aldin Sulaimān: A. Issue of his wife, Bibi Malkū (ملکور), the daughter of Kādī Abū Muslim: (a) Shaikh Muḥammad 'Alā-aldin Manj-i-daryā, who was for 50, or even 54 years, his father's Khalifah, and had two sons: Shaikh Mu'izz-aldin and Shaikh 'Alam-aldin; the list of lineal descendants of Manj-i-daryā goes down to Shaikh Tāj-aldin Maḥmūd, who died the 17th of Ṣafar, A. H. 1019 (A. D. 1610, May 11), 85 years old, a short time after the death of his son Shaikh Fa'id-allāh (died, 55 years old, the 25th of Dhū-al-ḥijjah, A. H. 1018 = A. D. 1610, March 21), in whose place he had appointed his grandson, Shaikh Ibrāhīm, Fa'id-allāh's son. Shaikh Ibrāhīm had four sons: Shaikh Muḥammad (died A. H. 1024, the 18th of Muḥarram = A. D. 1615, Feb. 17), Shaikh Ilāh-bakhsh, Shaikh Ghulam Muḥammad, and Shaikh Jān Muḥammad; (b) Shaikh Muḥammad Shahid; (c) Shaikh Maḥmūd; (d) Shaikh Tāj-aldin; (e) Bibi 'Iffat; (f) Bibi Ṣafiyah; (g) Bibi Zainab; (h) Bibi Raḳīyyah. B. Issue of his wife, Bibi Ḥājirān: (a) Shaikh Maudūd, (b) Shaikh Ahmad, (c) a daughter, whose name is not mentioned. IV. Sons and daughter of Shaikh Ya'qūb: (a) Khwājah 'Aḍud-aldin (called in the Maṭlūb-altālībīn: 'Aazz-aldin), (b) Khwājah Kādī, (c) Bibi 'Izzat. V.

Sons of Shaikh Naṣir-al-din or Naṣr-allāh: (a) Khwājah Bāyazīd, (b) Khwājah Nīmat-allāh, (c) Khwājah 'Abd-allāh, (d) Khwājah Karīm-al-din, (e) Khwājah Ibrāhīm, (f) Khwājah 'Abd-alraṣhīd (a Maulānā Kamāl-al-din, who appears as Shaikh Naṣir-al-din's son in the Maṭlūb-alṭālibin, is not mentioned here at all).

18. Shaikh Najīb-al-din Mutawakkil (see above in the Siyar-al'arifin, No. 10, and the Maṭlūb-alṭālibin, 5th maṭlab), the brother and Khalīfah of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 189^a. He died the 9th of Ramaḍān, A. H. 669 (A. D. 1271, April 21), at Dihli, in the reign of Ghiyāth-al-din Balban.

19. Shaikh Jamāl-al-din Hānsawī, with his real name Aḥmad, died during Farīd-al-din Ganj-i-shakar's lifetime, on fol. 191^a. Shaikh Abūbakr Tūsī Haidarī Kālandar and Shaikh Ḥusām-al-din of Andipat (اندت) were among his companions and disciples; his son was Shaikh Burhān-al-din, the father of Shaikh Kuṭb-al-din Munawwar (one of Nizām-al-din Auliya's Khalīfas, see the Maṭlūb-alṭālibin, 16th maṭlab, No. 3 in the list of Khalīfas).

20. Shaikh Badr-al-din Ishāq bin 'Alī bin Ishāq, of Dihli, pupil, Khalīfah, and son-in-law of Farīd-al-din Ganj-i-shakar (see the Maṭlūb-alṭālibin, 15th maṭlab, No. 1), on fol. 194^a.

21. Shaikh Nizām-alḥaqq wa-al-din Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin 'Alī albukhārī (see a different statement in the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 114, and the Maṭlūb-alṭālibin), with the honorary epithets of Sulṭān-al-mashāyikh and Nizām-alauliyā, on fol. 196^a. His paternal as well as his maternal grandfather, Khwājah 'Alī and Khwājah 'Arab, came from Bukhārā, stayed some time in Lāhūr, and settled then in Badā'un; both were descendants of the Khalīf 'Alī bin Abī Tālib, their respective genealogies being: (a) Khwājah 'Alī bin Sayyid 'Abdallāh bin Sayyid Ḥusain bin Sayyid 'Alī bin Sayyid Aḥmad bin Sayyid Abī 'Abdallāh bin Sayyid 'Alī Aṣghar bin Sayyid Ja'far bin Imām 'Alī Hādī bin Imām Muḥammad Jawād bin Imām 'Alī Ridā bin Imām Mūsā Kāzim, etc.; (b) Khwājah 'Arab bin Sayyid Abū-almafākhīr bin Sayyid Muḥammad Aṭhar, one of the Khalīfas of 'Abd-alḥādīr Jilānī, and son of the same Sayyid Ḥusain bin Sayyid 'Alī, who appears as grandfather of Khwājah 'Alī, above.

22. Shaikh Naṣir-al-din Maḥmūd Cīrāgh of Dihli, son of Shaikh Yahyā Audhī (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 116, and the Maṭlūb-alṭālibin, 16th maṭlab, No. 1 in the list of Khalīfas), on fol. 246^a. His prominent disciples and Khalīfas were: (a) Sayyid Muḥammad Gīsūdarāz bin Sayyid Yūsuf alḥasanī aldiḥlawī, born in Dihli, the 4th of Rajab, A. H. 720 = A. D. 1320, August 10 (the usual date is 721, see Rieu i. p. 347), died at Gulbarga, 105 years old, A. H. 825 (A. D. 1422), in the reign, as is stated here, of Sulṭān Firūz-shāh Ghiyāth-al-din bin Muḥammadshāh (more correctly: Almad-khān, see above, No. 449 in this Cat.) bin Shāh 'Alā-al-din Bahmanī (who died in Shawwāl, A. H. 825; Rieu, loc. cit., fixes Gīsūdarāz' death on the 16th of Dhū-alḥādah of that year, soon after the accession of Sulṭān Aḥmadshāh I); his spiritual successor was his grandson, Mīr Sayyid Yad-allāh, and among the latter's successors was the poet Shaikh Rizq-allāh, with the takhalluṣ Mush-tāki in his Persian and that of Rājan in his Hindūstāuī poems, born A. H. 897 (A. D. 1492), died the 20th of

Rabī'-alawwal, A. H. 989 (A. D. 1581, April 24), according to the ta'rikh مشتاق حقم, 92 years old. Other pupils and Khalīfas of Gīsūdarāz were Shaikh Abū-alfath 'Alā-al-din Kuraishi, the author of a تکمیل on syntax and a مشاهدہ on Sūfism, and Gīsūdarāz' own son, Shaikh 'Alā-al-din, the father of the renowned Shaikh Ṣadr-al-din Ḥakīm. (b) Sayyid Muḥammad ibn Sayyid Ja'far Makki, author of the بحر المعانی on Sūfism, of a رسالہ در بیان روح, of another risālah, styled بحر نکات, and of the بحر الانساب (on the Ahl-i-Bait); he lived from the time of Sulṭān Muḥammad Tughluḳ (reigned A. H. 725-752 = A. D. 1325-1351) to that of Sulṭān Bahlūl (reigned A. H. 854-894 = A. D. 1450-1489), and reached an age of more than 100 years; (c) Maulānā Khwājagī, the spiritual teacher of Kādi Shihāb-al-din; (d) Shaikh Ṣadr-al-din Ḥakīm (different from the Shaikh of the same name, mentioned above as one of Gīsūdarāz' Khalīfas); (e) Kādi 'Abd-almuḥtadir ibn Kādi Rukn-al-din alsharīḥī alkaundī, author of Arabic ḳasīdas and ghazals, and of a counterpart to the لامية العجم; (f) Kādi Maḥmūd سبایو, the spiritual teacher of Khwājah Ikhtiyār-al-din 'Umar Īrīcī, died A. H. 809, the 14th of Muḥarram (A. D. 1406, July 1); (g) Kādi Fakhr-al-din بجلوری, also pupil and Khalīfah of Nizām-al-din Auliya; (h) Khwājah Khānūn of Gwāliyar (here spelt گوالیری), one of the later Khalīfas of Naṣir-al-din Maḥmūd, pupil of Khwājah Ḥusain Nāgūri, and Pir of Shaikh Nizām-al-din Nāmauli, whose tuition the great Sulṭān Akbar enjoyed; (i) Sayyid Jalāl-al-din Bukhārī, son of Sayyid Aḥmad Kabir, and brother of Sayyid Ṣadr-al-din Rājū Kattāl of Bukhārā (died A. H. 827 = A. D. 1424), with the epithet of Makhdūm-i-Jahāniyān (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 157; Siyar-al'arifin, No. 13), pupil of Shaikh Rukn-al-din Abū-alfath Kuraishi ibn Shaikh Ṣadr-al-din ibn Shaikh Bahā-al-din Zakariyyā Multānī, and friend of Imām Abū 'Abdallāh Yāfi'; his sayings are collected in the خزائن جلالی; among his disciples and Khalīfas are mentioned: (a) Shaikh Yūsuf Budhī of Īrīcī, who was also a pupil of Ikhtiyār-al-din (see above) and of Ṣadr-al-din Rājū Kattāl, and translated Muḥammad Ghazālī's منهاج العابدین into Persian (died A. H. 834 = A. D. 1430, 1431); another of Jalāl-al-din Bukhārī's pupils, whose name is not given, translated into Persian the تکملة روض الراحين by 'Abdallāh Yāfi' (the same which is described above in No. 643 of this Cat.); (b) Shaikh Kiwām-al-din, the spiritual guide of Shaikh Sārang, who was originally one of the Amirs of Sulṭān Firūz-shāh, and founded the city of Sārangpūr, but afterwards renounced the world, performed the pilgrimage, and was for some time a pupil of Shaikh Yūsuf Īrīcī; (γ) Shaikh Sirāj-al-din Sūkhā; (δ) Sayyid Burhān-al-din Kuṭb-i-'ālam, grandson of Jalāl-al-din Bukhārī and father of Shāh-i-manjhan, with the epithet of Shāh 'Ālam; he died in Aḥmadābād, the 8th of Dhū-alḥijjah, A. H. 857 (A. D. 1453, Dec. 10); Shāh 'Ālam died A. H. 880 (A. D. 1475, 1476). (j) Shaikh Fath-allāh Audhī, Khalīfah of Shaikh Ṣadr-al-din Ḥakīm (mentioned under d), and spiritual guide of Shaikh Darwish Kāsim Audhī Dihlawī, the author of a risālah, styled آداب السالکين; (k) Shaikh Abū-alfath Jaunpūri, pupil of his grandfather Kādi 'Abd-almuqtadir (mentioned under e), and author of excellent Arabic kaṣīdas as well as of Persian poetry, born the 14th of Muḥarram, A. H. 772 (A. D. 1370, August 8), died the 23rd of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 858 (A. D. 1454, March 23).

23. Shaikh Sirāj-al-din 'Uthmān, known as Akhi Sirāj, one of the most renowned successors of Nizām-al-din Auliya, on fol. 291^b (see the Maṭlūb-al-tālibin, 16th maṭlab, No. 10 in the list of Khalifas), whose spiritual successor was Shaikh 'Alā-al-din biu As'ad Lāhūrī Bangālī; the son, pupil, and Khalifah of the latter was Shāh Nūr-al-din Kuṭb-i-'ālam, author of مکتوبات, full of deep thoughts, and father of Shaikh Rif'at-al-din and Shaikh Anwar. One of the prominent disciples of Shaikh 'Alā-al-din Bangālī was Sayyid Ashraf Jahāngir (Simnāni, as we learn from fol. 360^a, l. 3, and Rieu i. p. 361^a; died A. H. 840 = A. D. 1436, 1437), who travelled in company with Sayyid 'Alī Hamadāni, and took 'Alā-al-din as Pir when he came to India; he was also contemporary with Kādi Shihāb-al-din Daulatābādī, and a friend of Shāh Madār (who also died A. H. 840, see Rieu, loc. cit.); his discourses were collected in a volume, which bore the title of لطائف اشرفی, see the list of authorities above. A renowned pupil and Khalifah of Shaikh Nūr-al-din Kuṭb-i-'ālam was Shaikh Ḥusām-al-din of Mānikpūr (see the Maṭlūb-al-tālibin, 16th maṭlab, Nos. 11-13 in the list of Khalifas), whose sayings and discourses were collected in the ربيع العارفين. Ḥusām-al-din's chief disciple and Khalifah was Rājī Ḥāmidshāh, the father of Rājī Sayyid Nūr, and the spiritual guide of Shaikh Ḥasan Ṭāhir of Jaunpūr, who wrote the Sūfic work مفتاح الفيض, and died in Dihli, the 24th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 909 (A. D. 1503, September 16). Ḥasan Ṭāhir was the friend of Maulānā Ilāhdād (or as the name is pointed here distinctly: Allāhdād, آللهداد) of Jaunpūr, the commentator of the كافي and the هداية, and the Pir of Shaikh Ma'rūf of Jaunpūr, whose pupil was Shaikh Nizām-al-din of Amptla (or Ompta in Bangālāh, here spelt both امپتله and امپتله, see fol. 303^a, last line, and fol. 303^b, l. 13), who died A. H. 981 (A. D. 1573, 1574).

Other renowned Khalifas and disciples of Nizām-al-din Auliya (added here to the chapter on Sirāj-al-din 'Uthmān) were: (a) Shaikh Kuṭb-al-din Munawwar bin Shaikh Burhān-al-din bin Shaikh Jamāl-al-din Hānsawī, see No. 19, above. His son was Shaikh Nūr-al-din, and his chief Khalifah Sayyid Tāj-al-din Shirsuwar; (b) Shaikh Shihāb-al-din Imām (see the Maṭlūb-al-tālibin, 16th maṭlab, No. 9 in the list of Khalifas), whose son was Shaikh Rukn-al-din. A pupil of the latter was the poet Mas'ūd-i-Bakk (died A. H. 800 = A. D. 1397, 1398, comp. Bodleian Catal., No. 856, and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 486), with his original name Shirkhān, a relative of Sultān Firūz of Dihli, author of a diwān and various Sūfic works, for instance, the تمهيدات, similar to 'Ain-alkuḍāt Hamadāni's (died A. H. 525 = A. D. 1130, 1131, or 533 = A. D. 1138, 1139), تمهيدات, مرآة العارفين, which is divided into fourteen كشف (the fourteenth of which, on the soul, في بيان حقيقة الروح, is quoted here in full), and others; (c) Shaikh Ḥusām-al-din Mūl-tāni (see the Maṭlūb-al-tālibin, 16th maṭlab, No. 4 in the list of Khalifas), who entered into Nizām-al-din's tuition together with Maulānā Jamāl-al-din Nuṣratkhāni and Maulānā Sharaf-al-din, and died in Patan (i. e. Pākpatan) in the same year in which Sultān Muḥammad Tughluq ordered the inhabitants of Dihli to remove to Diwgir (Deogiri, as it is called in Elphinstone, History of India, 5th ed., p. 408); (d) Shaikh Fakhr-al-din Zarāwī (see the Maṭlūb-al-tālibin, 16th maṭlab, No. 5 in the list of Khalifas) or Zarādi, as it appears to be spelt here, who visited Shaikh Mu'm-al-din in Ajmir, and Shaikh Farid-al-din Ganj-i-shakar in Ajwadhan; at the time of the removal of the inhabitants of Dihli to Diwgir he went on a pilgrimage to Makkah, thence to Baghdād, and, finally, longing for his old home, Dihli, he started on his return voyage to India; but his ship was lost, and he perished with it; (e) Maulānā Fakhr-al-din Marwazi (perhaps identical with No. 6 in the list of Nizām-al-din's pupils, in the 16th maṭlab of the Maṭlūb-al-tālibin, called there Fakhr-al-din Rūzi or Rūzani); (f) Maulānā 'Alā-al-din Naili (so distinctly pointed), who is called 'Alā-al-din 'Alī, see No. 6 in the above list of Khalifas; (g) Shaikh Burhān-al-din Gharib, usually called Burhān-i-Auliya (see above, No. 7 in the list of Khalifas), died a few years after Nizām-al-din; (h) Maulānā 'Alī Shāh Jāndār, author of the خلاصة اللطائف; (i) Sayyid Muḥammad bin Muḥarak bin Muḥammad al-Kirmāni, author of the سيرة الاربعة; (j) Maulānā Shams-al-din Yahyā (called Shams-al-din Muḥammad bin Yahyā in the Maṭlūb-al-tālibin, 16th maṭlab, No. 2 in the list of Khalifas); (k) Kādi Muḥyi-al-din Kāshāni (see the above maṭlab, No. 2 in the list of pupils), died before Nizām-al-din; (l) Maulānā Wajih-al-din Yūsuf (see the above maṭlab, No. 8 in the list of Khalifas, where he is called Yūsuf II); (m) Amir Khusrāu, the poet, died the 18th of Shawwāl, A. H. 725 (A. D. 1325, September 27); (n) Amir Ḥasan bin 'Alā-i-Sanjari Dihlawi, the poet and collector of the فوائد المراد, or sayings and discourses of Shaikh Nizām-al-din; (o) Khwājāh Shams-al-din, here called a nephew of Amir Khusrāu (but see the Maṭlūb-al-tālibin, loc. cit., No. 21 in the list of pupils); (p) Khwājāh Diyā-al-din Barani (ib., No. 19); one of his works, mentioned here, is the حسرت نامه, or book of regret, an extract of which is given.

24. Kuṭb-i-abdāl Shaikh 'Alā-al-din 'Alī bin Ahmad Ṣābir, pupil of Farid-al-din Ganj-i-shakar, on fol. 320^b. The Akhbār-alakhyār (see No. 640 in this Cat.) represent him as nephew and son-in-law of Farid-al-din, but that statement is not corroborated by any of the detailed accounts of that Shaikh's family, both in the present work and in the Maṭlūb-al-tālibin. He died before Nizām-al-din, the 13th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 690 (A. D. 1291, March 16).

25. Shaikh Shams-al-din Turk Pānīpatī, the Khalifah of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 325^a. He was the son of Khwājāh Ahmad Buzurg ibn Khwājāh 'Abd-almu'min, a descendant of Khwājāh Ahmad Yasawi (see the Safinat-alawliya, No. 75), who traced his genealogy back to Muḥammad Hanifah bin 'Alī Murtaḍā, and dwelt for a long time in Turkistān and Transoxania, in pursuit of Sūfic lore, before he came to India and chose 'Alā-al-din 'Alī Ṣābir as his spiritual guide. He died in Pānīpat, the 19th of Sha'bān, but the year of his death is not known; he was contemporary with Shaikh Nasir-al-din Maḥmūd Audhi, who died A. H. 757 (A. D. 1356), i. e.

the great Maḥmūd Cīrāgh of Dihli, who died A. H. 757, 18th of Ramaḍān (A. D. 1356, Sept. 14), see No. 22. above.

26. Shaikh Jalāl-alḥaqq-wa-al-din Pānīpatī, with his real name, Muḥammad bin Mu'izz-al-din Khwājah Maḥmūd, the Khalīfah of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 328^b. His father Maḥmūd traces his origin back to the Khalīf 'Uthmān bin 'Affān, by the following chain of ancestors: Karīm-al-din Khwājah Ya'qūb (Maḥmūd's father) bin Jamīl-al-din Khwājah 'Isā bin Majd-al-din Khwājah Isma'īl bin Sharaf-al-din Khwājah Muḥammad bin Badr-al-din Khwājah Abūbakr bin Sadr-al-din Khwājah 'Alī bin Shams-al-din Khwājah 'Uthmān bin Najm-al-din Khwājah 'Abdallāh bin Shihāb-al-din Khwājah 'Abd-al-raḥmān II bin Zayn-al-din Khwājah 'Abd-al-azīz al-sarākhsī bin Fakhr-al-din Khwājah Khālid bin Dīyā-al-din Khwājah Wahd bin Kutb-al-din Khwājah 'Abd-al-azīz al-kabīr bin Rukn-al-din Khwājah 'Abd-al-raḥmān al-kabīr bin 'Alā-al-din Khwājah 'Abdallāh II bin 'Alam-al-din Khwājah 'Abd-al-azīz bin Ḥusām-al-din Khwājah 'Abdallāh Kabīr bin Imām-al-din Hadrat Khwājah 'Umar bin Amir-al-mu'mīnīn Imām-al-muttaqīn Ḥabīb-al-raḥmān Hadrat 'Uthmān bin 'Affān. The year of Jalāl-al-din's death is not known; he was contemporary with Sulṭān Maḥmūd bin Muḥammad bin Firūzshāh, who died, after a reign of twenty years and two months, the 5th of Dhū-al-qā'dah, A. H. 815 (A. D. 1413, February 6). His five sons were: (a) Khwājah 'Abd-al-qādir, (b) Khwājah Ibrāhīm, (c) Khwājah Shibli, (d) Khwājah Karīm-al-din, (e) Khwājah 'Abd-al-wāhid. Shaikh 'Abd-al-ṣamad Sunāmī (سُنَامِي), one of his principal Khalīfas, collected his ملفوظات, or sayings.

27. Maḥdūm Shaikh (or Shāh) Aḥmad 'Abd-alḥaqq of Radauli, the principal Khalīfah of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 333^a. His grandfather, Shaikh Dā'ūd, who traced his origin back to the Khalīf 'Umar, had left his native town Balkh during the devastation under Hūlāgūkhān, and came to India, where he settled, in Sulṭān 'Alā-al-din Khiljī's reign (A. H. 695-715 = A. D. 1296-1316), in Radauli, near Aūdli, and became a pupil of Shaikh Naṣīr-al-din Maḥmūd Cīrāgh (see No. 22. above). His son was Shaikh 'Umar, who again had two sons: Shaikh Taqī-al-din and Shaikh Aḥmad 'Abd-alḥaqq. The latter chose Jalāl-al-din Pānīpatī as his spiritual guide. He afterwards spent some time in Sunām, where he lived in the house of an excellent female devotee, Faṭīmah; then went back to Pānīpat, and, not finding his master there, to Badā'ūn, in the very year when Timūr invaded India and fought the battle of Dihli with Sulṭān Maḥmūd, the grandson of Firūzshāh, who took refuge in Gujārāt (Rabī'-al-thānī, A. H. 801 = A. D. 1398, December, to 1399, January); from Badā'ūn Aḥmad 'Abd-alḥaqq betook himself to Bhakhar, later on again to Pānīpat, to enjoy once more Jalāl-al-din's tuition, and after his Pir's death to Bangālāh, where he met with Shaikh Nūr Kutb-i-'ālam (see No. 23. above). He finally returned to his native place Radauli, and died the 15th of Jumādā-al-thānī, A. H. 837 (A. D. 1434, January 27), 120 years old (ta'rikh: عارف حق احمد عبد الحق بنی). Among his disciples the most prominent were: (a) Shaikh Bakhtiyār; (b) Shaikh Mukhlis with his two sons, Bahram and Shams-al-din; (c) Shaikh Naṣīr-al-din and his younger brother, Shaikh Kidwat-al-din, sons of Shaikh Badr-al-din Cīshī.

28. Maḥdūm Shaikh 'Ārif, son and Khalīfah of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 350^a. He married Umm Kulthūm, the daughter of Shaikh Nūr-al-din (the Khalīfah of Sayyid Mūsā), and begat two daughters, the second of whom was married to Shaikh 'Abd-al-quddūs, and one son (the immediately following Shaikh). He was 50 years head of the order, after the death of his father, but the exact date of his demise is not given anywhere.

29. Shaikh Muḥammad bin 'Ārif bin Aḥmad 'Abd-alḥaqq, son and Khalīfah of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 353^a. His son was Shaikh-i-Auliya, known as Shaikh Budh, the father of Shaikh Pir and Shaikh Maṣṣūr. Maṣṣūr's son was Shaikh 'Ālam, Shaikh Pir's son was Shaikh Kutb-al-din, who healed one of Sulṭān Akbar's Amirs, Raḥmatkhān, who was also his disciple, from a dangerous illness, by offering twenty years of his own life for that of the Amīr, an offer which God accepted. Kutb-al-din's son and successor was Shaikh Ḥamid, who died the 2nd of Jumādā-al-awwal, A. H. 1032 (A. D. 1623, March 4), in Jahāngīr's reign; his Khalīfah was Shaikh 'Abd-al-raḥmān Cīshī, the author of the مرآة الاسرار (completed A. H. 1065 = A. D. 1655, see on this work and some of the before-mentioned Shaikhs, Rieu i. p. 359 sq.), the اوراد چشمه and other works.

30. Kutb-al-'ālam Shaikh 'Abd-al-quddūs (or alqaddūs) bin Shaikh Isma'īl Gangū'i alḥanafi (see the Safinat-al-auliyyā, No. 118), on fol. 359^a. He was the pupil, brother-in-law, and Khalīfah of the preceding Shaikh, but got besides an investiture from almost all the Khānwādas or Shūfī branches; his grandfather was Shaikh Saḥī-al-din Ḥanafi, one of the Khalīfas of Sayyid Ashraf Jahāngīr Simnām (see No. 23. above). Shaikh 'Abd-al-quddūs spent thirty-five years in Radauli, left that place in A. H. 896 (A. D. 1491), in the beginning of the reign of Sulṭān Sikandar bin Bahlūl Lūdi (A. H. 894-923 = A. D. 1489-1517), at the suggestion of 'Umarkhān Kāsi, one of the Sulṭān's Amirs and a pupil of himself, and went to Shāhābād, near Dihli, where he stayed another thirty-five years. When in A. H. 932 (A. D. 1525, 1526) Bābar defeated and killed Sulṭān Ibrāhīm bin Sikandar bin Bahlūl Lūdi (A. H. 923-932 = A. D. 1517-1526), and sacked Shāhābād, 'Abd-al-quddūs betook himself to Gangū, where he spent fourteen years more, and died the 23rd of Jumādā-alākhar, A. H. 944 (A. D. 1537, November 27), or according to less trustworthy authorities, A. H. 945, 84 years old; he must consequently have been born A. H. 860 (A. D. 1456). Among his numerous sons particularly prominent were Shaikh Ḥamid-al-din, born A. H. 886 (A. D. 1481, 1482), and Rukn-al-din, the author of the لطائف قدسی, born A. H. 897, the 5th of Jumādā-alawwal (A. D. 1492, March 5), and father of Shaikh 'Azīz-allāh. His eight principal Khalīfas were: (a) Shaikh Jalāl-al-din Thānisari, see below; (b) Shaikh 'Abd-alghafūr A'zampūri, father of Shaikh Abū Ishāq and Shaikh Aḥmad Sināj-al-'arīfin; (c) Khidrkhān, known as Shaikh Khān, of Jaumpūr; (d) Shaikh 'Abd-al-azīz of Kairāna; (e) Shaikh 'Abd-al-sattār Sahāranpūri (who died A. H. 905 = A. D. 1499, 1500, see Rieu iii. p. 890b); (f) Shaikh 'Abd-alahād, father of Shaikh Aḥmad Sirhindī; (g) Mir Sayyid Rafī-al-din Akbarābādī; (h) Shaikh 'Abd-alraḥmān.

31. Shaikh Jalāl-almillāh wa-al-dīn bin Mahmūd alfarūkī althānisari, the principal pupil and Khalīfah of the preceding Shaikh (see the Safwat-akauliyā, No. 119), on fol. 384^b. He was originally of Balkh, and traced, both on father's and mother's side, his pedigree back to the second Khalīf 'Umar Farūq. He died the 14th or 24th of Dhū-alhijjah, A. H. 989 (A. D. 1582, January 9 or 19), in the same year in which he had been honoured in Thānisar by the visit of the emperor Akbar (who was on the march to the Panjāb, to quell the rebellion of his brother Mirzā Muḥammad Hakim, the viceroy of Kābul), the prime-minister Abū-alfadl, and his brother, the poet Faiḍī. The chronogram of his death, however, given here as سر دفتر اوليا, would fix the Shaikh's death in A. H. 992; but, says the author of this work, two or three years more or less in a ta'rikh is an admissible licence (زیادتی و کمی دو سه). As he was ninety-five years old at the time of his death, he must have been born A. H. 894 (A. D. 1489). His six principal Khalīfas were: (a) Shaikh Nizām-aldin Thānisari, see below; (b) Shaikh 'Abd-alshakūr, his elder brother and father of Shaikh Nizām-aldin; (c) Kādī Sālīm of Kairāna; (d) Shaikh Mūsā; (e) Shaikh 'Isā; (f) Mir Sayyid Fāḍil, native of Tūhāna, commonly called Hadrat Mir.

32. Shaikh Nizām-aldin bin 'Abd-alshakūr alfarūkī althānisari albalkhi, nephew, son-in-law, and Khalīfah of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 393^a. When towards the end of A. H. 1014 (A. D. 1606), the first year of Jahāngir's reign, this emperor's rebellious son, Sulṭān Khusrāu, fled from Akbarābād and passed through Thānisar, he called upon Shaikh Nizām-aldin, who incurred thereby the emperor's displeasure, and had to leave India. Before going to Balkh, where he finally settled and died, the 8th of Rajab, A. H. 1035 or 1036 (A. D. 1626, April 5, or 1627, March 25), he performed the pilgrimage, and composed during his stay in the holy cities two commentaries on 'Irāqī's Lama'āt (comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 1254), the شرح لمعات مکی and the شرح لمعات مدنی. Other works of his are the رساله رياض العبد and the حقیقه در بیان هفت بطن وجود, a commentary on the last two جزو of the Kurān. Among the contemporaries of Nizām-aldin, Shaikh Nizām Nārnauli is mentioned, with whom the former had frequent intercourse. Nizām-aldin's two most prominent sons were Shaikh Muḥammad Sa'id, who returned to Thānisar, the original home of his family, and 'Abd-alhakḥ, who settled in Karnāl. Nizām-aldin's fourteen principal Khalīfas were: (a) Shaikh Abū Sa'id Gangū'i, see below; (b) Shaikh Husain Blūhari (بهوهری), whose spiritual successor was Shaikh Wali Muḥammad of Nārnauli; (c) Shaikh Pāyanda of بنور, a place not far from سهرند (i. e. Sirhind); (d) Mir Sayyid Ilāh-bakhsh Lāhūrī, whose principal pupil and successor was Shaikh Muḥammad Mirzā; (e) Shaikh 'Abd-alkarim Lāhūrī, the author of a Persian commentary on the فصوص الحکم; (f) Shaikh Ilāhdād Lāhūrī; (g) Shaikh Dūst Muḥammad Ṣūfī Lāhūrī; (h) Shaikh Mustafā;

IND. OFF.

(i) Shaikh 'Abd-alfattāḥ; (j) Shaikh 'Abd-alrahmān Kashmīrī, who lived in Lāhūr; (k) Sayyid Kāsim Burhānpūrī; (l) Kādī 'Abd-alḥayy, son of Kādī Sālīm of Kairāna; (m) Shaikh Ṣādiq Burhānpūrī; (n) Shaikh Fathī, whose successor was Shaikh Isma'il Akbarābādī.

33. Shaikh Abū Sa'id Gangū'i alḥanafī, the Khalīfah of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 408^a. He was a grandson both of 'Abd-alkuddūs Gangū'i (No. 30) and of Jalāl-aldin Thānisari (No. 31), his mother being a daughter of the latter Shaikh. He went after his Pir Nizām-aldin (No. 32) to Balkh, and afterwards returned to Gangū. The date of his death is unknown. His five principal Khalīfas were: (a) Shaikh Muḥammad Ṣādiq Gangū'i, see below; (b) Shaikh Ibrāhīm Rāmpūrī, one of whose Khalīfas was Pir Muḥammad Junaidi; (c) Shaikh Muḥibb-allāh Ṣadrpūrī, died in Ilābābād the 9th of Rajab, A. H. 1058 (A. D. 1648, July 30); in his اجوبه و اسوله, which are quoted here at length, he gives his discussions on Ṣūfī topics with a great dervish, or according to other authorities, with prince Darā Shukūl; his son was Shaikh Taj-aldin; (d) Shaikh Ibrāhīm Sahāranpūrī; (e) Shaikh Khwājah Pānipatī.

34. Shaikh Muḥammad Ṣādiq bin Shaikh Fath-allāh Gangū'i, nephew and Khalīfah of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 422^a. He died the 18th of Muḥarram, but the year of his death is unknown. His eight principal Khalīfas were: (a) His eldest son, Shaikh Dā'ūd, see below; (b) His younger son, Shaikh Muḥammad Gangū'i; (c) Shaikh Ibrāhīm Murādābādī, the father of Shaikh Abū Sa'id; (d) Shaikh 'Abd-alsubḥān Sahāranpūrī; (e) Shaikh 'Abd-aljalil Ilāhābādī, author of a risālah در بیان اذکار و اشغال and of an Arabic kaṣidah; his son and Khalīfah was Shaikh Ghulām Muḥyi-aldin; (f) Shaikh Jamāl; (g) Shaikh Mubārak; (h) Shaikh Yūsuf, died in Sāmānah.

35. Shaikh Dā'ūd, eldest son, pupil and Khalīfah of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 435^a. In A. H. 1068 (A. D. 1658), when 'Ālamgīr ascended the throne in Shāhjahānābād Dihli, the Shaikh was calumniated before him, and consequently summoned to Dihli; but he was fully acquitted. He died the 6th of Ramaḍān (year not known), but his anniversary is celebrated the 19th of Sha'bān. His five principal Khalīfas were: (a) Shaikh Saundhā, see below; (b) Shaikh Bulāḳī (بلافی) Kaithali; (c) Shaikh Gharīb-allāh bin Sayyid 'Abd-alrasūl of Kairāna, a foster-brother of the author of the سير الاقطاب (see Rieu i. p. 358^b); (d) Shaikh Abū-alma'ālī, who lived at انبخت, in the district of Sahāranpūr; (e) 'Abd-alkādir سنور.

36. Shaikh Saundhā (سوندها) b'n Shaikh 'Abd-al-mu'min Safidūni (Safidūn is not far from Pānipat), the principal Khalīfah of the preceding Shaikh, on fol. 445^b. He lived 96 years, the first part of which he spent in his Pir, Shaikh Dā'ūd's company, the second in Blūhar, the last in Safidūn, the original home of his family. In A. H. 1111 (A. D. 1699, 1700), he invested the author of this work, Shaikh Muḥammad Akram, with the garment of the Khalīfah, and appointed him his spiritual successor. His four chief companions and disciples were: (a) Shaikh Muḥammad 'Alī, the father of the author, see below; (b) Shaikh Pir Muḥammad of تهاه;

(c) Shaikh 'Uthmān of كرنال (Karnāl?); (d) Shaikh Muḥammad Ṣādiq of Kaithal.

37. Shaikh Ilāh-bakhsh alḥanafī albarāsawī, the grandfather of the author, on fol. 475^a. He was the son of Shaikh Isma'īl bin Shaikh Bahā-aldīn bin Shaikh Faṭḥ-allāh bin Shaikh Ṣadr-aldīn, who traced his pedigree back to Abū Ḥanīfah Kūfī (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 21), and the Khalīfah of Shāh Mir Lāhūrī. His wife was Bibi Rābi'ah, who bore him three sons: (a) Shaikh 'Abd-alrahīm, who died young; (b) Shaikh Sharaf-allāh, the father of Shaikh 'Abd-almajīd, and Shaikh 'Abd-alkarīm; (c) Shaikh Muḥammad 'Alī, the father of the author.

38. Shaikh Muḥammad 'Alī bin Shaikh Ilāh-bakhsh, on fol. 478^a. He was the friend and disciple of Shaikh Saundhā (see above), and married Jān Bibi, the daughter of Shaikh Muḥammad Ishāq Anṣārī, a descendant of that Abū Ayyūb Anṣārī in whose house in Madinah the prophet stayed after his flight from Makkah. He died A. H. 1127, the 7th of Jumādā-alākhār (A. D. 1715, June 10), and left two sons: Muḥammad Akram, the author of this book, and Muḥammad 'Abdallāh.

Beginning: الحمد لله كاشف الاحوال على ارباب المجامدات و جاعلهم والهي في مقام العرب الخ.

The copy is not dated, and is probably the author's autograph. A small portion of fol. 1^b, and the larger part of fol. 2, torn away. The proper order of ff. 288-294 is: 288, 293, 290-292, 289, 294. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

Raudat-alauliyā (روضة الاوليا).

A short compendium or Unmūzaj on the great Saints of India, especially of the Dakhan, compiled by Ghulām 'Alī Āzād alḥusainī alwāsītī albalgrāmī, the author of the famous tadhkiras مآثر الكرام, etc. (see further below, No. 682 sq.), in A. H. 1161 (A. D. 1748), see fol. 22^a, last line but two. It gives biographical accounts of ten great Shaikhs, the last of whom is the author himself, and is apparently the basis on which he wrote in A. H. 1166 (A. D. 1753) his larger works on the Shaikhs, learned men, and poets of Balgrām and India in general. The first biography is that of Shaikh Burhān-aldīn Muḥammad bin Maḥmūd bin Nāṣir, commonly called Algharīb alḥansawī (الغريب الهانسي).

Beginning: نحمدك يا من تعدست ذاته عن شوائب الامكان وتجلت صفاته في مراتب الاكوان ونصلى و نسلم على حبيبك الخ.

At the end of the short sketch of the author's life (relating his various travels and his pilgrimage to Makkah and Madinah in A. H. 1150-52 = A. D. 1737-1740) a ḥasidah by the same is added: قصيده در بيان شجره بزرگان روضه منوره قدس الله اسرارهم.

Beginning:

Tadhkirat-alshu'arā (تذکره الشعرا).

The well-known biography of Persian poets by Daulatshāh bin 'Alī-aldaulah Bakhtishāh (according to W. Pertsch: ibn Bakhtishāh) of Samarkand, who completed this work A. H. 892 (A. D. 1487), and dedicated it to Mir 'Alī Shir. Hammer's 'Schöne Redekünste Persiens' are principally based on it. It is divided into a muḥaddimah, seven ṭabaḳāt, and a khātimah, comp. Notices et Extr. iv. p. 220 sq., where the full list of biographies is given; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 348-359; Rieu i. p. 364; W. Pertsch, Berlin Catal., p. 597 sq.; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 7 sq.; Cat. des MSS. et Xyl., p. 308 sq.; G. Flügel ii. p. 366 sq.; J. Aumer, p. 1; H. Khalfā ii. p. 262, No. 2819; Dorn, Das asiatische Museum, p. 349, No. 19; Rehatsek, Mulla Firuz Library, p. 130 sq.; Rosen, Persian MSS., p. 160, etc. On the various articles of this work, translated into European languages, see W. Pertsch, loc. cit. A Turkish translation of it, entitled سفينة الشعرا, appeared in Constantinople, A. H. 1259. Daulatshāh died A. H. 900 (A. D. 1494, 1495).

This copy, excellently written and comparatively old, begins, on fol. 1^b: تحمیدی که شامباز بلند برواز اندیشه بسیاجت (بساحت و فضای) کبریای (other copies) آن طیران الخ. Muḥaddimah, on fol. 11^a.

Ṭabaḳah I (beginning with Rūdagi), on fol. 17^b; II (beginning with Azrakī), on fol. 38^b; III (beginning with Nizāmī), on fol. 64^a; IV (beginning with Farīd-aldīn 'Aṭṭār), on fol. 88^a; V (beginning with 'Imād Faḳīh), on fol. 118^a; VI (beginning with Sayyid Nīmat-allāh of Kūhistān), on fol. 155^a; VII (beginning with Amir Shāhi), on fol. 197^a. Khātimah (beginning with Jāmī), on fol. 223^a. In the text itself only the third ṭabaḳah is marked by a special heading; all the others have been determined both by the index on ff. 10^a-11^a and a comparison with the following copies.

Dated the 9th of Rajab, A. H. 960 (A. D. 1553, June 21). Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2753, ff. 246, ll. 17; Naskhi; size, 8½ in. by 6½ in.

657

Another copy of the same.

Another excellent copy of Daulatshāh's tadhkirah, dated the 15th of Muḥarram, A. H. 1095 (A. D. 1684, Jan. 3). Muḥaddimah, on fol. 10^b. Ṭabaḳah I, on fol. 16^b; II, on fol. 42^a; III, on fol. 71^a; IV, on fol. 102^a; V, on fol. 136^a; VI, on fol. 175^b; VII, on fol. 216^b. Khātimah, on fol. 243^b. Worm-eaten. The proper order of the leaves is: ff. 1-151, 154-209, 152, 153, 210-266.

No. 2730, ff. 266, ll. 17; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

658

The same.

This copy, considerably older than the preceding one, is somewhat damaged on the first pages.

Dated the 8th of Dhū-alḥijjah, A. H. 1028 (A. D. 1619, Nov. 16).

No. 2337, ff. 420, ll. 15; Nasta'liq; size, 6½ in. by 3½ in.

659

The same.

This copy is likewise injured in many places, especially in the corners, and worm-eaten. It is dated the 5th of Rabi'-alawwal, in the 49th year (of 'Ālamgir? that would be A. H. 1117 = A. D. 1705, June 27).

No. 869, ff. 290, ll. 17; careless and rude Nasta'lik; only the first twenty-six leaves supplied by another, careful hand, on more modern paper: size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

660

The same.

An excellent copy, not dated.

No. 2539, ff. 65-420, ll. 15; very clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 7½ in.

661

The same.

No date. The sixth ṭabaḳah begins here, on fol. 201^a (طبقة سادس), with Kamāl Khujandī; the usual beginning (viz. with Ni'mat-allāh Kūhistānī) is found here on fol. 206^a.

No. 401, ff. 304, ll. 16; legible, but very incorrect Nasta'lik; ff. 1 and 2 supplied later; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

662

A defective copy of the same.

This excellent copy, written in the tenth or eleventh century of the Hijrah, breaks off towards the end of the sixth ṭabaḳah, in the biography of Bābā Saudā'i of Abiward, who flourished under Shāhrukh, on fol. 242^b. The last words: ... نرا محنت جانی قربان agree with the preceding copy, fol. 259^b, line 4 ab infra. Muḳaddimah, on fol. 12^a. Ṭabaḳah I, on fol. 18^b; II, on fol. 45^b; III, on fol. 76^a (heading omitted); IV, on fol. 108^b; V, on fol. 145^b; VI, on fol. 191^b (only headed طيفه, and beginning with كهتانی (!), i. e. correctly: Ni'mat-allāh Kūhistānī). The last four pages (ff. 243 and 244), written by another hand, contain (a) the end of Jāmi's شرح فصوص الحکم, i. e. the نقد النصوص, a commentary on Muḥyi-aldin Muḥammad bin 'Alī al 'Arabi's (died A. H. 638 = A. D. 1240, 1241) نفش الفصوص, an extract from the same Arabic author's larger mystical work, the فصوص الحکم (comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 894, 9, and 976, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 274), and (b) another small prose-tract on mystical matters, beginning: الها ملكا بادشاها قبله دل مارا بتشريف رب اشرف لي صدرى در اشعة آفتاب الخ.

No. 3206, ff. 244, ll. 15 (ll. 19 on the last four pages): excellent Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

A still more defective copy of the same.

This copy is incomplete both at the beginning and end.

It opens abruptly in the introduction, thus: خندق... جهت رسول گفته بود بدو بخشيد الخ corresponding to the preceding copy (No. 3206), fol. 6^a, l. 8, and breaks off in the beginning of the sixth ṭabaḳah with these words: ... نصرت و تخت حکم او درآمد گونند که در يورش, corresponding to fol. 194^a, l. 3 ab infra, in the same copy.

No. 400, ff. 181, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

Majālis-alnafā'is (مجالس النعائس).

The Čaghatāi original of Mir 'Alī Shir Nawā'i's biography of Persian poets, composed A. H. 896 (A. D. 1491), comp. Rieu, Turkish Cat., p. 273; W. Pertsch, Berlin Turkish Cat., p. 313; G. Flügel, ii. p. 373; Paris Cat., pp. 297, 331, and 333; J. Aumer, Türkische Handschriften, No. 148; Cat. des MSS. et Xyl., No. 553, etc.; Hammer, Handschriften, pp. 326-330; Wiener Jahrbücher, vol. 74, Anzeigeblatt, p. 11 sq., etc.; Biography of Nawā'i, and French translation of the seventh majlis by Belin, Journal Asiatique, 5^e série, tom. xvii. p. 175 sq.; extracts from the third majlis in Berezin's Chrestomathie Turque, p. 146 sq. A Persian translation of this work by Fakhri of Harāt, the author of the جواهر العجائب (see Bodleian Cat., No. 362), entitled لطائف نامه and composed about A. H. 927 (A. D. 1521), is described in Rieu i. p. 366; a later Persian version by Shāh 'Alī is mentioned in Rieu, Turkish Cat., p. 274^a. Mir 'Alī Shir died in Jumādā II, A. H. 906 (A. D. 1501, beginning of January).

Beginning: روز حمد آنکا کیم سباب جهان بستانی ابلا ب الخ.

The title appears on fol. 3^b, last line. The work is divided into eight Majlis, viz.:

1. Poets who died in the author's lifetime, but were never personally known to him, beginning with Kāsim-i-Anwār, on fol. 5^b. The heading is omitted.

2. Contemporary poets, who were personally known to him, but died before the composition of this work, i. e. A. H. 896, on fol. 18^b, beginning with Sharaf-aldin 'Alī Yazdi.

3. Contemporary Shaikhs and poets, personally known to him, and still alive at the time of the composition of this work, on fol. 46^a, last line, beginning with Jāmi.

4. Fuḍalā, or men of letters, who composed occasionally verses, on fol. 66^b, first line, beginning with Pahlawān Muḥammad.

5. Noblemen of Khurāsān, who excelled in poetical composition, on fol. 84^b, beginning with Daulatshāh.

6. Poets and ingenious men of other countries, on fol. 89^b, beginning with Aḥmad Ḥajibeg.

7. Poetry and witticisms of Sultāns and princes, on fol. 97^a, beginning with Amir Timūr Gūrgan.

8. Sayings in prose and verse of Nawā'i's patron, Sultān Husain (reigned A. H. 873-911 = A. D. 1469-1506), on fol. 101^b.

No. 2507, ff. 1-110, ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

Tulfa-i-Sāmi (تحفة سامی).

Biographies of Persian poets from the end of the ninth century of the Hijrah to the middle of the tenth, a kind of continuation to Daulatshāh's and Nawā'ī's tadhkiras, by the prince Sām Mirzā, son of Shāh Ismā'il, who was born A.H. 923 (A.D. 1517), and put to death A.H. 984 (A.D. 1576). see Rieu i. p. 367 sq.; W. Pertsch, Berlin Catal., p. 600 sq.; G. Flügel ii. p. 367; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 12; J. Anmer, p. 1; Krafft, p. 126; and especially De Sacy in Notices et Extraits, iv. pp. 273-308, where a full list of the biographies has been given, and O. Frank, Morgenländische Handschriften der kgl. Hofbibliothek in München, p. 34 and Anhang. It was composed A.H. 957 (A.D. 1550), and divided into seven ṣahifas, see Rieu and Pertsch, loc. cit. This copy contains (as far as it is possible to count the single items, several names being omitted) 579 biographies.

Beginning: لله الحمد قبل كل كلام - بصفات الجلال والاکرام
حمد او تاج تارك سخن است - صدر هر نامه نو و کهن
است الخ.

No date.

No. 2570, ff. 153, ll. 15; Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9½ in. by 5 in.

666

Another copy of the same.

This copy, transcribed by Bāki Muhammad Ḥāfiẓ Nūr of Andakhud, but likewise not dated, is much shorter than the preceding one, and more like an abridgment of the original work, containing only 474 biographies.

Beginning the same as in the preceding copy.

No. 601, ff. 73, ll. 19; clear Nasta'liq; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

Khulāṣat-alash'ār wa Zubdat-alafkār (خلاصة الاشعار و زبدة الافکار).

The famous tadhkirah of Persian poets by Taqi-al-din Kāshī, who was born about A.H. 946 (A.D. 1539, 1540), and completed the four volumes which form the main portion of this work in A.H. 985 (A.D. 1577, 1578). An appendix on contemporary poets he added in A.H. 993 (A.D. 1585). A revised and amplified edition he published in A.H. 1016 (A.D. 1607, 1608). An abridgment of this second edition, in which the poetical specimens are omitted, is contained in this copy, and it agrees upon the whole so well with that in Sprenger's Catal., p. 15 sq., that it will be only necessary to point out the slight differences which exist between both. That the author was engaged in the compilation of this second edition already in A.H. 997 (A.D. 1589), we learn from fol. 1100^b, l. 12, where this date appears, preceded by the usual words حالا که 'now, that.' Comp. on this important work, Bland, in Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society, ix. p. 126; A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 13-46; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 610 sq.

Beginning: جواهر حمد و ثنائی که مقرر قلوب اصحاب
دین مبین و مفتاح ابواب صدور ارباب متین الخ.

The work is divided into a muḥaddimah, four fasls, four rukus, the fourth of which is wanting in this copy, and a khātimah, subdivided into twelve fasls. It is dedicated to Shāh Tāhmāsp (who died A.H. 984=A.D. 1576), see fol. 4^a, l. 3; title, on fol. 8^b; index, on ff. 9^a-12^b; Munājāt, on fol. 12^b.

Muḥaddimah on the utility of such a tadhkirah, on fol. 13^b.

Four fasls on mystical lore: first (در بیان ایجاد عشق) و معرفت آنکه عشق ازلیست و این محبت از جانب در تعریف فضیلت عشق (الهست). on fol. 17^a; second (و مذمت کسانی که مذاق را عشق نام نهاده اند الخ) on fol. 27^b; third (در نفسیم عشق بمجاز و حقیقت و شرائط) on fol. 31^b; fourth (در شرائط محبت الخ) (محبت از طرف محبوب مجازی الخ) on fol. 56^b.

Extracts from 'Alī's Arabic diwān (اختیارات اشعار) (حضرت شاه اولیا الخ) on fol. 73^b.

Rukn I (comprising the first and second mujallad of the whole work), on fol. 110^a. Fifty-four ancient kaṣīdah-writers from the time of Sabuktāgin to the eighth century (the numbers quoted in the following instances are those in A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 15 sq.).

10. The poet's name appears here distinctly as Abū Maṣṣūr Kaṭarān Ajali alurmawī (on fol. 192^a).

17. The name is spelt here thus: 'Abd-alwāsī' bin 'Abd-aljāmi' (الجامع) bin 'Umar bin al-Rabī' aljabali alsultāni (on fol. 229^a).

35. Here is distinctly written Shufurwah (on fol. 339^b).

42. Najīb-al-din Jarbadkhanī (on fol. 382^b).

This rukn is dated the 21st of Ramaḍān, A.H. 1038 (A.D. 1629, May 14).

Rukn II (comprising the third mujallad), on fol. 454^a. Forty-two ghazal-writers and later kaṣīdah-writers from the eighth century to the beginning of the ninth; the first is Sa'dī of Shirāz.

80. 'Izz-al-din Karkhī (on fol. 586^a).

88. Najīb-al-din bin Muḥammad bin Zangi (on fol. 627^a).

89. Muẓaffar Harawī, died A.H. 782 (both dates of Sprenger's copy are confounded here; there is first 82 and then 20, written before 700, on fol. 636^b).

This rukn is dated the 5th of Dhū-al-ḥajjah, A.H. 1038 (A.D. 1629, June 26).

Rukn III (comprising the fourth mujallad), on fol. 691^b. Forty-nine modern poets of the ninth and a few of the tenth century.

111. Badr-al-din Shāshī, died A.H. 854 (here again appear both dates و ثمانمائه و سبعمائه, on fol. 791^a).

130. Amir Yādgarbeg Saifi (on fol. 862^a).

132. Shaikh Wālī Kalandar (on fol. 866^b).

139. Sayyid Ashraf, died A.H. 854 (on fol. 875^b).

141. Here spelt فصای سمرقندی (on fol. 879^b).

145. Looks, both in index and text, as Fanā'i (on fol. 889^a).

This rukn is dated Muharram, A.H. 1039 (A.D. 1629, August-September).

Rukn IV (comprising the fifth mujallad) is missing.

Besides the poets quoted above, some others have a different spelling in the text, but in the index those agree with Sprenger.

Khâtimah: Contemporary poets, in twelve asls, beginning, on fol. 890^b: حمد و سپاس بی عدد آوردگار. را سزد که نفس ناطقه را معدن الـ

Asl I, in two fasls: Poets of Kāshān. First fasl, on fol. 899^a; second fasl, on fol. 969^b.

252. Here spelt Kiyām-al-din Muḥammad (on fol. 907^a).

266. Shujā-al-din Ghāḍanfar (on fol. 936^a).

272. Maulānā Faql instead of Afdal (on fol. 945^b).

300-301. Between these two one poet more is found in our copy, viz. Maulānā 'Abdī (so to be read instead of عبدل) Sākīnī, died A. H. 965 = A. D. 1557, 1558 (on fol. 980^b).

Asl II, in two fasls: Poets of Iṣfahān. First fasl, on fol. 981^a; second, on fol. 1015^a.

303. Hāirātī is called here Huṣnī (حزنی, on fol. 987^b).

312. Here called Shāhaki Zamānī (of Zamān, in the district of Iṣfahān, on fol. 1007^a).

313. Ākā Malik Mā'ūf (on fol. 1008^a).

322. Abū Tālib (on fol. 1016^a).

339-340. Between both one poet more is found, viz. Maulānā Hārīmī (حریمی), died A. H. 968 = A. D. 1560, 1561 (on fol. 1023^b).

340. Maulānā Kāsim Zārī (on fol. 1023^a).

Asl III: Poets of Kūmm and neighbourhood, on fol. 1029^a.

356-357. Between both Maulānā Mashrabī (on fol. 1037^b).

Asl IV: Poets of Sāwa and environs, on fol. 1048^b.

367. Called here Sāzanī (on fol. 1050^b).

653-654. Headings omitted.

The tadlikirah ends on fol. 1264^b. Ff. 1265^b-1347 contain a list of those contemporary poets who sent their poetical specimens to the author after the completion of his work, in alphabetical order. It is undoubtedly the same list which Sprenger mentions as forming an appendix to the second edition (see Catal., p. 14), and which W. Pertsch, Berlin Catal., p. 612, wrongly represents as not having been mentioned by Sprenger. Pertsch, loc. cit., enumerates the poets in full. It begins, as in Pertsch, with Mawlânâ Abû-alḥasan of Abiward. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

Khâtima-i-Khulâsat-alash'âr (خانمۀ خلاصۃ الاشعار).

This is undoubtedly the same copy of the Khâtimah or appendix to Taḳī Kāshī's tadhkirah which, according to A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 15, formerly belonged to Mr. Hall, of Banâras, and which was copied in the very year of its completion, viz. A. H. 993, in the month Jumādâ-althâni (A. D. 1585, June), by 'Abd-alfattâḥ bin Shams-al-dīn Muḥammad alkāshânī. It represents the first and fuller edition of Taḳī Kāshī's work, with all the poetical extracts, which are not to be found in the more common abridgment of the second edition. The first leaf is missing; a full index on the fly-leaves, and a second index on the last two pages.

The twelve aṣls are found here:

Tadhkira-i-Nasrâbâdī (تذکرۀ نصرآبادی).

Biographies of contemporary poets by Muḥammad Ṭāhir Nasrâbâdī (or Nasirâbâdī), who began to compile this work A. H. 1083 (A. D. 1672, 1673), and divided it into a muḥaddimah, five sections (مق), and a khâtimah. Various copies contain additions up to A. H. 1089 (A. D. 1678), and even to A. H. 1092 (A. D. 1681), comp. Bodleian Catal., No. 373; Rieu i. p. 368; W. Pertsch, Berlin Catal., p. 616; A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 88-108, and Bland, in Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society, ix. pp. 137-140.

Muḥaddimah: Poetry of kings and princes, on fol. 5^a.

Section I: Poetry of the Amirs, Khâns, and wazirs of Irân and Hindûstân, on fol. 9^a, in three firḳas or classes.

Section II: Poetry of the Sayyids, Najibs, etc., on fol. 64^a.

Section III: Poetry of wise and learned men, calligraphers, fakirs, etc., on fol. 100^b, in three firḳas.

Section IV: Poetry of professional poets in Irâk, Khurāsân, Transoxania, and Hindûstân, on fol. 142^b (the heading is forgotten here), in three firḳas.

Section V: Poetry of relations of the author himself.

The beginning of this section is not marked. The author's own biography begins on fol. 320^a, last line.

Khâtimah, containing chronograms, logogriphs, riddles, etc., on fol. 328^a.

Beginning: سرسبزی نهال خامه از طراوت آبلج.

No. 2565, ff. 376, ll. 17; careless Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

Kalimât-alshu'arâ (کلمات الشعراء).

The words of the poets, a tadhkirah of the Persian poets of India, flourishing in the reigns of Jahângir, Shâhjahân, and 'Âlamgir, by Mirzâ Muḥammad Atfâl with the takhallus Sarkhsh, who died at Dihli, A. H. 1127 (A. D. 1715), according to the Khazâna-i-'âmirah (Bodleian Cat., No. 381, 60), or A. H. 1126 (A. D. 1714), according to the Khulâsat-alafḳâr (Bodleian Cat., No. 391, 135); even A. H. 1125 (A. D. 1713) is given as date of his death, comp. Rieu i. p. 369; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 617; Bland, in Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society, ix. p. 168; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 108 sq., where a detailed account of this tadhkirah is given. The title of the book (see fol. 3^b, l. 6) is a chronogram, giving the date of composition as A. H. 1093 (A. D. 1682). It is arranged alphabetically, and begins (on fol. 3^b) with Mir Ilâhî (who died, according to the Khulâsat-alafḳâr, Bodleian Cat., No. 391, 36, A. H. 1060=A. D. 1650; others give the date of his death as A. H. 1057, 1063, or 1064=A. D. 1647, 1653, or 1654, see Rieu ii. p. 687, iii. p. 1091^b, and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 436); the last poet is Mir Yahyâ Kâshî (who died A. H. 1074=A. D. 1663, 1664), on fol. 103^b.

Beginning: سخن جانست و دیگر گفتگو جانان زمن بشنو - اگر هر لحظه جانی تازه خواهی این سخن بشنو آبلج.

Dated Dhû-alka'dah, A. H. 1154 (24th year of Muḥammadshâh's reign)=A. D. 1742, January.

No. 2003, ff. 108, ll. 12-13; written for the greater part in Shikasta; size, 6½ in. by 4½ in.

671

Another copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy; title on fol. 3^b, l. 5.

The first biography, Ilâhî of Hamadân, begins on fol. 3^b; the last, Yahyâ Kâshî, on fol. 126^b, last line.

No date. 12th-13th century of the Hijrah.

No. 3169, ff. 132, ll. 12; Nasta'lik; size, 7¾ in. by 4¾ in.

672

A fragment of the same.

This fragment of the Kalimât-alshu'arâ breaks off on fol. 36^b in the specimens of a poet with the takhallus Sayyid, i.e. Mir Sayyid 'Alî (beginning on fol. 36^a=fol. 51^b in the preceding copy). The last words, گیسو مسلسل را ... correspond to fol. 52^b, l. 4 in the same copy. Ff. 37^b and 38^a contain (in a different handwriting) a few Reḳhta ghazals. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2773, ff. 1-38, ll. 16; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

Mirāt-alkhayāl (مرآة الخيال).

Biographies of renowned Persian poets and poetesses, by Shirkhān ibn 'Alī Anjadhkhān Lūdi, who completed this work in A.H. 1102 (A.D. 1690, 1691), comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 374 and 375, where a complete list of the biographies is given; Rieu i. p. 369^b sq.; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 618; Bland, in Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society, ix. pp. 140 and 142; A. Sprenger, Cat., p. 115, and J. Aumer, p. 3. Printed Calcutta, 1831, and Bareilly, 1848.

Beginning: ای ژوبند بر زبان نطی سخن سرای را الخ.

The first of the ancient poets is Rūdagi, on fol. 10^b; the first of the modern poets Jāmī, on fol. 48ⁱ; the tadhkirah of the poetesses begins on fol. 217^a.

Dated the 1st of Šafar, A.H. 1147 (the sixteenth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign)=A.D. 1734, July 3.

An index of the whole work is found on the fly-leaves.

No. 2011, ff. 220, ll. 17; unequal Nasta'lik; size, 9 in. by 6½ in.

674

Another copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. The tadhkirah of poetesses is entirely missing here. No date.

No. 226, ff. 225, ll. 15; Shikasta; many damaged leaves have been carefully mended; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

675

Hamisha Bahār (همیشه بهار).

Eternal Spring, a tadhkirah of Persian poets who flourished in India from the time of Jahāngir to the accession of Muḥammadshāh (A.H. 1131=A.D. 1719), by a Khatri Kishanānd Ikhlās, who completed this work in A.H. 1136 (A.D. 1723, 1724), see fol. 7^b, ll. penult. and ultim. Compare the complete list of poets in this tadhkirah in A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 117 sq.; see also Rieu iii. p. 1086^b.

Beginning, on fol. 5^b: ای ذکر توگلفروش بازار سخن الخ.

The first poet mentioned in this copy is Mir Ilāhi (see above in No. 670), on fol. 8^a, not, as in Sprenger's list, Amirkhān Anjām, who follows here as second, on fol. 9^b; the last is Aḥmad Yārkhān Yaktā, as in Sprenger. This copy is dated A.H. 1139 (ninth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign), the 9th of Dhū-al-ḥajjah (A.D. 1727, June 28), by Muḥammad Majid, at Shāh-jānābād. The remark on the fly-leaf, that it was copied A.H. 1231 (A.D. 1816), is consequently wrong; there are besides seals of former owners, for instance, of Mir Ghulam, bearing the date A.H. 1222 (A.D. 1807, 1808). The Hamisha Bahār fills ff. 5-173; the first leaves, ff. 1-4, and the last, ff. 174-191, contain various specimens of Persian poetry, mostly in oblique or diagonal lines. On the margin of ff. 5-29 there are additional verses also.

A former owner of this copy was Mr. Hall (Benares, 1851); see, besides, the remark of A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 117, note.

No. 3163, ff. 191, ll. 11 (in the main portion); Shikasta; size, 9½ in. by 5¼ in.

Tadhkira-i-Nadrat (تذکره ندرت).

A large fragment of a tadhkirah of ancient and modern Persian poets, compiled by 'Alī Fiṭrat 'Aṭā-allāh, with the takhalluṣ Nadrat, in the nineteenth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign, A.H. 1149, 1150 (A.D. 1737), see fol. 32^b, margin, ll. 11-12. It is divided into two جمن, seven گلشن, and one حدیقه or خاتمه; the former nine comprising the nine centuries of Persian poetry, from A.H. 200 to 1100 (A.D. 815-1689), the latter dealing with contemporary poets of the twelfth century. Of these ten subdivisions, only five are found in this copy, viz. Āman I: Poets of the third century, from Rūdagi to 'Umārāh, on fol. 33^a; Āman II: Poets of the fourth century, from Amir Akāji (or Aghāji) to Abū-alfaraj Sijzi, on fol. 33^b; Gulshan I and II (not separated here): Poets of the fifth and sixth centuries, from 'Unṣuri to Jamāl-al-din 'Abd-alrazzāk of Iṣfahān, on fol. 34^a, margin; Gulshan III: Poets of the seventh century, on fol. 61^a, beginning with Kamāl-al-din Isma'il خلاق المعانی, and breaking off abruptly in the account of Jalāl-al-din Rūmi.

Beginning: نهای فصاحت بپیرا صانعی را سزاست که دندان سین سخن الخ.

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2678, ff. 32-71, ll. 17 in the centre, ll. 34 on the margin; Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 7¼ in.

Tadhkirat-alahwāl (تذکره الاحوال).

The autobiography of Shaikh Muḥammad 'Alī Ḥazin, who was born in Iṣfahān, in Rabi'-althāni, A.H. 1103 (A.D. 1691, December, to 1692, January), and died in Banāras, A.H. 1180 (A.D. 1766). He wrote this account of his life in A.H. 1154 (A.D. 1741), see fol. 159ⁱ, l. 7.

Beginning: نعمده و نسأله التفي و نعتصم بعروة الوثی و نصلى على سيدنا المصطفى و آله الخ.

The above title is found in Rieu i. p. 372. Other titles, given to this book, are تذکره شیخ محمد علی تاریخ احوال شیخ, in Bodleian Cat., No. 383; تذکره حالات شیخ, in A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 141; and تذکره علی حزن, on the fly-leaf of this copy. An English translation of it was published by F. C. Belfour, London, 1830; the Persian text by the same, London, 1831.

Dated the 8th of Rabi'-alawwal, A.H. 1227 (A.D. 1812, March 23), at Lucknow, by بیدرو شویر بوتیس, عمیسوی بن فراسیکو شویر بوتیس (مشتري!), College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2141, ff. 1-160, ll. 11; large Nasta'lik; size, 9¼ in. by 6½ in.

678

Tadhkirat-almu'asirin (تذکره المعاصرین).

Majma'-al-nafā'is (مجمع النفائس).

The second half (جلد دوم) of the famous tadhkirah of Persian poets, completed A.H. 1164 (A.D. 1750, 1751), by Sirāj-al-dīn 'Alī Khān Ārzū, who was born A.H. 1101 (A.D. 1690), and died A.H. 1169 (A.D. 1756); comp. A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 132; Bodleian Catal., No. 380. This copy, which is no doubt Mr. Hall's (see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 134, note), begins with the letter ض. and ends with ی; the first poet mentioned is Dīyā-al-dīn Fārsī. Among the numerous works of Ārzū the most prominent are: سراج اللغة, a glossary of ancient poets; جراج مدائن, a glossary of modern poets; تنبيه الغافلين, a criticism on Shaikh 'Alī Ḥazīn; غرائب اللغات, a glossary of Hindi words (comp. Rieu ii. p. 501, and iii. pp. 997, 1030, and 1070^b), and خیابان گلستان, a commentary on the Gulistān (Bodleian Cat., No. 725; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 551).

This copy is one of the oldest we have of Ārzū's work, transcribed from the author's autograph, A.H. 1166 (19th of Jumādā-alawwal, sixth year of Aḥmad-shāh's reign)=A.D. 1753, March 24, by Ārzū's pupil Mir 'Arif-allāh, known as Imām-al-dīn; it came into Kaikubādjang's library, A.H. 1204, 2nd of Rabi'-alawwal (A.D. 1789, December 20).

No. 3116, ff. 344, ll. 17; Nasta'liq, mixed with Shikasta; size, 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 6 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

Muntakhab-i-Majma'-al-nafā'is (منتخب مجمع النفائس).

An abridgment of 'Alī Khān Ārzū's tadhkirah (منتخب تذکرة خان آرزو), written in the shape of an album, and likewise identical with the one mentioned by A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 134, at the end of the note.

Ff. 2^a-14^b contain a complete alphabetical index of all the poets quoted in this work. On fol. 15^a the real tadhkirah, or rather the anthology (for the biographical notices are either extremely short or left out altogether), begins with a rubā'i by Bāyazīd Bisṭāmī. On fol. 1^b, a واسوخت in Rekhta is added.

This copy is dated the 1st of Šafar, A.H. 1243 (=A.D. 1827, August 24, the twenty-second year of Akbarshāh II, the son of Shāh 'Ālam and nominal emperor of Dillī, from A.H. 1221 to 1253=A.D. 1806-1837).

No. 3117, ff. 137, 2 coll., in diagonal lines, with an additional long line between the columns; Nasta'liq, mixed with Shikasta; size, 12 in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Maāthir alkirām-i-ta'rikh-i-Balgrām (مآثر الکرام تاریخ بلگرام).

The first volume of the great biographical work on the famous men of Balgrām in Audh and neighbourhood, and those other eminent Indians who were in some way or other connected with that district, by Mir Ghulām 'Alī Khān Ḥusainī Wāsiṭī Balgrāmī, with the takhalluṣ Āzād, who was born in Balgrām, A.H. 1116 (A.D. 1704, 1705), and died towards the end of A.H. 1200 (A.D. 1786, September); comp. on the author, who has been mentioned above as the first editor of the Maāthir-alumarā, in No. 622 sq., and again in No. 655, Rieu i. p. 373; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 142, and Bland, in Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society, ix. p. 150; and on the مآثر الکرام, Rieu iii. p. 971, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 566-569, where a full list of the biographies in the second fasl of the work (sixty-seven in the Berlin copy) is given.

The date of composition is A.H. 1166 (A.D. 1753), according to the chronogram ختامه مسک. The Maāthir-alkirām is divided into two fasls, the first dealing with the Fukarā or Shaikhs and pious men, the second (beginning on fol. 71^b) with the Fuḍalā or learned men; there are seventy-seven biographies in the former, and seventy-two (five more than in the Berlin copy) in the latter. The author mentions himself in both, see ff. 65^b and 121^a.

Beginning: نسائم المحامد سارية الى الحمى السرمدي
و ازهار التصلية و التسليم الخ

This copy was sent (according to a note in this MS.) by the author from Aurangābād, to Mr. Richard Johnson, at Haidarābād, through 'Lutchmen-narain' (that is no doubt Lachmi Narāyan, the author of the گل رعنا, a tadhkirah of Persian poets in India, composed A.H. 1181=A.D. 1767, 1768, and a faithful Ghulām or servant of Āzād, see Rieu iii. p. 977), the 1st of March, 1785; 100 rupees were sent in return.

No. 1320, ff. 123, ll. 21; Nasta'liq; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

Sarw-i-Āzād (سرو آزاد).

The second volume of Mir Ghulām 'Alī Āzād's great biographical work on the famous men of Balgrām and other parts of India, with the special title of Sarw-i-Āzād, likewise composed A.H. 1166, according to the following three chronograms: ختم او احسن نشانده, تحرير عالي کرد آزاد, and آزاد سرو سبز تازه. see the last page in this copy, and ff. 3^a, ll. 6 and 7, and 158^b, last two lines, in the following copy; compare on this work, A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 143, and Bland, in Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society, ix. p. 151. It is divided, like the first volume, into two fasls: the first comprising 143 biographies of Persian poets; the second (on fol. 155^b), eight biographies of Reklita poets. At the end of the work, on fol. 165 sq., an extract is given from Mir Ghulām Nabī's (see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 230, first line sq.) Hindūstāni treatise, انك درين, on the forms of poetry and music, composed A.H. 1154 (A.D. 1741, 1742). A complete index of all biographies on ff. 1^b-4^a.

Beginning, on fol. 5^b: سرمایه حمد نیاز مبدعی که ارواح معانی را با قوالب الفاظ آمیخت و سبعة متعلقة افلاك را از در قدرت آویخت الخ

In the preface of this (second) volume the author gives a detailed statement about the composition of the whole work; he says, that after having completed A.H. 1148 (A.D. 1735, 1736) his general tadhkirah of Persian poets, styled يد بیضا (see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 142), he resolved upon writing a work on the literary men of his native town, which he divided into two volumes, the first to be styled مآثر الکرام الخ, and the second سرو آزاد (see fol. 6^b, line 14 sq.).

D. 1777, February 20), and written for Mir Diyā-aldin Muḥammadkhān. This copy is obviously the same which was formerly in the possession of Mr. Hall, see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 149, note.

No. 3166, ff. 234, 2 coll., each ll. 13; Nasta'lik, mixed with Shikaṣṭa; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

692

A very large universal biography of Persian poets, with copious extracts, comprising, according to the index on ff. 1^a-17^a, 2200 names, by an anonymous author, without preface and colophon. This big volume, which is (to judge from the blank leaves left between chapters and single names) the first sketch of a tadhkirah only, must have been compiled between A. H. 1170 and 1180 (A. D. 1757-1766), for on fol. 95^a the death of Sirāj-aldin 'Alikhān Ārzū (see Nos. 680 and 681 above) is fixed in A. H. 1170 (contrary to the usual statement), and on fol. 663^b Mir Shams-aldin Fakir, who died, according to A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 394, A. H. 1180 or 1181 (A. D. 1766, 1767), is spoken of as still alive. Perhaps we have got in this copy the very rare—and as yet never met with—تذکره بینظیر, which was compiled A. H. 1172 or 1178 (A. D. 1758, 1759, or 1764, 1765), by Mir 'Abd-alwabbāb Daulatābādī (see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 144, No. 11). The arrangement is alphabetical; each letter forms a حدیقه, and each حدیقه is subdivided into three گلشن (ancient, middle, and modern poets), the last of which comprises again two چمن (viz. poets of Īrān and Tūrān, and poets of India). The first name on fol. 19^b is Shaikh Abū-alḥasan Kharakānī. As for the old poets in particular, the biographical dates are very incorrect; Kharakānī's death, for example, being fixed in A. H. 352 (instead of A. H. 425), and Nāṣir bin Khusrāu's even in A. H. 119 (!!).

No. 2415, ff. 936, 3 coll., ll. 15 in each; written by different hands in Nasta'lik and Shikaṣṭa; size, 12½ in. by 8 in.

Ātashkada (آتشکده).

The comparatively oldest copy of Hājī Luṭf 'Alibeg Isfahānī's famous collection of biographies of Persian poets, styled Ātashkada or the Fire-temple, and compiled during the years A. H. 1174-1193 (A. D. 1760-1779), comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 384-386, where a complete list of all the biographies is given; Bland, in Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society, vii. p. 345 sq.; Rieu i. p. 375; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 624; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 161, etc. The chapter on the 'royal and princely poets' has been edited by N. Bland. London, 1844; the whole work has been lithographed at Calcutta, A. H. 1249, and at Bombay, A. H. 1277. This copy, by far older than those in the Bodleian Library, the British Museum, and in Berlin, was made by Muḥammad Ḥasan almūsawī, at Shirāz, for Mirzā Muḥammad, and finished in the month Jumādā-alawwal, A. H. 1196 (A. D. 1782, April-May), only three years after the completion of the original work itself.

Beginning: مرغ آتشکده دل و زبانۀ اخگر زبان سپاس

Complete index of poets on ff. 3^b-5^b.

First Censer (مجمرة اولی), the older poets, subdivided into—

A flame (شعله), containing royal and princely poets, on fol. 5^b.

A first firebrand (اخگر): the poets of Īrān, in five sparks (شراره): (a) Poets of Ādharbaijān and its dependencies, on fol. 14^b; (b) Poets of Khurāsān, on fol. 29^a; (c) Poets of Ṭabaristān, Jurjān, Lāhijān, Rasht, and Māzandarān, on fol. 80^a; (d) Poets of 'Irāk-i-'Arab and 'Irāk-i-'Ajam, on fol. 88^b; (e) Poets of Fārs, on fol. 137^a.

A second firebrand: the poets of Tūrān, in three sparks: (a) Poets of Balkh and its dependencies, on fol. 156^b; (b) Poets of Khwārizm, on fol. 162^b; (c) Poets of Transoxania, on fol. 166^a.

A third firebrand: poets of India, in three sparks: (a) Poets of the Dakhan, on fol. 181^b; (b) Poets of Dillī, ib.; (c) Poets of Kashmir, on fol. 184^a, and a lustre (فروغ), containing poetesses, on fol. 184^a.

Second Censer (مجمرة ثانیة), modern and contemporary poets, subdivided into two rays (پرتو), viz.: (a) The modern poets, on fol. 185^b; (b) Khātimah and autobiography of the author himself, with extracts from his own works, on fol. 221^b.

This copy was brought from Persia, 1801.

No. 2929, ff. 244, 4 coll., ll. 25; excellent, but small Nasta'lik, the first two pages splendidly embellished; illuminated frontispiece; magnificent eastern binding; size, 11½ in. by 7½ in.

694

Another copy of the same.

This copy of the Ātashkada was written by the author's own son, 'Alī Muḥammad alshirāzī alburūjirdī ابن المرحوم لطفعلی علی محمد شیرازی مسکنًا), in the reign of Faṭḥ 'Alī Shāh of Persia, and finished in the month Šafar, A. H. 1215 (A. D. 1800, June, July). Index on ff. 3^b-5^b.

First Censer (مجمرة), older poets, on fol. 5^b.

The flame (شعله), on fol. 5^b; first firebrand (اخگر), poets of Īrān, in five sparks (شراره), on ff. 14^a (heading omitted), 28^a, 77^a, 85^a, and 133^a; second firebrand, poets of Tūrān, in three sparks, on ff. 152^a, 157^b (margin), and 161^a (here must be read شراره ثالثة instead of ثانیة); third firebrand, poets of India, in three sparks, on ff. 175^b (first and second شراره) and 177^b margin (here again شراره ثالثة to be read instead of ثانیة).

The lustre (فروغ), poetesses, on fol. 178^a.

Second Censer: modern and contemporary poets, on fol. 179^a; Khātimah (author's autobiography, etc.), on fol. 211^b margin.

A geographical index on the fly-leaves at the end of the MS.

No. 3445, ff. 235, 4 coll., each ll. 17, and a fifth on the margin, ll. 34; neat, but very small Nasta'lik; large illuminated frontispiece, the first two pages gorgeously embellished; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

695

Lubb-i-Lubâb (لبّ لباب).

An epitome from the large and well-known tadhkirah رياض الشعرا, by 'Ali Kulikhân, with the takhalluṣ Wâlih (which was completed A. H. 1161 = A. D. 1748, comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 377 and 378; Rieu i. p. 371; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 622 sq.; Bland, in Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society, ix. p. 143; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 132, No. 18, etc.), made by Kamar-al-din 'Ali bin Sanâ-allâh alhusaini alnâsiri for Mr. Richard Johnson.

This copy is the compiler's autograph, and finished by him the 12th of Rajab, A. H. 1194 (A. D. 1780, July 14), at Lucknow.

Beginning: حمدی منّره از وصعت انقطاع سزای بارگاه
کلیمی است که آتّه تذکره للمتغین نعت کلام الخ

It contains nearly all the same poets, who are quoted in the رياض, but much shorter, with a few biographical notices and a few specimens of their poetry; but in spite of its being only an abridgment, it is of some value as the author has made sometimes interesting additions, which are not found in the larger work. It is alphabetically arranged, and begins with Shaikh Abû Sa'id bin Abû-alkhair.

No. 1013, ff. 236, ll. 15; Shikasta; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Khulâsat-alafkâr (خلاصة الافکار).

Perhaps the fullest and most valuable copy extant of Abû Tâlib ibn Marhûm (in the Bodleian MS. Maghfûr) Hâjî Muhammad Begkhân Tabrizi aliṣfahâni's (born A. H. 1166 = A. D. 1753, died A. H. 1221 = A. D. 1806) important and rare tadhkirah of Persian poets, compiled in A. H. 1206 and 1207 (A. D. 1791-1793), comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 391, where the complete list of 494 poets is given; Rieu i. p. 378; Bland, in Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society, ix. pp. 153-158; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 163; Elliot, History of India, viii. p. 298, etc.; see also Bodleian Cat., No. 1855, where the author's travels in Europe during A. H. 1213-1218 (A. D. 1799-1803) are described under the title of مسير طالبي في بلاد افرنجي, and No. 1994, where his diwân is noticed. This copy was made, as an English letter inserted in this MS. informs us, by Mr. George Swinton, from the original work, and revised by the author in his own hand, when in Calcutta, 1804, after his return from England. Mr. Swinton gives, besides, the following particulars as to the fate of his copy: 'Having lent it afterwards to the late Dr. Leyden, it passed, with his own books, into the hands of his executors, who sold the Oriental portion of his collection to the Honourable Court of Directors (i. e. of the East India Company), in Leadenhall Street. I had quite lost sight of it until last year, when I accidentally learnt where it was. The Honourable Court were graciously pleased, on my application, to restore it to me, and I thus became once more possessor of a work to which I had attached a peculiar value for the sake of its author, under whom I had studied Persian in London, previously to my appointment to the Bengal Civil Service. Having now gratified my desire of having it again, I conceive that I cannot more appointedly manifest my regard for the memory of its author, as one of the most enlightened and noble-minded of the natives of India, nor better evince my grateful sense of the Honourable Court's liberality in placing the work at my disposal, than by replacing it on the shelves of their Library for the general benefit of Oriental scholars who, like myself, are admirers of the Persian Muse.'

This letter is dated '29th August, 1851, 4 Athol Crescent, Edinburgh.' The MS. was numbered 53 in the Bibliotheca Leydeuiana, and is the same which Mr. Bland has described in No. xi of his valuable paper; the pages containing the description are annexed to this copy.

Beginning, on fol. 1^b: آلى منشور سپاس وستايش
باستحقاق نثار دامن کبرياى ناظمى تواند بود الخ

The twenty-eight Hadîkas, containing biographies and poetical specimens of 310 poets, begin, on fol. 8^b, with Abû Sa'id bin Abû-alkhair.

The ذیل or appendix, giving specimens of 159 (in Elliot 181: 160) other poets, begins on fol. 328^a; the Khâtimah, with twenty-four more poets, including the author himself, on fol. 344^b.

The five treatises begin on fol. 366^a: 1. رساله در علم مصطلحات موسيقى (on music), on fol. 366^a. 2. در علم عروض و قافیه (on prosody and rhyme), on fol. 370^b. 3. مختصر در فنون (on medicine), on fol. 376^a. 4. لبّ السیر (universal history, biography, and geography), on fol. 396^a.

The fifth and last treatise, the longest of all, is subdivided into four bâbs, viz.: (a) در تبیین احوال انبیا (the ancient prophets); (b) وقائع خلفاء (the Khalifs), in seven fasls; (c) in seven fasls, on the wise men of Greece and Rome, the companions, etc., of the prophet (صحابه و تابعین), Shaikhs, 'Ulamâs, and poets of Islâm; (d) the other dynasties of the East, contemporary with and posterior to the 'Abbâside Khalifs; although the historical notices are very short and concise, they abound in many and very correct chronological dates; on fol. 418^b, l. 4 ab infra, for instance, Rûdagi's death is fixed (and no doubt correctly) in A. H. 343 (A. D. 954, 955). This abridgment of universal history, which sometimes appears as a separate work (see Rieu iii. p. 895, and Bland, loc. cit., p. 47), was compiled A. H. 1208 (A. D. 1793, 1794). Beginning of the Lubb-alsi-yar wa jahânunûâ: الحمد لله رب العالمين . . . اما بعد
ابجد خوان دبستان نادانی ابو طالب ابن محمد تبریزی الخ

The chronogram for the commencement of the whole work, viz. 1206, is یکجا خلاصة الافکار.

Bibliotheca Leydeuiana.

A few leaves (ff. 107-110) are unfortunately quite parched, and consequently almost crumbling to pieces.

No. 2692, ff. 473, ll. 23; small, neat, and very distinct Nast'liq; size, 12½ in. by 8½ in.

697

Another copy of the same.

The list of poets begins on fol. 8^b, and concludes on fol. 320^b. The ذیل or appendix contains only sixteen names in this copy as compared with the 159 or 160 of other copies. The four treatises on ethics, music, prosody, and medical science are entirely missing here; but the fifth, viz. the abridgment of general history, لبّ السیر و جهاننما, in four bābs, is found here on ff. 322^b-390.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. No date.

No. 3115, ff. 390, ll. 21; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; size, 10 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 7 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

Tadhkira-i-'Alī Ḥusaini Gardizi (تذکره علی حسینی گاردیزی).

A tadhkirah of Rekhta poets, by 'Alī alḥusainī al-gardizī (see fol. 1^b, l. 3 ab infra), compiled in Persian, A. H. 1165 (A. D. 1752), at Dihli, comp. A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 178; Rieu iii. p. 1071; Garcin de Tassy, Littérature Hindouie, etc., 2nd ed. i. p. 523; Journal Asiatique, 5^e série, ii. p. 369. It is arranged alphabetically, and contains, according to the index on ff. 70^b and 71^a, ninety-seven biographies. It begins with Sirāj-al-dīn 'Alīkhān Ārzū (see above, Nos. 680 and 681), on fol. 3^b, and ends with 'Abd-alwāḥab Yākrū, a pupil of Ābrū, on fol. 70^b, l. 2.

Beginning: ابتدای سخن محمد سخن آفرینی سزاست: که سر لوح نسخه کائنات را الخ

This is the oldest of the India Office copies, dated A. H. 1180 (A. D. 1766, 1767), and belonged formerly to Mr. J. Edward Hall (Benares, 1851), who lent it to Dr. A. Sprenger, as we learn from the latter's Catal., p. 178, note. On ff. 71^b and 72 there is added by another hand the index of some Hindūstānī medical work. A few Rekhta baits, on fol. 1^a.

No. 3168, ff. 1-72, ll. 15; Nasta'liq, written by two different hands (the first on ff. 1-31, the second in the handwriting of the colophon and date on ff. 32-71^a); size, 8 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Another copy of the same.

This copy, dated by Mu'in-al-dīn Bhagalpūri the first of Dhū-alḥijjah, A. H. 1216 (A. D. 1802, April 4), belonged originally to Tipū's library. Later owners of it were: Ḥāfiẓ Aḥmad Kabir, Maulawī Riḍā Ḥasan-khān Bahādur, and Mr. J. Edward Hall, who got it from the latter, the 22nd of October, 1848, at Calcutta.

This is the second of the two copies lent by Mr. Hall to Dr. A. Sprenger, see the latter's note in his Catal., loc. cit. The first biography, that of 'Alīkhān Ārzū, begins here on fol. 3^b, last line; the last, that of 'Abd-alwāḥab Yākrū, on fol. 79^b. There is no index in this copy.

Beginning as in the preceding copy.

No. 3170, ff. 79, ll. 13; Nasta'liq; size, 8 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

Makhzan-i-Nikāt (مخزن نکات).

The most valuable biography and anthology of the earlier Rekhta poets, written in Persian by Muḥammad Kiyām-al-dīn bin 'Alī, with the takhalluṣ Kā'im of Čandpūr (see title and author's name here on fol. 2^a, ll. 6 and 8), comp. A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 179 (it is one of the authorities used by Sprenger in his most valuable alphabetical list of Rekhta poets). The title is a chronogram, giving as date of composition A. H. 1168 (A. D. 1754, 1755), comp. also fol. 75^a, ll. 3 and 4. The author died A. H. 1210 or 1207 (A. D. 1795, 1796, or 1792, 1793), comp. A. Sprenger, loc. cit.

Beginning: رنگینی کلمات و دلنشین فقرات محمد سخن پناهی است که بنای الخ

It is divided into three ṭabaḳas (see fol. 2^b, ll. 2 and 3), viz.:

First ṭabaḳah (the older poets, در بیان اشعار شعری), on fol. 2^b, beginning with Sa'di, on fol. 3^a, and ending with Mir Ja'far, with the takhalluṣ Ja'far, the contemporary of Bīdil (see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 242, l. 21 sq.), on fol. 13^b.

Second ṭabaḳah (the poets of the middle period, در ذکر کلام سخنوران متوسطین), on fol. 14^a, beginning with Shāh Mubārak, with the takhalluṣ Ābrū (A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 196, l. 5 sq.), on fol. 14^b, and ending with the Afghān Kamtarin (A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 247, l. 18 sq.), on fol. 35^a.

Third ṭabaḳah (the modern poets, در بیان اشعار و احوال شعری متأخرین), on fol. 35^a, beginning with Mir Shams-al-dīn Faḳir (A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 223, l. 21 sq.), on fol. 36^a, and ending with Kiyām-al-dīn 'Alī (bin 'Alī ?) Kā'im, the author of this work.

No date.

No. 3522, ff. 86, ll. 11; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; size, 8 $\frac{1}{8}$ -8 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{8}$ -6 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

'Iyār-alshu'arā (عبار الشعرا).

The touchstone of poets, a very extensive, but utterly uncritical tadhkirah of Rekhta poets, by Khūb Čand bin Bhawānī Čand bin Rāi Salāmatrāi bin 'Ajā'ib Rāi Kāyath, with the takhalluṣ Dhakā (acumen), or, as Sprenger reads, Dhukā (sun), see fol. 2^a, ll. 3 and 4, and fol. 137^a, l. 9, a native of Dihli, who lived in Sikandarābād, and compiled, or at least began to compile, this tadhkirah in A. H. 1208 = A. D. 1793, 1794, or 1213 =

A. D. 1798, 1799 (according to a rather ambiguous chronogram on fol. 2^b, l. 8), at the request of his teacher Mir Nasir-aldin Nasir, see fol. 138^a, l. 7. The title appears on fol. 2^b, l. 3. According to A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 184 and 185, he must have been engaged in this work more than thirty years, since a date as late as A. H. 1247 is found in it. He died A. H. 1262 (A. D. 1846). In the preface, on fol. 2^a, l. 3 ab infra, he mentions his previous work, the Diwan ذکا.

Beginning: حمد بحد داری را سزد که به کلك قدرت
نقش وجود انسان را بر کرسی الخ

The tadhkirah is arranged alphabetically, beginning with Āftāb, that is, the emperor Shāh 'Ālam, on fol. 2^b.

The author's own biography, with copious extracts from his Rekhta poems, begins on fol. 137^a.

No date.

No. 3131, ff. 474, ll. 15; careless Nasta'liq, mixed with Shikasta; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 in.

703

Gulshan-i-Hind (گلشن هند).

A tadhkirah of the most famous Rekhta poets, written in Hindūstāni by Mirzā Lutf, A. H. 1215 (A. D. 1800, 1801), at the request of Mr. Gilehrst (see fol. 2^a, l. 4 ab infra, and fol. 2^b, l. 12).

Beginning: رعنائی اور زیبائی دلبران سخن لوراس

Ṭabakāt-i-Shāhjahāni (طبقات شاهجهانی).

A large collection of succinct biographies of all the great Sayyids, Shaikhs, Saints, Hakims, 'Ulamās, and poets, who flourished from the beginning of Timūr's reign down to the reign of the emperor Shāhjahān, compiled about A. H. 1046 (A. D. 1636, 1637) by Muḥammad Ṣādiq, and dedicated to Shāhjahān (A. H. 1037-1068=A. D. 1627-1658), comp. Rieu iii. p. 1009; Elliot, History of India, vii. p. 133. It is divided into ten ṭabakāt (every one containing three bābs), viz.:

Ṭabakāh I: Famous men in Timūr's reign (A. H. 770-807=A. D. 1369-1405), on fol. 6^a (bāb II, on fol. 23^b; bāb III, on fol. 30^a).

Ṭabakāh II: Famous men, who lived under Mirzā Mirānshāh and died under Sultān Shāhrukh (A. H. 807-850=A. D. 1405-1447), on fol. 40^a (bāb II, on fol. 63^a; bāb III, on fol. 75^b).

Ṭabakāh III: Famous men under Sultān Muḥammad bin Mirzā Mirānshāh and Mirzā Ulughbeg bin Mirzā Shāhrukh (A. H. 850-853=A. D. 1447-1449), on fol. 85^b (bāb II, on fol. 92^a; bāb III, on fol. 102^b).

Ṭabakāh IV: Famous men, who lived and died under Sultān Abū Sa'id Gūrgān (A. H. 854-873=A. D. 1450-1469), on fol. 109^a (bāb II, on fol. 118^a; bāb III, on fol. 124^a).

Ṭabakāh V: Famous men, who lived and died under Mirzā 'Umar Shaikh Bahādur, son of Sultān Abū Sa'id Gūrgān (A. H. 873-899=A. D. 1469-1494), on fol. 133^b (bāb II, on fol. 147^a; bāb III, on fol. 156^b).

Ṭabakāh VI: Famous men under Sultān Bābar (A. H. 900-937=A. D. 1495-1530), on fol. 161^b (bāb II, on fol. 179^b; bāb III, on fol. 187^a).

Ṭabakāh VII: Famous men under Sultān Humāyūn (A. H. 938-963=A. D. 1531-1556), on fol. 192^a (bāb II, on fol. 205^b; bāb III, on fol. 215^b).

Ṭabakāh VIII: Famous men under Sultān Akbar (A. H. 963-1014=A. D. 1556-1605), on fol. 223^b (bāb II, on fol. 261^b; bāb III, on fol. 284^b).

Ṭabakāh IX: Famous men under Sultān Jahāngir (A. H. 1014-1037=A. D. 1605-1627), on fol. 348^a (bāb II, on fol. 360^a; bāb III, on fol. 380^a).

Ṭabakāh X: Famous men, contemporary with Sultān Shāhjahān, from A. H. 1037-1046=A. D. 1627-1636, 1637, on fol. 395^a (bāb II, on fol. 415^b; III, on fol. 424^a).

After fol. 434 two leaves are missing. Worm-eaten and slightly injured throughout.

No date.

Beginning: آغاز سخن بسپاس و ستایش خداوند بی نیاز الح.

No. 259, ff. 435, ll. 15; Nasta'liq; illuminated heading on fol. 1^b; size, 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 4 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

706

The autobiography of a modern Persian, who occupied various positions, in the reign of Fath 'Ali Shāh (A. H. 1212-1250=A. D. 1797-1834), but conceals his name with the greatest care. He was born the 16th of Jumādā II, A. H. 1197, at Isfahān (A. D. 1783, May 19), see fol. 5^a, ll. 4 and 3 ab infra, and began to note down the events of his life, at the request of some true friends and companions, in the month Dhū-alhijjah, A. H. 1239 (A. D. 1824, August), see fol. 2^b, l. 4 sq. He mentions incidentally his grand-uncle 'Abd-alrahīmkhān (fol. 41^b, l. 6), and three brothers of his, viz. Mirzā 'Ali Akbar, Mirzā 'Ali Ridā, and Fath-allāhkhān (fol. 42^b). If the last-mentioned brother should be identical with Fath-allāhkhān, son of Luṭf 'Alīkhān, the last reigning prince of the Zand dynasty (who was defeated, captured, and murdered in A. H. 1209=A. D. 1795), the anonymous author would of course be a son, and probably the youngest son, of that unfortunate ruler also, but الله اعلم!

The biography itself is divided into four bābs, with the following headings:

1. در کيفيت نسب, on fol. 3^b (the author traces his genealogy back to Hāji Kiwām-al-din Shirāzi, a contemporary of Shāh Shujā'-i-Muẓaffarī, A. H. 760-786=A. D. 1359-1384).

2. از زمان ولادت الى اوان مغضوب شدن از سلطان جهانيان, on fol. 5^a.

3. در انحراف مزاج مبارك سلطاني و اثبات حقيقت, احكام قصا نظام بادله و براهين عقليه بتقدير قادر سبحاني, on fol. 25^a.

4. تفصيل احوال بعد از سياست و ياسا و اعطاف زباده از حد و احصى و الطاف شاهنشاه معدلت گستر, on fol. 38^a.

On fol. 53^a there is inserted a poetical description of the earthquake of Shirāz, some years before the composition of this autobiography, by Mirzā Kūcāk, of Shirāz, a famous penman and calligrapher (see Rieu ii. p. 786^b), entitled: مرزا كوچك در باب زلزله شيراز.

On ff. 61^a-139 a historical treatise by the author himself is added, a concise account of old Persian kings, entitled: گفتار در ذكر مختصرى از وقائع اوضاع و احوال, divided into the customary four ṭabakāt, viz.: 1. Pishdādians, on fol. 61^b; 2. Kayānians, on fol. 80^b; 3. Ashkānians, on fol. 93^b; and 4. Sāsānians, on fol. 101^a.

Beginning of the autobiography, on fol. 1^b: پس بگريد و بگردد روزگار, دل بدنيا در نيند هوشيار الح.

Dated the 29th of Ramaḍān, A. H. 1253 (A. D. 1837, Dec. 27), by Abū-alkāsim bin 'Abd-alridā, of Kāzwin.

No. 3399, olim 16. J. 13, ff. 139, ll. 9; clear Nasta'liq; size, 6 in. by 4 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

IX. GEOGRAPHY, COSMOGRAPHY, AND TOPOGRAPHY.

Tarjuma-i-almasālik wa-almamālik (ترجمة المسالك). (والممالك).

The same Persian adaptation of the famous geographical work by Abû Ishâk Ibrâhîm bin Muḥammad al-Fârisî, better known as al-Iṣṭakhri, called مسالك الممالك, and probably completed A.H. 340 (A.D. 951, 952), as a revised and enlarged edition of Abû Zaid Aḥmad bin Sahl al-Balkhî's (died A.H. 322 = A.D. 934) صور الأقاليم or اشكال البلاد, which is described in G. Flügel ii. 424 and 425, and begins: الحمد لله مبدئى (مبتدئى): النعم وولى الحمد و صلى الله على سيد المرسلين وآله اجمعين اما بعد چنین گوید خداوند سخن که مراد ما از تصنيف اين كتاب النسخ

It is besides identical with the one noticed in H. Khalfa, v. p. 509, No. 11869. On the very intricate question of the relationship between Abû Zaid Balkhî's and Iṣṭakhri's respective works and the frequent mixture of both, as well as on the different Persian phrases extant, comp. especially De Goeje's splendid article on the 'Iṣṭakhri-Balkhî Frage' in the Zeitschrift der D.M.G. vol. xxv, pp. 42-58, and Rieu i. p. 416; other versions are noticed in H. Khalfa iv. p. 112; W. Pertsch, p. 61; B. Dorn, Das Asiatische Museum, p. 666; Rieu, loc. cit., etc. An abridged Persian translation is contained in Sir W. Ouseley's 'Oriental Geography of Ebn Haukal,' London, 1800; a fuller version in the صور البلدان by Muḥammad bin As'ad bin 'Abdallâh, see Bodleian Cat., No. 396. The title given to the work on fol. 1^b, l. 11 in the present copy, is, just as in Flügel's: مسالك و ممالك. Unfortunately our MS. is very defective; there is a large lacuna of, at least, fourteen leaves after fol. 1^b, comprising the greater part of the preface and the beginning of the geography itself, and at the end the copy is incomplete also. On ff. 2^a-3^a a part of the ذكر دربارى is found; on fol. 3^b the ذكر ديار مغرب begins. The copy breaks off on fol. 95^b, in the middle of a chapter, styled: مسافات شهرهاى سغد و سمرقند.

No. 1026, ff. 95, ll. 17; good old Naskhi; many maps; some leaves injured; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Ṣuwar-alakâlim (صور الاقاليم).

A geographical compendium, styled both in the colophon and on fol. 1^a صور الاقاليم, and identical with that described by Rieu i. p. 420 sq. The compiler, whose name is not mentioned, was a servant of Amîr Mubâriz-alḥakḥ wa-aldunyah wa-aldîn Muḥammad (see fol. 2^b, l. 6), the founder of the Muẓaffarî dynasty (blinded by his son Shâh Shujâ', A.H. 760 = A.D. 1359). According to a passage in one of the British Museum copies this little book was composed A.H. 748 (A.D. 1347, 1348); comp. also Mélanges Asiatiques, vols. iv. p. 54, vi. p. 574, and vii. p. 43.

Beginning: الحمد لله رب العالمين قال الله تبارك تعالى سنرهم آياتنا فى الآفاق وفى انفسهم حتى نتبين لهم اته الحق اما بعد در تواريخ آمده که چون سکندر بن فیلقوس النسخ

It is divided into two bâbs:

The first, subdivided into two faṣls, viz.:

فصل اول در ذکر کره زمین و مقدار و مساحت آن و معرفت طول و عرض بلدان و خواص مواضع (the terrestrial globe, its dimensions, etc.), on fol. 3^b.

فصل دوم در ذکر آفاق جنوبی و خط استوا و ما يتعلق (the southern hemisphere, the equator, etc.), on fol. 12^b.

The second is subdivided into seven faṣls, each dealing with one of the seven climates, on ff. 22^b, 41^a, 51^a, 84^a, 107^a, 113^a, and 117^a.

Dated the 12th of Ṣafar, A.H. 1220 (A.D. 1805, May 12).

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2725, ff. 1-130, ll. 12; Nasta'liq; Arabic quotations in Naskhi; size, 8½ in. by 6½ in.

709

Mirât (مرآت).

The first two bâbs of the earliest Persian adaptation, as it appears, of the first part of the Arabic cosmography of Zakariyyâ bin Muḥammad bin Maḥmûd al-Kazwîni (died A.H. 682 = A.D. 1283), the well-known عجائب المخلوقات و غرائب الموجودات (Arabic text edited by Fr. Wüstenfeld, Göttingen, 1848, German translation by Dr. H. Ethé, first volume, Leipzig, 1868), in the form of a mathnawî, by Shaikh Jalâl-al-dîn Hamzah Âdhuri (or Âdhari) of Asfarâ'in (the author's name is left out in this copy, but appears in the following one), who flourished in the reign of Shâhrukh, and died A.H. 866 (A.D. 1461, 1462, comp. A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 315 sq., and Rieu i. p. 43). Its proper title is مرآت, the mirror, or according to a colophon, on fol. 38^a, عجائب و غرائب, wonderful and curious things (in Daulatshâh, A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 316, and in the colophon of the present copy, عجائب الغرائب; in Sir Gore Ouseley's Catal., p. 2, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 161, عجائب المخلوقات, in the latter also عجائب الدنيا), and it consists of four distinct bâbs, viz.: 1. طائمت الكبرى; 2. غرائب الدنيا; 3. کتاب سعى وصفا; 4. عجائب الاعلى. Besides Kazwîni's cosmography, which is usually styled here عجائب الدنيا, sometimes also عجائب المخلوق, other works have furnished materials for this poem, for instance, a کتاب جواهر برکات, and others; comp. fol. 5^a, ll. 1-11:

حون خط وخال وغمزه معشوق - هست یکسر عجائب المخلوق
از تواريخ وز کتاب حبات - وز کتاب جواهر برکات
از جمیع حدث وز تفسیر - وانچه از تحفه بود عقل پذیر
وز کتاب عجائب الدنيا - نتوان کرد جمله را احصا
صورت جمله آفرینش دوست - شد درینجا عیان چو مغز از پوست
هست صورت نمای موجودات - زان سبب نام کردمش مرآت
مستعمل شد چو بر چهار ابواب - چار نام آمدش زجار کتاب

اولین نسخه طامت الکبراست - دومینش¹ عجائب الدنیاست
سیومینش عجائب الاعلی - نام جرم کتاب سعی وصفا
لیک فحوای ابن خجسته کتاب - بعد حمد مفتح الابواب
هست تفصیل علم موجودات - معرفت در کمال مخلوقات

That the author intended his work for instruction and not for amusement, he clearly states in several passages, for instance, on fol. 4^b, last line:

اصل این نسخه بر حکایت نیست
غیر تأویل علم و حکمت نیست

on fol. 5^a, l. 12:

معرفت دان بنای اصل کتاب - کان بود فرض بر اولوا الباب
and on fol. 42^b, last line:

حرفهای حقائق عالم - اندرین لوح برده ام بقلم
Our copy contains only the first two bābs, viz.:

1. طامت الکبری, on ff. 1^b-38^a, beginning:

خالق الخلق و هو مولانا - ذکره بالتقدم اولی

This first bāb is a kind of introduction or preliminary discourse on the creation in general, and contains, after the usual praises of God, Muhammad, etc., and an account of the reasons the author had for writing this poem, the following sections:

تفصیل مراتب عالم علوی و سُلی, on fol. 6^b.

تبیین اسرار مخلوقات, on fol. 7^a.

بیان حکما در اصل خلقت عالم کون, on fol. 8^b.

سخن and سخن بعضی از علما در تحقیق ایجاد عالم
بعضی از اهل توحید, on fol. 9^a.

اقوال مختلفه از هر طائفه در ماده ایجاد عالم, on fol. 10^a.

تمثیل در تحقیق حال بر سخن ارباب وحدت
باب اختلافات اشیا, on fol. 10^b.

کیفیت صفات در مراتب موجودات, on fol. 13^b.

حکایت پسر روستائی و سرگذشت او, on fol. 20^b.

ذکر خاصیت ترتیب در اشیا از حکمت حق تعالی
on fol. 27^b.

مناسبت آفاق با انفس و کیفیت حال آدمی, on fol. 30^a.

تمثیل در حقیقت حال انسان و کیفیت اطوار, on fol. 32^b.

حکایت آن دوست که آئینه از برای حضرت بوسف برده on fol. 34^a.

2. غرائب الدنيا, on ff. 39^b-233^a, beginning:

ابتدا میکنم به بسم الله - کوست بر کل کائنات گواه

The second bāb, two other copies of which are preserved in the Bodleian Library, see the full description of them in the Bodleian Cat., Nos. 402 and 403 (where

شد بانجام طامت الکبرا - بعد ازین در غرائب الدنيا and likewise ff. 41^a, l. 10, and 41^b, l. 1.

by a confusion of this second bāb with the third, which has not yet been found anywhere, as title in the colophon is given غرائب الاعلی), corresponds upon the whole to the muḥaddimah and the second makūlah of Kāzwinī's cosmography (فی السُفلیات), whereas the first makūlah of that work (فی العلویات) is the subject of the third bāb, the عجائب الاعلی. After a praise of God and Muḥammad there follows here an explanation of the terms غریب and عجیب, after which the poetical description of all the sublunar things begins, in about the same order, as in Kāzwinī's work; the first section, on fol. 55^a, deals with the غرائب جمادات, or the wonders of the inanimate things, general geography, longitude and latitude, mountains, wells, lakes, seas, islands, minerals, etc.; the following sections treat of plants, birds, huge beasts, Ghūls, monkeys, different sorts of men, and finally of man himself.

Last verse:

چون غرائب نداشت او انجام - ختم کردیم و الصلوة والسلام

Dated the first of Rabi'-alākhar, A.H. 1135 (A.D. 1723, January 9).

No. 78, ff. 233, 2 coll., each ll. 15; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; size, 9 in. by 4³/₄ in.

710

Another copy of the second bāb of the Mirāt.

The second bāb of the Mirāt, with its proper title, غرائب الدنيا (which appears correctly here, on fol. 1^a, whilst it is in other places incorrectly styled غرائب الاعلی, as if the copy included the third bāb also), quite agreeing with ff. 39^b-233^a in the preceding copy. Copied by Sayyid 'Abd-alkarim Rajā'i; the year is omitted, only the 9th of Dhū-alhijjah is given. Ff. 6-23 are misplaced; their right order is: 6, 15-22, 7-14, and 23.

No. 191, ff. 129, 2 coll., each ll. 21; clear Nasta'liq; size, 9 in. by 5¹/₄ in.

A defective copy of the same.

The same second bāb of the Mirāt in a shorter redaction (with omission of various passages and verses) and incomplete besides in consequence of a lacuna between ff. 21 and 27, comprising ff. 19^a, l. 8-21^a, l. 5 of the preceding copy. The proper order of the leaves is: ff. 1, 2, 26, 16-21, 27-94. Beginning on fol. 26^b, the same as in the preceding copies. An index on ff. 1^a-2^b.

On the fly-leaf and the back of the binding the copy is incorrectly styled غرائب الدنيا.

Dated the 20th of Rajab, A.H. 1074 (A.D. 1664, February 17), at Shahjahānābād.

No. 611, ff. 1^a-2^b, 16-21, and 26^b-94^a, 3-4 coll., each ll. 12-21, partly in diagonal lines; careless Nasta'liq; size, 8¹/₂ in. by 4³/₄ in.

عجائب (عجائب-المخلوقات و غرائب الموجودات)
'Ajā'ib-almakhlūqāt wa gharā'ib almaujūdāt

The same literal Persian prose-translation of the first part of Kazwini's cosmography which is described in G. Flügel ii. pp. 506-508 (styled there تحفة الغرائب); the Bodleian Cat., Nos. 397 and 398; Rieu ii. p. 462 sq., and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 367 sq.; comp. also H. Khalfa iv. p. 188; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 258; De Sacy, Chrestomathie Arabe, 1st ed., iii. p. 414 sq. Beginning the same as in the Arabic original, and in the copies of Vienna, the British Museum, and the Bodleian Library, viz.: العظمة لك والكبراء. According to the colophon of the second Vienna copy this translation was completed in the month Jumâdâ I, A. H. 890 (A. D. 1485, May, June). Kazwini's name runs here as in most of the above-mentioned copies: زکرتا بن محمد بن محمود الڪمونى. The dedication to 'Izz-al-din Shâlpûr bin 'Uthmân, mentioned by Rieu, loc. cit., is found neither in this nor in the following copy. This Persian version has been printed in Taharân, A. H. 1264 (A. D. 1848).

No date.

No. 1919, ff. 259, ll. 25; Nasta'lik, profusely illustrated throughout; illuminated frontispiece; size, 11 in. by 6½ in.

713

A defective copy of the same.

No date. A lacuna of six leaves after fol. 273, corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 237^a, l. 6 to fol. 243^a, l. 7 (which agrees with the middle of line 2, on fol. 274^a). Parts of ff. 17 and 24 torn away. The last leaf supplied later. The whole copy is, like the preceding one, profusely illustrated; in some places blanks are left which have not been filled in.

Beginning: رب يسر بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم العظمة (و) لك والكبراء لجلالك الخ.

'Ajâ'ib-almakhlûkât wa gharâ'ib-almaujûdât (عجائب (المخلوقات و غرائب الموجودات).

One of the finest specimens of modern Indian calligraphy and illuminating art, written at the request of Mr. Charles Raikes, Commissioner and Superintendent of Lâhûr, under the supervision of Mufti 'Alî-aldin of Lâhûr, by Faḍl-aldin bin Muḥammad Bakhsh Shāhḥâf of Lâhûr, and completed the 21st of September, A. D. 1854 (see the title-page, fol. 1^a). According to a note by Mr. Raikes himself, fastened to the first fly-leaf, this MS. was sent to the Imperial Exhibition at Paris, for works of art and industry, by the Punjab Committee at Lahore. The India Office Library received it from Dr. Royle, July, 1856.

The Persian translation of the first part of Kazwini's cosmography, contained in this copy, is the more modernized one, which was made under Abû-almuẓaffar Ibrâhîm 'Adîlshâh I (see fol. 5^a, l. 6), who reigned from A. H. 941 to 965 (A. D. 1534-1558), and completed in the beginning of Sha'bân, A. H. 954 (see ff. 8^b, last line, and 9^a, l. 1) = A. D. 1547, second half of September; it is described in Rieu ii. p. 464^b. This version has been lithographed at Lucknow, A. H. 1283 (A. D. 1866).

IND. OFF.

Beginning like the Arabic original, on fol. 3^b: العظمة لك والكبراء لجلالك اللهم يا قائم الذات ومفيض الخيرات واجب الوجود الخ.

Beginning of the translator's preface, on fol. 4^b: أما بعد در عهد خلافت و ایام سلطنت بادشاه عالیه عالم بنای گردون سلطنت و خلافت دستگاه الخ.

The name of the author of the Arabic original appears on fol. 5^b, ll. 2 and 3, in this form: عماد الدين زکرتا بن محمد بن محمود الڪمونى القرونى (? القرونى).

The four muḥaddimas appear here on ff. 9^a (در عجب در معنی), 19^b (در تقسیم مخلوقات), 21^b (در معنی), and 26^a (فی تقسیم الموجودات) (غرب). A complete index on ff. 27^a-30^a.

Beginning of the main portion of the work on fol. 30^b, corresponding to the Arabic original, p. 10, of Wüstenfeld's edition: الحمد لله خالق الاشياء مدبر الكل الخ.

First maḳâlâh, on fol. 31^a; second maḳâlâh, on fol. 145^a.

It is profusely illustrated throughout with first-class drawings. The greater part of the margin is covered partly with short explanatory glosses or tracts closely related to the text of Kazwini's work,—as for instance ا زکی نامہ on lucky and unlucky days, on fol. 33^b; اختیارات قمری, on fol. 35^b; تسخیر کراکب, on ff. 36^a and 36^b; روزنامہ ستارها, on fol. 42^b; دعاء بر کشتی نشستن, on fol. 70^a; روز نامہ, on fol. 109^b; اختیارات ساعات, on fol. 112^a, etc.; کیفیت تقسیم زمین, on fol. 229^b sq.; عمل زعفران, on fol. 293^a; ترکیب برس, on fol. 296^a sq.; خواص گل ارمنی (borax), on fol. 302^a; خواص مروارید, on fol. 313^a; and a great number of other explanations of mineral and botanical matters; a botanical glossary, on fol. 378^a sq.; خواص شیرها, on fol. 481^a; خواص جغرات, on fol. 481^b, etc.; نرم کردن دندان فیل, on fol. 510^a, etc. etc. (talismans in great variety being scattered throughout the margin),—partly with independent treatises of various kinds, in a smaller, but equally neat hand. The larger sections of these marginal additions are as follows:

1. Ff. 4^b-17^a: A treatise on simple drugs (رساله در کلتبات تحقیقات ادویه مفردة) in nine fasls (not eight as is stated in the beginning, since there appears on fol. 10^b a فصل نهم در حاجتمندی طبیبان بساختن ادویه (مرکب). Fol. 10^b of this tract must be immediately followed by fol. 12^a, since ff. 11^a and 11^b are mere repetitions of ff. 10^a and 10^b. Beginning: أما بعد حمد خدا ونعت محمد مصطفی صلی الله علیه وسلم این رساله ایست در کلتبات فصل اول بدانکه ادویه مفردة سه جای مبدی میشود معدنی و نباتی و حیوانی الخ. This treatise is followed on ff. 13^a-15^a B b by an appendix on the names of all the diseases of the various parts of the human body, and on ff. 15^a-17^a by a series of mystic mathnawi-baits, taken for the greater part from the گلشن راز.

2. Ff. 18^b-19^a: Two فالنامه, the first styled فالنامه (see the Matlûb-al-tâlibin, 16th matlab, No. 41 in the list of pupils); the second حضرت امیر المؤمنین علی.

3. Ff. 19^b-20^b: A story of Nimrûd, and some metaphysical maxims, styled معنعات حکما.

4. Ff. 21^b-22^a: دیباجه مجمل الحکمة, beginning: سباس و منت موجودبرا که واجب الوجود است و هر چه جزو است ممکن الوجود است الخ.

5. Ff. 48^a-51^b: Two treatises on music, the first (در علم موسیقی) being an abstract of a work مفتاح السرور (probably مفتاح السرود, a work on Indian music by Kâdî Husain, composed A. H. 1084 = A. D. 1673, 1674, see W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 84); the second (on fol. 49^a) simply styled در موسیقی, and beginning: بدانکه موسیقی تألیف است و وضع حکماست و نهاد آن روحست الخ.

6. Ff. 73^b-75^b: Mathnawi-baits (simply styled منظوم), by Shâh Fadl Ni'mati, beginning: هر چه در آفاق بود ایچوان - هست و را نقش جوینی عیان followed, on fol. 75^a, by short extracts from Darâ Shukûl's مجمع البحرين (the confluence of the two seas, composed A. H. 1065 = A. D. 1655, see Bodleian Cat., No. 1241. 13).

7. Ff. 87^a-93^b: رساله در حقیقت عالم, a cosmographical tract, beginning: باید دانست که جملة عالم که موجود است یازده گروهست و آفتاب در میانست الخ. The metaphysical part of it begins on fol. 90^a, with a مقدمه, followed by a مقدمه نفس, etc., and concluding with an علامت قیامت (on fol. 92^a); appended to it are a short chapter: خواص دایة الارض (with reference, as it seems, to a verse of the Kurân, Sûrah 34, 13), a series of mathnawi-baits, headed در بیان در حقیقت روح, and some further lines in prose on the same subject.

8. Ff. 96^b-100^b: Short tracts on mystical and religious matters in general, viz. رساله فقر, مقدمه معراج, (twice), مقدمه بهشت و دوزخ, در بیان در حقیقت خلقی راشدین, در میان پیغمبران, مقدمه کرامت کاتبین (Sûrah 82, 11), در بیان مذاهب, ایمان, مقدمه صراط میزان و سؤال, and در بیان توبه.

9. Ff. 101^a-102^a and 103^a-109^a: Prayers, invocations, and Kurân-verses.

10. Ff. 123^b-126^a and 128^b: Two other فالنامه.

11. Ff. 137^a-140^b: A treatise on the peculiarities of special months and days.

12. Ff. 143^a-148^b, 141^b-142^b, and 149^a-154^a: Three night-discourses (شعر, so to be read instead of سمر; the only correct spelling is found on fol. 145^a, l. 3), properly beginning on fol. 144^a, since fol. 143^a is merely a repetition of this; a treatise on the foreboding palpitation of the limbs, on fol. 145^a; a tract on physiognomy (رساله قیافه), on fol. 146^a; a longer treatise on health, abridged from a work of Sayyid Ismâ'il Husainî Jurjânî (the author of the ذخیره خوارزمشاهی, see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1576-1578, died A. H. 531 = A. D. 1136, 1137), styled حفظ الصحة (on hygiene), in sixteen bâbs, viz. 1. در تدبیر هوا, on fol. 147^b; 2. در تدبیر شهر و خانه و 3. فصلهای سال, on fol. 148^a; 4. در تدبیر باره جامعه پوشیدن, on fol. 148^b; 5. در تدبیر غذا, ib.; 6. در تدبیر آب, on fol. 141^a (the order of the margins is wrong here, although that of the centre-column is quite correct); 7. در تدبیر شراب, on fol. 141^b; 8. در خواب و بیداری, on fol. 142^a; 9. در تدبیر استغفار طبعیت, ib.; 10. حرکت و سکون, on fol. 142^b; 11. Here styled by mistake بجم, باب, to conceal the confusion of the margins: در تدبیر کردن, on fol. 149^a; 12. فصد, on fol. 149^b; 13. در تدبیر استغراغها, on fol. 150^a; 14. در تدبیر یرمان, on fol. 151^a; 15. در انقراض نفسانی, on fol. 152^a; 16. اندر ترتیب و تدبیر مسافران, on fol. 152^b; and some mathnawi baits on hygienic matters, on ff. 152^b-154^a, divided into the following sections: در علامات, در مقدمه فاروق, در مقدمه نبض شناختن, در تدبیر صحت, and در تدبیر احکام یرمان, خبر و شر.

13. Ff. 163^a-187^b: A series of longer and shorter tracts on various interesting points of Sûfism, as عشق, etc., mostly without any heading; the few sections which bear a distinct title, are:

رساله در شرح بیت مولوی روم, commentary on a verse of Jalâl-aldin Rûmî, on fol. 164^b, beginning:

بیزارم از آنکه خدائی که تو داری

هر لحظه مرا تازه خدائی دگرست

من رموزات شیخ عبد الجامل لکنوی, on fol. 172^b, beginning: بعد حمد خدا و درود مصطفی و آل و اصحابه بدانکه نزدیک صوفیة محققین در راه خدا چهار منزلست شریعت و طریقت و حقیقت و معرفت الخ.

رساله طریقه نعشبندیه, on fol. 180^a, beginning:

سر رشته دولت ای برادر بکف آر

وین عمر کرامی بخسارت مگذار

چند سؤال و جواب, on fol. 181^b, and رساله حضرت خواجه عبد الله انصاری (invocations to God, by the famous Shaikh 'Abdallâh Anşârî of Harât, who died A. H. 481 = A. D. 1088, comp. the Safinat-al-auliyâ, No. 300), on fol. 185^a, beginning: ای کریمی که بخشنده عطائی - وای حکیمی که پوشنده خطائی.

14. Ff. 193^a-196^a: Extracts from Nizâmî's خسرو سؤال و جواب چند خسرو و شیرین, beginning: برویز نا بزرگ امید.

15. رساله در ورد ماهیت هر چیز, a kind of metaphysical tract in form of a vocabulary, beginning: بدانکه این رساله ایست در تحقیقات معنی.

Sair-albilād (سائر البلاد).

A literal Persian translation of the second part of Kazwini's great cosmographical work, the آثار البلاد or geographical section, by Muḥammad Murād bin 'Abd-alrahmān, who dedicated it to Nawwāb Mūsawikhān (with his original name Mir 'Alī Aṣghar, who died A.H. 1054 = A.D. 1644, 1645, see Rieu iii. p. 991^b, where extracts from this work are noticed), see fol. 10^b, ll. 1, 3, and 14. It must have been composed between A.H. 1037, the year of Shāhjahān's accession, who is mentioned as reigning sovereign, and A.H. 1054 (A.D. 1628-1645, see Rieu, loc. cit.).

Beginning, on fol. 9^b: حمد عالی اساس و سباسب. ببرون از حد و قیاس مالک الملکی را درخور و سزاست الخ.

The translation begins with the first mukaddimah, on fol. 10^b, corresponding to the Arabic text, ed. Wustenfeld, p. ۴. First Iklim, on fol. 14^b; second, on fol. 52^b; third, on fol. 98^b; fourth, on fol. 188^a; fifth, on fol. 314^a; sixth, on fol. 368^a; seventh, on fol. 387^a. On ff. 1^b-8^b an index of the whole work, divided into two sections, the first of which gives all the geographical names, the second, beginning on fol. 6^a, lin. penult., and incomplete at the end, the names of Imāms, Shaikhs, etc., mentioned in the book. Another complete copy of this translation is in the Bodleian Library, see Bodleian Cat., No. 400.

No date. The original part of the MS. comprises ff. 53-372, all the leaves before and after that have been supplied by the same later hand.

No. 2547, ff. 394, ll. 21; large Nasta'liq, by two different hands; size, 11 in. by 6½ in.

Tuhfat-al'ajā'ib (تحفة العجائب).

An older but greatly abridged Persian translation or rather adaptation of the same second volume of Kazwini's cosmography, the آثار البلاد, called here سبعة الاقالیم, and composed by 'Alī Ṭāhīrī (Ṭā'irī in Rieu iii. p. 1059^a), A.H. 928 (A.D. 1522), see fol. 2^b, ll. 9-11; fol. 3^a, l. 9; and fol. 196^b, l. 1 (in Rieu, loc. cit., A.H. 948).

Beginning: حمد بحد صانعی را که عجائب و غرائب. عالم آثار ارقام قدرت اوست و منتهای بی منتهای الخ.

The first Iklim begins on fol. 4^a; the second, on fol. 32^b; the third, on fol. 53^a; the fourth, on fol. 94^a; the fifth, on fol. 144^b; the sixth, on fol. 172^a; the seventh, on fol. 187^a, last line. A khātimah or epilogue of the translator is found on fol. 194^a, last line sq.

Copied in the month Ramaḍān, A.H. 1056 (A.D. 1646, October, November), at Multān.

No. 3138, ff. 196, ll. 15; very large and distinct Nasta'liq; splendid binding in gold and green; size, 12½ in. by 7¼ in.

717

'Ajā'ib-al-aqālīm (عجائب الاقالیم).

A compendium of cosmography by an anonymous author, written, as Rieu i. p. 417 proves, about A.H.

908 or 909 (A.D. 1502, 1503), and dedicated to the wazir Ghiyāth-almillāh wa alduḥyā wa aldin Ḥabīb-Allah (see here, fol. 114^a, ll. 12 and 13). It is divided into a mukaddimah, on geometry (در بیان آشنائی که), on fol. 114^a, last line; two maqālas, 1. Measurement and division of the globe and detailed account of the seven climates (در مساحت (سطح ارض و تعبیر اقالیم و آنچه بدان متعلق است), on fol. 116^a; 2. Measurement of the spheres and stars, etc. (در معرفت مساحت افلاک و کواکب و آنچه بدان متعلقست), on fol. 155^a; and a khātimah on the times of prayers and the Kiblah (در ملحقات), on fol. 160^b.

Beginning: الحمد لله الذى زين السماء بزينة الكواكب و نور وجه الغبراء الخ.

Dated by Malik Muḥammad ibn Ḥājī, end of Rajab, A.H. 1024 (A.D. 1615, August 25).

No. 3033, ff. 113-165, ll. 20; Nasta'liq; size, 10 in. by 5¾ in.

718

A compendium of cosmography without title and author's name. It begins forthwith with the mukaddimah, which is subdivided into the following ten faṣls (compare fol. 145^a, ll. 4 and 5):

1. در بیان اجمالی پدید شدن عقل کل و نفس, on fol. 132^b.

2. در بیان پدید آمدن افلاک و ترتیب ایشان, on fol. 133^a.

3. در گردش افلاک و مدت دور هر يك, on fol. 134^a.

4. در بیان پیدا شدن عناصر و مکان هر يك, on fol. 135^a.

5. در بیان تقسیم عناصر, on fol. 135^b.

6. در بیان کیفیاتی که لازم عناصر اند, on fol. 136^b.

7. در بیان طبقات عناصر, on fol. 137^b.

جذب القلوب الی دار (Jadhb-alkulûb ilâ dâr-almahbûb) (المحبوب).

Another Persian history and topography of Madinah, likewise based on Samhûdi's researches, but chiefly on the larger work of the Arabic historian, viz. the وفاء الوفی باخبار دار المصطفی، which, as is stated here, is itself already an extract from a still larger, but unfinished work of Samhûdi, entitled امضاء الوفا (correctly اقتضاء الوفا or اقتناء الوفا, see W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 512, where another complete copy of the Jadhb-alkulûb is described, and H. Khalfa vi. p. 450, No. 14294), and composed A. H. 886 (A. D. 1481), by 'Abd-alhak bin Saif-al-din alturk aldihlawi albukhari (the well-known author of the تاریخ حقی, see above, No. 290; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 195-198; Rieu i. p. 223, etc.; the اخبار الاخیار, see above, No. 640, and many other works, died A. H. 1052 = A. D. 1642, 1643), who also made use of Samhûdi's smaller publications, the خلاصة الوفا (see the previous copy), and a رساله on the burning and rebuilding of the mosque in Madinah. 'Abd-alhak began his Persian adaptation A. H. 998 (A. D. 1590) in Madinah, and completed it A. H. 1001 (A. D. 1593) in Dihli, compare also Elliot, History of India, vi. p. 176, and Rieu iii. p. 1055^a. It is divided into the following seventeen bâbs:

1. در عدد اسماء این بلدة عظیم الشان، on fol. 6^b.

2. ذکر در بیان فضائل و محامد این بلدۀ عظیمه. شریفه الخ، on fol. 11^b.

 162. Shaikh Abū Ishāq Ibrāhīm bin Shahriyār, who converted 24,000 Parsees and Jews to Muḥammadanism, on fol. 85^b.
 163. Kādi Nāṣir-al-din, son of Kādi Imām Badr-al-din 'Umar bin Fakhr-al-din 'Alī, the author of the well-known commentary on the Qurān (انوار التنزيل و اسرار) (النواويل), the شرح المصاييح, the غايه القسوى (the المناهج (i. e. المناهج فى الاصول, see Cat. Codd. Lugd. Bat. iv. p. 32, ll. 7 and 8), the طوابع و مطالع (i. e. طوابع الانوار من مطالع الانوار), the مصباح در كلام (i. e. مصباح الارواح فى الكلام), the مرصاد در اصول فقه (perhaps a mistake for the اصول الفقه, see Cat. Codd. Lugd. Bat. iv. p. 31, l. 10), the شرح التنبيه, in four volumes, the شرح المنتخب (a commentary on the اصول منتخب, by Imām Fakhr-al-din Rāzi, see Cat. Codd. Lugd. Bat. iv. p. 32, ll. 9 and 10), and the شرح محمول; he died A.H. 680 (read 685=A.D. 1286) or 692 (A.D. 1293), on fol. 85^b.

164. Khwājah Amin-al-din, one of the wazirs of the Atābeg Muḥaffar-al-din Taklah bin Zangi (A.H. 571-591=A.D. 1175-1195), on fol. 85^b.

165. Shaikh Amin-al-din, who was Shaikh-alislām of Fārs under Shāh Shaikh Abū Ishāq (who reigned over Fārs A.H. 742-754=A.D. 1341-1353), and is praised in one of Ḥāfiz' ghazals; he himself wrote occasionally poetry, on fol. 85^b.

166. Shaikh Sa'id-al-din Muḥammad, contemporary with Amir Muḥaffar (who was deposed by his son Shāh Shujā' A.H. 760, A.D. 1359) and author of the شرح مشارق الانوار and the سیر سید ابرار, commonly known as سیر کاررونى, on fol. 86^a.

167. Maulânâ Jalāl-al-din Muḥammad Dawānī, son of Maulânâ Sa'd-al-din As'ad, a famous legal authority in Dawān, a place near Kāzarūn; he got his first instruction from his father, later on he enjoyed the tuition of Maulânâ Majd- (in the following copy Muḥyi-) al-din Kūshknāri, Khwājah Ḥasan Shāh Bākāl and Maulânâ Humām-al-din Gulnāri (the author of a commentary on the طوابع, see No. 163). He wrote glosses (حاشيه) to Maulânâ 'Alī Kūshji's (died A.H. 879=A.D. 1474, 1475) شرح تجريد or commentary on Naṣir-al-din Ṭūsī's Tajrid; Mir Ṣadr-al-din Muḥammad wrote glosses on the same work and found fault with Jalāl-al-din's explanations; thereupon the latter wrote a second collection of glosses, better still than the first, and refuted his opponent's criticisms; Ṣadr-al-din answered by new glosses, and finally three sets of glosses were produced in this way, called respectively: قدیم, جدید, and اجدد, the old, the new, and the newer ones. Other works of Jalāl-al-din are رساله زوار, شرح حاشیه اخلاق جلالی, اثبات واجب, (the original work by Shaikh Shihāb-al-din Maḥṭūl), هیاکل در حکمت اشراق, حاشیه انوار شافعیه, حاشیه مطالع, شمسبه, etc. (he died A.H. 908=A.D. 1502, 1503), on fol. 86^a.

Shirāz, on fol. 86^b:

168. Shaikh Abū-alḥasan Karduwayh, who did not leave his house for sixty years, except on Fridays and high festivals (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 325), on fol. 87^a.

169. Abū-al'abbās Aḥmad bin Yahyā, the teacher of Abū 'Abdallāh bin Khafif, on fol. 87^a.

170. Bundār bin Husain, pupil of Shibli and likewise teacher of Abū 'Abdallāh bin Khafif (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 250), on fol. 87^a.

171. Shaikh 'Abdallāh (so here in all copies, contrary to the previous Abū 'Abdallāh) bin Khafif, one of the great Šūfī Shaikhs of Fārs (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 144), on fol. 87^b.

172. Shaikh Mu'min, about whom Khwājah 'Abdallāh Anṣārī relates a tradition of Isma'īl Dabbās, who had met the Shaikh in Shirāz, on fol. 87^b.

173. Abū Muḥammad bin Abi Naṣr albakli, known as Shaikh Rūzbahān (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 324), author of the شرح سفینات عربی و فارسی, تفسير عرائس, and the كتاب الانوار في كشف الاسرار, on fol. 87^b.

174. Shaikh Abūbakr Tamistāni (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 234), pupil of Shibli and Ibrāhīm Dabbāgh of Shirāz, on fol. 88^a.

175. Shaikh Najib-al-din 'Alī bin Buzghush (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 150), a pupil of Shaikh Shihāb-al-din Suhrawardi, on fol. 88^a.

176. Zahir-al-din 'Abd-alrahmān, son of the preceding Shaikh and likewise pupil of Shihāb-al-din Suhrawardi; he is the author of ترجمه عوارف (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 151), on fol. 88^b.

177. Shaikh 'Abdallāh Bākūr (بکور, here in the text باکو), a great traveller; Khwājah 'Abdallāh Anṣārī had culled from him 30,000 stories and 30,000 traditions, on fol. 88^b.

178. Ibn Muḥlah, the wazīr of the Khalif Alkāhir (A. H. 320-322 = A. D. 932-934), whom he helped to dethrone (first with the assistance of Mu'nis and Balīk, who were however put to death by Alkāhir) and to replace by Muḥammad bin Muḥtadir, who assumed as Khalif the name of Al-Rādi (A. H. 322-329 = A. D. 934-941); he was later on mutilated by Ibn Rātik (usually called Ibn Rā'ik) and died A. H. 327 = A. D. 939 (compare on this interesting and adventurous character, Weil, Geschichte der islamitischen Völker, Stuttgart, 1866, pp. 200-214). He was the first to develop the style of writing, called ثلث, out of the old Kūfic, on fol. 88^b.

179. Abū-alfath Maṣṣūr bin Dārā (or Dārāsp داراسپ as other copies have), originally attached to Abū Kālinjār Dailami, afterwards wazīr of the Khalif Alkā'im-billāh (A. H. 422-467 = A. D. 1031-1075), who gave him the honorary title of Amīn-aldaulāh Majd-alwuzarā; he was deposed through the jealousy of 'Amid-aldaulāh, the wazīr of Tuḡlulbeg Saljūki, on fol. 89^a.

180. Aḥmad bin 'Abd-alṣamad, was first a high official of Altūntāsh, and became, after Aḥmad bin Ḥasan Maimandī's death, wazīr of Sultān Maṣ'ūd I of Ghazna, who summoned him from Khwārizm; he is stated here to have been twenty years wazīr of Maṣ'ūd (which is simply impossible, as Maṣ'ūd I only reigned from A. H. 421-432 = A. D. 1030-1041) and two years wazīr of Maṣ'ūd's son and successor, Maudūd; he was at last arrested and poisoned at the instigation of the Amīrs of Sultān Maudūd, on fol. 89^b.

181. 'Abd-alḥamid bin Aḥmad bin 'Abd-alṣamad, was twenty-two years wazīr of Sultān Ibrāhīm of Ghazna (A. H. 451-492 = A. D. 1059-1099) and sixteen years wazīr of Ibrāhīm's son and successor, Maṣ'ūd III (A. H. 492-508 = A. D. 1099-1114); he was killed in Sultān Bahrāmshāh bin Maṣ'ūd's reign (A. H. 512-547 = A. D. 1118-1152), on fol. 89^b.

182. Naṣr-allāh bin 'Abd-alḥamid, son of the preceding wazīr, himself wazīr under Sultān Khusrāu Malik bin Bahrāmshāh (A. H. 555-583 = A. D. 1160-1187), best known by his translation of Kalilah and Dimnah, on fol. 89^b.

183. Alṣāhib-alkabir Kiwām-almulk Nizām-al-din Haibat-allāh, wazīr under Sultān Ibrāhīm, on fol. 90^a.

184. Abū-alkiyām Muslim bin Maḥmūd, was in the service of Malik Nāṣir (A. H. 698-741 = A. D. 1299-1341) in Egypt; to him the work عجائب الاسفار و غرائب الاخبار was dedicated, on fol. 90^a.

185. Tāj-al-din, who was first wazīr of Muẓaffar-al-din Sunḥur bin Maudūd (the Atābeg of Fārs, who became virtually independent about A. H. 543 = A. D. 1148, 1149) and later on wazīr of Sultān Maṣ'ūd Saljūki (A. H. 527-547 = A. D. 1133-1152), on fol. 90^a.

186. Khwājah Kiwām (or as the text here reads Kiyām) -al-din, wazīr of Jalāl-al-din Shāh Shujā' (A. H. 760-786 = A. D. 1359-1384), on fol. 90^a.

187. Khwājah Ghiyāth-al-din Sayyidi Aḥmad, wazīr of Mirzā Shāhrukh (A. H. 807-850 = A. D. 1405-1447), on fol. 90^a.

188. Diyā-al-din Fārsi, who came from Fārs to Khurāsān under the first Saljūks, a poet, whose productions were collected in a diwān, but did not become very widely known; he had poetical contests with many contemporaries, for instance, Shihāb-al-din Nāmi and Shams-al-din Nāmi. In one of his poems quoted here, he sings the praise of Nizām-al-din (who is perhaps identical with No. 183), on fol. 90^a.

189. Rafī'al-din Marzubān, who was according to some authorities a contemporary of Ḥanzalah Bādaghisi and Abū Salik Gurgāni, two of the predecessors of Rūdagi, but belongs more likely to the time of the Saljūks, on fol. 91^b.

190. Badr-al-din, a poet, on fol. 92^a.

191. Shaikh Sharaf-al-din Muṣliḥ bin 'Abdallāh al-Sa'di, the great didactic poet, who studied first in the Nizāmiyyah in Baghdād under Abū-alfaraj bin Jauzi and became afterwards in mystical science the pupil of Shaikh 'Abd-alkādir Jilāni, in whose company he performed the pilgrimage; in one of his sea-voyages he travelled with the great Shaikh Shihāb-al-din Suhrawardi; he died, 110 years old, A. H. 690 (A. D. 1291), on fol. 92^b.

192. Khwājah Majd-al-din Hamgar, king of poets under the Atābegs of Fārs and intimate friend of Khwājah Bahā-al-din, the Šāhib-Diwan and son of the famous Shams-al-din, on fol. 94^b.

193. Farid Fārsi, a poet, on fol. 96^a.

194. Nāṣir of Bajjah (بججه, a place near Rāmjird in Fārs), contemporary with Sa'di, on fol. 96^a.

195. Zangī, a relation of the Atābeg Muẓaffar-al-din Zangī (A. H. 557-571 = A. D. 1162-1175), on fol. 96^a.

196. Maulānā Kuṭb-al-din 'Allamah, pupil of Khwājah Naṣir-al-din Ṭūsi, lived from the time of Hūlāgūkhān (A. H. 654-663 = A. D. 1256-1265) to that of Sultān Muḥammad Khudābanda (A. H. 703-716 = A. D. 1304-1316); works: نحفه شاهی (on astronomy), شرح مفتاح العلوم (the مفتاح العلوم), and کلیات قانون (the مفتاح العلوم) is probably Sakkāki's (died A. H. 626 = A. D. 1229) encyclopaedic work, and Kuṭb-al-din was the first to write a commentary on it); he was a friend of Sa'di, on fol. 96^b.

197. Kuṭb Muḥyi, author of a diwān and of مکتوبات, on fol. 96^b.

198. Faḍl-allāh Waṣṣāf, author of the تاريخ معجم (this is a glaring mistake, by which Faḍl-allāh Kāzwinī, the real author of the history in question, see Nos. 534 and 535 in this Cat., has been confounded with Faḍl-allāh Shirāzi, the father of the famous historian Waṣṣāf, comp. Rieu i. p. 162^a and ii. p. 811^b), on fol. 96^b.

199. Ibn Naṣūb, under Sultān Abū Sa'idkhān (the Ilkhāni ruler, A. H. 716-736 = A. D. 1316-1335), wrote occasionally poetry, especially rubā'is, on fol. 97^a.

200. Khwājah Hāfiẓ, the great lyrical poet, whose death is fixed here in A. H. 792, although the ta'rikh quoted immediately after it, viz. خاك مصلی, clearly gives the more correct date, A. H. 791 (A. D. 1389), on fol. 97^a.

201. Abū Ishāq Hallāj, a poet, on fol. 98^a.

202. Sa'd Gul, another poet, on fol. 98^b.

203. Amir Šadr-al-din Muḥammad, died some time after Sultān Ya'qūb (i. e. Ya'qūbbeg Āk-koynulū, who reigned A. H. 883-896 = A. D. 1478-1491); the exact date of his death is not fixed, but according to the Majālis-almu'minin it took place in A. H. 903 (A. D. 1497, 1498); among his writings there are enumerated here: حاشیة شمسیه و مطالع, رساله تحقیق علم و اثبات واجب, and حاشیة تجرید (see on the Tajrid No. 167 above), on fol. 98^b.

204. Amir Ghiyāth-al-din Maṣṣūr, son of the preceding Shaikh, died according to the chronogram of Maulānā 'Alī Ḥasan Kharrās: عغل حادی عشر نمانده (the usual date, given in the Majālis-almu'minin, is A. H. 948). Two honorary epithets were given to him by the scholars of his time, viz. Ustād-albāshar (the master of men, a title, given according to a marginal note in the following copy, fol. 98^b, to Khwājah Naṣir-al-din Tūsi also) and 'Akl-i-hādi 'ashar (the eleventh reason), on fol. 98^b.

205. Maulānā Shams-al-din 'Alī Fārsi, a great scholar in the time of Mirzā Sultān Abū Sa'id (Abū Sa'id Gurgāni, reigned A. H. 854-873 = A. D. 1450-1469), professor at the Madrasa-i-Ghiyāthiyyah; after Sultān Abū Sa'id's death he was engaged in a تاريخ وقائع ابو (Sultān Ḥusain Mirzā reigned A. H. 873-911 = A. D. 1469-1506), and died in the fortress of Shādmān, on fol. 98^b.

321. Šadr-alafādil Abū-alfath Bustī, who was first a munshi of Nūḥ II bin Maṣṣūr Sāmāni (who reigned A.H. 365-387=A.D. 976-997), lived afterwards with the Amirs of Bust, and became at last a favourite of Nāsir-al-din Sabuktagin, who had conquered Bust; he wrote Arabic and Persian poetry (comp. Ethé's 'Rûdagi's Vorläufer und Zeitgenossen' in 'Morgenländische Forschungen,' p. 55, No. 18), on fol. 125^b.
322. Imām-alajall Shams-al-din, on fol. 126^a. Baihaq, on fol. 126^a:
323. Abūbaktir Aḥmad Baihaqī, the teacher of Sulṭān Maḥmūd of Ghazna and author of the سنن کبیر, on fol. 126^a.
- Maimand* (in the south of Kūhistān), on fol. 126^a:
324. Hasan Maimandi, was wazir of Bust under Nāsir-al-din Sabuktagin, on fol. 126^a.
325. Aḥmad bin Hasan, Sulṭān Maḥmūd of Ghazna's foster-brother, filled a number of the highest state offices under Maḥmūd, and was some time wazir of Khurāsān; also under Sulṭān Maṣ'ūd bin Maḥmūd (A.H. 421-432=A.D. 1030-1041) he occupied for some years the post of prime-minister, on fol. 126^a.
326. 'Abd-alrazzāk bin Hasan, wazir under Sulṭān Maḥmūd bin Maṣ'ūd of Ghazna (A.H. 432-440=A.D. 1041-1049); after seven years' office he made an expedition to Sistān, to wrest it from the Saljūks, and as meanwhile Sulṭān Maḥmūd had died and a party of nobles had raised 'Alī bin Maṣ'ūd to the throne of Ghazna, 'Abd-alrazzāk proclaimed 'Alī's brother 'Abd-alrashid bin Mas'ūd, who had hitherto been kept in prison, king, and marched with him against Ghazna. 'Ali could not withstand his brother's attack, and 'Abd-alrashid confirmed 'Abd-abazzāk to the end of his life in his wazirship, on fol. 126^b.

327. Muḥammadshāh Unsi of Kandahār, on fol. 126^b.

328. Khwājah Ḥasan, wrote occasionally poetry, on fol. 126^b.

333. Ustād-alḥukamā Majd-al-din Ādam al-Sanā'i, the great mystic and didactic poet, pupil of Abū Yūsuf (correctly: Yūsuf, see No. 334) Hamadāni in Khurāsān; as works of his are mentioned here a diwān of ḡasidas, ghazals, and rubā'is, the حديقة, the كنز الرموز, and the كارنامه; his death is fixed here in A.H. 525 (A.D. 1131), on fol. 127^a.

334. Shaikh Radi-al-din 'Ali Lālā, son of Shaikh Sa'id, who was a cousin of Shaikh Sanā'i; on his way to Makkah he made in Khurāsān the acquaintance of Shaikh Yūsuf Hamadāni (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 73, and the Maḳāmāt-i-Sayyid Atā'i, No. 644 in this Cat.); in Khwārizm he enjoyed the tuition of Shaikh Najm-al-din Kubrā (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 124). He got the investiture from 124 famous Shaikhs, and on his way to India he had intercourse with Abū-alriḍā Ratan, on fol. 130^a.

335. Alsayyid alajall Sharaf-al-din Ḥasan bin Nāṣir al'alawi, a famous poet under Bahramshāh of Ghazna (A.H. 512-547 = A.D. 1118-1152); when the Sultān got jealous of the Shaikh's great popularity, the latter went on a pilgrimage to the holy cities; on his return he found great favour with Sultān Mas'ūd bin Sultān Muḥammad bin Malikshāh, the Saljūk ruler (A.H. 529-547 = A.D. 1134-1152) in Baghdad; he died in Juwain, after A.H. 545 (A.D. 1150, 1151), as a poem of his with that date is quoted here (fol. 131^a, l. 10, see the same mentioned in Rieu iii. p. 1000^a), on fol. 130^b.

336. Jamāl-al-din Muḥammad bin Nāṣir al'alawi, the elder brother of the preceding poet; he occupied a high position at Bahramshāh's court and wrote a ḡasidah in honour of his sovereign, on fol. 132^a.

337. Ḥakim 'Uthmān bin Muḥammad al-Mukhtārī, the poet, contemporary with Sanā'i, who frequently mentions him in his ḡasidas; he lived most of his time in Kirmān, and was the panegyrist of Arslānshāh bin Kirmānshāh, the Saljūk (who reigned A.H. 494-536 = A.D. 1101-1142); he also composed a ḡasidah in praise of Arslān bin Mas'ūd III, one of the last Ghaznawides (A.H. 509-512 = A.D. 1115-1118), with which his diwān opens. Another of his ḡasidas can be read in six different ways. Besides lyrical poems he has written a mathnawī, from which quotations are given here (comp. on Mukhtārī, who died A.H. 544 or 554 = A.D. 1149, 1150, or 1159, Rieu ii. p. 543), on fol. 132^a.

338. Shihāb-al-din Shāh Abū 'Alī Rajā (رجا), so in the text of this and the following copy; the index here reads Riḍā (رضا), a panegyrist of Sultān Bahramshāh (see above, No. 335), on fol. 134^a.

Carkh is a village in the district of Ghazna, and a native of the same place was—

347. Maulānā 'Uthmān, known as Maulānāzāda, on fol. 135^b.

348. Khwājah Yūnus of Sajāwand (a place in the same district), on fol. 135^b.

349. Khwājah Aḥmad Sajāwandī, on fol. 135^b.

350. Majd-al-din Aḥmad bin Muḥammad Sajāwandī, author of the عين المعاني, a commentary on the Kūrān, and the ذخائر ثمار (a work on traditions, در معانی اخبار سيد مختار); he also wrote occasionally poetry, on fol. 135^b.

351. Mir Muḥammadkhān, one of Akbar's Atābegs, wrested Kābul from the sway of Mirzā Sulaimān the ruler of Badakhshān; he composed a Persian and a Turkish diwān, on fol. 135^b.

352. Mirzā 'Aziz Kūkultāsh, usually known as Khān A'zam, son of Shams-al-din Muḥammadkhān Anka (who was the brother of Mir Muḥammadkhān, and bore the same honorary epithet of Khān A'zam), a foster-brother of Sultān Akbar and one of his best generals, on fol. 136^a.

353. Maulānā Bikasī, a poet, was first in Kābul in the service of Mirzā Muḥammad Ḥakīm, but went afterwards to India, on fol. 136^a.

354. Maulānā Shiri (in the following copy Sairi), well versed in the art of metre and rhyme, on fol. 136^b. Lāhūr, on fol. 136^b:

355. Fakhr-al-zuhād Muḥammad bin 'Abd-almalik, who had learnt in Arabia the subtleties of the interpretation of the Kūrān and the science of tradition, and in Persia elegant style and rhetorical power, on fol. 136^b.

356. Afṣāl-al'ajam Sirāj-al-din al-Minhāj (in the following copy, ibn al-Minhāj), on fol. 137^a.

357. Abū Ja'far 'Umar bin Ishāq, a poet, on fol. 137^a.

358. Al'amid alajall Abū-alfaraj bin Mas'ūd al-Rūni, the well-known poet of Sultān Ibrāhīm of Ghazna (A.H. 451-492 = A.D. 1059-1098); he was a great favourite of the wazir Khwājah Muḥammad bin Bilrūz bin Aḥmad, in whose praise he composed one or more ḡasidas; he also praised in his poems the general, Maṣṣūr bin Maḥmūd bin Aḥmad Maimandī, on fol. 137^b.

370. Shaikh Muḥammad, Badr-aldu's eldest son, still alive, on fol. 140^a.

371. Shaikh Ḥāji Faṭḥ-allāh, on fol. 140^a.

372. Shaikh 'Abd-alṣamad, Ḥāji Faṭḥ-allāh's son, still alive, on fol. 140^a.

373. Maulānā Jauhar, on fol. 140^a.

374. Maulānā Bāyazid (these two appear also to have been contemporaries of the author), on fol. 140^a.

375. Maulānā Ṣafā'i, a great calligrapher and occasional poet, on fol. 140^a.

376. Maulānā Khāki, wrote a few verses, on fol. 140^b.

Hānsi, on fol. 140^b:

377. Shaikh Jamāl-aldu Khaṭīb, the Khalifah of Shaikh Farid-aldu Ganj-i-shakar (see No. 19 in the Sawāṭi-ālanwār and No. 113 in the Safinat-alauliya), on fol. 140^b.

378. Shaikh Kuṭb-aldu Munawwar (a grandson of the preceding Shaikh, see the Sawāṭi-ālanwār, Nos. 19 and 23, and the Maṭlūb-altālibin, maṭlab 16, No. 3 of the first ten Khalifas), the Khalifah of Shaikh Nizām-aldu Auliya, on fol. 140^b.

379. Maulānā Mughthi, a well-known poet, on fol. 140^b.

Thanīsar, on fol. 141^a:

380. Shaikh Jalāl, a great Pir, on fol. 141^a.

381. Shaikh Nizām bin Shaikh 'Abd-alshakūr (in the index 'Abdallāh alshakūr), the Khalifah of the preceding Shaikh and contemporary with the author of this work; he wrote many works on Ṣūfism and also a تفسیر or commentary on the Kurān, on fol. 141^a.

382. Fardi, on fol. 141^a.

Pānīpat, on fol. 141^b:

383. Shaikh Sharaf-aldu, known as Abū 'Alī Kalandar, originally of Irāk, but rose to renown and died in Pānīpat; he had enjoyed the companionship of Shams Tabriz and Mullā-i-Rūm (i.e. the great Jalāl-aldu Rūmi), and lived twenty years in Dihli in religious austerity, before he applied himself to deeper Ṣūfic meditations; he exchanged rubā'is with Sulṭān Muḥammad Tughluḳ (who ascended the throne of Dihli A.H. 725=A.D. 1325, see the Maṭlūb-altālibin, maṭlab 9, No. 7), and wrote a famous letter to Sulṭān 'Alā-aldu Khilji (who died after a reign of twenty years, A.H. 715 or 716=A.D. 1316, see loc. cit., No. 4), on fol. 141^b.

384. Kādīri, a verse-writer, on fol. 142^a.

Dihli, on fol. 142^a:

385. Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin 'Alī, known as Shaikh Nizām-aldu Auliya, born in Badā'un, lived in Dihli, pupil of Farid-aldu Ganj-i-shakar in Ajwadhan, etc. (see his full biography in the Maṭlūb-altālibin). His death is stated here to have taken place the 13th (in the following copy the 18th) of Rabi'-alawwal (the usual date is the 18th of Rabi'-alākhar, see the Maṭlūb-altālibin and the Safinat-alauliya, No. 114), A.H. 725 (A.D. 1325, Febr. 27, March 4 or April 3), on fol. 142^b.

386. Maulānā Badr-aldu Ishāk, pupil, Khalifah, and son-in-law of Farid-aldu Ganj-i-shakar (see the Sawāṭi-ālanwār, No. 20, and the Maṭlūb-altālibin, 15th maṭlab, No. 1), on fol. 143^a.

387. Maulānā Shams-aldu Yahyā, a pupil and Khalifah of Nizām-aldu Auliya (see the Sawāṭi-ālanwār, No. 23, j, and the Maṭlūb-altālibin, 16th maṭlab, No. 2 in the list of Khalifas), on fol. 143^b.

388. Maulānā Fakhr-aldu Zarādi (so here distinctly, see the Sawāṭi-ālanwār, No. 23, d, and the Maṭlūb-altālibin, 16th maṭlab, No. 5), another Khalifah of Nizām-aldu Auliya and author of two risālas در باب احسان و سلام, on fol. 143^b.

389. Maulānā 'Alā-aldu Naili, another Khalifah of Nizām-aldu Auliya, who however never exercised his Khalīfat and never took any pupils (see the Sawāṭi-ālanwār, No. 23, f, and the Maṭlūb-altālibin, 16th maṭlab, No. 6). He is stated here to have collected at the end of his life the ملفوظات or sayings of Nizām-aldu in the فرائد (a work that is usually ascribed to Amīr Ḥasan, the poet, see the Sawāṭi-ālanwār, No. 23, n, and Rieu iii. p. 972), on fol. 143^b.

390. Maulānā Burhān-aldu Gharib, another pupil and Khalifah of Nizām-aldu, died in Diwgir (according to the Maṭlūb-altālibin, 16th maṭlab, No. 7 in the list of Khalifas, in Daulatābād; comp. also the Safinat-alauliya, No. 117, and the Sawāṭi-ālanwār, No. 23, g), on fol. 143^b.

391. Amīr Khusrau, the great poet, son of Amīr Lājin of the Hazāras of Balkh, who came to India and settled in Patyāli; when Amīr Khusrau was four years of age, his father went from Patyāli to Dihli, and died there; the child's education was then taken in hand by his uncle (see a different statement in Rieu i. pp. 240 and 241, which is taken from Amīr Khusrau's own account of his life). Amīr Khusrau became afterwards the pupil of Nizām-aldu Auliya, and served seven kings from Ghiyāth-aldu Balban to Sulṭān Muḥammad Tughluḳshāh (comp. the Maṭlūb-altālibin, 9th maṭlab). When Sulṭān Muḥammad, Balban's son, was killed between Lāhūr and Multān by Tatars and Moghuls, Amīr Khusrau, who had attached himself to that prince, was taken prisoner and carried off to Balkh; but after two years he succeeded in escaping from Khurāsān to Dihli and entered Sulṭān Balban's service, after whose death he served his six successors; he died six months after his Pir Nizâm-aldin, A.H. 725 = A.D. 1325 (ta'rikhs of his death: المثل عديم and طوطى شكر مقال). Mirzâ Baisunghar bin Mirzâ Shâh-rukh collected, as is stated by Daulatshâh, 120,000 verses of Amir Khusrâu, but according to the poet's own remark in one of his risâlas, he had composed between 400,000 and 500,000. His Khamsah contains 18,000 baits, the عشقيہ 4,000, the السعدين likewise 4,000, the سبھر نہ again 4,000, the غم نامہ 3,000. His four diwâns are entitled respectively تحفة الصغر, بقیة نقيہ, وغرة الکمال, وسط اللیات. Among his kaşidas are particularly famous the elegy on the death of Balban's son, prince Muḥammad, and the مرآة الصفا, in Khâkânî's style, the latter of which is quoted here in full, on fol. 143^b.

392. Khwâjah Hasan, with the epithet Najm-aldin, the Sa'di of India, as he is styled here, likewise a pupil of Nizâm-aldin; towards the end of his life he went by request of Sultân Muḥammad Tughluḡ to Dîwgir, where he died, on fol. 146^a.

393. Shaikh Jamâlî, went in the reign of Sultân Ḥusain Mirzâ to Khurâsân, and stayed there almost to the end of his life; when he felt his death approaching, he returned to Dihli, and was buried there. The ta'rikh of his death is given here as خسرو هند, A.H. 925 = A.D. 1519 (see on the impossibility of this date the Siyar-al'arifin, No. 637 in this Cat.), on fol. 147^a.

394. Maulânâ 'Alî Ahmad, under Akbar, on fol. 147^a.

395. Maulâû 'Abd-alḥaqq, on fol. 147^b.

396. Azhari, under Akbar; the original home of his family was Mauşil, but he was born in Dihli, on fol. 147^b.

Âgra, on fol. 147^b:

397. Shaikh Abû-alfadl, son of Shaikh Mubârak Nâgûri, the famous ważir of Akbar and author of the Akbar-nâma, etc., on fol. 148^a.

398. Shaikh Abû-alfaid Faiḏî, the great poet and brother of Abû-alfadl, king of poets in Akbar's court and author of the نوار الکلم (more correctly according to the following copy موارد الکلم) on ethics, the سواطع الالهام, a commentary on the Kuran (in both works no letters with diacritical points appear), a diwân of 15,000 baits, the epic poem نل و دمن, and an unfinished Khamsah, on fol. 148^a.

399. Waḥshî, a poet, on fol. 148^b.

400. Sarâbî, wrote verses too, on fol. 149^a.

Lakhnau, on fol. 149^a:

401. Sayyid Shâhî, a poet, on fol. 149^a.

Audh (or as it is distinctly pointed here Awadh), on fol. 150^a:

402. Shaikh Naşir-aldin, called Cîrâgh-i-Dihli, the second (according to others, the first) Khalifah of Nizâm-aldin Auliya (see the Sawâti'-alanwâr, No. 22, Maṭlûb-al'tâlîbin, 16th maṭlab, No. 1 in the list of Khalifas, and Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 116), on fol. 150^a.

403. Amir Sayyid 'Alâ-aldin, on fol. 150^a.

Kâlpî, on fol. 150^a:

404. Shaikh Abû Sa'id, on fol. 150^a.

General account of the history of Hindûstân and the Muḥammadan rulers of Dihli from Amir Naşir-aldin Sabuktagin (died A.H. 387 = A.D. 997, after a reign of 20 years) to the emperor Akbar, on ff. 150^b-179^a. Other renowned personages belonging to, or connected with the Moghul dynasty in India are—

405. Mirzâ Kâmrân, the second son of the emperor Bâbar, was governor of Kandahâr in his father's time, and got Lâhûr and Kâhul in addition at the accession of his brother Humâyûn; his subsequent repeated revolts, his final punishment by being blinded, and his withdrawal to Makkah are related here in full; he died in Makkah in Dhû-alḥijjah, A.H. 964 (A.D. 1557, Sept., Oct.); the proper ta'rikh for his death is در شاه محروم بادشاه; the other ta'rikh, quoted here, viz. کامران یکعبه مرد, would give the wrong date 968 (the wording of this ta'rikh in the following copy, بادشاه کامران در مکه بمرد, is quite impossible); Mirzâ Kâmrân composed both Persian and Turkish poetry, on fol. 179^a.

406. Mirzâ Abû-alkâsim, the only son of Mirzâ Kâmrân, used as poet the takhalluş Shaukatî; he was put to death in the fortress of Gwâliyâr, A.H. 974 (در نهصد و هفتاد و چهار), or more correctly according to the ta'rikh, نماند از کامران نام و نشانی, A.H. 973 (A.D. 1565, 1566), on fol. 180^b.

407. Mirzâ 'Askari, the third son of Bâbar, was once pardoned by Humâyûn for his rebellious behaviour, but repeated it and was imprisoned; at last he succeeded in escaping to Balkh, and went from there on a pilgrimage to the holy cities (so the account here, differing in several particulars from the usual statement); he died in a wâdi between Syria and Makkah. He also wrote occasional poetry, on fol. 180^b.

408. Mirzâ Hindâl, the youngest son of Bâbar, born A.H. 924 (A.D. 1518), killed A.H. 958 (A.D. 1551) during a night attack of his brother Mirzâ Kâmrân on Humâyûn's army; the ta'rikh of his death is شبخون (night attack); he also composed verses, on fol. 181^a.

409. Alamîr alâzam Muḥammad Bairamkhân, with the honorary title of Khânkhânân, son of Saif 'Alibeg bin Yârbeg biu Pir 'Alibeg bin 'Alî Shakarbeg Bahârlû (the Bahârlû dynasty in Hamadân, Dinawar, and Kurdistân was a branch of the Karâ-koyunlû Turkmâns), born in Badakhshân, went after his father's death to Balkh and entered in his 16th year the service of the emperor Humâyûn, who after his return to India conferred upon Bairamkhân first the governorship of Kandahâr; he received the title of Khânkhânân, and from Akbar that of Khitâbkhân Bâbâ; in the first five years of Akbar's reign he was the supreme head of the government of India, but in A.H. 967 (A.D. 1560) Akbar, feeling himself strong enough to exercise his sovereign power, dispensed with Bairamkhân's services. An attempt at rebellion on Bairamkhân's part was speedily suppressed, and Bairamkhân had to implore the emperor's pardon, which was willingly granted him. He then set out for the pilgrimage, but was assassinated, A.H. 968 (A.D. 1561, ta'rikh: شهيد شد محمد بيارم), near Patan in Gujarât by Mubârak Nûḥânî (read Lûḥânî), whose father had been slain by the Moghuls (so here; according to the usual statement, by Bairamkhân himself) in battle. Bairamkhān was a good kaşidah and ghazal writer, on fol. 181^b.

410. Alamir alajall Sipahsālār 'Abd-alrahīm Mirzākhān, with the same honorary epithet of Khānkhānān (see above, No. 277), son of Bairamkhān, at whose death he was four years old. For the conquest of Gujārāt he received the title of Khīṭābkhān Khānān and the dignity of a Panjshār; he also subdued Sind, and is at the present moment (i. e. A. H. 1002, the date of this work) engaged in the conquest of the Dakhān; in his poetry he uses the takhalluṣ Raḥīm, on fol. 183^b.

411 and 412. 'Alī Ḳulī Khānzamān and Muḥammad Sa'īd Bahādurkhān, two brothers, sons of Ḥaidar Sultān Uzbeḡ, who was one of Humāyūn's Amirs. They also entered Humāyūn's service and rose by degrees to high dignities. Under Akbar they became twice rebellious, and when at last attacked by the emperor, they both fell in the battle A. H. 974 (A. D. 1567); the two ta'rikhs, however, for their death, quoted here, give A. H. 975, viz. فرباد زدست ملک بی بنباد دو خون شد. Both occupied themselves with poetical compositions, but Khānzamān, who chose Sultān as takhalluṣ, with greater success than his brother, on fol. 184^a.

413. Mirzā Jāni, the last ruler of Tattah in Sind, who succeeded his grandfather Muḥammad Bākī (A. H. 993 = A. D. 1585, as we learn from W. Morley, p. 73). Muḥammad Bākī was the son of Mirzā 'Isā, who had seized the reins of government A. H. 962 (A. D. 1555), when Mirzā Shāh Ḥusain, of the Arghūn dynasty, had died without a son and successor. Muḥammad Bākī had two sons, Mirzā Muḥammad Ṣāliḥ, who was slain, and Mirzā Pāyanda, who being himself unable to govern, handed the supreme power over to his son Mirzā Jāni. Sind was at last subjugated to Akbar's power by 'Abd-alrahīm Khānkhānān, Mirzā Jāni capitulated (A. H. 1001 = A. D. 1592), and became a loyal servant of Akbar, who confirmed him as governor of Tattah (see also No. 436 in this Cat.), on fol. 185^a.

414. Zainkhān Kūkultāsh, a faithful servant of Akbar, who gave him the governorship of Kābul and its dependencies; he was a great connoisseur in Indian Rāgs, and a poet also, on fol. 185^b.

415. Ḳilij Muḥammadkhān, of the Jāni Ḳurbāni tribe, one of Akbar's Amirs; his ancestors had been in the service of the Caghatāi Sultāns, his grandfather in that of Abū-alghāzi Sultān (Ḥusain) Mirzā; he used Ulfatī (according to the following copy Lāmī'i) as takhalluṣ in his poetical compositions, on fol. 186^a.

416. Khān 'Ālam, son of Hamdam Kūka (who was together with Murād Kūka a foster-brother of Mirzā Kāmran, see above, No. 405, and a poet); he was in Akbar's service and made himself conspicuous in the war against the Afghāns, on fol. 186^b.

417. Thānuikhān, another of Akbar's Amirs, on fol. 186^b.

418. 'Ishkikhān, held for some time a generalship in Akbar's army, but was removed from his office, on fol. 186^b.

419. Saḳkāi Caghatāi, wrote Persian and Turkish poetry, died on a journey to Sarāndīb, on fol. 186^b.

420. Muḥammad Yūsuf, was some years in Akbar's service, wrote some poetry, and died young, A. H. 970 = A. D. 1562, 1563 (ta'rikh : کجا شد یوسف مصرای).

عزیزان, so correctly in the following copy), on fol. 186^b.

421. Khwājah Muḥammad 'Abd-alrahīm (in the following copy Muḥammad Raḥīm) 'Aludī, was first one of Akbar's secretaries, afterwards a warrior; he wrote besides some poetry, on fol. 187^a.

422. Maulānā Yādgar Ḥalātī, a poet of the same time, on fol. 187^a.

423. Muḥammad Ḥusain, son of the preceding poet, with the takhalluṣ Bākā'i; he became insane, poisoned his father, and was killed himself, on fol. 187^a.

Syria, on fol. 187^a; Jerusalem (بيت المقدس), on fol. 187^b; Damascus (دمشق), on fol. 188^b.

424. Shaikh Abū Sulaimān 'Abd-alrahīm Dārāni (comp. the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 169), styled, 'the sweet basil of hearts' (ريحان العلوب), quoted in the تذکره الاولیا, on fol. 189^a.

425. Abū 'Umar (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 220), on fol. 189^a.

426. Ibrahim bin Dā'ūd (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 224), on fol. 189^a.

427. Katshim, on fol. 189^b.

428. Shaikh Sulaimān Turkmān (see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 347), on fol. 189^b.

429. Shaikh 'Alī Kurdi, had many pupils and followers and performed many miracles, on fol. 189^b.

430. Dā'ūd bin Ahmad Dāraui, on fol. 189^b.

431. Ahmad bin Abi aljawāri (more correctly alhawāri, see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 172), on fol. 189^b.

432. Abū 'Abdallāh Makhūl Hudbi, on fol. 189^b.

433. Muḥammad bin Ḥasan al-Shaibāni, cousin of Farrā, was for many years Kādi-alkuḍāt, on fol. 189^b.

434. Shams-al-dīn 'Abdallāh, known as Ibn-allassān (ابن اللسان), on fol. 189^b.

435. Jalāl-al-dīn Maḥmūd, the first Khaṭīb of Damascus, was Kādi-alkuḍāt of Syria in the time of Malik Nāṣir (the Mamlūk-Sultān who died A. H. 741 = A. D. 1341), on fol. 189^b.

436. Abū-alkāsim 'Alī bin al-Ḥasan bin 'Asākir, author of a تأریخ, in seventy-two volumes, on fol. 189^b.

437. Abū-alma'ālī Muḥammad bin Abi-alḥasan, Kādi of Damascus, on fol. 189^b.

438. 'Alā-al-dīn 'Alī ibn alḥazām (read: ibn Abi-alḥazm) alḳuraishī, a physician, especially famous throughout Egypt and Syria, author of the Mūjaz or epitome (with its full title موجز الفنانون في الطب, edited Calcutta, 1828); he is usually known as Ibn-alhafis, and died A. H. 687 (A. D. 1288), on fol. 189^b.

439. Abū Nuwās Ḥasan bin Hāni (not Hāfi هافى, as both here and in the following copy is written by mistake), the famous poet under Ḥarūn-alrashid, on fol. 189^b.

Ba'bak, on fol. 189^b.

440. Mu'adhdhin (موذن), one of the companions of Marwān Ḥimār (i. e. Marwān II, with the honorary title of the 'as of Mesopotamia'), the last Umayyade Khalīf (who was defeated and slain A. H. 132 = A. D. 750); he was summoned together with 'Abd-allamīd Kātib and Salām Ḥādī, two other companions of the unfortunate Khalīf, before Abū Ja'far Maṣṣūr (who ascended the throne as second 'Abbāside Khalīf after the death of his brother Abū-al'abbās al-Saffāh, A. H. 136 = A. D.

754), to be sentenced to death, but succeeded in obtaining Mansûr's pardon and favour, on fol. 190^a.

Ghazza, on fol. 190^b:

441. Abû 'Abdallâh Muḥammad bin Idris, known as Shâfi'i, the great legal Imâm, under Hârûn-al-rashid, the Pir of Aḥmad bin Ḥanbal (see on both the Safinat-alauliyyâ, Nos. 23 and 24), died A. H. 204 (A. D. 820), on fol. 190^b.

Halab, on fol. 191^a:

442. Abû-albakâ Ya'ish (or more correctly Ibn Ya'ish) bin 'Ali, with the epithet of Muwaḥḥid-aldin, the grammarian, author of the famous commentary on Zamakhshari's Mufaṣṣal (lately edited by Jahn) and a commentary on the تفسير ملوكي, on fol. 191^a.

Manbij (between Ḥalab and the Euphrates), on fol. 191^a:

443. Abû 'Ubâdah Walid bin 'Ubaidah (or according to others 'Ubaid), known as Bulḥuri (بَحْثَرِي, so in the following copy), or Bukhturi (بُخْتَرِي, so here, comp. on this double spelling G. Flügel, Cat., i. p. 436), the famous Arabic poet, whose death is fixed here in A. H. 286 (A. D. 899); it is said here, that the poets of Arabia likened his poems to a 'golden chain' (سُحْرَى بَحْثَرِي), on fol. 191^a.

Askalan, on fol. 191^b:

444 and 445. Abû Ya'qûb Khairat (the turner) and Shaikh Abû-alkhair, on fol. 191^b.

Tarsûs, on fol. 191^b:

446. Abû 'Ubaidah (or better, according to the following copy, 'Ubaid) bin al-kâsim bin Salâm, the first who commented upon the wonderful things in the traditions (غرائب احاديث را تفسير كرد), on fol. 191^b.

Egypt (Miṣr), on fol. 192^a; Fustât (not قسطنطية, as the town is spelt both here and in the following copy), on fol. 193^b; Cairo, on fol. 194^a; Alexandria (اسكندرية), on fol. 194^a:

447. Ptolemy (بطليموس), the author of the Almagest, on fol. 194^b.

448. Kidwat-al'ârifin Shaikh 'Ali bin 'Abdallâh Shâdhili, a descendant of the second Imâm, Ḥasan bin 'Ali, died in the desert on his pilgrimage to the holy cities (comp. however the Safinat-alauliyyâ, No. 336), on fol. 194^b.

Ikhmîm, on fol. 194^b:

449. Dhû-alnûn (see the Safinat-alauliyyâ, No. 177), died A. H. 245 (A. D. 859), on fol. 195^a.

450. Abû Ṭalib, on fol. 195^b.

'Abd-alshams (correctly 'Ain-alshams, Heliopolis, with the famous balsam-tree, see Wüstenfeld, Jâcût's Reisen, in Zeitschrift der D. M. G. xviii. p. 467; Schefer, Sefer Nameh, pp. 126 note. 142, and 143 note, in the south of Fustât, the alleged residence of the Pharaoh of Egypt in Joseph's time), on fol. 195^b; Hamrâ, on fol. 195^b; Faramâ (so correctly in the following copy; here appears the wrong فراما), on fol. 195^b; Tinnîs (so correctly instead of تلبس in this and the following copy), on fol. 195^b; Fayyûm (here and in the following copy wrongly spelt فيوم), on fol. 196^a. Prominent men of Miṣr are—

451. Shaikh Kâmil 'Umar bin 'Ali, known as Ibn Fârid, the famous mystical poet, stayed twelve years in Makkah (see the Safinat-alauliyyâ, No. 332), on fol. 196^a.

452. Abû 'Ali Kâtib (see the Safinat-alauliyyâ, No. 69), on fol. 196^b.

453. Abû 'Ali Mashtûli (see the Safinat-alauliyyâ, No. 233), on fol. 196^b.

454. Shaikh Mu'annar, originally an Abyssinian slave, on fol. 196^b.

455. Abû Shu'aib al-Makna', performed the pilgrimage on foot seventy times, on fol. 196^b.

456. Abû-alḥasan of Karâfah (comp. the Safinat-alauliyyâ, No. 229), contemporary with Abû Sulaimân Nili (or Naili), on fol. 196^b.

457. Shaikh Nûr-aldin 'Abd-alrahmân, got his investiture from Shaikh Jamâl-aldin Yûsuf Kûrânî after less than twenty days' tuition, on fol. 196^b.

458. Shaikh Abû-al'abbâs of Damanhûr (on the way to Alexandria, see Wüstenfeld, Jâcût's Reisen, loc. cit., p. 468), on fol. 196^b.

459. Abû 'Abdallâh albarkî, on fol. 197^a.

460. Abû Ja'far Haddâd, the pupil of Ibn 'Atâ, called Ṣaghîr-i-Miṣri, to distinguish him from another Shaikh of the same name, who is called Kabîr-i-Baghdâdî, on fol. 197^a.

461. Akhi 'Ali, lived a great deal in Rûm and Syria, had many pupils, but never enjoyed a Pir's tuition, until he heard of 'Alâ-aldaulah's fame (see the Safinat-alauliyyâ, No. 132); he then with all his pupils became a disciple of that Shaikh, on fol. 197^a.

462. Nabân 'Abdallâh Shaibânî (so in the following copy; the present one makes two distinct Shaikhs out of the one, viz. Nabân 'Abdallâh and Shaibân), on fol. 197^a.

463. Abûbâkr (دقاق, probably misspelt for دقاق Daqqâk, see the Safinat-alauliyyâ, No. 198), the spiritual guide of Abûbâkr Daqqâk-i-ṣaghîr (so according to the following copy, on fol. 217^b, l. 4; here this Shaikh is left out).

464. Abûbâkr Maghâribî (so probably to be read instead of معاربي in the text), the spiritual guide of Sirwânî (سبرواني?), on fol. 197^a.

465. Shaikh Imrân Thulthî (ثلاثي), on fol. 197^a.

466. Abû Ibrahim Isma'il bin Yahyâ Mâzinî, a contemporary and disciple of Shâfi'i, wrote various works on Shâfiite law, especially one مختصر, which is one of the most difficult books to read, on fol. 197^a.

467. Muḥammad bin 'Abdallâh bin 'Abd-alḥakîm, another disciple of Shâfi'i, and contemporary with the preceding Shaikh; he was born A. H. 182 (A. D. 798) and died, 80 years old, A. H. 262 (A. D. 876), on fol. 197^b.

468. Abû Ya'qûb Yûsuf bin Yahyâ al-Bûsîṭi or Bûsîṭi, likewise a disciple of Shâfi'i, and the greatest legal authority after his master's death, was summoned by the 'Abbâside Khalîf Alwâthîq-billâh (A. H. 227–232 = A. D. 842–847) to Baghdâd, to solemnly declare the Qurân as مخلوق or created, which he refused to do; he was thereupon put in chains and died in his prison in Baghdâd, A. H. 232 (A. D. 846, 847), on fol. 197^b.

469. Abûbâkr Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin Ja'far Kitâbî (comp. the Safinat-alauliyyâ, No. 223), known as Ibn Haddâd, qâḍî and professor, among whose works is particularly renowned the كتاب الفروع, commented upon by Kaṣṣâl of Marw, Abû Tayyib Ṭabari and Abû 'Ali Sinjî (see Al-Moshtabih, ed. De Jong, p. 128), on fol. 197^b.

470. 'Abd-almalik bin Abû-alkâsim, known as al-Masihi, was in the service of Hâkim bin 'Aziz Isma'ili and wrote thirty works, among which are most prominent a تاريخ, containing many strange and wonderful stories, and filling 13,000 leaves; كتاب الغرب والشرق, containing 200 leaves; a قصص الانبياء, on 1,500 leaves; and a كتاب المفاتيح والمناسك (on sexual intercourse), on 1,200 leaves; he was born A.H. 366 and died A.H. 423 (A.D. 966, 967-1032), on fol. 198^a.

471. 'Abd-alrahmân alkhawlânî (الخولاني), kâdi of Miṣr, got every year a stipend of 1,000 dinârs, and reached the age of 83 years, on fol. 198^a.

472. Salim bin Yahyâ, was also kâdi of Miṣr, died 75 years old, on fol. 198^a.

473. Haibat-allâh (the present copy seems rather to read Hibat-allâh هبة الله) bin 'Ali, on fol. 198^a.

474. Kuṭb-aldin bin 'Abd-alkarim (in the following copy bin is omitted) bin Abd-alnûr, author of the تاريخ مصر and a commentary on Bukhârî's صحيح, died A.H. 733 (A.D. 1332, 1333), on fol. 198^a.

475. Abû-alḥasan (in the following copy, Abû-alḥsain) bin Yahyâ bin Abî 'Ali, a great calligrapher and Inshâ-writer at the court of the Egyptian rulers, composed also good poetry, on fol. 198^a.

476. Abû-al'izz (الغزr or الغيرr) Abû-alghirr) Muẓaffar bin Ibrâhim Ghailânî (غيلاني), a famous blind poet, died A.H. 623 (A.D. 1226), on fol. 198^a.

477. Tûlûn, the ancestor of the Tûlûnides in Egypt, on fol. 198^b.

478. Aḥmad Ibn Tûlûn, the first of the Tûlûnides who was an almost independent governor of Egypt (died A.H. 270=A.D. 884), on fol. 198^b.

479. Abû-aljaish, his son, i.e. Khumârawaih (died end of A.H. 282=A.D. 896), on fol. 198^b. After a short remark on this ruler there follows a very brief history of the Ikshidîs, viz. Muḥammad (died 66 years old, A.H. 334=A.D. 945, 946), his two sons, Abû-alkâsim and Abû-alḥasan (died A.H. 354=A.D. 965), and Abû-alḥakîm Kâtûr (A.H. 354-356=A.D. 965-967), to A.H. 361 (A.D. 972), when the Fâtîmide dynasty was firmly established in Egypt.

480. Al-Mu'izz lidinillâh, the first of the Fâtîmides who conquered Egypt and established his residence in Kâhirah, A.H. 361 (or, according to Wüstenfeld's Geschichte der Fatimiden-Chalifen, p. 119, A.H. 362=A.D. 972 or 973); he died A.H. 365 (A.D. 976), on fol. 199^a.

481. Nizâr al-'Aziz-billâh, son and successor of Al-Mu'izz, reigned 21 years and died, 42 years old, A.H. 386 (A.D. 996), on fol. 199^b.

482. Al-Hâkim biamrillâh, son and successor of Nizâr al-'Aziz, reigned 25 years, and was assassinated A.H. 411 (A.D. 1021), on fol. 199^b.

483. Al-Zâhir lidinillâh (or rather li'zâz dinillâh), son and successor of Al-Hâkim, reigned 16 years, and died A.H. 427 (A.D. 1036), on fol. 199^b.

484. Al-Mustansîr-billâh, son and successor of the preceding monarch, ascended the throne in his seventh year; Nâṣir bin Khusrâu and Ḥasan Ṣabbâḥ are stated here to have been in his service; his general, Basâsiri, entered Baghdâd (A.H. 450=A.D. 1058), deposed (but did not imprison, as is stated here) the 'Abbâsîde Khalîf Alkâ'im billâh, and had for about a year the Khuṭbah read in Mustansîr's name. Mustansîr appointed first his eldest son, Al-Mustafâ lidinillâh Nizâr, and later on his youngest (here wrongly called his second) son, Al-Musta'li-billâh Aḥmad, as heir to the throne; after his death (in A.H. 487=A.D. 1094, end of December) the latter ascended the throne, had his brother Mustafâ killed (or rather immured alive, see Wüstenfeld, loc. cit., p. 273), and reigned 7 years and 2 months; he was assassinated by Mustafâ's adherents, A.H. 495 (A.D. 1101), on fol. 200^a.

485. Al-Âmir biakhkâm-illâh bin al-Musta'li-billâh, succeeded his father, when 5 years old; in his reign Ḥasan Ṣabbâḥ grew powerful, and in A.H. 515 (A.D. 1121) his murderous devotees assassinated Âmir's commander-in-chief, Malik Afḍal (see the proper version of this story in Wüstenfeld, loc. cit., p. 289), who left behind him 600,000 (in Wüstenfeld 6,000,000) gold dinârs, 250 ارب (read according to Wüstenfeld اردت, bushels) of silver dirhems, 75,000 atlas-robes, 500 boxes with wearing-apparel, an inkstand set with jewels, 12,000 dinârs in value, besides innumerable horses, camels, oxen, buffaloes, and milk-goats; the milk of which yielded 1,000 dinârs per annum. After a reign of 9 years, A.H. 524 (A.D. 1130), Âmir was assassinated by the same followers of Ḥasan Ṣabbâḥ, on fol. 200^a.

486. Al-Hâfîz lidinillâh bin Mustansîr-billâh (according to Wüstenfeld he was a grandson, not a son, of Mustansîr), who got his son Ḥasan poisoned by a Jewish physician (this and the other incidents told here about Al-Hâfîz's wazîrs are wild distortions of the real facts, see Wüstenfeld, loc. cit., p. 306 and the previous pages); he reigned 20 years, and died A.H. 544 (A.D. 1149), on fol. 200^b.

487. Al-Zâhir (الظاهر), so here and in the following copy; correctly, according to Wüstenfeld, Al-Zâfir, (الظافر) billâh, son of Al-Hâfîz, had intimate friendship with Naṣr, son of 'Abbâs, the wazîr of the realm, but was betrayed by him, and murdered in his, Naṣr's, house after 5 years' reign, A.H. 549 (A.D. 1154), on fol. 200^b.

488. Al-Fâ'iz (الفائز), so correctly in the following copy; here he is called al-Kâbiḍ (القابض) binasrillâh, son of Al-Zâfir, reigned 6 years and a few months, and died A.H. 555 (A.D. 1160), only 11 years and 6 months old, on fol. 200^b.

489. Al-Âdid lidinillâh, here foolishly called a son of the preceding child, whereas he was (see Wüstenfeld, loc. cit., pp. 310, 321, and 325) a son of Yûsnf bin al-Hâfîz, the brother of Al-Zâfir, and consequently a cousin of Al-Fâ'iz, the last of the Fâtîmides, who died A.H. 567 (A.D. 1171), on fol. 200^b. After a short summary of his wars and negotiations with the Crusaders, his affairs with Nûr-aldin bin 'Imâd-aldin Zangî, Asad-aldin Shirkûh, etc., his final deposition and the gradual rise of Amîr Ṣalâḥ-aldin Yûsuf bin Najm-aldin Ayyûb, a nephew of Asad-aldin Shirkûh, to independent power in Egypt (A.H. 581=A.D. 1185), the continuation of the story is interrupted by an enumeration of the three predecessors of Al-Mu'izz lidinillāh (see No. 480 above), who were the founders of the independent dynasty of the Fātimides in Maghrib, otherwise styled 'Alides, or, as here, Isma'lis, viz.:

490. Abū-alkāsim Muḥammad bin 'Abdallāh, called Mahdi (a mixture of the name of the twelfth Imām Mahdi, see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 16, and the real name of the first Fātimide ruler who renounced his allegiance to the 'Abbāside Khalifs, viz. 'Ubad-allāh al-Mahdi, who is by Shi'ite writers frequently represented as the resuscitated twelfth Imām); his genealogy is traced back, as usual, to Isma'il, the son of the sixth Imām Ja'far alšādik (comp. Wüstenfeld, loc. cit., p. 14); according to Sunni and Maghribi versions, which are given here too, he was an offspring of 'Abdallāh bin Sālim Baṣrī; according to 'Irāki versions a descendant of 'Abdallāh bin Maimūn Qaddāl (see ib., pp. 5 and 6); he established his rule in Maghrib either A. H. 296 or 299 (297 in Wüstenfeld, loc. cit., p. 38 = A. D. 910), reigned 26 years and died A. H. 322 (= A. D. 934, so correctly in the following copy; the present copy has a wrong 332), 62 years old, on fol. 201^a.

491. Al-Kā'im biamrillāh Aḥmad bin Muḥammad (again a confusion of the son with the father; the Kunyah of al-Kā'im was Abū-alkāsim and his real name Muḥammad, see Wüstenfeld, loc. cit., p. 70), son and successor of al-Mahdi; he had to contend against the sectarian Abū Yazid, who besieged him in the fortress of Mahdiyyah, and died, after a reign of 12 years, A. H. 334 (A. D. 946), on fol. 201^a.

492. Al-Manṣūr biḥuwatillāh Isma'il, son and successor of Al-Kā'im: he finally conquered and killed Abū Yazid, and died after a reign of 7 years, A. H. 341 (A. D. 953), 39 years old, on fol. 201^b. His son and successor was Al-Mu'izz lidinillāh (see No. 480 above).

493. Ṣalāh-aldin (the Saladin of European writers), the powerful founder of the Ayyūbite dynasty in Egypt and Syria; he died A. H. 589 (A. D. 1193), on fol. 202^a.

494. Malik 'Aziz Abū-alfath Uthmān, Ṣalāh-aldin's son and successor, who had been governor of Egypt during his father's lifetime; he deprived his brother Malik Afdal of the governorship of Damascus, but after his own death, in A. H. 595 (A. D. 1198, November), Afdal returned and established his rule in Damascus (this statement again is wrong: Malik Afdal did not succeed in regaining Damascus, see Weil, Geschichte der islamitischen Völker, 1866, p. 364), on fol. 202^a.

495. Malik 'Ādil Abūbakr, the brother of Ṣalāh-aldin, and uncle of Malik 'Aziz and Malik Afdal (who first acted as guardian of 'Aziz's minor son Al-Manṣūr, but soon asserted his own independence); he drove Malik Afdal from Damascus (see the previous statement in No. 494) and relegated him to Samosata, where he stayed until his death in A. H. 622 (A. D. 1225); 'Ādil distributed his realm in the following way: to his eldest son, Malik Kāmil, he gave Egypt; to his second son, Malik Mu'azzam, Damascus; to his third son, Malik Ashraf, Mesopotamia; and to his fourth son, Malik Aḥmad, with the name of Ayyūb, Khilāt (or Akhlāt) in Armenia (according to Weil, loc. cit., p. 365, it was Ashraf, the third son, who got the government of Khilāt in addition to Mesopotamia). 'Ādil's death is by a strange confusion fixed here in A. H. 598 instead of 615 (= A. D. 1218), on fol. 202^a.

496. Malik Kāmil bin Malik 'Ādil, who reigned till A. H. 635 (A. D. 1238); in A. H. 625 (A. D. 1228) he annexed Yaman and Hijāz to his Egyptian and Syrian dominions, drove his brother Malik Mu'azzam (correctly: Mu'azzam's son Dā'ūd, see Weil, loc. cit., p. 367, since Mu'azzam had died a year before) from Damascus and gave it to Malik Ashraf; Mu'azzam's son (in the text again Mu'azzam) had to be satisfied with the fortresses of Karak, Shaubak, and Nāblus (here تابلس). Malik Ashraf's death is fixed here in the same year as that of his brother Kāmil, on fol. 202^b.

497. Malik 'Ādil II, Kāmil's son and successor, reigned only one year in Egypt and was then deposed and imprisoned by his brother, Malik Ṣāliḥ, on fol. 202^b.

498. Malik Ṣāliḥ Ayyūb, son of Kāmil; the vicissitudes of his reign are here related in the following way (there is in this, as well as in the previous accounts, scarcely any mention of the wars and struggles with the Crusaders): when he lost his hold on Egypt, he went to Damascus and summoned his uncle Isma'il (who had likewise the epithet of Malik Ṣāliḥ) from Ba'bak; the latter obeyed, but having obtained help from the governor of Hims, he put his nephew to flight, who betook himself to Karak, but was imprisoned there by the governor of that fortress. Meanwhile 'Ādil II had escaped from prison, had taken a second time possession of Egypt, and offered Malik Naṣir, the governor of Karak, 100,000 dinārs for the extradition of Malik Ṣāliḥ. But the former swore allegiance to Malik Ṣāliḥ, and went with him to Egypt, where the latter succeeded a second time in seizing the reins of government, and in imprisoning his brother 'Ādil for the remainder of his life. He died A. H. 647 (A. D. 1249), on fol. 202^b.

499. Malik Mu'azzam, son and successor of Malik Ṣāliḥ (i. e. Tūrānshāh), who was killed (A. H. 648 = A. D. 1250) by the Mamlūks or slaves (غلامان, as they are called here), on fol. 203^a. With him the dynasty of the Ayyūbites ended, and 'Izz-aldin Aibak, the Mamlūk, who declared himself Sulṭān in A. H. 652 (A. D. 1254, more correctly A. H. 650 = A. D. 1252) and assumed the title of Malik Mu'izz, founded the dynasty of the Mamlūks.

FOURTH IKLĪM. Marw-i-Shahjān, on fol. 203^b:

500. Khwājah Bashār Hāfi (so called, because he always walked barefooted, see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 171), on fol. 204^a.

501. 'Abdallāh (bin) Mubārak, contemporary with Sufyān Thauri and Fuḍail bin 'Iyād (see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 165); he was honoured by the titles of Amir-i-kalam u balārak (lord of the pen and the sword) and Imām-alislām, and alternately performed one year the pilgrimage, engaged in warfare the next, and applied himself to commercial pursuits the third, on fol. 204^a.

502. Faṭḥ bin Shakhraf (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 189), here spelt سنجراف, on fol. 204^a.

503. Shaikh Maṣṣūr bin 'Ammār, on fol. 204^a.

504. Shaikh Abū 'Alī Siyāh (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 291), on fol. 204^a.

505. Shaikh Abū 'Alī Shab-būi (the tuberose), on fol. 204^a.

506. Abū-al'abbās Sayyārī (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 240), on fol. 204^b.

507. Hakim Buzurjmīhr, on fol. 204^b.

508. Kaṣṣāl-i-Marwazī (the lock-smith of Marw, i.e. Abūbakr 'Abd-alrahmān bin Ahmad bin 'Abdallāh, the great Shāfi'ite lawyer, who is stated here to have been consulted by Sultān Maḥmūd of Ghazna as to a choice between the Shāfi'ite and the Hanafite legal doctrines, and died A.H. 419. A.D. 1028, see Barbier de Meynard, Dictionnaire géographique, etc., pp. 531 and 532), on fol. 204^b.

509. Muḥammad bin Naṣr, a lawyer and traditionist, on fol. 204^b.

510. Ibrāhīm bin Ahmad, a Shāfi'ite lawyer, wrote a commentary on the مختصر of Mazam (مزني, so correct in the following copy; here the name is spelt مزاني, but the مختصر, the standard work on Shāfi'ite doctrines, is composed by Abū Ibrāhīm Isma'īl bin Yahyā al-Mazam, a disciple of Shāfi', who died A.H. 264, A.D. 878); his full name, according to Barbier de Meynard, loc. cit., was Abū Ishāq Ibrāhīm bin Ahmad bin Ishāq, and his death is fixed there in A.H. 340 (A.D. 951, 952); comp. also Safinat-alauliyā, No. 237, where he is stated to have died A.H. 342 (A.D. 953, 954), on fol. 204^b.

511. 'Isā bin Muḥammad allughawi, on fol. 204^b.

512. Abū Maṣṣūr 'Umarāh (in the index of this and the text of the following copy wrongly 'Ammār, عمار. see Ethé, Rüdagi's Vorläufer und Zeitgenossen, No. 21) bin Ahmad (according to 'Aufi, bin Muḥammad), under the Sāmānides and first Ghaznawides, on fol. 204^b.

513. Hakim Kis'ī (see Ethé, Die Lieder des Kis'ī, Sitzungsberichte der Münchener Akademie, philos.-philol. Classe, 1874, pp. 133-148), born the 26th of Shawwāl, A.H. 341 (A.D. 953, March 16), lived till the beginning of Maḥmūd of Ghazna's reign, on fol. 205^a.

514. Abū Naṣr 'Abd-al'aziz bin Maṣṣūr al-'Asjadī, a panegyrist of Sultān Maḥmūd of Ghazna; he wrote a qaṣidah in honour of the conquest of Sūmānāt in India by that ruler, on fol. 205^b.

515. Shaikh-abslām Ḥārithī, the second Luḡmān, wrote some famous rubā'is, on fol. 206^a.

516. Fakhr-al-din Muḥarakshāh, panegyrist of Malik Saif-al-din Ghūrī, and his successor Ghiyāth-al-din Ghūrī (A.H. 552, according to others 558-599 = A.D. 1157 or 1163-1203), on fol. 206^a.

517. Shams-al-din Muḥammad Daḡā'ikī, author of a diwān, on fol. 206^b.

518. Alhakim Maḥmūd bin 'Alī al-Samā'ī (or al-Samāwi, the celestial one), panegyrist of Sultān Sanjar (A.H. 511-552 = A.D. 1117-1157), on fol. 206^b.

519. Shihāb-al-din Abū-alḥasan Ṭalḥah, likewise a panegyrist of Sultān Sanjar, on fol. 207^a.

520. Sayyid Abū 'Alī bin al-Ḥusain, a rubā'ī of whom is quoted here, on fol. 207^b.

521. Athīr-al-din Al-Futūḥī, had munāzarāt or poetical contests with Adīb Ṣabir (see No. 573 below) and Anwari, on fol. 207^b.

522. Khwājah Husain, who was in intellectual matters a disciple of Maulānā 'Isām-al-din Ibrāhīm, and in legal matters of Shaikh Ibn Ḥajar, the mufti of

'Arabistān and the holy cities of Makkah and Madinah; he wrote a famous ta'rikh on the birth of Sultān Salīm, the eldest son of the emperor Akbar (afterwards the emperor Jahāngir), and his brother Shāh Murād, on fol. 208^b.

523. Maulānā Muṣṣḥifī, was born and died in Bukhārā, on fol. 208^b.

524. Wāṣih, on fol. 208^b.

Mahnah, on fol. 209^a:

525. Shaikh Abū Sa'īd Faḍl-allāh bin Abū-alkhair, the great rubā'ī writer, was a pupil of Abū-alfaḍl Sarakhsī (see No. 544 below), but got by order of that Fir his investiture from Shaikh 'Abd-alrahmān Sullamī (see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 294, and Ethé, Die Rubā'is des Abū Sa'īd bin Abulkhair, in Sitzungsberichte der Münchener Akademie, philos.-philol. Classe, 1875, pp. 145-168, and 1878, pp. 38-70), on fol. 209^a.

526. Ahmad bin Shādān, the wazir of Sultān Tughrulbeg bin Mikā'il Saljūki (the first independent ruler of that dynasty, died A.H. 455 = A.D. 1063), on fol. 209^b.

527. As'ad of Mahnah, who, according to Daulatshāh, had one day in the majlis of Sultān Muḥammad bin Malikshāh (A.H. 498-511 = A.D. 1104-1117) a contest with Imām Muḥammad Ghazālī (who died A.H. 505 = A.D. 1111), on fol. 209^b.

528. Aulḥad-al-din Anwari, the great panegyrist of Sultān Sanjar; his death is fixed here in A.H. 580 (or according to others even 547); the proper date is either A.H. 585 or 387 (A.D. 1189 or 1191, see Bodleian Cat., No. 543 sq.), on fol. 210^a.

529. Khwājah Mu'ayyad, a descendant of Abū Sa'īd bin Abū-alkhair, on fol. 211^a.

530. Shaikh Abū Naṣr, likewise a descendant of Abū Sa'īd, on fol. 211^a.

Abiward, on fol. 211^a:

531. Faḍail bin 'Iyād (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 96), on fol. 211^a.

532. Bāba Saudā'i, was in the service of Mirzā Shāhrukh's son, Mirzā Baisunghar (who died A.H. 837 = A.D. 1434), on fol. 211^a.

533. Maulānā Ahmad, went at an early age to Transoxania and joined the ascetics (تَجَرَد مَنَاشَان) of Bukhārā; later on he went to the Irāk and stayed in Kāshān, where he got a professorship; but when Amir Jamāl-al-din Astarābādī became wazir of that town, he was deprived of his stipend, and only his death saved him from the imprisonment which the wazir had resolved upon, on fol. 211^b.

534. Maulānā Abū-alḥasan Dānishmand, who in his fourteenth year could explain the commentary of the تَجَرَد (no doubt the metaphysical work of that title by Naṣir-al-din Tūsī, who died A.H. 672 = A.D. 1274) with glosses, and in his twenty-fifth lectured on the Almagest; he had also a prodigious memory. Among his numerous works the most prominent ones are: كتاب مشارق (or perhaps كُتُبنا حَسَنَات), كتاب مرآة الافلاك, glosses on the شمس (the work on logic by Najm-al-din 'Alī bin 'Umar al-kazwini al-Kātibi, who died A.H. 693 = A.D. 1294), and the تهذيب (i.e. تهذيب المنطق والكلام, another work on logic by Sa'īd-al-din Mas'ūd bin 'Umar al-Taftazāni, who died

A. H. 791 or 792 = A. D. 1389 or 1390, see No. 541 below), رسالة اثبات واجب, and شرح فرائض; he also wrote poetry, on fol. 212^a.

535. Maulânâ Kunburi (قنبري, both in text and index here; in the following copy he is styled Munyari, منيري), a poet, attached to 'Abd-almu'min Sulṭān, the son of the Wālī of Tūrān, 'Abdallāhkhān (the chief of the Uzbeqs, who died A. H. 1006 = A. D. 1597, 1598, see No. 574 in this Cat.), on fol. 212^b.

Nasā, on fol. 212^b:

536. Imām Ṣāḥir-al-dīn Nasawī, a poet, on fol. 212^b.

537. Al-Kādi Imām Majd-al-dīn, who greeted the newly-installed Kādi of Nasā, Kādi Shams-al-dīn, with a famous extempore rubā'i, on fol. 212^b.

538. Shams-al-dīn Muḥammad Mu'akkad, a rubā'i-writer, on fol. 213^a.

539. Muḥammad bin Badi', was under 'Imād-al-dīn Zangī (who died A. H. 540 or 541 = A. D. 1145 or 1146) chief secretary of Nasā, on fol. 213^a.

540. Majd-al-dīn Muḥammad al-bānirī (البانيري or bin al-bānirī, as the following copy reads), court-poet of Sulṭān Sikandar, and author of a mathnawī, entitled شاهنامه, on the history of the Khwārizmshāhs, on fol. 213^a.

541. Maulânâ Sa'd-al-dīn Mas'ūd bin 'Umar al-Taftāzānī (see No. 534 above), began his authorship in his sixteenth year with a commentary on the صرف زنجانی, after which followed the مُطَوَّل (a commentary on the تلخيص المفتاح, completed A. H. 748 = A. D. 1347, see J. Aumer, Arabic Cat., pp. 310 and 311, and the edition of Constantinople, A. H. 1260), dedicated to Malik Ḥusain Kurt; he then took his abode in Khwārizm and wrote the مختصر تلخيص, dedicated to Jāmbeg; when Timūr conquered Khwārizm, he made the Maulânâ his companion; his death is fixed here, and in the following copy, wrongly in A. H. 752, instead of 791 or 792; he was buried in Sarakhs, on fol. 213^a.

542. Maulânâ Shams-al-dīn Muḥammad, son of the preceding scholar, on fol. 213^b.

543. Maulânâ Kutb-al-dīn Muḥammad, son of Shams-al-dīn, filled from the last years of Shāhrukh's reign (who died A. H. 850 = A. D. 1447) to the beginning of Ḥusain Mirzā's reign (A. H. 873 = A. D. 1469) the post of Shaikh-alislām, on fol. 213^b.

Sarakhs, on fol. 213^b:

544. Shaikh Abū-al-faḍl, the Pir of Shaikh Abū Sa'īd bin Abū-alkhair (see No. 525 in this list), and the pupil of Abū Naṣr Sarīāj (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 271), on fol. 213^b.

545. Shaikh Luḡmān, the mad one, contemporary with Abū Sa'īd bin Abū-alkhair (comp. Ethé, Rubā'is des Abū Sa'īd, loc. cit., p. 149), on fol. 213^b.

546. Khwājah Aḥmad Hammādi (mentioned in the كشف المحجوب and جامي's نفحات), on fol. 214^a.

547. Sayyid-al-ajall Ṣāḥir-al-dīn Taj-alkuttāb, author of works in prose and verse, mentioned by 'Aufi, on fol. 214^a.

548. Al-sadr-al-ajall Taj-al-dīn, whose diwān is not extant, on fol. 214^a.

549. Ustād Abū-alḥasan 'Alī al-Bīlirāmi, a poet in Sulṭān Maḥmūd of Ghazna's time, and author of the خجسته نامه on prosody, on fol. 214^b.

IND. OFF.

550. Imām-al-ajall Fakhr-al-dīn Muḥammad al-Zarkhāni, of whom two rubā'is are quoted here, on fol. 214^b.

551. Maulânâ Kutb-al-dīn, father of Nāṣir-al-dīn, on fol. 215^a.

Balkh, on fol. 215^a:

552. Shaikh Abū Ishāq Ibrāhīm bin Adham (or Ibrāhīm Adham, Safinat-alauliyā, No. 97), got his investiture from Fuḍail bin 'Iyād (ib., No. 96), on fol. 215^b.

553. Abū 'Alī Shaḡik, contemporary with the preceding Shaikh (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 167), on fol. 216^a.

554. Ḥātim-i-aṣamm, pupil of Abū 'Alī Shaḡik and Pir of Aḥmad bin Khidrawaih (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 173), on fol. 216^a.

555. Aḥmad bin Khidrawaih (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 174), had 1,000 disciples, on fol. 216^b.

556. Shaikh Abūbākr Warrāk (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 264), on fol. 216^b.

557. Shaikh Bahā-al-dīn Walad, with the epithet Sulṭān-al-ulamā, grandson of Shāh 'Alā-al-dīn Muḥammad, the uncle of Sulṭān Muḥammad Khwārizmshāh, and father of the great Jalāl-al-dīn Rūmi (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 136; see also the Manāḡib-al-ārafīn, No. 630 in this Cat.); he had in Baghdād a meeting with Shaikh Shihāb-al-dīn Suhrawardī; after performing the pilgrimage he settled fifteen years in Ādharbaijān and Lārmāda, and afterwards repaired to Kūniyah (Iconium), where he died, A. H. 628 (A. D. 1231), on fol. 216^b.

558. Maulânâ Jalāl-al-dīn Muḥammad, known as Maulawī al-Rūmi, the great mystical poet (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 137), who left his native town Balkh in his father's company, when he was six years old, and met on his way to Makkah in Nishāpūr Farīd-al-dīn 'Attār, who presented him with a copy of his mystical poem اسرار نامه; he enjoyed for nine years the tuition and friendship of Bahā-al-dīn Walad's pupil Sayyid Burhān-al-dīn Tirmidhī, and after his death that of Shams-al-dīn Tabrizī; when the latter had disappeared (as it is called here) he associated himself with Ṣalāḥ-al-dīn Zarkūb, and later on with 'Alabī Ḥusām-al-dīn. He was born A. H. 604, and died A. H. 672 (A. D. 1207-1273), on fol. 217^a. Between this and the following Shaikh there is inserted here, on ff. 219^b-220^b, a short sketch of the history of the Barmakis, beginning with Ja'far Barmak, who was originally a Parsee, but embraced the Muḥammadan creed, went to Damascus and rose to the dignity of a wazīr under the Umayyade Khalīf Sulaimān (his son Khālīd became wazīr of Abū-alabbās), and ending with the final extirpation of the whole race under the Khalīf Hārūn-al-rashīd, A. H. 187 (A. D. 803).

559. Shaikh Abū 'Alī Ibn Sinā (the famous Avicenna), on fol. 220^b.

560. Shaikh Abū-alḥasan Shahīd, the Sāmānide poet and contemporary of Rūdagi (see Ethé, Rūdagi's Vorläufer, etc., No. 5), on fol. 221^a.

561. Abū-alkāsin Ḥasan 'Unṣurī, the king of poets at the court of Sulṭān Maḥmūd of Ghazna; besides his qasidas there are mentioned here three of his mathnawīs, viz. خنگ بت و شرح بت, وامق و عذرا, and نهر و عین (which are no longer extant), on fol. 221^b.

562. Al-kādi alimām Ḥamid-al-millāh wa al-dīn 'Umar biu Mahmūd, well known by his مغامات, which have been praised by the poet Anwarī; he flourished under Sulṭān Sanjar, on fol. 223^a.

563. Malik-alkuttāb Rashid-al-din al-Waṭwāt, the well-known poet and chief secretary (صاحب دیوان انشاء) of Atsiz, the Khwārizmshāh (who succeeded his father Kutb-al-din Muḥammad as governor of Khwārizm, A.H. 521 = A.D. 1127, became independent A.H. 535 = A.D. 1140, 1141, and died A.H. 551 = A.D. 1156). When Sulṭān Sanjar captured the fortress of Hazārasp, he was made prisoner and condemned to a painful death but pardoned through the intercession of Muntakhab-al-din (in the following copy Muntajab-al-din, which means practically the same) Badī Kātib, the Sulṭān's secretary; after At-iz' death he served 17 years more under his son and successor Īl Arslan (A.H. 551-567 = A.D. 1156-1172), at whose death he was more than 80 years old. He died, 98 (in the following copy more correctly 97) years old, A.H. 578 (A.D. 1182), and left besides his diwān various prose-works, among them the famous حقائق السیر on the art of poetry, on fol. 223^b, last line.

564. Imām Shams-al-din al-Bākīlāni, contemporary with Khwājeh Nizām-ahmulk, the great wazir of the Saljūqs, on fol. 226^a.

565. Sirāj-al-din, a poet who lived at the court of the Khwārizmshāhs, on fol. 226^a.

ʿUlūkāt and Maimana (near Balkh), on fol. 226^b:

566. Ṣāḥir-al-din Ṭāḥir bin Muḥammad (better known as Ṣāḥir Fāryābī), renowned as poet, astronomer, and philosopher (therefore called by his contemporaries صدر الحكماء); he was first a panegyrist of the kings of Māzandarān, but attached himself afterwards to the Atābegs of Ādharbaijān, Muḥammad bin Īlduguz, the so-called Jahānpahlawān (A.H. 568-582 = A.D. 1172-1186), and his brother and successor Kizil Arslan (A.H. 582-587 = A.D. 1186-1191); at last he fled from the court of the latter and joined that of the Atābeg Abūbākr (i.e. Nuṣrat-al-din Abūbākr, the son of Muḥammad bin Īlduguz). At the end of his life he retired from the world, and died A.H. 592 (so here and in the following copy; the usual and no doubt more correct date is A.H. 598 = A.D. 1201, 1202); he was buried in the cemetery of Surkhāb, in Tabriz, by the side of Khākāni, on fol. 226^b.

Andakḥud (between Balkh and Marw), on fol. 228^a:

567. Sayyid Jamāl-al-din Barakāh (as the following copy adds), the teacher of Amr Timūr Gūrgān, on fol. 228^a.

568. Imām-alajall Iftikḥār-ala'immaḥ Maṣ'ūd bin Muḥammad bin 'Alī, scholar and poet, on fol. 228^a.

569. Mahmūd bin Maṣ'ūd, son of the preceding Shaikh, author of Persian and Arabic works, among which is the زينة الزمان, on fol. 228^a.

Tirmidh, on fol. 228^a:

570. Shaikh Muḥammad 'Alī Hakim, a great Qurān-interpret and traditionist, on fol. 228^b.

571. Abūbākr Warrāk, was acquainted with the Pentateuch, the Psalms, and the Gospels, and wrote verses too, on fol. 228^b.

572. Kidwat-alshu'arā Abū-alḥasan, a poet, known by the name of منجنيك (probably Manjanik), on fol. 228^b.

573. Shihāb-al-din Adīb Ṣābir, one of the most renowned among the earlier poets and favourite of Sulṭān Sanjar; he was drowned in the Oxus by order of Atsiz, whose murderous design against Sanjar the poet had communicated to the latter, A.H. 547 (A.D. 1152, 1153; other tadhkiras give as date A.H. 546, and even 540), on fol. 229^b.

574. Shāh Nāṣir Khwājah, a poet, went at an early age to India; he was the companion of the Khānzamān (i.e. 'Alī Kulikhān) in his rebellious attempt against Akbar (A.H. 974 = A.D. 1567, see No. 411 above), was made prisoner and put to death, on fol. 231^a.

575. Mir Sayyid 'Alī Muṣawwir (the painter), was in the emperor Humāyūn's service and honoured by the epithet of Nādir-ahmulk Humāyūnshāhi; towards the end of his life he undertook the pilgrimage to Makka, and remained there until his death, on fol. 231^a.

Hiṣār-i-Kūhistan (Hiṣār Shādmān in the Ātashkada, Bodleian Cat., col. 287), on fol. 231^a:

576. Maulānā 'Aīshī, who had first the takhalluṣ Miḥnati, which he was requested to exchange for 'Aīshī, when he had the honour of being received among the servants of the Shāhīnshāh (i.e. Akbar), on fol. 231^b.

577. Fathī, a poet, on fol. 231^b.

578. Mailī, who wrote riddles (معما) and occasionally poetry, on fol. 231^b.

Khatlān, with its capital Kūlāb, on fol. 231^b:

579. Maulānā 'Ādili, who wrote the following ta'rikh on the death of Mirzā Sulaimān Badakhshī's wife: بلقيس زمان رفته (= A.H. 985, A.D. 1577), on fol. 231^b.

580. Maulānā Bākī, another poet, on fol. 231^b.

Badakhshān, on fol. 232^a:

581. 'Alī bin Asad, a panegyrist of the kings of Badakhshān, on fol. 232^b.

582. Maulānā Shams-al-din Muḥammad, born according to the حبيب السیر in a place called Anjuman (انجمن), on fol. 232^b.

583. Mirzā Ibrāhīm, the son of Mirzā Sulaimān Badakhshī (see No. 579) and author of a diwān. He was born A.H. 941 = A.D. 1534, 1535 (ta'rikh: نخل اميد بدر), and slain A.H. 967 = A.D. 1559, 1560 (ta'rikh: كو نخل اميد بدر), on fol. 232^b.

584. Muḥammad Kāsimkhān Mauji, a poet, who grew up under the protection of the emperor Humāyūn and was raised at last to the rank of a Khān, on fol. 232^b.

585. Mirzā 'Alibeg or Mirzā 'Alibeg Akbarshāhi, because the emperor Akbar showed great favour to him from the moment of his arrival in India, both on account of his poetical talent and his warlike prowess; he was still alive at the time of the composition of this work, on fol. 233^a.

586. Hāfiẓ Khaṭīb, another poet of the same time, on fol. 233^a.

587. Maulānā Abtari (ابتری), so correct in the following copy; the present one reads both in text and index (تبري), also a poet of Akbar's time, on fol. 233^a.

588. Maulānā Badakhshī, a poet of the same time, on fol. 233^a.

589. Maulānā Niyāzi, likewise under Akbar, whose kindness he badly rewarded by leaving him and going to Gujarāt, where he joined the rebellious Mirzās (see Elphinstone, History of India, 5th ed., p. 504 sq.), after whose fall he was imprisoned for a long time; at last he escaped and stayed in Kābul, where later on he attached himself first to Mirzā Shāhrukh (or better, Shāhrukh Mirzā, the son of Mirzā Ibrāhīm, see No. 583, who after being driven out of his kingdom of Badakhshān which he had wrested from his grandfather Mirzā Sulaimān, see No. 579, in A.H. 983 = A.D. 1575, entered Akbar's service A.H. 993 = A.D. 1585, and commanded the army sent against Kashmir) and then to Mirzā Yūsufkhān (who completed the conquest of that country), with whom he went to Kashmir; in consequence of the rebellion of Yādgār (the nephew of the former king of Kashmir, Yūsufshāh, who in A.H. 1000 = A.D. 1592 raised a rebellion against Akbar, but was very soon slain by some of his own followers), in which he appears to have been implicated, he was arrested and imprisoned, and in A.H. 1002, when this work was composed, he was a prisoner still, on fol. 233^a.

590. Nadīmī, on fol. 233^b.

Kābul, on fol. 233^b:

591. Abū Hanīfah Nu'mān bin Thābit, the Imām-i a'zam (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 21); his father Thābit was a native of Kābul, but had afterwards settled in Kūfah, where Abū Hanīfah was born; he belonged to the Tābi'in, was a friend of Imām Ja'far Ṣādiq and the spiritual guide of Fuḍail bin 'Yyād, Ibrāhīm Adham, Dā'ūd Tā'i, and Bashār Ḥafī (Safinat-alauliyā, Nos. 96, 97, 163, and 171). The dates of his birth and death as well as the length of his life (viz. A.H. 80 and 150 = A.D. 699-767, and 70 years) are contained in the following tarīkh:

سال هشتاد و پنج نژاد - در جهان داد علم فقه بداد
سال عمرش کشید تا هفتاد - در صد و پنجاه اش وفات افتاد
on fol. 234^b.

592. Dīyā-aldin Maḥmūd, on fol. 235^a.

593. Hāji Muḥammad, poet and protégé of the emperor Humāyūn, on fol. 235^b.

594. Maulāu 'Ālim, under Akbar, on fol. 235^b.

595. Wāṣilī, a poet and collector of poetry, on fol. 235^b.

596. Ghagūri, was first attached to Muḥammad Hakīm Mirzā (Akbar's half-brother and governor of Kābul, died A.H. 993 = A.D. 1585), and after his death went to India and entered Akbar's service, and was raised to the rank of yūzباشی; he died before the completion of this work, and left some poetry, on fol. 235^b.

597. Mir Amānī, who fell from his horse and died, A.H. 981 (A.D. 1573, 1574), in Jaunpūr, on fol. 236^a.

598. Khwājahzāda, of great renown in Transoxania and Kābul, on fol. 236^a.

Kashmīr, on fol. 236^a:

599. Yūsufkhān, who completed the conquest of Kashmir for Akbar (see No. 589); he was a good musician and wrote poetry occasionally, on fol. 237^b.

600. Maulānā Mir 'Alī Ṣāirafī, on fol. 237^b.

601. Maulānā Muḥammad Amin Mustaghni, a poet, on fol. 237^b.

602. Shaikh Ya'kūb, Ṣūfī and poet, on fol. 238^a.

603. Maulānā Maẓharī, a good poet, went at an early age to Irān, but returned later to Kashmir and entered, after the conquest of his country by Akbar, the service of this great monarch, who raised him to the rank of Mirbahr, or admiral. At the time of the composition of this work he had retired with a pension and lived in his native country, on fol. 238^a.

604. Hamidī, a poet, on fol. 238^b.

605. Anjī, another poet, on fol. 238^b.

606. Bāhīrī (باهرى), so in the index of this copy; in the text the name has been left out; in the following copy it is distinctly spelt Māhīrī (ماهرى), likewise a poet, on fol. 238^b.

607. Maulānā Nāmi, better known as a grammarian than as a poet, on fol. 239^a.

Gharjistīn, on fol. 239^a:

608. Badī' al-zamān 'Abd-alwāsi' aljabali, a renowned poet, who went from his native mountains to Harāt, and afterwards to Ghazna, where he was patronised by Bahrāmshāh (the Ghaznawide who reigned A.H. 512-547 = A.D. 1118-1152): four years later he gained by a kaṣidah the favour of Sultān Sanjar, when the latter came for Bahrāmshāh's support to Ghazna, and went with him to Marw, on fol. 239^a.

Ghūr, on fol. 240^b:

609. Fakhr-alsādāt wa al'arifin Ḥusain bin Hasan (or as the following copy reads, Ḥasan bin Ḥusain, both wordings being incorrect, the proper designation is Ḥusain bin 'Ālim bin Abi Ḥusain or Ḥasan, see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 154. and Rieu i. p. 40^a) al-Ḥusaini, a great Ṣūfī and poet, who was according to some a pupil of Shaikh Ruku-aldin bin Shaikh Ṣadr-aldin bin Shaikh Bahā-aldin Multānī (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 156; usually the grandfather himself, Bahā-aldin Zakariyyā Multānī Safinat-alauliyā, No. 152, is mentioned as Fakhr-alsādāt Ḥusaini's Pīr), according to others of Shaikh Shihāb-aldin Sulrawardī (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 148). He was the author of the Ṣūfī works: زاد المسافرين, نزهة الأرواح, سرى نامه, كنز الرموز, صراط مستقيم, روح الأرواح, طرب المجالس, and of a diwān of ghazals; he died A.H. 717 (A.D. 1317; others place his death in A.H. 718 or even 719), on fol. 241^a.

610. Malik Shams-aldin, the first of the Kurt kings (who are said by some to be descendants of the Ghūrīdes, by others to be related to Sultān Sanjar; by some again, on the authority of the تأريخ مبارکشاهی (see Rieu iii. p. 1010), to be the offspring of a certain سپور or سپور who came from Khatā and settled in Ghūr; this dynasty ruled altogether 116 years, and was represented by eight kings), contemporary with Abakākhān (who succeeded his father Hūlāgūkhān A.H. 663 = A.D. 1265); his death is fixed here, quite at variance with the usual date (viz. A.H. 676 = A.D. 1278), in A.H. 665, and he is stated to have been poisoned, on fol. 242^a.

611. Malik Shimāl-aldin, a descendant of the Kurt kings, composed some poetry, on fol. 242^a.

Bādaghīs, on fol. 242^b:

612. Hanṭalah (probably correctly Hanṭalah, see Ethé, Rûdagi's Vorläufer und Zeitgenossen, p. 38, No. 1), the only Persian poet under the Tāhirīdes, on fol. 243^a.

Asfīzār (nowadays called Sabzār سبزار, so correctly in the following copy; the present text has wrongly (شیراز), on fol. 243^b:

613. Imâm Rashid-aldin Muḥammad bin Maḥmûd, a poet, on fol. 243^b.

614. Alajall Majd-aldin ibn Rashid al'azizi, likewise a poet, on fol. 243^b.

615. Alajall Mubadhdhib-aldin Sayyid-alkuttâb Maṣṣûr bin 'Alî, a third poet, on fol. 244^a.

Fûshanj, on fol. 244^a:

616. Shaikh Abû-alḥasan, on fol. 244^a.

617. Shaikh Abû-allâth, on fol. 244^a.

618. Maẓhar-aldin, a poet, a rubâ'i of whom is quoted here, on fol. 244^a.

Harât, on fol. 244^b:

619. Abû Isma'îl 'Abdallâh bin Abi-almaṣṣûr Muḥammad al-Anṣârî, the Shaikh-alislâm (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 300), pupil of Shaikh Abû-alḥasan Kharakânî (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 67); besides his Persian and Arabic poetry there are mentioned two renowned works of his, a تفسیر قرآن and the منازل السائرین, on fol. 245^a.

620. Muḥammad Çarkhgar (the cutler), one of the Abdâls, on fol. 245^b.

621. Shaikh 'Ammû (this nickname was given to him by Shaikh Abû-al'abbâs Nahâwandi, see also Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 295), on fol. 245^b.

622. Khwâjah Abû Muḥammad (more correctly in the following copy Abû Aḥmad) Abdâl, see also Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 102), the real founder of the Cîshti order, on fol. 245^b.

623. Abû-alwalîd Aḥmad bin-alraǰâ, many traditions of whom are reported in al-Bukhârî's Ṣaḥîḥ, on fol. 245^b.

624. Abû 'Abdallâh Mukhtâr (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 190), on fol. 245^b.

625. Ajall-alḥakim Sharaf-alzamân Abû-almaḥâsin Abûbâkr Azraqî, the renowned poet; he was one of the confidential friends of the Saljûk ruler of Nishâpûr. Shams-aldaulah wa-aldin Tughânshâh (the nephew of Toghrulbeg and Çakarbeg, who associated with a number of poets of that time, for instance: 'Abdallâh Kurashî, Shujâ' Nasawî, Aḥmad Badihi, Ḥakîkî, Nasimî, and others; this Tughânshâh I, the patron of Azraqî, is not to be confounded with Tughânshâh II (of the same house of Saljûk, who lived in the time of Sultân Sanjar, was for some time ruler of Persia after Sanjar's death, but was defeated and killed by the Khwârizmshâhs, A. H. 581 = A. D. 1185; this latter Tughânshâh was an early patron of Zahir Fârâyâbi). Besides his poetry (mostly qaṣîdas in honour of Tughânshâh), he wrote for the same Sultân a work on sexual intercourse, الفیه وشلعیه, on fol. 246^a.

626. Fakhr-aldin Khâlid, an intimate friend of Sultân Sanjar and a rubâ'i-writer; among the rubâ'is quoted here there is one, composed A. H. 543 = A. D. 1148, when Sanjar after his heavy defeat by Gûrkân, the Karâkhitâ'i ruler, received in Irâk from Bahrâmshâh, his nephew, the welcome news of the conquest of Ghazna and the death of the Glûride Saif-aldin Sûrî, on fol. 247^b.

627. Abû Maṣṣûr 'Abd-alrashîd, also a rubâ'i-writer, on fol. 247^b.

628. 'Abd-alrafi' bin al-Faṭḥ, a poet, friend and companion of Muḥammad Sâ'm (i.e. Shihâb-aldin Muḥammad Ghûrî, who was killed A. H. 602 = A. D. 1206), on fol. 248^a.

629. Abû 'Abdallâh Muḥammad bin Abibâkr bin 'Uthmân al-Imâmi (generally known by his takhalluṣ Imâmi), under Abakâkhân (see No. 610), lived most of his time in Kirmân, and was contemporary with Majd-i-Hamgar, the king of poets of that time; his diwân is still extant, on fol. 248^a.

630. Maulânâ Sa'id, a panegyrist of Khwâjah 'Izz-aldin Tâhir alfarâyûmadî (of Farâyûmad near Sabzwâr, see Rieu ii. p. 752^a and foot-note), the wazîr of Khurâsan under the Sultâns of the Çingizkhâni line; his diwân is still extant, on fol. 248^b.

631. Maulânâ Rukn-aldin, known as Rukn Şâ'in, a contemporary and companion of Amir Muẓaffar (i.e. Mubârîz-aldin Muḥammad al-Muẓaffar, the founder of the Muẓaffari dynasty of Fârs); and also of Shâh Shujâ', his son, who together with his brother Shâh Maḥmûd deposed and blinded his father in A. H. 760 (A. D. 1359). He was also at some time in the service of Tughâ Timûrkân, who reigned in Khurâsan A. H. 737-753 (A. D. 1336-1352), and had the misfortune to be imprisoned by him; his diwân is still extant, on fol. 248^b.

632. Abû-alfadl 'Uthmân, of whom one rubâ'i is quoted, on fol. 249^b.

633. Maṣ'ûdî, a poet, on fol. 249^b.

634. Maulânâ Ḥasanshâh, a poet, who was first attached to Sultân Muḥammad bin Mirzâ Baisunghar (put to death in A. H. 855 = A. D. 1452), on fol. 249^b.

635. Maulânâ Bannâ'i, a contemporary of Mir 'Alishir, whose jealousy he had roused by his clever verses; when he once addressed a qaṣîdah to him and got no reward for it, he substituted the name of Sultân Aḥmad Mirzâ (the son of Abû Sa'id Mirzâ, after whose death in A. H. 873 = A. D. 1469, he ascended the throne of Samarkand) for that of Mir 'Alishir; after which he betook himself to Tabriz and attached himself to Sultân Ya'qûb (i.e. Ya'qûbbeg of the Âk-koynulû dynasty, who reigned A. H. 883-896 = A. D. 1478-1491). After the Sultân's death he returned to Harât, but as Mir 'Alishir was still powerful there, he went to Transoxania and entered the service of the rulers of that country (i.e. of Sultân 'Alî Mirzâ, the son of the above-mentioned Aḥmad Mirzâ); he was killed in Samarkand A. H. 918 (A. D. 1512), on fol. 250^a.

636. Miram Siyâh, a poet (no indication of the time in which he flourished being given here, but from No. 1029 in the Bodleian Cat. it becomes evident that he flourished under Sultân Ḥusain Mirzâ and under Humâyûn, and that he was moreover a pupil of the following Shaikh 'Alîshâh Abdâl), on fol. 251^a.

637. Bâbâ 'Alîshâh, one of the Abdâls of his time, contemporary with Jâmi; he had been for years so wholly absorbed in pious meditations, that all the stirring events in Harât and Khurâsan from the death of Mirzâ Shâhrukh (A. H. 850 = A. D. 1447) to the accession of Sultân Ḥusain Mirzâ (A. H. 873 = A. D. 1469) had passed absolutely unnoticed by him; he wrote occasionally poetry, on fol. 251^a.

638. Shaikh Abû-alwâhid Fârighî, a great Sûfi and occasional poet, on fol. 251^b.

639. Mir Sayyid Muḥammad Jāmabāf (the cloth-weaver), a great rubā'i-writer; he came to India A. H. 969 (A. D. 1561, 1562), found favour with Akbar and died A. H. 973 (A. D. 1565, 1566); the ta'rikh on his death is میر رباعی سفر نمود, on fol. 251^b.

640. Mir Dauri, was kâtib-almulk (imperial secretary) under Akbar, and a great calligrapher, on fol. 252^a.

641. Šālīh, a munshi of Akbar's time, and likewise a great calligrapher, on fol. 252^a.

642. Ghazālī جنک (correctly according to A. Sprenger, Catal. p. 45, No. 648 جنک Junbak, who died A. H. 967=A. D. 1559, 1560), great in poetical contests and munāzarāt, on fol. 252^b.

643. Nūrī, the grandson of Maulānā Ḥasanshāh (see No. 634), renowned by his jests and pleasantries, on fol. 252^b.

644. Maulānā Khâtīmī, came after long wanderings to India; he afterwards resolved upon performing the pilgrimage, but died on his way to Makkah, on fol. 252^b.

645. Maulānā Fath-allāh, contemporary with Maulānā Mushfiḳī (probably Mushfiḳī Bukhārī, who was born A. H. 945=A. D. 1538, 1539; see A. Sprenger, Catal. p. 508), with whom he had continual contests, on fol. 253^a.

646. Maulānā Ānī, lived nearly 60 years in Kashmir, on fol. 253^a.

647. Mir Amānī, a good poet, who spent most of his time in Kābul, on fol. 253^a.

648. Maulānā Faḳī, a poet, who was, like the following four poets, still alive at the time of the composition of this work, on fol. 253^a.

649. Maḳṣūd Tirgar (the arrow-maker), on fol. 253^b.

650. Shādi Rammāl (the soothsayer), on fol. 253^b.

651. Zulālī, on fol. 253^b.

652. Ismī, on fol. 253^b.

Bākhars (between Nishāpūr and Harāt), with its dependency Tābyād, on fol. 253^b:

653. Maulānā Zain-al-dīn Abūbākr Tābyādi (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 351), on fol. 253^b.

654. Shaikh Saif-al-dīn Bākhari, a pupil of Shaikh Najm-al-dīn Kubrā (Safinat-alauliyā, Nos. 127 and 124), who appointed him afterwards his Khālifāh and sent him to Bukhārā; according to some he died A. H. 648=A. D. 1250 (the usual date of his death is A. H. 657 or 658=A. D. 1259 or 1260); he lived in the time of Hūlāgūkhān (who became sole master of Persia A. H. 654, and died A. H. 663=A. D. 1256-1265) or in that of Mangū Kā'ān, Hūlāgū's elder brother (who died A. H. 654=A. D. 1256), which comes practically to the same thing. Mangū Kā'ān's mother, who was a Christian, is said to have founded a madrasah in Bukhārā and to have made Saif-al-dīn governor of that institution; a number of verses from his كلمات العبد سب are quoted here, on fol. 253^b.

655. Abū-alkāsim 'Alī bin al-Ḥusain (in the following copy bin al-Hasan) bin Abī al-Tayyib, was first secretary to Sultān Rukn-al-dīn Toghrilbeg (who died A. H. 455=A. D. 1063), but afterwards retired from the world, on fol. 254^a.

656. Tāj-al-dīn Isma'il, a poet, on fol. 254^b.

Khawāf, on fol. 254^b:

657. Shāh-i-Sanjān, i.e. Rukn-al-dīn Maḥmūd, a pupil of Khwājah Maudūd Cīstī (Safinat-alauliyā, Nos. 107 and 105), a great Šūfi and rubā'i-writer, on fol. 255^b.

658. Shaikh Zain-almillāh wa-al-dīn, on fol. 256^a.

659. Amir Kiwām-al-dīn, on fol. 256^a.

660. Khwājah Ghiyāth-al-dīn Pir Aḥmad, who was for 40 years wazīr of Mirzā Shāhrukh, and afterwards wazīr of Mirzā 'Alā-aldaulah (Shāhrukh's grandson and successor in Harāt A. H. 850=A. D. 1447) and his brother Sultān Muḥammad (who was defeated and put to death by another of his brothers, Bābar. A. H. 855=A. D. 1452); he died in the reign of Mirzā Bābar (A. H. 853-861=A. D. 1449-1457), on fol. 256^a.

661. Khwājah Majd-al-dīn Muḥammad, son of the preceding Khwājah, was first munshi under Sultān Abū Sa'id Mirzā (the son of Sultān Muḥammad Mirzā, reigned A. H. 854-873=A. D. 1450-1469) and afterwards wazīr of Sultān Ḥusain Mirzā (Abū Sa'id Mirzā's successor, A. H. 873-911=A. D. 1469-1506), on fol. 256^a.

662. Maulānā Majd, author of the روضة الخلد, an imitation of Sa'di's Gulistan, and of a versified adaptation of the جواهر اللغة by Jār-allāh 'Allamah (Zamakhshari?), on fol. 256^b.

663. Maulānā Muẓaffar, under Malik Ghiyāth-al-dīn Kurt (probably Ghiyāth-al-dīn II, the last of the Kurt dynasty who reigned over Harāt, Ghūr, etc., A. H. 771-783=A. D. 1370-1381, and was defeated and put to death by Timūr); after a quarrel with Ghiyāth-al-dīn he stayed for some time at the court of Shāh Shujā' the Muẓaffaride (A. H. 760-786=A. D. 1359-1384), but afterwards returned to Harāt; he was called the second Khāḳāni on account of his great poetical genius, but is said to have thrown his diwān into the water shortly before his death, because no one after him would be able to estimate his poetry at its full value, on fol. 256^b.

664. Kiwāmi, a poet, on fol. 257^a.

665. Khwājah Majd-al-dīn, another poet, on fol. 257^a.

666. Kāsimi, lived some time in Harāt and went then to Sīstān, where he gained the favour of the kings of that country; he also fell in there with Maulānā Wali (probably the poet Wali Dasht Bayādi), who showed him great respect; he died in Farāh, on fol. 257^a.

Jām, on fol. 257^b:

667. Shaikh-al-Islām Aḥmad Jāmi (i.e. Aḥmad Nāmaki, see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 308), father of Shaikh Zuhūr-al-dīn (in the Safinat-alauliyā Zahir-al-dīn) 'Isā, who in his رموز الحقائق gives an account of his father's life. Aḥmad Jāmi left 39 sons and 3 daughters, and wrote 14 important Šūfic works, among which are particularly renowned: رساله سمرقندی, انس النائبين, بحار الحقيقه, مفتاح النجات, سراج السائرين, and a book of poetry (كتاب اشعار); these books are still extant and enjoy a wide circulation among the Šūfis; all his other writings have been lost, on fol. 257^b.

668. Pūrbahā, was in his younger years a pupil of Khwājah Wajih-al-dīn Tāhir Farūmadi, and obtained afterwards the favour of the Šāhib-diwān or prime-minister Khwājah Shams-al-dīn Muḥammad (the same wazīr of Hūlāgū and Hūlāgū's successors, to whom Sa'di dedicated his کتاب صاحبیه and who was executed A. H. 683=A. D. 1284 under Arghūnkhān, the son of Abakākhān and grandson of Hūlāgūkhān, who reigned from A. H. 683 to 690=A. D. 1284-1291; he was a good poet, on fol. 258^a.

669. Imām-alajall Nizām-al-din al-Kitāb (al-Kitābī?), wrote poetry also, on fol. 258^b.

670. Maulānā Nūr-al-din 'Abd-alrahmān Jāmi, the last great classical poet of Persia, whose death is fixed here in A. H. 899 (contrary to the usual date 898=A. D. 1492; see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 90); he reached the age of 81 years, which has been expressed by the word کاس (synonymous with جام) in a ta'rīkh by Maulānā 'Abd-alghafūr Lāri (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 91); he was a pupil of Shaikh Sa'd-almillāh wa al-din Kāshghari. His grandfather Maulānā Shams-al-din Muḥammad Dashtī had migrated from Dasht, near Iṣfahān, to Jām, on fol. 258^b.

671. Maulānā 'Abdallāh Hātifi, the nephew of Jāmi and renowned epic poet, who died A. H. 927=A. D. 1521 (ta'rīkh شاه شاعران); extracts are given here from three of his mathnawis, viz. the ظفرنامه تیموری, the هفت منظر, and the خسرو و شمرین, on fol. 260^a.

672. Maulānā Dhaūqī, a poet, on fol. 260^b.

Tarbat, with its dependences Zāra and Junaid, on fol. 260^b.

673. Shaikh Kuṭb-al-din Haidar, the founder of the Haidari order, called the Shāh of the Abdāl (شاه ابدالان); Shāh-i-Sanjān (No. 657) wrote a famous rubā'i about him; he died (or, as is stated here, mysteriously disappeared) in A. H. 618 (A. D. 1221), on fol. 260^b.

674. Abū 'Abdallāh Muḥammad bin 'Abdallāh al-Junaidi, a poet, on fol. 261^a.

675. Shams-al-din Junaidi, another poet, on fol. 261^a.

676. Riyāḍi, one of the famous poets of the time of Sulṭān Ḥusain Mirzā, whose exploits he celebrated in an epic poem; when Shāh Isma'il Ṣafawi conquered Khurāsān, he fixed this event by the highly complimentary ta'rīkh, امیر المؤمنین حیدر علی ابن ابی طالب (=A. H. 918, A. D. 1512); he attached himself to the latter Shāh and commenced an epic poem on his conquests also (comp. Rieu iii, p. 1074, where his death is fixed in A. H. 921=A. D. 1515), on fol. 261^a.

677. Fardī, imitated Hāfiẓ for some time, and became at last blind; he also attempted an imitation of the مخزن الاسرار, on fol. 261^b.

678. Nawidi, on fol. 261^b.

679. Zuhūri, on fol. 261^b.

680. Mir Ḥusain Kufri, a good Shikasta-writer and poet, on fol. 261^b.

681. Maulānā Sulṭān Ḥusain, a clever man and occasional poet, on fol. 262^a.

Mashhad-i-mukaddas (formerly Tās), on fol. 262^a.

682. Aḥmad bin Masrūk, one of the Akṭāb (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 206, where he is called Aḥmad bin Muḥammad bin Masrūk), on fol. 262^a.

683. Abū Naṣr Ṣarrāj (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 271), called the طوبوس الغفران, on fol. 262^a.

684. Ma'shūk Tūsi, one of the demented sages (از عقلای مجانس) who never prayed; he was contemporary with Abū Sa'd (probably Abū Sa'd bin Abū-alkhair, Safinat alauliyā, No. 294), on fol. 262^a.

685. Shaikh Abūbakr bin 'Abdallāh al-Nassāj (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 120), one of the companions (respectively pupils) of Abū-alkāsim Gurgāni (who died A. H. 450=A. D. 1058, Safinat-alauliyā, No. 71), on fol. 262^b.

686. Hujjat-alislām Muḥammad bin Aḥmad (correctly, bin Muḥammad) al-Ghazālī (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 303), a Shāfi'ite, who studied under the Imām-alḥaramain Abū-alma'ālī Juwainī (died A. H. 478, Rabi'-alākhar=A. D. 1085, August); the great wazīr Nizām-al-mulk appointed him professor in the مدرسة نظامیه; later on he renounced the world and gave himself up to divine speculations only. In Sūfic lore he had as teacher Abū 'Alī Fārmadī (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 72); he made the pilgrimage to Makkah and Madinah, stayed on his return from the holy places some time in Damascus and wrote there the two renowned works, جوامع القرآن and احياء علوم الدين, went afterwards to Jerusalem and from thence to Egypt; on his return to Tūs he founded there a madrasah and a Sūfic convent, and died A. H. 505 (A. D. 1111); he is stated here to have written 999 works, on fol. 262^b.

687. Shaikh Aḥmad Ghazālī, brother of the preceding Hujjat-alislām (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 121) and pupil of Abūbakr Nassāj (see No. 685); he wrote many risālas, one of which is entitled سوانح, and has suggested to Shaikh Fakhr-al-din 'Irāqī (who died A. H. 688=A. D. 1289; see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 153) the main lines on which he composed his famous لمعات, on fol. 262^b.

688 and 689. Abū 'Abdallāh Targhndī (ترغمدی) and Bābā Maḥmūd Tūsi, two holy men, whose lives are fully described in the تغیبات, on fol. 263^a.

690. Khwājah Nizām-al-mulk, the great wazīr of the Saljūq kings Alp Arslan and Malikshah, who was assassinated by a follower of Hasan Ṣabbāh in Ramaḍān A. H. 485 (A. D. 1092, October); the news of his death reached Malikshah in Baghdād the 24th of Ramaḍān, he handed the wazīrship over to Khwājah Tāj-al-mulk and went hunting; but on the 3rd of Shawwāl he fell ill, returned to Baghdād, and died there about the middle of that month (only 18 days after Nizām-al-mulk's assassination, as is stated here; but that is evidently incorrect; it may have been only 18 days after Malikshah was informed of the death of his wazīr); some verses of Nizām-al-mulk are quoted here, on fol. 263^a.

691. Firdausī, with his real name Abū-alkāsim Manṣūr, son of Fakhr-al-din Aḥmad, born in Shādāb, near Tūs, the immortal author of the Shāhnāma (some particulars given here with regard to the poet's life, and a number of short lyrical poems quoted here, have been published in text and translation in Ethé's 'Firdūsī als Lyriker,' Sitzungsberichte der Münchener Academie, philos.-philol. Classe, 1873, pp. 628 sq. and 632), on fol. 264^a.

692. Asadi, usually designated as Firdausī's teacher and as author of the Garshāsp-nāma (but comp. Bodleian Cat. No. 507), on fol. 265^b.

693. Khwājah Manṣūr (in the index Abū Manṣūr), was in the service of the Amīr Khudāidād and wrote occasionally poetry, on fol. 266^b.

694. Maulānā Sulṭān 'Alī, a great calligrapher and occasional poet; in calligraphy he was the pupil of Maulānā Aẓhar, whose teacher Ja'far had been, the disciple of Mir 'Alī Tabrizī, who laid the foundation of the Naskh-Ta'lik; Sultân 'Ali had many disciples, among them Maulânâ 'Alâ-aldîn, Maulânâ Sultân Muḥammad Khandân, Maulânâ Sultân Muḥammad Nûr, Kalandar Kâtib, and Maulânâ Zain-aldîn Maḥmûd, who was the teacher again of Maulânâ Mir 'Ali (comp. on several of these calligraphers Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1896 and 1900; Maulânâ Sultân 'Ali died A. H. 919 = A. D. 1513; Maulânâ Mir 'Ali, usually called Mir 'Ali al-Kâtib, died A. H. 950 = A. D. 1543; Mir 'Ali Tabrizi, son of Ilyâs, was a contemporary of Kamâl Khujandî, who died A. H. 803 = A. D. 1400, 1401, and made a fine copy of three of Khwâjû Kirmânî's mathnawîs in A. H. 798 = A. D. 1396, see Rieu ii. pp. 621^b and 622^a), on fol. 267^a.

695. Maulânâ 'Abd-alṣamad, likewise calligrapher and poet; a copy of Jâmi's diwân is from his pen, on fol. 267^a.

696. Mirzâ Aṣḡhar, a poet, on fol. 267^a.

697. Maulânâ Mânî, a favourite of Abû-alḥasan Mirzâ, the son of Sultân Ḥusain Mirzâ Baikarâ, and a good poet, on fol. 267^a.

698. Ashrafkhân Muushî, calligrapher and occasional poet, on fol. 267^b.

699. Aḥmad Mirak Ṣâliḥî, went in his youth to 'Irâq and attached himself afterwards to Shâh Ṭahmâsp Ṣafawî (who reigned A. H. 930-984 = A. D. 1524-1576); at last he rose to the dignity of a wazir of his native province of Mashhad, on fol. 267^b.

700. Muḥammad Mirak Ṣâliḥî, brother of Aḥmad Mirak, and a good poet, on fol. 268^a.

701. Maulânâ Ghazâlî, went first to the Dakhan and became then a companion of 'Ali Kulikhân, the Khanzâmân; he stayed with him a considerable time and composed during that period a mathnawî, نفس بدیع; after the Khanzâmân had been slain by Akbar's troops (A. H. 974 = A. D. 1567) he became a favourite of Akbar himself and was raised to the rank of king of poets; he died in Aḥmadâbâd, in Gujarât, and was buried there in a place called Sarkîḥ (the ta'rikh for his death is: مرگ اکبر آباد خاک سرکس = A. H. 980, A. D. 1572). He was born, according to Rieu ii. p. 661^b, A. H. 936 (A. D. 1529, 1530). His diwân and his mathnawîs contain altogether 70,000 verses, and he wrote besides the following pre-works: مرآت الکائنات, رشحات الحیات, اسرار مکتوم, on fol. 268^a.

702. Maulânâ Ibn 'Ali, with the takhalluṣ Wâkîfî, was some time governor of the Dakhan, on fol. 269^a.

703. Shaikh Rubâ'î, a good writer in verse and prose, on fol. 269^b.

704. Mir 'Arabshâh, wrote occasionally poetry, on fol. 269^b.

705. Mir Bâkir (in the following copy Mir Bâkî), also composer of some poetry, on fol. 269^b.

706. Maulânâ 'Abd-alfalî Najâtî, a poet, on fol. 269^b.

707. Darwish Nizâm, a rubâ'î-writer, on fol. 270^a.

708. Kâsim Arslân, calligrapher, ta'rikh-writer, and poet, on fol. 270^a.

709. Muḥammad Hâshim Mardumî, a poet, on fol. 270^a.

710. Maulânâ Muḥammad Ridâ, a poet, on fol. 270^a.

711. Akdasi, author of a Sâkinâma and other poetry, on fol. 270^b.

712. Taḳî Pirzâda, author of a famous rubâ'î, on fol. 270^b.

713. Mir 'Azmi, who composed some sweet verses, on fol. 270^b.

714. Nisbatî, lived most of his time in Tabriz, and wrote some pleasant poetry, on fol. 271^a.

715. Mir 'Arab, with the takhalluṣ Badîlî, on fol. 271^a.

716. Ufatî, quite a young poet at the time when this work was written, on fol. 271^a.

717. Nâdirî, a poet, who came two years before the composition of this work for a short time to India, but nobody knows where he is gone to since, on fol. 271^a.

Nishâpûr, on fol. 271^a:

718. Abû Ḥafṣ Haddâd (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 184), on fol. 271^b.

719. 'Uthmân Hîrî (correctly Abû 'Uthmân Hîrî, see the next line in this and the following copy, and Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 205), a great Sûfî; it is said that there have been four men quite unequalled in mystic lore, viz. Abû 'Uthmân in Nishâpûr, Junaid in Baghdâd, (No. 40 above), Abû 'Abdallâh bin al-Jallâ in Syria (No. 47 above), and 'Abdallâh in Rai, on fol. 272^a.

720. Ḥamdûn Kaṣṣâr (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 188), on fol. 272^a.

721. Abû 'Ali Daḡḡâk (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 283), contemporary with Amir 'Ali, the governor of Kirmân, who once asked him for advice, on fol. 272^a.

722. Abû-alkâsim Naṣrâbâdî, or, as in the text here, Naṣrâbâdî (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 267), on fol. 272^a.

723. Aḥmad Harb, who enjoyed such a reputation as a saint, that Yahyâ bin Ma'âdh Râzî (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 183) stipulated in his last will, that when he died his head should be laid on the foot of that great Shaikh, on fol. 272^a.

724. Abû Muḥammad Murta'ish (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 227), on fol. 272^b.

725. Abû Ḥamzah, contemporary with Junaid, as it seems, on fol. 272^b.

726. Abûbâkr Farrâ (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 265), on fol. 272^b.

727. Abû 'Umar (in the following copy Abûbâkr) Zanjid, another renowned Shaikh, on fol. 272^b.

728-732. Amir Nishâpûrî, Khâlûî Nishâpûrî, Ḥusain bin Muḥammad al-Sullamî, Shaikh Abû 'Abd-ahrahmân Sullamî (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 284), and Shaikh Abû 'Ali Thakafî (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 226), five other great saints whose biographies are found in the نقبات الأنس, on fol. 272^b.

733. Shaikh Farid-aldin 'Attâr, the great mystic poet, who got his first tuition, according to the مجالس العشاق, from Shaikh Kuṭb-aldin Ḥaidar (No. 673), to whom he afterwards dedicated his حيدر نامه; later on he spent some time with Shaikh Rukn-aldin Kâf, then made the pilgrimage, and became afterwards a pupil of Shaikh Majd-aldin Baghdâdî, from whom he received his investiture. He was born A. H. 513 (A. D. 1119) under Sultân Sanjar and put to death during the general massacre of the inhabitants of Nishâpûr by the Moghuls of Çingizkhân, A. H. 627 (A. D. 1230; another date, given by some biographers, viz. A. H. 619, is evidently incorrect), 114 years old. His mathnawîs are said to contain upwards of 120,000 baits, his diwân, containing qasidas, ghazals, and rubâ'is, 40,000 baits. Of his mathnawîs (he is reputed here to have written 40 of them) there are mentioned here: مصيبت نامه, اسرار نامه, الهي نامه,

- وصيت نامه (in the following copy وصلت نامه, both titles being correct, as there are two distinct mathnawis, 'the book of the last will,' and 'the book of union,' by 'Attâr, see Bodleian Cat., No. 624, 6 and 17), بلبل نامه, جواهر نامه (perhaps identical with the جواهر or حقائق الجواهر, see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 348, which is, however, not a mathnawi, but a collection of kashidas and tarji'bands), ولد خسرو نامه, بيسر نامه, (otherwise جواهر الذات, اشترى نامه, حيدر نامه, جواهر ذات, or more correctly still جواهر ذات, comp. Rieu ii. p. 576^b sq., and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 780 and foot-note), مظهر العجائب (wrongly styled in the extracts given further below مظهر آثار).
 گل و هرمز, منطق الطير (probably the same poem that is usually styled خسرو و گل و خسرو, an abstract of the above-mentioned خسرو نامه, which relates the love adventures of Gul and Hurmuz, see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 352, and Rieu ii. p. 576^b), and شرح القلب (in the following copy with the silly title of شرح الكلب). In the verses quoted from the poet's mathnawis there are also found extracts from the لسان الغيب which is not mentioned in this list. Of 'Attâr's prose-works appear here the تذكرة الاوليا and اخوان الصفا (the latter probably identical with the alleged mathnawi, شرح الفلب, as A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 348, mentions a prose-work of 'Attâr with the title of اخوان الصفا), on fol. 272^b.
 734. Imâm-ala'imah Muhammad bin Yahyâ, who was frequently consulted by Sultân Sanjar, on fol. 277^a.
 735. Imâm-al'alam Muhammad bin Ahmad bin Mahmûd; when Sultân Sanjar marched to Ghazna to chastise Bahrâmshâh, the latter sent the Imâm as ambassador to him, who succeeded, by some clever verses, in quieting the anger of Sanjar; among the Imâm's works are the تفسير بصائر يعنى, the رأى آرى (a translation of غرر و سير), and صحيفة الاقبال (a controversy between sword and pen), on fol. 277^b.
 736. Muhammad bin 'Abdallâh, known as Ibn al-mukanna' (ابن المفتح), in the following copy Ibn almani' (ابن المنيع), made great travels and wrote many works, among them a صحاح, on fol. 277^b.
 737. Muslim bin Hajjâj al-Kushairi, the author of the great collection of traditions, styled صحيح (or الجامع الصحيح), which rivals in every respect Al-Bukhârî's better-known work of the same title; Muslim died A.H. 261=A.D. 875; Al-Bukhârî A.H. 256=A.D. 870), on fol. 278^a.
 738. Shaikh Abû Naṣr Isma'il bin Hammâd al-Jauhari, the famous lexicographer and author of the صحاح or صحاح اللغة (died A.H. 393=A.D. 1002), on fol. 278^a.
 739. Shaikh Ishak bin Râhûyah Hanẓali (or perhaps Hanẓali; the present copy also adds Tha'labi to the name, which properly belongs to the following Shaikh), who knew 70,000 traditions by heart, on fol. 278^a.
 740. Abû Ishak Ahmad Tha'labi, here represented as author both of a Kūrân-commentary (the تفسير and of the قصص الانبياء, or the oldest among the more or less fabulous histories of the prophets (in Nos. 739 and 740 there may possibly be some confusion between two or three different writers; for the author of the قصص الانبياء is in the best copies of that work distinctly called Ishak bin Ibrâhim bin Mansûr bin Khalaf of Nishâpûr, see No. 590 in this Cat.; Rieu i. p. 143; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 978, etc.; on the other hand, Beale in the Oriental Biogr. Dictionary, p. 13^b, styles him Abû Ishak Ahmad or Abû Ishak Ibrâhim bin Isma'il, and evidently identifies him with Abû Ishak Tha'labi, as he fixes his death in A.H. 427=A.D. 1036), on fol. 278^a.

741. Abû-alma'âlî Mas'ûd bin Muḥammad, author of the كتاب الهادي, on fol. 278^a.

742. Muḥammad bin Musayyab الاربعاني (in the following copy الاربعاني, in the index of the present copy الاعباني Ala'yâni), on fol. 278^a.

743. Muḥammad bin Ibrâhim Faḳih, on fol. 278^a.

744. Abû-alhasan 'Alî bin Ahmad, author of an elementary and an intermediate commentary on the Kūrân. (correctly تفسير بسيط ووسطا), and of an explanation of the names of God (شرح اسماء الله), on fol. 278^a.

745. 'Abd-almalik (i.e. Abû Mansûr 'Abd-almalik bin Muḥammad bin Isma'il al-Tha'âlibi, who was born A.H. 350=A.D. 961, and died A.H. 429=A.D. 1038), the author of the يتيمة الدهر, on fol. 278^a.

746. Ustâd-ala'imnah Radî-al-din, a great legal authority and panegyrist of Kiliġ Tamghâjkhân of Turkistân, who resided in Samarkand (about A.H. 558=A.D. 1163, see Rieu iii. p. 1093^b); he generally used Banda as takhallus (in Beale's Oriental Biogr. Dictionary, p. 224^b, his death is fixed in A.H. 598=A.D. 1202), on fol. 278^a.

747. Malik-al-shu'arâ Iftikhâr-alsâdât Amir Mu'izzi, the court-poet of Sultân Malikshâh (A.H. 465-485=A.D. 1072-1092) and Sultân Sanjar, who conferred upon him the rank of a king of poets. His father Burhân had been a court-poet of Alp Arslân (A.H. 455-465=A.D. 1063-1072). Amir Mu'izzi was introduced to Malikshâh by the Amir 'Alî (i.e. Ali bin Farâmurz, the ruler of Yazd, see Rieu ii. p. 552^b, here called the Sultân's son-in-law; in reality he was the brother-in-law of Alp Arslân); he was killed by a stray arrow from Sanjar's bow (A.H. 542=A.D. 1147); his diwân comprises more than 15,000 baits, on fol. 280^a.

748. Sayyid-alajall Sadr-al-din, author of the تاريخ مباركشاهى (not تاريخ مبارکشاهى, as the present copy wrongly reads), and poet, on fol. 282^b.

749. Imâm Shams-al-din Muḥammad al-Dhâti, a poet, on fol. 282^b.

750. Hujjat-alhakḳ Imâm 'Umar Khayyâm, the great astronomer, freethinker, and rubâ'i-writer, on fol. 282^b.

751. Shâhfür, a renowned Inshâ'-writer under Sultân Jalâl-al-din (the Khwârizmshâh who reigned from A.H. 617=A.D. 1221, or according to Rieu ii. p. 581^a, A.H. 621=A.D. 1224, to A.H. 628=A.D. 1230, 1231) and author of a work on letter-writing and correspondence, styled رسالة شاهقوری, on fol. 283^b.

752. Khabbāzi (otherwise and probably more correctly called Khabbāz, see Ethé, Rûdagi's Vorläufer, etc., No. 11), baker and poet, under the Sāmānides, on fol. 283^b.

753. Kâtibi, the well-known poet, was first in the service of Shâhrukh Mirzâ's son Baisunghar Mirzâ (who died A.H. 837=A.D. 1434), but, disappointed there, went to Shirwân, and remained for some years at the court of Amir Ibrâhim, the ruler of that country; he fell at last a victim to the plague at Astarâbâd (A.H. 838 or 839=A.D. 1434 or 1435; see a fuller biographical account in Rieu ii. p. 637, and A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 457-458; see also on his poetical works Bodleian Cat., Nos. 867-870), on fol. 283^b.

754. Ibn Jalâl, wrote poetry occasionally, on fol. 285^a.

755. Jalâl-aldin Tabib, physician and poet under the Muẓaffaris (died A.H. 795=A.D. 1393, see Bodleian Cat., No. 855), on fol. 285^a.

756. Maulânâ Lutf-allâh, a good writer in verse and prose and a renowned Şûfi, on fol. 285^a.

757. Saifi, a poet, on fol. 285^b.

758. Kûnburi, a panegyrist of Mirzâ Bâbar (comp. No. 660), on fol. 285^b.

759. Maulânâ Amir Ḥusain, contemporary with Jâmi, a great composer of riddles and author of a رساله در فن معنی (or as it is usually called رساله في المعنی, see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1353-1356; Amir Ḥusain bin Muḥammad alḥusain died A.H. 904=A.D. 1498, 1499); the first riddle quoted here is on the name of Muḥammad Mu'min Mirzâ, on fol. 286^a.

760. Mirzâkhân, wrote poetry occasionally, on fol. 286^a.

761. Khwâjah Ḥusain Thanâ'i (in the text here wrongly spelt سنائی), seems to be identical with the well-known poet Ḥusain Thanâ'i, who is called Mash-hadi in most tadhkiras and died A.H. 996=A.D. 1588 (see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1045-1049); he was chiefly renowned by his ḡasidas, in one of which, quoted here, he praises Khwâjah or Shâh Maṣṣûr, who is no doubt Akbar's wazir Shâh Maṣṣûr Shirâzi (put to death on account of alleged correspondence with Akbar's rebellious brother Mirzâ Muḥammad Ḥakim, A.H. 989=A.D. 1581), on fol. 286^a.

762. Muhammad Mu'uin, a good musician and poet, on fol. 287^b.

763. Mir Muḥammad Sharif Wuḡû'i, a good poet, went to India and attached himself first to Shihâb-aldin Aḥmadkhân and after his death to the Sipahsâlâr 'Abd-alraḥim Khânkhânân (the translator of Babar's memoirs, see Nos. 216-218 in this Cat.); later on he entered the service of Akbar, on fol. 287^b.

764. Maulânâ Nazîrî, another poet of Akbar's time, who had come to India and entered, like the preceding poet, the service of the Khânkhânân 'Abd-alraḥimkhân; he was (probably at the time when this work was written) contemplating a pilgrimage to Makkah (which he carried out, according to later tadhkiras, in A.H. 1012=A.D. 1603, 1604, see Rieu ii. p. 817^b), on fol. 288^a.

765. Mir Şaifi (in the following copy, Mir Şafi), was for years police-superintendent (محتسب) of Kirmân, on fol. 289^b.

766. Nûrî (in the following copy Nawidî), wrote, like the preceding Mir Şaifi or Şafi, poetry occasionally, on fol. 289^b.

767. Dânalî, wrote poetry in his native dialect (the dialect of Nishâpûr), on fol. 289^b.

768. Âgahî, another dialectical poet, on fol. 290^a.
Sabzwâr, on fol. 290^a:

769. Amir Yamin-aldin Tughrâ'i, originally of Turkistân, settled in Faryûmad in Khurâsân and became a friend of Khwâjah 'Alâ-aldin Muḥammad, who was in the time of Sultân Abû Sa'id (i.e. Sultân Abû Sa'id Bahâdurkhân Ilkhâni, the son and successor of Sultân Muḥammad Khudâbanda, who reigned A.H. 716-736=A.D. 1316-1335) wazir of Faryûmad, on fol. 291^a.

770. Amir Maḥmûd bin Amir Yamin-aldin, commonly known as Ibn Yamin, the son of the preceding Amir and a famous ḡiṭâh-writer (he died A.H. 745=A.D. 1344, 1345, see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 790-792), on fol. 291^a.

771. Amir Shâhî, a descendant of the minor dynasty of the Sarbadârs, was attached to Mirzâ Baisunghar, the son of Mirzâ Shâhrukh (comp. No. 753), and in great favour with him; he also received his ancestral estates back through his patron's kindness; his diwân, comprising 1000 baits, is still extant, on fol. 291^a.

772. Amir Sultân Maṣ'ûd, son of Amir Shams-aldin 'Alî, who was himself a grandson of Amir Shams-aldin 'Alî alnaḡib alnaḡafi alkûfi; his mother was the granddaughter of Sultân Abû Sa'idkhân's cousin Mirzâ Maḥmûd Khwâjah (belonging, like the elder Amir Shams-aldin, to the Mukhtârî order of mystic shaikhs, who traced their genealogy back to the Imâm Zain-al'âbidin); Shams-aldin 'Alî II (Maṣ'ûd's father) had succeeded in making himself master of a vast territory in Sabzwâr, and when 'Ubaid-allâhkhân, the Uzbek ruler, took possession of Harât (A.H. 943, 27th of Şafar=A.D. 1536, Aug. 15, see Rieu iii. p. 1089^b), and the whole of Khurâsân paid homage to him, Shams-aldin alone refused to do so; after 'Ubaid-allâh's defeat by Shâh Tahmâsp in the same year 943, the latter conferred the title of Sultân upon Shams-aldin and formally assigned the territory of Sabzwâr to him; Amir Sultân Maṣ'ûd wrote poetry occasionally, on fol. 291^b.

773. Amir Muḥammad Kaskani, devoted himself to a religious life and wrote some poetry, on fol. 292^a.

774. Amir Ḥusain Kudsi Karbalâ'i, whose father had migrated from Karbalâ to Khurâsân and settled in Sabzwâr; Amir Ḥusain himself went, towards the end of his life, to Harât in consequence of a favour shown to him by the governor of that place, Muḥammadkhân; he wrote some pretty verses, on fol. 292^b.

775. Mir 'Alî 'Arab Fikri, brother of the preceding Amir; only a few verses are preserved of him, on fol. 292^b.

776. Nawâ'i, nephew of Amir Ḥusain Karbalâ'i (on his brother's side) and writer of verses, who went to India and found favour with Akbar, on fol. 293^a.

777. Figârî, another nephew of Amir Ḥusain Karbalâ'i (on his sister's side), also a poet, on fol. 293^a.

778. Shuhûdî, a poet, on fol. 293^a.

779. Muḥammad Taḡî, likewise a poet, on fol. 293^a.

780. Kâni, was at the time when this work was composed, in the service of 'Abd-alraḥim Khânkhânân

(see Nos. 763 and 764); he wrote poetry too, on fol. 293^b.

781. Kamāl Afṣaḥ, a good ḡaṣidah-writer, on fol. 293^b.

782. Ḥāji Kamāl, contemporary with Kamālī Afṣaḥ, to whom he addressed a rubā'i, on fol. 294^a.

783. Nāṭiqī, a good writer in verse and prose, on fol. 294^a.

784. Haidari, on fol. 294^a.

785. Sayyid Muḥammad, on fol. 294^a.

Asfarī'n, on fol. 294^a:

786. Shaikh Nūr-al-dīn 'Abd-alraḥmān, contemporary with and Pir of Shaikh Rukn-al-dīn 'Alā-aldaulah Simnāni (Safinat-alauliyā, Nos. 131 and 132), on fol. 294^a.

787. Alṣadr alajall 'Imād-al-dīn Mu'ayyad bin Aḥmad Kātib, of whom a rubā'i has been preserved, on fol. 294^b.

788. Shaikh Ādhuri or Ādhari, with his real name Hamzah, son of Khwājah 'Alī Malik, who was a man of importance under the Sarbadārjians in Asfarā'in (comp. Nos. 709-711 in this Cat.); Ādhuri rose to the rank of a king of poets in the reign of Shāhrukh; when he afterwards renounced the world and gave himself up to a religious life, he became first a pupil of Shaikh Muḥyi-al-dīn Ṭūsī and then of Sayyid Nīmat-allāh Walī, from whom he received his investiture. He then made extensive travels, performed the pilgrimage and went to India, where he stayed some time at the court of Sultān Aḥmadshāh Bahmanī (i.e. Shihāb-al-dīn Abū-alghāzi Aḥmadshāh I. who reigned A.H. 825-838 = A.D. 1422-1435; see No. 449 in this Cat.). After his return to his native town he lived there thirty years in seclusion, and died A.H. 866 (A.D. 1461, 1462), eighty years old (the usual statement is eighty-two years), at Asfarā'in (as the following copy has, or at Asfīzār, as is distinctly written in this). The ta'rikh for his death is خسرو; extracts are given here only from his lyrical poems, on fol. 294^b.

789. Shaikh 'Izz-al-dīn Pūr-i-Ḥasan (or Pūr-i-Ḥusain according to the following copy), a saint and occasional poet, on fol. 296^a.

790. 'Izz-al-dīn Rāfi'i, writer of charming verses, on fol. 296^a.

791. Saif-al-dīn, a poet, on fol. 296^a.

792. Amr Humāyūn, a writer of verse and prose, on fol. 296^a.

793. Kādī Aḥmad Figārī, a poet, on fol. 296^a.

Juwain, on fol. 296^b:

794. Muḥammad bin Hummūyah (i.e. Shaikh Abū 'Abdallāh Juwainī, see Safinat-alauliyā No. 306), author of the Ṣūfī work سلوة الطالبین, on fol. 296^b.

795. Shaikh Sa'd-al-dīn Hummū'i (the following copy has, less correctly, Abū Sa'd bin Hummūyah, see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 126), another great Ṣūfī authority, author of the کتاب محبوب and the کحل الارواح; he also wrote poetry occasionally, for instance, rubā'is, some of which are found in his کتاب محبوب, on fol. 296^b.

796. Abū-alma'āh, known as Imām-alḥaramain, in great favour with Sultān Malik-shāh Saljūki (comp. under Muḥammad al-Ghazālī, No. 686), had controversies continually with Imām Ḳushairī (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 299), on fol. 296^b.

797. Khwājah Shams-al-dīn Muḥammad Ṣāhib-dīwān, to whom Sa'dī's کتاب صاحب was dedicated, the prime-minister of Hūlāgū and his son Abākākhān (who reigned A.H. 663-680 = A.D. 1265-1282), executed by order of Arghūnkhān for the alleged crime of having poisoned Abākākhān A.H. 683 = A.D. 1284 (comp. No. 668 above); he was an accomplished poet and wrote some well-known rubā'is at the death of his son Bahā-al-dīn Muḥammad, on fol. 297^a.

798. Maulānā Mu'in-al-dīn, a pupil of Shaikh Sa'd-al-dīn Hummū'i (so spelt here both in this and the following copy, see No. 795) and author of the نگارستان, an imitation of the گلستان (composed A.H. 735 = A.D. 1334, 1335, comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1447-1449), on fol. 297^b.

Khabūshīn, on fol. 297^b:

799. Abū-albarakāt Najm-al-dīn, at whose suggestion Sultān Ṣalāḥ-al-dīn (the Ayyūbite of Egypt, who died A.H. 589 = A.D. 1193, see No. 493 above) founded a madrasah in the precincts of Shāfi'i's tomb (in Miṣr) and appointed Najm-al-dīn professor of the same; the latter was buried afterwards in the same tomb, on fol. 297^b.

800. Alṣadr-alajall Zain-al-dīn Ṣā'id, with the honorary epithet of Ḥatim-alzamān; he wrote occasionally rubā'is, on fol. 297^b.

801. Shaikh Ḥāji Muḥammad, who was a disciple of Mir Sayyid 'Alī Hamadāni (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 135) in the fourth generation, and had himself thirty-seven Khalīfas, among whom are the most renowned: Shaikh 'Imād-al-dīn Faḍl, Maulānā Muḥammad Zuhid, who lived a long time in Balkh, Ṣadr-al-dīn Harawī, also in Balkh, Shaikh Nūr-al-dīn Muḥammad Khwāfi, and his grandson Shaikh 'Abd-allatīf (or rather Nūr-al-dīn 'Abd-allatīf, as the following copy reads) in Khwārizm; Shaikh Ḥāji also composed poetry, on fol. 298^a.

802. Maulānā Nau'i, a poet, who at the time of the composition of this work was in the service of prince Dāuīyāl (the third son of the emperor Akbar), on fol. 298^a.

Tarshīz, on fol. 298^a:

803. Khwājah Mir 'Alī (in the following copy Shir 'Alī), a poet, who was in the service of Muḥammad Jūgi Bahādur, the son of Mirzā Shāhrukh, in whose honour he wrote all his verses, on fol. 298^b.

804. Aḥlī, a poet, who got enamoured with prince Farīdūn, the son of Sultān Ḥusain Mirzā, on fol. 298^b.

805. Maulānā Ṭāṭī, a ḡaṣidah-writer in the reign of Abū-alḡāsim Bābar, the grandson of Shāhrukh (Bābar died A.H. 861 = A.D. 1457, see No. 660); he died, according to a ta'rikh by Mir 'Alīshir:

جو طوطی برفت این عجب طرفه بود
که نأرنج شد فوت اورا خروس

A.H. 866 (A.D. 1462), on fol. 298^b.

806. Mir Ṣadr-alislām, a very shrewd and sagacious man and an occasional poet, on fol. 299^a.

807. Nādiri, another poet, on fol. 299^a.

Junābād (also Gūnābād and Junābid), on fol. 299^a:

808. Maṣ'ūd ahmūki, a poet in Sultān Bahrām's time, on fol. 299^a.

809. Mirzā Kāsim, i.e. Mirzā Muḥammad Kāsim Kāsimi, the author of a شاهنامه ناسمی (the شاهنامه ناسمی), which celebrates the exploits of Shāh Isma'īl Ṣafawi and was dedicated to Shâh Tahmâsp, see the Bodleian Cat., Nos. 513-517), a لیلی و مجنون, a کارنامه (not نگار نامه as the following copy reads), and a شاهرخ نامه, extracts from all of which are given here (comp. besides the Khulâsat-alkalâm, Bodleian Cat., No. 390, 58), on fol. 299^b.

810. Maulânâ 'Abdî, a good mathnawi-writer, on fol. 300^a.

811. Mir 'Abd-albâkî, a good rubâ'i-writer, on fol. 300^a.

826. Maulânâ Muḥammad bin Ḥusâm, commonly known as Ibn Ḥusâm, the author of the خاور نامه (a mathnawî celebrating the exploits of 'Alî bin Abî Tâlib, in imitation of Firdausî's Shâhnâma, composed A.H. 830=A.D. 1427, see Bodleian Cat., No. 512) and of a diwân, on fol. 303^b.

827. Maulânâ Faşîḥ-al-din Muḥammad Nizâmî, a great mathematician and astronomer, author of a commentary on Jaghminî's مُلَحَّص, on fol. 304^a.

828. Maulânâ Jalâl-al-din Muḥammad Wâ'îz, on fol. 304^a.

829. Maulânâ Jamshîd, one of the wazirs of Sultân Ḥusain Mirzâ, on fol. 304^a.

830. Maulânâ 'Abd-al'âlî Birjandî, an astronomer, who for eighty years drew up the annual calendar, in order to support his children, on fol. 304^a.

831. Maulânâ Afdâl, one of the great 'Ulamâs of this time (i.e. the time when this work was composed), on fol. 304^a.

832. Âṣafî, son of Khwâjah Nî'mat-allâh, who was some time wazir of Sultân Abû Sa'îd (died A.H. 873=A.D. 1469, see No. 635); Âṣafî himself was some time a favourite of Nizâm-al-din Mir 'Alishîr, and some other time he was enjoying the companionship of Badî'al-zamân Mirzâ (Sultân Ḥusain Mirzâ's eldest son, who died A.H. 920 or 921=A.D. 1514, 1515). His death is fixed by a ta'rikh of Amir Sultân Ibrâhîm Amîni, viz. زبرأت آمدہ روز دوم, in A.H. 923 (A.D. 1517): he left a diwân, on fol. 304^a.

833. Maulânâ Walî, greatly esteemed in Khurâsân and particularly in Sistân; he was the author of a diwân, on fol. 304^b.

834. Khusrawî, in the service of prince Salim (Akbar's son, who assumed as emperor the title of Jahângîr), a great expert in archery and a poet, on fol. 305^a.

835. Bakâ'î, a poet, on fol. 305^b.

Bistâm, on fol. 305^b:

836. Sultân-al-'ârifîn Shaikh Abû Yazîd Taifûr bin 'Îsâ bin Sarûsân (سروسان, in the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 66, Sarûshân), one of the greatest Shaikhs and Saints, who lived thirty years in the Syrian desert sleepless and starving, and enjoyed the tuition of 113 Pîrs; the statement, however, that he also was a disciple of the Imâm Ja'far Şâdiq, must be a mistake, as the latter died A.H. 148=A.D. 765 (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 10), and Abû Yazîd Bistâmî A.H. 261 (A.D. 875); the second of the two rubâ'îs, quoted here as from this Shaikh's pen, is identical with one usually ascribed to Abû Sa'îd bin Abû-alkhair (viz. No. 41 in Ethé's Rubâ'îs des Abû Sa'îd bin Abulkhair, Sitzungsberichte der bayrischen Academie. philos.-philol. Classe, 1878, p. 44), on fol. 305^b.

837. Shaikh Abû-alḥasan Kharakânî (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 67), contemporary with Abû 'Alî ibn Sinâ; Kharakân is a borough in the district of Bistâm, on fol. 306^b.

838. Shaikh Diyâ-al-din 'Umar, on fol. 307^a.

Dâmaghân, on fol. 307^b:

839. Abû Ja'far, a great Şûfî, who was met by one of the saints in Madinah during the life-time of Shaikh Abûbakr Kitâbî (who died in Makkah A.H. 322=A.D. 934, see Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 223), on fol. 307^b.

840. Minûcîhî, the great panegyrist of Sultân Maḥmûd of Ghazna, and his successors, with the nickname of Shaṣṭgalla (died A.H. 483=A.D. 1090, see the edition of his diwân with translation, notes, and introduction by A. de Biberstein Kazimirski, Paris, 1887), on fol. 307^b.

Işfahân, on fol. 308^b:

841. Salmân Fârisî (Salmân the Persian, see Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 17), one of the companions of the prophet, with his original name Mâbiyah bin Badakhshân bin Âdrakhsh (آدرخش), or as the following copy reads, Âdhrakhsh or Âdharakhsh, آذرخش; he is stated here, as in the Safinat, to have reached the age of 250, or, according to the majority of traditions, even of 350 years, on fol. 309^b.

842. Shaikh 'Ali Suhail, contemporary with the Khalifs 'Umar and 'Uthmân, on fol. 310^b.

843. Shaikh Najm-aldin, lived for a long time in the holy precincts of Makkah, on fol. 310^b.

844. Ibrâhim bin 'Isâ, a saint who could walk across the water, on fol. 310^b.

845 and 846. Abû Gharrîb and Abû 'Abdallâh, two other saints, the former great in performing miracles, the latter renowned because for forty years he did not lift up his head from the ground nor saw the sky, on fol. 310^b.

847. Abû Muslim Marwazi, the great pioneer of the 'Abbâsîde cause: Hamzah of Isfahân calls him a descendant of Hamzah bin 'Ammâr, and traces his pedigree back to Gûdarz, the old Irânian king; others connect him with the great wazir Buzurjmihr, and others again with Saht, the son of a concubine of 'Abdallâh bin 'Abbâs. He was born about A.H. 100 (A.D. 718, 719) in Isfahân, but brought up in Kûfah, and had an equal command over Persian and Arabic. From A.H. 120-128 (A.D. 738-746) he was governor of Khurâsân in Marw, where he proclaimed the 'Abbâsîdes as lawful heirs to the Khilâfat. He was put to death A.H. 137 (A.D. 755) by order of the Khalîf Al-Manşûr, the second 'Abbâsîde (who reigned A.H. 136-158=A.D. 754-775), on fol. 310^b.

848. Abû Ja'far Muḥammad bin 'Ali, with the epithet Jamâl-aldin, was first attached to the court of Sulṭân Mahmûd bin Muḥammad bin Malikshâh (who succeeded his father in A.H. 511=A.D. 1118); at a later period he became wazir of the ruler of Maṣṣil, Atâbeg Zangî bin Âksunkar (a post he filled, according to Hieu ii. p. 565^b, from A.H. 541-558=A.D. 1146-1163). He accompanied the poet Khâkânî on his pilgrimage to Makkah and Madinah, and the latter dedicated to him as token of gratitude his famous mathnawî, نعمة العرابين (the date of this journey, given here as A.H. 466, is of course quite nonsensical). Jamâl-aldin was deposed from his wazîrship by the Atâbeg Kutb-aldin Maudûd A.H. 558, and died in prison one year later, A.H. 559 (A.D. 1164), on fol. 311^a.

849. Abû-allâsan, with the epithet of Jalâl-aldin, son of the preceding wazir, on fol. 311^b.

850. Abû 'Abdallâh Muḥammad bin Safî-aldin, with the epithet of 'Imâd-aldin Kâtib, went in early youth to Baghdâd, and after completing his studies he entered the service of the wazir Yahyâ bin Hulairah, who appointed him superintendent (نائب) of Basrah and Wasit. After one or two years' employment in this office he went to Damascus and became munshi of Sulṭân Nûr-aldin of Syria (who reigned A.H. 541-569=A.D. 1146-1173); after whose death he stayed in Maṣṣil and also entered for some time Sulṭân Ṣalâh-aldin's service. He survived the latter great monarch of Egypt (who died A.H. 589=A.D. 1193). His death, which is not fixed here, took place A.H. 597 (A.D. 1201). He is the author of the كتاب جریده المعصود, the كتاب جریده العصر (خزیده القصر وجریده العصر). see J. Aumer, Arabic Cat., p. 210, the كتاب البرق الشامي (a history of Sulṭân Ṣalâh-aldin in seven volumes), the كتاب الفتح in two volumes, the كتاب السبل على الدبل, the كتاب نصره (in the following copy نظره), a history of the Saljûks, a ديوان رسائل, and a poetical diwân, in four volumes, on fol. 311^b.

851. Laith bin Sa'd alfahmî, a great traditionist and legal authority, on fol. 312^a.

852. Abû Sahl bin Salmân bin Muḥammad, known as Ṣalûkî, a great grammarian, born A.H. 296 (A.D. 908, 909), died A.H. 369 (A.D. 979, 980), on fol. 312^a.

853. Hâfiz Abû Na'îm, an authority in traditions dealing with the Ahl-i-Bait, on fol. 312^a.

854. Abû 'Abd-alrahmân Nâfi', one of the seven Qurân-readers, died A.H. 169 (A.D. 785, 786), on fol. 312^a.

855. Dâ'ûd bin 'Ali al-Ṭâhiri, traditionist, lived in Baghdâd, and had daily 400 disciples in his majlis, on fol. 312^a.

856. Abûbakr Dâ'ûd, a legal authority and a good Arabic poet, author of the كتاب الزهرة, the كتاب الوصول الى معرفة الاصول, the كتاب الاعنذار (styled in the following copy كتاب الانذار), and the كتاب الانذار (copy كتاب الانذار), on fol. 312^a.

857. Yahyâ bin 'Abdallâh, author of the تاريخ اصفهاني (history of Isfahân), died A.H. 445 (A.D. 1053, 1054), on fol. 312^b.

858. Shams-aldin Maḥmûd, author of a شرح مختصر ابن حبيب (commentary on the مختصر المنتهى), of Jamâl-aldin Abû 'Amr 'Uthmân bin 'Umar Mâlîkî, who died A.H. 646=A.D. 1248, 1249), of a شرح مطالع تجريد القواعد (i.e. the شرح القديم on the تجريد القواعد), شرح منهاج البصاوى, and a شرح طوابع (i.e. مطالع الانوار في شرح طوابع الانوار), a commentary on Naṣîr-aldin 'Abdallâh bin 'Umar Baidâwî's (died A.H. 685=A.D. 1286) طوابع الانوار; he died A.H. 749 (A.D. 1348), see Loth, Arabic MSS., pp. 106 and 111; here the date of his death is not given, on fol. 312^b.

859. Abû-alfaraj 'Ah ibn al-Husain alḡurashî, grammarian, physician, astronomer, poet, musician, and traditionist, author of the famous الاغانى, which he collected in the course of fifty years; he was born A.H. 284 and died A.H. 356 (A.D. 897-967), on fol. 312^b.

860. Aḥmad bin 'Abdallâh, the author of the حلبة الاولى and a تاريخ اصفهان, died A.H. 436 (A.D. 1044, 1045), on fol. 312^b.

861. Abû 'Umar Mûsâ bin 'Abd-almalik, was first in the service of the 'Abbâsîdes, went then to the Maghrib and was greatly honoured by the Amir Tamim Mu'izz idmillaḥ. If this Amir is identical with Abû Tamim Ma'add al-Mu'izz, the Fâtîmide Sulṭân who ruled over Egypt A.H. 341-365 (A.D. 953-975, 976), the date of Abû 'Umar's death, as given here, viz. A.H. 246, must at least be 100 years later, on fol. 312^b.

862. Muḥammad bin Mu'ammad alḡurashî, on fol. 312^b.

863. Hâkim Abû Mu'in Naṣîr bin Khusrau bin

Hārith bin 'Alī bin Ḥusain bin 'Alī bin Muḥammad bin 'Alī bin Mūsā-alridā (comp. Ethé, Nāṣir bin Khusrau's Leben, Denken und Dichten, in Travaux de la 6^e session du Congrès international des Orientalistes à Leide, vol. ii. Leyden, 1884); the shortest and probably oldest version of his fictitious autobiography is given here in full; the correct dates of his birth and death are A. H. 394 (A. D. 1004) and 481 (A. D. 1088), on fol. 312^b.

864. Abū-alma'ālī Naḥḥās, who succeeded Muḥammad Ghailān in the lord-lieutenancy under Sultān Malikshāh, and rose towards the end of Malikshāh's reign (who died A. H. 485=A. D. 1092) to the rank of a muster-master or general (عارض) of the army of Sultān Barkiyāruḡ and Sultān Muḥammad, Malikshāh's sons; when a feud ensued between the two brothers, Abū-alma'ālī fled to Ḥillah, the governor of which became his pupil, and left to him the whole political and financial administration of the country. Through some cause Abū-alma'ālī was some time after imprisoned, but escaped after enduring many hardships and joined Barkiyāruḡ again, in whose service he died; he left a considerable amount of poetry, on fol. 316^a.

865. Ṣadr-al-din Khujandi, kaḏī-alkudāt of Isfahān, contemporary with Zahir (Zahir-al-din Fāryābī, who died A. H. 598=A. D. 1202?); he wrote rubā'is, on fol. 316^b.

866. Jamāl-al-din Khujandi, son of the preceding poet, on fol. 317^a.

867. Imām-al'alam Sharaf-al-daulah wa-al-din Muḥammad Shufurwah, a poet of the time of Sultān Arslān bin Toghrul Saljūki (who reigned A. H. 556-571=A. D. 1161-1176), on fol. 317^a.

868. Zahir-al-din 'Abdallāh Shufurwah, first cousin to the preceding poet, wrote poetry also, on fol. 318^b.

869. Jamāl-al-din bin 'Abd-alrazzāk, whose dīwān is still extant; he was a panegyrist of the Ṣā'idis (according to Taḳī Kāshī he died A. H. 588=A. D. 1192, see A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 445 and 446, and Rieu ii. p. 581^a), on fol. 319^a.

870. Kamāl-al-din Isma'il (with the epithet خَلّاق المعاني, which is left out here), son of the preceding Jamāl-al-din and still more renowned as poet than his father; a brother of his was Mu'īn-al-din 'Abd-alkarīm; he fell in the general massacre of the people of Isfahān by the Moghuls under Uktāi Kā'ān (the usual date assigned is A. H. 635=A. D. 1237, 1238; here no date is given), on fol. 321^a.

871. Rafī'al-din Mas'ūd (or bin Mas'ūd) Lumbāni, contemporary with Kamāl-al-din Isma'il, on fol. 324^b.

872. Rafī'al-din 'Abd-al'aziz Lumbāni, another poet (whose death is fixed by Taḳī Kāshī in A. H. 603=A. D. 1206, 1207), on fol. 325^b.

873. Farid Aḥwal, a panegyrist of the Ṣā'idis like Jamāl-al-din bin 'Abd-alrazzāk and Kamāl-al-din Isma'il, on fol. 325^b.

874. Shaikh Anḥadī, who is wrongly called by others a native of Marāgha, pupil of Shaikh Anḥad-al-din Kirmāni, author of the famous mathnawī جام جم, an imitation of Sa'adī's Ḥadīkah, and of a mystic dīwān. He began to flourish under Arghūnkhān (A. H. 683-690=A. D. 1284-1291), and died A. H. 738=A. D. 1337-1338 (the date of death given here on the authority of Daulatshāh, viz. A. H. 697=A. D. 1298, is that of his teacher Anḥad-al-din Kirmāni, with whom Anḥadī has frequently been confounded by Persian biographers; see Rieu ii. p. 619; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 785-789 and 1904, 19; and Safinat-alauliyā, Nos. 333 and 349), on fol. 326^a.

875. Kamāl-al-din Ziyād, a poet, on fol. 328^a.

876. Shams-al-din bin Fakhr-al-din (i.e. Shams-i-Fakhrī), panegyrist of Shāh Abū Ishāḡ of Fārs and 'Irāk (reigned A. H. 742-754=A. D. 1341-1353) and author of a Farhang or Persian dictionary, dedicated to the same monarch (i.e. the fourth part, علم لغت, of his encyclopædical work, معیار جمالی ومعناح ابو اسحاقى), edited by Salemann, Kasan, 1887, under the title of 'Shams-i-Fakhrī Isfahānensis Lexicon Persicum,' see also Mélanges Asiatiques, tome ix. p. 417 sq.), on fol. 328^a.

877. Ḥanẓa-i-Isfahāni, with the epithet of Shah-suwār-i-miḡmār-i-buktadāni (شہسوار مضمار نکتدانی, the champion horseman of the hippodrome of sagacity), the author of the famous تاریخ (completed A. H. 350=A. D. 961, edited by Gottwaldt, Leipzig, 1844), on fol. 328^b.

878. Khwājah Amin-al-din Ḥasan, contemporary with Ḥāfiẓ, who praises him in one of his ghazals, on fol. 328^b.

879. Mirzā Yār Aḥmad, spent some time in companionship with Amīr Najm-al-din Gilāni, the wakil or administrator of the realm, after whose death he was himself raised to that office by Shāh Isma'il Ṣafawī (A. H. 909-930=A. D. 1503-1524) and honoured with the epithet of Najm-i-thāni (the second Najm); in a battle against the Uzbeks of Transoxania, he was taken prisoner and put to death by order of 'Ubaid-allāhkhān the 3rd of Ramaḡān, A. H. 918 (A. D. 1512, November 12), on fol. 329^a.

880-882. Mirzā Kamāl-al-din Shāh Ḥusain, who was Najm-i-thāni's successor in the office of wazīr or wakil; he was assassinated by Mihtar Shāh Kūh, and his body was interred in Karbala; he left two sons, Mirzā Isma'il, who lived in Isfahān bent upon the pleasures of the chase, and Mirzā Zahir-al-din Ibrāhīm, a studious man and a good calligrapher, who occasionally composed good rubā'is, on fol. 329^b.

883-885. Mirzā Saḥmān (in the following copy spelt throughout Sulaimān), a good Inshā-writer and poet; he was first appointed superintendent of public works under Shāh Tahmāsp; under Sultāns Isma'il II (A. H. 984-985=A. D. 1576-1577) and Muḥammad Khudā-banda (A. H. 985-995=A. D. 1577-1587) he rose to the rank of wazīr; during the invasion of Khurāsān, when on the point of capturing Harāt, he was assassinated by some discontented Amīrs; he left two sons, Mirzā 'Abdallāh, who also wrote poetry occasionally, and Nizām-al-mulk, on fol. 330^b.

886. Saif-al-din Maḥmūd Rajā'i, a good mathematician and astronomer and a clever satirist; among his pleasantries in verse (هزلیات) is an ایرامد, some baits of which are quoted here, together with a few verses of a more serious character, on fol. 331^a.

887. Khwājah Afḡal-al-din Muḥammad Tarikah, studied first in Kāshān under the tuition of Maulānā Abū-alhasan, then went in pursuit of theological as well as theosophical knowledge to the Arabian 'Irāk, to Syria and Hijáz, and returned at last to his native country, where he gained favour with Sháh Tahmâsp; he was twice, under Sháh Tahmâsp and under Sháh Muḥammad Khudâbanda, appointed wali of the sepulchre of 'Alī bin Mūsā alridā (his death took place about A. H. 1000=A. D. 1592, see Rieu ii. p. 669^b); he was a good rubā'i-writer, on fol. 331^a.

888. Khalfah Asad-allāh, on fol. 331^b.

889. Amir Shujā'-aldin Maḥmūd, a grandson of the preceding Khalifah; his father, Khalfah Sayyid 'Alī, was honoured by Sháh Tahmâsp with the epithet of Khaliḥ-i-Sultānī, on fol. 331^b.

890. Amir Taqi-aldin, known as Mir Shāh, went to the Dakhan and rose to the rank of a peshwā or wakil under Sultān Ibrāhīm Kutshāh (A. H. 957-988=A. D. 1550-1580); when Sultān Muḥammad Kulī Kutshāh (A. H. 988-1020=A. D. 1580-1612) ascended the throne he saw himself compelled to resign his office, and got leave to perform the pilgrimage, but on the way to the holy cities he died; he left some poetry, on fol. 332^a.

891. Amir Shams-aldin, went to Bijāpūr and obtained there the honorary title of Šadrjahān; in his poetry he used the takhalluṣ of Hāshimī, on fol. 332^a.

892. Kādi Nūri, a poet of considerable renown (according to Rieu ii. p. 669^a, a pupil of Khwājah Afdal-aldin Muḥammad Tarikah, No. 887 above); two of his best ḡasidas are given here in full, on fol. 332^a.

893. Zafar-alī-lām Šā'idi, another poet, on fol. 334^a.

894. Amir Jalāl-aldin Ḥusain Šalā'i, a poet, on fol. 334^a.

895. Maulānā Taqi-aldin Majd-alhuznī, a poet, who died in the Panjāb, a little over 50 years old, on fol. 334^b.

896. Maulānā Dāmīri, the renowned poet, who first used Bāghbān as takhalluṣ, but changed it into Dāmīri at the request of Sháh Tahmâsp Šafawī; he wrote altogether 100,000 baits, that is 70,000 in the form of ḡazals, 12,000 in that of ḡasidas, which are all in praise of the Imāms, and the rest in that of mathnawīs, viz. لبلى ومجنون. بهار وحزان، وامق وعذرا، ناز ونياز، سكندر نامه، حس الاخبار (correctly in the following copy. جنة الاخبار, see Bodleian Cat., No. 395. 1424). He imitated the diwāns of a number of famous poets, viz. Sa'di's in his صقل ملال, Amir Khusrāu's in his معشوق لا يزال, Khwājah Hasan's in his حسن مال (in the following copy حسن مال), Shaikh Kamāl's in his احياي كمال, Hāfiz's in his عنون الزلال (in the Bodleian Cat. misspelt as عنوان), Jāmī's in his المعراج الآمال, Bābā Fighānī's in his آئینه خیال, Shāhī's in his سحر حلال, Bannā'i's (according to the Bodleian Cat. Thanā'i's) in his فراغبال, Šalīh's in his درر مثال, Āṣafī's in his سحاب جلال, Shabīdī's in his خجسته فال, Humāyūn's in his لواعب خیال, and Mirzā Ashrafjāhān's in his ترانه وصال, on fol. 335^a.

897. Maulānā Muḥammad Sharīf Sarmadī, a poet, on fol. 336^b.

898. Amir Rūzbahān Šabīri, poet and musician, withdrew after a gay life into the Friday mosque of Isfahān, and spent there his remaining days in constant reading of the Kurān, on fol. 336^b.

899. Maulānā Shikībī (in the following copy quite distinctly Maulānā 'Isā), came to India and gained the favour of the Sipah-ālār 'Abd-alrahīm Khānkhānān (see Nos. 216-218 in this Cat.), in whose honour he wrote a سافى نامه, for which he received 10,000 rupees; lengthy quotations are given here from this poem as well as from his ḡazals and rubā'is, on fol. 337^a.

900. Ākā Shāhaki, a poet, on fol. 338^b.

901. Shifā'i, likewise a poet, son of Ḥakīm Maulānā, a clever physician, on fol. 338^b.

902. Maulānā Bābāshāh Kātib, a famous calligrapher, who received for 1000 baits 3 toman=100 rupees; he also composed original poetry, on fol. 339^a.

903. Bābā Tālib, lived about thirty years in Kashmir, and when that country was conquered by Akbar, he gained the favour of that great monarch; he wrote verses occasionally, on fol. 339^a.

904. Abū-alḡāsim Anrī, a poet, was imprisoned and blinded by order of Sháh Tahmâsp, whose panegyrist he had been for thirty years, because he was suspected of believing in metempsychosis (تناسخ), on fol. 339^a.

905. Niki, a poet, on fol. 339^b.

906. Šafiyā, another poet, on fol. 339^b.

907. Ghīyāthā, used in his poetry as takhalluṣ Maṣāl (منصب), according to the following copy, Munṣif (منصف), on fol. 339^b.

908. Maulānā Wafā; among other specimens of his poetry portions of a ḡasidah are quoted here, in which the description of a horse is given, on fol. 340^a.

909. Maulānā Dakhilī, a poet, on fol. 340^a.

910. Dā'i, son of Maulānā Dāmīri (No. 896), dervish and verse-writer, on fol. 340^b.

911. Harfī, a nephew of Niki (No. 905); this poet is left out in the present copy, and the bait quoted of him in the following copy is assigned here to Dā'i.

912. Abū 'Alī, the son of Ḥakīm Khabbāz (whether this Ḥakīm Khabbāz is really identical with Khabbāzi, see No. 752 above, as has been assumed in Rūdagi's 'Vorläufer und Zeitgenossen,' Nos. 11 and 12, appears very doubtful now, as Khabbāzi was a native of Nishāpūr, and Abū 'Alī is classed here among the modern poets of Isfahān), on fol. 340^b.

913. Wafā'i Kūr, another modern poet, on fol. 340^b.

914. Mir Amānī, who had been nearly fifty years an opium-eater at the time when this work was composed, without impairing his brain-power, on fol. 340^b.

915. Maulānā Madhākī, a poet, on fol. 340^b.

916. Maulānā 'Alī Šuratkān (صورتخان, correctly Šuratkhwān, صورتخوان, a sort of juggler, who produces forms of angels and human beings in the public square and tells their fate on the resurrection-day), was originally a cutler; some baits he wrote on the death of his son are quoted here, on fol. 340^b.

917. Maulānā (or Mir) Naẓar Zamānī, wrote poetry occasionally, on fol. 340^b.

918. Mir 'Alī Najjār (the carpenter), of whom a rubā'i is quoted, on fol. 341^a.

919 and 920. Kalāmī and Salāmī, two brothers who made themselves favourably known by their verses, on fol. 341^a.

921. Maulānā Badhlī, an occasional poet, on fol. 341^a. Notanz (in the province of Isfahān), on fol. 341^a.

922. Shaikh Nūr-aldin bin 'Abd-alḡamad, who was in Sūfic lore a pupil of Shaikh Najib-al-din 'Alī bin Buzghush of Shirāz (who died A.H. 678=A.D. 1279, 1280, Safinat-alauliyā, No. 150); among his own disciples were Shaikh 'Izz-al-din Mahmūd and Shaikh Kamāl-al-din 'Abd-alrazzāk, both of Kāshān (see Nos. 931 and 932 below), on fol. 341^a.

923. Khwājah Amirbeg, a son of Shaikh Muḥammad Kajālī Tabrizī (Kajāl, كجج, is a village near Tabriz, see W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 655, note 1) and a relative of Amīr Zakariyyā; although his father lived in Tabriz, he himself was born in Naṭanz; under Shāh Tahmāsp he was for some time wali of the sepulchre of the Imām Ali bin Mūsā al-iḍā (see No. 887 above) and also wazīr of Khurāsān, on fol. 341^a.

924. Mirzā Hīsābī, a good musician and poet (under the Safawis, it seems), on fol. 341^b.

925. Āshūbī, poet and calligrapher, on fol. 342^a.

Zawārah, on fol. 342^a:

926. Maulānā Muḥammad Murshidi, a good metaphysician, astronomer, and poet, on fol. 342^a.

927. Mir Manhi, a clever poet, on fol. 342^a.

Ardestān, on fol. 342^a:

928. Maulānā Muḥammad, a good astronomer, mathematician, and geomancer: he was a contemporary and friend of Maulānā 'Alī Kūshji (who died A.H. 879=A.D. 1474, 1475, see Bodleian Cat., No. 1515 sq.) in the reign of Ulughbeg (who was assassinated A.H. 853=A.D. 1449), on fol. 342^b.

929. Kāsimī, a poet, on fol. 343^a.

930. Maulānā Ghuḥārī, of whom a rubā'i is quoted, on fol. 343^a.

Kāshān, on fol. 343^a:

931. Shaikh 'Izz-al-din Mahmūd (see No. 922 above), the author of the ترجمة عوارف and a commentary on the ناتبة of Ibn al-Fāriḍ (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 332); he also wrote a شرح مختصر or abridged commentary to the same qaṣidah, and some rubā'is, on fol. 343^b.

932. Shaikh Kamāl-al-din 'Abd-alrazzāk (see also No. 922), author of the تفسير تأويلات (comp. H. Khalifa ii. p. 175, No. 2358), the كتاب اصطلاحات الصوفية (see G. Flügel iii. p. 371 sq.; the first part of it has been edited by Dr. A. Sprenger, Calcutta, 1845, under the title, 'Abdur-razzaq's Dictionary of the technical terms of the Sufies'), the شرح فصوص الحكم (a commentary on the فصوص الحكم by Ibn 'Arabi, who died A.H. 638=A.D. 1240, see Safinat-alauliyā No. 60), the شرح منازل السائرين (a commentary on the منازل السائرين by Khwājah 'Abdallāh Anṣārī, who died A.H. 481=A.D. 1088, see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 300), and other works (in G. Flügel i. p. 463, a شرح التائية الكبرى, by the same 'Abd-alrazzāk Kāshānī, is described); he was a contemporary of Shaikh Rukn-al-din 'Alā-aldaulah Simnānī (who died A.H. 736=A.D. 1336, see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 132), with whom he had many controversies on Sūfic topics; his death, the date of which is not mentioned here, took place in A.H. 730=A.D. 1329, 1330, on fol. 343^b.

933. Naṣīh-al-mulūk (the counsellor of kings, in the following copy ناسخ) 'Aziz al-lahādīrat (biḥādīrat in this copy) Abū 'Tāhir Ismā'il, was under Sultān Malikshāh, governor of Kāshān, and gave the inhabitants of that province a remission of taxes for four years, on fol. 344^a.

934. Mu'in-al-din Abū Naṣr, was originally munshi and auditor of Sultān Mahmūd bin Muḥammad Saljūki (who succeeded his father Muḥammad, the second son of Malikshāh, A.H. 511=A.D. 1118); under Sultān Sanjar he was first appointed governor of Rai and afterwards wazīr of the realm; he was finally assassinated by one of the Ismā'ilis or followers of Ḥasan Ṣabbāh, on fol. 344^a.

935. Fakhr-al-din Tāhir, son of the preceding Mu'in-al-din, was wazīr of Sultān Alp Arslān (correctly Arslānshāh) bin Toghrul bin Muḥammad bin Malikshāh (who reigned A.H. 556-571=A.D. 1161-1176), but died young, on fol. 344^a.

936. Sharaf-al-din Anūshirwān alkhālidi, was for some years wazīr of the 'Abbāside Khalif Al-Mustarshid-billāh (A.H. 512-529=A.D. 1118-1135); the further statement we find here, that after the Khalif's death he entered the service of Sultān Mahmūd bin Muḥammad Saljūki and was for seven years wazīr of that ruler, cannot be true, as Sultān Mahmūd died A.H. 525 (A.D. 1131), four years before the Khalif, comp. also Elfachri, ed. Ahlwardt, pp. 354-355, where the death of Anūshirwān (or as he is called there, Anūsharwān bin Khālidi) is fixed in A.H. 532 (A.D. 1138). It is the same wazīr for whom Ḥariri (died A.H. 516=A.D. 1122) composed his immortal Maḳāmāt, on fol. 344^a.

937. Sadr-alimām alajall al-fādil Afḍal-al-din Muḥammad, the great rubā'i-writer and author of a number of Sūfic tracts, as رد انجام نامه, ترجمة مدارج الكمال, رد انشا نامه, عرض نامه, جوادان نامه, and others, the correct date of whose death is A.H. 707=A.D. 1307, 1308 (see Bodleian Cat., No. 749; Rieu ii. p. 829^b). It is stated here in the beginning that Khwājah Naṣir-al-din, i.e. Naṣir-al-din Tūsī (died A.H. 672=A.D. 1273, 1274), wrote verses in his praise, but, a few lines further on, the story of Muḥammad 'Aufī about a certain Khwājah Afḍal in Sultān Mahmūd's time is unscrupulously referred to the present Afḍal-al-din Kāshī who lived 300 years later, on fol. 344^b.

938. Alsayyid alajall Shams-al-din Muḥammad bin 'Alī, a poet, on fol. 345^b.

939. Ra'is-al-'immah Naṣir-al-din, likewise a poet, on fol. 345^b.

940. Akḍā-alkudāt Maulānā 'Imād-al-din, was according to Maulānā Mu'in Juwāmī's statement in his نگارستان (composed A.H. 735=A.D. 1334, 1335, see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1447-1449) the confidant of the famous wazīr of Sultān Abū Sa'īd, Khwājah Ghiyāth-al-din Muḥammad bin Khwājah Rāshid-al-din (who rose to the rank of wazīr A.H. 728=A.D. 1328, and was put to death A.H. 736=A.D. 1330); he also wrote poetry, on fol. 346^a.

941. Sayyid-alkalām Sayyid Ashraf, a writer in verse and prose (probably identical with Sayyid Jalāl-al-din Ashraf Kāshī, who flourished in the reign of Hūlāgū's son Abakākhān, A.H. 663-680=A.D. 1265-1282, see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 71, l. 3), on fol. 346^a.

942. Afḍal-al-shu'arā Rāḍi-al-din alkhāshshāb (the timber-merchant); besides other verses, some baits are quoted here which he composed in praise of Shaikh 'Umar Suhrawardi (who is probably identical with the well-known Shihâb-aldin Suhrawardi, whose original name was 'Umar bin Muḥammad and who died A.H. 632=A.D. 1234, see Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 148), on fol. 346^b.

943. Shaikh (or Sayyid) Jamâl-aldin, contemporary with Abakâkhân and imitator of Sa'di, on fol. 346^b.

944. Maulânâ Kamâl-aldin, a writer in verse and prose, on fol. 347^a.

945. Maulânâ Kamâl-aldin Ḥasan, author of a diwân of ḡaṣidas and ghazals, mainly in honour of the Amir-alnu'minin 'Alî bin Abi Tâlib, on fol. 347^a.

946. Maulânâ Shams-aldin, author of a تاريخ غزائن خان (Ghâzânkhân reigned A.H. 694-703=A.D. 1295-1304) and of a diwân of ḡaṣidas in praise of Khwâjah Bahâ-aldin Walad (probably Bahâ-aldin Sulṭân Walad, Jalâl-aldin Rûmî's son, who died A.H. 712=A.D. 1312, see the Manâḡib-al'ârifin, No. 630 in this Cat., fasl vii. and Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 139; Jalâl-aldin Rûmî's father, Shaikh Bahâ-aldin Walad, who might be meant too, died A.H. 628=A.D. 1231), on fol. 347^b.

947. Zain-aldin Fâkhita (or Fâkhita, the ring-dove), a poet and author of the نصاب الاولاد, on fol. 347^b.

948 and 949. Maulânâ Ghiyâth-aldin Jamshid and Maulânâ Mu'iu-aldin, two well-known astronomers under Mirzâ Ulughbeg (who was governor of Transoxania from A.H. 812-852=A.D. 1409-1448, and reigned as independent monarch from A.H. 852-853=A.D. 1449), whom they assisted in compiling his astronomical tables, the زيج جديد سلطاني, comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 1515 sq.; Rieu ii. pp. 456 and 869^b. Ghiyâth-aldin Jamshid died shortly after A.H. 823 (A.D. 1420), on fol. 347^b.

950. Maulânâ Muhtasham, the well-known poet (died A.H. 996=A.D. 1588, see Bodleian Cat., No. 1050, and Rieu ii. p. 665), on fol. 348^a.

951. Mir Muḥammad Taqî Marwârid, lived in the Dakhan, a good calligrapher and poet, on fol. 348^b.

952. Maulânâ Diyâ-aldin, wrote mostly rubâ'is, on fol. 348^b.

953. Rukn-aldin Mas'ûd, a poet of the time of Shâh 'Abbâs I (he used, according to the Âtashkada, Bodleian Cat., col. 282, No. 589, the takhalluṣ Masih, comp. also Rieu ii. p. 688), on fol. 349^a.

954. Mir Haidar Rafîqî (so distinctly in this and the following copy رفيعى, but the more correct takhalluṣ is Rafî'î, رفيعى, see Âtashkada, in Bodleian Cat., col. 282, No. 571, with the additional title of Mu'ammâ), famous by his ta'rikhs and riddles; there are quoted here among others a ta'rikh on Shâh Isma'il II's accession and death (the last bait of which runs thus:

سهنسناه روى زمين گشت ثمت
سهنسناه زير زمين شد رقم

the first three words of the first hemistich giving A.H. 984, the first three words of the second A.H. 985), and also a ta'rikh on the completion of Shaikh Faizi's well-known تفسير غير منقوط or commentary on the Kûrân, which contains no letters with diacritical points, viz. Sûrah 112, the numerical value of all the words of which is equal to 1002 (A.H. 1002=A.D. 1593, 1594).

He is also renowned by the clever way in which he used to match words of exactly the same numerical value, for instance. عالم and فاني, 'world' and 'transitory' (both = 141); قلمزن and اصفهان, 'Isfahân' and 'writer,' with reference to the great number of clever authors born there (both = 227); زوجه and يزد, 'Yazd' and 'wife,' probably on account of the beauty of the women of that town (both = 21); عقرب and كاشان, 'Kâshân' and 'scorpion,' scorpions abounding in that city according to Yâkût (both = 372); بيس and ساوه, 'Sâwa' and 'vile' (both = 72); سگ and ساوجى, 'inhabitant of Sâwa' and 'dog' (both = 80); ناز and محبوب, 'sweet-heart' and 'coquetry' (both = 58); قهار and شاه, 'Shâh' and 'conqueror' (both = 306); جهان بناه and طهماسب, '(Shâh) Tahmâsp' and 'the world's refuge' (both = 117); شاه نجف and شاه عباس, 'Shâh 'Abbâs' and 'Shâh of Najaf,' where the tomb of 'Alî, the Shi'ite sanctuary, is found (both = 439); راحت and خواب, 'sleep' and 'rest' (both = 609); ملك and ابو القاسم, 'Abû-alkâsim' (probably Shaikh Najm-aldin Abû-alkâsim of Hillah, the great ecclesiastical authority amongst the Shi'ites, who died A.H. 676=A.D. 1277) and 'the king of the judgment-day' (both = 241); شر and مست, 'drunk' and 'wicked' (both = 500); عاصى and عاصى, 'refractory' and 'rebellious' (both = 171); شيطان and سقرى, 'the dweller in hell' and 'Satan' (both = 370), on fol. 349^b.

955. Amir Muḥammad Ḥashim, with the takhalluṣ Sanjar, son of the preceding Mir Haidar and superior to his father in the sweetness and eloquence of his poetry; he also wrote occasionally ta'rikhs and riddles, on fol. 350^a.

956. Amir Husainî, nephew of the same Mir Haidar (who is again called here distinctly Rafîqî), wrote likewise poetry, on fol. 350^b.

957. Mirzâ Rafî'î-aldin, a poet, on fol. 350^b.

958. Maulânâ Şaitûr (صفيور distinctly here in text and index; more correctly in the following copy Tâitûr, طيفور), composed verses at the request of the Şafawî prince, Sulṭân Muṣṭafâ Mirzâ, on fol. 350^b.

959. Dâ'i, the brother of Malik (see No. 999 below), a poet, on fol. 350^b.

960. Maulânâ Fahmî, likewise a poet, on fol. 350^b.

961. Maulânâ Ḥâtim, wrote some neat verses, on fol. 350^b.

962. Shujâ', who towards the end of his life wrote a satire upon the governor of Khurâsân and was obliged to take to flight; he went to Isfahân, where he hid himself for the remainder of his days, on fol. 351^a.

963. Maulânâ Haidar Dhihni, a poet who lived the greater part of his life in the Dakhan, on fol. 351^b.

964. Ridâ'i, a poet, on fol. 351^b.

965. Adham, of whom a rubâ'i is quoted here, on fol. 352^a.

966. Sharif, a poet, on fol. 352^a.

967. Makṣûd (in the following copy Makṣûdî), one of the gossiping writers of Kâshân, on fol. 352^b.

968. Muḥammad Kâsim Kisrâ (كسرى), a grandson of Abû Shurâzi (who died A.H. 942=A.D. 1535, 1536, see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1027 and 1028), and poet, on fol. 352^b.

969. Ḥayātī, wrote many poems in the dialect of Kāshān, on fol. 352^b.

970. Ṣāni'ī, a poet who led a very sad life; towards the end of his days he went to India, but died in Lāhūr before he could settle there, on fol. 352^b.

Jarbād-kān, on fol. 353^a:

971. Najīb-al-dīn, is stated here to have died under the (last) Saljūks and to have been a panegyrist of the Amīrs of the fortress of وساق (Washāḡ? Washāḡ in the province of Isfahān); comp. on him A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 513, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 710, foot-note, where he is called a contemporary of Zahir Fāryābī (who died A.H. 598=A.D. 1202, see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 582-584), on fol. 353^a.

972. Muḥammad Yūsuf, of whom one rubā'ī is quoted, on fol. 353^b.

Kamrah, on fol. 353^b:

973. Maulānā 'Alī Naḡī, a poet, on fol. 353^b.

974. Ulfatī, brother of 'Alī Naḡī, wrote also occasionally poetry, on fol. 354^a.

Khawānsār, on fol. 354^a:

975. Shāh-i-Karam, a poet, on fol. 354^b.

976. Zulālī (the famous mathnawī-writer under Shāh 'Abbās, who died A.H. 1025, 1026, or 1031=A.D. 1616, 1617, or 1622; see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1081-1084; the Khulāsat-alkalām, No. 32, ib. col. 297; the Khulāsat-alafkār, No. 116, ib. col. 306, etc.); only a few baits are quoted here, and none of his mathnawīs is mentioned by name, on fol. 354^b.

977. Ṭābi'ī, of whom some verses composed in the prime of his youth are quoted here, on fol. 354^b.

978. Ṭā'atī, a poet, of whom one rubā'ī is given, on fol. 354^b.

979. Surūdī, musician and poet, on fol. 355^a.

980. Bābā Shūkhī, excelled in various arts and handicrafts, was a clever stone-cutter, a good lute-player, and an occasional poet, on fol. 355^a.

981. Shāh Murād, a writer in prose and verse, on fol. 355^a.

982. Ṭāji (تاجی, so here in text and index, in the following copy Nāji, ناجی), a poet, son of Maulānā Ḥasan, who enjoyed a great reputation and authority among the people of Kāshān in the time of Sultān Muḥammad Ṣafawī (see Nos. 883-885 above), on fol. 355^a.

983. Taṣnifī, a rubā'ī-writer, on fol. 355^b.

Farāhūn, on fol. 355^b:

984. Jalāl-al-dīn bin Ja'far, a clever poet; the extracts quoted are from a mathnawī of his, on fol. 355^b.

Tafrīsh, on fol. 356^b:

985. Mir Kudsi, a poet, like the two following ones, on fol. 356^b.

986. Mir 'Abd-alghani, on fol. 356^b.

987. Maulānā Wajhi, on fol. 357^a.

Kumm, on fol. 357^a:

988. Shaikh Nizāmi, the great epic poet, usually designated as Nizāmi of Ganja, since he spent in the latter town almost his whole life; the large extracts given here are mainly taken from his diwān (the authenticity of which has frequently been disputed, but see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 618 and 619), on fol. 357^a.

989. Ḥakīm Ṭaqī-al-dīn, one of the famous men of 'Irāq, wrote some poetry, on fol. 359^b.

990. Khwājah Mas'ūd, went under Sultān Ḥusain

IND. OFF.

Mirzā (A.H. 873-911=A.D. 1469-1506) from his native place to Harāt, and wrote a mathnawī of about 10,000 baits on the exploits of that monarch; he is also the author of two munāzarāt or strife-poems: شمس و قمر, sun and moon, and تیغ و قلم, sword and pen, and of a diwān, on fol. 359^b.

991. Shahidi, was king of poets under Sultān Ya'kūb (i.e. Ya'kūbbeg Ak-koynulū, who reigned A.H. 883-896=A.D. 1478-1491); after the Sultān's death he had to flee, as he had made many enemies by his extreme conceit and the disregard he had shown to the verses of other poets; he went to India and settled in Gujarāt, where he died; his diwān of ghazals comprises about 4000 baits, on fol. 359^b.

992. Gulkhanī, the nephew of Shahidi and author of a diwān, which, however, is not extant; he was a contemporary of Sultān Ḥusain Mirzā, on fol. 360^a.

993. Wahidi, a poet who went in his later years to Gilān, and entered the service of the rulers of that country, on fol. 360^a.

994-996. Kādi 'Alā of Karahrūd (Karaj, see Barbier de Meynard, Dictionnaire géographique, etc., pp. 478 and 488), who occasionally wrote verses, and his two sons, the elder of whom was Kādi Jahān, who was denounced by calumniators as having fomented discontent against Shāh Tahmāsp, and consequently arrested, imprisoned, and taken from Harāt to Kāzwin; he remained a prisoner in one of the fortresses to the end of his life; his younger brother, whose name is not given (he is merely designated as برادر کهنتر or قاضی زاده کزورود), sought safety in flight and went to Najaf; from there he sent his famous qaṣidah, bemoaning man's fate on earth (در شکایت روزگار), to the Persian 'Irāq; this qaṣidah, of which a considerable number of baits is quoted here, has throughout the word 'Najaf' as radif, on fol. 360^b.

997. Mir Ḥudūri, son of Mir Sayyid 'Alī Muḥtasib (the police-superintendent), resided about thirty years in Mashhad in solitary seclusion from the world (in the reign of Shāh Tahmāsp); at the time of the accession of Shāh Ibrāhīm II (A.H. 984=A.D. 1576) he came for once to the Persian 'Irāq and wrote a very clever ta'rīkh on the date of Tahmāsp's death and the beginning of his successor's reign, from which sixteen times the numerical value of 984 can be extracted, viz.:

الحمد ایا طبع وفا گسترما

کامد مه یوسف منش آن دلبرما

شاه اسماعیل نامه (نام incorrectly نام) وانصاف بعلم

طهماسب منش مه همیون فرما

By counting either all the letters in each hemistich, or only those with diacritical points in any two hemistichs, or again only those which have no diacritical points in any two hemistichs, one obtains invariably the same number 984; other poetical specimens are quoted on fol. 361^a.

998. Amir Ashkī, brother of the preceding poet, was attracted by the fame of Maulānā Ghazālī (i.e. Ghazālī Mashhadī, who died A.H. 980=A.D. 1572, see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1033-1035) to India, but never had an interview with him. His poems exceeded 10,000 baits, but Mir Judā'i, to whom he at the time of his death handed his diwāns that he might set them in order, appropriated those of his poems which appeared suitable to himself, and threw the remaining ones into the water, on fol. 362^a.

999. Maulānā Malik, lived at the time when this book was composed in the Dakhan, and wrote chiefly rubā'is and a سافى نامه, on fol. 362^a.

1000. Hijri Shamsirgar (the sword-cutler), wrote clever verses, on fol. 363^a.

1001. Ākā Muḥammad, son of Mir Makki, another poet, on fol. 363^b.

1002. Ghadanfar of Karahjār, had poetical contests with most of the contemporary poets, viz. Ḥatim Kāshi (No. 961 above). Maulānā Waḥshī (Waḥshī Bāfi, who died A.H. 991 or 992=A.D. 1583 or 1584, see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1039-1042), and wrote besides a diwān of ghazals, a mathnawī styled پیر و جوان, containing about 4000 baits, and a بیش آمد احوال (a kind of autobiography, as it seems), on fol. 363^b.

1003. Mir Ilālu, a poet, on fol. 364^a.

1004 and 1005. Bahārī and Ḥasan Wahmī, two other poets, on fol. 364^a.

Sāwa, on fol. 364^a:

1006. Shaikh 'Uthmān Sāwajī, died A.H. 695 (A.D. 1296), in the reign of Ghāzānkhān (who died A.H. 703=A.D. 1304), on fol. 364^b.

1007. Ustād-albāshar 'akl-i-ḥādī 'aṣḥar (the eleventh reason) Khwājah Naṣir-al-din Abū Ja'far Muḥammad bin Ḥasan (according to Rieu ii. p. 441, Muḥammad bin Muḥammad bin Ḥasan), the great scholar who is usually known as Naṣir-al-din Tūsī, because, although his family originally belonged to Sāwa, he himself was born in Tūs, the eleventh of Jumādā-alawwal, A.H. 597 (A.D. 1201, Feb. 17), and was 9 years and 5 months old, when Fakhr-al-din Rāzī (the great theologian who was born A.H. 544=A.D. 1150) died, A.H. 606 (A.D. 1210). In philosophy he was the pupil of Farid-al-din Dāmād, whose teacher had been Šadr-al-din Sarakhsī, who himself enjoyed the tuition of Balnanyār, a direct pupil of Abū 'Alī Ibn Sīnā. In Kulistān, where he stayed for some time, he enjoyed the favour of the Isma'īlī governor Naṣir-al-din Muḥtasham (in the time of the 'Abbāsīde Khalīf Musta'sim, A.H. 640-656=A.D. 1242-1258), at whose request he wrote his famous اخلاق ناصری. An Arabic qaṣidah in praise of Musta'sim which he sent to Baghdād, and which Ibn 'Alkāmī, the Khalīf's wazīr, returned to Muḥtasham (died A.H. 655=A.D. 1257) with perfidious insinuations against Naṣir-al-din, was the cause of the latter's imprisonment till A.H. 654 (A.D. 1256), when he was released by Hulāgūkhān and became the favourite of that Moghul ruler. It is said by some, that at Naṣir-al-din's instigation the Khalīf Musta'sim was assassinated. He died the 18th of Dhū-alḥijjah, A.H. 672 (A.D. 1274, June 25), 77 years, 7 months, and 7 days old, in Baghdād. As his principal works, besides the اخلاق ناصری, are mentioned here: شرح الاشارات (i.e. a commentary on Ibn Sīnā's الاشارات والنسيبات, composed A.H. 644=A.D. 1246, 1247, see Loth. Arabic MSS., p. 133^b), تجريد القواعد (i.e. تجريد العقائد, sometimes also styled تجريد الكلام, see Loth. ib., p. 106^a), زبدة بعد محصل, زيج ايلخاني (usually styled زيج خاني, تذكرة در حکمت, see Bodleian Cat., No. 1513), مغيبية, اوصاف الاشرف, (on Šūfism), and تنسيق نامه ايلخاني; he also composed Persian poetry, on fol. 364^b.

1008. Khwājah Salmān, son of Khwājah 'Alā-al-din Muḥammad, and renowned as an epic and lyric poet, flourished under the Ilkāni rulers, especially under Sulṭān Uwais Ilkāni (A.H. 757-776=A.D. 1356-1374), and retired from the world at the end of his life. According to Jāmi's statement in the Bahārīstān, he was a clever imitator of earlier qaṣidah-writers, especially of Kamāl Isma'īl (see No. 870 above). He composed a diwān and two mathnawīs: جمشید و فراق نامه and خورشید, on fol. 365^b.

1009. Muntakhab-al-din, likewise a poet, on fol. 366^b.

1010. Kādī Mas'ūh-al-din (in the following copy wrongly spelt Shaikh-al-din) 'Isā, the mini-ter and teacher of Sulṭān Ya'qūb (see No. 991 above), who complied with all orders the Kādī gave; for instance, when once the Sulṭān for the reception of the envoys of Egypt and Rūm in Tabriz had put on a gold-embroidered garment and seated himself on the throne, the Kādī entering the majlis and perceiving that dress, declared in the presence of the whole assembly, that it was not lawful for men to dress in such a way, and requested his attendant, Sirāj-al-din, to remove that garment from the Sulṭān's shoulders; the latter submitted to this ruling and showed no resentment. But immediately after Sulṭān Ya'qūb's death, A.H. 896 (A.D. 1491), he was put to death by order of the Amir-alumarā, Šūfī Khalīl. Some poetical specimens of the Kādī are quoted here, on fol. 367^a.

1011. Tārīkī, a poet who lived for about fifteen years at Akbar's court; then he got permission to perform the pilgrimage, and soon after died, on fol. 367^b.

1012. Šarīf, poet and ta'rikh-writer, went a couple of years before the composition of this book from the Dakhan to Lāhūr and composed a qaṣidah in praise of Akbar; but since he found no opportunity to deliver it to the Sulṭān, he returned to the Dakhan, went on a pilgrimage to Makkah and died there; he left a diwān, on fol. 367^b.

1013. Maḥṣadī, wrote, like the following two, some clever poetry, on fol. 368^a.

1014. 'Alī, on fol. 368^a.

1015. Harīfī (called in the following copy by mistake again Tārīkī), on fol. 368^a.

Hamadānī, on fol. 368^b:

1016. Khwājah Yūsuf Hamadānī (i.e. Yūsuf bin Ayyūb, the great Shaikh, Safinat-alauliyā, No. 73), enjoyed in Baghdād the tuition of Shaikh Abū Ishāq Shīrāzī; he died A.H. 565 (و خمسمائة) = A.D. 1169, 1170; in the Safinat-alauliyā, A.H. 535, in the Maḥṣadī-alauliyā, 7th bāb, A.H. 555, on the way from Harāt to Marw, and was buried in Marw, on fol. 368^b.

1017. Abū-alfaḍā'il (according to others Abū-al-ma'ālī, see Rieu i. p. 411) 'Abdallāh bin Muḥammad al-Miyānī, with the honorary epithet of 'Ain-alkudāt (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 307), the great mystic Shaikh, who was put to death by order of Kīwām-al-din Abū-alkāsim Darguzīnī, the wazīr of Sulṭān Sanjar, A.H. 533 (A.D. 1138, 1139). He excelled by his unrivalled works on Šūfism (كشف حقائق و شرح دقائق); one of these in Persian mixed with Arabic is described in the Bodleian Cat., No. 1247, under the title of زبدۃ الحقائق (in his correspondence is noticed in Rieu, loc. cit.); he also wrote occasionally Persian poetry, on fol. 368^b.

1018. Shaikh Fakhr-al-din Ibrāhīm, known as 'Irāki (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 153), the great Ṣūfī Shaikh and mystic poet, who went at an early age to India and enjoyed in Multān the tuition of Shaikh Bahā-al-din Zakariyyā (died A.H. 666=A.D. 1267, see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 152), with whom he stayed twenty-five years. He married his daughter (by whom he had a son, Kabir-al-din) and became finally his Khalifah; after his death he performed the pilgrimage and afterwards went to Rūm (Asia Minor), where he became the pupil of Shaikh Ṣadr-al-din Kūniyawi (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 61, died A.H. 672=A.D. 1273, 1274), in consequence of whose lectures he composed his well-known لمعان (see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1251-1254). Mu'in-al-din Parwāna, the governor of Rūm, put himself under Fakhr-al-din 'Irāki's spiritual guidance. After Mu'in-al-din's death (in A.H. 677=A.D. 1278, 1279, see Rieu ii. p. 594^a) he went to Egypt, where he was appointed Shaikh-alshuyūkh, and afterwards to Syria. In Damascus he stayed some time with his son Kabir-al-din, who had come from Multān to benefit by his father's spiritual advice, and died A.H. 688=A.D. 1289 (others give the wrong date of 707); his diwān is still extant, on fol. 369^b.

1019. Amir Sayyid 'Alī bin Shihāb-al-din bin Muḥammad, was first a disciple of Shaikh Sharaf-al-din Maḥmūd bin 'Abdallāh of Mazdakān (in the province of Rai) and afterwards of Shaikh Taqi-al-din 'Alī Dāsti, after whose death he went back to his first Pir; among his works are mentioned here: كتاب اسرار النقطه (so in the following copy; here كتاب الاسرار النعوت, correctly كتاب اسرار النقطه), شرح قصص. شرح اسماء الله (commentary on Ibn 'Arabī's well-known work), الحکم (commentary on Ibn Fārid's wine-ḡasidah, with its proper title, مشارب الازواق, see G. Flügel iii. p. 419), and ذخيرة الملوك (see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1451-1453); he also composed Persian poetry. He died A.H. 786 (in Dhū-alḥijjah=A.D. 1385, January) in Kābul and was buried in Khuttilān, on fol. 371^a.

1020. Abūbakr, on fol. 371^b.

1021. Shaikh Abū Barakah, contemporary with 'Ain-alkudāt (No. 1017), on fol. 371^b.

1022. Abū 'Abdallāh حارو (?) Ṣūfī, contemporary with Abūbakr Daḡḡāk (who died A.H. 290=A.D. 903, Safinat-alauliyā, No. 198), on fol. 371^b.

1023. Aḥnaf, on fol. 371^b.

1024. Shaikh Ḥāfiẓ Abū-al'ulā Hasan bin Aḥmad 'Aṭṭār, mentioned by Khāḡām in his تحفة العرائس, on fol. 371^b.

1025. Badī' of Hamadān, on fol. 372^a.

1026. Abū-alḥusain bin al-Ḥaḍim, author of the نهضة الأسرار, on fol. 372^a.

1027. Ziyād-alkabir, on fol. 372^a.

1028. Kalmas, on fol. 372^a.

1029. Abū Ḥāfiẓ (in the following copy simply Ḥāfiẓ) Tamimi, a great traditionist, on fol. 372^a.

1030. Sarūḡ bin alakhda', on fol. 372^a.

1031. Abū-alfadl Ja'far bin 'Alī al-Iskandarāni, traditionist and famous for his fatwās, on fol. 372^a.

1032. Al'amid alajall Sa'd-aldaulah Ma'sūd bin Sa'd bin Salmān, the famous poet who went in early youth with his father to Ghazna and rose to high rank at the court of the Ghaznawides; the following bait from one of his ḡasidas is quoted here (as a counter-proof to the two verses cited in Rieu ii. p. 548) to show that he was really a native of Hamadān and not of Ghazna:

گردل بطمع بستم شعرت صناعت
ور احمق کرم امل از همدانست

He became a great favourite of prince Saif-al-din Maḥmūd, the son of Sultān Ibrāhīm (see No. 181), in whose praise he wrote many ḡasidas; but when the former became suspected of hostile intentions against his father and was arrested, Ma'sūd bin Sa'd bin Salmān was, as his alleged accomplice, imprisoned too, in the fortress of Nāi, A.H. 472 (A.D. 1079, 1080), not 572, as is here wrongly stated both in this and the following copy. He was released, after a very long captivity, under Sultān Ma'sūd III. The date of his death is not given here (it was probably A.H. 525=A.D. 1131, see Bodleian Cat., No. 526); he was a contemporary and disciple of Abū-alfaraj Rūnī (see Bodleian Cat., No. 523), whom he frequently praises in his poems, and left besides his Persian diwān one in Arabic and one in Hindi or Hindūstāni; comp. A. Sprenger's article on 'Early Hindūstāni Poetry' in the Journal of the Asiat. Soc. of Bengal, vol. 22, pp. 442-444, on fol. 372^a.

1033. Abū Sa'd (in the following copy Abū Sa'id) bin Ma'sūd bin Sa'd bin Salmān, son of the preceding poet, was versed in poetry too and flourished under Sultān Balrāmshāh (see No. 181), on fol. 376^b.

1034. Alajall alkāfi Zafar-al-din, a poet of the reign of Sultān Malikshāh (A.H. 465-485=A.D. 1072-1092); his diwān is not extant, on fol. 376^b.

1035. Athir-al-din Aumāni (Aumān is a village in the district of A'lam which belongs to Hamadān); before Hulāgū conquered Baghdād he was a companion of Sulaimānshāh, one of the lieutenants of the last Khalif Al-Musta'ṣim, and wrote panegyrics in his honour; in his later years he wrote a cutting satire on the Kādi of Hamadān, Majd-al-din Ṭawil; he also exchanged poetical epistles with Kamāl-al-din Isma'il (see No. 870), on fol. 377^a.

1036. Hibat-allāh (in the following copy Haibat) bin Ibrāhīm, a poet, about whose lifetime nothing is known, on fol. 378^b.

1037. Mir Muḡhith Maḡwī, a great rubā'i-writer (died A.H. 1016=A.D. 1607, 1608, see Rieu ii. p. 738), on fol. 378^b.

1038. Ḍamiri, the son of Ḥairāni (not to be confounded with Ḍamiri of Isfahān, see No. 896), who was the author of the following mathnawis: ناهید و بهرام, آسمان و زمین, and شمع و بروانه, on fol. 379^b.

1039. Halāki, author of a diwān; was in his earlier years attached to Sultān Ḥusain Mirzā, the son of Bahrām Mirzā (Bahrām Mirzā was the fourth son of Shāh Isma'il I Ṣafawī, and died A. H. 956 = A. D. 1549, see Rieu i. p. 104^b, or according to Beale, Oriental Biogr. Dict., p. 66^a, A. H. 957 = A. D. 1550), on fol. 379^b.

1040. Rashki, a poet who was so far reduced in his circumstances that at last he had to take the place of a night-watchman (عسكى), the most despised of all occupations, in Tabriz, and was eventually killed there, on fol. 380^a.

1041. Khwājah Ākā Mir (was wazīr under Shāh Tahmāsp, according to Taqī Kāshī); one of his rubā'is is quoted here, on fol. 380^a.

1042. 'Abd-algham, merchant and poet, visited India, on fol. 380^a.

1043. Malīkī of Sarkān, a poet (died, according to Taqī Kāshī, A. H. 1004 = A. D. 1595, 1596), on fol. 380^b.

1044. Kāisari, a poet, on fol. 381^a.

1045. Sharāfī. Halākī's nephew, came to India in the very year when this work was written, spent a short time at the court, and then became a dervish, on fol. 381^a.

1046. Bazmi, on fol. 381^a.

1047. Haidarī, a poet who was for some time attached to Mir Muḥammadkhān Anka (that is, either Shams-al-dīn Muḥammad Ankakhān, with the honorary title of Aẓamkhān, who was assassinated A. H. 969 = A. D. 1562, or his brother Mir Muḥammadkhān, see Nos. 351 and 352 above), but returned to his native country after his patron's death and died there, on fol. 381^a.

1048. Mashrabi, a poet, on fol. 381^a.

1049. Panāhi, a clever imitator in poetry, on fol. 381^a. Rai, on fol. 381^a, and Tahrān, on fol. 382^b.

1050. Shaikh al-ʿarīfīn Abū Zakariyya Yahyā bin Ma'ādh (i.e. Yahyā bin Ma'ādh Rāzi, see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 183), contemporary with Junaid (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 29); he went from Rai to Balkh and Harāt, on fol. 383^a.

1051. Shāhbāz-i-Kaunain (the royal falcon of the two worlds) Kutb-i-waqt Yūsuf bin al-Ḥusain (usually called Yūsuf bin Ḥusain Rāzi, see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 208), a pupil of Dhū-al-nūn (No. 449) and contemporary with Abū 'Uthmān Hīrī (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 205); his death is fixed here in A. H. 258 (A. D. 872) instead of the usual date, A. H. 303 or 304 (A. D. 915-917), on fol. 383^b.

1052. Shaikh Najm-al-dīn Dāya (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 128), a pupil of Shaikh Majd-al-dīn Baghdādī (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 125); during the invasion of the Moghuls he fled from Khwārizm to Rūm and spent some time there in the companionship of Jalāl-al-dīn Rūmī and Shaikh Ṣadr-al-dīn Kūniyawī (see No. 1018); he died A. H. 654 (A. D. 1256) and was buried in Baghdād. His two chief works on Ṣūfism are مرصاد العباد (see Bodleian Cat., No. 1248) and تفسير بحر المعاني; he also composed Persian poetry, on fol. 384^a.

1053. Abūbākr Bahli (بحلى), contemporary with Shaikh Bundār Ṣairafī (see above, No. 170, and Safinat-alauliyā, Nos. 250 and 252); two of his rubā'is are quoted in the مرصاد العباد (see the preceding Shaikh), on fol. 384^b.

1054. Shaikh Abūbākr, on fol. 384^b.

1055. Shaikh Abū-alkāsim, on fol. 384^b.

1056. Abū 'Abdallāh bin Ḥaddād, on fol. 384^b.

1057. 'Abdallāh bin 'Abd-alrahmān, on fol. 384^b.

1058. 'Abdallāh bin Muḥammad Kharrāz (the shoe-maker), who lived many years in Makkah; he was a contemporary of Shaikh Yūsuf bin Ḥusain Rāzi (No. 1051), on fol. 384^b.

1059. Shaikh Dhar'ah (ذرع), in the following copy (درع), on fol. 384^b.

1060. Abū Muḥammad 'Abd-alrahmān bin Abī Ḥatīm Ḥanṭalī (حنطلى or rather Ḥanzalī حنظلى), who was born A. H. 240 and died A. H. 327 (A. D. 854-939), see Barbier de Meynard, Dictionnaire géogr., pp. 278 and 279, on fol. 384^b.

1061. Abū Dhar'ah (in the following copy again (درع) 'Abdallāh ibn 'Abd-alkarīm alḡuraishī, on fol. 385^a.

1062. Abū Ma'sūd Aḥmad bin al-Furāt (الفرات), a great traditionist, died A. H. 258 (A. D. 872), on fol. 385^a.

1063. Ṣāhib Kāfi Isma'il bin 'Ibād (or 'Ubād), a man of the sword and pen, was first wazīr of Mu'ayyid-aldaulah bin Rukn-aldaulah Ḥasan, the Būyide Amir of Rai and Iṣfahān (reigned A. H. 366-373 = A. D. 976-983), and after his death of Fakhr-aldaulah; he died A. H. 385 (A. D. 995) or A. H. 390 (A. D. 1000; this latter date however cannot be right, as Fakhr-aldaulah, who died A. H. 387 = A. D. 997, is represented here as having been present at the death-bed of his wazīr) and was buried in Iṣfahān; he wrote clever Arabic verses, on fol. 385^a.

1064. Iftikhār-al'ulamā almutakallimīn Imām Fakhr-al-dīn, that is, Abū 'Abdallāh Muḥammad bin 'Umar bin Ḥusain alḡuraishī altamīmī albakrī, born A. H. 543 or 544 (A. D. 1148, 1149) in Rai, studied first under his father, after whose death he repaired to Khwārizm and later on to Transoxania, continually engaged in learned disputations; he died in Harāt A. H. 606 (A. D. 1209, 1210). Among his numerous works there are mentioned here: مفاتيح الغيب (properly styled التفسير الكبير) and completed A. H. 602 = A. D. 1205, 1206, see Loth, Arabic MSS., p. 13^b), كتاب نهاية المعقول, مطالب عليه, كتاب الأربعين في أصول الدين (with its full title كتاب الأربعين في أصول الدين), المحصل (probably a mistake for المحصل, or principles of jurisprudence, see Loth, loc. cit., p. 73^a), مباحث مشرق, كتاب البيان و البرهان (or, as the following copy reads, probably more correctly مباحث عيون المسائل, تذهيب الدلائل, مباحث عمادية, مشرقية), كتاب تحصل الحق, اجوبة المسائل التجارية, ارشاد النظائر, تلخيص (in the following copy تلخيص), شرح (i.e. الاشارات, a commentary on Ibn Sina's الاشارات والتنبهات, see Loth, loc. cit., p. 133^b), شرح عبد الحكمة (correctly in the following copy شرح عبد الحكمة, a commentary on Ibn Sina's work on physics and metaphysics, عيون الحكمة, parts ii and iii, ib., p. 133^a), شرح مفصل, شرح اسماء الله, كليات قانون, etc. (all of these are Arabic works; the well-known Persian encyclopædia by the same author, حدائق الانوار في حقائق الاسرار, composed A. H. 574 = A. D. 1179, see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1481 and 1482, is not mentioned here). He also wrote occasionally Persian poetry, especially rubâ'is and kīṭas, on fol. 386^a.

1065. Muḥammad bin Zakariyyā Rāzi, the great physician, and author of the كتاب الحاوي, the كتاب الجامع, the كتاب الاقطاب, and the كفاية منصور (or كفاية منصورى) which was dedicated to Abū Ṣāliḥ Maṣṣūr bin Ishāq, the nephew of Amīr Isma'īl Sāmānī (A.H. 279-295=A.D. 892-907), who appointed him governor of Rai, when he himself went into the 'Irāk to repulse Muḥammad bin Hārūn, who had taken possession of Ṭabaristān. According to others, the work in question was dedicated to Abū Ṣāliḥ Maṣṣūr bin Nūḥ bin Naṣr bin Isma'īl (a suggestion which is scarcely possible, as this Maṣṣūr ruled A.H. 350-366=A.D. 961-976, and Muḥammad bin Zakariyyā died A.H. 311 or 320=A.D. 923 or 932). Muḥammad devoted himself originally to musical studies, but exchanged them afterwards for medical ones, which he pursued chiefly under the guidance of Hākīm Abū-alḥasan 'Alī bin Zayn alṭabarī, the author of the فردوس الحكمة, on fol. 387^a.

1066. Abū Bashār Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin Ḥammād Anṣārī Rāzi Daulābī (Daulāb is a village in the district of Rai, adjoining Ṭahrān; other places of the same name are found, as is pointed out here: (a) in Yaman, usually called سوق الفرج; (b) near Ṭā'if, with which the poet 'Abdallāh bin 'Umar bin 'Uthmān is connected; (c) between Makkah and Madinah; (d) in Ahwāz; (e) a quarter of Baghdād), a great traditionist and writer of ta'rikhs on the birth and death of renowned scholars; he died A.H. 320 (A.D. 932), on fol. 387^b.

1067. Afdal-almutaḥaddimin Abū Zaid (in the index of this and the text of the following copy Abū Yazid) Muḥammad al-'Adā'irī (عمائري); in the following copy 'Aṣā'irī (عمائري); or, as others spell the name (and that is undoubtedly correct, see Ātashkada, No. 452, Bodleian Cat., col. 278), Ghadā'irī (غضائري), because his father was a كاسگر=غضائر, i.e. a potter), the prince of the poets of 'Irāk and panegyrist of Sultān Maḥmūd of Ghazna; he also wrote ḡasidas and kīṭas in honour of the house of 'Alī, on fol. 388^a.

1068. Pindār of Rai, favourite and panegyrist of Majd-aldaulah Abū Ṭālib bin Fakhr-aldaulah Dailamī (the ruler of Isfahān and Rai, with the name of Rustam, who succeeded his father Fakhr-aldaulah Abū-alḥasan 'Alī A.H. 387=A.D. 997, and was deposed by Sultān Maḥmūd of Ghazna A.H. 420=A.D. 1029); he also wrote ḡasidas in honour of the wazīr Ṣāhib Isma'īl bin 'Ibād (No. 1063), who had brought him up and shown him great kindness, on fol. 388^b.

1069. Amlaḥ-alshu'arā 'Imādi alshahriyāri, who according to some authorities is identical with 'Imādi Ghaznawī, the only one whom 'Aufi mentions in his tadhkirah, but of whom he quotes poetical specimens which in some of the most reliable copies are ascribed to 'Imādi Shahriyāri (Shahriyār is one of the bulūkāt or districts of Rai); others maintain that the two poets were different persons (see about this question Butkhāna, No. 35, Bodleian Cat., col. 200; Rieu ii.

p. 557, and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 439). 'Imādi Shahriyāri, according to the allusions made in his own poems, of which about 2000 baits have been preserved, flourished under Sultān Ṭughrul III Saljūki (A.H. 571-590=A.D. 1176-1194), whom he has eulogised in several ḡasidas, on fol. 389^a.

1070. Imāun-alajall 'Alā-aldin Khuwāri (Khuwār is situated in the province of Rai), wrote a few verses, on fol. 391^b.

1071. Malik-alkalām Fadl-allāh alkhuwāri, contemporary with the Khwārizmshāh Tukush (A.H. 568-596=A.D. 1172, 1173-1200); he composed occasionally poetry, on fol. 391^b.

1072. Mafkhar-alshu'arā Abū-almafākhīr, a poet of the time of Sultān Maṣṣūd bin Muḥammad bin Malikshāh (A.H. 529-547=A.D. 1134-1152); according to Barbier de Meynard, Dictionnaire gēogr., p. 213, he also was born in Khuwār, on fol. 392^a.

1073. Ashraf-alshu'arā Badr-aldin alkiwāmi Rāzi, a poet of the Saljūks (as 'Aufi states), who derived his takhalluṣ from Kīwām-aldin Ṭughrā'i, to whom he was closely attached; his poetical compositions are very rare now, on fol. 392^a.

1074. Maṣṣūd Rāzi, a panegyrist of Sultān Maṣṣūd of Ghazna (A.H. 421-432=A.D. 1030-1040), on fol. 393^a.

1075. Dihkhudāi Abū-alma'ālī, a panegyrist of the Saljūks, whose diwān is no longer extant, on fol. 393^b.

1076. Maulānā Kutb-aldin, under Sultān Abū Sa'īd Bahādurkhān Ilkhāni (A.H. 716-736=A.D. 1316-1335), author of the شرح شمسية, which he dedicated to the wazīr Khwājah Ghiyāth-aldin Muḥammad (see No. 940), the son of Khwājah Rashīd (the author of the جامع التواريخ, see No. 17 in this Cat.), on fol. 394^b.

1077. Sayyid Muḥammad Nūrbakhsh, came at an early age to Rai and settled in a village close by, where he rose to great influence and obtained many pupils and adherents, on fol. 394^b.

1078. Sayyid Ja'far, eldest son of the preceding Sayyid, came to Harāt under Sultān Ḥusain Mirzā, where the Amirs and other prominent men tried to retain him by the offer of splendid presents; but he refused and went to 'Arabistān, where he spent the remainder of his life in pious meditations; he also wrote occasionally poetry, on fol. 394^b.

1079. Shāh Kāsim, another son of Muḥammad Nūrbakhsh, went likewise under Sultān Ḥusain Mirzā to Khurāsān and found favour with that monarch; after some time he got permission to return to his native place, where he was greatly honoured by Shāh Isma'īl Ṣafawī. He had two sons, Shāh Shams-aldin and Shāh Bahā-aldaulah, on fol. 394^b.

1080. Shāh Bahā-aldaulah, son of Shāh Kāsim, went first to Harāt and became a favourite of Sultān Ḥusain Mirzā, after whose death he entered the service of Shāh Isma'īl Ṣafawī, on fol. 395^a.

1081. Shāh Kīwām-aldin Muḥammad, son of Shāh Shams-aldin ibn Shāh Kāsim (No. 1079), who rose to great spiritual renown and attracted many disciples, which by degrees made him haughty and overbearing; it was at his instigation that the poet Umīdī of Rai was murdered (this event must have happened shortly before Shāh Ismā'il's death and Tahmāsp's accession. see No. 1112 below; and also Rieu iii. p. 1091^a, where the exact month is given in which the murder was perpetrated, viz. Rabi' I. A. H. 930 = A. D. 1524. Jan. to Febr.). Immediately after Tahmāsp's accession Shāh Kīwām-al-dīn was brought in chains to Kazwin, the capital of the Safawī dynasty at that time, and remained a prisoner in one of the fortresses to the end of his life: he wrote occasionally poetry, on fol. 395^a.

1082. Shāh Šafī-al-dīn Muḥammad, brother of Shāh Kīwām-al-dīn, author of a diwān of about 1000 baits, on fol. 395^b.

1083. Shāh Kāsim bin Shāh Kīwām-al-dīn, who settled in Tūrusht after the calamity that had befallen his father: he excelled in epistolography, as an epistle proves which he sent to Mir Ghiyāth-al-dīn Muḥammad the Mir Mirān of Yazd, on fol. 396^a.

1084. Amir Sayyid Muḥammad, son of the preceding Shāh Kāsim, a poet, died young, on fol. 396^b.

1085. Amir Shāh Riḍā, also related to the Nūrbakhshi family, was a great chess-player, and wrote occasionally poetry, on fol. 396^b.

1086. Fikrī, related to the same family, went to the Dakhan in the time of Shāh Tāhir (Shāh Tāhir Husaini Khwāndī, on whose adventurous life compare Rieu i. p. 395: he died in Ahmadnagar A. H. 952, 953 or 956 = A. D. 1545, 1546 or 1549); he wrote occasionally poetry, on fol. 396^b.

1087. Kādi Muḥammad, one of the Sayyids of Warāmin (a little town in the province of Rai), was afterwards in the service of the Safawī Sultāns; he was a great ta'rikh-writer and composed at the request of Shāh Tahmāsp a clever chronogram on the conversion of Isākhān, the son of Lawand Gurji, to Islamism by that monarch, A. H. 967 (A. D. 1559, 1560), the date being expressed by the hemistich عسى لوند شد مملکت از صدو, on fol. 397^a.

1088. Kādi 'Aṭā-allāh, the brother of the preceding kādi, also renowned by ta'rikhs; two of the best known are on the peace concluded between Shāh Tahmāsp and the Turks, A. H. 969 (A. D. 1561, 1562), expressed by the words الصلح خير, and on the removal of the prime-minister Amir Naḳī (in the following copy Taḳī)-al-dīn Muḥammad Šadr from his post in consequence of illness or infirmity (علت), skilfully worded in this way:

اگر تارنج عزلش حواهی از من
برون کن از شریعت حرف علت

(the ع حرف is the weak letter ی, by the removal of which from the middle of the word شریعت the date A. H. 970 = A. D. 1562, 1563, is obtained), on fol. 397^b.

1089. Kādi 'Abdallāh, eldest son of Kādi Muḥammad (No. 1087), lived some time at Shiraz, but returned afterwards to his native place and lived there as a very successful dīkhān or landed proprietor; he was a good poet and musician, on fol. 397^b.

1090. Kādi Sadīd, another son of Kādi Muḥammad, on fol. 397^b.

1091. Mir Rukn-al-dīn, a poet, on fol. 397^b.

1092. Mir Muḥammad Kāsim, a poet, who was for some time a companion of Āsafkhān (probably the same who continued the تاریخ العی, see Nos. 110-118 in this Cat.), on fol. 398^a.

1093. Kādi 'Ahdī, a rubā'i of whom is quoted here, on fol. 398^b.

1094. Amir 'Ināyat-allāh, one of the superintendents or overseers (متولی) of the sepulchre or holy shrine of the Imāmzāda 'Abd-al-āzīm, whose father Ḥasan bin Zaid bin Imām Ḥasan (bin 'Alī bin Abū Ṭalīb the fourth Khalīf) had first been Amir of Madīnah, had then exercised his sway in Ṭabaristān for some time conjointly with his brother Ismā'il (usually called Dā'i al-kabir or Dā'i alawwal, the great or first missionary), and finally went to Rai, where he died. 'Ināyat-allāh wrote occasionally poetry, on fol. 398^b.

1095. Amir 'Aḥshāh, son of the preceding Amir, wrote likewise verses, on fol. 398^b.

1096. Amir Nūr-allāh, also one of the overseers of that shrine, and an occasional poet, on fol. 399^a.

1097. Amir Zahir-al-dīn Ibrāhīm, a prominent member of the same body of mutawallis or overseers of 'Abd-al-āzīm's shrine, used as poet the takhalluṣ Waṣfī (in the following copy Waḍ'i), on fol. 399^a.

1098. Amir Majd-al-dīn Ismā'il, son of the preceding Amir, used Majdī as takhalluṣ in his poetry, on fol. 399^a.

1099. Shaikh Shihāb-al-dīn 'Alī, one of the superintendents or overseers of the shrine of the Imāmzāda Abū-al-ḥasan, one of the descendants of the seventh Imām Mūsā Kāzīm, in Andarmān (a village in the district of Rai): he wrote occasionally verses, on fol. 399^a.

1100. Shaikh Abū-al-kāsim, son of the preceding Shaikh, likewise an occasional poet, on fol. 399^b.

1101. Aḳā Ghiyāth, son of the preceding Shaikh, died very young, on fol. 399^b.

1102. Kādi Mas'ūd, son of Kādi 'Abdallāh, who had come from Kazwin to Rai and obtained the kādīship of that district; after his father's death he succeeded him in his office: he is the author of a work on epistolography, styled دستور دلی, and also wrote occasionally poetry; he had nine renowned sons in Ṭahrān, on fol. 399^b.

1103. Kādibeg, the eldest of Kādi Mas'ūd's sons; whilst in Iran, he was a favourite of Shāh Tahmāsp; afterwards he went to Ahmadnagar in the Dakhan and rose to the rank of a wakīl; when deposed from his office he set out on his return journey to his native place, but only reached Lār, where he died, on fol. 400^a.

1104. Amir 'Abd-al-kādir, another of Kādi Mas'ūd's sons, was under Shāh Tahmāsp five years kādī of Tabriz: A. H. 989 (A. D. 1581) he was killed in Rai (the ta'rikh on his death, however, viz. آه شهید میر, gives A. H. 987 = A. D. 1579), on fol. 400^a.

1105. Amir Mu'izz-al-dīn Malik, a third son of Kādi Mas'ūd and his successor in office, on fol. 400^a.

1106. Amir Tayy-al-dīn Ḥasan, a fourth son of Kādi Mas'ūd, studied first in Shiraz under Mirzā Jān (i.e. Ḥabīb-allāh Shirāzi, who died A. H. 994 = A. D. 1586), afterwards in Karbādā and Najaf under Maulānā Ahmad Aḥdabāh; he afterwards returned to his native town; he is the author of a حاشیه مطالع (glosses on the مطالع الانوار on logic by Maḥmūd bin Abūbakr Urmawī, who died A. H. 682 = A. D. 1283, 1284, a work on which also Mirzâ Jân, Tâj-al-din's teacher, has exercised his ingenuity, see Loth, Arabic MSS., p. 145^a) and of glosses on the أصول or dogmas (حاشية بر علم أصول), on fol. 400^b.

1107. Amir Ja'far, a fifth son of Kâdi Mas'ûd and likewise a pupil of Mirzâ Jân; he excelled particularly in the art of divination, called جفر, on fol. 400^b.

1108. Amir Kâdi, a sixth son of Kâdi Mas'ûd, went to India and entered Akbar's service; but as his career was not prosperous, he left for the Dakhan, where his eldest brother (No. 1103) occupied for some time a high position. Unsuccessful even there he returned to his native country; he was a clever poet, on fol. 400^b.

1109. Amir Zain-al-'abidin, a seventh son of Kâdi Mas'ûd, wrote likewise now and then poetry, on fol. 401^a.

1110. Amir Shams-al-din 'Ali, an eighth son of Kâdi Mas'ûd, was an occasional poet too, on fol. 401^a.

1111. Mir Abû Turâb, the ninth and youngest son of Kâdi Mas'ûd, a clever poet, on fol. 401^a.

1112. Maulânâ Umidi, studied in Shirâz; in A. H. 927 (A. D. 1521) he accompanied Dûrmishkhân to Harât, the capital of Khurâsân, and two years later he returned to Rai, where he soon after was murdered (see No. 1081 above); the ta'rikh on his death by Maulânâ Nâmi, one of his pupils, as given here, represents the wrong date 925: آه از خون ناحق من آه; of Umidi's poems there are still extant seventeen qasidas, three ghazals, a safî نامہ, and some kit'as and rubâ'is, on fol. 401^a.

1113. Khwâjah Muhammad Tâhir, Umidi's son, who also wrote occasionally poetry, on fol. 402^b.

1114. Khwâjah Muhammad Sharif Hijri (according to Ilâhi a nephew of Umidi, see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 87), who went after his father's death to Khurâsân and became wazir of the governor of that country, Muhammadkhân Sharaf Ughlu Taklû (here designated as Tâtâr Sultân Walad Muhammadkhân Sharaf-al-din Ughlu, who was appointed to that post in A. H. 941 = A. D. 1534, 1535, comp. Rieu i. p. 15^b); he served in the same capacity Muhammadkhân's son, and after the latter's death he entered Shâh Tahmâsp's service, first for seven years as wazir of Yazîd, Abarkûh, etc.; and later on as wazir of Isfahân; the ta'rikh of his death, composed by Damiri (of Isfahân), is: گردید یکی کم (one to be deducted from the numerical value of وزرا, which is 985 = A. H. 984, A. D. 1576, 1577); he left a diwân, which the author of this book, however, had not seen; some specimens are quoted, on fol. 402^b.

1115. Khwâjah Ghiyâth-al-din Muhammad, son of the preceding wazir and poet, still alive at the time when this work was composed (he was the father of the famous Nûrjâhân, and under the title of I'timâd-al-danlâh wazir of the emperor Jahângir), on fol. 403^a.

1116. Khwâjah Muhammad Tâhir Wasli, another son of Muhammad Sharif Hijri, likewise alive at that time; he composed some good poetry, on fol. 403^b.

1117. Khwâjah Mirzâ Ahmad, brother of Muhammad Sharif and father of the author of this work, Amin Ahmad Râzi; he was in great favour with Shâh Tahmâsp and for some years kalântar or prefect of Rai, on fol. 403^b.

1118. Khwâjah Khwâjagi, another brother of Muhammad Sharif, wrote occasionally poetry, for instance, a rubâ'i in honour of Asadbeg Mustanfi Muhammadkhân Sharaf-al-din Ughlu (no doubt the same governor of Khurâsân mentioned above in No. 1114), on fol. 404^a.

1119. Khwâjah Shâpûr, son of Khwâjah Khwâjagi, a poet (who had first the takhalluṣ Faribi or Firibi, according to Taqi Kâshî Karibi, and was a sister's son of Umidi, see Bodleian Cat., No. 1072); besides lyrical poetry he wrote mathnawis, an extract from one of which, در صفت فرهاد (or, as the same passage is styled in the Bodleian MS., داستان کوه کوفتن فرهاد), belonging to an epopee و حسرو و شیردن, is quoted here; his death, which of course is not recorded here, took place about the same time as that of his protector Âsafkhân, i. e. in or shortly after A. H. 1021 (A. D. 1613); comp. also Ethé, Firdausi's Yûsuf und Zalkhâ, in 'Verhandlungen des VII Internationalen Orientalisten-Congresses, Semitische Section,' Vienna, 1888, p. 32, on fol. 404^a.

1120. Khwâjah 'Abd-alridâ, a nephew of Muhammad Sharif, poet and ta'rikh-writer; one of his ta'rikhs is on the death of Shâh Kâsim (perhaps identical with No. 1083), expressed by وفات شاه قاسم (= A. H. 994, A. D. 1586), the other on the wedding of Maḥmûdbeg Nâmi, represented in this form: الهی عاقبت محمود گردان (= A. H. 992, A. D. 1584), on fol. 405^b.

1121. Khwâjah Muhammad Ridâ, son of the preceding 'Abd-alridâ, a poet, who died very young, on fol. 406^a.

1122. Khwâjah Muhammad Muḥsin, nephew of 'Abd-alridâ, a poet, on fol. 406^a.

1123. Khwâjah Niẓâm-almulk, wrote occasionally poetry, on fol. 406^b.

1124. Khwâjah Ja'far, a good physician, writer of riddles and occasional poet, on fol. 406^b.

1125. Maulânâ Atḡal Nâmi, was attached to Umidi his whole lifetime and left a diwân of ghazals, on fol. 407^a.

1126. Khwâjah Hidâyat-allâh Musharraf (or Mushrif), a poet, who excelled in writing parodies to verses of the Shâhnâma, Lailâ and Majnûn, and other poems, on fol. 407^a.

1127. Mirzâ Muhammad (in the following copy 'Ali), with the takhalluṣ Khulkî, on fol. 407^a.

1128. Maulânâ Fahmi, had poetical contests with Maulânâ Sahmi of Bukhârâ: one of his kit'as, quoted here, refers to Mir Bâkir of Astarâbâd, on fol. 407^a.

1129. Maulânâ Muhammad Sairi, a cousin of the preceding poet, on fol. 407^b.

1130. Maulânâ Ghafûri, on fol. 407^b.

1131. Maulânâ Câcî (جاجی in the index, جاجی in the text; the following copy reads Hâji), wrote occasionally poetry, like the two preceding Maulânâs, on fol. 407^b.

1132. Maulânâ Hisâbi, composer of well-measured verses, on fol. 407^b.

Damâwand, on fol. 407^b:

1133. Amir Ghiyâth-al-din Muhammad bin Amir Yûsuf of Shakarâb (in the district of Damâwand), got his first instruction from his uncle Amir Fakhr-al-din.

- later on he studied under Saif-al-din Taftâzânî; in Sultân Husain Mirzâ's reign he became master in one of the madrasas (of Harât); after that ruler's death he gained the favour of Muhammad Khân Shaibânî (A. H. 906-916=A. D. 1500-1510), and when Shâh Isma'il Safawî conquered Harât, he made him kâdî of Khurâsân. Ghiyâth-al-din was treacherously arrested by Amîrkhân, the Amîr-alumarâ of Khurâsân, and put to death, 56 years old, by his command A. H. 927=A. D. 1521 (one ta'rikh on his death is قتل بندگان مبرك, another, by Khwâjah Diyâ-al-din Miram, or, according to the following copy, Mir, والله شهيد و هو يحيى الموتى, out of which must be dropped in order to give the required date); as poet he used the takhalluṣ Khulki; he is the same Ghiyâth-al-din, at whose request Khwândamir composed the ḥisb al-sirr (comp. Rieu i. p. 98^a), on fol. 408^b.
1134. Maulânâ Sâ'il of Âh (in the district of Damâwand), he went in early youth to Hamadân and settled there for life; with the poet Hairati (died A. H. 961=A. D. 1554) he had continual disputes and a continual rivalry in poetry, on fol. 408^b.
1135. Maulânâ Saif-almulûk, originally of Damâwand, with the takhalluṣ Shujâ'i, a good poet and physician; in the latter capacity he attended Mir Sayyid Muhammad Jâmabâf (the distinguished Sûfî and rubâ'i-writer, see No. 639 above), on fol. 409^a.
1136. Maulânâ Kurbî, a poet, on fol. 409^b. Simnân, on fol. 409^b.
1137. Sakkâk, a companion of Shaikh Abû-alḥasan Bustî, on fol. 410^a.
1138. Shaikh al-'Arîf Rukn-almillâh wa al-din 'Alâ-aulah (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 132), the greatest Sûfî saint after Junaid; he was for some time in the service of the pâdishâh (i.e. Arghûnkhân, who reigned from A. H. 683 to A. H. 690=A. D. 1284-1291), but soon gave up all worldly affairs and devoted himself exclusively to a devotee's life. On his return, A. H. 689 (A. D. 1290), from the pilgrimage he went back to his native town; he died, 70 years old (other authorities give him 77), A. H. 736 (=A. D. 1336, not, as is wrongly stated here as well as in the following copy, A. H. 786), on fol. 410^a.
1139. Abû-albarakât Taqi-al-din 'Alî Dûstî, a companion and friend of 'Alâ-aulah, on fol. 410^a.
1140. Khwâjah 'Imâd-al-din Mas'ûd, was for some time wazir of Timûr, on fol. 410^b.
1141. Khwâjah Ghiyâth-al-din Sâlâr, was president of the council under Timûr, on fol. 410^b.
1142. Khwâjah Shams-al-din 'Alî, one of Shâhrûkh's wazirs, on fol. 410^b.
1143. Khwâjah Kutb-al-din Tâ'ûs, was for some time wazir under Mirzâ Abû-alkâsim Bâbar, the son of Baisunghar (A. H. 853-861=A. D. 1449-1457), and Sultân Abû Sa'id (A. H. 854-873=A. D. 1450-1469), on fol. 410^b.
1144. Khwâjah Nizâm-al-din Bakhtiyâr, became wazir in the first years of the reign of Sultân Husain Mirzâ (the successor of Abû Sa'id), on fol. 410^b.
1145. Najm-al-din, author of a few verses, on fol. 410^b.
1146. Amîr Yamani (or Yamini, as the index has), a poet, on fol. 410^b.
1147. Amîr Sayyid 'Alî, was engaged in writing a history of the Dakhan at the time when this work was composed; he also made verses, on fol. 410^b.
1148. Faribi, or Firibi, a poet, on fol. 410^b. Astarâbâd, on fol. 410^b.
1149. Shams-alma'âlî Kâbûs (i.e. Kâbûs bin Washmîr, the ruler of Jurjân, A. H. 366-403=A. D. 976-1012), renowned by his Arabic and Persian writings: he wrote Persian verses and had poetical contests with Ustâd Abûbâkr Khwârizmî; the best known among his prose-works is the كمال البلاغة, on fol. 411^a.
1150. Abû Manṣûr Tha'âlibî, contemporary with Kâbûs and author of a work, styled سبر الملوك, on fol. 411^b.
1151. Amîr 'Unsur-alma'âlî Kaikâ'ûs bin Iskandar bin Kâbûs (the king of Tabaristân), author of the famous فابوس نامه (commenced A. H. 473 or 475=A. D. 1080-1083, comp. W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 302 and 303) and of Persian verses, on fol. 411^b.
1152. Amîr-almu'azzam Nuṣrat-al-din (in the index Nuṣir-al-din) Kabûdjâma, rose to a high position under Sultân Tukush (the Khwârizmshâh A. H. 568-596=A. D. 1172-1200); he was at last denounced to his sovereign by his rivals and escaped death only by inducing those who arrested him, by means of rich gifts, to take him, before his execution, into the presence of the Shâh. There he succeeded by a clever impromptu poem in appeasing his anger, on fol. 412^b.
1153. Alamîr alkabîr Fakhr-aldaulah Mas'ûd bin Nuṣrat-al-din, son of Kabûdjâma, wrote Arabic and Persian poetry, on fol. 413^a.
1154. Abû 'Alî Jurjânî, who gave a clever interpretation of the word بخل, stinginess (the بلا=ب, the خ=خسران, the لوم=ل), on fol. 413^a.
1155. Shaikh Abû-alkâsim Jurjânî, on fol. 413^a.
1156. Sayyid alḥukamâ Sayyid Isma'il (i.e. Zain-al-din Abû Ibrâhim Isma'il bin al-Hasan bin Muhammad bin Alḥmad, or bin Alḥmad bin Muhammad, see Bodleian Cat., No. 1576 sq., and Rieu ii. pp. 466 sq. and 475 sq.), the great physician and author of the اغراض الطب (or كتاب اغراض, the ذخيرة خوارزمشاهي, here wrongly called an abridgment of the preceding work, the خفي علائي (which is the proper abridgment of the ذخيرة), etc. These works are stated here to have been dedicated to Îl Arslân Khwârizmshâh (which is impossible, since that Shâh reigned A. H. 551-567=A. D. 1156-1172, and Sayyid Isma'il died, according to the best authorities, A. H. 531=A. D. 1136, 1137; the correct name of the Shâh, in whose service he spent most of his time, is undoubtedly Kutb-al-din Muhammad Khwârizmshâh, who reigned A. H. 491-521=A. D. 1098-1127, and was the father of Atsiz bin Khwârizmshâh, A. H. 521-551=A. D. 1127-1156, for whom, when still heir-apparent, most of these works were written), on fol. 413^a.
1157. Hakim Bâlith (بالت), in the following copy Bâlit (بالت), a poet who is said here to have been quoted in 'Aufi's tadhkirah (in the only extant copy of that work in the Sprenger Coll. in Berlin his name, however, is not found), on fol. 413^a.
1158. Abû Dharâ'ah, one of the Sâmanide poets (Ethé, Rûdnag's Vorläufer, etc., No. 15), on fol. 413^b.
1159. Fakhr-al-din As'ad, the author of the epoee و نس و رامين (completed between A. H. 434 and 447=A. D. 1042-1055, see Bodleian Cat., No. 522; Zeitschrift der D. M. G. xxiii. p. 375 sq.; edited in the Bibl. Indica, on fol. 413^b.

1160. Lāmī, a poet, on fol. 414^b.

1161. Faṣīḥī, the author of the romantic mathnawī court-poet of Kaikā'ūs (No. 1151), on fol. 414^b.

1162. Amir Sayyid Sharīf-al-dīn 'Alī, was born A. H. 740 (A. D. 1339, 1340) in Ṭāghūn (طاغون) near Astarābād; became in A. H. 779 (A. D. 1377, 1378) acquainted with Shāh Shujā' and was appointed professor in the Dār-al-shifā or medical hospital of Shīrāz; he stayed there about ten years and wrote his Arabic glosses on the مطلوع (i.e. Sa'd-al-dīn Taftāzānī's commentary on Jalāl-al-dīn Muḥammad Kaẓwīnī's تلخيص المفتاح, completed A. H. 748 = A. D. 1347, 1348, comp. Loth, Arabic MSS., p. 246). In A. H. 789 (A. D. 1387), when Timūr took possession of Shīrāz, Sayyid Sharīf-al-dīn was ordered to Samarkand, where he remained till Timūr's death. Then he returned to Shīrāz, where he died A. H. 816 (A. D. 1413, 1414), 76 years old. He had frequent scientific disputations with Sa'd-al-dīn Taftāzānī (died A. H. 791 or 792 = A. D. 1389 or 1390). In Samarkand he wrote most of his famous Arabic glosses and commentaries, viz. حاشية شرح كشاف, حاشية شرح هداية حكمت ميرك, شرح مفتاح on Muḥammad bin Mubārak Shāh Bukhārī Mirak's commentary on the هداية of Mufaḍḍal bin 'Umar Abhari, who died A. H. 663 = A. D. 1265, see Loth, Arabic MSS., pp. 136 and 137), حاشية شرح حكمت العین (i.e. حكمة العين by Najm-al-dīn 'Alī bin 'Umar Kātibī Kaẓwīnī, who died A. H. 693 = A. D. 1294, see Loth, ib. p. 139), حاشية تلويح (the تلويح is Sa'd-al-dīn Taftāzānī's supercommentary on the توضيح, which is itself a commentary, composed on his 'principles of jurisprudence,' or تنقيب, by the author himself, 'Ubaid-allāh bin Mas'ūd Maḥbūbī Ḥanafī, who died A. H. 747 = A. D. 1346, 1347, see Loth, ib. p. 79), شرح موافق (commentary on the كتاب المواقف, or system of scholastic theology, by 'Aḍud-al-dīn Ījī, who died A. H. 756 = A. D. 1355, see Loth, ib. p. 114), حاشية تجريد اصفهاني (or simply التجريد, حاشية on Shams-al-dīn Maḥmūd Isfahānī's (died A. H. 749 = A. D. 1348) commentary on the تجريد الفوائد, Naṣir-al-dīn Ṭūsī's compendium of metaphysics and Muḥammadan faith, see Loth, ib. p. 106), حاشية شرح طوابع اصفهاني (glosses on the same Isfahānī's commentary on the طوابع الانوار, or compendium of scholastic theology by Naṣir-al-dīn 'Abdallāh Baidāwī, who died A. H. 685 = A. D. 1286, see Loth, ib. p. 111), حاشية بر شرح مطالع مولانا قطب الدين رازي (Kutb-al-dīn Muḥammad Rāzī, see No. 1076 above, died A. H. 766 = A. D. 1364, 1365), شرح تذكرة (commentary on Naṣir-al-dīn Ṭūsī's تذكرة, or elements of astronomy, see Loth, ib. p. 218), شرح جقميني (a commentary on the ملخص, or compendium of astronomy, by Maḥmūd bin Muḥammad bin 'Umar Caḡmīnī, or Caḡhmīnī, resp. Jaghmīnī, see Loth, ib. p. 219), حاشية شرح اشارات (probably Naṣir-al-dīn Ṭūsī's commentary on Ibn Sīnā's الاشارات

حواشي متوسط and حواشي راضي), والتنبيهات (glosses on the middle commentary of Rukn-al-dīn Ḥasan Astarābādī, who died A. H. 717 or 715 = A. D. 1317 or 1315, on the كافية في النحو by Ibn Ḥājib, who died A. H. 646 = A. D. 1248, 1249, see Loth, ib. p. 258); he composed there besides a Persian commentary on the same Kāfiyah (فارسي در كافيہ), a Persian treatise on logic (الرسالة الكبرى في المنطق, see Rieu ii. p. 812), and the well-known Persian work on Arabic inflections, styled صرب مبر (Rieu ii. p. 522). After his return to Shīrāz he added to this list of publications the حاشية شرح مختصر اصول ابن حبيب (glosses on the commentary, probably 'Aḍud-al-dīn Ījī's, on Ibn Ḥājib's مختصر المنتهى, or principles of jurisprudence, see Loth, ib. p. 74) and the شرح فرائض سراجي (commentary on Sirāj-al-dīn Muḥammad bin Muḥammad bin 'Abd-alraṣhīd al-sajawandī's work on the right of inheritance, commonly styled العرائض السراجية or simply السراجية, see Loth, ib. p. 60), on fol. 414^b.

1163. Amir Jamāl-al-dīn, prime minister of Shāh Ṭahmāsp, on fol. 415^a.

1164. Amir Saif-al-dīn Muḥammad, son of the preceding Amir, enjoyed likewise great influence in the majlis of the Shāh (i.e. Ṭahmāsp), on fol. 415^a.

1165. Amir Amin-al-dīn Ḥasan, brother of Amir Saif-al-dīn, on fol. 415^a.

1166. Amir Taqi-al-dīn Muḥammad, son of the preceding Amir, became governor of Astarābād, on fol. 415^a.

1167. Amir Fakhr-al-dīn Simāki, was first teacher in and Shaikh-alislām of Sabzwār, afterwards prime-minister of Shāh Ṭahmāsp; among his works are mentioned حاشية هداية حكمت (see on the هداية, No. 1162), حاشية بر تهذيب (or as this copy originally had and as the following one distinctly reads: حاشية بر حاشية بهذيب, glosses on the glosses of Taftāzānī's تهذيب المنطق, see Loth, Arabic MSS., p. 146), and حاشية بر شرح تجريد (comp. No. 1162), on fol. 415^a.

1168. Maulānā 'Imād-al-dīn Kārī, on fol. 415^b.

1169. Maulānā Nizām, wrote qaṣidas in honour of the house of 'Alī (must be different from the Maulānā Nizām, mentioned in the Ātashkade, No. 324, Bodleian Cat., col. 273, as author of a mathnawī. سليمان وبلقيس, since his death is fixed there in A. H. 921 = A. D. 1515, and here is added the distinct statement that Nizām's daughter, after his death, applied in a kitāh, quoted here, to Sultān Ḥusain Mirzā, who died A. H. 911 = A. D. 1506, for a tombstone on her father's grave), on fol. 415^b.

1170. Hilālī, of Turkish extraction, but born in Astarābād; he went in early youth to Harāt; when 'Ubaid-allāhkhān conquered that city, he gained the favour of that Uzbek invader by a qaṣidah; but as Maulānā Bakā'ilang and Maulānā Shams-al-dīn Kulistānī, who were in 'Ubaid-allāhkhān's service, grew envious of him and calumniated him as a heretic, he was put to death (A. H. 939 = A. D. 1532, 1533, see Bodleian Cat., No. 1019 sq.), a rash deed, of which the Khān afterwards greatly repented; of Hilālī's works are mentioned here only the two mathnawis, شاه و درویش, as well as a diwān of ghazals (the صفات العاشقين is omitted), on fol. 416^a.

1171. Maulānā Saḥābī, settled in Najaf, particularly renowned as rubā'i-writer (he died A.H. 1010=A.D. 1601, 1602, see the Khulāṣat-alafkār, No. 130. Bodleian Cat., col. 307, and ib., col. 667), on fol. 416^b.

1172. Mir Muḥammad Mu'min, a poet, went to the Dakhan and rose to high favour at the court of Ibrāhīm Kūṭshāh (who died A.H. 988=A.D. 1580); at the time when this work was composed he was in the service of Ibrāhīm's son and successor, Muḥammad Kūh Kūṭshāh (A.H. 988-1020=A.D. 1580-1612), on fol. 417^a.

1173. Maulānā Sultān Muḥammad Šidkī, a poet, lived many years in Kāshān, on fol. 417^b.

1177. Sayyid 'Abd-alḥaqq, wrote some kit'as, on fol. 419^b.

1178. Mir Murādi, a poet (his death is fixed by Taqī Kāshī in A.H. 976 or 979=A.D. 1568, 1569, or 1571, 1572), on fol. 419^b.

1179. Raughani, a poet who went to India and died there, on fol. 419^b.

1180. Maulānā Nāṭikī, died on his way back from India; two rubā'is of his are quoted here, on fol. 419^b.

1181. Amir Shams-al-din 'Alī, a poet, on fol. 419^b.

1182. Nasim, a rubā'i of whom is quoted here, on fol. 420^a.

1183. Muḥammad Muḥim, son of Sayyid Muḥammad Dāniyāl, was in India at the time when this work was composed, on fol. 420^a.

1184. Kāsimi or Kismi (according to the index, Kāsimi; the following copy reads distinctly Kismatī), spent his life in the companionship of Khwājah Ḥusain Thana'i (of Mashhad, who died A.H. 996=A.D. 1588, see Bodleian Cat., No. 1045 sq.), an occasional poet like the preceding Muḥim, on fol. 420^a.

Tabaristān, on fol. 420^a; Māzandarān, on fol. 421^a; Āmul, on fol. 421^b.

1185. Shaikh Abū-al'abbās Kaṣṣāb, the Shaikh of Āmul and Tabaristān, contemporary with Abū-alfawāris Kirmānshāhi, on fol. 421^b.

1186. Shaikh Muḥammad Kaṣṣāb, pupil of the preceding Shaikh, lived in Dāmaghān, on fol. 421^b.

1187. Abū Ja'far (Muḥammad) bin Jarir al-Ṭabari, the famous author of the تفسیر کبیر, تائید طبری, the splendid commentary on the Kūrān, see Loth in Zeitschrift der D. M. G., vol. 35, p. 588 sq.), and other works (died A.H. 310=A.D. 922), on fol. 421^b.

1188. Muḥammad bin Maḥmūd Āmulī, author of a commentary on the کلیات or first book of Ibn Sinā's Kānūn (شرح بر کلیات فانون, see Loth, Arabic MSS.,

p. 228) in Arabic, and of the نفائس العیون (correctly, نفائس الفنون فی عرائس العیون), an encyclopædia of Muḥammadan sciences in Persian, an imitation of Kūṭh-al-din Shīrāzī's (died A.H. 710=A.D. 1310, 1311) نفائس التاج (see on the latter Rieu ii. p. 434; the نفائس were completed between A.H. 736 and 742=A.D. 1336-1342, see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1483-1491, and Rieu ii. p. 435 sq.), on fol. 421^b.

1189. Shaikh 'Izz-al-din Āmulī, author of the حسنیة, a Shī'ite treatise on Muḥammadan faith and duties, dedicated to Ḥasan Nāmi (in the following copy, حسن مت نامی), one of the kiugs of Māzandarān (see on the رسالۃ حسنیة or حسنیة, W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 246, and Rieu i. p. 35, where no author's name is given), on fol. 422^a.

1190. Abū-alfath Āmulī, one of whose rubā'is is quoted here, on fol. 422^a.

1196. 'Ain-alzamān Jamāl-al-din Kilakī (in the index and in the Safinat-alauliyyā, No. 124, Kih), one of the Khalīfas of Shaikh Najm-al-din Kubrā (who died A.H. 618=A.D. 1221), on fol. 424^a.

1197. Khwājah Tāj-al-din 'Alishāh, was first wazīr under Uljā'itū Sultān (A.H. 703-716=A.D. 1303-1316) conjointly with Khwājah Rashīd (the author of the Jamī'-altawārīkh, see No. 17 in this Cat.); after Rashīd's assassination under Uljā'itū's successor, Abū Sa'id, he combined all power in his own hand; he died A.H. 723 (A.D. 1323), on fol. 424^a.

1198. Khwājah Najm-al-din Maḥmūd (i.e. Maḥmūd Gāwān bin Shaikh Muḥammad Gilānī), known as Khwāja-i-Jahān, a title of honour, bestowed upon him by Sultān Muḥammadshāh of the Bahmani dynasty in the Dakhan (who reigned A.H. 867-887=A.D. 1463-1482); he was falsely accused before the Sultān, who gave orders for his execution (A.H. 886=A.D. 1481). Among his writings رسالۃ در انشا is mentioned, by which no doubt the مناظر الانشا is meant, a treatise on refined prose-writing, see Bodleian Cat., No. 1348 (a collection of model letters, styled ریاض الانشا, by the same author, is described ib., No. 1349); he used to send presents to renowned Shaikhs of the Irāk and Khurāsān, for instance, to the poet Jāmī, who thanked him in a kasidah, on fol. 424^b.

1199. Amir Najm-al-din Mas'ūd, one of the famous men of Rasht, who enjoyed afterwards the favour of Shāh Isma'il Ṣafawī and rose to the rank of a wakil, on fol. 425^a.

1200. Bābā Naṣībī, a poet who was brought under the notice of Sultān Ya'qūb of the Āḡ-ḳoyunlū dynasty by Bābā Fiḡhānī of Shirāz (see Nos. 203 and 212); he died according to A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 510, A.H. 944=A.D. 1537, 1538, on fol. 425^a.

1201. Kārkiyākhān Aḥmad, the king of Gilān, who was, after a reign of thirty-one years, deposed and imprisoned by Shāh Tahmāsp Ṣafawī, A.H. 974 (A.D. 1566); after Shāh Muḥammad's accession (A.H. 985=A.D. 1577) he was released from his twelve years' imprisonment and reinstated in his kingdom; but he proved himself a very bad ruler, and when Shāh 'Abbās after his accession summoned him to his court, he did not obey, but began secret negotiations with the Turkish Sultān. Thereupon 'Abbās got infuriated against him and set out to punish him, but he escaped in a ship and went towards Shirwān. He finally abandoned his project of an alliance with the Turks, and repaired to Najaf and Karbalā, where he led a contemplative life at the time when this work was composed. During his imprisonment he had exchanged rubā'is with Shāh Isma'il II Ṣafawī, who had been confined by his father Tahmāsp in the same fortress of Ḳahḳah as he; he also wrote ghazals, on fol. 425^b.

1202. Shaikhzāda, with the takhalluṣ Fidā'i, son of Shaikh Muḥammad Lāhijī, the author of a commentary on the مفاتیح الاعجاز فی شرح گلشن راز (i.e. the گلشن راز), commenced A.H. 877=A.D. 1473; Shaikhzāda was a poet of considerable power (Muḥammad Lāhijī, the father, with his full name, Shaikh Shams-al-dīn Muḥammad bin Yahyā Lāhijī Nūrbakhlshī, was a renowned poet too, with the takhalluṣ of Asirī, see Rieu ii. p. 650; Shaikhzāda died A.H. 927=A.D. 1521), on fol. 426^a.

1203. Kādi 'Abdallāh Yaqīnī, belonged on his father's side to the Nūrbakhlshī order, and was on his mother's side a nephew of Shaikh Aḥmad Lāhijī; he wrote some verses, on fol. 426^b.

Shaikh Šadr-al-din Mūsā, son and spiritual successor of the preceding Shaikh and grandson of Shaikh Zāhid; most of the reigning princes of his time had enjoyed his tuition, for instance, Jāmbegkhān and his son Turdibegkhān, Amir Timūr Gurgān, etc.; he died, according to the Ḥabīb-al-siyar (see Rieu i. p. 346), A. H. 758 (A. D. 1357), on fol. 461^b.

1361. Shaikh Khwājah 'Alī, son and spiritual successor of Shaikh Šadr-al-din Mūsā, on fol. 462^a.

1362. Shaikh Ibrāhīm, son of Shaikh Khwājah 'Alī, who at the end of his life undertook the pilgrimage to Hījāz and appointed Ibrāhīm his deputy: Khwājah 'Alī died on the way back, and Ibrāhīm became his Khālifah, on fol. 462^a.

1363. Sulṭān Junaid, Shaikh Ibrāhīm's son and spiritual successor, who by his popularity roused the jealousy and suspicion of Mirzā Jahānshāh, the ruler of the two 'Irāqs and Ādharbaijān (No. 1337 above), and had to leave Ardabil for Diyārbakr, where he married Khadijah, the sister of the governor Abū-al-naṣr Ḥasanbeg. After some time he was again compelled to leave Diyārbakr, and on his way to Gurjistān he got, in Shirwān, into conflict with Khālil-allāh (the Shirwānshāh), and was killed by him (A. H. 860 = A. D. 1456, as we learn from other sources), on fol. 462^a.

1364. Sulṭān Ḥaidar, son and spiritual successor of Sulṭān Junaid and nephew of Amir Ḥasanbeg; the latter, after his victory over Mirzā Jahānshāh and Sulṭān Abū Sa'īd (i.e. Abū Sa'īd Mirzā Gurgāni, who reigned A. H. 854-873 = A. D. 1450-1469), married his daughter, Ḥalimalbegi Āghā, to Sulṭān Ḥaidar; the issue of this marriage was three sons, one of whom was Shāh Ismā'il, the first independent ruler of the Šafawī dynasty: Sulṭān Ḥaidar fell, like his father, in a fight with the then Shirwānshāh (the son of Khālil-allāh) and his ally, Sulṭān Ya'qūb (see No. 1330 above). This event took place (according to other sources) A. H. 893 (A. D. 1488), on fol. 462^a.

1365. Shaikh Abū Zar'ah (see Barbier de Meynard, Dictionnaire géogr. etc., p. 22, foot-note), accompanied Shaikh 'Abdallāh Khafif (Abū 'Abdallāh bin Khafif? see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 144) on his pilgrimage to Hījāz, on fol. 462^b.

1366. Maulānā Ḥusain, a relation of Sulṭān Ḥaidar (No. 1364), at whose suggestion he went for his studies to Khurāsān; he also wrote poetry occasionally, on fol. 462^b.

1367. Maulānā Aḥmad, on fol. 463^a.

1368. Khān Mirzā, son of Ma'šūmbeg, the wakil of Shāh Tahmāsp Šafawī; he was a good lawyer and occasional poet, on fol. 463^a.

1369. Nizāri, a good poet, on fol. 463^a.

1370. Maulānā Ya'qūb, another poet, on fol. 463^a.

1371. Wārithu, likewise a poet, on fol. 463^b.

1372. Jāmi, author of a few verses, on fol. 463^b.

1373. Fardī, wrote also occasionally verses, on fol. 463^b. Khalikhāl, on fol. 463^b:

1374. Maulānā Shaikh Aḥmad Fanā'i (so probably correct in the following copy and in Barbier de Meynard, loc. cit., p. 211; this copy reads, both in text and index, فناي), Šūfi and poet, a grandson of Shaikh Abū Yazīd Khalkhāl; he enjoyed the tuition of Amir Ghiyāth-al-din-maṣṣūr, Maulānā Aḥmad Abiwardi, Maulānā Shams-al-din Muḥammad Husri, and Maulānā Kamāl-al-din Ḥusain Lāri (in the following copy Dāri); he died in Kāzwīn, A. H. 975 (A. D. 1567, 1568), on fol. 463^b.

1375. Maulānā Faḍl (in the following copy Afḍal), brother of the preceding Shaikh, likewise Šūfi and poet, on fol. 464^a.

1376. Maulānā Malik Sa'īd, a poet, on fol. 464^a.

1377. Imāmi, one rubā'i of whom is quoted here, on fol. 464^a.

1378. Maulānā Ḥusain, author of various glosses (حاشية); the most important are the glosses on the نهذب المنطق والكلام by Taftāzāni (who died A. H. 791 or 792 = A. D. 1389, 1390, see No. 534), on fol. 464^a.

Urdubād, on fol. 464^a:

1379. Mirzā Kāfi, occupied the post of Munshi-almaṣālik for years, on fol. 464^b.

1380. Khwājah Ḥatīnbeg, a cousin of Mirzā Kāfi, was first wazir of Yaktāshkhān, the ruler of Kirmān; after the overthrow of the latter by Shāh 'Abbās I, he gained the favour of that monarch and became, after the dismissal of Mirzā Luṭfi, wazir of the realm, a post he still held at the time when this work was composed, on fol. 464^b.

1381. Mirzā Šādiq, nephew of Mirzā Kāfi, went after the completion of his studies to the Dakhan, where he stayed ten years in middling circumstances till he rose under Murtaḍā Nizānshāh (A. H. 972-996 = A. D. 1565-1588) to the rank of a wakil or chief administrator of the realm; but he soon lost both this position and his life; three of his rubā'is are quoted here, and one of Mullā Zuhūrī respecting Šādiq's fate, on fol. 464^b.

1382. Kādi Muḥammad, with the takhalluṣ Naṣri, a good poet, on fol. 465^a.

1383. Fikri, also a poet, on fol. 465^a.

Marāgha, on fol. 465^a:

1384. Laṭīf-al-din Zākī, whose family came originally from Marāgha; but he himself was born and brought up in Kāshghar and lived as panegyrist at the court of the ruler of that country, on fol. 465^a.

FIFTH IḤLIM: Shirwān, with its principal towns of Bākā, Ars (or Arsh), Shamākhī, and Kābalah, on ff. 466^a and b:

1385. Sulṭān-alshu'arā Ḥassān-al'ajam Afḍal-al-din Badīl (the substitute, i.e. of the great poet Sanā'i) Khākāni, the famous panegyrist; his real name is given here as Afḍal-al-din ibn 'Alī alshirwāni; when he wanted to retire into solitary life and could not obtain the Khākān's permission to do so, he took flight to Bāilakān, but was arrested on the road and imprisoned. After seven months' confinement in prison he was released through the intercession of the mother of the Khākān, and now went on a pilgrimage to Makkah. This journey he turned to a poetical account in his تحفة العراقيين. His death is fixed here in A. H. 582 (A. D. 1186), a date which is impossible, as Rieu ii. p. 559 has conclusively proved; he probably died about A. H. 595 (A. D. 1199). The Khākān, who was chiefly the object of Khākāni's praise (as here stated), was the Khākān-i-Kabir Minūčihir of Shirwān, who according to the آر جهان of Kādī Ahmad Ghaffārī traced his pedigree back to Anūshirwān in the following way: Abū-almuẓaffar Minūcihr bin Kasrān bin Kāwus bin Shahriyār bin Garshāsp bin Afridūn bin Farāmurz bin Salār bin Zaid bin Jūn bin Marzubān bin Hurmuz bin Anūshirwān ('Abdallāh Baiḏāwī, on the other hand, in his نظام التواريخ traces the king's genealogy back to Bahrām Cūbin, the rebellious general of Hurmuz IV, who reigned A. D. 578-590). The author inserts here a short account of the successors of Minūcihr, viz. Farrukhzād, Gushtāsp, Farāmurz, Farrukhzād bin Farāmurz, Kaikubād, Kāwus (died A. H. 774=A. D. 1372, 1373), Hūshang (died A. H. 784=A. D. 1382, 1383), Shaikh Ibrāhīm bin Sultān Muḥammad, the contemporary of Timūr (died A. H. 820=A. D. 1417), Sultān Khalīl bin Shaikh Ibrāhīm (died A. H. 867=A. D. 1462, 1463, comp. No. 1363 above; his name Sultān Khalīl is a chronogram for his accession, viz. 820). Farrukh Yasār bin Khalīl the Shirwānshāh (Shirwānshāh is here said to be a chronogram for his accession, which accordingly would have taken place in A. H. 863=A. D. 1459, apparently four years before his father's death; he was killed by Shāh Isma'il Ṣafawī A. H. 906=A. D. 1500, 1501), Bahrām-beg bin Farrukh Yasār (died A. H. 907=A. D. 1501, 1502), Ghāzīb-beg bin Farrukh Yasār (died A. H. 908=A. D. 1502, 1503), Shaikh Ibrāhīm, known as Shaikh Shāh bin Farrukh Yasār (died A. H. 930=A. D. 1524), Sultān Khalīl bin Shaikh Shāh (died A. H. 942=A. D. 1535, 1536), Shāhrukh bin Sultān Farrukh bin Shaikh Shāh (nephew of Khalīl and last independent ruler of Shirwān, taken prisoner by Shāh Ṭahmāsp A. H. 945=A. D. 1538, 1539, and died one year after, A. H. 946=A. D. 1539, 1540), on fol. 467^a.

1386. Afṣāh-aldin Falakī, a poet who is said by Ḥamd-allāh Mustaufī to have been Khākānī's teacher, but, according to Shaikh Ādhuri in his جواهر الاسرار, both Khākānī and Falakī were pupils of Abū-al'alā Ganjawi, a statement which seems corroborated by some allusions in Khākānī's elegy on Falakī's death (A. H. 577=A. D. 1181, 1182, comp. Ātashkada in Bodleian Cat., col. 266, No. 133), on fol. 472^b.

1387. Sayyid Dhū-alfakār, the great kasidah-writer (see Bodleian Cat., No. 1333, col. 821, and Ātashkada, ib., col. 266, No. 131; Zeitschrift der D. M. G. xv. p. 755 sq.); some verses from a very elaborate kasidah in praise of the wazir of Shirwān, Muḥammad al-māstawī (المستوى so in this and the following copy; in Ātashkada and Zeitschrift loc. cit. Māstari), are quoted here among other specimens. Dhū-alfakār went afterwards, as is stated here, to the Irāk and became a favourite of Sultān Muḥammad bin Tukush, the Khwārizmshāh (A. H. 596-617=A. D. 1200-1220), who commissioned him to celebrate his exploits in an epic poem in the metre of the Shāhnāma (comp. on the doubtfulness of this statement Zeitschrift loc. cit. p. 756); the date of his death, as usually given, was A. H. 689 (A. D. 1290), on fol. 474^b.

1388. 'Izz-aldin, a poet (was according to Ātashkada, loc. cit. No. 132, contemporary with Khākānī), on fol. 475^a.

1389. Abū Ṭāhir, wrote some poetry (this poet is mentioned in the index, but not in the text; the following copy, however, contains this item).

IND. OFF.

1390. Sayyid Ḥasan Wā'iz, a good calligrapher and occasional poet, on fol. 476^a.

1391. Manlānā Mas'ūd, one of the court-poets of the Sultān Ḥusain Mirzā, on fol. 476^a.

1392. 'Abdī, of whom a few verses are quoted, on fol. 476^a.

1393. Amīr Jalāl-aldin, wazir of Amīr 'Alī Pādishāh, on fol. 476^a.

1394. Maulānā Amīr Kamāl-aldin Mas'ūd, well versed in logic and author of glosses (حاشية) on the شرح حکمة العین (a commentary by Shams-aldin Muḥammad bin Mubārak Shāh Bukhārī, commonly called Mirak, on the حکمة العین, a work on metaphysics and physics, by Kātibi Kazwini, who died A. H. 693=A. D. 1294, see above, No. 1244, and Loth, Arabic MSS., p. 139), on fol. 476^a.

1395. Maulānā Pir Muḥammad, in Akbar's service, on fol. 476^a.

Arrān, on fol. 476^a:

1396. Shaikh Abū-al'abbās, with his real name, Ahmad bin Muḥammad bin Hārūn alṣūfī, on fol. 476^b.

Tiflis, on fol. 476^b; Ganja, on fol. 476^b:

1397. Abū-al'alā, was king of poets in Shirwān under the Shirwānshāh-i-Kabir Jalāl-aldin wa alduyā Akhtasān or Akhsatān Minūcihr (so distinctly both here and in the following copy, a mixture of two royal personages, father and son, Akhsatān being the son of Minūcihr, according to Rieu ii. pp. 559 and 567; but in the index, ib. iii. p. 1165^b, the order is reversed and Minūcihr represented as son of Akhsatān; in the list of Shirwānshāhs above, No. 1385, no Akhsatān appears, the name of Minūcihr's son and successor being given as Farrukhzād); he married his daughter to Khākānī, on fol. 576^b.

1398. Ibn Khaṭīb, contemporary with Sultān Maḥmūd of Ghazna, exchanged many منظومات with his sweetheart Mahisti, on fol. 478^a.

1399. Mahisti, according to some of Nishāpūr, according to others—and that seems the correct version—of Ganja, Ibn Khaṭīb's sweetheart, wrote pleasant verses, on fol. 478^b.

Bailakān, on fol. 478^b:

1400. Mujir-aldin, court-poet of the Atābegs of Ādbarbaijān, especially of Kizil Arslān (A. H. 582-587=A. D. 1186-1191), who, however, roused the poet's jealousy and anger by bestowing greater favour on Athir-aldin Akhsikati and Jamāl-aldin Ashihari. Mujir-aldin thereupon addressed a famous ḳiṭ'ah to Kizil Arslān. He also attached himself for some time to Sultān Tughrul bin Arslān Saljūki (A. H. 571-590=A. D. 1176-1194). Later on he was sent to Iṣṭahān as revenue-collector, where he exchanged bitter satires with Sharaf-aldin Shufurwah and Jamāl-aldin 'Abd-alrazzāk. He was assassinated by an excited mob in a bath of that town (A. H. 594=A. D. 1198, see Bodleian Cat., No. 559). Amīr Khusrāo in the preface to his غزو الکمال places him as poetical genius above Khākānī, whose pupil he is said to have been, on fol. 479^a.

Khwārizm, on fol. 481^a:

1401. Shaikh Najm-aldin Kubrā, with the Kunyah Abū-aljanāb, and his real name, Ahmad bin 'Umar

(Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 124), died A.H. 618 (A.D. 1221); among his pupils and disciples are mentioned here: Majd-al-din Baghdâdi, Sa'd-al-din Hummû'i, Kamâl Jandi, Radi-al-din 'Alî Lâlâ, Saif-al-din Bâkharzî, Najm-al-din Râzi, Jamâl-al-din Kili, and Maulânâ Bahâ-al-din Walad (comp. on these Shaikhs, Safinat-alauliyâ, Nos. 125-129 and 136); a number of rubâ'is by Najm-al-din Kubrâ are quoted here, on fol. 482^b.

1402. Shaikh Majd-al-din Baghdâdi, pupil of the preceding Shaikh, with the Kunyah Abû Sa'id and his real name Sharaf bin al-Mu'ayyad: according to some he was originally of Baghdâd, in so far as Sultân Muḥammad Khwârizmshâh (see No. 1387 above) called by permission of the Khalîf Majd-al-din's father, a clever physician, from Baghdâd to his court. Majd-al-din was first in the service of the Kurd kings and of the Khwârizmshâh, but later on renounced all worldly appointments and became a pupil of Najm-al-din Kubrâ; after fifteen years he was raised to the dignity of a Shaikh-alshuyûkh of Khwârizm. He was killed during the invasion of Çingizkhân either A.H. 607 or 616 (A.D. 1210, 1211, or 1219); he composed a number of rubâ'is, on fol. 483^b, last line.

1403. Shaikh 'Alâ-al-din, on fol. 485^a.

1404. Naṣîr-al-din Maḥmûd bin Muẓaffar, a great Shâfi'ite lawyer, to whom Kâdî 'Umar bin Sahlân of Sâwa dedicated his work on philosophy and logic, entitled مماير نصیری; he occupied for a considerable time the post of wazir of Sultân Sanjar; but was eventually imprisoned and put to death together with his son, Shams-al-din 'Alî, in consequence of unfounded charges against the latter, on fol. 485^a.

1405. Şâliḥ Maḥmûd Balwâj, left his native town in Sultân Muḥammad Khwârizmshâh's time and attached himself to Çingizkhân, who employed him on an embassy to the Khwârizmshâh, and afterwards appointed him his wazir; after Çingizkhân's death (A.H. 624=A.D. 1227) Uktâi Kâ'ân confirmed him in his post, and after the conquest of Khaṭâ made him governor over that province; he held that position until his death in the reign of Mangû Kâ'ân (who died A.H. 656=A.D. 1258), on fol. 485^b.

1406. Maṣ'ûdbeg, son of Maḥmûd Balwâj, was (in the name of Çaghatâikhân, the son of Çingizkhân and brother of Uktâi Kâ'ân) governor of Transoxania and Turkistân during the reigns of Uktâi Kâ'ân, Kuyûkhân and Mangû Kâ'ân, the first three successors of Çingizkhân; when Alghû, the grandson of Çaghatâikhân, asserted his authority over those realms, he was appointed wazir, and continued to be at the head of affairs under Burâkkhân, who sent him A.H. 666 (A.D. 1267, 1268) on an important mission to Abâkâkhân; after Burâkkhân had been defeated by Abâkâkhân, Maṣ'ûdbeg left him and attached himself to Kaidâkhân, who, after the utter destruction of Bukhârâ and Maṣ'ûdbeg's madrasah there together with its library by Abâkâkhân's army, despatched Maṣ'ûdbeg thither to rebuild it, a task in which he wonderfully succeeded, on fol. 485^b.

1407. Iftikhâr-alafâdil Abû-al-kâsim Maḥmûd bin 'Umar Jâr-allâh Zamakhshari, the great Arabic scholar, (Zamakhshar is a village in the district of Khwârizm), who obtained his honorary title of 'neighbour of God' through his long residence in Makkah. Principal works: كتاب المغفل (the famous work on Arabic grammar), اساس البلاغة (on lexicography), ربيع الاررار, الرائض (on legal and religious ordinances), شرح اببات سيمويه (on jurisprudence), رؤس المسائل (on Arabic proverbs), مهم العربية (on prosody), شعائق النعمان, ديوان التمثيل, الاسلام, مقدمة الادب, المنهاج, معجم اللدود, ديوان, الكشاف (the well-known commentary on the Kurân, edited by Colonel Nassau Lees). After his return from Makkah Zamakhshari went to Baghdâd. He was born A.H. 467 (A.D. 1074, 1075, the following copy has 462=A.D. 1069, 1070) and died A.H. 538 (A.D. 1143, 1144), on fol. 486^b.

1408. Abû-alfatḥ Naṣîr bin al-Makârim (correctly bin Abû-almakârim) al-Muṭarrizi, a great lawyer, grammarian, poet, etc., died A.H. 610 (A.D. 1213, 1214) in Khwârizm, where he was known as the Khalîf of Zamakhshari; more than 700 elegies were composed on his death. Among his works are mentioned here: كتاب ازهدى, كتاب المعرب, شرح مقامات حربى (the well-known مصباح, see Loth, Arabic MSS., p. 252^b, is omitted here), on fol. 487^a.

1409. Abûbâkr Muḥammad bin 'Abbâs, nephew of Abû Ja'far bin Jarîr al-Ṭabarî (the great historian, comp. Nos. 2-13 in this Cat.); he was himself called طبرخيز (originating in Ṭabaristân), his mother being a native of that country, whereas his father belonged to Khwârizm; he died A.H. 383 (A.D. 993), on fol. 487^a.

1410. Imâm 'Alâ-al-din, a poet, quoted in 'Aufî's tadhkirah, on fol. 487^b.

1411. Khwâjah Abû-alwafâ (so correctly in the following copy; the present one has Abû-albakâ, a reading which is besides refuted by the immediately following paragraph), a great Şûfî and saint of Khwârizm, died A.H. 835 (A.D. 1431, 1432); he wrote a number of rubâ'is, on fol. 487^b.

1412. Maulânâ (Kamâl-al-din) Ḥusain, a pupil of the preceding Khwâjah, author of the المقصد الاقصى (with its full title, المقصد الاقصى فى ترجمة المستقصى), composed according to Rieu i. p. 144 and iii. p. 1081^a between A.H. 829 and 834=A.D. 1426-1431 and of a commentary on the بردة (by Muḥammad bin Sa'id Bûsri, who died A.H. 694, 696, or 697=A.D. 1295, 1297, or 1298, see Loth, Arabic MSS., p. 237^b); he wrote poetry occasionally, and died (according to Rieu, loc. cit.) A.H. 839 (A.D. 1435, 1436), on fol. 487^b.

1413. Pahlawân Maḥmûd Bûriyâ, author of the كنز الحقائق (containing stories in verse) and of some rubâ'is, on fol. 487^b.

1414. Ḥusâmî Karâkûlî, a poet, on fol. 488^a.

1415. Zulâlî (left out by mistake in the following copy), was a seller of vinegar in Harât, and wrote poetry occasionally, on fol. 488^a.

Mâwarâ-ulnahr (Transoxania), on fol. 488^a; Samar-kand, on fol. 488^b.

1416. Abû-al-kâsim bin Samâsh, on fol. 488^b.

1417. Abû-al-kâsim alhakim, a great adherent of Shaikh Abûbâkr Warrâk (No. 556 above), on fol. 489^b.

1418. Hāshimi Sughdī (سغدى, so in the following copy; the present one has, both in text and index, Sa'dī, سعدى), a pupil of Abūbākr Warrāk, on fol. 489^b.

1419. Hāfiẓ Abī 'Abdallāh bin 'Abd-alraḥmān bin Abū-alfāḍl Bahrām aldāramī (الدارمى), a great traditionist, born A. H. 181, died in Samarkand A. H. 275 (A. D. 797-888, 889), on fol. 489^b.

1420. Shaikh Abū Maṣṣūr Māturidī (Māturid is a place near Samarkand), one of the أئمة كلام who split into two sections, the Māturidiyyah, originating with Abū Maṣṣūr, and the Ash'ariyyah (according to A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 574, he was the spiritual guide of Sūzani, see below, Nos. 1427 and 1461), on fol. 489^b.

1421. Farid-al-din Abū 'Abdallāh Muḥammad al-Rūdagi, the earliest classic poet of Persia (see Ethé, Rūdagi der Sāmānidendichter, in 'Göttinger Nachrichten,' 1873, pp. 663-742), born blind in Rūdāg near Samarkand, panegyrist of Amīr Naṣr II (so to be read instead of نصير) bin Aḥmad bin Isma'il Sāmāni (who reigned A. H. 301-331=A. D. 913-942); he died A. H. 330 or 343 (A. D. 941, 942 or 954, 955), see Ethé, loc. cit., p. 673, on fol. 489^b.

1422. Zahir- (in the following copy Zahir-al-din) al-kuttāb Muḥammad bin 'Alī al-Kātib, author of the سندباد نامه, the اغراض السياسة (with a commentary), and the سمع الظهير في جمع الظهير (see on these three works H. Khalfa iii. p. 620, i. p. 368, and iii. p. 629 respectively; comp. also Rieu ii. p. 748, where the title of the third work is given as سمع الظهير); he also wrote some poetry, and flourished in the middle of the sixth century of the Hijrah, on fol. 492^b.

1423. Malik-alkalām 'Umar bin Muḥammad alḥar-tābādī (or, as the following copy reads, alḥarnābādī), went to Khurāsān and settled in Balkh, author of letters (رُعد) and rubā'is, on fol. 492^b.

1424. Abū Sa'id Aḥmad bin Muḥammad almanshūrī, a poet of the time of Sulṭān Maḥmūd of Ghazna (see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 3, No. 19), on fol. 493^a.

1425. Sayyid-alshu'arā Ustād Abū Muḥammad al-Rashidi, author of the زينت نامه (on the art of poetry), exchanged letters and entered into poetical contests with Maṣ'ūd bin Sa'd bin Salmān (No. 1032 above), who sent him his diwān as a present; he entered the service of the Khākān-i-azīm Kliḍr bin Ibrāhīm, at whose court 'Am'āk (of Bukhārā, see No. 1474 below) occupied the position of 'king of poets,' and a number of other poets flourished at that time, viz. Lu'lū, Kalāmi, Najīb, Sipihri (or 'Alī Sipihri, as he is called further down on fol. 512^b, l. 5 ab infra, under 'Am'āk'). Jauhari, Sa'dī, 'Alī Shaṭranjī, 'Alī Tāyidi, Yalyā Faghānī, Bukhārī Sāgharjī, etc. Besides other ḡasidas, some in praise of the Khākān Kadrkhān Abū-alma'ālī Jabrīl bin Aḥmad are quoted here; the Ātashkada (see Bodleian Cat., col. 287, No. 738), however, calls him a panegyrist of Malikshāh, and mentions a mathnawī of his, مهروفا, on fol. 493^a.

1426. Nizām-al-din Aḥmad bin 'Alī al'arīdī (usually known as Nizāmi 'arīdī), author of mathnawīs, of the مجمع النوار and the چهار معاله, in prose; according to 'Anfi he was attached to the Saljūq Sulṭān Tuḡhrul III bin Arslān (A. H. 571-590=A. D. 1176-1194); but he himself in his چهار مقاله states that he was forty-five years in the service of the kings of Ghūr, and praises especially 'Alā-al-din Abū 'Alī bin Ḥasan bin Ḥusain, with the epithet of Jahānsūz (comp. also Ātashkada in Bodleian Cat., col. 288, No. 745), on fol. 495^a.

1427. Hamid-al-din al-Jauhari (al-Mustaufī, as is added in the following copy), who had poetical contests with Ḥakim Sūzani (died A. H. 569=A. D. 1173, 1174, see Bodleian Cat., No. 541), on fol. 496^a.

1428. Mu'ayyid-al-din, author of the بهلولان نامه, on fol. 496^b.

1429. Ajall-alafḍal Shihāb-al-din Aḥmad bin al-Mu'ayyid, son of the preceding poet and a good ḡasidah-writer, on fol. 496^b.

1430. Ajall-almuḥtarim Bahā-al-din al-Karīmī, a poet who spent the later part of his life in Niurūz and Sijistān, where he was greatly honoured by the ruler of that country, Malik Shams-al-din, on fol. 497^b.

1431. Malik-alkalām Sayyid Ḥasan Ashrafi, the well-known poet (died A. H. 595=A. D. 1199, see Ātashkada in Bodleian Cat., col. 287, No. 733), on fol. 498^a.

1432. Ajall-alḥukamā Abū 'Alī Shaṭranjī (see above, No. 1425, where he is called 'Alī Shaṭranjī), court-poet of the Khākān, on fol. 500^a.

1433. Afṣah-alkalām Amīr Rūḥānī, a poet who was first in the service of Sulṭān Bahrāmshāh (A. H. 512-547=A. D. 1118-1152), and afterwards in that of Ātsiz the Khwārizmshāh (A. H. 521-551=A. D. 1127-1156), on fol. 500^b.

1434. Maulānā Jamāl (in the following copy Jamālī), a poet, on fol. 501^b.

1435. Khwājah Karīm-al-din, a pupil of Shaikh Nizām-al-din Auliya (see the Maṭlūb-altālibin, No. 653 in this Cat.), after whose death Sulṭān Muḥammad Tuḡhluk (A. H. 725-752=A. D. 1325-1351) made him Shaikh-alislām of the realm and bestowed upon him the honorary title of Anwār-almulk, on fol. 501^b.

1436. Maulānā Ṣadr-al-din Ibrāhīm, was for some time prime-minister of Mirzā Shāhrukh (A. H. 807-850=A. D. 1405-1447), on fol. 501^b.

1437. Khwājah 'Abd-almalik, wrote glosses on the هداية (either Alḥarī's, who died A. H. 663=A. D. 1264, 1265, or Marghinānī's, who died A. H. 593=A. D. 1197), on fol. 501^b.

1438. Maulānā Faḍil, wrote glosses on the شرح الشريعة (by which is probably meant the تحرير القواعد الشريعة), the commentary of Kuṭb-al-din Rāzī Taḥṭānī, who died A. H. 766=A. D. 1364, 1365, on the famous treatise on logic, styled الرسالة الشريعة by Kātibī Kaẓwini, see No. 534 above), on fol. 501^b.

1439. Khwājah Faḍl-allāh, a second Abū Ḥanīfah in jurisprudence and a second Ibn Ḥajīb in Arabic philology, on fol. 501^b.

1440. Maulānā Kamāl-al-din 'Abd-alrazzāk, the author of the famous history of the Timūrides, مطلع السعدین (see Nos. 192-195 in this Cat.), on fol. 501^b.

1441. Bisāṭi, a panegyrist of Sultān Khalil bin Mirānshāh Gurgān (who died A.H. 814=A.D. 1411), on fol. 501^b.

1442. Riyādi, a poet (who was drowned A.H. 884=A.D. 1479. 1480, see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 890 and 891), on fol. 501^b.

1443. Jauhari, an expert in the arts of prosody and rhyme and author of a poetical version of the سیر النبی, which he made at the request of Mir 'Alishir, on fol. 501^b.

1444. Mir Kuraishi, wrote some poetry, on fol. 502^a.

1445. Khwājah Hāji Muḥammad, wrote likewise some verses. on fol. 502^a.

1446. Maulānā Abū-alkhair, a great expert in philosophy and medicine and a good poet, went at the end of Sultān Husain Mirzā's reign to Harāt and stayed there till Muḥammadkhān Shaibāni, the Uzbekkhān, invaded Khurāsān and took Harāt (A.H. 913=A.D. 1507); he then returned with the Khān to Transoxania and was greatly honoured by him; at the time of the second invasion of Khurāsān, Kaskankarā Sultān, the ruler of Balkh, obtained from the Uzbekkhān permission to call Maulānā Abū-alkhair to his court, which he did, on fol. 502^a.

1447. Maulānā Kāsim Kāhi, with his real name Najm-aldin Muḥammad, and the Kunyah Abū-alkāsim; in his fifteenth year he became a pupil of 'Abd-alrahmān Jāmi, the great poet and Sūfi, and later on attached himself to Hāshimi Kirmāni, who had the honorary name of Shāh Jahāngir (see No. 291 above); afterwards, in Akhār's reign, he went to India, stayed some time in Banāras with Balādurkhān, the brother of the Khānzamān (see Nos. 411 and 412 above), and settled at last in Āgra, where he died, 110 years old, A.H. 988, the 2nd of Rabi'-althāni (A.D. 1580, May 17), a date which is ingeniously expressed by Faiḍi in the chronogram, دوم از ماه ربيع الثاني (not دوم as the word is wrongly spelt here and in the following copy; comp. Rieu iii. p. 1093^a, where he is called Kābuli and not Samarkandī); another ta'rikh on his death is by Maulānā Kāsim Bukhārī, one of Kāsim Kāhi's pupils: رفت ملا قاسم کاهی: a third by Maulānā 'Ārifi: زجهان رفته قاسم کاهی; a fourth by Mir Yūsuf Ashtarābādī, خوش طبع, only gives 987. Maulānā Kāsim Kāhi was a great musician and poet, on fol. 502^a.

1448. Maulānā Šadiḳ Ḥalwā'i, a descendant of the great saint Ḥalwā'i, called the شمس الائمة حلوائی, went after the performance of the pilgrimage to India, and stayed awhile in Lāhūr; on his way back to Samarkand he was detained by Muḥammad Ḥakim Mirzā in Kābul, who gradually handed the whole management of governmental affairs to him; after some years' stay in Kābul Maulānā Šadiḳ finally returned to his native town, where he was still at the time when this work was composed; he wrote occasionally poetry, on fol. 504^a.

1449. Bad'i, known as Maulānāzāda, wrote some verses, on fol. 504^b.

1450. Turdī rūda (تردی رود), in the following copy

(ترودی رود), whose father belonged to Harāt and was one of the clerks of Sultān Husain Mirzā; he himself went to India and rose to an important position; he specially excelled in the composition of ta'rikhs, for instance, on the capture of Barwaj (بروج) in Gujarāt by Mirzā Yān in A.H. 977 (A.D. 1569, 1570), فتح بروج کردند; on the death of Lācin Nāmi in A.H. 976 (A.D. 1568, 1569), حیف زلاچین شه دین برور, on fol. 504^b.

1451. Figāri, a poet who lived from the time of 'Ubad-Allahkhān Uzbek (A.H. 939-946=A.D. 1532-1539) to that of 'Abdallāhkhān (who succeeded his father in Samarkand A.H. 990=A.D. 1582, see No. 574 in this Cat.), on fol. 504^b.

1452. Manzari, a poet who gained the favour of the Khānkhānān Bairamkhān (see No. 409 above), on fol. 504^b.

1453. Mir Hāshim Muḥtarim, lived in India at the time of the composition of this work; he knew the whole Mahābhārata by heart, and wrote verses occasionally, on fol. 504^b.

1454. Šālih Nidā'i, a poet who wrote a mathnawī, styled عبد الله خان نامه, in praise of the deeds of 'Abdallāhkhān Uzbek, which, however, did not meet with particular favour, on fol. 504^b.

Kash (twenty farsangs south of Samarkand), also called Kubbat-alkhadra and Sarsabz (سرسبز, correctly Shahr-i-sabz, شهر سبز, as the following copy reads, comp. Vullers, Lexicon, ii. p. 836^b), on fol. 505^a:

1455. Abū Ishāq, on fol. 505^a.

1456. Khwājah Abū-albarakah, wrote some poetry, on fol. 505^a.

1457. Khwājah Bahā-aldin, son of the preceding Khwājah, wrote likewise verses, on fol. 505^a.

1458. Khwājah Ayyūb, another son of Khwājah Abū-albarakah and a good poet, on fol. 505^a.

Nasaf (eighteen farsangs from Samarkand), on fol. 505^b:

1459. Alṣadr alimām Sharaf-almillāh wa-aldin Husām-ala'immaḥ Muḥammad bin Abībakk, who, on his way to Makkah, had an interview in Rai with the poet Khākāni and with 'Umar Nūḳāni, the chief Qurān-reader of that town; Sharaf-aldin Husām (as he is usually called) wrote several kitās and a famous ḳaṣidah in praise of Kiliġ Tamghājkhān Ibrāhīmkhān bin al-Husain of Turkistān, who resided in Samarkand (about A.H. 558=A.D. 1163, see No. 746 above), on fol. 505^b.

1460. Alsayyid alajall Mufti-al'āṣr Shams-aldin (in the following copy Shams-aldā'i) alḥusaini, an occasional poet, of whom one rubā'i is quoted here, on fol. 507^a.

1461. Tāj-alshu'arā Muḥammad bin 'Alī al-Sūzani, the well-known ḳaṣidah-writer and satirical poet (who died A.H. 569=A.D. 1173, 1174, see Bodleian Cat., No. 541); he chose his takhalluṣ Sūzani, because, when studying in Bukhārā, he got enamoured with a young needle-maker (سوزنگر) and became himself in consequence an apprentice of that trade; besides other poems there is quoted here in full one of his best ḳaṣidas on the unity of God (در توحید), on fol. 507^a.

1462. Ḥakim Jamnati, contemporary with the wazīr 'Alā-almulk, wrote some poetry, on fol. 509^a.

Bukhārā, on fol. 509^b:

1463. Shaikh-almuḥaddithīn Abū 'Abdallāh Muḥammad bin Isma'il bin Ibrāhīm, the great traditionist and author of the famous مصنف, born A.H. 194 (A.D. 810), died A.H. 256 (A.D. 870, comp. No. 737 above, and Zeitschrift der D. M. G. iv. p. 5 sq.), on fol. 509^b.

1464. Abū Khālid Yazīd bin Hārūn, on fol. 509^b.

1465. Abūbākr Muḥammad bin 'Abdallāh Audani (اودنى), a Shāfi'ite lawyer, died A.H. 385 (A.D. 955) in Kalābād, one of the quarters of Bukhārā (see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 274, where his father is called Ibrāhīm), on fol. 509^b.

1466. Hāfiẓ Abū Naṣr Aḥmad bin Muḥammad bin Ḥasan, a traditionist, belonging to the same quarter of Bukhārā, on fol. 510^a.

1467. Jamāl-aldin Maḥmūd bin Aḥmad Naṣirī, was professor at the مدرسة نورية in Damascus, and died there A.H. 636 (A.D. 1238, 1239), on fol. 510^a.

1468. Daḳīqī, the Sāmānide poet, who began the poetical composition of the 'Book of Kings' under Amīr Nūḥ II bin Maṣṣūr (A.H. 365-387=A.D. 976-997) and wrote 1000 baits (comp. Ethé, Rūdagi's Vorläufer und Zeitgenossen, No. 19), on fol. 510^a.

1469. Amīr Abū-alḥasan 'Alī alaghā'ī, the contemporary of Daḳīqī, equally renowned as a valiant knight and as a poet (see Ethé, loc. cit., No. 20), on fol. 510^b.

1470. Alshaikh alajall Sa'd-aldin As'ad bin Shihāb, scholar and poet, on fol. 510^b.

1471. Alṣadr alḳabīr Burhān-alislām Taj-almillāh wa-aldin 'Umar bin Maṣ'ūd, a poet who greeted by a clever rubā'i the accession of Arslānkhān, the son of Sulṭān Ibrāhīm (of Ghazna, who reigned A.H. 451-492=A.D. 1059-1099), to the throne of Samarḳand, and also wrote an elegy on Ibrāhīm's death in form of a string of rubā'is; a qaṣīdah in honour of Kīlij Arslān Khāḳān (by whom the same Arslānkhān, son of Ibrāhīm, seems to be meant) is likewise quoted here, on fol. 511^a.

1472. Alṣadr alajall Nizām-almillāh wa-aldin Muḥammad bin 'Umar bin Maṣ'ūd, son of the preceding poet and occasional poet himself, on fol. 511^b.

1473. Sulṭān-al'ulamā Šadr-alsharī'ah, wrote verses occasionally, on fol. 512^a.

1474. Alajall Shihāb-aldin 'Am'aḳ, who composed a mathnawī, بوسف و زليخا, which can be read in two metres (the statement, given here, that 'Am'aḳ's poem was the first adaptation of the biblical story in Persian verse is, of course, wrong, see Ethé, Firdausi's Yūsuf und Zalikha, in Verhandlungen des VII internationalen Orientalisten-Congresses, Semitische Section, pp. 25 and 33, Wien, 1888). According to 'Aufi, 'Am'aḳ belonged to the panegyrist of the Saljūq rulers, but in Nizāmī 'Arūḳ's مقالات it is stated that he was king of poets at the court of the Khāḳān Khidr bin Ibrāhīm, the ruler of Turkistān and Transoxania (see No. 1425 above). The date of his death, which is not given here, was A.H. 543 or 544=A.D. 1148, 1149 (see also Butkhāna in Bodleian Cat., col. 200, No. 41, and Ātashkada, ib. col. 287, No. 723), on fol. 512^b.

1475. Amīr-i-'amid Kamāl-aldin Jamāl-alkuttāb, an intimate friend of Sulṭān Sanjar, on fol. 515^b.

1476. Ma'nawī, one of the old poets (see Ethé, Rūdagi's Vorläufer, etc., No. 10), on fol. 515^b.

1477. Alajall Sa'd-aldin Sharaf-alhukamā Kāfi-almajā (النجا) here both in text and index; the following copy reads Bukhārī, (بخارى), a poet of the Khwārizmshāhs, on fol. 515^b.

1478. Sa'd-aldin As'ad, another poet, on fol. 516^a.

1479. Ḥakim Samani (so here سمنى, in the following copy Shamaui شمى) ala'raj, engaged in many poetical contests; he wrote a satirical ḳiṭ'ah against Sirāj-aldin 'Ārif, on fol. 516^a.

1480. Balā'i Bukhārī, of whom one rubā'i is quoted here, on fol. 516^a.

1481. Jauhari (called in the Ātashkada, Bodleian Cat., col. 286, No. 717, and in Beale's Oriental Biogr. Dict., p. 136^a, Jauhari Zargar, the goldsmith), originally of Bukhārā and contemporary with Athīr-aldin Akhsikātī (see No. 1528 below); he grew up, however, in Irāk and composed at the request of Sulaimānshāh, the son of Sulṭān Muḥammad, the son of Sulṭān Malikshāh (of the Saljūks of Irāk, who ascended the throne in A.H. 547=A.D. 1152), an epic poem styled حکایت امیر احمد و مهستی; after the death of Sulṭān Muḥammad (the successor of Malikshāh) in A.H. 555 (A.D. 1160) Sulaimānshāh ascended the throne, but only reigned a little over six months; being very much addicted to pleasure and wine he renounced the crown and handed it over to Arslānshāh bin Tughrul bin Muḥammad bin Malikshāh (who reigned A.H. 556-571=A.D. 1161-1176); some of Jauhari's lyrical poems are quoted here, on fol. 516^b.

1482. Sa'd-aldin Maṣ'ūd Daulatyār, a poet, of whom one rubā'i is quoted, on fol. 517^a.

1483. Raunakī, a poet (who flourished under the last Sāmānides and the first Ghaznawides, comp. Ethé, Rūdagi's Vorläufer, etc., No. 17), on fol. 517^a.

1484. Majd-aldin Fahmī, a poet, on fol. 517^a.

1485. Shākiri, one of the older poets; Hindūshāh in his فرهنگ (i.e. المصاحح العجمية or صحاح عجم, see W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 204 sq., and Rieu ii. p. 515^a) quotes a few of his verses, on fol. 517^a.

1486. Khwājah 'Abd-alkhālīḳ Ghujdawāni, son of 'Abd-aljamīl (see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 76); his father had come from Rūm to Ghujdawān (near Bukhārā): when Khwājah Yūsuf Hamadāni (see No. 1016 above) came to Bukhārā, 'Abd-alkhālīḳ enjoyed his tuition. He had four Khalifas or spiritual successors, viz. Khwājah Abmad Šadīḳ, Khwājah Auliyāi Kalān, Khwājah Sulaimān Karmīnī, and Khwājah 'Ārif Riwgari (Riwgar is six farsangs from Bukhārā, see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 77, where 'Ārif is called a pupil of 'Abd-alkhālīḳ instead of merely his fourth Khalīfah). Khwājah 'Ārif Riwgari, whose disciple Khwājah Bahā-aldin Nakshband (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 82) is here said to have been, had likewise four Khalifas, one of whom was Khwājah Maḥmūd (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 78). Among the four Khalifas of Khwājah Maḥmūd one is again mentioned, viz. Khwājah 'Alī Rāmīnī (رامنى), so both here and in the following copy; Safinat-alauliyā, No. 79, reads Rāmīnī), with the epithet of 'Azizân, who lived 130 years and was buried in Khwârizm, on fol. 517^a.

1487. Khwâjah Muḥammad Bâbâ-i-Samâsi (so correctly in the following copy, comp. Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 80; here he is wrongly called, both in text and index, Bâbâ Humâ'i), the Khalifah of 'Azizân, on fol. 518^a.

1488. Sayyid Amir Kulâl, the Khalifah of the preceding Khwâjah (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 81) and spiritual guide of Bahâ-aldin Naqshband; he had been twenty years under Bâbâ-i-Samâsi's tuition, on fol. 518^a.

1489. Khwâjah Bahâ-aldin Naqshband, died A.H. 791 (A.D. 1389); he wrote rubâ'is occasionally, on fol. 518^a.

1490. Khwâjah 'Alâ-aldin 'Attâr, one of Khwâjah Bahâ-aldin's companions (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 85), on fol. 518^b.

1491. Khwâjah Hasan 'Attâr, son of the preceding 'Alâ-aldin, on fol. 518^b.

1492. Khwâjah Muḥammad Pârsâ (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 83), another of Bahâ-aldin's companions and author of the فصل الخطاب (see Rieu ii. pp. 863 and 864, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 294), on fol. 518^b.

1493. Khwâjah Abûnaṣr Pârsâ, son of the preceding Khwâjah (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 84), on fol. 518^b.

1494. Sayyid Burhân-aldin Khâwandshâh, who traced his pedigree back to Zaid, the son of the fourth Imâm Zain-al'âbidin (Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 8); after his father's death he went first to Balkh and then to Harât, where he enjoyed the tuition of many great Shaikhs, especially of Shaikh Bahâ-aldin 'Umar; after the latter's death he returned to Balkh, where he died A.H. 871 (A.D. 1466, 1467), and was buried opposite the tomb of Ahmad bin Khidrawaih (see No. 555 above). He left three sons: (a) Amirkhwând Muḥammad (usually called Mirkhwând or Mirkhound), the author of the روضة الصفا (see Nos. 24-75 in this Cat.), who died A.H. 903 (A.D. 1498); (b) Sayyid Nizâm-aldin, the prime-minister of Badi' al-zamân Mirzâ (the son of Sultân Husain Mirzâ, see No. 832 above); (c) Sayyid Ni'mat-allâh, on fol. 518^b.

1495. Khwândamir, the maternal grandson of Mirkhwând (so distinctly stated here twice, ll. 4 and 5 and l. 12, comp. Rieu i. p. 96^b) and author of the حبيب السير (Nos. 79-100 in this Cat.), which he dedicated to Khwâjah Habib-allâh Sâwajî (comp. Rieu i. p. 98). He lived in Harât from the time of Sultân Husain Mirzâ to the governorship of Dûrmishkhân, went then to India, where he spent some years in Humâyûn's service, and ended his life in Gujarât (A.H. 941=A.D. 1534, 1535), on fol. 519^a.

1496. Naṣir Bukhârî, author of a diwân (died A.H. 772=A.D. 1370, 1371, see Bodleian Cat., No. 801), on fol. 519^a.

1497. Khwâjah 'Ismat, son of Khwâjah Ma'sûd, who traced his origin back to Ja'far, the son of 'Ali bin Abi Tâlib; he was a favourite of prince Khalil Sultân (Mirânshâh's son, who died A.H. 814=A.D. 1411); when the intrigues of jealous courtiers separated him from his patron, he wrote a famous ghazal at the time of parting, a few verses of which, besides other lyrical poetry, are quoted here (he died A.H. 829=A.D. 1426, or according to a chronogram in the Makhzan-algharâib, A.H. 840=1436, 1437, see Bodleian Cat., No. 861, and col. 351, No. 1545), on fol. 519^b.

1498. Maulânâ Barandâk, a poet and favourite of Mirzâ Baikarâ (slain A.H. 819=A.D. 1416), Sultân Husain Mirzâ's grandfather (not brother, as he is strangely called here, he being the son of 'Umar Shaikh Mirzâ, and the grandson of Timûr, see Âtashkâda in Bodleian Cat., col. 286, No. 715), on fol. 520^a.

1499. Maulânâ Khayâlî, a poet (who died in Ulughbeg's reign, A.H. 850-853=A.D. 1446-1449, see Bodleian Cat., No. 871), on fol. 520^b.

1500. Maulânâ Saifi (i.e. Saifi 'Arûdî, who died A.H. 909=A.D. 1503, 1504, see Bodleian Cat., No. 984), went to Harât for study and obtained the favour of Mir 'Alî-shir; after his return he became tutor of Mirzâ Baisunghar bin Mirzâ Sultân Mahmûd bin Sultân Abû Sa'id (who ruled over Samarkand A.H. 900-905=A.D. 1495-1500), after whose assassination by Khusraushâh he settled in Bukhârâ, where he died a few years after, on fol. 520^b.

1501. Waṣîlî, wrote some verses, on fol. 520^b.

1502. Khwâjah Hâshimi, a descendant of Khwâjah 'Ismat (No. 1497) and grandson of Khwâjah Muḥammad Pârsâ (No. 1492), a poet in the time of 'Ubaid-allâh-khân Uzbeq (A.H. 939-946=A.D. 1532-1539); he is not to be confounded with Shâh Jahângir Hâshimi, the author of the مظهر الآثار (see No. 291 above), as has been done in the Âtashkâda (Bodleian Cat., col. 287, No. 726, where Hâshimi of Bukhârâ is stated to have written the مظهر الانوار, which is clearly a mistake for مظهر الآثار, comp. ib., col. 271, No. 257), on fol. 520^b.

1503. Niyâzi, a poet who went first to Harât, where he got acquainted with the clever musician Shâh Muḥammad Surnâ'i (سرنائی); he repaired afterwards to Balkh, which he had to leave on account of a satire on the inhabitants of that town who threatened to murder him, and began now a wandering and restless life, going to Kûlâb (the capital of Khatlân, see col. 420 above), where he fell in love with Mir Haidar 'Ali bin Sultân Uwais, thence to Badakhshân, Kâbul, Kandahâr, where he failed to obtain the favour of Muḥammad Bairamkhân Khân-khanân (see No. 409 above), and Sind. There again he was unable to get an admission to Mirzâ Shâh Husain's court, and lived for some time in dire want, till after Shah Husain's death his son, Mirzâ Bâkî, gave him some assistance. His desire to approach Sultân Akbar, however, remained unfulfilled; and when at last, through the intercession of Shâh Khwâjah, the son of Dûst Khâwand, a summons to appear in the imperial court was sent to Niyâzi, the poet had already breathed his last, on fol. 520^b.

1504. Raunakî, was first attached to Mirzâ Kâmrân (No. 405 above), and afterwards in the service of Mirzâ Ibrahim bin Mirzâ Sulaimân (No. 583 above) in Badakhshân, where he died A.H. 964 (A.D. 1557); some verses of a qaṣidah of his, in honour of Maulânâ Muḥammad Zâhid, are quoted here, on fol. 521^b.

1505. Kathirî, of whom one rubâ'i is quoted here, on fol. 521^b.

1506. Darwish Maḥsûd Tîrgar (the arrow-maker), a poet, on fol. 521^b.

1507. Maulânâ 'Ahdî Karâkûlî, wrote some rubâ'is, on fol. 521^b.

1508. Rahmî (as in the index of this and the text of the following copy; the present text reads Rahmî), wrote some poetry too, on fol. 522^a.

Farghâna, on fol. 522^a:

1509. Shaikh Muḥammad Sâḥirî, one of the Abdâls, on fol. 522^a.

1510. Shaikh Aḥmad Juwâlgar (the bag-maker), a friend of the preceding Shaikh, details of whose life are given in the نفعات الألسن, on fol. 522^a.

1511. Bâb-i-Farghânî, a great Shaikh, contemporary with the author of the كشف المحجوب (i.e. Abû-alḥasan 'Alî bin 'Uthmân bin Abî 'Alî aljullâbî alhujwirî, who died after A.H. 465=A.D. 1073, see Bodleian Cat., No. 1245), who once visited him, on fol. 522^a.

1512. Shaikh Sa'd-aldin (Muḥammad bin Aḥmad, see H. Kalfa vi. p. 158), author of the مناهج العباد إلى المعاد, on fol. 522^b.

1513. 'Abdallâh bin Muḥammad al-'Ubaiddi (or. as H. Kalfa iv. p. 169 calls him, Burhân-aldin 'Ubaiddallâh bin Muḥammad 'Ubaiddali Sharif Farghânî, commonly called 'Ubrî, who died A.H. 743=A.D. 1343, 1344), a Hanafite and Shâfi'ite lawyer, author of a شرح طوابع (a commentary on Nâsir-aldin 'Abdallâh bin 'Umar Baidâwî's مطالع الأنوار من مطالع الانوار, see Loth, Arabic MSS., p. 110^b), a شرح المصباح and a شرح المنهاج (i.e. منهاج الوصول إلى علم الأصول by Baidâwî, see H. Kalfa vi. p. 217), on fol. 522^b.

Andijân (in the middle of Farghâna), on fol. 522^b:

1514. Sayyid Shams-aldin Muḥammad, with the epithet, Mir Sayyid Sarbarahna (the bare-headed), came in Sulṭân Ḥusain Mirzâ's reign to Harât and occupied there for twenty years the post of a superintendent of the tomb or shrine of Shaikh Luḡmân Paranda. Finally he was removed from that office in consequence of a charge of lavish expenditure brought against him. But through a clever ḡasidah addressed to Mir 'Alshir he obtained again the post of wazir, which he held for some time till he retired from the world, on fol. 522^b.

1515. Amir Nizâm-aldin Kalân Khwâjah, wrote some poetry, on fol. 522^b.

1516. Sipâhî, grandson of Khwâjah Kalân (or Kalân-leg, as he is called here), a poet who died very young, on fol. 523^a.

1517. Safâ'î, a clever man, who also wrote verses occasionally, on fol. 523^a.

1518. Hîjri, an expert in the art of prosody and rhyme, and occasional poet, on fol. 523^a.

1519. Kâdî 'Abd-alkamî (عبد السميع), a pupil of Maulânâ Aḥmad Jand, and a descendant of the author of the هداية (probably the work of that title on Hanafite law, by Burhân-aldin Abû-alḥasan 'Alî bin Abûbâkr bin 'Abd-aljalîl Marghinânî, whose death is commonly fixed in A.H. 593=A.D. 1197, see No. 1437 above and comp. H. Kalfa vi. p. 479, No. 14366; G. Flügel iii. p. 202; Loth, Arabic MSS., p. 54; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 247; edited Calcutta, A.H. 1234, translated into English by C. Hamilton, London, 1790, second edition by S. G. Grady, London, 1870); he was, at the time when this work was written, in India by order of the Kâdî-alkudât, on fol. 523^a.

Ūsh (south-east of Andijân), on fol. 523^a:

1520. Khwâjah Kutb-aldin Bakhtyâr (see Safinat-alauhiyâ, No. 112; Maṭlûb-altâlibin, 15th maṭlab, No. 2, and Sawâṭif-ālanwâr, No. 16), the spiritual successor of Khwâjah Mu'in-aldin Sijzi (No. 301 above), died A.H. 633 (A.D. 1235), on fol. 523^a.

1521. Bahâ-aldin, lived most of his time in India and was on intimate relations with Sulṭân Kutb-aldin Aibak (who reigned in Dihli A.H. 602-607=A.D. 1206-1210), on fol. 524^a.

Marghinân (seven farsangs to the west of Andijân), on fol. 524^a:

1522. Shaikh Zâhir-aldin Abû-al'alâ, born A.H. 511 (A.D. 1117, 1118), died A.H. 573 (A.D. 1177, 1178), author of a هداية on Hanafite law, than which, as here is stated, no clearer work ever was written (we suppose this هداية is identical with the one mentioned in No. 1519, and both author's name and date of his death corrupted through some mistake on the part of the compiler of the Haft Iklim), on fol. 524^a.

1523. Malik-alkalâm Bahâ-aldin, a poet concerning whose lifetime nothing has been ascertained; a long ḡasidah of his is quoted here, on fol. 524^a.

Isfara or Isfaring, the mountainous district nine farsangs to the south-west of Marghinân, on fol. 525^a:

1524. Malik-alkalâm Saif-aldin, a poet who went in early youth to Khwârizm and spent some time in the service of the Khwârizmshâh Il Arslân (A.H. 551-567=A.D. 1156-1172); a famous ḡasidah which he recited in the majlis of that prince, in imitation of one of Khâkânî's by mere change of rhyme, is given here, in an abridged form, together with other specimens of his great lyrical power, on fol. 525^a.

Khujand (five farsangs to the west of Andijân), on fol. 526^b:

1525. Shaikh Kamâl, the well-known poet (Safinat-alauhiyâ, No. 354), who, according to Jâmi's Bahârîstân, imitated, but at the same time surpassed, Khwâjah Ḥasan of Dihli (No. 392 above); after performing the pilgrimage to Makkah he settled in Tabriz, where he stayed all his life, except four years which he spent at Sarâi in Dasht-i-Kipçâk, the capital of the Khân of Kipçâk, Tughtamish, who had taken him with him after his attack upon Tabriz (A.H. 787=A.D. 1385, see Rieu ii. p. 632^b). After his return from Sarâi Kamâl Khujandi enjoyed in Tabriz the favour of Sulṭân Ḥusain bin Uways (this statement must be corrected in so far as the favour of Sulṭân Ḥusain, who reigned A.H. 776-784=A.D. 1374-1382, was bestowed upon the poet before he went to Sarâi, whereas at the time of his return to Tabriz the ruler of that town was Mirânshâh bin Timûr, who likewise granted him his patronage, see Rieu, loc. cit.). He had a lively correspondence with Ḥâfîz of Shirâz, and died A.H. 803 (A.D. 1400, 1401), on fol. 527^a.

1526. 'Ajzî, a poet concerning whose lifetime nothing is known, on fol. 527^b.

1527. Shihâbî Ghazâlî, another poet, on fol. 528^a.

Akhsikat (here wrongly spelt Akhti اختي, and in the following copy Akhsi اخسى; another form is Akhsitak or Ākhsitak, see W. Pertsch, Berliu Cat., p. 1225, footnote, the largest town of Farghāna, after Andijān, nine farsangs from the latter place), on fol. 528^a:

1528. Afḍal-almutaḥaddimin Athir-al-din, the great poet, who, attracted by the fame of Khākāni, went to Irāk and attached himself in Hamadān to Sulṭān Arslān bin Tuḡhrul (A. H. 556-571 = A. D. 1161-1176). He had many poetical contests with Khākāni, but retired at last from the world and settled down to a solitary life of pious meditation in Khalkāl (see above, col. 479); he died A. H. 608 = A. D. 1211, 1212 (see Bodleian Cat., No. 620), on fol. 528^a.

Shāsh (or Čāč, the modern Tāshkand, also called Banākīt), on fol. 530^b:

1529. Muḥammad bin 'Alī bin Isma'īl alḥakfāl (the locksmith), derwish, traditionist, poet, and Imām, who spread the Ḥanafite law in Transoxania; Shaikh Abū Ishāq Shnāzi gives a detailed account of him in his طبقات العنبا; he was born A. H. 291 (A. D. 904), and died A. H. 330 (A. D. 941, 942), on fol. 530^b.

1530. Abūbākr Muḥammad bin Ahmad bin Husain bin 'Umar, known as al-Mustaẓhir, with the epithet of Fakhr-alislām, a Shāfi'ite lawyer, studied law first under 'Abdallāh Kāzarūni and Abū Mansūr Tūsi, and afterwards in Baghdād under Shaikh Abū Ishāq, and Abū Naṣr bin Šā' (صاع), with whom he read his (Abū Naṣr's) own work on jurisprudence, called الشمائل. After Abū Ishāq's death Abūbākr became the head of the Shāfi'ite lawyers, and wrote several works on Shāfi'ite law, for instance, the حلمة العلماء, dedicated to the 'Albāsīde Khalīf al-Mustaẓhir-billāh (A. H. 487-512 = A. D. 1094-1118), and therefore sometimes styled مستظهری. He was afterwards appointed professor in the مدرسة نظامية in Baghdād, and died A. H. 507 (A. D. 1113, 1114), 78 years old, since he was born A. H. 429 (A. D. 1037, 1038), on fol. 530^b.

1531. Fakhr-al-din Banākiti (i. e. Abū Sulaimān Dā'ūd), poet and historian, author of the تاریخ بنانکی, which he dedicated to Sulṭān Abū Sa'īdkhān, A. H. 717 = A. D. 1317 (see No. 18 in this Cat.), on fol. 531^a.

1532. Badr Shāshi (or commonly Badr-i-Čāč), the panegyrist of Sulṭān Muḥammad bin Tuḡhrul (A. H. 725-752 = A. D. 1325-1351, see Maṭlūb-alṭālibin, 9th maṭlab, No. 7), comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 793, on fol. 531^a.

1533. Khwājah Nāsir-al-din 'Ubaid-allāh (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 87), better known as Khwājah Ahrār, whose detailed biography is found in the رشحات عین الحیات (Nos. 633-635 in this Cat.), the greatest Shaikh of Turkistān and Transoxania, pupil of Maulānā Ya'qūb Čarkhi (No. 346 above) and Maulānā Nizām-al-din Khāmūsh (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 88); his death, which took place in Samarkand, is fixed here (contrary to all other statements, which give A. H. 895) in A. H. 896 (A. D. 1491), according to the following chronogram by Mir 'Alishir: خلد برسی, on fol. 531^a.

1534. Kamāl Shaikh, contemporary with Khwājah Ahrār, on fol. 531^b.

1535. 'Abd-alghaffār, known as Maulānāzāda, wrote poetry occasionally, on fol. 531^b.

1536. Kaḍi Ghadānfār, wrote some poetry too, on fol. 531^b.

1537. Huznī, a pupil of Kāsim Kāhi (No. 1447 above), on fol. 531^b.

SIXTH IḲLİM: Turkistān, on fol. 532^a; Fārāb, on fol. 533^a:

1538. Abū Naṣr Muḥammad bin Muḥammad al-turki (i. e. Abū Naṣr Fārābi, or Alfarabius, the great philosopher, see Wüsteufeld, Geschichte der arabischen Aerzte und Naturforscher, p. 53 sq., and Dieterici, Alfārābīs Philosophische Abhandlungen, Leiden, 1890, German translation, ib. 1892), spoke originally only Turki, but learnt the Arabic tongue in Baghdād, whither he had gone from his native country; he studied there under Abūbāshar bin Yūnus, with whom he read various works of Aristotle; he was a contemporary of prince Saif-aldaulah, Mutanabbi's great friend and patron, who died A. H. 356 (A. D. 966, 967), on fol. 533^a.

1539. Isma'īl bin Hammād al-Jauhari, the author of the المصاح في اللغة, the famous Arabic dictionary, died A. H. 393 (A. D. 1002, 1003), comp. Flügel, Grammatische Schulen, p. 253 sq., on fol. 534^a.

1540. Ishāq bin Ibrāhim, another Arabic scholar, on fol. 534^a.

Jand, on fol. 534^a:

1541. Bābā Kamāl, a pupil of Shaikh Najm-al-din Kubrā (see No. 1401 above), on fol. 534^a.

1542. Shaikh Mu'ayyad, a disciple of Šadr-al-din, on fol. 534^a.

Kāshghar, on fol. 534^b; Yārkaṇd, on fol. 534^b; Khotan, on fol. 535^a. In this chapter (on ff. 535^b-540^a) a detailed account of the Amirs of Kāshghar is inserted, who were vassals of the Khāns of Jatah or Moghūlistān, from the time of Tuḡhrulṭīmūrkhān (A. H. 748-764 = A. D. 1347-1363), according to the تاریخ رشیدی

(comp. on this work Rieu i. p. 164^b sq., and W. Erskine, History of India under Baber and Humāyūn, pp. 38-192, etc.), beginning with (1543) Amir Tūluk, to whom Tuḡhrulṭīmūrkhān entrusted the governorship of Kāshghar. Tūluk had four brothers, viz. Mir Būlāji (Erskine: Yūlāji), Shams-al-din, Kamār-al-din, and Amir Shaikh Daulat. After Tūluk's death (1544) Mir Būlāji was raised to the governorship, and after him his son (1545) Amir Khudāidād. The latter's uncle, Kamār-al-din, who had in vain requested Tuḡhrulṭīmūrkhān to appoint him governor instead of his little nephew, revenged himself after the Khān's death by killing the latter's children and usurping himself the Khanship. But one of Tuḡhrulṭīmūr's sons, who was still a baby, Khidr Khwājah, had, together with his mother, been rescued by Khudāidād and safely hidden in Badakhshān, and after Kamār-al-din's death Khudāidād reinstated him in his father's Khanship. Amir Khudāidād made, at the end of his life, a pilgrimage to Makkah and Madinah, and died in the latter town. He was succeeded by his son (1546) Amir Muḥammadshāh, who lost Kāshghar and Khotan in consequence of the conquest of these countries by Timūr. But Muḥammadshāh's son (1547), Mir Sayyid 'Alī, kept an eye upon these provinces, and sought an opportunity to regain the governorship. After three invasions and successful battles against Hāji Muḥammad Shāyista and Pir Muḥammad Barlās, the successive governors appointed by Mirzā Uluḡbeg, to whom his father, Mirzā Shāhrukh, had given Transoxania, Turkistān, and Farghāna, he at last made himself master of Kāshghar again, and ruled twenty-four years. His elder son (1518), Sātsiz Mirzā (in the following copy distinctly spelt Sānsiz Mirzā), succeeded him, and reigned seven years. After his death in A. H. 869 (A. D. 1464, 1465) the younger brother (1549), Muḥammad Ḥaidar Mirzā, assumed the government of Kāshghar, as the two sons of Sātsiz. Abūbākr Mirzā and ʿUmar Mirzā, were still too young for such a position, and reigned twenty-four years. Abūbākr Mirzā (1550), when attaining manhood, subdued Yārkand and Khotan, and at last attacked his uncle Muḥammad Ḥaidar Mirzā himself. A long war ensued between these two relatives, Ḥaidar Mirzā being supported by Yūnuskhān, the ruler of Moghūlistān, till finally, after many changes of fortune, Ḥaidar Mirzā and Yūnuskhān perished, and Abūbākr Mirzā became sole master of the country. He was in his turn overthrown by (1551) Sultān Abū Saʿīdkhān, the grandson of the before-mentioned Yūnuskhān and brother of Manṣūrkhān (who, after his father Almadkhān, Yūnuskhān's son, had acceded to the throne of Moghūlistān). Abū Saʿīdkhān, after many vicissitudes, succeeded, in Rajab, A. H. 920 (A. D. 1514, August, September), in conquering Yārkand, the capital of Kāshghar; he died A. H. 939 (A. D. 1532, 1533), and his son (1552), ʿAbd-alraṣīdkhān, seized the reins of government (the date, given here for his accession, viz. 950, must be a mistake for 940, as he succeeded his father immediately). He was twenty-five years old when he became sovereign ruler, and his reign lasted nearly thirty-three years (till A. H. 971 = A. D. 1564). He was a clever writer in prose and verse, and left thirteen sons, viz.: (a) ʿAbd-allaṭīfkhān, who was killed; (b) ʿAbd-alkarīmkhān, who succeeded his father, and was still ruler of Kāshghar when this work was written; he was a great expert in archery and music; (c) ʿAbd-alraḥīm Sultān, who was killed; (d) ʿAbd-al-ʿazīz, who died sixteen years old; (e) Adham Sultān, known as Ṣūfī Sultān, who was sixteen years deputy-ruler of Kāshghar during his father's reign and then died; (f) Muḥammad Sultān; (g) Muḥammad Bākī; (h) Koraish Sultān, who, being offended by his brother ʿAbd-alkarīmkhān, went to India and entered the service of Akbar; after some years he died there, and left five sons, who were all alive at the time when this work was written; (i) Abū Saʿīd Sultān; (k) ʿAbdullāh Sultān, who likewise went to India, and left two sons behind him at his death; (l) Ulās Sultān; (m) ʿArif Sultān; and (n) ʿAbd-alraḥīm Sultān. Among the learned men of Kāshghar are mentioned here:

1553. Jamāl-almillāh wa-aldm Sāʿid bin Muḥammad, known as Maulānā Jamāl-aldm Turkistānī, on fol. 540^b.

1554. Taghārbeg bin Muḥammad bin Sulaimān, was first a merchant, but rose soon to the dignity of a wazīr in one of the towns of Turkistān; afterwards he became wazīr of Sultān Sanjar, and was greatly praised by the poets of that time, for instance, by Amir Muʿizzi (No. 747 above), on fol. 540^b.

1555. Maulānā Saʿīd-aldm (Safinat-alauliyā, No. 89), was first a pupil of Maulānā Nizām-aldm Khāmīsh and afterwards, at the latter's request, took Shaikh Zain-aldm Khwāfi (No. 658 above) as his spiritual guide. On his pilgrimage to Makkah he enjoyed the companionship of Shāh Kāsim-i-Anwār (No. 1314 above), Abū Yazid Pūrānī (see Safinat-alauliyā, No. 359), Zain-aldm Khwāfi, and Shaikh Bahā-aldm ʿUmar, on fol. 540^b.

1556. Maulānā ʿAlā-aldm, on fol. 541^a.

1557. Mirzā Ḥaidar, the grandson of Muḥammad Ḥaidar Mirzā and author of the تاریخ رشیدی (see above under Kāshghar), who, by order of Sultān Abū Saʿīd-khān (see No. 1551 above), carried out a victorious invasion of Kashmir (A. H. 938–939 = A. D. 1531, 1532), and afterwards, when returning from India, went a second time to Kashmir and there set himself up for seven years as independent ruler. He was killed there A. H. 958 (A. D. 1551), on fol. 541^a.

1558. Amir Ahmad Ḥāji, was for a few years governor of Harāt under Sultān Husain Mirzā, and also for some time exercised power in Samarkand; he wrote poetry occasionally, on fol. 541^a.

Parāz, on fol. 541^b; Čigil (چگيل), on fol. 541^b; Khallukh, on fol. 541^b; Tātār, on fol. 541^b (the Tātars are stated here to trace their origin back to Yāfeth Oghlān, i. e. Türk bin Yāfeth, who, after a life of 240 years, left the kingdom to Alanjakhān, after whom followed Datibākūi, and then Kūk. The latter had two sons, Tātār and Moghūl, between whom the realm was divided; Tātār's successors were Baghūkhān, Maliḥakhān (so in the following copy, the present has سخه خان), İlikhān, Atsizkhān, Urdūkhān, Aidukhān, under whom the Tātars and Moghuls, who had hitherto lived in friendly intercourse, fell out with one another, and Sūtij or Sūniykhān); Rūs (Russia), on fol. 542^a; Bugharāj, on fol. 543^a; Kimāk (or Kaimāk, also called Kimās and Kimiyas, in Kipčāk), on fol. 543^a; Khaazar, on fol. 543^a; Isfijāb (or Isfanjāb, as it seems to be spelt here, in Turkistān), on fol. 543^b; Kusʿantawīyyah (Constantinople), on fol. 543^b.

On ff. 544^a–547^b, a short account of the ʿUthmāni Sultāns from Ertoğrul, the father of ʿUthmān I (who died, 90 years old, A. H. 687 = A. D. 1288), to Sultān Muḥammad III bin Murād III (who ascended the throne in A. H. 1003 = A. D. 1595, a proof that some parts of the Haft Iklim were written after A. H. 1002, the usual date of its completion). Rūmiyah (Rome), left out here in consequence of a small lacuna after fol. 547^b: Shlashwīn or Shlashwīk (شلسویک), or even شلسون, Schleswig, comp. Kazwmi ed. Wüstenfeld ii. p. ۴.۴, and G. Jacob, Ein arabischer Berichtstatter etc., Berlin, 1890, p. 12), on fol. 548^a; Kirishna or Kirishna (کرشنده or قرشند, on French or Frankish territory, از بلاد فرنج, where the faces of the people are half white and half black, perhaps the Grisons!), on fol. 548^a; Zirigārān and Tirsarān (زرگاران و تیرسران), two districts near the Caspian gates, peopled by tall armour-makers, see Kazwmi ed. Wüstenfeld ii. p. ۴۹۹ sq.), on fol. 548^a.

SIXTEENTH IKLİM: Bulghār, on fol. 548^b:

1559. Khwājah Ahmad, who lived in Ghazna, and to whom Sanāʿi dedicated his غریب نامه (a mathnawī of Sanāʿi not known otherwise, unless it is identical with the third mathnawī in No. 3346 of the India Office Collection, which bears no title there, see further below in this Cat. under 'Saná'i' in the poetical part), on fol. 549^a.

Sakláb, on fol. 549^a:

1560. Yájúj and Májúj (Gog and Magog), on fol. 549^a.

Bâtík (a town in Rûm), on fol. 549^a; Bâtin-alrâm (where a great number of Christians dwell), on fol. 549^b; Jâbulkâ (at the furthest end of Maghrib), on fol. 549^b.

No. 49, ff. 550, ll. 21; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece on fol. 19^b; size, 9 in. by 5½ in.

Another splendid copy of the Haft Iklim.

This splendid copy is without an index. Beginning the same as in the preceding copy. Iklim I, on fol. 3^a; II, on fol. 14^a; III, on fol. 42^b; IV, on fol. 224^b; V, on fol. 554^a; VI, on fol. 638^a; VII, on fol. 658^b. Fol. 474 must be inserted between ff. 448 and 449.

Dated, by Shaikh Muḥammad Islâm of Aḥmadâbâd, the 21st of Rabi'-althâni, A. H. 1089 (A. D. 1678, June 12). This copy was purchased from the executors of the Marquis of Hastings.

No. 3143, ff. 662, ll. 21; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; many marginal additions; splendid binding in green and gold; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

726

An incomplete copy of the same.

This copy opens abruptly in the third Iklim with the words: واو بخدمت خواجه حسن رفنه, corresponding to fol. 60^b, l. 5, in the preceding copy. Iklim IV, on fol. 131^a; V, on fol. 408^b; VI, on fol. 480^a; VII, on fol. 498^b.

Dated A. H. 1093 (A. D. 1682) by 'Abd-alrahmân bin Muḥammad Ṭâhir bin Khwâjah Aḥmad. There are 48 leaves missing in the beginning.

No. 1653, ff. 501, ll. 25; Nasta'lik; size, 12 in. by 7 in.

Intikhâb-i-Haft Iklim (انتخاب هفت اقليم).

An abridgment of the Haft Iklim, made by Faïd-allâh Anṣârî Jaunpûrî, with the takhalluṣ Himmat (see fol. 4^b, l. 1), and dedicated to Wajih-aldin 'Alikhân Bahâdur, who is called the master of the sword and pen (صاحب السيف والقلم), see fol. 4^a, l. 1 sq. A date of this compilation, which simply gives the geographical accounts of the Haft Iklim in a condensed form, omitting all the biographical details, is not found.

Beginning: ستایش و آفرین آفریننده را که معموری هفت اقليم الخ.

Iklim I, on fol. 5^b; II, on fol. 11^b; III, on fol. 22^a; IV, on fol. 78^a; V, on fol. 102^a; VI, on fol. 113^b; VII, on fol. 127^b.

No date. This rather modern copy belonged formerly to Mr. Richard Johnson.

No. 1366, ff. 132, ll. 13; Shikasta; worm-eaten; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

728

Historical and geographical extracts.

Contents:

1. A few extracts from a تأريخ مير ابراهيم الحسيني (not met with hitherto), on ff. 8^a-15^b, 22 and 23, consisting of short accounts of the emperors Akbar, Jahângir, Shâhjahân, etc.

2. Extracts from the Haft Iklim, beginning with a ذكر هفت اقليم (a general account of the seven climates, somewhat like the preceding انتخاب), on ff. 99^a-151^b, and concluding with a مجملي سلاطين دهلي که در هفت اقليم آورده بتحریر می آرد (the general account of the Muḥammadan rulers of Dihli, which is found on fol. 153^a, first line sq. in No. 724, col. 406 above), on ff. 153^a-176^b.

3. Another extract from the تأريخ مير ابراهيم, containing a تعريف امصار (description of cities), and beginning with Akbarâbâd, ff. 177^a-190^b.

An index of these miscellanies is found on ff. 2^b-7^a.

No. 611, ff. 2^b-15, 22, 23, 99-190, ll. 21; careless Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

729

Bahjat-alfalam (بهجة العالم).

A modern work on general geography, by Ḥakim Mahârâtkhân of Isfahân, styled بهجة العالم (see fol. 2^a, l. 2 and colophon). It is the first volume (مجلد اول) of a larger work; a second volume, entitled روضة الافراح, and comprising Persian translations of several Arabic works, for instance, تحفة الالباب, جريدة العجائب, and others, is promised in the preface of this book. The author lived at the time of the emperor Bahâdurshâh, whose death in A. H. 1124 (A. D. 1712) appears as a recent event, and must have compiled this volume about A. H. 1130 (A. D. 1718), comp. the short extract from it described in Rien iii. p. 992. The present MS. contains:

1. A general part, dealing with the seven climates, in an arrangement similar to the Haft Iklim, but without any biographical notices. Iklim I, on fol. 2^b; II, on fol. 7^a; III, on fol. 16^b; IV, on fol. 51^b; V, on fol. 87^b; VI, on fol. 93^b; VII, on fol. 102^a.

2. A special part, dealing with particular points of geographical interest in detail. The chief subdivisions of this part are:

(a) ذكر بعضی از بلاد متفرقة, on fol. 104^b, beginning with a description of the countries of Rûm (ممالك روم), taken from the Hasht Bihisht (No. 571 above); followed by an account of India, according to the fourth volume of the Akbarnâma (see fol. 121^a, first line), i. e. the آئين اكبرى, which is usually called the third book (see Nos. 264-270 above), but which, on account of the usual division of the first book into two separate parts, may very well be called the fourth; miscellaneous notes on various towns and provinces (see fol. 126^b), extracted from a work styled انيس العارفين, etc.

(b) ذكر بعضی از عجائب جزائر, on fol. 144^b, taken chiefly from Kazwini's المخلوقات عجائب (Nos. 712-714 above).

(c) ذكر بعضی از عجائب جبال یعنی کوها, on fol. 151^b.

(e) ذكر بلاد مغرب زمین, on fol. 159^a, last line.

Beginning: الحمد لله . . . وبعد چون دریافت غرائب مبرعات و عجائب مصبوعات حکیم قدیر الخ.

Dated the 17th of Rajab, A.H. 1211 (A.D. 1797, Jan. 16). Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2409, ff. 171, ll. 19; distinct Nasta'lik; size, 13½ in. by 8½ in.

730

Hadikāt-alakālim (حدیقة الافالیم).

A large modern geographical encyclopaedia, with many historical and literary records, following in the main the system of the Haft Iklim, but considerably richer in detail with regard to India in general and to the more modern periods of Indian history in particular, compiled by Kādi Murtaḍā Ḥusain, known as Allāhiyār 'Utlumāni Balgrāmī, who was born A.H. 1132 (A.D. 1720), entered A.H. 1142 (A.D. 1729, 1730), in his tenth year, the service of Mubāriz-almulk, the Sābadār of Gujarāt, and was till A.H. 1187 (A.D. 1773, 1774) in the train of many other distinguished Indian Amirs, who are enumerated in detail in Rieu iii. pp. 992-994. In A.H. 1190 (A.D. 1776) he became munshi of Capt. Jonathan Scott, and at his request began to compile the present work, on the basis of the most renowned books, written on geography and history. The conclusion of the work was written by him A.H. 1202 (A.D. 1787, 1788). A detailed account of its contents is given in the Bodleian Cat., No. 422; comp. also W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 414-417; Elliot, History of India, viii. pp. 180-183. Lithographed in Lucknow, 1879 and 1881.

Beginning, on fol. 1^b: حمد بسمحمد مرخدای عزوجل: را که لسان عالمیان الخ.

Iklim I, on fol. 4^a; II, on fol. 24^b; III, on fol. 133^b; IV, on fol. 428^b; V, on fol. 492^b; VI, on fol. 507^a; VII, on fol. 549^a. Khātimali (احوال دنبا نو), on fol. 558^a.

No date.

No. 2643, ff. 581, ll. 22; careless Nasta'lik; size, 15½ in. by 9½ in.

731

Aḥwāl-i-'Imārāt-i-Mustaḥsirr-alkhilāfah (احوال عمارات) (مستقر خلافت).

A topographical and historical account of the principal public buildings, mausoleums, mosques, and gardens of Akbarābād, i.e. Āgra, especially those built by Akbar and Shāhjahān, compiled, from various sources, by a pupil of the Āgra Government College, Sil Cand (سیلجند), see fol. 6^b, l. 4, and colophon, at the request of Mr. James Stephen Lushington (مستر جیمس اسفین), comp. ff. 5^a, l. 2, and 6^a, ll. 7 and 8; and Rieu iii. p. 1031. This gentleman, who was acting collector and magistrate in Āgra, 1825 and 1826, had issued an appeal to the Government College, to supply him with such topographical accounts, and he received besides the present work a smaller treatise on the same subject, by Mānik Cand, headed شهر اکبرآباد, see Rieu iii. p. 958.

Beginning: سمحان الله ذرة بيتاب را بحضور خورشید دستگاه عجز طرازی است الخ.

On fol. 4^a a eulogium of the Governor-General of India.

Among the numerous chapters we mention as the most interesting ones:

Fortress of Āgra, with a table of inscriptions, on fol. 24^a.

Mōti Masjid, with illustration, on fol. 30^b.

Tāj Mahall, with illustration, on fol. 51^b sq.

Letters and firmāns of Shāhjahān, 'Ālamgir, Dārā Shukūh, etc., on fol. 59^b sq.

Mausoleum of 'Imād-aldaulah, with illustration, on fol. 104^a.

Account of Nūr Jahān Begam, on fol. 120^a.

Akbar's mausoleum at Sikandra, with illustration, on fol. 193^b.

Mosque at Fatḥpūr, with illustration, on fol. 210^b, last line sq.

This Kitāb-i-'Imarat (کتاب عمارت), as it is styled in the colophon (another title given to it is حالات اکبرآباد, see Rieu, loc. cit.), was transcribed from the original copy of Sil Cand, who was a student at the Madiasah of Āgra, by وسشن ضلع, for Mr. James Davidson (مستر جیمس دیودسن); no date. The copy was purchased of Madden & Co., 1st of August, 1843. Special works on the topography of the Tāj Mahall are noticed in Rieu i. p. 430 and iii. p. 958^b; Mehren, Cat., p. 47, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 520.

No. 2450, ff. 218, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; five excellent full-page illustrations and a table of inscriptions; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

Masāfat-i-Shahrhāi Hindūstān (مسافت شهرهای هندوستان).

Tables showing the distance of the different provinces, districts, and towns of India from one another, according to the statistic survey under the Moghul emperors, especially under Shāhjahān (see fol. 4^b sq.). It begins with a short index of the provinces of Iran. The principal portion of this little book, dealing with India proper, begins on fol. 3^b.

This copy was made for Mr. Richard Johnson by Muhammad Baklīsh, A.H. 1194 (A.D. 1780), at Lucknow.

No. 1718, ff. 28; Shikasta; size, 9 in. by 5¼ in.

X. ROMANCES AND TALES.

733

Tarjumat-alfaraj ba'd-alshiddah (ترجمة المرج بعد الشدة).

A large collection of stories, relating cases of wonderful deliverance from danger, translated by Ḥusain bin As'ad bin alḤusain aldiḥistānī (see fol. 5^a) from the Arabic work الفرج بعد الشدة و الصيفة, which is here (on fol. 5^b) and in all the other copies wrongly ascribed to Abu-alhasan 'Alī bin Muḥammad almadā'ini (who died in Baghdād. A. H. 224 or 225 = A. D. 839 or 840). The real author of the Arabic original, often mentioned in this translation, is Abū 'Alī al-Muḥassin, called Kāh al-Tanūkhī, who died A. H. 384 (A. D. 994), comp. Rieu ii. p. 752^a; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 982; J. Aumer, p. 56; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 408; G. Flügel iii. p. 451, etc. Some of the stories are printed in the appendix of Chodzko's Persian Grammar, new ed., Paris, 1883. The present translation was made at the request of 'Izz-al-dīn Fāhir bin Zangī, probably about the middle or in the second half of the sixth century of the Hijrah, at any rate before 'Aufi, who quotes this work in his جوامع الحکایات (see No. 600 sq. in this Cat.). A corroboration of Abū 'Alī al-Muḥassin's authorship of the original is found in the list of authorities, given in the preface of the زينة المجالس, where it is styled كتاب فرج بعد الشدة ابو مؤمنين, see W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 979.

Beginning: حمد و ثناء قیومی که عجز عقول ذرات آدم از ادراك الخ

Index, on ff. 6^a-18^b; the thirteen bābs into which the work is commonly divided are found here: Bāb I, on fol. 19^a; II, on fol. 31^b; III, on fol. 47^a; IV, on fol. 76^b; V, on fol. 101^a; VI, on fol. 154^b; VII, on fol. 185^a; VIII, on fol. 293^a; IX, on fol. 322^a; X, on fol. 339^b; XI, on fol. 350^b; XII, on fol. 371^b; XIII, on fol. 407^b.

Dated by Shaikh Muḥammad Fāḍil at Lāhūr, the 29th of Rajab, A. H. 1027 (A. D. 1618, July 22).

No. 1664, ff. 472, ll. 15; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 7 in.

734

Another copy of the same.

Beginning: حمد و ثناء قیومی را که عجز عقول ذرات آدم را از ادراك الخ

Index, on ff. 5^a-14^b.

Bāb I, on fol. 14^b; II, not marked; III, on fol. 33^b; IV, on fol. 59^a; V, on fol. 81^b; VI, on fol. 130^a; VII, on fol. 152^a; VIII, on fol. 247^a; IX, on fol. 273^a; X, on fol. 290^a; XI, on fol. 300^b; XII, on fol. 319^b; XIII, on fol. 352^b. No date. A great number of headings in the single likāyas are quite incorrect.

No. 1425, ff. 413, ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

735

A slightly defective copy of the same.

This copy, which is not dated, lacks one leaf in the beginning; the first words on fol. 1^a, محض صدق و, یغینست لفرقه الخ, correspond to fol. 2^a, last line in the following copy (No. 774). Index, on ff. 3^a-10^b.

Bāb I, on fol. 10^b; II, on fol. 19^a; III, on fol. 26^a; IV, on fol. 46^a; V, on fol. 63^a; VI, on fol. 100^a; VII, on fol. 119^b; VIII, on fol. 190^b; IX, on fol. 209^a; X, on fol. 220^b; XI, on fol. 228^a; XII, on fol. 242^a; XIII, on fol. 266^a.

No. 1857, ff. 309, ll. 24-25; Naskhī; size, 9½ in. by 5 in.

Another still more defective copy of the same.

This copy is defective at the end, breaking off on fol.

557^b with the words: ... شرمسار گشتند و عذرها, corresponding to the preceding copy, fol. 307^a, l. 11. There is besides a large lacuna in the middle of fol. 105^b, between ll. 5 and 6, comprising the remaining part of bāb IV, from the twelfth story on to the end, as well as the beginning of bāb V, nearly to the end of the eighth story (corresponding to ff. 55^a, l. 15-77^a, l. 8, in the preceding copy).

Index, on fol. 6^b. Bāb I, on fol. 19^b; II, on fol. 33^b; III, on fol. 53^b; IV, on fol. 88^b; V, missing; VI, on fol. 149^a; VII, on fol. 186^a; VIII, on fol. 326^b; IX, on fol. 361^b; X, on fol. 385^a; XI, on fol. 400^a; XII, on fol. 427^a; XIII, on fol. 473^b.

The copy, which is not dated, is somewhat worm-eaten throughout, but in most places carefully mended. The last leaves are seriously damaged. Instead of فرج there is everywhere written فرح, as in the Munich copy (see J. Aumer, loc. cit.).

No. 774, ff. 557, ll. 17; large Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

Tajuma-i-Kitāb-alfaraj ba'd-alshiddah.

An apparently different and, as it seems, enlarged translation, or rather adaptation of the same Arabic original, designated moreover in the following copy as 'the second half' (نصف دیگر) only, and made, according to the preface, at the request of the Sultān of Sind, Nāṣir-al-dīn Kūbā'ah (A. H. 607-625 = A. D. 1210-1228). It belongs therefore to a somewhat later period than the preceding version. A translator's name does not appear anywhere. A conjecture on the fly-leaf of the following copy suggests as such Muḥammad 'Aufi, the author of the جوامع الحکایات and the اللباب (the latter of which is in fact dedicated to Kūbā'ah's wazīr, 'Ain-al-mulk Ḥusain al-Ash'arī, see Rieu ii. p. 749).

Beginning: حمد و ثناء مکریمی که انس را انس بخشید و جان را جان داد و نسیم روان را در چمن تن روان گردانید و عقل را عاقله قالب ساخت و معرفت ذات همجون خویش بدو حوالت, here follows a large blank, after which the preface continues in this way: قدر فرمان ملک معظم خسرو اعظم مالک رقاب امم مولی ملوک الترك و العجم ناصر الدنيا و الدين غياث الاسلام و المسلمين اعدل الملوك و اکرم السلاطين سلطان ارض الله ناصر عباد الله حافظ بلاد المومنين بنصر الله محترز ممالك الدنيا مظهر العلما ابو الفتح قباچه الخ.

As to the subdivision into bābs, there can be traced the following ones:

Bāb VI, on fol. 61^b: باب ششم در ذکر جماعتی که در ورطه هلاک افتادند و فضل حق تعالی ایشانرا خلاص داد.

Bābs VII and VIII are not found anywhere.

Bāb IX, on fol. 101^a: باب نهم در ذکر جماعتی که

چنگ (بجنگ) سباع افتادند و پروردگار جلّ جلاله ایشانرا خلاص داد.

Bâb X, on fol. 126^a: باب دهم در عافیت دادن از: امراض و اسقام بامر ملک علام.

Bâb XI, on fol. 135^a: باب یازدهم در ذکر جماعتی که: از دست شیران فتان خلاص یافتند.

Bâb XII, on fol. 149^a: باب دوازدهم در بیان حال: جماعتی که از بیش بلا گریختند و در دام محنت نیاویختند.

Bâb XIII, on fol. 174^a: باب سیزدهم جماعتی که: بیلای هوا درمانده عاقبت بمقصود رسیده اند.

Bâb XIV, on fol. 256^a: باب چهاردهم در ذکر جماعتی: که بالفاظ وافی و جوابهای شافی از خشم ملوک و سلاطین روزگار خلاص یافته اند.

Bâb XV, on fol. 285^a: باب پانزدهم در ذکر جماعتی: که از حبس و بند خلاص یافته اند و از زحمت خلاص گشته اند.

Bâb XVI, on fol. 352^b: باب شانزدهم در ذکر جماعتی: که در خواب بشارت نجات شنیده اند و در بیداری از سر صدق دیده اند.

Bâb XVII, on fol. 392^b: باب هفدهم در ذکر جماعتی: که بمدد اتفاق خوب از مکروه خلاص بافته اند و به نیل مقصود و مراد رسیده اند.

Dated the 22nd of Ramaḍān, in the year تسعة مائة (perhaps misspelt for ثمانین و خمسين A. H. 985=A. D. 1577, Dec. 3), in کرخ near Baghdād. A seal of Muḥammad Farrukhsiyar (died A. H. 1131=A. D. 1719), on fol. 1^a.

No. 1432, ff. 459, ll. 15; Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

Another copy of the same translation.

Beginning the same (but without the prefixed praise of God): 'قدر فرمان ملک معظم خسرو اعظم الخ'. The bâbs which can be traced here (but all without number and heading) are: VI, on fol. 53^a; IX, on fol. 89^a; X, on fol. 111^a; XI, on fol. 119^b; XII, on fol. 132^a; XIII, on fol. 153^a; XIV, on fol. 223^b; XV, on fol. 254^a; XVI, on fol. 315^b. Fol. 211^b corresponds to fol. 242^a in the preceding copy, and 330^a, first line, to fol. 369^a, l. 5 there. Fol. 84^b is left blank.

Dated the 17th of Ramaḍān, A. H. 1057 (A. D. 1647, Oct. 16).

No. 720, ff. 420, ll. 17; Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

Dāstān III, story of the Sultān, on fol. 56^b.

Dāstān IV, story of the third Dervish (here called by mistake), on fol. 100^b.

Dāstān V, story of the fourth Dervish, on fol. 120^b.

Epilogue or final story (داستان اخیر), on fol. 135^b.

The book ends on fol. 141^a; the remaining two pages and a half are filled with a detailed colophon, in which the transcriber, who does not mention his name, gives a short historical account of the circumstances under which he made this copy, in A. H. 1188, the sixteenth year of Shāh 'Alam's reign (A. D. 1774-1775).

Tuṭīnāma (طوطی نامه).

The older and larger version of the famous 'Tales of a Parrot,' by Dīyāi Nakhshabī (or Dīyā-aldin Nakhshabī), containing fifty-two stories, and composed A. H. 730 (A. D. 1330); comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 444-448: Rieu ii. p. 753; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 985, and Zeitschrift der D. M. G., vol. xxi. p. 505 sq.; J. Aumer, pp. 53 and 54; Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. i. pp. 355 and 356; Göttinger Gelehrte Anzeigen, 1858, p. 529, etc. Translated into English by M. Gerrans, London, 1792. On the Turkish version see W. Pertsch, Berlin Turkish Cat., p. 439.

Beginning: الحمد لله رب العالمين والعاقبة للمتقين و الصلوات الخ. The usual beginning of most other copies

(but with the omission of the first two words. مناجات appears here on fol. 2^a: رازق النعاب في عتبه الخ. The book concludes on fol. 242^b. On fol. 243^a the date is given, viz. 4th of Jumādā-alulā, in the first year of 'Ālamgir's reign (= A. H. 1069, A. D. 1659, Jan. 28). On ff. 243^b-245^a a kasidah by Shāh Ni'mat Wali-allāh (or more commonly Ni'mat-allāh Wali, who died A. H. 834 = A. D. 1431, see Rieu ii. p. 634^b) and some arithmetical tables are added. Many pages slightly injured.

No. 3496, olim S. J. 26, ff. 245, ll. 15-19; Nasta'lik; ff. 1-6, 33-36, 39-42, 181, 188-245 supplied by various other hands; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

No. 2712, ff. 329, ll. 13; clear Nasta'lik; small illuminated frontispiece; size, 8¼ in. by 5 in.

752

Tūtīnāma.

The later and abridged version of the 'Tales of a Parrot' made by Muḥammad Kādīri in the 17th century of the Christian era. It has been edited and translated into English by Gladwin, Calcutta, 1800, and London, 1801; German translation by Iken, Stuttgart, 1822; comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1975 and 2028; Rieu ii. p. 754; J. Aumer, p. 54.

Beginning: بعد از جنس جنس ثنا و صفت پیدا کنند آسمان و زمین الخ

This abridgment contains, like the British Museum copy, only thirty-five stories. No date. Modern copy. College of Fort William, 1825.

On other Persian and Turkish versions (for instance, the one mentioned in H. Khalfa iv. p. 172), and on the Hindūstāni version of Kādīrī's abridgment, the 'Totā-Kahāni,' see W. Pertsch, loc. cit. (No. 743 above), and Bodleian Cat., No. 444.

No. 2331, ff. 77, ll. 12-13; Nasta'lik; worm-eaten; size, 7½ in. by 5 in.

753

The same.

Another copy of Muḥammad Kādīrī's abridged version of the Tūṭināma, numbering here thirty-eight stories, the first being headed تاجر طوطی, the last حکایت دختر قیصر روم.

The preface is wanting. It begins at once with the introductory story, thus: آورده اند که در شهری از شهرهای هند بزرگانی بود مبارک نام مال بسیار داشت الخ

No date. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2556, ff. 237-402, ll. 13; large Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

754

A fragment of Kādīrī's abridged version.

This copy, slightly differing in wording from the usual copies of Kādīrī's abridgment of Nakhshabī's Tūṭināma, contains only eight داستان, that is the first eight nights, ending with the story of the prince and the seven wazirs (which begins here on fol. 66^a), comp. W. Pertsch, Ueber Nachschabī's Papageienbuch, in Zeitschrift der D. M. G., vol. xxi. p. 520. In the colophon the work is styled کتاب ترجمه طوطی نامه, as if this redaction was a retranslation into Persian from some other version, a supposition, however, which is at variance with the few introductory lines on fol. 16^b, where it is expressly stated, that this is the عبارت عیاری, the plain version, of Muḥammad Khudābanda Kādīrī.

Beginning: پس از ثنا و صفت خداوند آسمان و زمین حقیقت این است چون داستان گفته حضرت فخری

No. 2469, ff. 16-103, ll. 11; large Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 6 in.

755

Nigāristān (نگارستان).

A collection of moral anecdotes in imitation of Sa'dī's Gulistān, treating of matters of practical philosophy and ethics, interspersed with verses and short tales, by Mu'in-al-din al-asfarā'ini aljuwaini, who composed it A.H. 735=A.D. 1334, 1335 (see fol. 13^a, line 1), and dedicated it to Sultān Abū Sa'id Bahādurkhān (who reigned A.H. 716-736=A.D. 1316-1335), comp. fol. 6^a; H. Khalfa vi. 381, No. 13981; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1447-1449; Rieu ii. p. 754; Mélanges Asiatiques, iii. p. 732.

It is divided into seven bābs (a fihrist is found on fol. 19^a, last line sq.), viz.:

باب اول در مکارم اخلاق, on fol. 19^b.

باب دوم در صیانت و برهنگاری, on fol. 59^a.

باب سیم در حسن معاشرت, on fol. 92^b.

باب چهارم در عشق و محبت, on fol. 125^a.

باب پنجم در وعظ و نصیحت, on fol. 159^b.

باب ششم در فضل و رحمت, on fol. 198^a.

باب هفتم در فوائد متعزیه, on fol. 237^a.

Beginning: شکرو ستایش خدای را که از لبتش از سمت بدایت الخ

The first half collated and annotated. Copied A.H. 977 (A.D. 1569, 1570) at Samarkand by Khwājah Khwāwand bin Khwāwand Mirak. The Nigāristān concludes on fol. 277^b. Fol. 278 is filled by another hand with a satire of Khwājah Abū-albarakah on the Kādī of Nishāpūr.

Beginning: جو دور شد ز رخ دهر جعد طره جور الخ

No. 56, ff. 278, ll. 17; small but distinct Nasta'lik; the first two pages splendidly illuminated; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

756

Another copy of the same.

Beginning: حمد و ستایش مر خدایا که از لبتش از سمت بدایت منزه است الخ

In the index the usual order of the seven bābs is changed in this way, that the seventh, viz. در فوائد متعزیه, appears as third, the third therefore as fourth, and so on (see fol. 81^a), but in the text the arrangement agrees with that in the preceding copy: bāb I, on fol. 81^a; II (not marked), on fol. 118^b; III (not marked), on fol. 149^a; IV, on fol. 178^b; V (not marked), on fol. 236^a; VI, on fol. 271^a; VII, on fol. 304^a. No date; rather modern copy, bought (together with the Bahāristān, which forms the first part of this MS.) by Adam Clarke, for four guineas, 1817, from Mr. Henry George Keene, who acquired it in 1803.

Received into the library, April 10, 1877.

No. 3183, ff. 63-342, ll. 17; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

Anwār-i-Suhaili (انوار سهیلی).

The Persian translation of Kalilah and Dimnah, by Husain bin 'Alī al-Wā'iz al-kāshifi, who died A.H. 910 (A.D. 1505); comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 431-437; Rieu ii. p. 756; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 970 sq.; J. Aumer, p. 46; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 409; H. Khalfa v. p. 239; Zenker i. pp. 83 and 84. Edited Calcutta, 1804, 1816, 1824, etc.; Hertford (by Ch.

Stewart), 1805, by J. W. Ouseley. 1851; lithographed A.H. 1270; translated into English by E. B. Eastwick, Hertford, 1854, by A. N. Wollaston, London, 1878. Parts of the Anwār-i-Suhaili have been printed in text and translation in the Asiatic Journal, vol. v, in Langlès' Chrestomathy (see on this very rare publication Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 442, note 2), and in Spiegel's Chrestomathia Persica, pp. 23-40. The latter have been translated into German by H. Ethé (Morgenländische Studien, Leipzig, 1868, pp. 147-166); some miscellaneous verses from the Anwār-i-Suhaili have been published in English translation in A. Rogers' Persian Anthology, London, 1889, pp. 35-47. The composition of this modernized version of Naṣr-allāh bin Muḥammad bin al-Ḥamid's older Persian translation of Al-Muḥaffā's Arabic text (which was made about A.H. 539 = A.D. 1144, 1145, see Bodleian Cat., No. 430) was suggested to the author by Nizām-al-dīn Amir Shaikh Aḥmad al-Suhaili, who died A.H. 907 or 908 (A.D. 1501-1503). It contains fourteen chapters.

Beginning: حضرت حکیم علی الاطلاق جلت حکمنه

762

A slightly defective copy of the same.

The first leaf of this copy is missing; it begins abruptly thus: وای راه نماینده آدمیان الخ, corresponding to No. 3458 (757 above), fol. 2^a, l. 6.

Dated the 27th of Sha'bān, A.H. 1103 (A.D. 1692, May 14), by Muḥammad Akram al-Kātib.

No. 70, ff. 303, ll. 20; Nasta'lik; size, 8¾ in. by 5¾ in.

A still more defective copy of the same.

It opens abruptly thus: باد رفتار بر جای خنک آید, corresponding to No. 3458 (757 above), fol. 8^a, ll. 9 and 10; the first twenty leaves or more are greatly injured and partly destroyed by worms.

No date; end of the twelfth century of the Hijrah.

No. 2701, ff. 330, ll. 16; very clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10¼ in. by 7¾ in.

764

Another defective copy of the same.

No date. A lacuna on fol. 146^b, corresponding to No. 3458 (757 above), fol. 168^a, l. 6, to fol. 176^a, l. 12. The right order of ff. 155-201 is: 155, 157, 156, 158, 159, 161, 160, 162-184, 193-200, 188, 187, 186, 185, 192, 191, 190, 189, 201.

No. 182, ff. 306, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 11 in. by 6 in.

765

Another very defective copy of the same.

There is a large lacuna after fol. 81, corresponding to No. 3458 (757 above), fol. 59^b, l. 4 ab infra to fol. 81^b, l. 9, and a smaller one between the last two leaves; the end of fol. 379^b corresponds to No. 3458, fol. 332^b, l. 18, and the third line on fol. 380^a to fol. 335^b, l. 6, in the same copy.

No. 3366, olim S. J. 24, ff. 380, ll. 16-18; Nasta'lik; size, 8¾ in. by 4½ in.

An incomplete copy of the same.

This copy breaks off in the tenth chapter with the words: ملازمت خواهی نمود. corresponding to the preceding copy (No. 3366), fol. 305^b, l. 13. To disguise this incompleteness the transcriber has added: و برهمین صفت این کتاب کلیله و دمنه از ملک حافظ فغیر الله است. Occasionally various readings on the margin.

No. 3472, olim S. J. 22, ff. 273, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 9¾ in. by 5¾ in.

'Iyār-i-dāni-h (عبار دانش).

A later modernized Persian version of Kahlāh and Dimnah, in which the flowery style of the Anwār-i-Suhaili has been toned down to a more sober and plain language, and the two introductory chapters, omitted by Ḥusain Wā'iz, have been restored, on the basis of the older version of Naṣr-allāh, by Abū-alfaḍl bin Mubārak, the great prime-minister of the emperor Akbar and author of the Akbarnāma (see Nos. 235-270 in this Cat.). He completed this work, which was written at the emperor's request, the 15th of Sha'hān, A.H. 996 (A.D. 1588, July 10=19 Tirmāh-i-ilāhī in the year 33=22 Tirmāh-i-jalālī in the year 51=14 Ādharmāh-i-kadīmī in the year 967 or, according to other copies, 957 of the Yazdajird era=17 Māh-i-Aspār in the Hindū year 1645=Māh-i-rūmī in the year 1899 of the Iskandari era); comp. 774

A defective copy of the same.

This copy, which is not dated, opens abruptly thus: . . . دانایان بسین است حد از کوهها دانایان خواست اند الح, corresponding to No. 1692 (768 above), fol. 2^a, lin. penult. Index, on ff. 7^b-8^a.

Bâb I, on fol. 8^b; II, on fol. 12^b; III, on fol. 53^b; IV, on fol. 147^a; V, on fol. 190^b (با در فوائد نکدلی با) (دوستان); VI, on fol. 225^a; VII, on fol. 275^b; VIII (beginning wanting, as there are seven leaves entirely torn away between ff. 295 and 296, comprising fol. 179^a, l. 7 to fol. 162^a, l. 11 in No. 1692; half of fol. 294 is likewise torn away); IX, on fol. 300^a; X, on fol. 314^b, first line; XI, on fol. 330^b, first line (heading omitted); XII, on fol. 358^b; XIII, on fol. 370^a; XIV, on fol. 380^a (در بزرگیء دانش الح); XV, on fol. 404^a; XVI, on fol. 416^b (در اکتفا نمودن در گردش روزگار); Khâtimah, on fol. 432^b.

No. 3209, ff. 438, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; pencil-notes in English throughout; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

A still more defective copy of the same.

This copy opens abruptly, on fol. 1^a, with these words: . . . گشاده اند نظم درس بیستان زبان باند الح, corresponding to No. 1692 (768 above), fol. 1^a, l. 6.

Bâb I, on fol. 9^a; II, on fol. 12^a; III, on fol. 44^b (in this bâb there are three lacunas, viz. one after fol. 55, corresponding to No. 1692, fol. 38^b, l. 6, to fol. 39^a, end of l. 11; the second after fol. 56, corresponding to fol. 39^b, last line, to fol. 40^b, l. 8 in the same copy; the third after fol. 58^b, corresponding to fol. 42^a, l. 8, to fol. 42^b, l. 3 ab infra in the same copy); IV, on fol. 114^b; with the heading of bâb V, on fol. 148^b: باب پنجم در فوائد نکدل بودن با دوستان (No. 1692, fol. 103^b, l. 3), this copy breaks off. A portion of fol. 74 is torn away at the bottom.

No. 2732, ff. 148, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

Another fragmentary copy of the same.

This very incomplete copy is besides in a state of helpless confusion. So far as we have been able to rearrange the leaves, their proper order appears to be: ff. 1-8, large blank, 129-136, 121-128, 113-120, 105-112, 97-104, 89-92, lacuna, 37-40, 25-32, 17-24, 9-16, blank and lacuna, 93-96, 81-88, 73-80 (between ff. 79 and 80 probably a small blank), 65-72, 57-64, 49-56, 41-48, 33-36. The only headings which appear are those of the third bâb on fol. 97^a and of the fourth on fol. 37^a.

No. 1156, ff. 136, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; the first eight leaves added by a more recent hand; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

Another disorderly copy of the same.

This most peculiar copy agrees in the preface and the first bâbs, although they are without headings, entirely with the preceding ones (index on fol. 9^a, first bâb on fol. 10^a), but further on a great disorder begins, and the copy differs altogether from the usual ones; for instance, there suddenly occurs, on fol. 52^b, another first bâb: باب اول در اجتناب نمودن از قول ساعی و تمام; on fol. 102^b, a third bâb (comp. bâb V in the usual copies): باب سیم در موافقت دوستان و فوائد معاضدت; on fol. 220^b, a fourth bâb: باب چهارم در ملاحظه کردن احوال دشمنان و ایمن نا بودن از مکر و حيلة ایشان (comp. bâb VI in the usual copies). Then follows, on fol. 280^b, a tenth bâb: باب دهم در بیان خرابی اعمال بطریق مکافات; an eleventh bâb, on fol. 290^a: باب یازدهم در مضرت افزون طلبیدن و از کار خود باز ماندن (comp. bâb XIII in the usual copies): a twelfth bâb, on fol. 303^a: باب دوازدهم در فضیلت حلم الح; a thirteenth bâb, on fol. 340^b: باب سیزدهم اجتناب کردن مملوک از قول غدرو خیانت (comp. bâb XV in the usual copies); a fourteenth bâb, on fol. 362^b: باب چهاردهم در عدم انفلات زمان. This chapter is the last in the copy, which was presented by J. Wombwell, Esq., the 10th of April, 1804.

No. 1559, ff. 381, ll. 15; written by different hands very unequally and incorrectly in Nasta'lik and Shikasta; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

Latâ'if-altawâ'if (لطائف الطوائف).

Jests and witty stories about the different classes of mankind, compiled by 'Alî bin Husain alwâ'iz alkâshifi (the son of the author of the Anwâr-i Sulaimi), better known as Safi (not Nasafi, as is wrongly written here), and completed shortly after A.H. 939 (A.D. 1532, 1533), in Gharjîstân, where he had betaken himself after many hardships and a year's captivity in Harât, at the court of Nasir-aldaulah wa Zahir-almillah Shâh Muḥammad, the Sultan of Gharjîstân; comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 454-457; Rieu ii. p. 757 sq.; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat.,

p. 975 sq. Another title, sometimes given to this work, is لطائف الطرائف. It is divided into fourteen fāṣls, viz.:

I. در بیان استعجاب مزاج و ذکر بعضی از مطائبات (about Muḥammad), in eight fāṣls, on fol. 3^b.

II. در ذکر بعضی از نکات شریعه و حکایات لطیفه ائمه (about the Imāms), in twelve fāṣls, on fol. 15^b.

III. در ذکر حکایات لطیفه ملوک و نکات طریقه سلاطین (about kings), in ten fāṣls, on fol. 33^a.

IV. در لطائف امرا و مقربان و طرائف وزرا و ارباب دیوان (about Amirs, favourites, wazirs, and other high state dignitaries), in six fāṣls, on fol. 43^b.

V. در لطائف ادیبان و منشیان و ندمان و ساهان (about men of letters, Munshis, courtiers, officers, etc.), in six fāṣls, on fol. 52^b.

VI. در لطائف اعراب و نکات فصحا و بلغا و ذکر بعضی (about Bedouins, grammarians, orators, etc.), in five fāṣls, on fol. 61^a.

VII. در لطائف مشایخ و علما و فضلا و فقها و اصحاب تذکیر (about Shaikhs, 'Ulamās, legal men, etc.), in eight fāṣls, on fol. 74^b.

VIII. در لطائف حکماء متقدمین و متأخرین و حکایات عجیبه اطبا و معجزین و منجمین (about philosophers, old and new, physicians, interpreters of dreams, and astrologers), in eight fāṣls, on fol. 85^b.

IX. در لطائف شعرا و بدیده گفتن ایشان در محلا و ذکر بعضی از عجائب صنائع شعری و غرائب بدائع فکری (about poets, etc.), in nine fāṣls, on fol. 97^b.

X. در لطائف ظریفان از مردان و زنان (about male and female wags), in eleven fāṣls, on fol. 127^b.

XI. در حکایات و لطائف بخیلان و درخواران و طفیلان (about misers, gluttons, and parasites), in five fāṣls, on fol. 149^b.

XII. در لطائف طامعان و دزدان و گدایان و کوران و کران (about greedy men, thieves, beggars, blind and deaf men), in eight fāṣls, on fol. 156^b.

XIII. در لطائف کودکان و غلامان و کنیزکان زبرک و تبز فهم (about clever children and slaves), in seven fāṣls, on fol. 160^b.

XIV. در لطائف و حکایات ابلهان و کدایان و مدعیان و دیوانگان (about silly people, liars, and impostors), in seven fāṣls, on fol. 174^b.

Beginning: بعد از ادای لطائف نحمدهات الهی و وظائف صلوات حضرت رسالت نهای علیه وآله صلوات الخ. Dated the 11th of Sha'bān, A. H. 1191 (A. D. 1777: September 14).

No. 1359, ff. 1-185, ll. 17; clear Nasta'lik, on fol. 78^a a second hand seems to commence; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 4 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

779

Another copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy.

Bāb I, on fol. 3^a; II, on fol. 12^b; III, on fol. 27^a; IV, on fol. 35^b; V, on fol. 43^a; VI, on fol. 50^a; VII, on fol. 61^a (here wrongly styled فصل instead of باب); VIII, on fol. 71^b; IX, on fol. 83^b; X, on fol. 111^a; XI, on fol. 131^b; XII, on fol. 137^b; XIII, on fol. 146^b; XIV, on fol. 154^b. The title given to it in the colophon is لطائف الطرائف (see the remark in the preceding copy); the proper title لطائف الطوائف appears on fol. 2^b, last line, and fol. 3^a, first line.

The first owner of this copy, which is not dated, was Mirzā Muḥammad Ḥasan bin Ghāḍanfarkhān 'Ālamgushāhi.

No. 1804, ff. 164, ll. 17; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; small illuminated frontispiece; size, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 6 in.

Kiṣṣa-i-Hātim Tā'i (قصه حاتم طائی).

The Persian romance of Hātim Tā'i, the model of liberality and generosity in the East, beginning, exactly as No. 451 in the Bodleian Cat.: سبای بی قیاس مر بروردگار جلا شاند و هزاران نعت بر آن سرور کائنات حضرت راوان احبار و نوافلان آثار چنین روایت میکنند در بیان تولد حاتم بن طی بن کهلان الخ.

Comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 440, 2-451; Rien ii. p. 764; J. Aumer, p. 55; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 991; A. F. Mehren, p. 33. This romance has been translated into English by Duncan Forbes, London, 1830; the Calcutta edition by J. Atkinson, 1818, contains only an abridgment of it. Other editions, Constantinople, 1840, and Bombay. A different version of the same story, made by Ḥusain al-Wā'iz al-Kāshiri, A. H. 891 (A. D. 1486), is described in Bodleian Cat., No. 452, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 992. This copy is severely damaged by worms in many places, and not dated.

No. 2472, ff. 160, ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 in.

781

Another copy of the same.

The same story of Hātim Tā'i, styled here قصه حاتم طائی. No date.

Beginning as in the preceding copy.

No. 750, ff. 119, ll. 17; large and distinct Nasta'lik; worm-eaten; size, 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

782

A short fragment of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copies. On fol. 380^a, the first fāṣl begins فصل اول در بیان سرگذشت حسن بانو دختر برنغ بزرگان و اخراج کردن از شهر بادشاه (خراسان).

The last words on fol. 413^b agree practically (of course the exact wording differs, as in all popular romances, considerably in the various copies) with the beginning of fol. 12^a, in the preceding copy.

Copied in the beginning of the present century.

No. 2383, ff. 371-413, ll. 11; large Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5¾ in.

Kiṣṣa-i-Hātim Ṭā'i.

A much fuller and greatly enlarged redaction of the romance of Hātim Ṭā'i, more than twice as large as the preceding copies and as all the other editions of this work, hitherto known. It consists of two different portions, the first of which is styled هفت سَبَر حاتم طی (see the same additional title in Rieu, loc. cit.), and begins exactly in the same manner as the preceding copies, besides being nearly the same length as that, viz.: سپاس بقیاس مر پروردگاری را جلّ شانه و هزاران نعت بر آن محمد مصطفی الخ.

The second part is styled هفت انصاف حاتم طی, and begins on fol. 170^a: راوی ذو فنون بمضمون موزون معروف بمنی بعبارت صاف هفت انصاف حاتم طی را بیان میکند که چون حاتم طی از آن سفرها که بسبب حسن بانو الخ.

No date.

No. 606, ff. 416, ll. 17; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

784

Kiṣṣa-i-Amir Ḥamzah (قصّة امیر حمزه).

An incomplete copy of the romance of Amir Ḥamzah, the son of 'Abd-almuṭṭalib and uncle of the prophet, in a version similar, as it seems, to that in the copy of the Bodleian Library (Bodleian Cat., No. 473), and the second and third copy of the British Museum (Rieu ii. p. 761). It begins thus: الحمد لله . . . اما بعد قصّة داستان مرد مبدان بهلولان روی زمین عم رسول آخر الزمان امیر حمزه بن عبد المطلب بن هاشم بن مناف قریشی که مبارزان عالم را حلقه بندگی بگوش انداخته چنین آورده اند که در قرن ماضیه که در ایران زمین بادشاهی بود در شهر مدائن الخ.

This copy breaks off at the end of the fifty-eighth dāstān, which deals with the battle of Uḥad, and begins on fol. 159^a. The whole work contains, according to the various copies, from seventy to eighty dāstān. On the possible authorship of Mullā Jalāl Balkhi, comp. Rieu, loc. cit., and Garein de Tassy, Histoire de la littérature, 2nd ed., vol. i. p. 236; on Turkish versions of the Ḥamzanāma, Fleischer, Kleinere Schriften, iii. p. 228; Bodleian Cat., No. 2108; and G. Flügel ii. p. 29. Another copy of this romance is noticed in J. Aumer, p. 55. Lithographed in Lucknow.

No date. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2567, ff. 165, ll. 21; Naskhi, mixed with Shikasta; size, 8½ in. by 6 in.

785

Portion of an enlarged version of the same.

The incomplete romance, contained in this most incorrect copy, and styled on fol. 1^a, both (!) قصّة امیر حمزه and قصّة امیر عرب, seems to be an enlarged and greatly modified redaction of the original Ḥamzanāma, resembling that defective copy of the رموز حمزه (or as it is styled with the same mistake in spelling as here: رموز حمزه), which is described in Rieu ii. p. 761 (Add. 24,418). A great number of the first chapters are apparently missing here; the portion preserved in our copy contains thirty short داستان (on ff. 1^b, 8^b, 12^b, 16^a, 19^b, 29^b, 33^a, 39^b, 42^b, 47^a, 59^b, 62^b, 65^a, 68^a, 69^b, 77^b, 82^b, 91^a, 99^b, 104^a, 108^a, 113^a, 119^a, 130^a, 136^b, 143^a, 145^b, 163^a, 173^a, and 184^b), every one of which begins with the phrase (read سر) آمدم بر سرى داستان. Among the prominent characters that appear here are, besides Ḥamzah himself (called امیر عرب or شاهزاده (حمزه!)) and the prophet Muhammad, شاهزاده بدیع, زمرد شاه غاص بن انوس, بابا عمر عیار, ارج الزمان, etc.

Beginning of this copy, after the standard phrase which introduces every chapter: اما لبین آریان بساطین (بسانین) اخبار و نخل پیرایان فرداس (فردوس) اشعار گلدسته سخن تازه ترازو نستربین (از نسرین or از نستربین) ازین باغ کهن چنین بد بزم بیان آورده اند که بابا عمر عیار بردی (در) read بارگاه زمرد شاه رسید الخ.

No date. The رموز حمزه have been printed in seven vols., Tabrān, A. H. 1274.

No. 942, ff. 186, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

Kiṣṣa-i-Shāh-i-mardān 'Alī (قصّة شاه مردان علی).

Another very large, but likewise incomplete, Persian romance of similar character and similar contents as the preceding one, and therefore styled, in a note, on fol. 1^a, قصّة حمزه; but whether it is merely another enlarged version of the Ḥamzanāma or rather an independent romance, dealing with heroic deeds of the same period, is difficult to say; at any rate, the chief hero here is 'Alī bin Abi Ṭālib, Muhammad's son-in-law and fourth Khalif, not Ḥamzah, the prophet's uncle; every paragraph begins with the words اما در محلّ و زمانی که, and closes with the phrase با علی مدد. On the other hand, several characters appearing in the preceding copy of the Ḥamzanāma, are found here too, for instance, زمرد شاه. In spite of its excessive length, this copy is by no means complete; it begins abruptly thus: اما در محلّ و زمانی که نقاب وار گوهربوش طهماسب را گرفت, and a great number of leaves are missing at the end; there is also a blank between the middle of fol. 6^a and that of fol. 7^a, and portions of ff. 8, 650, and 651 are torn away. Neither date nor author's name appears anywhere. The same note on fol. 1^a which gives to this romance the title of قصّة حمزة also states that it was copied A.H. 1083 (A.D. 1672, 1673).

No. 897, ff. 664, ll. 17; distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10 in. by 5½ in.

Dārālmāma (دارابنامد).

A slightly incomplete copy of one of the numerous historical romances or collections of romantic stories, founded on Persian legends, by Abū Ṭāhīr of Tarsus (or with his full name, Abū Ṭāhīr Muḥammad bin Ḥasan bin 'Alī bin Mūsā Ṭarṭūsī or Tarsūsī), the fruitful author of prose-epopees in imitation of Firdausī's Shāhnāma, comp. Mohl, Livre des Rois, i. préface, pp. 74 and 75. Other works of Abū Ṭāhīr are the Kahramān-nāma (also called Dāstān-i-Kahramān or Hikāyat-i-Kahramān-i-Kātil, see W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 993; and on the Turkish translation of the same, W. Pertsch, Berlin Turkish Cat., p. 460 sq., and Fleischer, Cat. Lips., p. 522) and the Kirān-i-Habashī (in Turkish translation in Bodleian Cat., No. 2101; Rieu, Turkish Cat., p. 219 sq., etc.). Abū Ṭāhīr's original version of the present romance on Darius and Alexander had, according to the conclusion, on fol. 444^a, been preserved in the library of the emperor Akbar and put into its present form by Kaikubād bin Miḥyār, at the request of another eminent Persiau, Nūshirwān bin Bahmān-shāh. From the bronillon of that compiler, the present copy was made by 'Abd-alrahmān, and finished the 8th of Jumādā-alawwal, A.H. 1026 (A.D. 1617, May 14). The beginning is missing; it opens in the middle of the mythical account of Darāb's youth, in the usual manner of all Oriental fairy tales.

The first and several other leaves are greatly injured.

No. 980, ff. 444, ll. 25 on ff. 1-94 with many blanks, ll. 21 on ff. 95-443; written by two different hands in Naskhi; size, 11½ in. by 7½ in.

Qiṣṣa-i-Saif-almulūk wa Badī'-aljamāl (قصّة سيف الملوك و بدیع الجمال).

The love-story of prince Saif-almulūk and princess Badī'-aljamāl, a tale from the Arabian nights in Persian translation or adaptation; the redaction of the story in the present copy is the common or second one, agreeing with No. 461 in the Bodleian Cat., Rieu ii. p. 764 (Egerton 1018), and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 996 (No. 1044), and beginning: سبّاس و ستایش بیفباس مر صانعی را که بلام صنع خود ابن همه صورتهای عجب اما بعد چنین گوید (گویند) راویان اخبار و ناقلان آثار و حکیمان و بزرگان روزگار که در اّبام محمود غازی الخ.

Comp. also G. Flügel ii. p. 27. An Eastern Turkish version in mathnawi-baits, composed A.H. 960 in Rabi'-alawwal (A.D. 1553, Febr.-March) is preserved in No. 2824, ff. 1-85, of this collection.

Dated the 19th of Ramaḍān in the seventeenth year of Muḥammad-shāh's reign (A.H. 1148=A.D. 1736, Febr. 2).

No. 536, ff. 67, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; very curious and comical illustrations on ff. 4^a, 5^a, 14^a, 14^b, 17^a, 17^b, 21^a, 23^b, 25^b, 26^a, 31^b, 34^a, 34^b, 35^b, 38^a, 39^b, 41^b, 51^a, 52^a, 54^b, 55^a (the full page, 59^b, 60^a (again the full page), 63^b, 64^a (the full page, 66^b and 67^a (one picture, filling the two pages; size, 8 in. by 4½ in.

789

Another copy of the same.

The same redaction of the story, as in the preceding copy.

Beginning: آغاز داستان قصّة سيف الملك (sic!) و بدیع الجمال، سبّاس و ستایش بیفباس مر صانعی را الخ.

No date; the original part of the MS., in bold Naskhi, is considerably old and much damaged.

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2497, ff. 1-67, ll. 14-15; Naskhi, except ff. 1-5, 11, and 51-67, which have been added by a much more modern hand, on white paper in Nasta'lik, ll. 10-11; size, 8½ in. by 5 in.

790

The same.

The same redaction again, beginning: سبّاس و ستایش الخ; this modern copy was finished the 8th of Jumādā-alawwal, A.H. 1217 (A.D. 1802, September 6), at Patna. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2383, ff. 1-126, ll. 11; large Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

A shorter redaction of the same story.

This redaction, considerably shorter and differing much in the wording (comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 462 and 463, and Rieu ii. p. 765), begins: راویان اخبار و ناقلان آثار و خوانندگان تواریخ چنین آورده اند که سلطان محمود پادشاه را الخ.

Dated the 11th of Rabi'-althāni, A.H. 1120 (A.D. 1708, June 30).

No. 1197, ff. 41^b-73, ll. 15; Shikasta, partly written in diagonal lines; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

792

Another short redaction of the same.

Title: قصّة سيف الملك (sic!) و بدیع الجمال و گلستان (see W. Pertsch, loc. cit.) ارم و ساعد و شهباز پادشاه پریان و غیر این من منشی نواز.

Beginning: ندانکه چنین آورده اند راویان اخبار و ناقلان اثرار (sic! instead of آثار) و گذارندگان سخنان که در زمین بیشمن شهنشاه عادل سلطان محمود سبکتکین رحمه الله علیه بخدمت سلطنت بناهی سرفراز گشت الخ.

Dated the 3rd of Rabi'-alawwal (the year is left out).

No. 3083, ff. 10-48, ll. 13; Naskhi, mixed with Shikasta; size, 7½ in. by 5½ in.

793

Ma'dan-aljawāhir (معدن الجواهر).

A collection of moral tales and anecdotes in twenty-two bābs and a conclusion, or اختتام, made by Mullā Ṭarzi, A.H. 1025=A.D. 1616 (see author's name and ta'rikh, viz. تأریخ او کتاب جهانگیر پادشاه, on fol. 206^a, l. 12 sq.), and dedicated to the emperor Jahāngir.

This copy, which is not dated, but contains among the MSS. of the India Office collection the fullest redaction of the work, begins: جهان جهان نباش جهانداري را / سزد که زان جهانگيري فرمان روانان والا شکوه بر اوج / گنمذ گردان الخ.

Comp. on this collection Bodleian Cat., Nos. 464 and 465 (containing the shorter redaction in seventeen bābs, see No. 795 below); W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 983 (also the shorter redaction); J. Aumer, p. 60; and Rieu iii, p. 1038.

Index, on fol. 11^a. Bāb I (در بیان درجه شهادت) on fol. 11^b; II (در عشق و محبت) on fol. 17^b; III (در فضیلت) on fol. 62^a; IV (در وجود و سخاوت) on fol. 84^a; V (در فصلت اکل حلال) on fol. 89^b; VI (در بیان بخشایش الهی) on fol. 94^a; VII (در بیان استغناء از دنی) on fol. 97^b; VIII (در وفا و حقیقت و نتیجه آن) on fol. 101^b; IX (در بیوفائی و بحقیقتی و نمره آن) on fol. 113^b; X (در بیان) on fol. 130^a; XI (در بادش نهمت و امترا الهی) on fol. 135^b; XII (در فضیلت دیانت و امانت) on fol. 141^a; XIII (در نتیجه بددانی و گفتران نعمت) on fol. 145^b; XIV (در نشانی) on fol. 150^b; XV (در معدلت و انصاف) on fol. 156^b; XVI (در سنجیدگی) on fol. 158^a; XVII (در بیان کوش کردن اندرز حیرت سکالان صواب اندیشد) on fol. 179^a; XVIII (در بیان احوال ستاره شناسان الهی) on fol. 183^a; XIX (در بیان حقیقت سرود و سماع) on fol. 187^a; XX (در بیان شکبتهای تعدد) on fol. 190^a; XXI (در مذمت فقر اضطراری) on fol. 191^b; XXII (در بیان نیکوای نیکوای زنان مکاره بدکاره) on fol. 195^a. Conclusion (در بیان احوال خویش و بیگانان رفیع السان) on fol. 205^a.

No. 155^a, ff. 206, ll. 14-17 (ff. 195-204, ll. 13 on different paper: Nasta'lik, by various hands; size, 9½ in. by 5¾ in.

794

Another copy of the same.

This copy, dated the 4th of Dhū-al-ḥa'dah, A. H. 1102 (A. D. 1691, July 30), contains the same twenty-two bābs, but lacks the conclusion or احسام, just as the first Munich copy (No. 189 in J. Aumer, loc. cit.).

Beginning as in the preceding copy. Index, on fol. 8^a, l. 9-89.

No. 3158, ff. 215, ll. 15; Nasta'lik, illuminated frontispiece; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

795

A shorter redaction of the same.

This copy contains the text of the Ma'dan-al-jawāhir in that shorter form in which it is found in the two Bodleian copies, the second Munich copy (J. Aumer, No. 190), and the Berlin copy, viz. in seventeen bābs only, to which are added between the second and third two other bābs, corresponding to the twenty-second and the third in the preceding copies (beginning here respectively on ff. 63^a and 85^b), and the same conclusion as in No. 793, exhibiting the name of the author, Tarzi, and the chronogram for A. H. 1025. The seventeen bābs of this copy correspond to those in No. 793, as follows: Bāb I, on fol. 8^b=1st; II, on fol. 13^b=2nd; III, on fol. 97^a=6th; IV, on fol. 113^b=12th; V, on fol. 118^a=8th; VI, on fol. 126^b=10th; VII, on fol. 134^a=14th; VIII, on fol. 138^a=4th; IX, on fol. 141^b=5th; X, on fol. 144^b=7th; XI, on fol. 147^b=6th; XII, on fol. 150^a=11th; XIII, on fol. 153^a=21st; XIV, on fol. 157^a=20th; XV, on fol. 161^b=19th; XVI, on fol. 164^b=18th; XVII, on fol. 169^a=16th. Conclusion, on fol. 170^b. Entirely missing are consequently bābs 13, 15, and 17 of the larger redaction.

No date.

No. 1527, ff. 172, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 11¾ in. by 8 in.

796

Two short stories, on ff. 203-206^a and ff. 206^a-216 respectively; the first alleged to have been taken from the preceding al-jawāhir and beginning: یکی از عارفان / حقیقی بگذاشت آورده که جوانی از ممالک هندوستان بعضائل / کوناگون الخ.

The second, without a heading, opens thus: در ماهی / باستانی بنظر درآمده که در ولایت گیلان الخ.

The last pages a little injured.

No. 95, ff. 203-216, ll. 15; Shikasta; size, 8¼ in. by 4¾ in.

Jāmi'-al-hikāyāt (جامع الحکایات).

A collection of Persian stories, compiled from various sources in prose, interspersed with verses, by an anonymous author. Beginning, on fol. 2^b:

ای خامه سحر سحر بحرام - در راه سخن روی نده کام.

Fol. 1 contains a useful index. The title of this collection appears on fol. 2^b, l. 6. Both the contents, and the few dates of composition which are found at the end of some of these stories, viz. Rajab, A. H. 1028 (A. D. 1619, June, July), on fol. 21^b, l. 3 ab infra; and 4th of Sha'bān, A. H. 1025 (A. D. 1616, Aug. 17), on fol. 41^b, last line (A. H. 1046=A. D. 1636, 1637, at the end of the whole work is probably the date of the copy), show, clearly enough, that this collection has nothing in common with 'Atfī's well-known work of a similar title (see Nos. 600-604 in this Cat.).

The order of leaves, which are misplaced in a rather bewildering manner, is as follows: ff. 1-172, 217-228, 201-216, 173-200, 229-400.

Contents:

1. حکایت بادشاه که در تلاش مرد بیغم سعی کرد, on fol. 2^b.
2. حکایت شاهزاده که در حیات ندر سفر اخمار کرد, on fol. 11^b.
3. حکایت مردی منعم از شهر حلب, on fol. 21^b.
4. حکایت حجاج بن یوسف نعمی (حکایت مسعود دمشقی و حجاج), on fol. 24^b.

5. حکایت خشت زن شهرکارزون, on fol. 41^b, last line.
6. حکایت ملک فارس عزالملک و بسراو مجد الملک, on fol. 52^a.
7. حکایت عزیز و زن, on fol. 74^a (this story corresponds to the ninth in a collection of Persian tales in the Bodleian Cat., No. 477, col. 438).
8. حکایت بازگان که در کاروان سرای نیشابور فرود آمده بود, on fol. 79^a.
9. حکایت هشام بن عبد الملک (this tale, which is not marked in the index, is taken from Ahmad bin A'tham al-Kūfi's کتاب فتوح in the Persian translation, described in Nos. 131-133 of this Cat.), on fol. 82^a.
10. حکایت هارون الرشید و جوان سگ برست, on fol. 84^b.
11. حکایت شیخ صنعان و مردان, on fol. 97^b (compare Bacher, Karl der Grosse und seine Tochter Emma in Zeitschrift der D. Morgenl. Gesellschaft, vol. 34. p. 614).
12. حکایت چهار مرد (at the end: حکایت شهر بیجانان), on fol. 114^b.
13. حکایت پری و شاهزاده (in the index: حکایت پری و شاهزاده, in three قصه, on ff. 119^b, 123^b, and 124^b).
14. حکایت شاهزاده جوان و جوان بخت (in the index: حکایت پادشاه بلاد مغرب و سه پسر او), on fol. 125^b.
15. حکایت بهرام گور و کنیزک (دلآرم), on fol. 141^a.
16. حکایت شاهزاده نوجوان و دختر شاه بمن (in the index: حکایت پادشاه ولایت خطا), on fol. 146^b.
17. حکایت دختر شاه کشمیر و شاهزاده فنوج, on fol. 163^b.
18. حکایت رضوان شاه و بری و چشمه و آهو, on fol. 222^a.
19. حکایت هارون الرشید و اسحق موصلی, on fol. 204^b.
20. حکایت آن شاهزاده که مادر و پدر بفروخت و با دختر کرد (It is in substance identical with the original of Gozzi's and Schiller's Turandot, comp. another incomplete copy of the same story in No. 798; at the end the same moral inferences, which are given in the following copy.) on fol. 209^a.
21. حکایت پادشاه شمشیر بند, on fol. 183^a (corresponding to the eighth story in the above-mentioned collection, Bodleian Cat., No. 477, col. 438).
22. حکایت مرد و زن, on fol. 195^b.
23. حکایت مرد و زن جمیل, on fol. 195^b.
24. حکایت مرد مطرب و زن صاحب جمال, on fol. 196^a.
25. حکایت ابوبکر رثانی, on fol. 196^a.
26. حکایت پادشاه و دختر سه ساله, on fol. 196^b.
27. حکایت مرد بنا و مهندس و زن مسنوره, on fol. 229^b.
28. حکایت آن پادشاهزاده که در خواب بر دحری عاشق شد که سه خال بر روی داشت, on fol. 243^b.
29. حکایت خالد جوهری (در شهر بصره) و پسرش منصور, on fol. 270^b.
30. داستان آل پادشاه که زن بریزاد خواست و قصه مار, on fol. 303^b.
31. داستان سعد و سعد و شمعون جهود و مرغ سعادت, on fol. 307^a.
32. حکایت پادشاه دریا بار و صد پسر, on fol. 316^a.

33. حکایت داستان شاهزاده و حصیر باب, on fol. 324^b.
34. داستان ماهی کبر و پسر, on fol. 326^a.
35. حکایت پادشاه شهر بغداد, on fol. 332^a.
36. داستان بازگان بصره, on fol. 333^a. (This and the following eight stories are in substance identical with the tales of the Bakhtiyār-nāma, comp. Sir W. Onseley's edition of it, London, 1801.)
37. حکایت پادشاه حلب, on fol. 336^b.
38. داستان مرد صابر, on fol. 339^b.
39. حکایت پادشاه بمن, on fol. 344^a.
40. حکایت پادشاه بلاد طبرستان, on fol. 347^b.
41. حکایت پادشاه حبشه, on fol. 352^b.
42. حکایت مرد جواهر شناس بغداد, on fol. 358^a.
43. حکایت ابو تمام, on fol. 361^b.
44. حکایت پادشاه حجاز, on fol. 364^b.
45. حکایت منصور دمشقی و گنج یافتن, on fol. 367^b (corresponding to the fourth story in the above-mentioned collection, Bodleian Cat., No. 477, col. 438).
46. حکایت پادشاه و پسر عافل, on fol. 374^b (corresponding to the third story in the same).
47. حکایت فاضی که از حرم گل بزیرافتاد, on fol. 379^a.
48. حکایت خشت زن و خلیفه بغداد, on fol. 380^a.

50. حکایت مردی در عهد عهد الدوله در شهر بغداد, on fol. 390^b.
51. A story without any heading, effaced in many places, dealing with an incident in 'Alī's Khilāfat, on fol. 393^a.
52. حکایت زاجر مصری, on fol. 395^a.

The collection ends on fol. 399^a: but the following pages down to fol. 401^a contain an additional story, written by another hand in diagonal lines and dated A.H. 1055, the 2nd of Dhū-alka'dah (A.D. 1645, Dec. 20). Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2541, ff. 401, ll. 17: Nasta'liq, written by two principal hands, the one on ff. 1-172 and 201-228, the other on ff. 174-200, 229-268, and 271-399; a third and fourth hand, the latter especially approaching Shikasta, on ff. 173 and 269-270, ll. 18-20: size, 11 in. by 6½ in.

Another, incomplete, copy of the same story, contained in No. 20 of the preceding collection, the story of the daughter of the Faghfur or emperor of China, who puts certain critical questions to all her lovers, and kills them if they are not able to give the correct reply. A number of leaves are missing in the beginning, but the main portion of the story is complete. At the end a number of moral inferences are drawn, for instance: 1. مرد پادشاهی و نیکوئی و راحت و رنج در کس. 2. اعتمادی نیست از فرزندان اهل آسائس دنیا و آخر است. 3. جاوید نماید در کارها فکر و تأمل حوشت. etc.

No date. Comp. Behnauer, 'Der junge Perser und die griechische Prinzessin' in 'Johannes-Album.'

Chemnitz, 1857, Prosaische Beiträge, pp. 55-70, where a much older version of the Turandot story is given, taken, as is stated there, from 'Aufi's original جامع الحکایات (or rather الحکایات). No date.

No. 1239, ff. 20, ll. 16; Nasta'liq; size, 9 in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Afsānat-algharā'ib (افسانت الغرائب).

Another collection of Persian stories, without preface or conclusion, similar in character and sometimes in contents also to those in the جامع الحکایات in No. 797 (comp., for instance, Nos. 21 and 22 of this compilation with Nos. 15 and 4 in the preceding one). The above title is found on the fly-leaf, and there is also the name of the author quoted, viz. Mullā Tayammunī Rāmi (ملا تمینی رومی). It contains the following tales:

1. قصّة منظر شاه, on fol. 1^b. 2. قصّة اسکندر ذو القرنین, on fol. 38^a. 3. حکایت برهمین, on fol. 55^a. 4. حکایت, on fol. 78^b. 5. حکایت دهمان فارس, on fol. 81^a. 6. حکایت روباهی گرسنه, on fol. 85^a. 7. حکایت, on fol. 93^a. 8. حکایت دمنه, on fol. 93^a. 9. قصّة بوزینه, on fol. 95^a. 10. حکایت سه جوان, on fol. 97^a (see a similar story in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 988, No. 2). 11. حکایت موش و گربه (W. Pertsch, loc. cit., No. 8), on fol. 105^b. 12. حکایت عادلخان, on fol. 112^a. 13. حکایت بادشاه سمرقند, on fol. 132^a. 14. حکایت قاسم دیوانه, on fol. 137^b. 15. حکایت گل ترک, on fol. 151^b. 16. حکایت عبدالله, on fol. 152^a. 17. حکایت, on fol. 156^a. 18. حکایت عظیم الملک, on fol. 165^b. 19. حکایت بادشاه بصره, on fol. 178^a. 20. قصّة حجاج, on fol. 193^b. 21. حکایت رئیس موصل, on fol. 204^a. 22. حکایت شهزاده بهرام و گل اندام, on fol. 216^b. 23. حکایت مرد نبشاپور در بلاد عراق, on fol. 239^b. 24. حکایت خاورشاه بادشاه, on fol. 247^a.

Beginning: واقعۀ تولد ذو القرنین بدانکه اسکندر اصل از مغرب است لیکن بسبب آنکه مادر او از روم است اورا اسکندر رومی گویند الخ.

No date. Fol. 2 a little injured.

No. 810, ff. 264, ll. 17; Nasta'liq; size, 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 4 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

Maḥbūb-alkulūb (محبوب القلوب).

A collection of moral tales by Barkhwurdār bin Maḥmūd Turkmān of Farāh, with the takhalluṣ Mumtāz, see fol. 1^b, l. 2, and fol. 72^a, l. 3. The title appears on fol. 72^a, l. 6. It is in substance the same work as noticed in Rieu ii. p. 767 sq., but differs in so far as it is considerably smaller in extent and lacks the preface quoted there. The beginning (which differs from that in Rieu's copy) is exactly the same as that of the Berlin copy (noticed by W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 317, No. 289), viz.: چهره پرداز عرائس حریم عجز و نیاز و مصور: نگار خانه فرنگ آب الخ.

The short introduction on ff. 1^b-2^b, in which there is only mention of the author's stay in Harāt (fol. 2^a, l. 12), refers exclusively to the first story of our collection, which begins on fol. 2^b, and bears as title (see fol. 2^a, l. 8): حکایت فیروزشاه مصری و گنجور عابد (given as general title to the whole collection on the fly-leaf). The subdivisions consist of حکایت and باب, the latter nine in number (on ff. 22^b, 38^a, 40^b, 50^b, 61^a, 66^a, 69^a, 71^b, and 165^a); the last bâb contains, as in Rieu's copy, the story of Ra'nâ and Zibâ (باب از کتاب رعنا و زبا). The author flourished under Minûcîhrkhân's governorship of Mashhad (A. H. 1034-1074 = A. D. 1625-1664), see Rieu iii. p. 1093^b.

No date. The Maḥbūb-alkulūb has been printed in Bombay, A. H. 1268. Bibliotheca Leydeuiana.

No. 2652, ff. 197, ll. 18; Nasta'liq, by different hands, mixed with Shikasta; size, 12 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 7 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Kitâb-i-Ra'nâ wa Zibâ (کتاب رعنا و زبا).

Another copy of the story of Ra'nâ and Zibâ, the last part of the preceding Maḥbūb-alkulūb, beginning: طراح قطعاعات رنگین گلشن ابن مقاله و مفسر آیات صحائف این رساله برخوردار ولد محمود ترکمان فراهی که گلستان ابواب ابن نسخه را الخ.

Dated by 'Abdallāh the 28th of Jumādâ-alawwal, A. H. 1159 (A. D. 1746, June 18).

No. 1843, ff. 27-136, ll. 15; Nasta'liq; size, 8 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 in.

802

Dāstān-i-Maḥbūb-alkulūb (داستان محبوب القلوب).

Another portion of the same Maḥbūb-alkulūb, beginning: در مراعات جانب دوستان صادق و مذمت آشنائی بیگانگان رسم و راه آدمیت الخ.

Dated by the same 'Abdallāh as the preceding copy, the last of Jumādâ-alawwal, A. H. 1159 (A. D. 1746, June 20).

No. 1843, ff. 136^a-260, ll. 15; Nasta'liq; size, 8 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 in.

803

Three short Persian romances.

1. Kiṣṣa-i-Firūzshāh (قصّة فیروزشاه), on fol. 1^b, different from the حکایت فیروزشاه in the Maḥbūb-alkulūb (No. 800 above), and beginning: راویان اخبار حاکیان اسما در نقل چنین آورده اند که در شهر بدخشان بادشاه بود الخ.

This story of the son of the king of Badakhshān is ascribed on the fly-leaf of the following copy (No. 804) to 'Alī Naurūzkhān (who might be identical with Naurūz 'Alibeg Shāmlū, one of the more modern poets quoted in the Makhzan-algharā'ib, Bodl. Cat., col. 388, No. 2830, and in the Shuhuf-i-Ibrāhīm in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 663, No. 205).

2. Kiṣṣa-i-Husnārā (قصّة حسن آرا), on fol. 30^b, beginning: بعد از حمد و ثنای حضرت ذوالجلال و فادر قدرت بی شبه و بی مثال الخ.

3. Kiṣṣa-i-Madhumālat (قصّة مدھمالت), on fol. 49^b, beginning: جواهر زواهر محمدت ولآلى منقبت نثار مر. جناب تقدس النج. This love-story of princess Madhumālat or Madhūmālat is stated to have been taken from a poetical version of the same subject, which may be either 'Ākilkhān Rāzī's مهر و ماه, composed A. H. 1065 (A. D. 1655), see Rieu ii. p. 699^a, or the قصّة منوهر و ميكا, the Persian version of a Hindū poem, completed A. H. 1059 (A. D. 1649), see Rieu ii. pp. 700^a and 803^b. Stories nearly related to this are منوهر و ميكا, see further below, No. 324, and the mathnawī پدماونى, described in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 929.

The proper order of ff. 1-16 is: 1-9, 12, 10, 11, 14, 15, 13, and 16.

No. 1421, ff. 79, ll. 17; large Nasta'lik; size, 11 in. by 7³/₈ in.

Kiṣṣa-i-Firūzshāh (قصّة فیروزشاه).

Another copy of the same short romance, which forms the first part of the preceding copy, beginning in the same way as there. English notes and rubrics, partly in pencil, partly in ink, on the margin throughout. Dated the 10th of Ramaḍān, A. H. 1198 (A. D. 1784, July 28, Bangālah era, 1191), at Calcutta. The first owner of this copy was C. Macaulay (1785), a later one Alex. Falconer.

No. 3074, ff. 56, ll. 13; Shikasta; size, 8³/₈ in. by 5¹/₄ in.

Kiṣṣa-i-Mihr u Māh (قصّة مهر و ماه).

A Persian romance, styled, 'sun and moon,' or the love-story of prince Mihr, son of Khāwarshāh and princess Māh, beginning: الحمد لله رب العالمين. روایت میکند که در دیاری (دیار مشرق) بادشاهی بود نام او خاورشاه بود النج.

See other copies of the same story in the Bodleian Cat., No. 1241, i, in Rieu ii. p. 765, and in Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 410, comp. also Garcin de Tassy, Histoire de la littérature Hindouie etc., 2nd ed., ii. p. 550, where several Hindūstāni mathnawīs, written on the same subject, are noticed.

Dated the 29th of Rajab in the nineteenth year of (الاجلوس), probably 'Ālamgir's reign, which would be A. H. 1087=A. D. 1676, Oct. 7).

No. 1533, ff. 73, ll. 15; size, 10³/₈ in. by 5³/₄ in.

Bahār-i-dānish (بهار دانش).

A collection of tales, the framework of which is formed by the story of Jahāndār Sultān and Bahrawar Bānū, composed A. H. 1061 (A. D. 1651) by Shaikh 'Ināyat-allāh Kanbū (see fol. 3ⁿ, l. 8), who died in Jumādā-alawwal, A. H. 1082 (A. D. 1671, September); see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 466-472, and No. 1976; Rieu ii. p. 765, and iii. p. 1093^b; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 999 and 1000; J. Aumer, pp. 54 and 55; A. F. Mehren, IND. OFF.

p. 32. The collection is preceded by a preface of the author's younger brother and pupil, Muhammad Sālīh Kanbū, the author of the 'Amal-i-Sālīh' (see Nos. 332-336 in this Cat.). The present copy, although undated, appears upon the whole the best in the India Office collection.

Beginning: ماخذ کتاب مستطاب آفرینش و مراد صیفة دانش و بمنش حمد خداوند حرد بخش سخن آفرین النج.

The work itself begins on fol. 6^b. On complete editions of the text in Delhi, Lucknow, Bombay, etc., comp. Zenker ii. p. 627; Bodleian Cat., No. 1976; and Rieu, loc. cit. Part of the text has been published in the 'Selections for the Use of the Students of the Persian Class,' vol. ii, Calcutta, 1809, and in the 'Classical Selections from some of the most esteemed Persian Writers,' vol. i, Calcutta, 1828. English translations by Alexander Dow, London, 1768, and by Jonathan Scott, 3 vols., Shrewsbury, 1799; German translation, by A. Th. Hartmann, Leipzig, 1802. On a French translation by Lescallier, and the printed text which is found on the margin of Nizām's Sikandarnāma, Bombay, A. H. 1261, see Zenker ii. p. 631, and W. Pertsch, loc. cit.

No. 1408, ff. 374, ll. 15; large and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b and 6^b; pictures and drawings on ff. 10^a, 12^b, 13^a, 17^a, 21^b, 25^a, 32^a, 32^b, 37^a, 40^b, 41^a, 42^a, 45^b, 57^b, 67^a, 69^b, 72^a, 74^a, 75^b, 76^a, 79^b, 81^b, 83^a, 84^a, 85^b, 87^a, 88^a, 90^b, 91^a, 93^b, 97^a, 99^b, 101^a, 104^a, 104^b, 106^a, 110^b, 111^a, 112^a, 113^b, 114^a, 114^b, 117^b, 118^a, 120^b, 121^a, 124^b, 126^b, 127^a, 129^a, 129^b, 133^a, 133^b, 136^a, 136^b, 139^a, 139^b, 144^a, 144^b, 148^a, 148^b, 151^a, 151^b, 155^a, 155^b, 161^a, 161^b, 165^a, 165^b, 170^a, 170^b, 173^a, 174^a, 178^a, 182^a, 191^a, 191^b, 197^a, 199^a, 204^a, 210^b, 211^a, 215^a, 216^a, 221^b, 222^a, 226^a, 231^b, 232^a, 244^b, 245^a, 249^b, 250^a, 257^b, 258^a, 260^b, 267^a, 271^a, 275^a, 276^a, 280^a, 282^b, 283^a, 288^b, 289^a, 292^a, 295^b, 296^b, 299^a, 302^a, 305^b, 309^a, 314^a, 322^a, 326^a, 335^a, 334^a, 337^a, 357^a, 358^b, 359^a, 361^b, 364^a, 371^b, and 372^a; size, 12 in. by 7³/₈ in.

Another copy of the same.

This copy of the Bahār-i-dānish, the oldest of the dated ones among the complete copies, is very rudely written, greatly injured, worm-eaten and dirty. It is collated. Beginning the same as in the preceding copy. The work itself opens on fol. 5^a. Dated the 27th of Jumādā-althāni, A. H. 1145 (A. D. 1732, Dec. 15). College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2054, ff. 310, ll. 17; Shikasta, many pages written in diagonal lines; size, 9³/₈ in. by 5¹/₄ in.

The same.

Beginning as usual; the work itself opens on fol. 4^b. The Arabic paging is wrong from fol. 141 onwards, but the text is uninterrupted and the copy complete. Dated at Ahmadnagar Farrukhābād the 26th of Muharram, A. H. 1182 (A. D. 1768, June 12), in Shāh 'Ālam's reign. It belonged formerly to Mr. James Ballantyne. Collated.

No. 3217, ff. 234, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 9 in. by 5³/₈ in.

809

The same.

The work itself begins on fol. 8^a. Dated by Shaikh Wali-allāh Ṣadiqi Khishti, an inhabitant of Jamālpūr, in the district of Shâhjahânâbâd, at Banâras, in the seraglio of Shaikh Salim, the 24th of Rajab, A. H. 1185 (thirteenth year of Shâh 'Âlam's reign)=A. D. 1771, Nov. 2.

No. 1518, ff. 216, ll. 18-22; unequal and often careless Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

810

The same.

This modern, but very good and correct copy is dated by Muḥammad A'ẓam the 14th of Dhû-alhijjah, A. H. 1204 (A. D. 1790, Aug. 25). It was made at the request of Ratanji, son of Bahmanji Wâriyâ (رتن جی ولد بهمن جی واریا).

No. 576, ff. 289, ll. 15; excellent, large, and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 6 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

811

The same.

The work itself begins on fol. 9^b. Dated the first of Muḥarram, A. H. 1207 (A. D. 1792, Aug. 19).

No. 1870, ff. 322, ll. 15; rude Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

812

The same.

The work itself begins on fol. 7^a. No date.

No. 2757, ff. 392, ll. 13; careless Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

813

The same.

The work itself begins on fol. 11^a. No date.

No. 1549, ff. 372, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

814

The same.

The work itself begins on fol. 7^b (but without any special indication). Ff. 169-175 are misplaced; their right order is: 169, 173, 174, 170-172, 175. No date.

No. 409, ff. 229, ll. 18-19; Nasta'lik; ff. 1, 226, and 229 supplied by a later hand; size, 9 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

815

The same.

No date. Quite modern copy.

No. 3432, olim 8. J. 1, ff. 337, ll. 16; Shikasta; ff. 1, 2, 41, 334-337, and a few leaves in the middle written by other hands; size, 8 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

816

A defective copy of the same.

This copy is incomplete at the beginning (the whole preface being left out). The first words, حسن خردمندان رموز بیانی و نفس نندان نگارستان معانی چنین رواست کنند روز سلطان السلاطین شاه ابو العتاس در محفل فردوس مشاغل متمکن الخ

Copied in Rajab of the year 1169 of the Bangalah era (fourth year of Shâh 'Âlam's reign=A. H. 1176. A. D. 1763, Jan.-Febr.).

No. 2485, ff. 380, ll. 13; Shikasta; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

817

A very incomplete copy of the same.

Beginning as usual; the work itself opens on fol. 7^b. A lacuna after fol. 7^b, corresponding to No. 3217 (808 in this Cat.). fol. 4^b, l. 3 ab infra, to fol. 9^a, l. 7. A second, much larger, lacuna after fol. 210^b, corresponding to No. 3217, fol. 171^a, l. 5, to fol. 212^b, l. 8.

This copy is dated the 1st of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1122 (A. D. 1710, April 30). Collated.

No. 2072, ff. 230, the main portion of the MS. in careful Nasta'lik, ll. 17; ff. 1-6 by a more recent hand in careless Nasta'lik, mixed with Shikasta, ll. 15; ff. 21-26 by a third hand in pure Shikasta, ll. 17-18; size, 9 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

Bahâr-i-dânish-i-manẓûm (بهار دانش منظوم).

A poetical paraphrase of the Bahâr-i-dânish in mathnawi baits, incomplete at the end, by Ḥasan 'Alî with the takhalluṣ 'Izzat, who lived in the reign of Tipû Sultân (reigned in Maisûr or Mysore, A. H. 1197-1213=A. D. 1783-1799), to whom this work is dedicated.

Beginning: بنام آنکه جان را داد در خاک
ز انجم ساخت روشن سقف افلاک

No. 153, ff. 247, ll. 10-19; Shikasta, the first five leaves supplied by a later hand, as it seems, ll. 9-12; size, 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 7 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

819

Ḳiṣṣa-i-Gul u Ṣanaubar (قصه گل و صنوبر).

The story of Gul and Ṣanaubar (rose and pine tree) in Persian prose, beginning: راویان اخبار و ناقلان آثار چنین روایت کنند که در خاور زمین بادشاهی بود که آنرا سمن شاه نعلبوش میگویند الخ

See the same story, but in an apparently shorter version and with different beginning, noticed in Rieu ii. p. 764^b, found in a MS. written in the seventeenth century. A Hindûstâni adaptation of the same was published by Hidâyat 'Alî of Islâmâbâd, 1847, at Calcutta, and translated into French by Garcin de Tassy, in 'Revue orientale et americaine,' tom. vii. 1862, pp. 69-130; another Hindûstâni translation in verse was made by Aḥmad 'Alî of Sarâwah, comp. Garcin de Tassy, Histoire de la littér. Hindouie etc., 2nd ed., i. 157, and ibidem about the Dakhni and Urdû-Bangâli translations of the same story; a third poetical translation into Hindûstâni by Nem Çand was published at Calcutta. 1827, and at Lucknow, 1845.

No. 675, ff. 54, ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

820

Another copy of the same.

This version of the story of Gul and Ṣanaubar (here headed as in Rieu's copy: قصه گل و صنوبر) begins: خردمندان رموز بیانی و نفس نندان نگارستان معانی چنین رواست کنند روز سلطان السلاطین شاه ابو العتاس در محفل فردوس مشاغل متمکن الخ

No date. End of the twelfth century of the Hijrah. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2827, ff. 13^b-61^b, ll. 11; Nasta'lik; size, 7 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

821

Kiṣṣa-i-Kām-rūp (قصه کامرूप).

The same prose version of the story of Kām-rūp and Kāmlatā as in Rieu ii. p. 763 sq., where it is ascribed to the poet Muḥammad Kāzīm, that is no doubt Mir Muḥammad Kāzīm Husaini, with the takhalluṣ Karīm, who was in the service of 'Abdallāh Kūṭbshāh (reigned in Haidarābād A.H. 1035-1083 = A.D. 1626-1672, see No. 465 in this Cat.); see Rieu ii. p. 683, and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 456. Another copy of the same story is described in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 995. It has been translated into English by W. Franklin, under the title of 'The loves of Camarūpa and Camalatā,' London, 1793. A poetical version of the same story is Muḥammad Murād's دستور همت, composed A.H. 1096 (A.D. 1685), see Rieu ii. p. 697.

Beginning: قصه برداران غرائب آثار و داستان سریان
سوانح روزگار الخ.

No date. Twelfth century of the Hijrah. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2774, ff. 103, ll. 14; Shikasta; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

822

Another copy of the same.

This modern and undated copy of the same version begins as in the preceding copy. The proper order of ff. 1-9 is: 1, 3-8, 2, 9. This MS. belonged formerly to John G. Plunkin (?), Bengal, 1806.

No. 3037, ff. 151, ll. 11 (ll. 14 on ff. 1, 3, and 4); Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

Shakaristān (شکرستان).

The sugar-chest, an imitation of Sa'di's Gulistān and Jāmi's Bahāristān, containing moral stories and anecdotes frequently mixed with verses, see the title on fol. 6^a, l. 4. The author is the well-known poet and calligrapher Mir Muḥammad Mu'min, with the takhalluṣ 'Arshī (عرشی), son of Jahāngir's famous calligrapher Amir 'Abdallāh Mushkinkālam alḥusaini altirmidhi, see fol. 6^b, l. 7; comp. Rieu i. p. 154, and ii. p. 782^a, where the poet's death is fixed in A.H. 1091 (A.D. 1680); A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 335 sq., and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 928. This work must have been one of the first literary attempts of 'Arshī, since the date of composition (contained in the title) is A.H. 1031 (A.D. 1622), and his other poetical works which are mentioned in A. Sprenger and W. Pertsch, loc. cit. (مهر و وفا, شاهد عرشی, etc.), are written at a much later period, the latter A.H. 1053 (A.D. 1643, 1644), the former A.H. 1069 (A.D. 1658, 1659). He was, moreover, according to Ārzū, panegyrist of Shāhjahān's eldest son, prince Dārā Shukūh.

The book is divided into the following six bābs:

1. در بیان احوال اجداد و مرشدان بآک نهاد, on fol. 9^a.
2. در سیرت بادشاهان و سربرت وزبران, on fol. 22^a.
3. در تربیت فرزندان بادشاهان عالیشان که خلیفه الاسلام اند, on fol. 42^b.
4. در بیان عارفان حق و عاشقان شاهد مطلق, on fol. 56^a.

5. در بیان آداب و حکایات ففرا, on fol. 61^b.

6. در بیان لطائف و طرائف و خاتمه, on fol. 70^b.

The index found on fol. 7^a differs a little from the arrangement in the book itself, in so far as the fifth bāb appears there as fourth and is headed: در آداب صحبت با عزیزان از اقام شباب تا شیب. We conclude from this fact and also from the whole aspect of the copy, that it is the author's autograph and probably the first sketch of the work.

Beginning: بنام آنکه نامش در زبانهاست - بوصف نام او شیرین بیانهاست الخ.

On fol. 6^a, l. 7, the mystical mathnawī نان و حلوا, by Bahā-aldin Muḥammad 'Āmili, with the takhalluṣ Bahā'i (who died A.H. 1030 = A.D. 1620, 1621), is mentioned, comp. on that poem Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1085-1088.

No. 1757, ff. 82, ll. 13; Nasta'lik; worm-eaten throughout and spoiled in many places; size, 8 in. by 4¾ in.

Mikā u Manūhar (میکا و منوهر).

The love-story of Mikā (or Minkā) and the Rāja Manūhar, a Persian romance, stated here to have been composed by Mādhodās of Gujarāt in A.H. 1098 (A.D. 1687), see the chronogram on fol. 5^b, l. 7: گلبن طبع عزیزان نوبهاری یافته.

Beginning: سخن است که آدمی زاد را از حفیض حیوانی بانسانی رسانیده الخ.

Another copy of the same story in the Bodleian Cat., No. 478; comp. on some nearly related romances in prose and verse, No. 803 in this Cat.

Dated the 1st of Jumādā-althāni in the fiftieth year of 'Ālamgir's reign (= A.H. 1118, A.D. 1706, Sept. 10).

No. 1854, ff. 178, ll. 15; irregularly written in bad Shikasta; size, 9¼ in. by 5 in.

Gushāyishnāma (گشایش نامه).

Stories of remarkable escapes, compiled A.H. 1101 (A.D. 1689, 1690), according to the chronogram on fol. 5^a: دهد حقا گشایش های بیشک, comp. Rieu ii. p. 767, where A.H. 1100 is given as date of composition. The present copy differs from that in the British Museum in two points, firstly it contains seven gushāyish (instead of the six there), and secondly, the authorship of the book is assigned to two Hindus (instead of one), viz. Rājkarṇ (Khawājah Rājkarṇ in Rieu, loc. cit.) and Pakrān Khāyath.

Beginning: فرمان آن قادر بمجون که فضای افلاک را با این همه نعوش متلون منقش نموده و تصدق الخ.

Dated the 17th of Jumādā-althāni, A.H. 1184 (A.D. 1770, Oct. 8), by Gauhar 'Alī.

No. 2077, ff. 67, ll. 15; Shikasta, almost illegible in many places; size, 8½ in. by 6 in.

826

An incomplete story, from A.H. 1118 (A.D. 1706), related by Amān-allāh, the grandson of Shaikh Sa'd-allāh Munshi, and beginning: خواهی که بیاید سخت: آب قبول - آغاز کن از حمد حق و نعت رسول - زان پس در سان تحفه صلوات و سلام الخ.

No. 212, ff. 84^b-86^b, ll. 18-19; Shikasta; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

Tuhfat-allihikāyāt (تحفة الحكایات).

A short collection of stories, containing seven tales, and therefore also styled هفتگانه, by Brahman Hīṣānī, beginning: درین اقام بحسب آنچه خورد الخ.

Dated the 29th of Dhū-al-hijjah in the sixth year of the reign of the emperor Bahādurshah (Kutb-aldin Muḥammad Mu'azzamshāh 'Ālam Bahādur) = A.H. 1123 (A.D. 1712, Febr. 7), at Shāhjahānābād.

No. 944, ff. 37, ll. 17-22; Shikasta; worm-eaten; size, 8½ in. by 5 in.

Pakāwālī (پکاولی).

The story of prince Tāj-al-mulūk, Bakāwālī and her rose, translated from Hindūstānī into Persian by Shaikh 'Izzat-allāh Bangālī, who had commenced this story in or before A.H. 1134 (A.D. 1722) at the request of a friend of his, Muḥammad, and completed it after the latter's sudden death (the first of Dhū-al-hijjah, A.H. 1134 = A.D. 1722, Sept. 12), obeying the earnest entreaty of some other friends, although he himself, in his first bitter grief, would have wished to do away with his work altogether.

Two other copies of this story are described in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 996, where the fuller title, قصه گل بکاولی, is given, and the author's name appears as 'Ināyat-allāh Bangālī. This Persian version has again been translated into Hindūstānī by Nihāl Cānd, under the title of 'مذهب عشق' (Gooli Bukawulē, Hindustani, by Nihāl Chund, preface by J. Gilchrist, Calcutta, 1804, translated into French by Garcin de Tassy in the 'Revue d'Orient,' 1858), see W. Pertsch, loc. cit., and Zenker ii. 3920 sq. Another, still more modern, Hindūstānī adaptation of the same story is the گلزار نسیم, the rose-garden of Nasim, in verse, composed A.H. 1254 (A.D. 1838), by Pandit Dayā Shankar Nasim, see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 629.

Beginning (different from that in the Berlin copy): گلزار همیشه بهار حمد و ثنائی باغبان حقیقی را سزد که این طرفه بوسنان جهان از انواع حسن الخ.

No date. Worm-eaten.

No. 1413, ff. 76, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 8 in.

829

Another copy of the same.

The beginning of this copy differs from that in the preceding one, but agrees in the main with that of the Berlin copy, viz. زینت دیباچه و سخن بنام سخن آفرین که قفل گنجینه دلهارا بمفتاح الخ.

The author's name appears on fol. 6^a, last line; the date, A.H. 1134, on fol. 8^a, l. 9. The colophon is partly torn away.

No. 2474, ff. 141, ll. 11; Nasta'lik, mixed with Shikasta; several pages slightly injured; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

830

Two Persian romances, in prose, by anonymous authors:

The first, on ff. 1^b-49^b, without any title, divided into ten bābs and beginning: راویان اخبار و ناعلان آثار: و محدثان روزگار و سخن گویان کین چنین آورده اند که مشتمل بر ده باب است باب اول در بیان آنکه در ملک سبستان بادشاهی بود صاحب ناچ و تخت و نامش آزاد تخت چاه الخ.

The second, on ff. 50^b-105^b, is styled قصه ملک محمد و گیتی (according to the following copy: قصه ملک محمد و گیتی), the love-story of Malik Muḥammad and Giti-afrūz, beginning: راویان اخبار و ناعلان آثار چنین آورده اند که در زمان حضرت شیخ صنعان در طرف زمین مغرب شهری بود که آنرا ابض می گفتند الخ.

No date. The second story greatly damaged by worms.

No. 1153, ff. 105, ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

831

Kiṣṣa-i-Malik Muḥammad u Giti afrūz (قصه ملک محمد و گیتی افروز).

Another copy of the same story which forms the second part of the preceding collection, beginning in the same way. Lacunas after ff. 1 and 80. Dated the 14th of Rajab, A.H. 1151 (A.D. 1738, Oct. 28). Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2629, ff. 81, ll. 12-15; Shikasta, worm-eaten throughout; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

Kiṣṣa-i-Giti Ārā (قصه گیتی آرا).

Another Persian romance without any date or author's name, beginning: راویان اخبار و ناعلان آثار چنین روایت میفرمایند که در ولایت جین بادشاهی بود عالی جاه انجم سپاه و بسری داشت با حسن و کمال آراسته الخ.

No. 202, ff. 176, ll. 17; clear and distinct Nasta'lik, the first and the last two pages supplied later by another hand in Shikasta, ll. 19-20; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

Būstān-i-Khayāl (بوستان خیال).

The first Bahār or the first two volumes (جلد) of one of the largest and most famous Persian romances, the Būstān-i-Khayāl or 'garden of imagination,' by Mir Muḥammad Taqī al-Jafari al-ḥusaini of Almadābād in Gujārāt, with the takhalluṣ Khayāl, who wrote this vast collection of tales, in which historical legends are blended with the adventures of Jinn and Peris, at the request of his noble patron, Nawwâb Rashidkhân Bahâdur, wherefore, as is stated in the Berlin copy (W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 993), the work is also sometimes styled فرمایش رشیدی, and died A. H. 1173 (A. D. 1759, 1760); see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 193, and Rieu ii. p. 770 sq. It comprises altogether fifteen volumes (جلد), divided into three Bahâr (spring), the second and third of which have the additional title of a first and second Gulistân, comp. the detailed description of this bulky romance in the Bodleian Cat., No. 480 (Caps. Or. D. 9-23, the most complete copy of the work extant, in which only one of the fifteen volumes is missing). This first Bahâr, which bears besides the special title of Mahdinâma (مهدی نامه), was commenced A. H. 1155 (A. D. 1742, 1743), at Shâhjahânâbâd, and serves as a sort of mukaddimah or introduction to the whole work, relating the life and adventures of Sultân Abû-alkâsim Muḥammad Mahdi and the other ancestors and predecessors of Sultân Mu'izz-aldin (i.e. the Khalif Alkâ'im biamrillâh, the hero of the second Bahâr or first Gulistân); the last or fifteenth volume of the whole work (the end of the third Bahâr or second Gulistân) was commenced A. H. 1169 and completed in the month Dhû-ahhijjah of the same year (A. D. 1756, September), at Murshidâbâd, see Bodleian Cat., loc. cit.

Beginning of the first volume (No. 1773), on fol. 1^b:
نبارك الذى جعل فى السماء بروجا وفعل فيها سراجا قهرا
نيزا الخ.

Beginning of the second volume (No. 1774), on fol. 1^b:
ذكر رفسن سلطان ابو العاسم محمد مهدى و بادشاهزادگان
و بعضى امراء عرب بزيارت حرمين و عتبات عاليات و ببيان
وفائى آن نفل (نفلة Bodl. copy correctly ابن احبار از
شائبة تشابه Bodl. copy correctly تحفيق چنين آورده
اند الخ.

Copied A. H. 1202 (A. D. 1787, 1788), as a comparison with No. 1770 (839 below), which is written by the same hand, proves.

No. 1773, ff. 295; No. 1774, ff. 183; large and distinct Nasta'lik, by the same hand, ll. 19 in each page; size, 12½-12½ in. by 8½ in.

834

A short fragment of the same first Bahâr of the Bûstân-i-Khayâl.

Part of the first volume of the first Bahâr or Mahdinâma, only comprising forty-eight pages, and beginning as in the preceding copy: نبارك الذى جعل فى السماء بروجا الخ.

The author's name appears on ff. 7^b, last line, and 8ⁱ, first line; the title on fol. 12^b, l. 7. The date of the commencement of the work, viz. A. H. 1155, is found here on fol. 12^b, last line but two. The last words, with which this copy breaks off on fol. 48^b, run thus: واکترى خليفه اول وثانى را دوست ميداشتند و از سيوم.... corresponding to No. 1773, fol. 27^b, l. 6.

No. 2412, ff. 1-48, ll. 17; large and clear Nasta'lik; size, 12½ in. by 8 in.

Bûstân-i-Khayâl.

The mukaddimah (or first volume) of the second Bahâr or first Gulistân of the Bûstân-i-Khayâl, that is the third volume of the whole work. This second Bahâr, which relates the adventures of Mu'izz-aldin or Alkâ'im-biamrillâh (see the preceding copy), bears the special titles of Mu'izznâma (معزنامه), Kâ'imnâma (کایم نامه), or even Shâhikbirânâma (شاهیکبران نامه), and is subdivided into a mukaddimah and two Gulshan, each Gulshan containing two Gulzâr.

Beginning: هرگونه ستایشی که در دل هر ستایش کننده
نگذرد و زبان (برزبان Bodl. copy correctly او جاری گردد
سزاوار جناب خداوندیست الخ.

Conclusion: چنان نمود که مقدمه بهار دوم را که
عبارت از دفتر قائم نامه باشد درین مقام باحتتام رسانده
شروع در کلسن اول از بهار دوم از بوستان خیال نماید الخ.

The designation given to this volume in the colophon, viz. تمام شد جلد نالت مهدی نامه, is incorrect, since the Mahdinâma comprises only the first two volumes.

No date.

No. 1932, ff. 152, ll. 16; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

836

Bûstân-i-Khayâl.

The first Gulshan (in two Gulzâr or two volumes) of the second Bahâr or first Gulistân, corresponding to the fourth and fifth volumes of the whole work; see another copy of this first Gulshan together with the mukaddimah (contained in the preceding copy), in J. Aumer, p. 57 (No. 185). Parts of this second Bahâr are also contained in the first British Museum copy (Add. 16,689).

Beginning (differing from that in the Bodleian copy):
نخلندان حدائق اخبار و گلشن آرايان شعائق آنا را الخ.

Colophon as in J. Aumer, p. 58: کلسن اول
دفتر اول از گلستان (اول supply) یعنی جلد اول از
(بهار دوم از supply) بوستان خیال.

Copied A. H. 1202 (A. D. 1787, 1788), see No. 833 above and No. 839 below.

No. 1771, ff. 319, ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'lik, written by the same hand as Nos. 1773 and 1774 (833 above); size, 12½ in. by 8½ in.

837

Bûstân-i-Khayâl.

The first Gulzâr of the second Gulshan of the second Bahâr or first Gulistân, corresponding to the sixth volume of the whole work. Beginning: حمدى که اکر
تمام درباهای روی زمین مرکب شود و جمیع شاخهای
درجهان ربع مسکون الخ.

Copied A. H. 1202 (A. D. 1787, 1788), see the preceding copy.

No. 1772, ff. 148, ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'lik, by the same hand as Nos. 1773, 1774, and 1771 (833 and 836 above); size, 12½ in. by 8½ in.

838

Bûstân-i-Khayâl.

The second Gulzâr of the second Gulshan of the second Bahâr or first Gulistân, corresponding to the seventh volume of the whole work. It is incorrectly styled on fol. 1^a: دفتر سیوم از بهار دوم از جلد سیوم معرّنامه; بوستان خیال; گلستان سیوم مسّی معرّنامه; the same wrong designation of گلستان سیوم is given to this copy in the colophon. Another copy of the whole second Gulshan of the second Bahâr is noticed in J. Aumer, p. 58 (No. 186). Beginning:

بنام خدای که از مشّت حاک - بدد آورد گوهر تابناک

Copied A. H. 1202 (= A. D. 1787, 1788).

No. 1930, ff. 337, ll. 16; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

839

Bûstân-i-Khayâl.

The first daftar or jild of the third Bahâr or second Gulistân of the Bûstân-i-Khayâl, corresponding to the eighth volume of the whole work. This third Bahâr (the largest of the three), which relates the adventures of Şâhib Kirân-i-Akbar Shâhzâda Mu'izz-al-din, Şâhib Kirân-i-A'zam Shâhzâda Khurshud Tâjbaksh, and Şâhib Kirân-i-Aşghar Shâhzâda Badr-i-munir, bears the special title of Khurshidnâme (خورشیدنامة), and is subdivided into seven books (جلد or دفتر) or eight volumes, the last two of which (the fourteenth and fifteenth, together with the Khâtimah) are missing in this collection. This first daftar begins: ادای حمد و سپاس ربّ العالمین حکیم علیم و نعت درود سبّد المرسلین رسول کریم و مدح و منفعت النّخ

In l. 6 this heading appears: آغاز گلستان دوم بهار سیوم از کتاب بوستان که موسوم است بخورشیدنامة اما راویان اخبار و ناملان آثار و محدثان این حدیث شبرین بیان و مخیر (مخمران Bodl. copy correctly النّخ).

Conclusion: ان شاء الله تعالی بعد از این احوال صاحبقران اعظم و صاحبقران اصغر در دفتر دوم مذکور کرده (کرد) النّخ خواهد شد النّخ.

Dated the 7th of Muḥarram, A. H. 1202 (A. D. 1787, Oct. 19).

No. 1770, ff. 388, ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 12½ in. by 8½ in.

Bûstân-i-Khayâl.

The second daftar or jild of the third Bahâr or second Gulistân, corresponding to the ninth volume of the whole work (جلد نهم از کتاب بوستان خیال موسوم جلد دوم). This second book has been supplemented afterwards by an extensive appendix, subdivided into two shaṭr (شطر), or as the second British Museum copy (Add. 24,935) calls them, saṭar (سطر), and bearing the special title of Shâhnâme-i-Buzurg (شاهنامه بزرگ); according to Rieu's copy this appendix is also designated as سطر الجلد, see the following two copies.

Beginning: بعد از سبّاس و ستایش خداوند غفور رحیم و الصلوة (والصلوات) نامیات بر رسول واجب التعظیم وآل و اصحاب او چنین گوید که چون احوال صاحب قران اصغر در جلد اول از بهار سیوم بجای که مذکور شد رسانید شروع در تحریر جلد دوم بهار سیوم نمود و ابتدای این جلد از احوال صاحب قران اکبر شاهزاده معز الدین النّخ

No date.

No. 1933, ff. 367, ll. 16; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

841

Bûstân-i-Khayâl.

The first shaṭr of the preceding second daftar, forming, as it seems, together with the following copy of the second shaṭr, the tenth volume of the whole work. From a colophon in the Bodleian copy it would appear as if these two shaṭr, which now form together with the preceding copy a single daftar or jild, although two distinct volumes, were originally meant to appear as third daftar; in this way some of the conflicting statements found in the Bodleian copy, the third British Museum copy (Add. 4939), and our present copies might easily be reconciled.

Beginning: نیکوترین محامد و عالیترین ائمه سزاوار جناب حضرت خالق البرّه است که مخلوقات ارض و سماء و مافیها بذکر حمد و ثنای او خود را مشغول می نماید النّخ

No date.

No. 159, ff. 338, ll. 16; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

842

Bûstân-i-Khayâl.

The second shaṭr of the preceding second daftar. beginning: آغاز دفتر دوم از کتاب شاهنامه بزرگ که مشتملست بر احوال ظفر مال صاحبقران اعظم شاهزاده خورشید تاج بخش لیل اقبال النّخ

In the colophon the author makes this statement (agreeing verbatim with that in the Bodleian copy): مسود این اوراق رنگین سیاق مناسب چنان دانست که شطر دوم از جلد دوم از بهار سیوم کتاب بوستان خیال که خورشیدنامة نام دارد درین مقام باتمام رساند و

جلد سیوم النّخ

Copied A. H. 1202 (A. D. 1787, 1788).

No. 1769, ff. 330, ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'lik, by the same hand as Nos. 1770-1774 (833, 836, 837, and 839 above); size, 12½ in. by 8½ in.

843

Bûstân-i-Khayâl.

The third daftar or jild of the third Bahâr, as it seems, although both on fol. 1^a and at the end it is designated as second jild (a confusion, probably arising from a similar mistake as that noted in No. 841), and therefore corresponding to the eleventh volume of the whole work (which is missing in the Bodleian copy). Beginning: اما راویان اخبار و ناقلان آثار روایت کرده اند که چون صاحبقران اکبر (قصه صاحبقران اکبر و) قصه صاحبقران اعظم را بدستان صحت رسانیده اند حسن عالی برخواست الخ.

Copied A. H. 1202 (A. D. 1787, 1788).

No. 1929, ff. 205, ll. 16; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

844

Būstān-i-Khayāl.

The fourth daftar or jild of the third Bahār, corresponding to the twelfth volume of the whole work. Beginning: زبان انسان شمع انجمن وقتی تواند شد که بقدر مقدور و حمد خداوند غفور الخ.

In l. 4 the author makes the following statement: چون جلد سیوم بهار سیوم کتاب بوستان خیال باتمام رسبد شروع در تحریر جلد چهارم نمودم الخ; and further down: مخفی و مستتر نماند که جلد اول تمام و کمال مشترک باحوال صاحبقران اکبر و اعظم و اصغر مع توابعات بود و جلد دوم تمام و کمال مشتمل بر احوال صاحبقران اکبر شاهزاده معزز الدین تاجور و جلد سیوم همگی باحوال صاحبقران اعظم که شاهزاده خورشید تاج بخش مع متعلقانه بقلم آمده الخ.

In the colophon he says: الحمد لله والمآله که جلد چهارم از بهار سیوم که فقط بر احوال صاحبقران اصغر شاهزاده بدر منیر مشتمل بود باتمام رسید باقی احوال مهتر توفیق و احوالات دیگر در جلد دیگر الخ.

Copied A. H. 1202 (A. D. 1787, 1788).

No. 1775, ff. 386, ll. 19; large and distinct Nasta'lik, by the same hand as Nos. 1769-1774 (833, 836, 837, 839, and 842 above); size, 12½ in. by 8½ in.

845

Būstān-i-Khayāl.

The fifth daftar or jild of the third Bahār, corresponding to the thirteenth volume of the whole work. Beginning: بعد از حمد و ثنای حضرت کرم کار ساز بنده: نواز خداوند جهان الخ.

Colophon: تمام شد جلد سیزدهم بوستان خیال.

No. 1931, ff. 393, ll. 16; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

846

A large fragment of an anonymous Persian romance, defective both at the beginning and end, with a large lacuna (comprising, according to the Arabic paging, fifty-eight leaves) after fol. 22. On the back of the binding it is styled جوامع التواريخ, but on the last page more correctly, as it seems, دمر دوم مجمع البدائع, the second book of a novel, entitled Majma'-albadā'i, or the collection of wonderful and surprising things. At the beginning seventeen leaves are missing, as the Arabic paging shows. The style of this work is about the same as in the preceding Būstān-i-Khayāl, combining heroic legends and fairy tales. The copy is a correct and tolerably old one.

No. 2453, ff. 240, ll. 21; clear Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 7½ in.

Ajib-alkışaş (عجیب القصص).

A fairy tale, relating the adventures of an Indian prince who is designated in many different ways (once, for instance, یوسف جمال), and his love affairs with the princess Badī'-aljamāl, entirely different from the قصه بديع الجمال (see Nos. 788-792 above).

Beginning: سرسبزی بوستان سخن ناتماری (بآبیاری). ستایش چمن آرائی است که گلشن عشق الخ.

The title is distinctly given on fol. 7^b, l. 10. The story is dedicated to the emperor Shāh 'Ālam (who reigned A. H. 1173-1221 = A. D. 1759-1806), see fol. 3^b, l. 1: شاه عالم پناه دولت و دین. The author's name does not appear anywhere.

Copied at Lucknow during the wazirship of Nawwāb Āṣaf-aldaulah Bahādur, and finished the 25th of Jumādā-althāni, A. H. 1209 (A. D. 1795, Jan. 17). Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2462, ff. 152, ll. 15; Nasta'lik, rather difficult to read through the absence of many diacritical points; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

848

Kiṣṣa-i-Malik Muḥammad u Shahr-bānū (قصه ملک محمد و شهربانو).

The romance of prince Malik Muḥammad and Shahr-bānū (according to the Bodleian Cat., No. 482, Sham-shabānū), which was translated from Hindūstāni at the request of the emperor Shāh 'Ālam, see here fol. 4^b sq. According to the Bodleian copy the Persian translator's name is Mun-lī Ghayūri; Lachman Singh, who appears here on fol. 4^b, is no doubt the author of the original. According to the same copy the proper title of the romance is Shu'la-i-āh (شعله آه).

Beginning: سگفتگی گلشن قصه بردازی و تازی حمن: فسانه طرازی شانسته حمد جهان آرائیست که گل رعناي حب و محبت را بنسیم روح درور قدرت بالغه الخ.

No. 1481, ff. 152, ll. 9; Shikaṣṭa; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

849

Kiṣṣa-i-Bahrām-gūr u Bānui-Ḥasan (قصه بهرامگور و بانوی حسن).

A Persian romance, the love-story of Bahrām-gūr and the fair princess, the daughter of the king of the Persis.

Beginning: راویان اخبار و ناقلان آثار و طوطیان شکر

شکن شیرین گفتار و مهندسان سخن و گوشه نشینان کهن
چنین روایت کرده اند که در شهر فارس پادشاهی بود بعدل
و داد تمام خلق و بغایت خوش روی الخ

A shorter version of the same story is noticed in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 989. No. 12, in the first line.

Dated the 8th of Jumādā-althāni, A. H. 1198 (A. D. 1784. April 29).

No. 780, ff. 50, ll. 17; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

In the following copy it is ascribed to 'Ali Muḥammad. Copied for Mr. Richard Johnson, by Muḥammad Rafī.

No. 910, ff. 23, ll. 13; Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 6 in.

859

Collection of tales and historical sketches.

This copy contains:

A. A main part on ff. 1^a-70^a, consisting of—

1. Ff. 1^a-16^a: Kiṣṣa-i-Tamim Anṣārī, identical with that in the preceding copy, but styled on the fly-leaf عمرنامه, or 'story of a woman soliciting justice of the Khalif 'Umar,' by 'Ali Muḥammad. Beginning, on fol. 1^a: اندر خبر آورده اند که در وقت امیر المؤمنین عمر خطاب رضی الله عنه روزی امیر المؤمنین رضی الله عنه نماز بامداد گذارده بود الخ

2. Ff. 17^a-63^a: Bakhtyār-nāma, in a similar redaction as No. 475, 3, in the Bodleian Cat. (col. 436), but divided into ten bābs, like the enlarged version, No. 476, 1, in the same Cat. It was edited by Sir W. Ouseley, text and translation, London, 1801. Beginning, on fol. 17^a: الحمد لله . . . بدانکه این کتاب یادگار بادشاهان است و بختیارنامه که فاضلان تصنیف کرده اند تا طالبان را و خوانندگانرا بپند حاصل آید و این مختصر برده باب است و در هر بابی حکمتها گفته است آغاز داستان بختیار نامه این است چنین روایت میکنند که در دینار عجم بادشاه بود با داد و عدل و شکوه الخ

3. Ff. 64^a-70^a: Fath-nāma, that is, Sulṭān Muḥammad III's campaign against Hungary in A.H. 1005 (A.D. 1596, 1597), identical with the 'Fath-nāma-i-Khūnkār-i-Rūm' in No. 572 above. It is translated from Turkish, see the title here: ترجمه فتحنامه حضرت بادبندی بنه و شاه خونکار روم که بترکی نوشته الخ Beginning: الحمد لمن لا نصر الا من عنده والصلوة والسلام على حبيب الخ

As date (probably of composition) appears at the end A.H. 1012 (A.D. 1603, 1604).

B. An appendix, by two different hands, on ff. 71^a-79^a, consisting of—

4. Ff. 71^a-77^a: Account of the district of اودگیر Udgir, that is, Oodagherry in Telingana.

5. Ff. 78^a-79^a: A short account of Dhundia Wāgh, or as he is called here, Dhūndūji Wāgh (دهوندوجی واگه), the famous freebooter of Mysore, who was at last subjugated and killed by the English in 1800, see Beale. Oriental Biogr. Dict., p. 81.

No. 3053, ff. 79, ll. 13 (on ff. 71-77, ll. 9-10); written by three different hands, the greater part in Naskhī, mixed with Shikasta; size, 8 in. by 5½ in.

IND. OFF.

B. POETRY.

I. EPIC, LYRIC, AND DIDACTIC POETRY.

Poets who died between A.H. 400 and 500.

1. Firdausi and Imitators (Nos. 860-901).

a. Copies of the Shāhnāma with the older preface.

860

Shāhnāma (شاهنامه).

Firdausi's great epic poem, 'the book of kings,' in four books, preceded by the older preface, anterior to the so-called Bāisunghari recension, and designated by Mohl (i. p. xv) as 'préface No. II;' see Rieu ii. p. 534^a; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 732 sq.; Bodleian Cat., No. 497; Rosen, Persian MSS., p. 169; J. Aumer, p. 6 (where it is wrongly ascribed to Bāisunghar), etc. This preface has been translated by M. de Wallenbourg in his 'Notice sur le Shahnamé,' Vienna, 1810, and begins here, on fol. 1^b: سپاس و آفرین مر خدایرا که آن جهان و این جهان الخ

First book (جلد اول) of the poem, on fol. 6^b, beginning: بنام خداوند جان و خرد — کزین برتر اندیشه بر نگذرد and going down to Bahrām's death.

Second book (جلد دوم), on fol. 151^b, beginning: بنام خداوند خورشید و ماه — که دلرا بنامش خرد داد راه and concluding with Isfandiyār's message of victory to his father Gushtāsp.

Third book (جلد سوم), on fol. 290^b, beginning: خداوند پیروزی و فرهی — خداوند دیهم و شاهنشهی and ending with the accession of Nūshirwān.

Fourth book (جلد چهارم), on fol. 407^b, beginning exactly as the second book and comprising the rest of the poem.

Firdausi (Abū-alkāsim Ḥasan or Maṣṣūr) was born about A.H. 321 or 322 (A.D. 933 or 934) in Shādāb, near Tūs, completed the Shāhnāma, according to the usual statement, A.H. 400 (A.D. 1009, 1010), according to a rare epilogue, found only in one copy of the British Museum (Rieu, ii. p. 535^a) and in No. 878 below, already A.H. 389 (A.D. 999), and according to some verses in the same copy of the British Museum, even as early as A.H. 384 (A.D. 994), and died A.H. 411 (A.D. 1020; other dates of his death are A.H. 416=A.D. 1025, and A.H. 421=A.D. 1030); comp. on the poet's biography and special incidents of his life, besides the Catalogues mentioned above. The present copy was transcribed by Muḥammad Ḥafīz Ḡishti. Book I is dated A. H. 1007, first of Ramaḍān (A. D. 1599, March 28); Book II, A. H. 1007, the 18th of Shawwāl (A. D. 1599, May 14); Book III has no date; Book IV is dated A. H. 1008, the 16th of Rajab (A. D. 1600, Febr. 1). Fol. 421 (corresponding according to the Arabic paging) is left blank. Many small blanks besides.

No. 2118, ff. 522, 4 coll., each ll. 25; small, but very neat and clear Nasta'lik; splendid illuminations on the first two pages of each book; size, 15½ in. by 10¼ in.

861

Another copy of the same.

Contents:

The older preface on fol. 1^b, beginning as in the preceding copy.

Genealogical index of all the Persian kings, quoted by Firdausi, on fol. 7^a.

Another genealogical index in verse (فهرست منظوم), on fol. 9^a.

Alphabetical index of the Pahlawi (and other uncommon) words, used by Firdausi in his epopee, on fol. 10^b.

The poem itself is divided into two halves, viz.:

First half, on fol. 12^b, beginning: بنام خداوند جان و خرد الخ.

Second half, on fol. 318^b, beginning with Gushtāsp's reign: چو گشتاسب را داد لهراسپ تخت الخ.

The first half is dated by Ḥafīz Aḥmad bin Muḥammad the 23rd of Ramaḍān, A. H. 1009 (A. D. 1601, March 28); the second is not dated.

No. 118, ff. 506, 4 coll., each ll. 25; Nasta'lik; vignettes on ff. 1^a, 12^a, and 318^a; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b, 12^b, and 318^b; pictures on ff. 338^a, 365^a, and 430^b. Part of ff. 58^a, 79^a, 102^b, and 180^b left blank; many headings and single verses missing or injured; ff. 487 and 556 supplied by a more modern hand; size, 13½ in. by 9½ in.

Another copy of the first half of the poem.

This copy, with the older preface on fol. 1^b, contains only the first half, respectively the first two books of the Shāhnāma; Book I begins on fol. 8^b, Book II on fol. 163^b; the first goes down to Afrāsiyāb's hearing of the flight of the Iranians: the second to Arjāsp's death by the hand of Isfandiyār. All the rest of the poem is wanting. No date. The copyist was Muḥammad Fāḍil, known as اسرائیل کولوی. A few various readings on the margin.

No. 3267, olim 11, J. 6, ff. 325, 4 coll., each ll. 25; good and clear Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

b. Copies of the Shāhnāma with the Bāisungharī preface.

863

Shāhnāma.

The Bāisungharī preface (dated A. H. 829 = A. D. 1426, see on the rather fictitious character of the same, and the whole question of the so-called Bāisungharī recension, the excellent remarks of M. James Darmesteter in the 'Revue Critique,' October 20, 1890, pp. 215 and 216), on ff. 1^b-13^b, beginning: افتتاح سخن آن به که کنند تعمت الدباجة الموسومة ببايسنغرى.

This preface is designated by Mohl as 'préface No. I,' and is printed with a few omissions in Macan's Introduction to the Shāhnāma, pp. 11-61.

Beginning of the poem, on fol. 13^b: بنام خداوند جان و خرد الخ.

The Shāhnāma is divided into two parts, the second of which begins with Luhrāsp's reign (headed: کتاب جو لهراسپ بنشست بر تخت: (لهراسپ نامه) داد الخ. This splendid copy was made by Ḥasan bin Muḥammad Aḥsan and finished at Shirāz the 18th of Dhū-alka'dah, A. H. 967 (A. D. 1560, August 10); it was given as a present to Kāsimbeg the 1st of Dhū-alhijjah,

A. H. 971 (A. D. 1564, July 11), according to a note on fol. 1^a.

No. 133, ff. 538, 4 coll., each ll. 25; excellent Nasta'lik; ff. 1^b and 2^a gorgeously illuminated in gold and blue arabesques, mixed with a variety of other colours; similar illuminations and an excellent frontispiece on ff. 270^b and 271^a; all the headings throughout neatly embellished; well-executed pictures on ff. 5^b, 16^b, 32^a, 54^a, 76^b, 96^a, 113^b, 127^b, 150^b, 184^b, 203^a, 227^b, 250^a, 270^b, 271^a, 304^a, 321^b, 349^b, 372^a, 389^a, 418^b, 445^b, 483^a, and 519^a; size, 14½ in. by 8½ in.

864

The same.

The Bâisunghari preface begins here as in the preceding copy, and is concluded by a short chronological index and list of kings.

Beginning of the poem, on fol. 12^b. It is divided into four books; Book I ends with Rustam's return from Turkistân and Afrâsiyâb's flight; Book II, beginning on fol. 200^b, with Gushtâsp's accession; Book III, beginning on fol. 315^b, goes down to the accession of Nûshîrwân; and Book IV, beginning on fol. 461^b, comprises the rest. Dated by Majd-al-dîn bin Ibrâhîm Hâfiz, A. H. 1012, the 29th of Muharram (A. D. 1603, July 9).

No. 3340, olim 11. J. 7, ff. 586, 4 coll., each ll. 25; small Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b and 12^b; adorned headings on ff. 200^b and 315^b. Small pictures on ff. 15^a, 15^b, 17^a, 19^a, 24^b, 42^a, 48^b, 50^a, 55^a, 65^b, 73^b, 77^b, 92^b, 106^b, 120^b, 134^a, 149^a, 156^a, 158^b, 164^a, 180^b, 190^a, 198^b, 200^a, 212^b, 214^a, 243^b, 254^b, 267^b, 279^a, 280^b, 296^b, 297^a, 315^b, 325^b, 332^a, 332^b, 333^b, 334^b, 337^a, 353^a, 355^a, 355^b, 370^a, 371^a, 377^a, 385^b, 388^a, 393^a, 395^b, 399^b, 410^a, 418^b, 420^b, 422^a, 424^a, 425^b, 429^a, 435^a, 439^b, 460^b, 489^b, 494^b, 516^a, 534^b, 552^b, 561^a, 563^b, 572^b, 576^b, 583^a, and 585^b; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

The same.

The Bâisunghari preface, on fol. 1^a. Beginning of the poem, on fol. 10^b. It is divided into four books, which agree in their contents entirely with those in the preceding copy, except that Books II and III (beginning on fol. 144^b) are not separated here. Book IV begins on fol. 338^b. Small blanks on many pages, apparently left for the insertion of headings or pictures. Book I (جلد اول) is dated A. H. 1111, the 16th of Šafar (called here the 44th year of 'Ālamgir's reign)=A. D. 1699, August 13; Book IV, the 8th of Dhū-al-hijjah, in the same year=A. D. 1700, May 27, by Muḥammad Ḥisârî. The first two leaves are supplied by another hand, perhaps by Warren Hastings, whose name appears at the top of the preface.

No. 3259, olim 11. J. 5, ff. 427, 4 coll., each ll. 25, and a fifth on the margin, ll. 40; Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 7½ in.

866

The same.

The Bâisunghari preface, on fol. 1^b. Beginning of the poem, on fol. 15^b. No subdivision into books. This copy was made for J. H. Peile, Esq., of the Madras Civil Service (مستریبل صاحب بهادر والا مناقب), at Seringapatan (سرنگپتن در سلطنت انگریز), and is dated A. H. 1220, the 26th of Muharram (A. D. 1805, April 26). It was presented by Mr. Peile to the Library on the 19th of September, 1818.

No. 3255, olim 11. J. 3, ff. 542, 4 coll., each ll. 21; large and clear Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^a and 15^b; size, 14½ in. by 8½ in.

867

The same.

An extremely splendid and magnificent copy of the Shâhnâma, in two volumes, with a beautiful eastern binding; written by Hidâyat-allâh of Shîrâz, but not dated.

The Bâisunghari preface begins here, on fol. 2^b, thus:

ای در صف اهل نظم استاد سخن
شد تازه و محکم از تو بنیاد سخن
فردوس مقام بادت ای فردوسی
انصاف که نیک دادۀ داد سخن
افساح سخن آن بد که کند اهل کمال الخ

The full text of the satire against Sulṭân Maḥmûd is found here on fol. 9^b sq.

Beginning of the first volume, on fol. 13^b; of the second volume, on fol. 344^b, with Luhrâsp's accession: جو لهراسب بنشست بر تخت عاج الخ

Nos. 741 and 742, ff. 668, 4 coll., each ll. 25; excellent Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 2^b, 13^b, and 344^b; the whole copy luxuriously embellished throughout; full-size pictures on ff. 1^b, 2^a, 40^a, 94^b, 140^b, 185^b, 215^a, 232^a, 252^b, 326^a, 355^b, 385^b, 412^b, and 529^b; size, 16 in. by 10 in.

868

The same.

The Bâisunghari preface, beginning here with the same verses as in No. 704 of W. Pertsch's Berlin Cat. (p. 735):

فردون و جمشید خورشید شان
بامرش درین گنبد آمد روان

This beautiful copy is divided into two halves, the first of which begins on fol. 10^b, the second on fol. 332^b, with the accession of Luhrâsp. No date.

No. 1256, ff. 622, 4 coll., each ll. 25; excellent Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of the preface and of both halves of the poem; the first four pages luxuriously embellished, on the first two a long inscription as heading of the whole work; pictures on ff. 13^a, 29^a, 42^b, 52^b, 57^b, 70^b, 79^a, 102^b, 120^b, 138^b, 150^b, 175^b, 186^a, 189^a, 196^b, 207^a, 220^b, 233^b, 276^b, 321^b, 361^b, 384^b, 421^b, 460^b, 496^a, 529^a, 552^a, and 580^b; size, 17 in. by 10½ in.

A slightly defective copy of the same.

The Bâisunghari preface breaks off on fol. 10^b, in consequence of a lacuna after fol. 10, through which also the beginning of the poem is missing. The last words of the preface correspond to No. 3259 (865 in this Cat.), fol. 8^b, l. 5, middle; the first words of the poem, on fol. 11^a, نکى آئى بر شده تاناک, to fol. 10^b, l. 7, on the margin of the same copy. The poem is divided into four books: Book II begins, on fol. 201^b, with the story of Bizhan (بیزن); Book III, on fol. 310^b, with Luhrâsp's accession; Book IV, on fol. 470^b, with the reign of Nûshîrwân. All the larger headings are left blank throughout; some smaller blanks besides. Ff. 586-589 are turned upside down. This defective copy, somewhat injured in the beginning too, was finished in the month Dhû-alhijjah, A. H. 987 (A. D. 1580, January-February).

No. 341, ff. 596, 4 coll., each ll. 25; Nasta'lik; the first two pages embellished; size, 11 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 7 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

Another more defective and incomplete copy of the same.

A large lacuna in the Báisunghari preface after fol. 2, corresponding to fol. 3^a, l. 12-fol. 10^b, l. 9 in No. 3255 (866 in this Cat.); at the end of the preface the genealogical list of kings in mathnawi-baits (see No. 861 above). Beginning of the poem, on fol. 5^a. It consists here of three bábs only, and goes down to the death of Farámuriz, the son of Rustam; all the rest of the poem is wanting. Book II begins, on fol. 314^b, with Gushtâsp's accession; Book III, on fol. 368^b, with the story of Farámuriz. No date.

No. 3263, olim 11. J. 2, ff. 456, 4 coll., each ll. 25-31; Nasta'lik; illuminated fronti-piece at the beginning of each book; pictures (some of which are full-sized on ff. 47^b, 76^a, 89^b, 113^a, 130^b, 149^b, 155^a, 196^b, 212^b, 216^b, 241^b, 255^b, 288^b, 318^a, 322^b, 326^b, 330^b, 334^b, 343^b, 353^b, 356^b, and 398^b; size, 15 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Dibâca-i-Shâhnâma (دباجة شاهنامه).

Another copy of the Báisunghari preface, beginning: افتتاح سخن آن به که کند اهل کمال الخ, and ending with the short chronological list of the Pishdadian, Kayanian, Ashkânian, and Sâsânian kings of Persia. No date.

No. 3056, ff. 44-66, ll. 11; Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

c. Copies of the Shâhnâma with another preface.

Shâhnâma.

This copy has the same preface as Add. 27,302 in the British Museum (Rieu ii. p. 536^b) and No. 497 in the Bodleian Cat., which begins thus: حمد و ستایش, مر خدای را عزوجل که خدای هر دو جهان است الخ, and contains a legendary biography of Firdausi, with a short genealogical account at the end. The poem is, as in many of the preceding copies, divided into four books. Book I, on fol. 9^b; II, on fol. 192^b; III, on fol. 333^b; IV, on fol. 452^b. The first book goes down to Rustam's slaying the diw Akwân (see Bodleian Cat., No. 500), the second to Kuhram's falling into the hand of Isfandiyâr, and the third to the beginning of Nû-hirwân's reign; the fourth comprises the rest. Many headings are left blank. Ff. 1 and 8 are supplied by another hand. This copy was finished in Ramaðân, A. H. 991 (A. D. 1583, September-October).

No. 453, ff. 576, 4 coll., except the last two pages which have only two, each ll. 25; small Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each book; size, 9 in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

873

The same.

The same preface as in the preceding copy: حمد و ستایش مر خدایا الخ, with the short genealogical account at the end. The first 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ lines of this preface are repeated on ff. 6^b and 7^a.

Beginning of the poem, on fol. 7^b. No subdivision into books; the copy is slightly injured in several places, especially towards the end.

Dated by Âdina of Bukhârâ, A. H. 1008, the 10th of Sha'bân (A. D. 1600, February 25), at Samarqand.

No. 301, ff. 375, 4 coll., each ll. 35; excellent Nasta'lik; vignettes on ff. 1^a and 6^a; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b and 7^b; ff. 6^b and 7^a splendidly embellished; pictures on ff. 51^b, 52^b, 68^a, 73^a, 91^b, 97^a, 100^a, 103^b, 122^a, 135^b, 136^b, 142^a, 169^b, 185^b, 186^a, 192^a, 223^a, 229^a, 237^b, 247^a, 269^b, 281^b, 297^a, 349^a, and 370^b; size, 14 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 9 in.

874

The same.

The same preface. Beginning of the poem on fol. 6^b. No subdivision into books. Many pages are rather effaced, others slightly injured at the inner corners. The date cannot be deciphered either; the copyist's name was Haidar Kuli of Harât.

No. 3265, olim 11. J. 1, ff. 610, 4 coll., each ll. 25; Nasta'lik; the first two pages splendidly adorned; an illuminated frontispiece besides on fol. 6^b; large pictures on ff. 9^b, 15^b, 24^b, 29^a, 34^a, 65^b, 74^b, 77^b, 84^a, 97^b, 106^b, 116^a, 129^a, 135^b, 139^a, 179^a, 188^b, 198^a, 201^a, 213^b, 238^b, 325^a, 340^a, 361^a, 374^b, 386^b, 391^b, 454^a, 459^a, 464^b, 480^b, 523^b, 535^a, 564^a, 573^b, 582^b, 602^a, 606^b, and 609^a; size, 14 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 9 in.

d. Copies of the Shâhnâma without any preface.

Shâhnâma.

This copy, which is dated by Ya'kûb bin Ishâq A. H. 1009, 10th of Rabi'-alawwal (A. D. 1600, September 19), is divided into two halves, the first beginning on fol. 1^b, the second on fol. 270^b, with Luhrâsp's accession: چون لهراسب بنشست بر تخت داد الخ.

No. 315, ff. 510, 4 coll., each ll. 25; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; rich illuminations on ff. 1^a, 1^b, and 2^a, and an illuminated frontispiece besides at the beginning of the second half; size, 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

876

The same.

A beautiful copy, without any subdivision, dated A. H. 1012, 1st of Ramaðân (A. D. 1604, February 2).

No. 966, ff. 523, 4 coll., each ll. 25; clear Nasta'lik; splendid frontispieces and other illuminations on ff. 1^b and 2^a; pictures on ff. 4^b, 8^b, 14^b, 18^a, 26^a, 33^b, 44^a, 45^a, 54^b, 56^a, 57^a, 62^a, 63^a, 64^b, 66^a, 68^b, 71^a, 74^a, 77^b, 79^a, 88^a, 97^a, 110^a, 113^b, 127^b, 145^a, 147^a, 157^b, 169^b, 171^b, 177^b, 180^a, 186^b, 189^a, 197^b, 200^b, 212^b, 216^a, 229^a, 232^b, 243^b, 254^a, 269^a, 275^a, 277^a, 279^a, 294^a, 307^a, 314^b, 318^b, 323^b, 335^a, 358^a, 360^b, 371^b, 378^b, 389^a, 403^b, 408^a, 428^b, 453^b, 475^a, and 505^a; size, 14 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

877

The same.

Another good copy of the Shāhnāma, with excellent and numerous marginal notes and various readings, which give quite an exceptional value to it. It is divided into two daftars, the second of which begins, on fol. 271^b, after Bahrām's death, with the struggle between Rustam and Kāmūs:

بنام خداوند خورشید و ماه که دلرا بنامش خرد داد راه

comp. No. 860 above.

The first daftar was finished A.H. 1053, last of Muḥarram (A.D. 1643, April 20); the second, the 25th of Rabi'-alākhar in the same year (A.D. 1643, July 13).

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2564, ff. 434, 4 coll., each ll. 25; Nasta'lik, mixed with Shikasta; illuminated frontispiece on fol. 271^b; fol. 136 partly effaced; size, 11½ in. by 7½ in.

878

The same.

This copy, which is not dated, is likewise divided into two halves, the first on ff. 1^b-305^b, the second beginning, on fol. 307^b, with Gushtāsp's accession:

جو گشتاسپ را داد لهراسپ تخت
فرود آمد از تخت و بر بست رخت

Fol. 306 is left blank; there seem also to be small lacunas after ff. 241, 243, 586, and 587, as the catch-words do not agree with the beginning of the first line in the next pages.

This copy contains the very rare epilogue, quoted in Rieu ii. p. 535^a (see No. 860 above), and beginning here:

جو شد ایزدی (اسپری) داستان بزرگ
سخنهای آن خسروان بزرگ

in which as date of completion for the Shāhnāma A.H. 389 (A.D. 999) is given: (read با) نهم سال هشتاد نا سیمصدست.

This copy was transcribed by Mahdi 'Ali Kashmiri; it may belong to the tenth century of the Hijrah.

No. 2593, ff. 602, 4 coll., each ll. 23; small, but clear Nasta'lik, the first two pages splendidly illuminated; a portion of the text at the top of the last two leaves torn away; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

879

The same.

This copy is likewise divided into two halves, the second of which begins, on fol. 292^a, with Luhrāsp's accession:

جولهراسب بنشست بر تخت شاد الخ

see Nos. 863, 867-869, and 875 above. All the headings throughout are left blank. No date. Bound together with this MS. is a letter of W. Jones to Richard Johnson, to whom this copy once belonged and who had lent it to Mr. Jones.

No. 165, ff. 626, 4 coll., each ll. 21; clear Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; the first two pages richly adorned; size, 11½ in. by 7½ in.

880

The same.

Good copy, slightly injured in several places. No subdivision; no date.

No. 3254, olim 11. J. 4, ff. 371, 4 coll., each ll. 25; the first two pages luxuriously adorned; pictures on ff. 29^b, 37^b, 40^b, 75^b, 89^b, 98^b, 110^a, 116^b, 130^b, 138^b, 145^b, 150^b, 168^b, 172^a, 176^a, 182^b, 187^b, 192^a, 198^a, 199^b, 202^a, 205^a, 211^b, 216^b, 218^a, 225^a, 230^b, 231^a, 233^b, 243^b, 252^b, 255^b, 260^b, 270^b, 272^a, 274^a, 281^a, 284^a, 288^a, 292^a, 294^a, 295^a, 300^a, 317^a, 324^b, 341^a, 343^a, 347^l. and 359^b; size, 12½ in. by 8 in.

881

An incomplete copy of the same.

This copy breaks off in the story of Khusrāu Parwiz; the last verse:

برآگنده شد لشکر شهریار
سیه گشت روز و تبه گشت کار corresponds to fol. 576^b, first line, in No. 118 (861 in this Cat.). Many small injuries throughout.

No. 119, ff. 554, 4 coll., each ll. 25; Nasta'lik; a vignette on fol. 1^a; ff. 1^b and 2^a luxuriously illuminated; at the beginning and end of the MS. two large pictures; size, 13½ in. by 8½ in.

e. Abridgments of the Shāhnāma and other works relating to the poem.

انتخاب شاهنامه (Intikhāb-i-Shāhnāma).

A kind of abridgment of the Shāhnāma, with the above title given to it in the colophon on fol. 207^a; it may perhaps be identical with the اختیارات or 'selections from the Shāhnāma,' made by the poet Khwājah Mas'ūd bin Sa'd bin Salmān, who died A.H. 525 (A.D. 1131), see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 406, and No. 908 in this Cat; but this copy is unfortunately in such an extremely bad state, defective at the beginning, with a very large lacuna after fol. 8, and so severely injured throughout, that it is impossible to give any more detailed account of its character or purpose. There is scarcely one leaf undamaged, whole portions of many pages are torn away (particularly in the beginning), and where catch-words are found, they seldom agree with the initial verse of the following page. On fol. 207^a, where the title occurs, the copy apparently concludes and is dated by Asad-allāh, A.H. 945, month of Rabi'-alawwal (A.D. 1538, August); but on ff. 207^b and 208^a again some extracts from the Shāhnāma are found, and on the latter page, written by another hand, is another colophon, dated A.H. 966, 18th of Jumādā-alawwal (A.D. 1559, February 26).

No. 2454, ff. 208, 4 coll., each ll. 28; Nasta'lik; ff. 33 and 208 written by other hands; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

منتخب شاهنامه (Muntakhab-i-Shāhnāma).

This is the oldest copy in the India Office Collection of the well-known extracts from the Shāhnāma, compiled with a connecting narrative in prose by Tawak-kulbeg bin Tūlakbeg (according to one copy in the British Museum. Tawakkul Muḥammad bin Tūlak Muḥammad al-Ḥusaini), an officer of the prince Dārā Shukūh, at the request of the governor of Ghazna, Shamsirkhān, comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 504; Rien ii. p. 539 sq.; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 740; A. F. Mehren, p. 540; Mohl, Le livre des rois, vol. i, preface, p. lxxix, etc. Unfortunately this copy is very illegible in many places, as a great number of different hands have been engaged in transcribing the MS.

Beginning: حمد بیغایت و ثنای بینهایت مرحضرت کبریاء واجب الوجودی را که جناب قدسی هویت جلالش را از ادراک افهام الخ

The date of composition, viz. A. H. 1063 (26th year of Shāhjahān's reign = A. D. 1653), appears here on fol. 1^b, l. 3 ab infra; the name of the author on fol. 2^a, l. 2, and that of the governor, Shamsirkhān, on fol. 2^a, l. 5. As title is given here, besides the شاهنامه, خلاصه شاهنامه, both on fol. 2^b, l. 6, and in the colophon, تاریخ دلگشای (see Rien, loc. cit.). The usual title, شمشیرخانی, is not found in this copy. At the end of Ardāshir's reign, on ff. 168^a-171^b, the usual additions, list of the Sāsānian kings, biography of Firdausi, and the satire against Sultān Maḥmūd. Dated the 25th of Šafar in the 46th year of 'Ālamgir's reign (= A. H. 1114, A. D. 1702, July 21). Bibliotheca Leydeniana; a former owner was Robert Watherston.

This work was translated into English by J. Atkinson, in 'The Shahnamah of Firdausi,' London, 1832. An abridged translation of the same in rekhta verse, styled شاهنامه مریچند, was made by Mūlcand Munshi of Lakhnau, who lived in Dihli, and dedicated his work to the Sultān of Dihli, Shāh Abū Naṣr Akbarshāh (i. e. Akbar II, who reigned A. H. 1221-1253 = A. D. 1806-1837), A. H. 1225 (A. D. 1810), according to the chronogram قصه خسروان عجم (in a copy of this book in No. 3128 of the India Office Collection, fol. 6^b, ll. 7 and 8, and fol. 351^a, ll. 5 and 6. comp. Garcin de Tassy, Histoire de la littérature Hindouie etc., 2nd ed., ii. p. 586 sq., and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 627, where the wrong date, 1220, is given; printed Calcutta, 1846; lithographed at Dihli and Kānpūr, A. H. 1268, also at Lakhnau).

No. 2755, ff. 171, ll. 14-21; written by at least half-a-dozen hands in various styles of careless Nasta'lik and Shikasta; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

Another copy of the same.

This copy, the colophon of which styles the work توارخ شمشیرخانی, is dated the 3rd of Rajab in the first year of the reign of Rafī'al-jalālat (probably meant for Rafī'aldarajāt, who reigned about three months between Farrukhsiyar and Muḥammadshāh, A. H. 1131 = A. D. 1719, May 22), by Sayyid Nūr Muḥammad. Beginning as in the preceding copy. The extracts end on fol. 215^a and are followed on the remaining pages by the usual additions.

No. 1578, ff. 219, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

885

The same.

Beginning as usual. The title, منتخب شاهنامه, appears on fol. 2^a, l. 9, but at the top of fol. 1^a and in the colophon the book is designated as لب لباب منتخب شاهنامه or simply لب لباب. The extracts end on fol. 267^b, followed by the usual additions. Dated by Muṭī'allāh C'ishti alrashīdi aljaunpūri, A. H. 1170, 9th of Shawwāl (A. D. 1757, June 27). From the library of Sir Charles Wilkins.

No. 2361, ff. 274, ll. 15; Naskhi, mixed with Shikasta; worm-eaten throughout; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

886

The same.

Beginning: حمد بیغایت و ثنای بینهایت مرحضرت کبریای واجب الوجود ربوبیت جلالش از ادراک افهام الخ. The date of composition is here (on fol. 1^b, l. 8) wrongly given as A. H. 1061 instead of 1063, although it is distinctly stated that it was the 26th year of Shāhjahān's reign. The title, تاریخ دلگشای شمشیرخانی, appears on fol. 3^a, first line. Copied in the fifth year of Shah 'Ālam's reign (= A. H. 1177, A. D. 1763, 1764).

No. 175, ff. 296, ll. 16; large and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

887

The same.

Beginning: حمد بیغایت و ثنای بینهایت مرحضرت کبریای واجب الوجود را که جناب قدسی جلالش از ادراک الخ.

Dated the 5th of Jumādā-althāni, A. H. 1186 (A. D. 1772, September 3); the right order of ff. 283-286 is: 283, 285, 284, and 286.

No. 66, ff. 304, ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 8¼ in. by 5¼ in.

888

The same.

Another very modern copy, transcribed (according to a note on the fly-leaf at the end of the MS.) by Ḥasan Muḥammad in the present century. The extracts end on fol. 195^a, followed by the usual additions. This copy was sent to the Imperial Exhibition at Paris for works of art and industry by the Punjab Committee at Lahore; it was received into the Library from Dr. Royle, July 1856.

No. 3227, ff. 198, ll. 17; splendid Nasta'lik; many blanks left, probably for the insertion of illustrations; size, 11 in. by 6½ in.

889

The same.

The beginning of this copy differs in the first four and a half lines from the usual text: ستاش و نباش : مرحضرت قادری همچون را سزد که عالم گوناگون را از دره کیم مرحضرت قادری همچون را سزد که عالم گوناگون را از دره کیم الخ, but from the fifth line onwards it agrees verbatim with that of the preceding copies: که امارت و ابالت . . . که امارت و ابالت, corresponding to fol. 2^a, l. 7 sq.

in No. 175 (886 in this Cat.). Author's name and date of composition are missing in this preface, but the governor's name, Shamsīrkhān, and the title, تأریخ دلگسای شمشیرجانی, appear here on ff. 1^b, last line, 2^a, first line, and 2^b, last line. No date. The copy was transcribed by Hāfiz Yār Muḥammad and Hāfiz Muḥammad Murād.

No. 117, ff. 302, ll. 13; Nasta'liq, all the margins throughout embellished with gold arabesques; size, 8½ in. by 4¾ in.

A defective copy of the same.

Some leaves are missing at the beginning of this copy; the first words, on fol. 1^a, بزرگی و دینار و افسر, correspond to No. 175 (886 in this Cat.), fol. 3^a, l. 10 second hemistich. No date. On the fly-leaf the incorrect title, محمود نامه تصنیف فردوسی, is given to this work.

No. 92, ff. 198, ll. 14-20; written very unequally and sometimes almost illegibly by different hands in various kinds of Nasta'liq and Shikasta; size, 9 in. by 5 in.

Ganjnāma dar ḥall-i-lughāt-i-Shāhnāma (گنجنامه در حل لغات شاهنامه).

A special dictionary for Firdausi's Shāhnāma, compiled at the request of Ridā Kūhbeg, with the epithet Niknāmkhān (see fol. 3^a, ll. 8 and 9), by 'Alī almakki Ibn Taifūr albiṣṭāmī (see fol. 3^b, l. 10), and completed the 7th of Jumādā-althāni, A.H. 1079 (A.D. 1668, November 12). It is arranged alphabetically according to the first and second letters, and begins on fol. 9^a with آباد. An introduction or آغاز precedes the dictionary, and is subdivided into the following three paragraphs (مضمون):

1. در بیان طلاق اسم بارس بر ملک ایران و آنکه در زمان قدم و عهد باستان از کجا تا کجرا بارس میخوانده اند, on fol. 4^b.

2. در تعداد زبان باری که چند است, on fol. 5^b.

3. در بیان فضیلت انای بارس و فصاحت زبان باری, on fol. 7^a.

Beginning (as in Firdausi's poem):

نام خداوند جان و خرد — کردن برتر اندیشه در نگذرد

This copy was made a short time after the completion of the work in the same year, 1079, by Ibn Rahmat-allāh alḥusainī Ibrāhīm, and finished the 14th of Shawwāl (A.D. 1669, March 17). It belonged formerly to Robert Ireland, Fort William in Bengal (1781). There is another entry on the fly-leaf: the 16th June, 1773, Calcutta, and the book is called there نعت شاهنامه, and 'A definition of many hard phrases made use of in the Shāhnāma.'

No. 1798, ff. 205, ll. 15; Shikasta; illuminated frontispiece; size, 11¼ in. by 6¾ in.

Fihrist-i-Shāhnāma (فهرست شاهنامه).

A curious composition in form of a kasidah, with the same rhyme in l running through the whole book, giving a versified index of the contents of the Shāhnāma, compiled by Shirin Parand (شیرین برند) for the sake of a better recollection of the principal incidents in Firdausi's masterpiece.

It opens with a rubā'i, beginning thus:

اس نامه بشاهنامه انداخته است الخ

This copy is defective, going down only to the end of Kaikhosrau's reign.

Copied A.H. 1166 (A.D. 1753), according to a note on fol. 1^a.

No. 1990, ff. 22, 2 coll., each ll. 12; Nasta'liq, much damaged and many lines almost effaced; size, 8½ in. by 4¾ in.

f. Imitations of the Shāhnāma.

Garshāspnāma (گرشاسبنامه).

The exploits of Garshāsp, prince of Sistān and ancestor of the chief hero of Firdausi's poem, Rostam, the oldest epopee composed in imitation of the Shāhnāma, and generally ascribed to the poet Asadi, Firdausi's teacher: but since all the copies of this rather rare mathnawi give unanimously as date of completion A.H. 458 (A.D. 1066), see here fol. 284^a, l. 16, and old Asadi died in the reign of Sultān Mas'ūd bin Maḥmūd (A.H. 421-432 = A.D. 1030-1040), i.e. at least twenty-six or twenty-seven years before the composition of the Garshāspnāma, the latter must needs be the work of a later author, who most likely was 'Alī bin Aḥmad al-Asadi al-Tūsi, with the two Kunyas Abū-alḥasan and Abū-almanṣūr, the son of the older Asadi; see on this intricate question Dr. Ethel. 'Ueber persische Tenzonen,' in 'Abhandlungen des fünften Internationalen Orientalisten-Congresses zu Berlin, 1881,' Zweiter Theil, erste Hälfte, p. 64 sq., and the Bodleian Cat., Nos. 507 and 508; comp. also Rieu iii. p. 1088^b; Mohl's preface to the 'Livres des rois,' and Turner Macan's edition of the Shāhnāma, vol. iv, appendix, pp. 2109-2133, where a portion of the text of the Garshāspnāma is published. Besides the two Bodleian copies and the Paris copy there are also recently four new ones added to the collection of the British Museum (Or. 2780, 2878, 2926, and 2976).

Beginning of the poem:

ساس از خدا ایزد رهنمای

کد از کاب و نون کرد گیتی بنای

According to the last verse but one it contains 9000 baits (see the same statement in Elliott 141 of the Bodleian Library, whereas Elliott 140 of the same collection gives 10,000). Copied A.H. 1003 (A.D. 1594, 1595). This copy is in a very precarious state: many leaves are extremely injured and damaged by worms: there are besides many small blanks and omissions. Some leaves are misplaced, but as most of the catch-words are missing, we can set right only ff. 168-177, the proper order of which is : 168, 176, 170-175, 169, and 177.

No. 276, ff. 285, 2 coll., each ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

894

Jahāngirnāma (جهانگیرنامه).

Another of the older imitations of the Shāhnāma, by an anonymous author, celebrating the life and adventures of Rustam's son Jahāngir, who, like his unfortunate brother Suhrāb, engages in a fight with his father, without knowing him, until at last father and son recognise each other. Beginning :

کنون باز کردم نگار سخن - بگویم حدث جهان کهن

On fol. 1^b the poem is styled : آغاز داستان جهانگیر بن رستم نامه که منتخب شاهنامه است.

Very probably it is found like the Garshāspnāma, the Sāmānāma and others, interpolated in some copies of the Shāhnāma. Dated A. H. 1112, 29th of Dhū-al-hijjah (A. D. 1701, June 6), at Akbarābād.

No. 628, ff. 166, 2 coll., each ll. 16-32, written very unequally in different kinds of Shikasta; size, 9 in. by 5½ in.

Futūh-alsalātin (فتوح السلاطين).

A poetical history of the rulers of India from the rise of the Ghaznawide dynasty to A. H. 750 (A. D. 1349, 1350), the date of this composition (see fol. 333^a, l. 8), by 'Isāmi (عمامی), see fol. 21^b, l. 3 ab infra; fol. 25^a, l. 7; fol. 331^b, l. 13 and the colophon. This imitation of Firdausi's Shāhnāma, which is styled فتوح السلاطين (see fol. 331^b, l. 4) and is mentioned by the author of the Tabakāt-i-Akbari as one of his authorities (compare Rieu i. p. 220), was dedicated by the poet, who is probably identical with Khwājah 'Abd Malik 'Isāmi, mentioned by A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 81, to 'Alā-aldun-yah wa aldin Abū al-Muẓaffar Bahmanshāh Sultān (see fol. 18^a sq.), that is, 'Alā-aldin Ḥasan, the first Bahmani king of the Dakhan, who, according to the statement here, assumed sovereignty in A. H. 748=A. D. 1347 (see fol. 299^a, but compare No. 449 in this Cat.).

A complete index of the contents is given on ff. 1-13. Beginning of the poem, on fol. 14^b:

بنام خداوند هر دو جهان
کنند ابتدا نامه کار آگاهان

A short account of the old Persian kings, on fol. 27^a.
Rise of Islām and story of Muḥammad, on fol. 28^b.
Rise of the Ghaznawide dynasty, on fol. 29^a.
General account of Indian rulers, on fol. 30^a.
Beginning of the main portion of the poem with the birth of Sultān Malmūd of Ghazna, on fol. 31^a.

Death of Maḥmūd and reign of his successors, on fol. 46^a sq.

History of the house of Ghūr, on fol. 58^a sq.; followed in a more detailed manner by that of the Slave kings, the house of Khilji, and the house of Tughluq.

Beginning of 'Alā-aldin Ḥasan Bahmani's reign, on fol. 299^a.

Many pages are spoiled by worms; half of fol. 267 is torn away, half of fol. 327 left blank, and parts of verses occasionally omitted. No date. Tenth century of the Hijrah. This copy belonged formerly to Charl. Boddam (Calcutta, May 1st).

No. 3089, ff. 333, 2 coll., each ll. 19; small but distinct Nasta'lik; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

Khāwarnāma (خاورنامه).

The exploits of 'Alī and his companions, a mathnawi composed in imitation of the Shāhnāma by Muḥammad bin Ḥusām-aldin of Khūsaf in Kūhistan, usually called Ibn Ḥusām, with the epithet of فردوسی ثانی 'the second Firdausi,' A. H. 830 (A. D. 1427), see fol. 183^a, l. 8. It is generally styled خاورنامه, but the poet himself calls it here (fol. 183^a, l. 9) خاوراننامه. According to the colophon it is also sometimes designated by the simple title شاهنامه; compare Bodleian Cat., No. 512; Rieu ii. p. 642; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 432; G. Flügel ii. p. 450, and Haft Ikhlām, No. 826 (col. 437 in this Cat.). The poet died A. H. 875 (A. D. 1470) according to Taki Kāshi (other, less correct, dates are A. H. 892, see H. Khalfa iii. p. 129, and 893, see Ḥabīb-alsiyar, vol. iii. Juz 3, p. 336). The introduction, found in the Bodleian copy, is missing in all the copies of this collection.

Beginning of the poem :

نخستین برین نامه دلگشای
سخن نفس بستم بنام خدای

Dated A. H. 965, month of Jumādā-alawwal (A. D. 1558, February-March), by Maḥmūd bin 'Abd-alraḥmān. Worm-eaten in many places. Bibliotheca Leydeniana. A translation of this epopee in Dakhni verses was made by a poet with the takhalluṣ Rustami, who excelled both in Persian and Dakhni poetry, for Khadijah Sultān Shahrbanū, the sister of Sultān 'Abdallāh Kutbshāh (who ascended the throne of Gulkundah A. H. 1035=A. D. 1626, see No. 464 in this Cat.), the wife of Abū Maṣūr Sultān Muḥammad 'Adilshāh bin Ibrāhīmshāh (who reigned A. H. 1037-1067, A. D. 1627-1656, see Nos. 454 and 455 in this Cat.), and the mother of Maṣūr Bakhtiyār (a copy of this translation with gorgeous illustrations is preserved in No. 834 of the India Office Collection).

No. 2557, ff. 184, 4 centre-coll., each ll. 20 (except ff. 1 and 2, with ll. 25 in a page), and from fol. 3^a on a fifth column on the margin, ll. 44; Nasta'lik, by three different hands; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

897

Another copy of the same.

This most magnificent copy of the Khāwarnāma is about 200 years old (undated) and illustrated with 156 gorgeous pictures, most of them nearly full-sized, in the richest variety of colours.

Beginning as usual :

نخستین برین نامه دلگشای
سخن نفس بستم بنام خدای

One leaf is missing between ff. 206 and 207 (the lacuna corresponding to fol. 104^a, margin-column, l. 12 ab infra, to fol. 104^b, margin-column, l. 5 in the preceding copy). On one of the fly-leaves at the end of the MS. a Persian note, written by 'Alī Ibrāhīmklān in 1789, gives the title and author's name of this poem, fixes correctly his death in A. H. 875, in the reign of Shaikh 'Umar Mirzā ibn Amir Timūr, and alleges two peculiar reasons why it was styled خاورنامه, viz. (1) because خاوران is a place in Khurāsān, and the author, Ibn Ḥusām, lived in Khurāsān, namely in Kūhstān; (2) because خاوران means 'east and west' (مشرق و مغرب), and the wonderful exploits of the hero of this poem are said to have taken place in the west (مغرب)! He further states, that this poem is especially renowned in Isfahān and Khurāsān, although the stories related are devoid of historical truth, that it contains 23,735 baits and 157 illustrations on 362 folios. He adds, that it must have been copied for a king or Amir. An English translation of this Persian note by H. T. Prinsep, Esq., is affixed to a fly-leaf in the beginning of the MS. Another English note, but by a different hand and without signature, is stuck to one of the fly-leaves at the end, and runs thus:

'I am not skilful in ascertaining the age and value of a Persian manuscript, but I should think, as well from the handwriting as from the pictures, that this copy was made in the north of India, and not in Persia, and that the artists were natives of India who have taken old Persian paintings for their models. I should therefore place this MS. in the third or fourth rank as a mere work of art. But it appears, from the little that I have had time to look into, to be very correct, and the handwriting is very distinct, which give it additional value: and I have no doubt but it was made with great care and a vast expense. I know nothing of the character of the work; for this is the first copy I have ever met with: nor have I found any reference to the author in other works. He has used the measure and seems to have copied the style of Firdūsī in his celebrated Shāh-Nāmā, but I am not sufficiently acquainted with the two works to make any further comparison.'

No. 3443, ff. 361, 4 coll., each ll. 19; large and distinct Nasta'lik; each column is separated from the other by a large gold stripe; splendid frontispieces on ff. 1^b and 35^b; ff. 1^b, 2^a, 35^b, and 36^a richly illuminated; pictures on ff. 4^a, 7^a, 8^a, 12^a, 13^a, 14^b, 15^b, 17^b, 19^b, 22^b, 26^a, 28^a, 29^a, 30^b, 32^b, 35^a, 37^a, 39^a, 41^a, 43^a, 46^a, 47^b, 49^a, 51^b, 52^b, 54^b, 57^b, 59^b, 62^b, 64^b, 66^b, 69^b, 73^a, 75^a, 77^a, 79^b, 81^a, 82^b, 84^a, 85^b, 87^a, 89^a, 90^b, 93^a, 94^b, 96^b, 99^a, 102^a, 104^b, 107^b, 110^a, 113^b, 115^b, 118^a, 121^a, 123^b, 127^a, 128^b, 130^b, 132^b, 136^a, 138^a, 140^b, 142^a, 145^a, 146^b, 147^b, 150^a, 152^b, 154^b, 156^b, 159^a, 161^a, 163^a, 164^b, 166^b, 168^a, 170^a, 172^b, 174^b, 176^b, 178^a, 180^a, 184^b, 187^a, 190^a, 192^b, 194^b, 198^b, 201^b, 204^a, 206^a, 208^a, 210^a, 212^a, 215^a, 216^b, 219^a, 223^b, 226^b, 228^a, 230^a, 231^b, 233^b, 236^b, 237^b, 240^b, 243^a, 245^a, 247^a, 249^a, 251^b, 252^b, 253^b, 254^b, 258^a, 261^a, 263^a, 264^a, 267^a, 270^a, 272^b, 275^a, 279^a, 282^a, 285^b, 287^a, 288^b, 290^a, 292^b, 296^a, 298^b, 301^b, 304^a, 306^b, 309^b, 312^b, 313^b, 316^b, 318^b, 321^b, 324^a, 327^a, 330^a, 331^b, 332^b, 334^a, 336^b, 339^a, 341^a, 345^a, 348^a, 351^b, 358^a, 359^a, and 361^a; solid eastern binding; size, 13½ in. by 10½ in.

places; there are besides several lacunas and misplaced leaves, for instance, the proper order of ff. 183-202 is: 183, 196, 197, 195, 201, 194, 200, 198, 199, 202; the intervening leaves 184-193 are not quite consecutive, 185-192 and 184 and 193 respectively belong together, but between both these series there are lacunas.

No. 658, ff. 536, 2 coll., ll. 16-23; written very unequally by different hands in various styles of Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

A short fragment of the same.

Part of the episode of Gulandām's deliverance, from the Khāwārnāma, agreeing in substance, but not in wording, with fol. 118 sq. in No. 2557 (896 in this Cat.). It contains only six leaves and is incomplete at the end.

Heading: ابن حسام گوید، رفتن فتح بطلب گل اندام و خلاص نمودن و یافتن اورا در آن کوه و مژده دادن ابو المعین را.

Beginning: چو خورشید بنهفت و بنمود ماه آینه

Last verse:

Hamla-i-Haidari (حملة حیدری).

Another imitation of the Shāh-nāma, in the form of a poetical biography of Muḥammad and 'Alī, a kind of rhymed paraphrase of Mu'in-almiskin's معارج النبوة (Nos. 138-144 in this Cat.), by Muḥammad Rafī'khān, with the takhalluṣ Bādhil, who died A. H. 1123 (A. D. 1711), but left the work unfinished, which was completed twelve years after, A. H. 1135 (A. D. 1723), by Najaf, who added an older poem on the same subject, by Sayyid Abū Ṭalīb of Isfahān, to the end of Bādhil's epopee, see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 390 (Khulāṣat-alkalām, Nos. 9 and 10), 518 and 519; Rieu ii. p. 704; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 368; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 533, and Mohl, préface to the 'Livres des rois,' p. lxxvii note. It must not be confounded with another quite modern epopee of the same title, حملة حیدری, and in the same metre, composed by Mullā Bamūn 'Alī Kirmānī, with the takhalluṣ Rāji, A. H. 1220 (A. D. 1805), and lithographed in Bombay, A. H. 1264, etc.; see Rieu, loc. cit.; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 540, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 534. According to the last-named Catal. the original work of Bādhil was concluded in A. H. 1119 (A. D. 1707, 1708), after fifty years' labour. It has been lithographed in Lucknow, A. H. 1267.

The poem is divided here into two parts, the first beginning, on fol. 1^b:

بنام خداوند بسبار بخش

خرد بخش و دین بخش و دینار بخش

the second, on fol. 147^b:

بنام برآزنده کامها - از آغاز دانای انجامها

The first heading in the second part is: داستان خیبر و وقائع سال هفتم وامر فرمودن سید کائنات مهیا شدن و لشکر اسلام را.

This copy is larger than Ouseley 357 in the Bodleian Library (Bodleian Cat., loc. cit.), the last chapter of that copy being found here on fol. 283^b. Copied by Muḥammad A'zam bin Muḥammad Šādiḳ. No date.

No. 139, ff. 346, 4 coll., each ll. 20; excellent Nasta'liḳ; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b and 147^b; size, 12 in. by 7 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Shāhinshāh-nāma (شاهنشاهنامه).

One of the most modern imitations of the Shāhnāma in honour of the exploits of Fath 'Alī Shāh, king of Persia (A. H. 1212-1250 = A. D. 1797-1834), by the poet laureate Fath 'Alī Khān Kāshī, with the takhalluṣ Šabā (who died, according to Rieu iii. p. 1082^a, and Schefer, Ambassade au Kharezm, A. H. 1238 = A. D. 1822, 1823), see Bodl. Cat., No. 520; G. Flügel i. p. 603; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 957; Fundgruben des Orients, vi, Heft iv. p. 341 sq.; and Wiener Jahrbücher, Anzeigebblatt, vol. 6, p. 29 sq.; vol. 7, pp. 273 and 281; vol. 9, p. 1 sq.; vol. 17, p. 32 sq.; vol. 18, p. 44 sq.; and vol. 70, p. 71.

Introduction by the author, on ff. 1^b-9^b, beginning: نخست چون بنگری جهانی بینی بر از چون و چند همی بست و گشاد بینی و ستم و داد الی.

Beginning of the epos, on fol. 10^b:

بنام خداوند آموزگار - نگارنده نامه روزگار

This most superb and splendidly executed copy was made by order of Fath 'Alī Shāh himself, and finished by the transcriber, Mahdī alḥusainī alfarāhānī, the Kātib of the royal residence, the first of Rajab, A. H. 1225 (A. D. 1810, August 2). Received from Comm. of Corresp., 28th March, 1816.

No. 3442, ff. 451, 4 coll., each ll. 20; excellent Nasta'liḳ; gorgeous frontispieces on ff. 1^b, 10^b, and 11^b; ff. 1^b, 2^b, 10^b, and 11^b magnificently illuminated; smaller illuminations on ff. 313^a, 314^a, and the last two pages; very fine pictures on ff. 28^a, 32^a, 37^a, 44^b, 56^a, 64^b, 78^b, 85^a, 97^b, 102^a, 110^a, 111^a, 112^a, 113^a, 114^a, 115^b, 116^b, 130^b, 145^b, 150^b, 153^b, 156^b, 201^a, 212^b, 218^b, 235^a, 259^b, 245^a, 263^b, 280^a, 317^b, 339^a, 343^a, 354^a, 382^a, 387^b, 389^b, and 396^b; splendid eastern binding with flowers; size, 15 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Diwān-i-Farrukhī (دیوان فرخی).

The very rare diwān of the court-poet of Sultān Maḥmūd of Ghazna, Ustād Abū-alḥasan 'Alī bin Jūlū' (or Kūlū') Farrukhī, a native of Sistān, whose death is fixed by Taḳī Kāshī in A. H. 470 (A. D. 1077, 1078); see A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 3, No. 22, and 15, No. 3; compare besides Ātashkada, No. 198 (Bodleian Cat., col. 269, where a work on poetry and rhetorical art, ترجمان البلاغة, is ascribed to him); Khulāṣat-alafkār, No. 207 (ib., col. 309, where he is called a pupil of 'Uṣurī, the king of poets at Sultān Maḥmūd's court); Makhzan-algharā'ib, No. 1839 (ib., col. 358); Hatt Iklim, No. 302 (col. 399 in this Cat.), and Bodleian Cat., col. 823. But a much earlier and—as it seems—more correct date for his demise is given in Riḍā Kulikhān's very reliable work, the مجمع الفصحا, vol. i. p. 439, viz. A. H. 429 (A. D. 1037, 1038); see also Schefer, Chrestomathie Persane, vol. ii. pp. 242-246, and pp. r^{ev}-r^{or}, where a few select poems in Persian text are given. There are two other complete copies of this diwān in the British Museum (Or. 2945 and 3246). The present copy is unfortunately much damaged, whole portions of the first thirteen leaves having been torn away. The diwān consists chiefly of ḳasidas and tarjībānds, with a few ḳiṭ'as and rubā'is at the end.

Beginning: زهرتهنبت عید بامداد بگاد الی.

The second hemi-stich of this initial bait is partly destroyed.

The second ḳasidah, on fol. 2^a, alludes to Sultān Maḥmūd's conquest of Ḳannūj, viz.:

بوئی کینده دین محمد مختار
بمبن دولت محمود قاهر کفار
جو باز گشت بفروری از در قنوج الی

Diwān-i-Nāṣir-i-Khusrau (دیوان ناصر خسرو).

The diwān or rather one of the diwāns of Abū Mu'īn Nāṣir bin Khusrau, with the takhalluṣ Hujjat, who was born in Ḳubādiyān near Balkh, A. H. 394, Dhū-alḳa'dah (A. D. 1004, August-September), and died in Yumgān A. H. 481 (A. D. 1088); see on the life and works of this truly wonderful man, whose real character has so long been shrouded in mystery, and whose very identity with the author of the Saḡurnāma has been hotly disputed until a very recent date, especially Fagnan, Notes sur Nāṣir ibn Khosrou (Journal Asiatique, vii série, tome 13, 1879, pp. 164-168); Rieu i. pp. 379-381, and iii. p. 1086^b; Schefer, Safer Nameh, Paris, 1881, Introduction; and Ethé, Nāṣir bin Khusrau's Leben, Denken und Dichten (compare Haft Iklim, No. 863, col. 441 in this Cat.), and Die mystische, didaktische und lyrische Poesie, etc. der Perser, Hamburg, 1888, pp. 13-19. Copies of this diwān are described in A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 428; G. Flügel i. p. 496, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 741; there are also two copies lately added to the British Museum Collection (Or. 2845 and 3323); large extracts are found in the Butkhāna (Bodleian Cat., No. 366, ff. 36^b-66^b), and a peculiar tasmi' in the Dakā'ik-alushār (ib., No. 1333, col. 802); a lithographed edition appeared in Tabriz, A. H. 1280. Selections from Nāṣir's diwān, with German metrical translation, have been edited by Ethé in the Göttinger Nachrichten, 1882, pp. 124-152, and in the Zeitschrift der D. M. G., vol. 36, pp. 478-508; one poem of his has also been published by W. Shukowskij in Sapisski, iv. pp. 386-393, 1890. Other works of the poet are:

(1) the Rûshanâ'inâma, see below, No. 904; (2) the Sa'âdatnâma (edited by Fagnan in the Zeitschrift, vol. 34, pp. 643-674; compare also Dr. Teufel's critical remarks on it, ib., vol. 36, pp. 106-114); (3) the Safarnâma (edited with French translation and valuable notes by Schefer, Paris, 1881; see also A. R. Fuller in the Journal of the Roy. Asiat. Society, 1872, pp. 142-164; and Guy Le Strange, Nâsir-i-Khusrau, Diary of a Journey through Syria and Palestine, London, Palest. Pilgrims' Text Soc., 1888); (4) the Zâd-al-hausâfirin (here styled in the very short biographical introduction زاد المسافر), which is in the private collection of M. Schefer (comp. his Chrestomathie Persane, vol. i, Paris, 1883, p. 182); (5 and 6) the كتاب وجه الدين and the كتاب دليل المتحيرين (ib., p. 111), neither of which seems to be extant now.

Beginning of the present copy, on fol. 97^b:

خداوندى كه در وحدت قديمست از همه اشيا
نه اندر وحدتش كثرت نه محدث را ازو تنها

This diwân, which forms the sixth and last part of a very old and precious collection of Persian diwâns, formerly belonging to Shâh Isma'il Safawi and bearing his seal in many places (see W. Morley, p. 7, note 1), was copied A.H. 714 in Dhû-alka'dah=A.D. 1315, February, by 'Abd-almu'min al'alawi-alkâshi (the other five diwâns are those of Amir Mu'izzi, Athir-al-din Akhsikati, Adib Şâbir, Nizâm-al-din Mahmûd Kamar Isfahâni, and Shams-al-din Mahmûd al-Tabasi). It is unfortunately greatly damaged in many places and particularly towards the end.

No. 132, ff. 97-112, 6 coll., each ll. 40; written in a very peculiar and striking style of Naskhi; small illuminated frontispiece on fol. 97^b, and a vignette on fol. 97^a; miniature paintings of a rather funny character throughout; size, 15½ in. by 11 in.

Rûshanâ'inâma (روشنائی نامه).

The oldest didactic matnawî of the Persians, 'the book of enlightenment,' by the same Nâsir bin Khusrau; it has been edited with German metrical translation and an introduction by Ethé in the Zeitschrift der D. M. G., vol. 33, 1879, pp. 645-665, and vol. 34, 1880, pp. 428-464 and 617-642 (compare Dr. Teufel's critical remarks on it, ib., vol. 36, pp. 96-106); the other four copies of this poem are in Gotha (W. Pertsch, p. 13), Leyden (Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. ii. p. 107), and Paris (No. 781, A. du suppl., and in the private collection of M. Schefer); as date of composition appears in the Gotha codex, A.H. 420 (A.D. 1029), in the other three A.H. 343 (A.D. 954, 955), and in the present copy on fol. 57^b, l. 7, A.H. 323 (A.D. 935); the correct date seems to be A.H. 440 or 441 (A.D. 1048-1050), see Zeitschrift der D. M. G., vol. 34, p. 638, note 5.

Beginning:

بنام كردگار باك داور
كه هست از عقل و وهم و فكر برتر corresponding to v. 163 in Ethé's edition (the 162 verses of the introduction are wanting here as in all copies except that of Gotha). Dated A.H. 1061 (A.D. 1651).

No. 1430, ff. 36^b-54^b, 2 coll., each ll. 12; large and clear Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6 in.

Diwân-i-Abû-alfaraj Rûni (ديوان ابو الفرج رونی).

Lyrical poems by Abû-alfaraj bin Mas'ûd al-Rûni, who was born in Lâhûr (see the Haft Iklim, No. 358), and flourished in the reigns of Sulţân Ibrâhim of Ghazna (A.H. 451-492=A.D. 1059-1099) and his son and successor Sulţân Mas'ûd III (A.H. 492-508=A.D. 1099-1114), to both of whom he addressed panegyrics. He is not to be confounded with an older poet, Abû-alfaraj Sijzi, who was attached to the court of the Amr Abû 'Alî Sîmjûr, the governor of Khurâsân under the Sâmanides (see Haft Iklim, No. 303), and whose pupil 'Unsurî was. The usual dates, assigned to Abû-alfaraj Rûni's death, viz. A.H. 482 or 489 (A.D. 1089 or 1096), cannot be authentic, as the poet styles Sulţân Mas'ûd III, the reigning sovereign in various qasidas; compare Bodleian Cat., Nos. 366 (Butkhâna, No. 1), 523, and 1333 (col. 823); Rieu ii. p. 547, and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 308. This diwân, which is incomplete at the end, contains chiefly qasidas, with a few ghazals, qit'as, and rubâ'is.

Beginning:

سبهر دولت و دین بادشاه (آفتاب هفت

The copy breaks off on fol. 429^b; ff. 430^b-432 contain a short extract from Sa'di's Bûstân, written by another hand. Dated by 'Abd-alraqîb the 24th of Shawwâl, A.H. 1069 (A.D. 1659, July 15).

No. 328, ff. 378-432, 2 coll., each ll. 18; clear Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

Rubâ'iyyât-i-'Umar Khayyâm (رباعیات عمر خیام).

The quatrains of the famous astronomer, mathematician, and freethinker, Maulânâ Abû-altâth 'Umar bin Ibrâhim al-Khayyâm (or al-Khayyâmi), whose death is generally fixed in A.H. 517 (A.D. 1123), see the fullest account of his life and the tendencies of his poetry in Whinfield's Introduction to his edition of 'The Quatrains of Omar Khayyam,' and C. J. Pickering, 'Umar of Nishapur,' in the National Review, 1890, December; comp. also Meinsma, Omar Chajjam van Nishapoer etc. in De Gids, 1891, iii. pp. 504-535. Other copies are found in the Bodleian Library (Bodleian Cat., Nos. 524 and 525), the British Museum (Rieu ii. p. 546), in Gotha (W. Pertsch, p. 25), Berlin (W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 86), Vienna (G. Flügel i. p. 496), Calcutta, (Asiatic Society, No. 1548), Paris (two MSS.), and Cambridge; see also A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 464; Garcin de Tassy in Journal Asiatique, 5^e série, vol. ix. p. 548, etc. Eastern editions: Calcutta, A.H. 1252 (A.D. 1836); Tahrân, A.H. 1278 (A.D. 1861, 1862), and Lucknow, 1878 and 1883; also a fragmentary edition (containing sixty-two rubā'is) by H. Blochmann. European editions by J. B. Nicolas (a reprint of the Tāhrān text with French translation), Paris, 1867; by E. H. Whinfield (with English metrical translation), London, 1883; and by the Oriental Faculty of the University of St. Petersburg, 1888 (lithographed after a copy made A.H. 1285 by Mir Ḥusain in Tabriz). English translations (without the text) by E. Fitzgerald, London, 1859, 1868, 1872, 1879, and 1890; E. H. Whinfield, London, 1882; J. Leslie Garner, Milwaukee, 1888; McCarthy (selections in prose), London, 1889; also some selections in verse in the appendix to the 'Dialogue of the Gulshan-i-Raz,' London, 1887. German translations in verse by A. F. Schack, Stuttgart, 1878, and by Bodestedt, Breslau, 1881.

The present copy begins with a short biographical notice of the poet: رباعیات افصح المتقدمین ملک للحکما مولانا عمر ختایم رحمة الله علیه در تأریخ ندما مسطور و مذکور است که وفات الخ

Beginning of the first rubā'i (the same as the initial poem in Bodl. 367):

ای سوخته سوخته سوختنی
وی آتش دوزخ ز تو افروختنی

(= No. 488 in Whinfield's edition).

The third rubā'i is identical with the initial one in Rieu's first copy:

آمد سحری ندا زمیخانه ما الخ

(= No. 1 in Whinfield).

This modern copy, dated 1811, contains 512 rubā'is in alphabetical order, except the first.

Diwān-i-Mas'ūd-i-Sa'd-i-Salmān (دیوان مسعود سعد سلمان).

A slightly defective copy of the lyrical poems of Sa'd-aldaulāh Mas'ūd bin Sa'd bin Salmān, who was born in Hamadān, according to 'Anfi and the Haft Iklim (No. 1032, col. 454 in this Cat.), where a bait of his in corroboration of this statement is quoted. Rieu, on the other hand (ii. p. 548), cites two other baits to show that his native place was Ghazna. He died probably A.H. 525 (A.D. 1131), according to others A.H. 515 (A.D. 1121). Besides his Persian diwān he wrote two others, an Arabic and a Hindūstānī one, compare Bodleian Cat., No. 526; Butkhāna, No. 4 (ib., col. 197), and Daḳā'ik-alash'ār (ib., col. 822); A.

Sprenger, Catal., p. 485, and Journal of the Asiat. Soc. of Bengal, vol. xxii, p. 442 sq.; see also Journal Asiatique, 5^e série, vol. ii (1853), p. 356 sq., and J. Aumer, p. 8.

Contents:

Kāsidās, kit'ās, and ghazals, all mixed together, defective in the beginning.

The first bait, on fol. 1^a, runs thus:

در کان زشرم چشمه یافوت سرخ شد
وین خرده ایست نیکو خاطر بدین گمار

Rubā'is, on fol. 245^a, beginning:

چون مار فلک بست بافسون مارا
وز خانه خود کشید بیرون مارا

That this is really Mas'ūd's diwān and not Khāḳānī's, as is wrongly stated on the fly-leaf, is proved by the frequent occurrence of the takhalluṣ, for instance, on fol. 9^b, l. 6; fol. 76^b, l. 11; fol. 117^b, l. 8; fol. 195^b, l. 1, etc. Some pages are a little injured. No date.

No. 1424, ff. 282, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'liq; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

Diwān-i-Azraqi (دیوان ازرقی).

Lyrical poems by Abū-almaḥāsīn Abūbakr Zain-al-dīn Azraqi, the panegyrist of the Saljūq prince Tuḡhān-shāh I, see Haft Iklim, No. 625 (col. 423 in this Cat.); Khazāna-i-'āmirah, No. 2 (Bodleian Cat., col. 256); Ātashkada, No. 286 (ib., col. 272), where he is called a pupil of 'Abdallāh Anṣārī; Khulāṣat-alafkār, No. 9 (ib., col. 303); and Makhzan-algharā'ib, No. 23 (ib., col. 317). He died A.H. 527 (A.D. 1132, 1133). Other copies are described in A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 366, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 742. The earliest poetical version of the sandīyād-nāmeh in Persian is ascribed to Azraqi, comp. Rieu ii. p. 749^a, and W. Pertsch, loc. cit.

The present copy of Azraqi's diwān contains:

Kāsidās, on fol. 177^b, beginning:

ز نور قیة زین آینه تمثال
زمین تفت فرو پوشد آتشین سربال

Rubā'is, on fol. 212^b, margin, beginning:

ای رای تو با ضمیر گردون شده جفت
ظاهر بر تو هر چه فلک راست نهفت

No date.

No. 609, ff. 177^b-214^b, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 15; and a third on the margin, ll. 24-28; Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; the first two pages splendidly adorned; size, 9¼ in. by 5½ in.

910

Diwān-i-Aḥmad Nāmaki (دیوان احمد نامقی).

The lyrical poems of the great Shaikh-alislām Abū Naṣr Aḥmad bin Abū-alḥasan (or, according to others, Abū-alḥusain) Nāmaki Jāmi, usually called Aḥmad-i-Jāmi, with the epithet of Zhandapil (ژندهیل), who was born in Nāmāk, a village near Jāmi, A.H. 441 (A.D. 1049, 1050), and died A.H. 536 (A.D. 1141, 1142), see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 308, and the Haft Iklim, No. 667; compare besides Rieu ii. p. 551; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 323; Nafahāt-aluns, pp. 405-417; Muntakhab-alash'ār, No. 16 (Bodleian Cat., col. 241); Ātashkada,

No. 155 (ib., col. 267); Khulāsat-alafkār, No. 3 (ib., col. 302), and Makhzan-algharā'ib, No. 3 (ib., col. 317); the third poetical specimen, quoted in the last-named tadhkirah, is found in this copy on fol. 24^b, last line.

Contents:

Ghazals and a few qaṣidas, arranged alphabetically, except the first, on fol. 1^b, beginning:

ای جمالت تابشی در انس و جان انداخته
پرتو روی تو نوری در جهان انداخته

Two short mathnawis (of forty-five and eighty-nine baits respectively), on fol. 99^a, the first celebrating the Kalandar or wandering monk, and having as first word in each hemistich the word قلندر, begins thus:

قلندر بر تو نور الهیست — قلندر مطلع انوار شاهبست

the second, on fol. 101^a, begins:

خداوندی که آن پیدا و پنهانست
جمالش بین که در هر ذره تابانست

The rubā'is, found in Rieu's and Sprenger's copies, are wanting here. No date. Ff. 54-63 are misplaced, their right order being: 54, 61, 62, 55-60, 63.

No. 329, ff. 104, 2 coll., each ll. 12; large Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 11 in. by 6½ in.

911

Diwān-i-Adib Šābir (دیوان ادیب صابر).

Lyrical poems by Jalāl-al-dīn (as he is called here instead of the usual Shihāb-al-dīn) Aḥmad bin Isma'il Adīb (or Sharaf-aladibbā) Šābir of Tirmidh, the panegyrist of Sultān Sanjar (A.H. 511-552 = A.D. 1117-1157), who was drowned in the Oxus by order of Atsiz the Khawārizmshāh (A.H. 521-551 = A.D. 1127-1156). The date of his death is, according to Taqī Kāshī (A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 16, No. 11), A.H. 540 (A.D. 1145, 1146); other tadhkiras fix it in A.H. 544 or 546, see the Ātashkada, No. 728 (Bodleian Cat., col. 287); Butkhāna, No. 8 (ib., col. 197); Khulāsat-alafkār, No. 10 (ib., col. 303); and Makhzan-algharā'ib, No. 1291 (ib., col. 344); the Haft Iklim, No. 573, give A.H. 547 (A.D. 1152, 1153), compare Rieu ii. p. 552; A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 313-315, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 709 and foot-note, in which, as the most probable date of the poet's death, A.H. 538 (A.D. 1143, 1144) is suggested according to Price, Chronological Retrospect, ii. p. 391.

This diwān contains qaṣidas, kitās, and rubā'is, and begins on fol. 48^b:

جود ازین برکشیده ایوانست
کی بره مشتری و کیوانست

It forms the third part of the old collection of six Persian diwāns (see No. 903 above), and is dated end of Muharram, A.H. 714 (A.D. 1314, May 16), by 'Abd-al-mu'min al'alawi al-kāshī.

No. 132, ff. 48-75, 6 coll., each ll. 40; striking old Naskhī; small illuminated frontispiece on fol. 48^b, and a vignette on fol. 48^a; funny miniature paintings throughout; size, 15½ in. by 11 in.

Diwān-i-Mu'izzī (دیوان معزی).

The complete lyrical poems of Amir Abū 'Abdallāh, or Abūbākr Mu'izzī, the panegyrist of Sultān Malikshāh and king of poets at Sanjar's court. His original name was Muhammad bin 'Abd-almalik, and his father, 'Abd-almalik Burhānī, had been a court-poet of Alp Arslān Saljūki, Malikshāh's father and predecessor (A.H. 455-465 = A.D. 1063-1072); three places compete for the honour of being his native town, viz. Nishāpūr (see Butkhāna, No. 9, in Bodleian Cat., col. 198; Khazāna-i-āmīrah, ib., col. 259; Makhzan-algharā'ib, No. 2247, ib., col. 370; Khushgū's Safinali, Haft Iklim, No. 747, and the short biographical notice prefixed to the following copy), Nasā (in Daulatshāh and the tadhkirah described in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 479, No. 132), and Samar-kand (in Taqī Kāshī, see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 16, No. 12, and Ātashkada, No. 744 in Bodleian Cat., col. 287). He was killed by a stray arrow from Sanjar's bow, A.H. 542 (A.D. 1147, 1148). Other copies of his diwān are described in Rieu ii. p. 552^b; A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 501 and 502, and G. Flügel i. p. 497; comp. also the Khulāsat-alafkār, No. 240 (Bodleian Cat., col. 310), and the Ḍakā'ik-alash'ar (ib., col. 822).

This diwān consists chiefly of qaṣidas, intermixed with some tarkibbands, a few kitās, ghazals, and rubā'is.

Beginning:

زمشرق تا حد مغرب شناسد هر که دین دارد
که دین رونق بتابد امیر المؤمنین دارد

An additional series of rubā'is, on fol. 367^a, beginning:

ای رابو برکشیده بر ایوان سر
گردونت نهاده بر خط بیمان سر

Dated the 1st of Dhū-alhijjah, A.H. 1046 (A.D. 1637, April 26).

No. 360, ff. 379, 2 coll., each ll. 21; distinct Nasta'lik; much worm-eaten and damaged in the first half, which contains many various readings and marginal glosses; illuminated frontispiece; size, 10½ in. by 6 in.

A very old, but much shorter copy of the same.

This copy, which forms the first part of the six old Persian diwāns (see Nos. 903 and 911 above), and is written A.H. 713 or 714 (A.D. 1313, 1314), contains only a select number of Mu'izzī's poems, chiefly qaṣidas, with a few kitās and rubā'is at the end. Beginning the same as in the preceding copy. A short biographical notice at the top of fol. 1^b.

No. 132, ff. 1-18, 6 coll., each ll. 40; Naskhī; small illuminated frontispiece on fol. 1^b, a vignette on fol. 1^a; miniature paintings throughout; size, 15½ in. by 11 in.

Sanā'i (Nos. 914-928).

914

Seven mathnawis by Sanā'i.

This is the fullest collection, as yet met with, of the mystical and didactic mathnawis of Ḥakīm Sanā'i of Ghazna, with his full name, Abū-almajd Majdūd bin

Ādam Sanā'i, who probably died A.H. 545 (A.D. 1150), the date given by Taqī Kāshī and the Ātashkāda (the latter stating, that Sanā'i wrote an elegy on the death of Amir Mu'izzī, who died A.H. 542=A.D. 1147, 1148, comp. Bodleian Cat., col. 287, No. 744); how to reconcile this date with Muḥammad bin 'Alī al-Raffā's and Jāmi's statement, that the poet died in A.H. 525 (A.D. 1131), is not clear, but as the second mathnawī of this collection was composed A.H. 528 (A.D. 1134), and as many good copies of the ḥadīqah give A.H. 534 or 535 (A.D. 1139-1141) as the date of composition for that mathnawī, there seems to be very good evidence for the correctness of the view taken by the two above-mentioned tadhkiras. Another, still later date for the poet's death, is given by Daulatshāh and H. Khalfā in his chronological tables, viz. A.H. 576 (A.D. 1180, 1181); compare on these conflicting statements, and on the life and works of Sanā'i in general, Bodleian Cat., Nos. 528-537; Rieu ii. p. 549 sq.; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 747 sq.; Ouseley, Biogr. Notices, p. 184; H. Khalfā iii. p. 40; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 557 sq.; G. Flügel i. p. 498; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 326; J. Aumer, p. 9; Haft Ikhlā, No. 333, etc.

The seven mathnawīs contained in this collection are:

1. Ḥadīqat-alfakīḥ wa Shari'at-alfakīḥ (حدیقه الحفیقه و شریعه الفکیقه), usually called Ḥadīqah, in ten bābs (a detailed statement about the contents of which is given in the Bodleian Cat. and in W. Pertsch, loc. cit.). As date of composition appears generally A.H. 525 (A.D. 1131); other copies give A.H. 534 or 535, see above; another title of this mathnawī is Kitāb-alfakhrī, or al-Kitāb-alfakhrī, also Fakhrnāma, see W. Pertsch, loc. cit. Beginning of Bāb I. on fol. 1^b:

ای درون برور برون آری
وی خرد بخش بخشد بخشای

Bāb II, on fol. 54^b; III, on fol. 65^a; IV and V, not marked; VI, on fol. 143^b; VII, on fol. 168^a; VIII, on fol. 189^a; IX, not marked; X, on fol. 264^b.

2. Tarīḥ-alfakhrī (طریقه الفکری), composed A.H. 528 (A.D. 1134), see No. 926 below. It begins on fol. 278^b:

ابتدای سخن بنام خداست
آنکه بی مثل و شبه و بی همتاست

3. Another mathnawī, without title, which may be the Gharbnāma (غربنامه), mentioned on col. 498. l. 4 ab infra. It begins on fol. 302^b:

این سخن گفت راوی همدان (همه دان)=
که بعهد قدیم در همدان

4. Sair-al'ubbād ilā alma'ād (سیر العباد الی المعاد), also styled کنوز الرمز, see No. 927 below (both titles therefore designating one mathnawī only, see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 558). It begins, on fol. 326^b:

مرحبا ای برید سلطان وس
تختت از آک و تاجت از آتش

Portions of this mathnawī are also found in Elliott 108 of the Bodleian Library (Bodleian Cat., No. 537, fol. 282^b sq.).

5. Kārnāma (کارنامه), here without a title, but identified by comparison with Nos. 916 and 927 below. It begins, on fol. 347^b:

و بک ای نقشند برخامه - فاصد را بگان بی نام

6. Ishk-nāma (عشقنامه), beginning, on fol. 360^b:

عشق مرغ نشیمن قدم است
قوت او که وجود و که عدم است

7. Aḳnāma (عقلنامه), here without a title, but identified by comparison with No. 915 below. According to No. 927 below it has the additional title of سنائی آباد. It begins, on fol. 377^b:

ابتدا میکنم بنام خدا
آنکه هست از صفات نقص جدا

No date. The first nine leaves supplied later.

No. 3346, olim 13. J. 24, ff. 392, 2 coll., each ll. 19; small Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each of the last six mathnawīs; size, 6 in. by 3 1/4 in.

915

Another defective copy of three mathnawīs by Sanā'i. Contents:

1. Ḥadīqah, with the preface of the poet himself. Beginning of this preface (in which the poet's name appears on fol. 2^b, ll. 17 and 18: روزی من که مجبود و سباس و سنایش مبدعی است که: (آدم سنائی ام بسخن. بآک کلمه کن سخندان و سخنگوی را ابداع کرد الخ. It is styled in the colophon خطبه حدیقه حکیم سنائی.

Beginning of Book I of the mathnawī itself, on fol. 11^b: ای درون برور الخ; Book II, on fol. 67^b; III, on fol. 122^b; IV, on fol. 132^a; V, on fol. 136^b (between ff. 141^b and 142^a one single bait is missing, indicated by the catchword: خویشتن بمن الخ, corresponding to No. 2481 (918 in this Cat.), fol. 146^b, l. 7); VI, on ff. 147-151 and 296-311^b (the leaves are misplaced and there is a considerable lacuna between ff. 151 and 296, corresponding to No. 2481, fol. 177^a, l. 6-fol. 188^b, l. 1); VII, on ff. 311^b-315 and 152-155^b (likewise incomplete, the lacuna between ff. 315 and 152 comprising fol. 214^a, l. 11-fol. 215^b, l. 2 in No. 2481); VIII, on fol. 155^b; IX, on fol. 159^b; X, on fol. 187^a. On fol. 294^a there is added (by another hand in Shikasta) the famous fatwā of the Khaliḥ's court at Baghdad, vindicating Sanā'i's orthodoxy (see Bodleian Cat., No. 528, col. 464), and beginning: الحمد لله رب العالمین و الصلوة علی خیر خلقه محمد و آله اجمعین در بعضی آثار است که دو جز در عمر الخ. Marginal glosses on the first seventy-seven leaves; on fol. 1^a the author's name is misspelt as تنائی.

2. Ishk-nāma, beginning, on fol. 332^b: عشق مرغ الخ.

3. Aḳnāma, beginning, on fol. 348^b: ابتدا میکنم الخ. This part was transcribed at the end of Muḥarram, A.H. 1061 (A.D. 1651, Jan. 23); in the colophon of the preface of the Ḥadīkah appears as date the 2nd of Muharram, A.H. 1054 (which seems, however, a mere alteration of the original 1061). Ff. 316-331 do not belong to any of these three mathnawis of Sanā'ī, but contain a portion of the Bāgh-i-Iram (باغ ارم), also called Bahrām and Bihrūz (بهرام و بهروز), by Maulānā Kamāl-al-dīn Bannā'ī, with the takhalluṣ Ḥālī, who died A. H. 918 (A. D. 1512, 1513), see Bodleian Cat., No. 987; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 372; Rieu i. p. 351^b.

No. 1991, ff. 362, 2 coll., each ll. 19; Nasta'lik; small illuminated frontispieces on fol. 1^b and 11^b; size, 9¹/₂ in. by 4⁵/₈ in.

916

A very defective copy of three mathnawis by Sanā'ī.

This very old copy of portions of three of Sanā'ī's mathnawis is unfortunately not only greatly injured, but also in hopeless confusion as to the proper order of leaves, most of the catchwords being missing.

Contents:

1. Ḥadīkah, beginning, on fol. 77^b, with a fihrist of the ten bābs (فهرست الأبواب, comp. W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 748, where it is given in full), thus:

باب اول ثنا و تحمیدست
محض تنزیه و صرف توحیدست

This fihrist consists of ten baits and is immediately followed by the usual initial bait of Book I of the poem: ای درون برور الخ. This mathnawī breaks off on fol. 93^b, but a number of leaves in the other portions of the MS. seem also to belong to it.

2. Sair-al'ubbād ilā-alma'ād or Kunūz-alrumūz, on ff. 108^a-116^a, the only complete one, as it seems, of the three poems contained in this copy. Beginning: مرحبا

ای برید الخ.

3. Kārnāma, beginning, on fol. 116^b: و یحک ای. The conclusion of this mathnawī is found on fol. 76^a (تمام شد کارنامه الخ), but whether it is complete, and how many of the other leaves really belong to it, is absolutely impossible to say. Copied in the month Jumādā II, A. H. 637 (A. D. 1240, Jan.), by Faḍl-allāh bin Muḥammad bin 'Umar bin 'Uthmān alṣūfi.

No. 1444, ff. 33-76^b, 77^b-93^b, and 108^a-137^b, 4 coll., each ll. 25; good old Naskhī; size, 9¹/₂ in. by 6 in.

917

A defective copy of two mathnawis by Sanā'ī.

Contents:

1. Sair-al'ubbād ilā-alma'ād (here styled رسالة سیر العباد), beginning, on fol. 2^b: مرحبا ای برید الخ.

2. Ḥadīkah, incomplete and much curtailed; Book I, on fol. 30^a, beginning: ای درون برور الخ; Book II, on fol. 93^b; III, on fol. 107^a, last line (the chapter not being numbered); IV, on fol. 157^b; V, on fol. 166^b; VI, on fol. 198^b. The sixth bāb agrees with No. 2481 (918 in this Cat.) as far as fol. 202^b, l. 6 (=fol. 175^a, last line but two in that copy); but from thence there is no further agreement. Bāb VII, on fol. 241^a, is entirely different from the corresponding 7th in No. 2481; after fol. 249 a very large lacuna; fol. 250^a opens in Bāb X with the bait:

تا دو عادل هوا نامزد - نک هوا از دو عقل بگزید but the exact words are not found in No. 2481; the agreement begins again on fol. 255^b, first line (= fol. 383^a, first line, in No. 2481). The usual date of A. H. 525 appears here in the last bait:

نامزد و ببست و جارفته زعام
نامزد و ببست و بنج گشت تمام

Copied by Kīwām bin Muḥammad of Shirāz; no date appears. On fol. 1^a appears the same wrong spelling of Sanā'ī's name (ثنائی) as in No. 915 above.

No. 825, ff. 262, 2 coll., each ll. 14; Nasta'lik; two luxuriously illuminated title-pages on ff. 1^b and 2^a; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 2^b and 30^a; ff. 2^b, 3^a, 29^b, and 30^a splendidly adorned. size, 8 in. by 5 in.

918

Ḥadīkah (حدید).

Another excellent and complete copy of Sanā'ī's Ḥadīkah, written at Iṣfahān, A. H. 1027 (A. D. 1618). Beginning as usual.

Bāb I, on fol. 1^b; II, on fol. 73^b; III, on fol. 139^b; IV, on fol. 152^a; V, on fol. 158^a; VI, on fol. 171^a; VII, on fol. 208^b; VIII, on fol. 220^a; IX, on fol. 225^b; X, on fol. 260^b.

Occasionally short glosses on the margin.

No. 2481, ff. 395, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; the last four pages written by another hand; size, 9¹/₂ in. by 5¹/₂ in.

919

Another complete copy of the Ḥadīkah.

This copy was finished the 26th of Shawwāl, A. H. 1077 (not 1088, as is written at the end, since the transcriber distinctly says in words: سنه سبع و سبعين = A. D. 1667, April 21. Beginning as usual.

Bāb I, on fol. 1^b; II, on fol. 56^a; III, on fol. 100^a; IV, on fol. 120^a; V, on fol. 145^b; VI, on fol. 154^b; VII, on fol. 166^a; VIII, on fol. 183^b (here called by mistake باب سادس instead of باب نامن); IX, on fol. 190^b; X, on fol. 203^a. Date of composition, A. H. 525.

Damaged by worms in many pages. College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2235, ff. 270, 2 coll., each ll. 19; Nasta'lik, by two different hands, the first on ff. 1-152, the second on ff. 153-270; illuminated frontispiece; size, 12¹/₂ in. by 7 in.

920

The same.

No date. Beginning as usual.

Bāb I, on fol. 1^b; II, on fol. 62^a; III, on fol. 73^b; IV, on fol. 128^b; V, on fol. 138^b; VI, on fol. 167^b; VII, on fol. 196^a; VIII, on fol. 223^b; IX, not marked; X, on fol. 301^b (this last bāb is extremely short in this copy).

No. 1224, ff. 315, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 7³/₈ in. by 4¹/₂ in.

A defective copy of the same.

This copy is defective both at the beginning and end, and is besides in quite a hopeless state of confusion as to the proper order of the leaves. They are misplaced or misbound, and as most of the catchwords are missing, it is not possible to set them right. The copy begins in the middle of a prose preface, which winds up with a filirist of the ten bābs, and appears to be that of Muḥammad bin 'Alī al-Raffā (alias Muḥammad bin 'Alī Raḡḡām, see Rieu ii. p. 550^b), on fol. 1^a. On fol. 3^a begins Sanā'i's own preface: سپاس و ستایش الخ, but in an abridged form. The mathnawī itself begins on fol. 6^b; on fol. 37^b appears the beginning of Bāb VIII, on fol. 50^a that of Bāb IX, on fol. 86^b that of Bāb X, on fol. 193^a that of Bāb V, on fol. 246^b that of Bāb VI, on fol. 250^a that of Bāb VII, and on fol. 270^b that of Bāb II. No other headings are to be found. Slight injuries here and there.

No. 3418, olim 13. J. 22, ff. 300, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'liq; small illuminated frontispiece on fol. 6^b; size, 6½ in. by 4½ in.

Another defective copy of the same.

This copy is in the same hopeless confusion as the preceding one, is defective at the end, and injured in many places. On fol. 11^a margin begins Bāb IX, on fol. 24^a Bāb X, on fol. 51^b Bāb II, on fol. 58^a margin Bāb III, and on fol. 86^b margin Bāb VIII; all the other headings are missing.

No. 3342, olim 13. J. 23, ff. 136, 2 coll., each ll. 15, and a third on the margin, ll. 28; small Nasta'liq; size, 7¼ in. by 3¼ in.

Sharḥ-i-Ḥadīkah (شرح حدیقه).

The revised and collated edition of Sanā'i's Ḥadīkah with a commentary and marginal glosses by 'Abd-allatīf bin 'Abdallāh al-'Abbāsī, who is best known by his revised and annotated edition of Jalāl-al-dīn Rūmī's mathnawī (see Nos. 1088–1090 in this Cat.), his commentaries on the same poem, entitled لطائف المعنوی (see Nos. 1101 and 1102 in this Cat.), and a special glossary (see Nos. 1091–1097 in this Cat.); he died A. H. 1048 or 1049 (A. D. 1638, 1639) in Shāh-jahān's reign. The present copy, which is the author's autograph (comp. fol. 1^a: حرره و سوده عبد اللطیف بن عبد الله الخ), was finished by him the 20th of Jumādā-al-awwal, A. H. 1044 (A. D. 1634, Nov. 11), and represents an abridgement from a larger commentary of his, the لطائف الحدائق, from which also the glosses are taken (marked by ط). According to the dibāca he began the larger work A. H. 1040 and completed it A. H. 1042 (A. D. 1630–1633), supported by his friend Mir 'Imād-al-dīn Maḥmūd al-Hamadānī, with the takhallus Ilāhī, the author of the well-known tadhkirah of Persian poets, the خزینة گنج (see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 66 sq.). Sprenger's remarks in the note on p. 558 of his Catal., that 'Abd-allatīf borrowed the copy, described there, in A. H. 1035 = A. D. 1625, 1626, transcribed, collated, and annotated it, can only refer therefore to the very beginning of the author's critical labours on Sanā'i's text, from which afterwards the two exegetical works in question sprang.

Contents:

Sanā'i's preface, on fol. 1^b, beginning: سپاس و ستایش الخ, introduced by a few lines from 'Abd-allatīf's pen, on fol. 1^a: این دیباچه است که صاحب طبع سلم الخ.

Editor's preface, styled دبایچه مختصر بر شرح ابیات (the meaning of which is explained on fol. 11^a: دبایچه مختصر که از جمله چهار چمن شرح لطائف الحدائق), on fol. 11^b, beginning: بر ناقدان بصیر و صبرفیان خیر رسته بازار. ملك صورت و معنی مخفی و مستور نماند که الخ.

Short account of Ilāhī's share in this work and two ta'rikhs on the date of its completion by the same Ilāhī. on fol. 13^b, beginning: چون پاکیزه میوه باغ اصطفا و کرامی گوهرکان اجنبی سامی نتیجه دودمان الخ.

Beginning of Bāb I of the Ḥadīkah, on fol. 17^b: ای درون الخ, again introduced by a few lines from the editor's pen, on fol. 17^a, in which he enumerates his authorities, viz. the Kāmūs, the Šurāḥ, and other famous Arabic and Persian dictionaries, grammars, etc. لغات عربی و فرهنگهای معتمد فارسی و قواعد نحوی (و قوانین صرفی). The first words of the commentary itself run thus: قول امام جعفر است رضی الله عنه هذه قبلة الناس والله قبلة كثيره يعنى ابن قبه که کشاده از آسمانست الخ.

Bāb II, on fol. 112^b; III, on fol. 213^a; IV, on fol. 234^b; V, on fol. 241^a; VI, on fol. 256^a; VII, on fol. 298^a; VIII, on fol. 310^a; IX, on fol. 316^a; X, on fol. 348^a. The date of composition is given here as A. H. 535:

بانصد وسی و چار رفته زعام
بانصد وسی و بنج گشت تمام

but the margin gives the various readings چار و بیست و بنج and بیست و بنج.

The fatwā, on fol. 472^b, beginning as usual, introduced by the editor in this manner (comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 528): این فصلی است که بر سلطان اعظم مالک البر و البحر ابو الحارث بهرامشاه بن مسعود بن ابراهیم انار الله برهانه نوشته است الخ.

No. 344, ff. 474, ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b, 11^b, and 17^b; size, 10¼ in. by 6 in.

924

Another copy of the same.

The prefaces, both of the poet and his editor, the account of Ilāhī's share, the short introductions, and the in alphabetical order, except the first six, on fol. 295^a. Beginning of the first alphabetical ghazal, on fol. 296^a:

ای همه خوشی در آغوش شما
قبله جانها بُناگوش شما

The ninth kism begins on fol. 365^a and contains, quite in agreement with the above index, the mystical mathnawi کنوز الرموز, otherwise styled المعاد إلى المعاد (see No. 914 above).

The tenth kism begins on fol. 380^a and contains the second mathnawi mentioned in the index, the کارنامه (see Nos. 914 and 916 above), the heading of which runs here thus: آغاز کارنامه که حواجه سنائی از بلخ بفرنین (بغزنین) فرستاد بجماعت دوستان و یاران مذکور الخ.

At the end of the copy, on ff. 393^b-411, a third mathnawi is found, viz. the عقلمانه (see Nos. 914 and 915 above), introduced by a short preface in prose, beginning: الحمد لله حمدًا بکافی نعمه الخ; this mathnawi is, according to the index and the colophon on fol. 411^a, also styled سنائی آباد.

No. 2722, ff. 411, 2 coll., each ll. 15-24; written by different hands in various forms of Nasta'liq; some of the last pages injured; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6-6 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

Diwân-i-Sanâ'i (دیوان سنائی).

A small collection of the lyrical poems of Sanâ'i (for copies of the complete diwân see Bodleian Cat., No. 537, and Rieu ii. p. 551^a), containing chiefly qasidas, interspersed with a few ghazals and kit'as. Beginning:

ای در دل مشتافات از عشق تو بوستانها
از حجت بیجونی از صنع تو برهانها

Ff. 9-13 are misplaced; the right order is 9, 12, 10, 11, 13; there seems besides to be a lacuna after fol. 23^b. No date.

No. 609, ff. 1-48^a, 2 coll., each ll. 15, and a third on the margin, ll. 28; Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece: the first two pages splendidly adorned; a drawing on fol. 1^a and a picture on fol. 48^a; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

929

Two mathnawis by Mu'ayyid alnasafi.

Two old mystical mathnawis in the very form and style of the minor didactic poems of Sanâ'i, by a poet called Mu'ayyid alnasafi (who is no doubt identical with Mu'ayyid-al-din Samarkandi. see Haft Iklim, No. 1428, col. 486 in this Cat., and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 659, No. 305), apparently a contemporary or disciple of the author of the Hadikah, whom he closely imitated.

1. نسبم الصبا إلى الصبا, on ff. 24^b-32^b, beginning:

ای مصابیح آسمان هدی - وی مفاتیح جنة الماوی

2. بهلولان نامه, on ff. 94^a-107^b, beginning:

مرحبا ای رفیق همدم من
سنواین سرگذشت برغم من

The title of this second mathnawi appears at the bottom of fol. 32^b, and again at the end of the poem, on fol. 107^b, l. 13; the name of the poet, on fol. 32^b, l. 4, and in the title itself. The Pahlawānnāma is divided into fourteen short maqālas, dealing with various ethical and mystical topics, and a khātimah.

Copied in Jumādā I, A. H. 637 (A. D. 1239, Dec.), by the same scribe who wrote No. 916 above. Faḍl-allāh bin Muḥammad bin 'Umar bin 'Uthmān alṣūfi.

No. 1444, ff. 24-32 and 94-107, 4 coll., each ll. 25; good old Naskhī; many pages greatly injured; size, 9 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 6 in.

Diwân-i-Ḥaḍrat Ghauth-althaḥalain (دیوان حضرت غوث الثقلین).

Lyrical poems of the great founder of the Kādīrī order, Shāh Muḥyi-al-din Sayyid 'Abd-alkādir aljili, with the honorary epithet of Ghauth-althaḥalain or Ghauth ala'zam, who was born in Ramaḍān, A. H. 470 or 471 (A. D. 1078 or 1079), and died in Rabi' II, A. H. 561 (A. D. 1166, Febr.), see Safinat-alauliyyā, No. 36. They are in alphabetical order and begin:

گر بیائی بسر تربت و برانۀ ما
بینی از خون جگر آب زده خانۀ ما

Copied from a MS. of Nawwāb Bihrūzkhān. No date. Presented by Sir Barry Close. 14th May, 1813.

No. 1430, ff. 1-35, 2 coll., each ll. 12; Nasta'liq; collated, size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

931

Diwân-i-Ḥasan Ghaznawī (دیوان حسن غزنوی).

The lyrical poems of the great panegyrist of Bahrām-shāh of Ghazna (who reigned A. H. 512-547 = A. D. 1118-1152), Sayyid Ashraf-al-din Ḥasan bin Nāsir 'alawī (so his name is given in 'Aūfi and Taḳī Kāshī, see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 5, No. 72, and p. 16, No. 18, comp. also Rieu iii. p. 999^b; in the preface of this copy, on fol. 2^a, l. 4, he is called Abū al'ālī Ḥasan bin Muḥammad alḥusain; in the Haft Iklim, No. 335, col. 401 in this Cat., and the Khulāṣat-alafkār, Bodleian Cat., col. 305, No. 76, Sharaf-al-din Ḥasan bin Nāsir 'alawī). He died in Juwain, A. H. 565 (A. D. 1169, 1170). see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 16; Butkhāna, in Bodleian Cat., col. 198, No. 13; and Ātashkada, ib., col. 270, No. 231; comp. also No. 933 below.

A prose preface, beginning, on fol. 1^b: الحمد لله رب العالمین و الصلوٰه علی رسولہ محمد وآلہ الطاهرين و سلم تسلمًا کثیرًا کثیرًا واجبست بر ارباب عقل و فطنت الخ.

Tarjī's, tarkibbands, qasidas, ghazals, and kit'as, all mixed together without any order, on fol. 4^a, beginning:

یا رب ابن مائتم و ادن صدر رفیع مصطفاست
یا رب ابن مائتم و ادن فرق عزیز مجتباست

It agrees with the first quotation in the Makhzan-algharā'ib, No. 562 (Elliott Coll. 395, fol. 92^b), see Bodleian Cat., col. 327.

Rubā'is, on fol. 163^b, beginning:

مقصود زآفرنش ما جانست
و ن گوهر باک را حقیقت کانست

This copy, although not dated, has been put before the following two as being comparatively the fullest.

No. 236, ff. 187, 2 coll., each ll. 14; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

932

Another copy of the same diwān.

No prose preface. The copy contains, like the preceding one, tarjī's, tarkibbands, ḳaṣidas, ghazals, and ḳiṭ'as without any order, and a series of rubā'is at the end, on ff. 274^b-294. Beginning the same as in the preceding copy.

Dated the 24th of Shawwāl, A.H. 1069 (A.D. 1659, July 15), by 'Abd-alraḳīb.

No. 328, ff. 150-294, 2 coll., each ll. 18; clear Nasta'liq; size, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

933

The same.

This copy of Ḥasan Ghaznawī's diwān begins with a prose preface, which is entirely different from that in No. 931. It begins, on fol. 245^b: اوصاف بزرگواری و فضیلت سخنگذاری او اظهار من الشمس است الخ.

On fol. 248^a margin, the date of Ḥasan's death is correctly fixed in A.H. 565. Beginning of the diwān itself, on fol. 249^b, the same as in the preceding copies.

No date.

No. 609, ff. 245^b-304, 2 coll., each ll. 13-15, and a third on the margin, ll. 24-28; Nasta'liq; two illuminated frontispieces on ff. 245^b and 249^b; the first two pages both of preface and diwān splendidly adorned; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

934

Diwān-i-Ẓāhir-al-din Shufurwah (دبوان ظهیرالدین شوفرو). (شفرو).

According to the short prose preface, on fol. 1^b: امام عالم بارع افضل اکمل ظهیرالدین شفرو اصفهانی روح الله روحه مردی بی نظیر و حکیم دوده است و مستجمع جمیع علوم و واعظ نیز در عهد سلطان ارسلان بوده و مدح او و بسرش طغرل گفته الخ, this copy contains the extremely rare diwān—not met with in any other collection—of Ẓāhir-al-din 'Abdallāh Shufurwah of Isfahān, who was a cousin of the better-known Sharaf-al-din Muḥammad Faḍl-allāh or 'Abd-almu'min Shufurwah (see Haft Iklim, Nos. 867 and 868, col. 441 in this Cat.; Ātashkada, Nos. 391 and 406, Bodleian Cat., cols. 276 and 277; and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 17, No. 35), and, like him, a panegyrist of Sulṭān Arslān bin Tughrul Saljūki (A.H. 556-571 = A.D. 1161-1176) and of his son and successor, Sulṭān Tughrul III (A.H. 571-590 = A.D. 1176-1194); comp. also the Makhzan-algharā'ib, No. 1492 in Bodleian Cat., col. 349, where he is praised as an expert in law, tradition, and Ḳurān-interpretation, and where some poetical extracts are given, which, however, cannot be traced in this copy. The diwān consists of ḳaṣidas, intermixed with a few ghazals, ḳiṭ'as, and four rubā'is.

Beginning of the diwān, on fol. 1^b:

ای هستی بی نشان نشانت - بخود خرد از علو شانت

No date.

No. 240, ff. 1-88, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'liq; worm-eaten; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 4 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Anwari (Nos. 935-949).

935

Diwān-i-Anwari (دیوان انوری).

The complete lyrical poems of Aḥad-al-din 'Alī Anwari, commonly called the greatest ḳaṣidah-writer of Persia, who was the panegyrist of Sulṭān Sanjar, and died probably A.H. 585 or 587 (A.D. 1189 or 1191); the Haft Iklim (see above, col. 416, No. 528) fix his death in A.H. 580 (A.D. 1184); all the earlier dates given in tadhkiras, as for instance 540 or 547, are absolutely impossible; comp. on this question and on Anwari's life and poetical achievements in general, Rieu ii. p. 554 sq.; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 543-558, and 1980; W. Pertsch, p. 83, and Berlin Cat., p. 743 sq.; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 331 sq.; G. Flügel i. p. 502; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 319; J. Aumer, p. 10; Krafft, p. 62; Rosen, Persian MSS., p. 170; and the Russian monograph of V. Joukowski or Shukovski, St. Petersburg, 1883 (see also W. Pertsch in the 'Literaturblatt für orientalische Philologie,' ii. pp. 10-18). The poet was born in Mahnah, in the Dasht-i-Khāwarān, near Abiward, and therefore used as first takhalluṣ Khāwari. His diwān has been printed, resp. lithographed in Tabriz, A.H. 1260 and 1266; in Lucknow, 1880.

Contents:

A short preface, in prose, on fol. 1^b, beginning: مهنر شغلی که اصحاب نطق و دراست بدان نازند و ارباب فهم و فراست آنرا دستور سازند الخ.

Ḳaṣidas and tarjī'bands in alphabetical order, except the first, on fol. 2^b.

Beginning of the initial poem:

معدری نه بآلت بقدرت مطلق
کند بشکل بخاری چو گنبد ازرق

Beginning of the first alphabetical poem, on fol. 3^b:

باز این چه جوانی و جمال است جهانرا
وین حال که نوگشت زمین را و زمانرا

Ḳiṭ'as, arranged alphabetically, on fol. 188^b, beginning:

ایا صدی که از روی بزرگی - فلک را نیست با قدر تو بالا

Ghazals, also in alphabetical order, on fol. 271^a, beginning:

از دور بدیدم آن دری را - آن رشک بتان آری را

Short satirical mathnawis (sometimes called هزلجات or, as in the following copy, مثنوئات در هجو), on fol. 323^a, beginning:

حبذا گیر قاضی گیرنگ - آنکه دارد زسنگ خارا ننگ

Rubá'is, in alphabetical order, on fol. 327^a, beginning:

ای هجر مگر نهائی نیست نرا

وی وعده وصل غایتی نبست نرا

Anwarī's diwān ends on fol. 352^b, and is dated by Mu'izz-al-din Ḥasani, the 7th of Muḥarram, A.H. 1061 (A.D. 1650, Dec. 31). On ff. 353-359 there is written by another hand a series of anonymous mathnawi-baits, beginning abruptly:

بشنو نکته گراهل هوشی

خودش را به که سگ بفروشی

Some of the last pages are damaged; large water-spots throughout the whole copy.

No. 2677, ff. 359, 2 coll., each ll. 19; Nasta'lik; ff. 216 and 353-359 supplied by other hands; size, 11½ in. by 7 in.

936

Another copy of the same diwān.

Contents:

Ḳaṣidas etc. in alphabetical order, except the first; beginning of the initial poem, on fol. 1^b: مقدری نه الخ.

Beginning of the first alphabetical ḳaṣidah, on fol. 2^b:

باز اسن الخ.

Ḳiṭ'as, on fol. 215^b, arranged alphabetically, beginning, on fol. 215^b: ایا صدی الخ.

Short satirical mathnawis, beginning, on fol. 296^a:

حبذا کمر الخ.

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, beginning, on fol. 300^b:

از دور بدیدم الخ.

The same satirical mathnawis, repeated on ff. 351^b-355^b.

Rubá'is, in alphabetical order, beginning, on fol. 355^b:

ای هجر الخ.

No date. Numerous glosses and various readings on the margin and between the lines.

No. 1530, ff. 381, 2 coll., each ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 10¼ in. by 6¾ in.

937

The same.

Contents:

Ḳaṣidas and tarji' bands, without any order, on fol. 1^a, beginning as in the two preceding copies.

Ḳiṭ'as, with the short satirical mathnawis at the end, beginning, on fol. 156^a:

دوش خوانی دنده ام کو نك دندی نك ناد

حواف نی بل حالتی کان از کرامت برتر است corresponding to fol. 228^a in the preceding copy.

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, beginning, on fol. 238^a:

Rubá'is, on fol. 277^b, without any order, beginning:

آنی که گفت ضامن ارزانی آمد

وانی که درت قبله آفاق آمد corresponding to fol. 361^a, last line but two, in the preceding copy.

No date. This copy was presented by J. Wombwell, Esq., 10th April, 1804.

No. 440, ff. 302, 2 coll., each ll. 21; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 8¾ in. by 4¾ in.

938

The same.

Another complete copy of the same diwān (styled on fol. 1^a: کَلَبَاتِ انوری), without a date. It contains ḳaṣidas, ḳiṭ'as, ghazals, and rubá'is, all mixed together without any order. Beginning as usual: مقدری نه الخ.

No. 391, ff. 331, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'lik; the first two pages splendidly illuminated; size, 10½ in. by 6 in.

939

A slightly defective copy of the same.

This copy is the oldest in the India Office Collection, dated Rabi'-alawwal, A.H. 987 (A.D. 1579, May), by Nizām Faḍl-allāh, but unfortunately somewhat defective in the middle.

It contains:

A short laudatory introduction in prose, on fol. 1^b, beginning: این جریده نامی و نسخه کرامی که از مشاهدۀ صفحاتش ارباب بمنتش را منظور دنده در نظرست الخ.

A first collection of ḳaṣidas, ghazals, ḳiṭ'as, tarji' bands, etc., all mixed without any alphabetical order, beginning, on fol. 2^a: مقدری نه الخ.

A second collection, equally mixed and unalphabetical, beginning abruptly with the last four baits of a poem with the radif انداخته, which cannot be traced in the other copies, on fol. 69ⁱ (the lacuna after fol. 68 comprises, according to the Arabic paging, one leaf only).

Rubá'is, beginning, on fol. 211^a: ای تبغ ترا نهاده

سرهما کردن الخ.

Worm-eaten; occasional notes on the margin.

No. 3515, ff. 233, 2 coll., each ll. 15; large, excellent Nasta'lik; splendid binding in red and gold; size, 9½ in. by 6¼ in.

940

Another more defective copy of the same.

Contents:

Ḳaṣidas and tarji' bands, first collection, in alphabetical order, except the first, on fol. 1^b: مقدری نه الخ.

Beginning of the first alphabetical ḳaṣidah, on fol. 3^a:

سبهر رفعت و کوه وفار و بحر سجا

بهار دولت و دس آن جهان فدر و بها corresponding to fol. 8^a in No. 1530 (936 above).

Ḳaṣidas etc., second collection, interspersed with ghazals, likewise in alphabetical order, but only beginning in the letter ر, on fol. 180^a:

ای بهمت برتر از جرح انبر - وز بزرگی دین یزدان را ظهیر corresponding to fol. 78^a, first line, in No. 1530. This is owing to a lacuna after fol. 179. The last kaşidah, which begins, on fol. 179^b, ای برده ز شاهان, corresponds to fol. 195^b in No. 1530, and breaks off with the 13th bait (=No. 1530, fol. 196^a, l. 10).

Kiṭ'as, with a few ghazals, concluded by the short satirical mathnawis, on fol. 237^a, beginning:

ای فلك پيش طالعه نيكت - کرده پرواز اختر بدرا corresponding to the fourth kiṭ'ah in No. 1530, fol. 216^a.
Fol. 179 injured. No date. College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2258, ff. 358, 2 coll., each ll. 15-16; Nasta'lik, by at least four different hands; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

941

A third defective copy of the same.

Contents:

Kaşidas etc., without any order, on fol. 1^b, beginning as usual.

Ghazals, arranged alphabetically, beginning, on fol. 134^b:

ای عمل تو ببر و بخت برنا - خارست زمانه و تو خرما

Kiṭ'as, in alphabetical order, beginning, on fol. 184^a:

زهى صدرى النخ

This part is incomplete at the end; the last kiṭ'ah on fol. 192^b, which breaks off with the second bait, is found in No. 1530, fol. 247^b, ll. 3 and 2 ab infra. There are besides lacunas after ff. 189 and 191. The kiṭ'ah ربع مسكون النخ, beginning on fol. 189^b, corresponds to No. 1530, fol. 230^a, the kiṭ'as on fol. 190^a to ff. 243^b and 237^b respectively in the same copy (so that the end of letter ت, the whole letters ج, ح, and خ, and the beginning of the letter د are missing). The last kiṭ'ah, on fol. 191^b, ای خداوندی النخ, is found on fol. 243^a in No. 1530, the first kiṭ'ah, on fol. 192^a, on fol. 245^b, l. 5, in the same copy.

Small blanks on ff. 69^b and 73^b. The proper order of ff. 38-43 is: 38, 40, 39, 42, 41, and 43.

Various readings and many additions on the margin.

A great number of pages worm-eaten.

No. 1006, ff. 192, 2 coll., each ll. 21; Nasta'lik; size, 10 in. by 5½ in.

942

A fourth defective copy of the same.

This copy is in a very unsatisfactory state, worm-eaten throughout, more especially in the first half, and damaged besides in many places, whole parts of the first leaves being torn away or effaced. It is defective at the end.

Contents:

The same short prose preface as in No. 2677 (935 above); beginning: مهترشغلی که النخ. The poet's name is given here, on fol. 2^a, l. 6, as 'Alī bin Maḥmūd bin Ishak al-Anwarī.

Kaşidas, without any order, on fol. 2^b, beginning as usual.

Kiṭ'as, in alphabetical order, beginning, on fol. 185^b:
ابا صدرى النخ

Ghazals, on fol. 258^b, beginning:

ز عهد تو بوى وفا مى نيابد النخ corresponding to fol. 319^b in No. 1530 (936 above).

A few more kiṭ'as and kaşidas, on ff. 287^a-289^a.

Satirical mathnawis, beginning, on fol. 289^a:
حبذا
گير النخ

One ghazal and a few kiṭ'as on fol. 293^a, followed by rubā'is which break off on fol. 298^b. The last rubā'i, از خاك دوت, corresponds to No. 1530, fol. 369^a, l. 3 ab infra.

Many various readings and interesting glosses on the margin.

No. 3520, olim 3113*, ff. 298, 2 coll., each ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 10 in. by 5½ in.

943

A part of Anwarī's diwān.

This copy contains only:

Kaşidas etc., without alphabetical order, beginning on fol. 1^b as usual.

Kiṭ'as, interspersed with a few kaşidas, ghazals, and rubā'is (nineteen rubā'is and one fird at the end), on fol. 182^b, beginning:

نگر تا حلقه اقبال ناممکن نجبنانی
سلما ابلها لا بل که محروما و مسکینا

No date. Many various readings and glosses on the margin.

No. 2690, ff. 282, 2 coll., each ll. 17; large Nasta'lik, by different hands as it seems; the first eight and the last three leaves supplied by a modern hand; size, 10½ in. by 5¼ in.

Kaşa'id-i-Anwarī (قصائد انورى).

Anwarī's kaşidas in alphabetical order, except the first and the third; beginning of the initial kaşidah as usual. The second corresponds to No. 1530, fol. 6^a, the third to fol. 194^b, first line, and the fourth (or second alphabetical poem), beginning ای قاعده تازه زدست النخ, to fol. 4^b, first line, in the same copy. Rich marginal glosses and notes.

Dated the first of Dhū-alka'dah, A.H. 1094 (A.D. 1683, Oct. 22), in the castle of Sūlāpūr, by Nadirbeg, son of 'Abdallāhbeg ibn 'Ibād-allāhbeg, a descendant of Alrar (i.e. Shaikh 'Uḥaid-allāh, see No. 633 in this Cat.) and inhabitant of Andjān.

No. 1926, ff. 226, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'lik, size, 10 in. by 6 in.

945

Another copy of the same.

The same kaşidas, arranged alphabetically, beginning as usual. The second (or first alphabetical) kašidah, on fol. 2^a, beginning: صبا بسبزه بیماراست باغ دنیی را آغ, is the second in the preceding copy too. Rich marginal notes.

Copied A.H. 1120 (A.D. 1708, 1709), in Bahādnr-shāh's reign, by 'Abd-alkhālīk Gharīb.

No. 514, ff. 239, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

946

(انتخاب دیوان انوری).

Extracts from Anwarī's diwān, consisting of kašidas, ghazals, and kit'as, without any order. The initial poem is the same as the second in the preceding two copies: صبا بسبزه آغ.

No date.

No. 609, ff. 45^b-81^a, 2 coll., each ll. 15, and a third on the margin, ll. 24-28; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece, the first two pages richly adorned; two pictures on ff. 80^b and 81^a; size, 9¼ in. by 5½ in.

947

(شرح دیوان انوری).

Explanation of the difficult verses in Anwarī's diwān, especially his kašidas, by Muḥammad bin Dā'ūd bin Muḥammad bin Maḥmūd 'Alawī Shādiyābādī, who flourished in the reign of Nāsir-al-din Khilji, the ruler of Mālwal (A.H. 906-916=A.D. 1500-1510), see Rieu ii. p. 556^a. He also wrote a commentary on Khākānī's poems, see Nos. 968-970 below. Beginning: سیاس بی قیاس مرصائع قدیم را که بامرکن جمله مکونات را از نهان خانه کتم عدم در صحراء وجود آورد آغ.

The first verse, explained, on fol. 2^a, is the initial bait usually found in copies of Anwarī's kašidas: معدی نه آغ.

Dated the 24th of Muḥarram, A.H. 1056 (A.D. 1646, March 12), by Amīnkhān ibn Shaikh 'Abdallāh of Shāhpūr.

No. 1128, ff. 1-88, ll. 16-19; Nasta'lik, mixed with Shikasta; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

(شرح دیوان انوری).

Another commentary on Anwarī's kašidas and kit'as, by Abū-alḥasan Farāhānī (or as his contemporary Naṣrābādī in his tadhkirah, composed between A.H. 1083 and 1092=A.D. 1672-1681, see No. 669 in this Cat., calls him, Mir Abū-alḥasan, a Ḥusaini Sayyid of Farāhān), see Bodleian Cat., No. 557; Rieu ii. p. 556^b; A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 332 and 333; Mélanges Asiatiques, iv. p. 54.

The commentary on the kašidas begins, on fol. 1^b: سیاسی که از روی گواهی آغ.

The first kašidah commented upon is the second (or first alphabetical one) of the usual copies: باز این چه جوانی آغ.

The kašidas conclude, on fol. 66^a, with the colophon: تمام شد شرح دیوان انوری, and are followed by the commentary on the kit'as (شرح مقطعات انوری از ابو الحسن فرامانی), beginning with this verse:

ای نام تو قالب عبارت را روح
در راه تو پای عقل و دانش مجروح

Dated the 19th of Ramadān, in the 19th year of 'Ālamgir's reign (=A.H. 1087, A.D. 1676, Nov. 25). On fol. 1^a this copy is designated as الجزو الاول من شرح دیوان انوری.

No. 1910, ff. 91, ll. 18-19; Shikasta; size, 9 in. by 5½ in.

949

The first part of the same commentary.

Abū-alḥasan Farāhānī's commentary on Anwarī's kašidas, beginning as in the preceding copy. No date.

No. 212, ff. 1-83, ll. 20; careless Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

Khākānī (Nos. 950-970).

(کلیات خاقانی).

The complete poetical works of Afdal-al-din Badīl Ibrāhīm bin 'Alī Najār Khākānī of Shirwān, who had originally the takhalluṣ of Ḥakā'iki, which he exchanged at the suggestion of his spiritual guide Abū al'alā Ganjawi for Khākānī in honour of the Khākān-i-Kabir Minūcihr and his son Akhsatān or Akhtasān, comp. on some points of difficulty connected with these Haft Iklim, Nos. 1385 and 1397, cols. 480 and 482 in this Cat. Khākānī died probably A.H. 595 (A.D. 1199); another possible date is A.H. 590 (A.D. 1194), but quite impossible is A.H. 582 (A.D. 1186); see on Khākānī's life and poetry especially Khanykov, Mémoire sur Khacani, in Journal Asiatique, 6^{me} série, vol. iv. p. 137 sq. (1864), and vol. v. p. 296 sq. (1865), and Salemann's introduction to his Russian edition of Khākānī's rubā'is, St. Petersburg, 1875; comp. besides Bodleian Cat., Nos. 560-581; Rieu ii. p. 558 sq.; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 768 sq.; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 461; G. Flügel i. p. 508; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 329; Ouseley, Biograph. Notices, p. 157; Mélanges Asiatiques, iii. p. 114 sq., etc. Khākānī's poetical works have been lithographed in Lucknow, 1879.

This copy of the Kulliyāt contains:

1. Tuhfat-al-'irākain (تحفة العراقین), the famous mathnawī in which the poet describes his pilgrimage from Shirwān to Makkah and Madiinah and his way back, with special reference to the two 'Irāks, i.e. 'Irāk-i-ajam and 'Irāk-i-arab, beginning with a prose preface, on fol. 1^b: خیر ما اعتصم المرء بحباله کلمة العجز آغ.

Beginning of the mathnawī itself, on fol. 4^a:

ماتیم نظارگان غمناک - زین حقه سبز و مهره خاک

The contents of this mathnawī have been given in detail by Khanykov in his Mémoire (quoted above), pp. 173-179; see also Wiener, Jahrbücher, vol. 64, Anzeigebblatt, pp. 16-18. It has been lithographed in Agra, 1855, and in Lucknow, 1876; extracts from it have also been printed in Lahore, 1867.

2. Diwân (ديوان), containing ḳaṣidas, tarjībānds, ḳiṭ'as, and ghazals, all mixed together without any order, on fol. 91^b, beginning: دل من بمر تعلیمست و من طفل زبان دانش الخ.

A second, anonymous, mathnawī, noticed in the Kulliyāt-i-Khākāni, Bodleian Cat., No. 560, is not found in this copy.

Dated the 13th of Ṣafar, A.H. 1007 (A.D. 1598, Sept. 15).

No. 1767, ff. 407, 2 coll., each ll. 19; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b and 91^b; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

Intikhāb-i-Kulliyāt-i-Khākāni (انتخاب کلیات خاقانی).

Extracts from Khākāni's diwān (انتخاب دیوان خاقانی), consisting of ḳaṣidas, ghazals, and rubā'is (the latter on ff. 112^b-117^a), followed by the Tuḥfat-al-'irākain (on ff. 117^a margin-176). Beginning of the ḳaṣidas: مرزا زهاتف همت رسد بگوش خطاب الخ, corresponding to fol. 138^a in No. 2552 (967 below). Beginning of the mathnawī as usual.

Dated the 12th of Jumādā II, A.H. 1038 (A.D. 1629, Febr. 6), by Muḥammad Shafī' of Isfahān.

No. 609, ff. 81^b-177^a, 2 coll., each ll. 15, and a third on the margin, ll. 24-28; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece, the first two pages richly embellished; a picture on fol. 177^a; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

952

Tuḥfat-al-'irākain (تحفة العراقيين).

Another copy of the mathnawī 'Tuḥfat-al-'irākain,' with the preface in prose on fol. 1^b; beginning of the poem itself on fol. 6^b.

Many short marginal glosses. No date.

No. 262, ff. 93, 2 coll., each ll. 19; small Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b and 6^b; size, 8½ in. by 3½ in.

953

Another copy of the same.

Prose preface, on fol. 1^b; beginning of the mathnawī, on fol. 9^b.

The whole copy is filled with valuable glosses, both interlinear and marginal, but unfortunately a number of the latter are half cut or torn away. As date appears only the 15th of Shawwāl, but no year. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2615, ff. 191, 2 coll., each ll. 9; Nasta'lik; worm-eaten; a part of the margin cut or torn away almost throughout; size, 9 in. by 5 in.

954

A slightly defective copy of the same.

This copy begins abruptly in the prose preface, on fol. 1^a, with the words: در آسمان بر مساکین

گشاده دارد الخ, corresponding to No. 262 (952 above), fol. 2^a, l. 3 ab infra (one leaf missing). Beginning of the mathnawī, on fol. 3^a.

At the end on fol. 77^a a short epilogue in prose, giving an account of the six maḳālas into which the poem is divided,—viz.: 1. عرائس العکرو مجالس الذکر (here beginning on fol. 3^a). 2. معراج العقول (here on fol. 6^b). 3. فی وصف بلاد عراق و همدان و مدینه. 4. السلام بغداد و مدائن اصحاب هؤلاء البلاد تسمى سحجة (here on fol. 23^a). 5. فی اوصاف الکوفة و المدینه و هؤلاء البلاد و تسمى موارد الاوراد و خزانه الاوتاد (here on fol. 33^a). 6. فی وصف مدینه الرسول الخ (in the epilogue وهی تسمى بهداية الهدى الخ الى المهدي) (here on fol. 42^b). 7. فی وصف الشام و الموصل و اصحاب هؤلاء البلاد الخ (here on fol. 53^a),—and the number of baits in each.

Dated, as it seems, A.H. 1078 (A.D. 1667, 1668).

The copy is greatly injured in many places, but as carefully mended as possible. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2791, ff. 77, 2 coll., each ll. 21; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

955

The same, without the preface.

No preface. Beginning of the mathnawī as usual.

Various readings and short glosses on the margin. An entry of a former owner on fol. 1^a. Dated the 14th of Muḥarram, A.H. 1058 (A.D. 1648, Febr. 9).

No. 1058, ff. 97, 2 coll., each ll. 17; careless Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

956

The same.

No preface. Dated the 24th of Rabi'-alawwal, A.H. 1099 (A.D. 1688, Jan. 28).

No. 278, ff. 127, 2 coll., each ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 7½ in. by 3½ in.

957

The same.

No preface. Dated, on fol. 191^b, A.H. 1134 (A.D. 1721, 1722).

Fol. 192 is left blank. Fol. 193 is filled with an anonymous ḳaṣidah, beginning:

بعد توحيد خداوند و درود مصطفی
نعت آل پاک نبغمبر رسول مجتبی
هست مدح خسرو غازی معز الدین حسین
حامی دین آفتاب معدلت ظل خدا

Khākāni's mathnawī is accompanied with a great number of interesting and valuable notes and glosses, both marginal and interlinear.

No. 1195, ff. 81^b-193, 2 coll., each ll. 15; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

958

The same.

No preface; no date. Many various readings, glosses, and additions, both marginal and interlinear. College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2186, ff. 112, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Shikasta; size, 8½ in. by 6 in.

959

The same.

No preface; no date. Numerous marginal glosses.

No. 280, ff. 105, 2 coll., each ll. 15; the last three pages supplied by another hand, ll. 17; worm-eaten; Nasta'lik; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

Sharḥ-i-Tuḥfat-al-'irākain (شرح تحفة العراقيين).

A commentary on the Tuḥfat-al-'irākain, composed by Shaikh 'Abd-alsalām, A.H. 1057, in the 20th year of Shāhjahān's reign=A.D. 1647 (see ff. 3^b, l. 7, and 4^b, ll. 10-13), comp. A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 463, and Bodleian Cat., No. 581.

Beginning of the preface (different from that in Sprenger): حمدی که کتاب ستایش و شرح نیایش را : عنوان زبید و اجزای تحسین و اوراق آفرین را شیرازه بندد مر متکلمی را الخ

The first verse of the mathnawī, commented upon, is the usual initial bait: مائیم نظارگان الخ, on fol. 6^a.

Another commentary on the same mathnawī, by Ghulām Muḥammad, is noticed in Bodleian Cat., No. 580.

This copy was finished the 17th of Dhū-alḥa'dah, A.H. 1059 (A.D. 1649. Nov. 22), only two years after the completion of the commentary.

No. 642, ff. 159, ll. 17; irregular Nasta'lik, by two different hands, as it seems; size, 9 in. by 4½ in.

Diwān-i-Khākāni (دیوان خاقانی).

Another copy of Khākāni's lyrical poems, dated the 7th of Rabī'-alākhar, A.H. 1004 (A.D. 1595, Dec. 10). It contains ḳasidas, tarjībānds, ḳiṭ'as, and ghazals, all mixed together without any alphabetical order; from fol. 321^b down to the end there are only ghazals.

Beginning: دل من بر نعلیمست و من طفل زبان دانش الخ

No. 1264, ff. 372, 2 coll., each ll. 19; Nasta'lik; the first two pages richly illuminated; size, 11¼ in. by 6½ in.

962

Another copy of the same diwān.

This copy is dated A.H. 1006, the 10th of Šafar (A.D. 1597, Sept. 22), and contains:

Ḳasidas, interspersed with some ghazals and ḳiṭ'as, on fol. 1^b. Beginning as usual.

Tarjībānds, on fol. 219^b, beginning:

دلا از جان و جان تا کی نکی جو بای جانان شو
حو سلطان اوست در جانها غلام خاص سلطان شو

The right order of ff. 263-270 is: 263, 265, 266, 264, 269, 267, 268, and 270. Occasional notes on the margin.

The title کتبات خفانی, on fol. 1^a, is incorrect, as the copy only contains the diwān.

No. 589, ff. 270, 2 coll., each ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

963

The same.

Contents:

Ḳasidas, on fol. 1^b, beginning as usual.

Tarjībānds and marāthi (elegies), on fol. 220¹.

Beginning: ای دل ز دام گلشن تن در گذشتن نیست الخ

The first elegy, on fol. 225^a, begins thus:

ای روز رفتگان جگر شب فرو درید
آن آفتاب از آن جگر شب بر آورد

Ḳiṭ'as, on fol. 273^a, beginning: چون زمان عهد سنائی در نوشت الخ

No date. Many glosses on the margin of the first 40-50 leaves.

This copy was presented to Mr. Richard Johnson, 1778: a Persian note by a former owner, on fol. 1^a, contains the date A.H. 1183 (A.D. 1769, 1770).

No. 1268, ff. 284, 2 coll., each ll. 18-19; Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

964

The same.

A very large and rich copy, not dated.

Contents:

Ḳasidas, tarjībānds, elegies, ḳiṭ'as, mystical ghazals, etc., all mixed together without any order, on fol. 1^b.

Beginning as usual. At the end of this part, on fol. 367^a, there is the following colophon: تمت القصائد الکبار والصغار والنرجیس المرائی والمقطعات والغزلات فی التجريد والعزلة والموعظة والنصيحة ومذمة الدنيا وشكایة الزمان ومعاتبة الاخوان والمرانی والمدائح والهجو والهزل وسائر المعانی، وشرعت فی الغزلات (!) العشق والرعی.

Love-ghazals, in alphabetical order, on fol. 367^a, beginning:

گر نه عشق او قضاء آسمانستی مرا
از بلای عشق او روی آماستی مرا

Rubā'is, on fol. 442^a, beginning: ابن جریخ بد آئین نه نکو مگر درد الخ

Occasionally short glosses on the margin.

No. 2460, ff. 460, 2 coll., each ll. 19; very clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 10¼ in. by 5½ in.

965

The same.

This copy contains chiefly ḳasidas, without alphabetical order, interspersed with occasional ghazals, ḳiṭ'as, and rubā'is. No date. Eleventh or twelfth century of the Hīrah.

No. 3284, olim 19. J. 3, ff. 248, 2 coll., each ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

966

The same.

This copy, dated the 16th of Rabi'-al-awwal, A. H. 1101 (the 33rd year of 'Ālamgir's reign=A. D. 1689, Dec. 28), contains only ḳaṣidas and tarji'bands. Numerous marginal glosses. Fol. 148 supplied by another hand.

No. 2650, ff. 1-249, 2 coll., each ll. 18; large Nasta'lik; size, 12½ in. by 7 in.

A very large, but defective copy of the same.

This copy (which is incorrectly styled, on fol. 1^a, Kulliyyât-i-Khâkânî) contains ḳaṣidas, tarji'bands, ghazals, and ḳiṭ'as, all mixed together, without any order. Beginning as usual. On fol. 406^a a series of rubâ'is begins with the same bait as in No. 2460 (964 above): این چرخ بد آئین الخ.

This part is incomplete at the end; it breaks off on fol. 415^b; the last rubâ'i corresponds to the fourth in No. 2460, fol. 450^a.

On the fly-leaves, at the end, there are written some lines in Arabic, beginning: قال النبي صلى الله عليه و آله الخ.

No. 2552, ff. 415, 2 coll., each ll. 19; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; some embellishments on the first two pages; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

968

Sharḥ-i-Diwân-i-Khâkânî (شرح دیوان خاقانی).

A commentary on the difficult verses in the ḳaṣidas and other minor poems of Khâkânî (شرح بعضی ابیات مشکله قصائد و اشعار مفصلة دیوان افضل الفضلا و سلطان الشعر سبحان العصر حسان الدهر افصح العرب و العجم افضل الدين عثمان بن علي المعروف با نام خاقانی, as the inscription in the following copy has it), by the same Muḥammad bin Dâ'ūd bin Muḥammad bin Maḥmūd 'Alawī Shādiyābādī, who wrote a commentary on Anwarī's diwân, see No. 947 above; other copies of the same in Bodleian Cat., Nos. 572 and 573; Rieu ii. p. 561, and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 462.

Beginning of the preface: جواهر زواهر سپاس بی قیاس. نثار حضرت صمدیت جل قدرته الخ.

The first verse, explained, is the usual initial one: شبنم آنت ثوبوا الى الله از لب حور. on fol. 90^b, bottom. A small blank on fol. 258^b.

Dated (by the second hand) in Dhû-alka'dah, A. H. 995 (A. D. 1587, October). Other commentaries on Khâkânî's diwân are described in Rieu ii. 562 (by 'Alawī Lāhijī in Jahāngir's time); W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 770, and G. Flügel i. p. 509 (by 'Abd-alwalihāb bin Maḥmūd al-Hasanī al-Ḥusainī al-Ma'mūrī, who the takhalluṣ Ghauā'ī, who flourished about A. H. 1090=A. D. 1679, and whose commentary seems to have the special title of محبت نامه); and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 463 (فرح افرا, by Ḳabūl Muḥammad, the author of the Haft Kulzum).

IND. OFF.

No. 1126, ff. 90-263, written by two hands, the first in Naskhī, on ff. 90^b-170^a middle, 25-30 diagonal lines in a page; the second in Nasta'lik, on ff. 170^a middle-263, larger in the beginning and getting smaller and smaller towards the end, 24-32 diagonal lines in a page; size, 9½ in. by 5¾ in.

969

A defective copy of the same.

Beginning, on fol. 5^b, the same as in the preceding copy. It breaks off on fol. 419^b; the last words agree with fol. 251^b, l. 7 ab infra, in the preceding copy. Instead of the correct Shādiyābādī the present copy has شادیادی. On ff. 1-4 some fragments of a Persian dictionary are found, explaining principally Arabic words generally used by the Persians. The margin of the first eighty-three leaves is covered with notes and glosses. Some of the first and a great number of the last pages are a little worm-eaten.

No. 1010, ff. 419, ll. 15; large, but careless Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

A fragment of the same.

Beginning as usual. The author's name appears here in the short form of محمد داؤد علوی. It breaks off, on fol. 73^b, with the bait: گفتی که نعل بود در آتش. نهاده ماه الخ, corresponding to fol. 92^a, ll. 4 and 5 in the preceding copy.

No. 450, ff. 1-73, ll. 17; clear Nasta'lik; size, 8¾ in. by 4¾ in.

Diwân-i-Ẓāhir Fāryābī (دیوان ظهیر فاریابی).

Lyrical poems, by Ẓāhir-al-dīn Abū-alfādī Tāhir bin Muḥammad of Fāryāb, in the province of Balkh, who died A. H. 598 (A. D. 1201, 1202), see Haft Iklim, No. 566 (col. 419 in this Cat.), and comp. on his life and poems, Rieu ii. p. 563; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 582-584; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 720 and 773 sq.; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 579; Ouseley, Biograph. Notices, p. 154 etc.; Krafft, p. 62; C. J. Tornberg, p. 102; Rosen, Persian MSS., p. 205.

Khamsa-i-Nizāmī (خمسة نظامی).

The Khamsah, or complete five epic poems, the so-called 'five treasures' (پنج گنج) of Jamāl-al-dīn Abū Muḥammad Ilyās bin Yūsuf bin Mu'ayyad Nizām-al-dīn, with the takhalluṣ Nizāmī, of Ganja, who was born A.H. 535 (A.D. 1140, 1141), and died probably A.H. 598 or 599 (A.D. 1202, 1203); later dates of his death are A.H. 602 (A.D. 1205, 1206), 606 (A.D. 1209, 1210), and after 607 (A.D. 1210, 1211); see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 585-619 and 1981; Rieu ii. p. 564 sq. and (as to A.H. 607) p. 569^a; W. Pertsch, p. 67, and Berlin Cat., p. 751 sq.; Sir Gore Ouseley, Notices of Persian Poets, p. 43; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 519 sq.; G. Flügel i. p. 503; Rosen, Persian MSS., pp. 171-173 and 203; A. F. Mehren, p. 34; Cat. Codd. Orient. Lugd. ii. p. 109; C. J. Tornberg, p. 94; J. Aumer, p. 10 etc. On Nizāmī's life and works comp. W. Bacher, Nizāmī's Leben und Werke, Leipzig, 1871; English translation, London, 1873 (reprinted in S. Robinson's 'Persian Poetry for English Readers,' 1883, pp. 103-244), and Ethé, Die hufische und romantische Poesie der Perser, Hamburg, 1887, pp. 39-42. The Khamsah has been lithographed in Bombay, 1834 and 1838; Ṭahrān. A.H. 1261; edited at Tabriz, 1845; comp. on these and other editions Zenker ii. 508-510; Trübner's Record, Nos. 66, 67, p. 99; Zeitschrift der D.M.G. vi. p. 405, etc.

Contents:

1. Makhzan-alasrār (مخزن الاسرار), composed probably A.H. 572 or 573 (A.D. 1176-1178), see Rieu, loc. cit. Wrong dates, ascribed to this poem in various copies, are A.H. 552 (A.D. 1157), see No. 990 below in this Cat., and Bodleian Cat., No. 585; A.H. 559 (A.D. 1164), see below, Nos. 977, 983, and 994, and Rieu ii. p. 565^b; and A.H. 582 (A.D. 1186), see Rieu ii. p. 573^a. It was dedicated to Sultān Bahrāmshāh, contains 20 maqālas, and begins, on fol. 1^b:

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم - هست کلید در گنج حکیم

Edited by N. Bland, London, 1844 (with Daulatshāh's and Lutf 'Alibeg's biographies of the poet prefixed); lithographed Lucknow, 1869, 1872, and with a commentary 1881; Cawnpore, 1869; a Turkish commentary on the same by Sham'i (who died about A.H. 1009 or 1010, A.D. 1600-1602).

2. Khusrau u Shirin (خسرو و شیرین), composed A.H. 576 (A.D. 1180, 1181), and containing eulogies on Sultān Sa'īd Tughrul bin Arslān (who ascended the throne A.H. 573=A.D. 1177, 1178), the Atābeg Abū Ja'far Muḥammad, and his brother and successor, Kizil Arslān (A.H. 582-587=A.D. 1186-1191). It begins, on fol. 36^b:

خداوندا در نویقی بگشای
نظامی را رد تحقیق بنمای

Lithographed at Lahore, A.H. 1288 (A.D. 1871); see besides Hammer's Schirin. Leipzig, 1809.

3. Lailā u Majnūn (لیلی و مجنون), composed A.H. 584 (A.D. 1188), and dedicated to Sultān Abū-almuẓaffar Shirwānshāh. It begins, on fol. 126^b:

ای نام تو بهترین سر آغاز
بی نام تو نامه کی کنم باز

Edited Lucknow, 1870 (see Trübner's Record, No. 65, p. 81) and 1888. Translated into English by J. Atkinson, 1836.

4. Haft Paikar (هفت پیکر), composed A.H. 593 (A.D. 1197), and dedicated, as it seems, to the Atābeg Nūr-al-dīn Arslān (who ascended the throne of Maṣūl A.H. 589=A.D. 1193). It begins, on fol. 193^b:

ای جهان دیده بود خوش از تو
هیچ بودی نبود پیش از تو

This poem is sometimes styled قصّة بهرام گور, see Bodleian Cat., No. 585. Lithographed Bombay, 1849; Lucknow, 1873; comp. also F. v. Erdmaun, 'Behramgur und die russische Fürstentochter,' Kasan, 1844.

5^a. The first part of the Iskandarnāma, here styled Ikbāl-nāma-i-Sikandari (اقبالنامه سکندری); the usual titles are سکندر نامه بّری or شرفنامه سکندری (but see on the conflicting statements respecting the proper titles of the first and the second part, Rieu ii. pp. 568 and 569; Fleischer in Zeitschrift der D.M.G. vii. p. 412, Anmerkung; Bodleian Cat., col. 489, and A. F. Mehren, p. 35 note. It was probably composed A.H. 597 (A.D. 1200, 1201), and dedicated to Nuṣrat-al-dīn, the successor of the Atābeg Kizil Arslān (who died A.H. 587=A.D. 1191). It begins, on fol. 267^b:

خدایا جهان پادشائی تراست
زما خدمت آید خدائی تراست

Part of the text was printed 1810, Calcutta, in 'Selections for the Use of the Students of the Persian Class,' vol. iv, 2nd ed. 1828; also A.H. 1269; an edition with a selection from the best commentaries by Badr 'Alī and Mir Husain 'Alī appeared in Calcutta, 1812, reprinted 1825; lithographed editions besides in Bombay, A.H. 1277 and 1292, and Lucknow, A.H. 1266, 1282, with glosses, 1879 and 1888; another edition (with the commentary of Muḥammad Ghufrān), Lahore, 1889. Extracts in German translation by Fr. Rückert in 'Frauentaschenbuch,' Nürnberg, 1824; English translation by H. W. Clarke, London, 1881; comp. also F. v. Erdmann, De Expeditione Russorum Berdaam versus. Kasan, 1826-1832; Charmoy, Expédition d'Alexandre contre les Russes, St. Petersburg, 1829; F. Spiegel, Die Alexandersage etc., Leipzig, 1851, pp. 33-50; and Ethé, Alexanders Zug zum Lebensquell in 'Sitzungsberichte der bayrischen Academie, histor.-philol. Classe,' 1871, pp. 343-405.

5^b. The second part of the Iskandarnāma, here styled Sharafrāma (شرفنامه); the usual titles are خردنامه اسکندرنامه بحری, or اقبالنامه سکندری, see above in 5^a). It was dedicated to Malik 'Izz-al-dīn Mas'ūd, and begins, on fol. 369^b:

خرد هر کجا گنجی آرد بدید
ز نام خدا سازد آنرا کلید

Edited by A. Sprenger, Calcutta, 1852 and 1869; lithographed, Bombay, A.H. 1277 (A.D. 1860), and Lucknow, 1879; comp. also W. Bacher, Nizāmi's Leben und Werke, pp. 101-171.

Good old copy, collated and dated the 21st of Muharram, A.H. 894 (A.D. 1488, Dec. 25), by Maulānā Hāji Muḥammad aldurustāki albadakhshi. Fol. 261^b is left blank.

No. 402, ff. 422, 4 coll., each ll. 17; small Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each mathnawi; some small miniature paintings, for the greater part effaced, on ff. 49^a, 50^a, 164^b, 183^b, and 203^b; size, 9 in. by 5½ in.

The copy concludes on fol. 454^b, and on ff. 455-468 some parts of the last mathnawi are repeated, but not in any coherent form; for instance, fol. 456^b, l. 11, corresponds to fol. 433^a, l. 3, but the preceding portions in both parts are quite different. On fol. 453^a, l. 5, there appears the وفات حکيم, i.e. the انجمش روزگار نظامی, see above in No. 973. No date. But on fol. 1^a there is the seal of a former owner, rather effaced, dated A.H. 1070 (A.D. 1659, 1660), and another of Shāh Mirkhān (dated A.H. 1147, A.D. 1734, 1735). In August, 1782, this MS. came into the possession of Mr. Richard Johnson.

No. 357, ff. 468, 4 centre-coll., each ll. 17; beautiful Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each mathnawi; the first two pages luxuriously adorned; a vignette on fol. 1^a; miniature paintings on ff. 4^a, 17^a, 47^b, 55^a, 61^b, 64^a, 65^b, 70^a, 71^b, 83^a, 93^b, 95^b, 102^b, 104^a, 124^a, 132^b, 167^b, 182^a, 201^b, 225^b, 227^a, 232^a, 235^b, 237^b, 244^a, 252^a, 259^b, 264^b, 267^a, 279^a, 284^b, 306^b, 311^a, 318^a, 334^a, 337^b, 346^b, 364^b, 372^b, 374^a, 386^a, 396^a, 422^b, 438^a, 442^b, 456^a, 466^a, and 468^a; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

Khulāṣa-i-Khamsa-i-Nizāmi (خلاصه خمسۀ نظامی).

Extracts from Nizāmi's five mathnawīs, by an anonymous compiler, divided into the following thirty-five chapters, viz.: 1. در توحید; 2. در نعت نبی; 3. در صدق; 4. در فال نیک; 5. در رزق; 6. در قناعت; 7. در صبر; 8. در نصیحت خاص; 9. در نصیحت عام; 10. در مهابت; 11. در التجا باصحاب دولت; 12. در صفت دولت; 13. در عقل و هنر; 14. در کرم و سخا; 15. در عدل و احسان; 16. در تواضع و خلق; 17. در آداب سخن; 18. در رأی و تدبیر; 19. در طاعت و ریاضت; 20. در اظهار اخلاق; 21. در مکافات; 22. در منع تحقیر دشمن; 23. در نگاهداشتن راز; 24. در پیری و ضعف; 25. در شناختن حدود; 26. در تنزع; 27. در منع عیب; 28. در تسکین غم و امید راحت; 29. در مدقت بسیار خوردن; 30. در شکایت روزگار; 31. در ترک دنیا; 32. در امثال و داستان; 33. (probably مرثیاتی); 34. (probably مرثیاتی).

Beginning of the preface in prose: الحمد لله رب العالمین والصلوة علی محمد وآله اجمعین اما بعد بر اصحاب دولت واریاب مکننت واجب و لازمست الخ

This redaction of the extracts evidently agrees with the second Berlin redaction, see W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 767; No. 599 in the Bodleian Cat.; and Rieu ii. p. 575^b. The division, given above, is that quoted in the preface; in the text itself there is inserted after chapter 11, as 12th, a new one, viz. در خدمت (see the same modification in the third Berlin redaction), and, on the other hand, chapter 31 is left out entirely. Copies of the larger redaction in thirty-seven chapters are described in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 766; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 597 and 598; and Rieu ii. p. 575^a. Copied A.H. 982 (A.D. 1574, 1575), by Mu'izz-al-dīn Muḥammad alḥusaini. On the fly-leaf a short account of Nizāmi's Khamsah in French.

No. 1129, ff. 47, 2 coll., each ll. 11; Nasta'lik; illuminated throughout in a splendid manner; well-ornamented frontispiece; a picture on fol. 29^a; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

Four mathnawīs by Nizāmi.

Makhzan-alasrār, on fol. 209^b; the wrong date, A.H. 559, 24th of Rabi-alawwal, on fol. 248^b, ll. 10-12 in the margin-column. 4. Khusrau u Shirin, on fol. 249^b; the date of completion, A.H. 576, on fol. 356^a, l. 7 in the margin-column. Dated A.H. 1024 (A.D. 1615), see ff. 118^a, 208^b, and 248^b. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2631, ff. 360, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 15, and a third on the margin, ll. 28; small, but clear Nasta'lik; splendid illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b, 119^b, 209^b, and 249^b; the first two pages of each mathnawi neatly embellished with borders in gold and other colours; excellent eastern binding with flowers on gold ground; size, 8½ in. by 4¾ in.

984

Another set of four mathnawis by Nizāmi.

This excellent, but undated copy contains:

1. Makhzan-alasrār, on fol. 1^b. 2. Khusrau u Shirin, on fol. 41^b. 3. Lailā u Majnūn, on fol. 145^b, beginning (differently from the usual copies): ای نام تو مؤنس روانم - جز نام تو نیست بر زبانم - ای نام تو بهترین الخ. 4. Haft Paikar, on fol. 222^b.

No. 1168, ff. 307, 4 coll., each ll. 15; beautiful Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each mathnawi; miniature paintings on ff. 20^a, 21^a, 24^a, 32^a, 36^b, 39^b, 52^a, 57^a, 59^b, 64^b, 68^a, 70^a, 71^a, 77^b, 80^b, 88^a, 95^b, 96^b, 101^a, 107^b, 111^a, 113^a, 127^a, 159^b, 170^b, 199^a, 209^a, 237^a, 235^a, 244^b, 273^b, 278^a, 285^b, and 291^b; size, 9¾ in. by 6½ in.

985

Three mathnawis by Nizāmi.

This copy contains:

1. Makhzan-alasrār, on fol. 1^b. 2. The first part of the Iskandarnāma (here simply styled سکندرنامه), on fol. 33^b. 3. The second part of the Iskandarnāma (here styled شرفنامه), on fol. 125^b.

Dated the first of Šafar, A.H. 955 (A.D. 1548, March 12), by الداعي كتاب الله بن كيومشاه. An entry from A.H. 1020 (A.D. 1611, 1612) on the last page beneath the colophon.

No. 2079, ff. 175, 4 coll., each ll. 18; small but distinct Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each mathnawi; collated throughout; two very poor pictures on ff. 52^a and 66^b; size, 8½ in. by 6½ in.

986

Another set of three mathnawis by Nizāmi.

This copy contains:

1. Makhzan-alasrār, on fol. 1^b. 2. Lailā u Majnūn, on fol. 30^b. 3. Khusrau u Shirin, on fol. 80^b; this last mathnawi is by mistake headed كتاب خسرو و شیرین, but that it is Nizāmi's, and not Amir Khusrau's poem of the same name, we learn from the beginning:

*خداوندا دری (در) توفیق بگشای
نظامی را ره توفیق بنمای*

Copied A.H. 976, the first mathnawi in the month Dhū-alhijjah (A.D. 1569, May-June), the second in the month Dhū-alkā'dah (A.D. 1569, April-May), the third in the month Rabi'-althāni (A.D. 1568, September-October), by Muḥammad bin 'Alā-aldin.

No. 174, ff. 149, 4 coll., each ll. 21; small, but distinct Nasta'lik; most headings left blank; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each mathnawi; the first two pages most splendidly adorned; size, 11¾ in. by 7 in.

987

A third set of three mathnawis by Nizāmi.

This copy contains:

1. Makhzan-alasrār, on fol. 1^b. 2. Haft Paikar, on fol. 81^b. 3. Khusrau u Shirin, on fol. 255^b. This copy is styled جلد اول کلیات نظامی.

Dated A.H. 1200, the first mathnawi the 19th of Rabi'-alawwal (A.D. 1786, January 20), the second in Rabi'-althāni (A.D. 1786, February), the third the 25th of Jumādā-alawwal (A.D. 1786, March 26), by Muḥammad Muḥsin-aldin Munshi; it belonged formerly to Mr. Ch. Boddam (Calcutta, April 22, 1785). Ff. 79, 80, and 250-254 are left blank.

No. 2994, ff. 470, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 10 in. by 6½ in.

988

An incomplete copy of two mathnawis by Nizāmi.

1. Lailā u Majnūn, on fol. 1^b. 2. Khusrau u Shirin, on fol. 55^b. The first mathnawi is dated A.H. 92 (=1092, A.D. 1681), the second is incomplete at the end; its last bait corresponds to No. 141 (973 in this Cat.), fol. 119^b, l. 12.

No. 768, ff. 125, 4 coll., each ll. 21; small, but clear and distinct Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of either mathnawi; the original leaves are put into a modern margin; size, 10¾ in. by 6½ in.

Makhzan-alasrār.

Another extremely old and valuable copy of Nizāmi's مخزن الاسرار, written by Faḍl-allāh bin Muḥammad bin 'Umar bin 'Uthmān bin Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin-alḥusain bin Hārūn alšūfi (see Nos. 916 and 929 above), and finished in the month Rabi'-alākhar, A.H. 637 (A.D. 1239, November); it is unfortunately injured and effaced in many places. Beginning:

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم - هست کلید در گنج حکیم

This old copy contains twenty-one maḳālas (instead of the usual twenty), with the following headings: I, on fol. 8^a, در صفت آدم و تخلیص در نزل دینی (this maḳālah is in the usual copies simply styled خلوت سبوح, see No. 141 (973 in this Cat.), fol. 11^b, l. 3 ab infra, or خلوت دوم, see No. 387 (976 in this Cat.), fol. 13^a, and No. 48 (996 below in this Cat.), fol. 23^b); II, on fol. 9^b, در محافظت عدل (this is the first maḳālah in the usual copies, but with the heading of the previous maḳālah, and so on in all the following maḳālas); III, on fol. 10^a, در حوادث عالم و انقلابش; IV, on fol. 11^a, در عجز آدمی; V, on fol. 12^a, در حسن رعایت پادشاهان; VI, on fol. 12^b, در اعتبار موجودات; VII, on fol. 13^a, در مرتبت آدمی بر جملة حیوان; VIII, on fol. 14^a, در حبز آفرینش و بزرگواری عقل; IX, on fol. 14^b, در نعم و درموعات دنیاوی و نفس; X, on fol. 15^a, در مشتت; XI, on fol. 16^a, نار آخر الزمان و علامات آن; XII, on fol. 16^b, در وداع این منزل و برهنگاری ازو; XIII, on fol. 17^a, در شکایت عالم; XIV, on fol.

در حذف ۱۵^a, در شرط بیداری از غفلة. XV, on fol. 18^b, در تدبیر جابك روی; XVI, on fol. 19^b, آدمی و نغفیل او; XVII, on fol. 20^a, در حلول و تجرید; XVIII, on fol. 20^b, در استقبال آخرت; XIX, on fol. 21^b, در بیوفائی روزگار; XX, on fol. 22^a, در شکایت نامنصفان; XXI (not numbered in the text), on fol. 23^a, در ترتیب نظم کتاب; Khâtimah, on fol. 24^a.

On fol. 1^a the concluding verses of another mathnawi, written by the same copyist in the same year A.H. 637. Strange to say, this oldest copy of the Makhzan-alarâr contains no date of composition.

No. 1444, ff. 1-24, 4 coll., each ll. 25; good old Naskhi; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

990

The same.

This copy is dated middle of Dhû-alhijjah, A.H. 976 (A.D. 1569, beginning of June), by Muḥammad Ṭāhir of Bukhārā; it contains the usual twenty maḳālas. In the last verse but one of this copy there appears as date of composition A.H. 552.

No. 1365, margin-col., ff. 1-104, ll. 22; Nasta'lik.

991

The same.

Dated A.H. 989 (A.D. 1581), by Maḥmūd bin Aḥmad Zahidi; twenty maḳālas; interlinear glosses and various readings occasionally.

No. 418, ff. 1-97, 2 coll., each ll. 12; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

992

The same.

This copy, which is dated A.H. 1017 (A.D. 1608, 1609), by Ghulām Muḥammad Fāḍil ibn Fāḍil Badakhshi, abounds in marginal and interlinear glosses and explanations to such an extent that the text in many places becomes almost unreadable on account of the bewildering amount of notes. It contains the usual twenty maḳālas, and begins (with a transposition of the hemistichs in the initial bait):

هست کلید در گنج حکیم - بسم الله الرحمن الرحیم

College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2265, ff. 77, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

993

The same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy: هست کلید الرحیم.

Dated the 5th of Rabi'-alawwal, A.H. 1079 (A.D. 1668, August 13), by Muḥammad Kāsim, son of Hātimbeg, at Shāhjahānābad; twenty maḳālas.

No. 1976, ff. 1-57^b, 2 coll., each ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5 in.

994

The same.

Beginning as in the two preceding copies: هست کلید الرحیم.

This copy, which is dated the 13th of Sha'bān, A.H.

1134 (A.D. 1722, May 29), and excels in rich marginal and interlinear glosses and annotations, some of which are of considerable length and value, contains, like No. 1444 (989 in this Cat.), twenty-one maḳālas, that is to say, the usual twenty and an additional one, beginning in the last maḳālah, on fol. 77^b (corresponding to No. 1444, fol. 23^b, l. 13), and reckoned as the twenty-first. The wrong date of A.H. 559, 24th of Rabi'-alawwal, appears here on fol. 78^b, ll. 6 and 7.

No. 1195, ff. 1-79, 2 coll., each ll. 15; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

995

The same.

Beginning as in the three preceding copies: هست

کلید الرحیم.

Many marginal and interlinear glosses.

Dated the 18th of Ṣafar, A.H. 1150 (19th year of Muḥammadshāh's reign, = A.D. 1737, June 17), by Ghafūrbeg. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2420, ff. 368-445, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

996

A defective copy of the same.

This copy lacks the introduction, it begins at once with the مناجات thus:

ای هر (همه) هستی ز تو پیدا شده
خاک ضعیف از تو توانا شده

Of the twenty maḳālas only eighteen are found in this copy; in the midst of the eighteenth (according to No. 1444, 989 in this Cat., the nineteenth) it breaks off; the last bait corresponds to fol. 21^b, l. 7 ab infra in No. 1444. There is besides a lacuna between ff. 46 and 47, corresponding to No. 1444, fol. 15^a, l. 15-fol. 15^b, l. 4 (in consequence of which the end of the eighth, respectively ninth, maḳālah and the beginning of the ninth, respectively tenth, are missing). Some pages are filled with marginal and interlinear glosses.

No. 48, ff. 68, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 8 in. by 5½ in.

Another still more defective copy of the same.

This copy is very defective and besides in extreme confusion; the proper order of the leaves is: ff. 38-93 (lacuna), 1-30 (lacuna), 37, 31-36. The first bait on fol. 38^a corresponds to No. 1444 (989 in this Cat.), fol. 4^a, l. 12, the last bait on fol. 36^b to fol. 23^b, l. 9 in the same copy. The lacuna after fol. 93 comprises ff. 13^b, l. 17-14^a, l. 12 in No. 1444, that after fol. 30. ff. 19^b, l. 8-22^a, l. 4 ab infra in the same copy.

Maḳālah I (according to the usual copies خلوت سیم or دوم, see No. 989 above), on fol. 63^b; II (I in the usual copies), on fol. 69^a; III (respectively II), on fol. 74^a; IV (resp. III), on fol. 79^b; V (resp. IV), on fol. 83^b; VI (resp. V), on fol. 86^b; VII (resp. VI), on fol. 90^b; VIII (resp. VII), on fol. 2^b; IX (resp. VIII), on fol. 5^a; X (resp. IX), on fol. 7^b; XI (resp. X), on fol. 11^b; XII (resp. XI), on fol. 15^b; XIII (resp. XII), on fol. 19^a; XIV (resp. XIII), on fol. 23^a; XV (resp. XIV), on fol. 27^a; XXI (resp. XX), on fol. 34^a.

Entirely wanting, besides portions of the introduction, are XVI–XIX (XV–XVIII resp.), and portions of VII (resp. VI), XV and XX (XIV and XIX) together with the conclusion.

Interlinear and marginal glosses throughout the greater part of the copy. Worm-eaten and severely injured in many places.

No. 953, ff. 93, 2 coll., each ll. 9; Nasta'lik; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

Sharḥ-i-Makhzan-alasrār (شرح مخزن الاسرار).

A detailed commentary on the مخزن الاسرار, compiled by Muḥammad bin Kīwām bin Rustam bin Aḥmad bin Maḥmūd albalkhi, commonly called Bakra'i (بكرئي), so here on fol. 1^a, last line but two, and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 521, or according to Rieu ii. p. 573^b, Karkhi, A.H. 1091 (A.D. 1680), according to the chronogram quoted in A. Sprenger, loc. cit. But Rieu's copy, which bears a note of purchase from A.H. 1089 (A.D. 1678), proves that somewhat older redactions of this commentary must have been in existence.

Beginning (rather different from that in Sprenger and Rieu): بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ بِمَتَابَعَتِ پَسِ رَوَانِ او :
بر بساط فضل انبساط گستاخی الخ

This copy is defective at the end, and breaks off in the middle of the داستان بقال و روباء, which begins on fol. 204^a.

No. 1962, ff. 210, ll. 15; clear Nasta'lik; a little worm-eaten; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

999

Khusrau u Shirin.

Another copy of Nizāmi's خسرو و شیرین, without a date.

Beginning: خداوندا در توفیق بگشای الخ

No. 789, ff. 73, 4 coll., each ll. 21; small, but distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; pictures on ff. 15^b, 23^b, 27^a, 30^b, 41^a, 44^b, and 67^a; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

1000

Lailā u Majnūn.

Another excellent copy of Nizāmi's لیلی و مجنون, beautifully written and ornamented, dated Rabī'-alawwal, A.H. 965 (A.D. 1557, December, to 1558, January), by Muḥammad Bākīr ibn Mullā Mīr 'Alī.

Beginning: ای نام تو بهترین سر آغاز الخ

A few lines on ff. 36^b and 37^a a little effaced.

No. 381, ff. 50, 4 coll., each ll. 20; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; illuminated headings throughout; the first ten pages neatly embellished; five very fine pictures, superior to the usual illustrations, on ff. 7^a, 23^a, 34^b, 42^a, and 48^a; size, 11 in. by 6½ in.

1001

The same.

This copy was finished the 19th of Rajab, in the 49th year of — (probably 'Ālamgir's reign, = A.H. 1117, A.D. 1705, November 6), by 'Abd-alrahīm for Ghulām Ḥusain, known as Walī Muḥammad. On several pages a few hemistichs and single words are omitted.

No. 1057, ff. 159, 2 coll., each ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

1002

The same.

Another excellent, but undated, copy of Lailā and Majnūn.

No. 45, ff. 56, 4 coll., each ll. 20; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; splendidly adorned headings throughout; size, 11½ in. by 7½ in.

1003

The same.

Another, very modern, copy of Lailā and Majnūn, dated the 26th of Dhū-alhijjah, A.H. 1222 (A.D. 1808, February 24), by Munshī Mihr Khadīb. The poem concludes on fol. 162^a, and is followed by some baits from the pen of the transcriber himself, as it seems. On ff. 163–166 baits of another mathnawī, not belonging to Lailā and Majnūn, are written, beginning:

گفتم که جو پیرم کند پست
فرزند جوان بگردم دست

No. 1504, ff. 166, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 12½ in. by 7½ in.

1004

Haft Paikar.

Another copy of Nizāmi's هفت بیکر, dated A.H. 998 (A.D. 1590), but worm-eaten and injured in many places (some carefully mended). All the headings are left blank.

Beginning: ای جهان دیده بود خوش از تو الخ

Bibliotheca Leydeniana. This copy belonged formerly to Mr. Robert Wutherton.

No. 2747, ff. 73, 4 coll., each ll. 17; small, but distinct Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1005

The same.

Dated A.H. 1195 (A.D. 1781).

No. 610, ff. 61, 4 coll., each ll. 20–21, small, but clear Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

1006

The same.

Good modern copy, not dated; it was written by Muḥammad 'Alī of Iṣfahān, with the takhalluṣ Fanā.

No. 130, ff. 166, 2 coll., each ll. 15; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 12½ in. by 7½ in.

1007

The first part of the Iskandarnāma.

Another copy of the first part of Nizāmi's اسکندرنامه.

distinctly styled in the concluding chapter, on fol. 222^b, شرفنامه. Collated and annotated throughout.

Beginning: خدا با جهان بادشائی تراست اله.

Dated the 6th of Ramadân, A. H. 1017 (A. D. 1608, December 14). A former owner of this copy was Jaswant Râo. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2708, ff. 223, 2 coll., each ll. 15; large and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; the first two pages richly adorned; size, 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

1008

The same.

An older, but slightly defective, copy of the same, in which the first nine baits of the poem are wanting; it opens with the tenth bait: جواهر تو بخشی دل سنگرا اله.

The episode of Alexander's march to the fountain of life (چشمه حیات), having been omitted in the text, is added by another hand in bad Shikasta on the margin. The poem is here styled سکندرنامه بری. Occasionally various readings on the margin. Dated the 7th of Rabi'-alâkhar, A. H. 994 (A. D. 1586, March 28), by Šâlih Muḥammad bin Shâh Muḥammad.

No. 3430, olim 13. J. 1, ff. 217, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 8 in. by 4 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

The same.

Dated the 11th of Jumâdâ-althânî, A. H. 1053 (A. D. 1643, August 27). The proper order of ff. 133-223 is: 133-138, 145, 150, 141-143, 139, 144, 146-149, 151, 140, 152-159, 168-175, 160-167, 176-183, 192-199, 184-191, 200-206, 208, 207, 209, 210, 212, 211, 213-223.

No. 13, ff. 223, 2 coll., each ll. 17; large and clear Nasta'lik; a few ornaments on the first two pages; smaller and larger pictures, very roughly drawn, on ff. 27^a, 28^b, 30^b, 31^b, 33^b, 35^b, 36^b, 39^b, 40^b, 46^a, 46^b, 49^b, 53^b, 54^a, 73^b, 74^a, 77^a, 77^b, 78^b, 85^b, 88^a, 94^a, 94^b, 95^a, 95^b, 96^a, 96^b, 97^a, 97^b, 101^a, 101^b, 102^b, 103^a, 111^a, 115^b, 122^a, 124^b, 142^b, 143^a, 151^b, 161^a, 166^a, 168^b, 175^a, 175^b, 182^a, 182^b, 190^b, 191^a, 201^a, 204^a, 213^b, 216^b, and 217^a; size, 13 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

1010

The same.

This copy was written in the reign of Muhammadshâh (A. H. 1131-1161=A. D. 1719-1748). On the first twenty-seven leaves numerous interlinear and marginal glosses and notes.

No. 3424, olim 7. J. 22, ff. 215, ll. 17 (on ff. 1-112), ll. 15 on ff. 113-215; Nasta'lik, by different hands; size, 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

1011

The same.

Dated the 27th of Muḥarram, A. H. 1187 (A. D. 1773, April 20), by Ramadâni Kâtib, who wrote this copy for Mr. Richard Johnsou.

No. 40, ff. 84, 4 coll., each ll. 21; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; the first two pages richly embellished; size, 11 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

1012

The same.

Not dated. As title appears سکندرنامه بری. Worm-eaten throughout to such an extent that many leaves are almost crumbling to pieces. Occasionally marginal and interlinear glosses.

No. 2778, ff. 231, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

1013

The same.

A modern copy of the same, not dated.

No. 3468, olim 7. J. 23, ff. 317, 2 coll., each ll. 11; Nasta'lik, ff. 209-254 supplied by another hand; small illuminated frontispiece; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 in.

1014

The same.

Another modern copy without a date. The date of composition, A. H. 597, appears on fol. 320^a, l. 1. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2625, ff. 320, 2 coll., each ll. 11; Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

1015

The same.

A third modern copy without a date. Marginal glosses on some pages.

No. 325, ff. 234, 2 coll., each ll. 15; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 12 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 7 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

1016

A defective copy of the same.

This copy, defective at the beginning, opens with the following bait:

مجرد روی را بجائی رساند
که از بود او هیچ با وی نماند corresponding to fol. 296^b, l. 4 ab infra in No. 387 (976 in this Cat.). As date is only given the 15th (without the name of the month) of the 13th year (of perhaps 'Âlamgir's reign, =A. H. 1081, A. D. 1670, 1671).

No. 3477, olim 13. J. 2, ff. 223, 2 coll., each ll. 15; very unequal Nasta'lik; size, 10 in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Another still more defective copy of the same.

The proper order of ff. 151-162 is: 151, 162, 152-157, lacuna, comprising fol. 366^b, last line, to fol. 382^b, l. 11, in No. 387 (976 in this Cat.), 158-161. The last bait on fol. 161^b, with which this copy breaks off, corresponds to fol. 384^b, l. 7, in No. 387. The titles given here to this first part of the Iskandarnâme are سکندرنامه بری and اقبالنامه سکندری.

No. 264, ff. 162, 2 coll., each ll. 15-16, the first four leaves supplied by a more modern hand; Nasta'lik; size, 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 4 in.

Sharḥ-i-Sikandarnāma (شرح سکندرنامه).

An anonymous Persian commentary on the first part of Nizāmi's Iskandarnāma, different not only from that of the Calcutta edition, but also from all those described in Rieu ii. pp. 820^b and 859^a; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 762-765, and A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 522 and 523.

It begins, without preface, at once with the initial bait of the poem :

خدایا جهان پادشائی تراست
زما خدمت آید خدائی تراست
لما خلفت الجن والانس الا ليعبدون بر پادشاهان مملکت
اشعار و جهانداران ولایت افکار مبرهن الخ
No date.

No. 1890, ff. 104, ll. 17; distinct Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6 in.

1019

An incomplete copy of the same.

After the initial bait the commentary begins at once with these words: بر پادشاهان مملکت اشعار و جهانداران الخ.

It breaks off with the words: التفات نکرد که . . . بگوشه, corresponding to fol. 89^a, l. 3 ab infra in the preceding copy.

No. 699, ff. 150, ll. 15; careless Na-sta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

Sharḥ-i-abyāt-i-Iskandarnāma (شرح ابیات اسکندرنامه).

Another anonymous commentary on the difficult verses of the first part of the Iskandarnāma, likewise without any preface. The first words after the initial bait of the poem are: الف ندای خدایا بدو معنی است: اول آنکه ای خدای جهان الخ.

No date. In the first half of the copy many marginal additions, glosses, etc.

No. 1589, ff. 99, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 4½ in.

Farhang-i-Sikandarnāma-i-barri (فرهنگ سکندرنامه-i-barri).

A special glossary to the first part of the Iskandarnāma, with Persian interlinear explanation. It consists of two series of words, both arranged alphabetically according to the first letter; the first series begins on fol. 1^b with نام بهار ومدت ماندن آفتاب اردی بهشت, the second, on fol. 23^b, with (خدای) الله; see a similar but shorter glossary in the Bodleian Cat. No. 1982 (کلید سکندرنامه). It ends on fol. 29^b, and is followed on ff. 30^a-32 by a short glossary of the Pahlawi words which occur in Firdausi's Shāhnāma (بدانکه الفاطی که) استاد الانام مولانا ابو الفاسم مختلص بفردوسی طوسی رحمة الله علیه در شاهنامه بزبان یهلوی آورده اند جمله (ابنست), likewise in alphabetical order. Many of these so-called Pahlawi words are simply Arabic ones, see, for instance, the first three: ادیس (نام بیغمیر), (معروف) الیاس و خضر, (بیغمیران) انبیا. A small portion of the first page is torn away.

No. 1893, ff. 32, ll. 16-18; Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6 in.

1022

The second part of the Iskandarnāma.

Another copy of the second part of Nizāmi's اسکندرنامه, dated the 25th of Sha'bān, A.H. 1016 (A.D. 1607, December 15).

Beginning: خرد هرکجا گنجی آرد بدید الخ.

No. 397, ff. 58, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 17, and a third on the margin, ll. 28; Nasta'lik; a little worm-eaten and injured; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

1023

The same.

Dated the 16th of Muḥarram, A.H. 1117 (A.D. 1705, May 10), by Sayyid Wali-allāh. It is styled in the colophon: شرفنامه اسکندری.

No. 1847, ff. 123, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 8 in. by 5½ in.

1024

The same.

Dated the 4th of Šafar, A.H. 1223 (A.D. 1808, April 1), by Muḥammad 'Alī of Iṣfahān.

No. 155, ff. 124, 2 coll., each ll. 15; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 12½ in. by 7½ in.

1025

The same.

No date. Many various readings, both marginal and interlinear. College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2262, ff. 134-240, 2 coll., each ll. 15-21; irregular Naskhi, size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

1026

The same.

This copy is likewise not dated. It is spoiled by water in many places; interlinear and marginal notes and various readings. The transcriber's name is Khākini-shinkhān ibn Nīmatkhān.

No. 3469, olim 7. J. 24, ff. 145, 2 coll., each ll. 13; very careless Nasta'lik, sometimes quite like Shikaṣṭa; size, 7½ in. by 5½ in.

A defective copy of the same.

This copy, which is styled in the colophon both شرفنامه and سکندرنامه بحری, was finished the 15th of Šafar, A.H. 1139 (eighth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign, = A.D. 1726, Oct. 12), at Aḥmadābād. Ff. 109^b and 110. as well as a large portion of ff. 109^a and 111^a, are left blank, and there is a lacuna, corresponding to fol. 448^b, l. 1-fol. 449^b, l. 5. in No. 387 (976 in this Cat.).

No. 399, ff. 125, 2 coll., each ll. 15; distinct Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 4½ in.

Poets who died between A.H. 600 and 700.

1028

Diwân-i-Kamar (دیوان کمر).

Lyrical poems by Nizâm-al-din Mahmûd Kamar of Isfahân, who was a panegyrist of the Âl-i-Khujandî, the governors and kâdis of Isfahân. Of these famous Âl-i-Khujandî the Haft Iklim, Nos. 865 and 866 (see col. 441 above in this Cat.), mentions the two most prominent men, viz. Šadr-al-din Khujandî, who was contemporary with Zahir-al-din Fârîyâbi (see No. 971 above), and his son Jamâl-al-din Khujandî; the poet must therefore have flourished towards the end of the sixth and the beginning of the seventh century of the Hırah. The collection contains kaşidas, kiŧas, and rubâis, beginning, on fol. 76^b:

ای تماشاگاه جانت عالم حسن و خیال
کی توانی خواند توحید خدای ذوالجلال

This diwân forms the fourth part of the old collection of six Persian diwâns (see Nos. 903, 911, and 913 above), written A.H. 713 or 714 (A.D. 1313, 1314), by 'Abd-almu'min al'alawi alkâshi.

No. 132, ff. 76-87, 6 coll., each ll. 40; striking old Naskhî; small illuminated frontispiece on fol. 76^b, and a vignette on fol. 76^a; funny miniature paintings throughout; size, 15½ in. by 11 in.

Diwân-i-Athîr Akhsikati (دیوان اثیر اخسیکتی).

Lyrical poems by Athîr-al-din, a native of Akhsikat or, as the name is written here distinctly, Akhsikath (اخسیکت), the largest town of Farghâna after Andijân, see Haft Iklim, No. 1528 (col. 495 above); Butkhâna, No. 14 in Bodleian Cat., col. 198; Âtashkada, No. 712, ib., col. 268; Khulâsat-alafkâr, No. 25, ib., col. 303; Makhzan-algharâ'ib, No. 10, ib., col. 317, etc. He came from Akhsikat or Akhsikath (also spelt Akhsitak or Âkhsitak) to Khurâsan, and later on to the Persian 'Irâk, where he lived as panegyrist of Sultân Arslân bin Tughrul (A.H. 556-571=A.D. 1161-1176); he afterwards retired to Khalkâl in Âdharbaijân and died A.H. 608 (A.D. 1211, 1212); comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 620; Rieu ii. p. 563; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 345; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 26, No. 1, and p. 29, No. 13.

The collection contains kaşidas mixed with kiŧas and some rubâis at the end.

Beginning, on fol. 19^b:

جهانرا هم جهانبا نیست ببدابین بنهان دان
که زبرگنبد نیلی بدید آورد چار ارکان

This diwân forms the second part of the old collection of six Persian diwâns (see Nos. 903, 911, 913, and 1028 above), written A.H. 713 and 714 (A.D. 1313, 1314), by 'Abd-almu'min al'alawi alkâshi.

No. 132, ff. 19-47, 6 coll., each ll. 40; striking old Naskhî; small illuminated frontispiece on fol. 19^b, and a vignette on fol. 19^a; miniature paintings throughout; size, 15½ in. by 11 in.

1030

Diwân-i-Shams Tabasî (دیوان شمس طبعی).

Lyrical poems, chiefly kaşidas, by the Kâdi Shams-al-din Mahmûd (according to the Haft Iklim, No. 153, col. 389 in this Cat., Muhammad bin 'Abd-alkarim) of Tabas (i.e. Tabas-i-Kilak in Khurâsan, see Haft Iklim, loc. cit., and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., in the geographical index, p. 1247) or Tabs (as the name is spelt in A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 17, No. 43; see also Bodleian Cat., No. 621, and Butkhâna, No. 97, ib., col. 202). According to the Âtashkada, No. 150 (col. 267 in the Bodleian Cat.), he was a pupil of Kâdi Mañšûr of Farghâna, and lived and died in Harât. According to the short biographical notice, prefixed to this diwân, he came to Bukhârâ in the time of Radî-al-din of Nishâpûr (died A.H. 598=A.D. 1202, see Haft Iklim, No. 746, col. 432 in this Cat., and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 16, No. 26), and was a younger contemporary of Khâkânî (see Nos. 950-970 in this Cat.). His death is fixed in A.H. 626 (A.D. 1228, 1229).

Beginning, on fol. 88^b:

هر دل که سوی عرصهٔ نغمیق راه یافت
در سایهٔ سزادق عزت بناء یافت

This diwân forms the fifth part of the old collection of six Persian diwâns (see Nos. 903, 911, 913, 1028, and 1029 above), and is dated Dhû-alka'dah, A.H. 713 (A.D. 1314, Feb.-March), by 'Abd-almu'min al'alawi alkâshi.

No. 132, ff. 88-96, 6 coll., each ll. 40; striking old Naskhî; small illuminated frontispiece on fol. 88^b, and a vignette on fol. 88^a; miniature paintings throughout; size, 15½ in. by 11 in.

Farid-al-din 'Attâr (Nos. 1031-1054).

Kulliyât-i-Farid-al-din 'Attâr (کلیات فریدالدین عطار).

The fullest collection extant in the India Office Library of poetical works by the great Šufîc poet Abû Hâmîd (according to the Âtashkada, No. 279, Bodleian Cat., col. 272, and the Khulâsat-alkalâm, No. 50, ib., col. 299, Abû Tâlib) Muhammad bin Abîbakr Ibrâhîm Farid-al-din 'Attâr, who was born in Shâdiyâkh, near Nishâpûr, A.H. 513 (A.D. 1119), and put to death during the invasion of the Moghuls, A.H. 627 (A.D. 1230), 114 lunar years old. Wrong dates of his death are given in the Butkhâna, No. 21 (Bodleian Cat., col. 199), viz. A.H. 619 or even 607, and in the Khulâsat-alafkâr, No. 174 (Bodleian Cat., col. 308), viz. A.H. 622 (with the additional statement that he was then 109 years old); comp. on the poet's life and his complete works, Bodleian Cat., Nos. 622-636; Rieu i. p. 344, and ii. pp. 576-580; Ouseley, Biogr. Notices, p. 236; A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 346-358; Ethé, Die mystische, didactische und lyrische Poesie etc. der Perser, Hamburg, 1888, pp. 22-26, etc.; see also Haft Iklim, No. 733 (col. 430 in this Cat.), and Makhzan-algharâ'ib, No. 1521 (Bodleian

¹ The two words که سوی, which were destroyed by worms in the present copy, have been supplied from the Bodleian copy, Elliott 86.

Cat., col. 350). The Kulliyât have been lithographed in Lucknow, 1872.

Contents:

1. Ushturnâma (اشترنامه), or the book of the camel, a mathnawî on mystic lore (see Bodleian Cat., No. 622, 15, etc.; Rieu ii. pp. 578^b and 579^a; Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. ii. p. 114; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 352; and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 717), on fol. 1^b, beginning:

ابتدا بر نام حی لا یزال - صانع اشیا وابداع جلال

2. Khusrau u Gul (خسرو وگل), an abridgment of 'Attâr's name, or love-adventures of Gul and Hurmuz (also styled گل وهرمز, see Bodleian Cat., No. 625, 3, and Haft İklim, No. 733, col. 431, ll. 14-18 in this Cat., where the title گل وهرمز seems rather applied to the present abridgment; comp., on the گل وهرمز itself, A. Sprenger, loc. cit.: Bodleian Cat., No. 622, 6, etc.; and Rieu ii. p. 576^b), on fol. 27^b, beginning:

بنام آنکه گنج جسم و جان ساخت
طلسم گنج جان هر دو جهان ساخت

3. Bulbulnâma (بلبل نامه), or the book of the nightingale, describing the love of the nightingale to the rose (see Bodleian Cat., No. 622, 8, etc.; and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 355), on fol. 100^b, beginning:

قلم بر دار راز دل عیان کن
سرآغازش بنام غیبیان کن

4. Pandnâma (پندنامه), or the book of advice (see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 622, 10, etc., and 632; Rieu ii. pp. 579^b sq., 790^a, and 803^b; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 72, 91, 107, 728, and 774 sq.; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 355; G. Flügel i. p. 511 and iii. p. 415; Rosen, Persian MSS., p. 202, etc.), on fol. 105^b, beginning:

حمد بنحمد مر خدای پاکرا
آنکه ایمان داد مستی خاکرا

Edited by Hindley, London, 1809; by de Sacy, with French translation and choice notes, Paris, 1819; German translation by G. H. F. Nesselmann. On the older Eastern editions of this work in Calcutta, Lahore, Bûlak, etc., see Zenker, No. 574 sq.; ii. 486; it has been besides lithographed in Lucknow, A.H. 1264; in Constantinople (with extracts from the commentary of Isma'il Hakki), A.H. 1267; newest editions, Lahore, 1887 and 1888, Bombay, 1887, and Cawnpore, 1888. Extracts in Gladwin's Persian Moonshee (new edition by W. Carmichael Smyth, London, 1840). Two Turkish translations, the latter with commentary, of the Pandnâma are described in Rieu, Turk. Cat., pp. 154^a and ^b; G. Flügel iii. pp. 415 and 416, etc.; the one composed A.H. 964=A.D. 1557, and ascribed by Flügel to Amri (who died A.H. 988=A.D. 1580), the other by Sham'i (who died about A.H. 1009 or 1010=A.D. 1600-1602), entitled سعاد نامہ. A third, in verse like the first, is noticed in Rieu ii. p. 580. A Latin translation by Salomon Negri, ib., loc. cit.

5. Mantik-âtair (منطق الطیر), or the speeches of birds (see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 622, 13, etc., and 628-631; Rieu ii. pp. 576^a, 578^a, 816^b, and 870^b; W.

Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 73 and 777 sq.; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 354; and G. Flügel i. pp. 509 and 511), on fol. 113^b, beginning:

آفرین جان آفرین پاکرا
آنکه جان بخشید و ایمان خاکرا

Edited by Garcin de Tassy, Paris, 1857; translated into French, 1863; lithographed, Bombay, A.H. 1280, and Lucknow, A.H. 1288. According to No. 904 (1043 below in this Cat.), the poem was composed A.H. 583 (A.D. 1187). Two Hindustani translations of the Mantik-âtair are preserved in Nos. 2375 and 2817 (the latter in Dakhni verses) of the India Office Collection. A Turkish commentary on the same was composed by Sham'i (see the preceding Pandnâma).

6. Haft Wâdi (هفت وادی), or the seven valleys, i.e. the seven stages on the mystical road (see Bodleian Cat., No. 622, 9, etc.; and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 357), on fol. 146^b, beginning:

حمد پاک از جان پاک آن پاکرا
کو خلافت داد مشتی خاکرا

7. Bisarnâma (بیسرنامه), or the headless book, a short theosophical mathnawî (see Bodleian Cat., No. 622, 17, etc.; and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 349), on fol. 152^b, beginning:

من بغیر تو نبینم در جهان - قادرا پروردگارا جاودان

8. Kanz-alasrâr (کنز الاسرار), or the treasury of mysteries, otherwise styled Kanz-albahr (کنز البحر). see Bodleian Cat., No. 623, 20, and No. 624, 10, and containing a translation and interpretation of famous Kurân-verses, interspersed with stories, on fol. 155^b, beginning:

سباس و حمد بر خلاق عالم - که از خاکی پدید آورد آدم
This mathnawî is identical with the 'Kent Kunz Mokhfiâ' mentioned in Stewart's Cat., since the first heading runs thus: قال رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم: كُنْتُ كَنْزًا مَخْفِيًّا.

According to the last hemistich, که در ششصد نود نه شد تمام این, which appears with exactly the same wording in the Bodleian copies just mentioned, this poem would have been composed in A.H. 699; but since such a date is impossible, we suggest, either to read ششصد for ششصد (which would give A.H. 599=A.D. 1202, 1203), or better still, to substitute نود نه for نوازه (i.e. A.H. 619=A.D. 1222).

9. Diwân (دیوان), or lyrical poems, consisting of kaşidas, kiṭas, ghazals, and rubâ'is, without alphabetical order (see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 348; and Bodleian Cat., No. 636), on fol. 172^b, beginning:

سبحان قادری که صفاتش زکبریا
بر خاک عجز میفکنند عقل انبیا

A special copy of the kaşidah البرار is described in G. Flügel iii. p. 447.

10. Waslatnâma (وصلت نامه), or the book of union (see Bodleian Cat., No. 622, 7, etc.; Rieu ii. p. 579^a; and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 355), on fol. 228^b, beginning:

ابتدا اول بنام کردگار - خالق هفت و شش و پنج و چهار

11. Miftāḥ-alfutūḥ (مفتاح الفتوح), or the key of victories (mentioned in Stewart's Cat., p. 60, and in Ouseley's Notices of Persian Poets), on fol. 242^b, beginning:

بناه من بحی کو نمیرد
باهی عذر صد عصیان بذبرد

Other copies of this rare mathnawī are only found in the following two collections and in the Bodleian Library (Bodleian Cat., No. 622, 19; No. 623, 10; No. 624, 7; and No. 627, 3).

12. Asār-nāma (اسرارنامه), or the book of mysteries (see Bodleian Cat., No. 622, 14, etc.; Rieu ii. pp. 576^a and 578^b; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 358; G. Flügel i. p. 510; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 332; W. Pertsch, p. 86 (No. 52), and Berlin Cat., p. 717), on fol. 257^b, beginning:

بنام آنکه جانرا نور دین داد
خرد را در خدادانی یمن داد

It is divided here into nineteen maḳālas (not twenty, as in Sprenger's copy, loc. cit., nor twenty-five, as the heading of the last chapter might suggest); the last two maḳālas, on ff. 283^a and 284^a, are respectively called the 24th and 25th, but that is a mere clerical error, since the immediately preceding one is correctly styled the 17th; the مقالة بیست چهارم therefore, on fol. 283^a, is the 18th, الثامنة عشر, as No. 1096 (1033 below in this Cat.) correctly has on fol. 221^a; and the مقالة بیست پنجم, on fol. 284^a, is the 19th (نوزدهم). The last fifty-seven baits of this mathnawī are repeated on fol. 242^a above (on the page immediately preceding the beginning of the مفتاح الفتوح, corresponding to fol. 285^a, l. 12—fol. 285^b, l. 13).

13. Kanz-alḥaḳā'ik (کنز الحقائق), or the treasury of verities (see Bodleian Cat., No. 622, 18, etc.; and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 356), on fol. 285^b, beginning with the same initial bait as the preceding اسرارنامه: بنام آنکه جانرا نور دین داد الیح. The title occurs on fol. 286^b, l. 26:

چو گفتم اندرو چندین حقائق
نهادم نام او کنز الحقائق

14. Ilāhīnāma (الهی نامه), or the divine book (see Bodleian Cat., No. 622, 11, etc.; Rieu ii. pp. 576^a, 578^b, and 870^b; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 357; Stewart's Cat., p. 61; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 111), on fol. 298^b, beginning:

الهی نامه را آغاز کردم — بنامت نامه را باز کردم

15. Muṣibatnāma (مصیبت نامه), or the book of affliction (see Bodleian Cat., No. 622, 12, etc.; Rieu ii. pp. 576^b, 578^b, and 816^b; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 349; W. Pertsch, p. 85 (No. 51), and Berlin Cat., pp. 101 and 781; G. Flügel i. p. 510; in C. J. Tornberg, p. 100, it is called نهامت نامه, and in one Bodleian copy, Bodleian Cat., 623, 17, also (عقد المسافات), on fol. 351^b, beginning with the same initial bait as the هفت وادی (No. 6 above):

حمد پاک از جان پاک آن بالرا
کو خلافت داد مشیت خاکرا

16. Lisāu-alghaib (لسان الغیب), or the tongue of mystery (mentioned in Stewart's Cat., p. 60, and in Ouseley's Notices of Persian Poets), on fol. 419^b, beginning:

اسم توحید ابتدای نام اوست
مرغ روح جملگی در دام اوست

Other copies of this rare mathnawī are only found in No. 1096 (1033 in this Cat.) and in the Bodleian Library (Bodleian Cat., No. 622, 4; No. 623, 6; No. 624, 13; No. 625, 20; and No. 626, 2).

17. Jawāhir-alḥāt (جواهر الذات), also styled Jauhar-alḥāt (جوهر الذات), and—most correctly—Jauhar-i-Dhāt (جوهر ذات), comp. W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 780, note 1), or the essence of existence (see Bodleian Cat., No. 622, 3, etc.; Rieu ii. pp. 576^b and 577^a; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., loc. cit.: G. Flügel i. p. 513; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 351). It is also styled جواهرنامه. see Rieu, loc. cit., and No. 1048 below, but comp. the remark in Haft Iklim, No. 733 (col. 431, ll. 5–8 in this Cat.). The present copy contains only the first of the three daftars, of which the mathnawī consists, comp. further below, Nos. 1046–1048. Beginning, on fol. 467^b:

بنام آنکه نور جسم و جانست
خدای آشکارا و نهانست

18. Maẓhar-al'ajā'ib (مظهر العجائب), or the exhibition of curiosities (see Bodleian Cat., No. 622, 5, etc.; Rieu ii. p. 579; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 353; comp. also W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 154, No. 7, where fragments of the same mathnawī seem to appear under the title of مظهر الاسرار), on fol. 564^b, beginning:

آفرین جان آفرین بر جان جان
زانکه هست او آشکارا و نهان

This copy is tolerably old, but not dated.

No. 559, ff. 626, 4 coll., each ll. 29; Nasta'liq; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each part; size, 12½ in. by 8¼ in

1032

Another but smaller copy of the same Kullīyyāt.

This collection of Farīd-al-dīn 'Aṭṭār's poetical works contains:

1. Pandnāma, on fol. 1^b.
2. Ilāhīnāma, on fol. 10^b.
3. Waṣīyyatnāma (وصیت نامه), or the book of precepts, on fol. 69^b, beginning:

ای بنامت کارها را افتتاح
نیست بی نام تو در امری فلاح

This very rare mathnawī, which is probably identical with the Ausatnāma in Stewart's Cat., p. 60, is only found here and in two Bodleian copies (Bodleian Cat., Nos. 622, 16, and 624, 6). 4. Haft Wādi, on fol. 76^b. 5. Bulbulnāma, on fol. 83^b. 6. Mantik-alṭair, on fol. 88^b. 7. Kanz-alḥaḳā'ik, on fol. 141^b; the title appears on fol. 142^b, lin. penult. 8. Khusrāu u Gul, on fol. 155^b. 9. Miftāḥ-alfutūḥ, on fol. 239^b. 10. Muṣibatnāma, on fol. 256^b. 11. Diwān, on fol. 332^b, beginning: سبحان خالقی که صفاتش زکبریا الیح. 12. Mukhtār-nāma (مختار نامه), or the selected book, a series of rubā'is, divided into fifty bābs, with a preface in prose (see Rieu ii. pp. 576^b and 577^b). It is sometimes simply styled رباعیات, see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 622, 21; 623, 21, etc. Beginning of the preface, on fol. 392^b: حمد و سپاس خداوندی را که اشراف الوهیت او در هر در اله باب اول در توحید). Beginning of the first rubā'i in the first chapter (سبحانه و صفات او), on fol. 393^b:

ای بای تو منزه از هر باکی
قدوسی او (تو) مقدس از ادراکی

This copy is dated A.H. 1025 (A.D. 1616), by Hasan Muhammad bin Rāji Muhammad 'abbāsi.

No. 350, ff. 449, 4 coll., each ll. 25; Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each part; size, 12 in. by 7½ in.

1033

A defective copy of the same Kulliyāt.

This collection contains:

1. Muṣibatnāma, on fol. 1^b.
2. Jawāhir-al-dhāt, first daftar, on fol. 79^b.
3. Asrār-nāma, on fol. 190^b, incomplete at the end; it breaks off on fol. 221^b, the last bait corresponding to fol. 284^a, first line, in No. 559 (1031 in this Cat.); therefore only eighteen maqālas are marked here.
4. Miṭāl-alfutūh, on fol. 222^b.
5. Pandnāma, on fol. 240^b.
6. Gul u Khusrau, on fol. 250^b.
7. Bisarnāma, on fol. 335^b.
8. Bulbulnāma, on fol. 338^b.
9. Kanz-alasrār, on fol. 344^b, slightly defective at the end; it breaks off on fol. 363^b, the last bait corresponding to fol. 172^a, l. 19, in No. 559 (1031 in this Cat.).
10. Khiyātnāma (خبط نامه), or the book of transition (see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 356), on fol. 365^b, beginning:

بنام آنکه هستی زو نشان یافت
نفوس ناطقه زو نور جان یافت

This very rare mathnawī, which is not even complete here, is only found once more in a European collection (see Bodleian Cat., No. 624, 16). 11. Lisān-alghaib, on fol. 373^b, incomplete at the end too; it breaks off on fol. 408^b, the last bait corresponding to fol. 461^b, l. 23, in No. 559; the proper order of leaves is: ff. 373-404, 409, 405-408. 12. Ushturnāma, on fol. 410^b. 13. Mauṣūnāma (منصور نامه), or the book of Mansūr (mentioned in Stewart's Cat., p. 60. and in Ouseley's Notices of Persian Poets), on fol. 438^b, beginning:

بود منصور ای عجب شوریده حال
در ره تحقیق اورا صد کمال

The only other copy of this mathnawī extant is in the Bodleian Library (Bodleian Cat., No. 623, 15). 14. Waslatnāma, on fol. 442^b. 15. Haft Wādi, on fol. 458^b. 16. Kanz-alhakā'ik, on fol. 465^b.

No date. An index on the fly-leaf. This copy is severely injured and damaged in many places.

No. 1096, ff. 478, 4 coll., each ll. 25; Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece and other embellishments at the beginning of each part; size, 14½ in. by 8 in.

1034

Six mathnawis by Farid-aldin 'Attār.

This splendid old copy, written by Muḥammad Ḥāji bin Bābā Ḥāji between A.H. 807 and 812 (A.D. 1405-1410), contains:

1. Ushturnāma or Shuturnāma (شتر نامه), on fol. 1^b.
2. Asrār-nāma, on fol. 116^b. This part is dated the 20th of Rajab, A.H. 807 (A.D. 1405, January 22).
- 3a. Ilāhināma, on fol. 196^b, beginning here:

بنام کردگار هفت افلاک
که پیدا کرد آدم از کفی خاک

Dated the 20th of Ramaḍān, A.H. 807 (A.D. 1405, March 22).

4. Bulbulnāma, on fol. 279^b, beginning (without the usual ḥamd):

همه مرگان بدرگاه سلیمان
شدند و داشتند از بلبل افغان

- 3b. Khutba-i-Ilāhināma (خطبه الهی نامه), the usual introduction to the Ilāhināma, left out in 3a, on fol. 283^b, beginning (with a slight modification in the second hemistich, see Rieu ii. p. 576^a):

الهی نامه را آغاز کردم - در گنج سعادت باز کردم

5. Muṣibatnāma, on fol. 289^b.
6. Waslatnāma, on fol. 386^b. This part is dated the first of Dhū-alḥajjah, A.H. 812 (A.D. 1410, March 7).

This MS. appears to be the first part or first volume only of a complete collection or کلیات of Farid-aldin 'Attār's works, as the index on ff. 1^a and 1^b (margin-column) indicates. A more detailed, although not complete, index of the contents of this MS. is found on one of the fly-leaves. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2684, ff. 406, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 29, and a margin-column, ll. 24-26; splendid Naskh; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

1035

Three mathnawis by Farid-aldin 'Attār.

This copy contains:

1. Maṭik-alṭair, on fol. 1^b.
2. Jawāhir-al-dhāt or Jauhar-i-dhāt, first daftar on fol. 64^b, in a very defective and abridged form, the first page is left blank, and the mathnawī begins on fol. 65^a with this bait:

کمانرا دور گردان از بر خویش
یقین را دان حقیقت ره بر خویش

corresponding to fol. 9^a, l. 3, in No. 2039 (1046 in this Cat., the fullest copy of the poem); the second chapter on the same page, beginning: الا ای جان و دلرا اله.

corresponds to fol. 16^b, l. 3 ab infra in the same copy; the last but two baits to fol. 160^b, l. 10; the last two baits of the present copy are not found in No. 2039. On fol. 64^a, and in the colophon at the end, the poem is wrongly styled اشتر نامه.

3. Gul u Khusrau, on fol. 173^b.

No date. Very good and correct copy.

No. 736, ff. 1-269, 4 coll., each ll. 21; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each mathnawī; size, 15½ in. by 9½ in.

1036

Two mathnawis by Farid-aldin 'Attâr.

This copy contains:

1. Mantîk-âltaïr, on ff. 3^b-226^b.
2. Bisarnâma, on ff. 227^a-239^a, beginning:

من خدایم من خدایم من خدا
فارغم از کبر و از کین و هوا

The initial bait of this poem in No. 559 (1031 in this Cat.), fol. 152^b, and in A. Sprenger's first copy, Catal. p. 349, is here the third; whereas the beginning of Sprenger's second copy appears here as second bait.

On ff. 1^a-3^a there is a short account of some Pirs of the Kâdiri sect in Multân, headed نقل عنایت نامه and written by Muḥammad Ghauth ibn Sayyid Isma'îl ibn Shaikh 'Abd-alkâdir ibn Shaikh Mūsâ Ḥasani alḥusaini algilâni, who states that his grandfather 'Abd-alkâdir, who died the 17th of Dhû-alhijjah, A.H. 1087 (A.D. 1677, February 20), invested him (after the premature death of his father), A.H. 1082 (A.D. 1671, 1672), with the خزفہ.

This copy is dated by Nûr-allâh in the Ṣûbah of Khândîs, the 17th of Sha'bân, A.H. 1105=A.D. 1694, April 13 (here called the 38th year of 'Âlamgir's reign, whereas it is more correctly the 37th, 'Âlamgir having declared himself emperor of Dihli in Dhû-alka'dah of A.H. 1068=A.D. 1658, August). Presented by J. H. Peile, Esq., and received the 19th September, 1818; transferred to Civil College, 9 August, 1819 (Haileybury).

No. 3384, olim 19, J. 12, ff. 239, 2 coll., each ll. 10; large and excellent Nasta'lik, written on brown paper, sprinkled with gold; marbled margin throughout, except on the last six leaves; illuminated frontispiece on fol. 3^b; size, 9 in. by 5 in.

Pandnâma.

Another copy of Farid-aldin 'Attâr's Pandnâma, with the usual beginning. It is not dated, but on fol. 1^a a seal of Mirkhân Ridâ 'Alî is found, with the date A.H. 1172 (A.D. 1758, 1759). College of Fort William.

No. 2319, ff. 30, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5¾ in.

The same.

Dated the 18th of Shawwâl, A.H. 1191 (A.D. 1777, November 19), by Ghulâm 'Alî bin Shaikh 'Abd-alkâdir bin Shaikh Almad bin Abû Muḥammad bin Muḥammad Husain. On the margin of ff. 1^b-2^b, a short extract from Bahâ-aldin 'Âmilî's (died A.H. 1030=A.D. 1620, 1621) نان و حلوا (see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1085-1088; Rieu ii. p. 679; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 368, etc.). Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2760, ff. 1-3^s, 2 coll., each ll. 11; careless Nasta'lik, mixed with Shikastî; size, 8½ in. by 5¾ in.

1039

The same.

Dated the 4th of Dhû-alka'dah, A.H. 1209 (A.D. 1795, May 23).

No. 1345, ff. 11^b-43^b, 2 coll., each ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

1040

The same.

No date; only the 20th of Şafar in the sixth year (of whose reign, is not stated) appears in the colophon.

No. 242, ff. 14^b-49^b, 2 coll., each ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 9 in. by 5 in.

1041

The same.

No date. Beginning: حمد بپند آن خدای پاکرا الحج.

At the top of the first and at the end of the last page this poem is wrongly ascribed to Jalâl-aldin Rûmî.

No. 3508, olim 7, J. 6, ff. 153^b-189, 2 coll., each ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 7½ in. by 4¾ in.

1042

The same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy; no date. On the margin a Turkish paraphrase of the initial bait:

حمد بپند اول خدای عالمه
نور ایمان و بردی خاک آدمه

No. 3510, ff. 1-40, 2 coll., each ll. 11; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 5½ in. by 3¾ in.

1043

Mantîk-âltaïr.

Another copy of Farid-aldin 'Attâr's Mantîk-âltaïr, in which the composition of this mathnawî is fixed in A.H. 583 (A.D. 1187), see the last verse but one, and No. 1031, 5 above in this Cat. Beginning as usual. As date appears only the 8th of Rabî'-althâni, without a year. Copied at Haidarâbâd at the request of Mir 'Alâ-aldin.

No. 904, ff. 176, 2 coll., each ll. 15; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1044

The same.

No date. Copied by Muḥammad Şâlih ibn Hâjî Sultân Husain Gilâni.

No. 916, ff. 122, 2 coll., each ll. 18-19; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; the first two pages splendidly adorned; size, 9 in. by 4¾ in.

1045

The same.

Excellent copy, not dated.

No. 901, ff. 169, 2 coll., each ll. 15; very clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9½ in. by 5 in.

1046

Jawâhir-aldhât.

The only complete copy, as yet known, of Farid-aldin 'Attâr's Jawâhir-aldhât or Jauhar-i-Dhât (see above, No. 1031, 17), in three daftars.

First daftar, on fol. 1^b, beginning: بنام آنکه نور جسم و جانست الحج.

Second daftar, on fol. 162^b, beginning:

تعالی الله ازین دیدار بر نور
که در ذرات عالم گشت مشهور

Third daftar, on fol. 335^b, beginning:

بنام کردگار فرد بیخون - که مارا از عدم آورد بیرون

This third and last daftar bears also the special title of Hailājnāma (هیلاج نامه), which is chiefly devoted to the divine mysteries revealed by the famous martyr of Sūfī lore, Maṣṣūr Hallāj (or rather Ḥusaiṇ bin Maṣṣūr Hallāj, who was put to death A.H. 309=A.D. 922, see the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 211); another complete copy of this extremely rare poem is contained in No. 1048 below; a defective copy of the same is described in Rieu ii. p. 577^a; it is printed in the Lucknow edition of the Kulliyāt, pp. 583-770.

Dated A.H. 1139 (A.D. 1726, 1727), by Ḥāji Muḥammad Hayāt, of Banāras; it belonged formerly to the College of Fort William (1825).

No. 2039, ff. 455, 4 coll., each ll. 19 ff. 178-211 contain only 2 coll.; Nasta'liq; size, 10½ in. by 6 in.

1047

Another copy of the second daftar of the Jawāhir-al-dhāt.

This copy begins: تعالی الله زهی دیدار بر نور الخ.

Dated the 10th of Shawwāl, A.H. 1021 (A.D. 1612, December 4).

No. 111, fol. 113, 4 coll., each ll. 25; small, but clear Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; the last pages a little injured; size, 8 in. by 4½ in.

1048

Another copy of the Hailājnāma, or third daftar of the Jawāhir-al-dhāt. Beginning: بنام کردگار فرد بیخون الخ.

On fol. 31^b there appears as another title for this daftar, or rather for the whole of the Jawāhir-i-Dhāt, just as in Rieu's copy of the first daftar, جواهر نامه, see above, No. 1031, 17 (جواهر نامه هست اسرار منصور).

Dated the 2nd of Šafar, A.H. 902 (A.D. 1496, Oct. 10).

No. 776, ff. 342, 2 coll., each ll. 12; large and distinct Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

Bisarnāma.

Another copy of Farid-al-din 'Attār's Bisarnāma, beginning: من بغیر از تو نبینم در جهان الخ, see above, No. 1031, 7. No date.

No. 695, ff. 12-22, 2 coll., each ll. 13; large and distinct Nasta'liq; size, 6½ in. by 4½ in.

1050

Haft Wādi.

Another very defective copy of Farid-al-din 'Attār's Haft Wādi (see above, No. 1031, 6), beginning: حمد باك از جان باك آن باکرا الخ. It is in a hopeless confusion, all the verses being mixed together; it is moreover incomplete at the end, and has two lacunas after ff. 2 and 4. The last bait on fol. 2^b corresponds to fol. 147^a, l. 11, in No. 559 (1031 in this Cat.), the first bait on fol. 3^a to fol. 149^b, l. 8, in the same copy. The last bait on fol. 4^b corresponds to fol. 150^a, l. 11, the first on fol. 5^a to fol. 148^b, l. 7, in No. 559. Fol. 5^b, l. 10, is=fol. 148^b, l. 19; fol. 6^b, l. 3 ab infra=fol. 147^a, l. 18, and the last bait on fol. 10^b=fol. 149^a, l. 17, in the same copy. The last leaf (fol. 11) contains three ghazals with the takballuṣ 'Ali.

No. 1921, ff. 11, 2 coll., each ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; size, 10½ in. by 6 in.

Tadhkirat-alauliyā (تذکرة الاوليا).

The fullest copy extant of Farid-al-din 'Attār's famous biographies of eminent Sūfī Shaikhs, containing both the first and the second part of the work (جلد اول and جلد دوم): comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 622, 1 and 2, No. 624, 1 and 2, and No. 625, 9 and 10; Rieu i. p. 344; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 548-551; Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Batav. iii. p. 17 (where a list of the seventy-two Shaikhs of the first part is given); Rehatsek, Catalogue raisonné, p. 190. No. 28; H. Khalfa ii. p. 258, and Mélanges Asiatiques v. p. 251. Abridgments of the same work have been noticed in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 551 (by 'Abd-alwāhid Balgrāmī), and in A. F. Mehren, p. 8; a poetical version by 'Allāf or Ḥāfiẓ-i-'Allāf, composed A.H. 821 (A.D. 1418), has been described in detail in Rosen, Persian MSS., pp. 210-215. The text of the اوليا has been lithographed in Lahore, 1889 and 1891. On some extracts in German translation, comp. W. Pertsch, loc. cit.

The first part (on ff. 1-279) comprises, after the introduction and the index (on fol. 5), the following seventy-two Shaikhs, to whose biographies there is sometimes added on the margin by another hand the date of death (which, however, is in many cases wrong, or at least doubtful): 1. Ja'far Šādiq, on fol. 5^b. 2. Uwais Karmī, on fol. 9^a (his death is fixed here in A.H. 30=A.D. 650, 651, see the more correct date or dates in Safinat-alauliyā, No. 18). 3. Ḥasan Baṣrī, on fol. 14^a (his death fixed here in A.H. 140=A.D. 757, 758, see the correct date A.H. 110=A.D. 728, 729, Safinat-alauliyā, No. 19). 4. Mālik-i-Dinār, on fol. 23^b (his death fixed here in A.H. 150=A.D. 767; correct date A.H. 137=A.D. 754, 755, Safinat-alauliyā, No. 160). 5. Muḥammad Wāsi', on fol. 27^b (died A.H. 160=A.D. 776, 777). 6. Ḥabīb-i-'Ajāmī, on fol. 28^a (his death fixed here in A.H. 125=A.D. 743; correct date A.H. 156=A.D. 773, Safinat-alauliyā, No. 161). 7. Abū Ḥāzim (here جازم as it seems) Makki, on fol. 31^b (his death fixed in A.H. 150=A.D. 767). 8. 'Atabāh bin Ghulām, on fol. 32^a (his death fixed in the same year, correct date A.H. 160 or 167=A.D. 776, 777 or 783, 784, Safinat-alauliyā, No. 164). 9. Rābi'a-i-'adawīyyah, on fol. 33^a. 10. Shaikh Fudail bin 'Iyād, on fol. 42^a (died A.H. 187=A.D. 803). 11. Ibrāhīm Adham, on fol. 48^b (his death fixed here in A.H. 200=A.D. 815, 816; more correct dates are A.H. 162, 161, or 160=A.D. 778, 779, or 776).

777. Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 97). 12. Bashâr Hâfi, on fol. 58^b (died A.H. 227=A.D. 841). 13. Dhû-almûn Mişri, on fol. 63^a (died A.H. 245=A.D. 859, 860). 14. Bâyezîd Bistâmi, on fol. 74^a (died A.H. 261=A.D. 875). 15. 'Abdallâh Mubâarak, on fol. 99^a (in Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 165, bin Mubâarak; instead of the more correct date of his death, viz. A.H. 181=A.D. 797, 798, there appears here A.H. 200=A.D. 815, 816). 16. Sufyân Thauri, on fol. 104^b (his death is fixed here in A.H. 205=A.D. 820, 821; the usual dates are A.H. 161 or 162=A.D. 778, 779; see Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 162). 17. Shaḳīḳ Balkhî, on fol. 109^a (his death is fixed here in A.H. 225=A.D. 840; the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 167, gives A.H. 194=A.D. 809, 810). 18. Imâm Abû Ḥanîfah Kûfi, on fol. 112^b (for whose death the preposterous date A.H. 205 is given, see the correct statement in the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 21). 19. Imâm Shâfi'î, on fol. 116^b (his death is fixed here in A.H. 209=A.D. 824, 825, instead of the usual date 204, Rajab=A.D. 820, January, see Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 23). 20. Imâm Aḥmad Ḥanbal, on fol. 119^b (died according to the statement here A.H. 250=A.D. 864, according to the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 24. A.H. 241=A.D. 855). 21. Dâ'ûd Tâ'i, on fol. 123^a (the date of his death, as given here, viz. A.H. 200, is wrong; it was A.H. 162 or 165=A.D. 778, 779, or 781, 782, see Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 163). 22. Ḥārith Muḥāsabi, on fol. 126^a (died A.H. 243=A.D. 857, 858). 23. Abû Sulaimân Dârâni, on fol. 128^b. 24. Muḥammad Simâk, on fol. 133^a. 25. Muḥammad bin Aslam al-Tûsi, on fol. 133^b. 26. Aḥmad bin Harb, on fol. 135^a. 27. Ḥâtimi-aşammî, on fol. 137^a. 28. Suhail bin 'Abdallâh, on fol. 142^a (his death is fixed here in A.H. 273=A.D. 886, 887, whereas the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 193, where Sahl is read instead of Suhail, just as in Rosen's poetical version, quoted above, gives A.H. 283=A.D. 896). 29. Ma'rûf Karkhî, on fol. 152^a (died A.H. 200=A.D. 815). 30. Shaikh Sari Saḳaṭî, on fol. 155^a (his death is fixed here in A.H. 257=A.D. 871; the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 28, gives A.H. 253, and in one copy 250=A.D. 867 or 864). 31. Faṭḥ Maṣṣilî, on fol. 161^a. 32. Aḥmad alḥawâri (الحواری) so to be read instead of جوارى in the text; the date of death, A.H. 203, is evidently a mere mistake for 230=A.D. 844, 845; see Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 172, where, however, the Shaikh is distinctly called Aḥmad bin Abi-alḥawâri, on fol. 162^a. 33. Aḥmad Khidrawaih, or rather bin Khidrawaih Balkhî, on fol. 163^a (died A.H. 240=A.D. 854, 855). 34. Abû Turâb Nakshabî, on fol. 167^a (died A.H. 245=A.D. 859). 35. Yahyâ bin Ma'adh Râzi, on fol. 169^b (died A.H. 258=A.D. 872). 36. Shâh Shujâ' Kirmâni, on fol. 177^b (his death is fixed here in A.H. 295=A.D. 907, 908, comp. the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 187). 37. Yûsuf bin al-Ḥusain, on fol. 179^b (died A.H. 304=A.D. 916, 917). 38. Abû Ḥafṣ Ḥaddâd, on fol. 183^b. 39. Ḥamdûn Kaşşâr, on fol. 189^a. 40. Maṣṣûr 'Ammâr, on fol. 190^b. 41. Aḥmad bin 'Âsim al-antâki, on fol. 192^b (his death is fixed here in A.H. 240=A.D. 854, 855). 42. 'Abdallâh bin Ḥaḳīḳ, on fol. 194^a. 43. Shaikh Junaid Baghdâdi, on fol. 195^a (died A.H. 297=A.D. 910). 44. 'Amr bin 'Uthmân Makkî, on fol. 214^a (his death is fixed here in A.H. 271=A.D. 884, 885; the usual date is A.H. 296 or 297=A.D. 908-910, see the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 202).

45. Abû Sa'îd Kharrâz (Rosen: Khazzâz), on fol. 215^b. (died according to this copy A.H. 277=A.D. 890, 891; the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 194, fixes his death in A.H. 286, 285 or 287=A.D. 898-900). 46. Abû-alḥusain Nûri, on fol. 219^a (died A.H. 297=A.D. 909, 910, as is stated here, or A.H. 295=A.D. 907, 908, according to the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 201). 47. Abû 'Uthmân Ḥiri, on fol. 225^a (died A.H. 298=A.D. 910). 48. Abû Muḥammad Ruwaim, on fol. 230^a (died A.H. 303=A.D. 915, 916). 49. Ibn 'Aṭâ, on fol. 231^b (i.e. Abû-al-'abbâs bin 'Aṭâ, who died, according to the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 212, A.H. 309=A.D. 922; here his death is fixed in A.H. 307=A.D. 919, 920). 50. Abû 'Abdallâh bin al-Jallâ, on fol. 236^b (with the silly date of A.H. 205 or 250 for his death; he died A.H. 306=A.D. 918, 919, see the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 210). 51. Ibrâhim bin Dâ'ûd Raḳḳî, on fol. 237^a (died A.H. 327=A.D. 938, 939; the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 224, gives A.H. 326). 52. Yûsuf-i-Asbât, on fol. 237^b. 53. Abû Ishâḳ (correctly, according to the following copy and the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 228, Abû Yaḳûb Ishâḳ) Nah-rajûri, on fol. 239^a (died A.H. 330=A.D. 941, 942). 54. Samnûn Muḥibbî (or bin Muḥibb), on fol. 241^a (the correct date of his death is A.H. 298=A.D. 910, 911; see the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 204; here he is wrongly stated to have died A.H. 270). 55. Abû Muḥammad Muṭa'ish, on fol. 242^b (died A.H. 328=A.D. 939, 940). 56. Abû 'Abdallâh Muḥammad bin Faḍl, on fol. 244^a (his death is fixed here in A.H. 309=A.D. 921, 922; more correctly in the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 217, in A.H. 319=A.D. 931). 57. Abû-alḥusain Fûshanji, on fol. 245^a. 58. Muḥammad bin 'Alî alḥakîm altirmidhî, on fol. 246^a (he died, according to the statement here, A.H. 260=A.D. 873, 874; according to the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 182, A.H. 255=A.D. 869). 59. Abûbâkr Warrâḳ, on fol. 251^a. 60. 'Abdallâh Manâzil, on fol. 253^b (see the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 231, where his death is fixed in A.H. 331=A.D. 942, 943; here he is stated to have died A.H. 330). 61. 'Alî bin Sahl Işfahânî, on fol. 255^a (his death is fixed here in A.H. 270=A.D. 883, 884). 62. Khair-i-nassâj, on fol. 256^a (his death is fixed here in A.H. 305=A.D. 917, 918; the correct date is that given in the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 221, viz. A.H. 322=A.D. 934). 63. Abû-alkhair Aḳṭa', on fol. 257^a (died, according to the statement here, A.H. 340=A.D. 951, 952; according to the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 241, A.H. 343=A.D. 954, 955). 64. Abû Ḥamzah Khurâsânî, on fol. 258^a (died A.H. 290=A.D. 903). 65. Shaikh-alshuyûkh Aḥmad Masrûḳ (bin Muḥammad bin Masrûḳ in the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 206), on fol. 259^a (died A.H. 300=A.D. 912, 913, or A.H. 299, as the Safinah states). 66. 'Abdallâh Raughadi (روغدى), as in Rosen, Persian MSS., p. 215; in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 548-550, he is always called Rau'adi (روغدى), on fol. 260^a (his death is fixed in A.H. 290=A.D. 903). 67. 'Abdallâh Maghribî (in the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 191, Abû 'Abdallâh Maghribî), on fol. 261^a (his death is fixed here in A.H. 299=A.D. 911, 912; the Safinah gives A.H. 279=A.D. 892, 893). 68. Abû 'Alî Jurjânî, on fol. 262^a. 69. Abûbâkr Kattânî (so here كتنى, comp. the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 223), on fol. 263^a (died A.H. 322=A.D. 934). 70. Shaikh-i-Kabîr Abû 'Abdallâh (Muḥammad) Khatîf

(or bin Khafif, as the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 144, reads), on fol. 266^b (died A.H. 371=A.D. 981, 982). 71. Abû Muḥammad Jurairi, on fol. 271^a (died A.H. 311=A.D. 923, 924, or, as the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 215, states, A.H. 312). 72. Husain bin Maṣṣûr Ḥallāj, on fol. 272^b (the wrong date of A.H. 280 is given here for his death; the correct one is A.H. 309=A.D. 922, see the Safinat-alauliyâ, No. 211).

This first part concludes on fol. 279^b, and is followed, after a short remark: چون کاتب در نوشتن احوال عزیزان خود را معاف داشته و گاهلی وزبده ذکر چند اسمی را نکرده و از قلم انداخته بنابراین در آخر کتاب احوال و خوارى چند از عزیزان نوشته شد اگرچه احوال اینها در اوسط کتاب بود, by a second part or sort of appendix, containing twenty-five additional biographies, viz.: 73. Abû-alḥasan Kharakānī, on fol. 280^a. 74. Mamshād or Mīmshād Dinawari, on fol. 283^b. 75. Ibrāhīm Khawwās, on fol. 284^b. 76. Abûbākr Shibli, on fol. 287^a. 77. Another copy of the same.

Another very old, but undated copy of the first part of the Tadhkirat-alauliyâ, worm-eaten and injured in many places. It contains the biographies of seventy Shaikhs only (agreeing with the preceding copy, except where a discrepancy is clearly indicated in the following list). Nos. 63 and 66 of the preceding copy are missing here. 1. On fol. 8^b; 2. on fol. 13^a; 3. on fol. 20^a;

In the index a 71st bāb (dealing with Abû Muḥammad Ja'far bin Muḥammad) is announced, viz.:

باب هفتاد یکم در ذکر ابو محمد جعفر بن محمد, but in the text there is no trace whatever of this biography.

Beginning: الحمد لله رب الجواد بافضل الخ. Copied by Sayyid Nūr Muḥammad bin Sayyid 'Abd-allatīf Ḥusaini. College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2057, ff. 271, ll. 15; Naskhi; partly collated; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

1053

The same.

This copy of the first part of the Tadhkirat-alauliyâ comprises, according to the index on ff. 5^b-6^b, seventy-three biographies; but in the text itself the number of biographical accounts amounts to seventy only, and even of these four are entirely missing. There are Diwān-i-Kamāl Isma'il (ديوان کمال اسمعیل).

The lyrical poems of Kamāl-al-din Isma'il bin Jamāl-al-din Muḥammad bin 'Abd-alrazzāk of Isfahān, who was a pupil of Suhrawardi, panegyrist of the Šā'id family, and is usually called خلاق المعانی. He was tortured to death by the Moghuls, A.H. 635 (A.D. 1237, 1238); comp. Haft Iklim, No. 870, col. 441 in this Cat.; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 638-643; Rieu ii. p. 581; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 783; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 454; see also Butkhāna, No. 23 in Bodleian Cat., col. 199, and Ātashkada, No. 416, ib., col. 297. This diwān consists of the following parts:

1. Kašidas and tarkibbands, on fol. 1^b, with a short mathnawi and two kiṭ'as at the end. Beginning of the first kašidah:

ای جلال تو بیانها را زیان انداخته
عزت ذات بقین را در گمان انداخته

Beginning of the mathnawi, on fol. 209^a:

تا زبانم بکام جنبانست - در ثناء رئیس لبنانست

2. A large series of kiṭ'as, intermixed with a few ghazals, on fol. 213^b. Beginning:

عشاق که قدر دل شناسند - دل از غم یار بر نگیرند

3. Ghazals, without any order, on fol. 319^b, beginning:

ای دل و جان بباد تو زنده آنخ

4. Rubā'is, on fol. 359^b, beginning: ای مدح تو آورده
قلم را بسخن آنخ

Dated by Sulṭān 'Alī of Mashhad, A.H. 905 (A.D. 1499, 1500).

No. 1023, ff. 412, 2 coll., each ll. 17; beautiful and clear Nasta'liq; an illuminated front-piece at the beginning of each part, a vignette on fol. 1^a, all the headings throughout in gold; size, 10 in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1056

Another copy of the same.

Contents:

Kašidas, tarkibbands, and a few kiṭ'as, beginning, on fol. 1^b: ای صفات تو بیانها را زیان انداخته آنخ

A short mathnawi, kiṭ'as, and a few ghazals; the mathnawi, on fol. 228^b, is the same as in the preceding copy; the first kiṭ'ah begins (on fol. 232^b): ایا شهی که
ضمیرت بچشم گوشه فکر آنخ

Rubā'is, on fol. 325^a, beginning as in the preceding copy.

Dated by Ḥabīb-allāh, the son of the Kādi Barkhwurdār, the 27th of Dhū-alka'dah, A.H. 1036 (A.D. 1627, Aug. 9). Some various readings and marginal additions.

No. 2455, ff. 393, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'liq; ff. 1 and 95-98 later supplied; size, 10 in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1057

A slightly defective copy of the same.

Contents:

Kašidas, tarkibbands, marāthi, etc., on fol. 1^b, beginning: ای صفات تو بیانها آنخ

Kiṭ'as, intermixed with a few ghazals and kašidas, on fol. 211^b, beginning:

آدمی را چهار خصلت است - در دو گیتی زبانی وفانی

At the end of this part (on fol. 314^b), the same mathnawi as in the two preceding copies.

Ghazals, without any order, on fol. 318^b, beginning:

ای دل و جان آنخ

Rubā'is, on fol. 368^b, beginning: ای حکم ترا نهاده
سرها گردون آنخ

fol. 407^a in No. 1023 (1055 in this Cat.); this part is incomplete at the end, it breaks off with the first bait of a rubā'i, corresponding to fol. 401^a, last line, in No. 1023. The initial rubā'i of the two preceding copies is found here on fol. 370^b, first line.

No. 510, ff. 405, 2 coll., each ll. 19; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each part; Nasta'liq; the first pages injured; size, 8 in. by 3½ in.

Diwān-i-Athir Aumāni (دیوان اثیر اومانی).

The lyrical poems of Athir-aldin 'Abdallāh of Aumān (near Hamadān), who flourished under Hūlāgūkhān, and was a younger contemporary of Kamāl-aldin Isma'il of Isfahān, with whom he contended in poetry and exchanged poetical epistles; comp. Haft Iklim, No. 1035, col. 454 above in this Cat; Ātashkada, No. 596 (Bodleian Cat., col. 283); Butkhāna, No. 25 (ib., col. 199); Makhzan-algharā'ib, No. 14 (ib., col. 317); A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 17, No. 51. According to the Ātashkada he died A.H. 656 (A.D. 1258), according to Taqi Kāshi A.H. 665 (A.D. 1266, 1267). This diwān consists chiefly of kasidas and kīṭās, intermixed with some tarkilbands, ghazals, and rubā'is.

Beginning:

دوش آنزمانکه ماه برافروخت مشعله
در فوج مرکب افق افناد مشعله

Dated the 24th of Shawwāl, A.H. 1069 (A.D. 1659, July 15), by 'Abd-alraḥib.

No. 328, ff. 295-377, 2 coll., each ll. 18; clear Nasta'liq; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

Diwān-i-Saif-i-Isfaraṅg (دیوان سیف اسفرنگ).

The lyrical poems of Saif-aldin A'raj of Isfara or Isfaraṅg, nine farsangs south of Marghinān in Transoxania, see Haft Iklim, No. 1524, col. 494 above in this Cat. But the dates given there about his lifetime fall about a hundred years short of the correct ones; the same remark applies to the short preface in this copy, where his death is fixed in A.H. 558 or even 552 (!), and the Khulāṣat-alafkār, No. 126 (Bodleian Cat., col. 306 and 307), where he is stated to have died A.H. 583 (!); according to the most trustworthy sources he was born A.H. 581 (A.D. 1185, 1186) and died A.H. 666 (A.D. 1267, 1268); see Ātashkada, No. 711 (Bodleian Cat., col. 286), and Taqi Kāshi, No. 37 (A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 17). The Butkhāna, No. 43 (Bodleian Cat., col. 200), also fixes his death at a similar period, viz. in A.H. 652 or 660 (A.D. 1254 or 1262); other copies of this diwān are described in Bodleian Cat., Nos. 644 and 645; Rieu ii. p. 581; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 561; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 782; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 330; J. Aumer, p. 9.

This diwān contains:

Kasidas, in alphabetical order, except the first; beginning of the initial poem, on fol. 1^b: شب چو بر
دارد حجاب از هودج اسرار من الخ

Tarjibands, on fol. 151^b, beginning:

سد فلک چو صبح بسکدم گشاده ایم
وز فوت روح روزه مریم گشاده ایم

Mukatta'at, on fol. 174^a, beginning: رضی الملك ای
دیدار شومت الخ

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, on fol. 212^a, beginning:
با تو حکایتی کنم صورت حال خویش را الخ

Rubā'is, on fol. 240^a, beginning:

ای خط تو دستور قلم گیران را
زابت رهبر صواب تدبیران را

This copy, which is dated in the preface A.H. 1026 (A.D. 1617), is in a very bad state; many pages are severely injured, especially ff. 1-40 and 210-254. A short preface in prose on fol. 1^a.

No. 573, ff. 254, 2 coll., each ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece on fol. 1^b; size, 11¼ in. by 6½ in.

Mathnawī (مثنوی).

An excellent old copy of the renowned mathnawī or Mathnawī-i-ma'nawī (the spiritual mathnawī) by Maulānā Jalāl-aldin Muḥammad bin Muḥammad Bahā-aldin bin Ḥusain albalkhi, best known as Jalāl-aldin Rūmī, who was born in Balkh, A.H. 604 (A.D. 1207), and died in Iconium, A.H. 672 (A.D. 1273); comp. on this work and the biography of the poet, Rieu ii. p. 584 sq.; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 646-675; W. Pertsch, No. 42, 1 a, and Berlin Cat., p. 783 sq.; G. Flügel i. p. 514 sq.; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 489 sq.; Rosen, Persian MSS., pp. 173 and 174; J. Aumer, pp. 14-16; Ouseley, Biogr. Notices, p. 112 sq., etc.; comp. also the Manāḥib-al'arīfin (No. 630 in this Cat.); Safinat-alauliyyā, No. 137 (ib., col. 289); Haft Iklim, No. 558 (ib., col. 418), and Ethe, Die mystische, didactische und lyrische Poesie etc. der Perser, Hamburg, 1888, pp. 26-31. The mathnawī has been printed (respectively lithographed) in Bombay, A.H. 1262, 1266, 1273, 1280, 1294, and A.D. 1890; in Lucknow, A.H. 1282; in Tabriz, A.H. 1264; in Būlāq, with the Turkish commentary of Isma'il Anḳirawī, A.H. 1251 and 1268; in Constantinople, A.H. 1289; in Tabrān, A.H. 1299 (the best of all, by Muḥammad Ṭāhir Mustaufi). Portions of this poem have been translated into German in Tholuck's Bluthensammlung morgenland. Mystik, p. 53 sq.; and by G. Rosen, 'Mesnewi oder Doppelverse etc.,' Leipzig, 1849; into English (the first book only) by J. W. Redhouse, London, 1881 (Trubner's Oriental Series); extracts are also found in S. Robinson's 'Persian Poetry for English Readers,' 1883, pp. 367-382. An abridged English translation of the whole work, an excellent specimen of sound scholarship, has been published by E. H. Whinfield, 'Masnavi i ma'navi,' London, 1887 (Trubner's Oriental Series).

The present copy is dated the 5th of Dhū-alḥijjah, A.H. 834 (A.D. 1431, Aug. 14), see the colophon:

This copy contains:

A general prose-introduction, intermixed with mathnawi-baits, on the purport of the mathnawi, beginning, on fol. 1^b:

عشق جز نائی وما جز نی نئیم
وی دمی بی ما و ما بی وی نئیم

Daftar III, on fol. 151^b: ای ضیاء الحق الخ.

Preface of Daftar IV, on fol. 238^a: الظعن الرابع الخ.

Daftar IV, on fol. 238^b: ای ضیاء الحق حسام الدين الخ.

Preface of Daftar VI (which, as a note on the top remarks, is by mistake inserted here), on fol. 309^a: مجلد
بنجم (ششم) از دفترهای مثنوی مولوی الخ

Daftar V, on fol. 309^b: شه حسام الدين که نور الخ.

Preface of Daftar V (here wrongly inserted instead of the sixth), on fol. 389^a: بدانید و آگاه باشید که
شریعت الخ.

Daftar VI, on fol. 389^b: ای حیوت دل حسام الخ.

The copy ends on fol. 474^b, and is dated 16th of Sha'bān, A. H. 1005 (A. D. 1597, April 4). A later note states, that it was bought at Burhānpūr, in Rajah, A. H. 1018 (A. D. 1609, October), and the purchaser appears to have added the prose-prefaces, since at the end of the preface of Daftar VI (before the beginning of Daftar V) the date A. H. 1019, 24th of Dhū-alka'dah (A. D. 1611, February 7), is given, and at the end of the preface of Daftar V (before Daftar VI), A. H. 1021 (A. D. 1612, 1613). On fol. 475 about two pages of the end of Daftar VI, which are greatly injured, are repeated, probably by the same purchaser, with the same two dates 1005 and 1018. Collated and annotated throughout.

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2875, ff. 475, 2 centre-coll, each ll. 15, and a third on the margin, ll. 30; small Nasta'lik; size, 7 $\frac{5}{8}$ in. by 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1064

The same.

The preface of Daftar V is wanting in this copy: all the other prefaces agree with those in the preceding copies.

Daftar I, on fol. 1^b; II, on fol. 42^a; III, on fol. 82^a; IV, on fol. 133^a; V, on fol. 174^b; VI, on fol. 220^a.

Daftar III is dated the 19th of Dhū-ahjijah, A. H. 1029 (A. D. 1620, Nov. 15); Daftar VI, the 27th of Muharram, A. H. 1030 (A. D. 1620, Dec. 22), by 'Abd-alwāhid ibn Kādi 'Abd-alwahhāb alṣāri, in the city of Burhānpūr. According to the colophon at the end of Daftar III, the first daftar of the mathnawi contains 3995 baits, the second 3895, the third 4755, the fourth 3800, the fifth 4318, the sixth 5193; that makes together 25,956, but the total sum indicated in this colophon is 26,016, or 26,060, and that given in the colophon of Daftar VI, 26,242. The right number we should suppose to be 26,016, produced by reading 3860 instead of 3800 (سه هزار هشتصد و شصت) for the fourth daftar.

Many pages are severely damaged; a great number of them is quite brown with damp. Numerous glosses and additions on the margin.

No. 1886, ff. 1-269, 4 coll., each ll. 25-32; careless Nasta'lik; written by different hands on different paper; size, 13 in. by 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1065

The same.

All the daftars have the usual prose-prefaces, the preface of the first, on fol. 1^b, breaks off at the end of the first page.

Daftar I, on fol. 2^b; II, on fol. 48^b; III, on fol. 90^b; IV, on fol. 145^b; V, on fol. 195^b; VI, on fol. 245^b (the preface of the last begins here: رت زدنی علماً: مجلد ششم الخ).

This copy was transcribed by Muḥammad Tāhir ibn Kādi Muḥammad 'Alī in the citadel of کونداده (belonging to Sultān Muḥammad 'Ādilshāh); the first daftar was finished the 12th of Dhū-alka'dah, A. H. 1066 (A. D. 1656, Sept. 1); the second, the 13th of Dhū-ahjijah in the same year (A. D. 1656, Oct. 2); the third, the 12th of Muharram, A. H. 1067 (A. D. 1656, Oct. 31); the fourth, the 7th of Šafar in the same year (A. D. 1656, Nov. 25); the fifth, the 8th of Rabi'-alawwal (A. D. 1656, Dec. 25); and the sixth, the 6th of Jumādā-alawwal (A. D. 1657, Feb. 20). Occasionally various readings and short glosses on the margin.

No. 3270, olim 11, J. 8, ff. 298, 4 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; a large illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each daftar; size, 13 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

1067

The same.

This copy consists of two different parts; the first three daftars are written by Nuṣratkhān at Shāhjahānābād (the first two in the ninth, the third in the twelfth year of جلوس والا, which, if 'Ālamgir's reign is meant, would be A.H. 1076, 1077 and 1079, 1080 respectively = A.D. 1666 and 1669); the last three daftars by Diyā-allāh ibn Sayyid Khān Muḥammad Ḥusaini Balgrāmi, A.H. 1079 (A.D. 1668, 1669); numerous marginal glosses and various readings. The copy concludes, on fol. 432^a, with the introduction of 'Abd-allatīf bin 'Abdallāh al-'Abbāsī (see below, Nos. 1088-1090), to Daftar VI: این دفتر دفتربست از نسخه ناسخه منبوتات الخ, and we may conclude from this, that the second half of the copy was transcribed from one of the well-known editions of the mathnawi, compiled by 'Abd-allatīf.

The prefaces of the first and the third daftar are wanting; the other four are complete.

Daftar I, on fol. 1^b; II, on fol. 76^b; III, on fol. 147^b; IV, on fol. 222^b; V, on fol. 283^b; VI, on fol. 355^b.

No. 3327, olim 11, J. 14, ff. 432, 2 centre-coll. and 1 margin-coll. ff. 1-221, ll. 17 in the centre, and ll. 30-32 in the margin, written in very careless and irregular Nasta'lik; size, 9 in. by 4½ in.; ff. 222-432, ll. 19 in the centre, ll. 38 in the margin, written in very small, but distinct Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5¼ in.

1073

The same.

This copy, which is collated and dated the 23rd of Jumādā-alawwal, A. H. 1130 (A. D. 1718, April 24), by 'Abdallāh, contains:

A Persian paraphrase and explanation of the (Arabic) preface of the first daftar, on fol. 1^b, beginning:

هذا كتاب اين كتاب المثنوى المعنوى مثنوى معنويست ونسبت او بسوى معانى آنست كه مقصد اصلى الخ.

Daftar I, on fol. 3^b; II, on fol. 68^b; III, on fol. 110^b; IV, on fol. 190^b; V, on fol. 248^b; VI, on fol. 311^b. The prefaces are complete and agree in wording with those in the preceding copy, except that of Daftar V, which begins (as in Nos. 1063 and 1066 above): بدانيد

No. 3312, olim 17. J. 2, ff. 381, 4 coll., each ll. 19; Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece on fol. 1^b and at the beginning of each daftar; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

1074

The same.

The order of the six daftars, which, with the exception of the first, are preceded by the usual prefaces, is here as follows:

Daftar I (without preface), on fol. 1^b; II, on fol. 41^a; V, on fol. 72^b; VI, on fol. 114^b; III, on fol. 152^a; IV, on fol. 194^a.

No date, but an entry from A. H. 1185 (A. D. 1771, 1772), appears on fol. 1^a. College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2035, ff. 227, 4 coll., each ll. 25; small, but clear Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each daftar; size, 12½ in. by 8½ in.

1075

The same.

All the prefaces are complete in this copy.

Daftar I, on fol. 1^b; II, on fol. 51^b; III, on fol. 96^b; IV, on fol. 152^b (beginning of the preface: الْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ حَقَّ حمده و الصلوة و السلام على خلقه الخ see No. 1062 above); V, on fol. 198^b; VI, on fol. 250^b.

No date. Occasionally various readings and additions on the margin.

No. 9, ff. 308, 4 coll., each ll. 25; Nasta'lik; each daftar and each preface headed by an illuminated frontispiece; the first two pages of each daftar richly ornamented; size, 14½ in. by 8½ in.

1076

The same.

Excellent copy, not dated, partly supplied with vowels; various readings on the margin. All the prefaces complete. Daftar I, on fol. 1^b; II, on fol. 56^b; III, on fol. 106^b; IV, on fol. 173^b; V, on fol. 225^b; VI, on fol. 280^b.

No. 1253, ff. 346, 4 coll., each ll. 21; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 19 in. by 13 in.

The same.

All the prefaces complete; no date, since the greater part of the colophon is torn away. Various readings and glosses on the margin. Daftar I, on fol. 1^b; II, on fol. 89^b; III, on fol. 169^b; IV, on fol. 273^b; V, on fol. 357^b; VI, on fol. 452^b.

No. 1427, ff. 537, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 13, and a third on the margin, ll. 28; Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 6 in.

1078

The same.

The preface of the first daftar is wanting: all the others are complete.

Daftar I, on fol. 1^b; II, on fol. 70^a; III, on fol. 132^a; IV, on fol. 213^a; V, on fol. 276^a; VI, on fol. 349^a.

On the first 134 leaves a great number of marginal and interlinear glosses as well as of various readings are found. As date is given the 16th of Šafar only, but no year.

No. 3311, olim 17. J. 1, ff. 429, 4 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

1079

The same.

The prefaces of the first and the fifth daftar are missing in this copy.

Daftar I, on fol. 1^b; II, on fol. 83^b; III, on fol. 156^b; IV, on fol. 251^b; V, on fol. 325^b; VI, on fol. 406^b.

No date. The transcriber of the last part of this MS. was Muḥammad Ḥusain bin Farid-al-din at Islām-ābād. No date.

No. 1831, ff. 495, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 15, and a third on the margin, ll. 26-30; written on different paper by different hands, at least four or five, partly in Nasta'lik, partly in Naskhi; size, 9¾ in. by 6¾ in.

1080

The last three daftars of the mathnawi.

This copy contains:

Daftar IV, on fol. 1^b; V, on fol. 136^b; VI, on fol. 264^b.

The preface of the fifth daftar is wanting; the other two are complete.

At the end of the fourth daftar the transcriber's name is given as Muhammad Sa'īdkhān Naṣṣībāndī; at the end of the fifth a date appears, viz. the 10th of Muḥarram, A. H. 1143 (A. D. 1730, July 26).

Numerous annotations on the margin, especially in the last two *daftar*s; between the fourth and fifth as well as between the fifth and sixth two leaves are left blank.

No. 3260, olim II. J. 10, ff. 403, 2 coll. each ll. 16-19; irregular Nasta'liq, partly Shikasta; size, 12 in. by 8 in.

1081

A defective copy of the *last two daftar*s of the mathnawī.

Daftar V, on fol. 1^a; VI, on fol. 101^a; the sixth daftar is incomplete at the end; the last bait appearing here corresponds to fol. 439^b, centre-coll., l. 12 in No. 1695 (1061 in this Cat.). The two prefaces are complete. On the first 104 leaves there are occasionally various readings and other additions.

No date.

No. 1993, ff. 158, 2 coll., each ll. 23; an additional third column, containing six baits, is found on the margin of ff. 105-158; Naskhi; the paper dirty and worm-eaten; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

1082

Another copy of the first daftar of the mathnawī.

Beautiful copy, finished the 24th of Sha'bān, A. H. 1147 (A. D. 1735, January 19), by Khākpāi khalk-illāh Mihr 'Alī (Xākībī ḥaqqi Allāh mahr 'alī). Beginning of the preface, on fol. 1^b: هذا الكتاب المنوى المعنوى ابن كتاب النج.

Beginning of the poetry, on fol. 6^b: دشنو از نى النج.

Annotations, written in red ink, on the margin.

1086

Lubb-i-Lubāb (لب لباب).

Extracts from the Selections of Jalāl-al-dīn Rūmī's mathnawī, arranged by Ḥusain bin 'Alī al-baiḥaqī al-kāshifī (see this name on fol. 3^a, l. 10), that is Wā'iz Kāshifī (see Nos. 158-161 and 757-767 in this Cat.), who died A. H. 910 (A. D. 1504); comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 661 and 662; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 796 and 797, and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 491. It has a preface in prose.

Beginning of the preface: عین اول در جوامع اطوار شریعت در هفت نهر نهر اول سه رشقه، رشقه اول ایمان رشقه دوم شهادت رشقه سوم عبادت النج.

The beginning, quoted by Pertsch and Sprenger, is found here on fol. 2^b, l. 7: بعد از تقدیم وظائف ثناء. حضرت واجب الوجود النج.

Beginning of the selections, on fol. 3^b, last line:

اى کمنه بخششت ملک جهان النج.

The full title of the work occurs on fol. 3^a, last line:

نام ابن لب لباب معنوی - انتخاب انتخاب مثنوی that is to say: the title of Ḥusain al-Wā'iz al-kāshifī's original selections was لباب معنوی, from which these shorter extracts (لب) were made. Two other انتخاب مثنوی are noticed in Rieu ii. p. 592^b; and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 795 and 796.

Collated throughout. This copy was finished by Gīṣū Rāi for his own use, the 2nd of Dhū-al-kā'dab, in the 9th year of Muḥammadshāh's reign (= 1140, A. D. 1728, June 10). Two entries of former owners from A. H. 1181 (A. D. 1767, 1768), and 1195 (A. D. 1781), on fol. 1^a and the fly-leaf.

No. 254, ff. 1-274, ll. 15; careless Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

Jawâhir-i-maulawî u la'âlî-i-mathnawî (جواهر مولوی و لآلی مثنوی).

A shorter selection of extracts from Jalâl-al-din Rûmî's mathnawî, made at the request of some Sûfî friends, by Maulânâ Abûbâkr alshâshî (مولانا ابوبکر الشاشی), see fol. 1^b, l. 4, and divided into 63 bâbs. The title appears on fol. 2^a, l. 7 (that given on fol. 1^a, viz. مختصر لب لباب مثنوی, is incorrect). Most of the headings of the 63 bâbs are left blank; the few which are marked are:

1. باب اول در بیان نی و سماع, on fol. 2^a, beginning with the initial bait of the mathnawî:

بشنو از نی چون حکایت میکند
وز جدائیه شکایت میکند

2. در بیان زهد, on fol. 3^b; 5. در بیان صوفی و تصوف و صفا, on fol. 6^b; 10. در بیان تقوی یقین و رضا, on fol. 12^a; 11. در بیان مقام, on fol. 13^a; 12. بیان تواضع و مذمت کردن عجب, on fol. 14^b; and 13. در بیان مقام وفا بعد, on fol. 15^a.

Beginning of the short prose-preface: الحمد لله الشاکرین والصلوة علی خیر الذاکرین محمد وآله الطاهرین الطیبین اجمعین, میگوید شیخ الشیوخ قطب العارفین رئیس اهل البقین زین الملة والدين مولانا ابوبکر الشاشی الخ

Dated the 19th of Dhû-alhijjah, A. H. 1087 (A. D. 1677, Feb. 22).

No. 3348, olim 19. J. 6, ff. 96, 2 coll., each ll. 11; Nasta'lik; size, 6½ in. by 3½ in.

1088

Nuskha-i-nâsikha-i-mathnawîyyât-i-sakîmah (نسخه ناسخه مثنویات سقیمه).

The revised edition of the mathnawî, with introductions, indices, paraphrases, and annotations, by 'Abd-allatîf bin 'Abdallâh al-'Abbâsî (who died A. H. 1048 or 1049 = A. D. 1638, 1639), the author of the revised and collated edition of Sanâ'î's Hadîkah, with commentary and glosses, described in Nos. 923 and 924 of this Cat. He collated the mathnawî with more than eighty copies during the years A. H. 1024-1032 (A. D. 1615-1623), prefixed a special introduction and a detailed index to each of the six daftars, added on the margin a Persian paraphrase of the original Arabic prefaces of the first, the third, and the fourth daftar, and a large number of various readings and glosses, and completed his critical task A. H. 1032 (A. D. 1623); see more detailed remarks both on the editor and his work in Bodleian Cat., Nos. 663-665, and Rieu ii. p. 589.

Contents:

The editor's introduction to Daftar I, on fol. 1^b, beginning: این نسخه ناسخه مثنویات سقیمه و مثبت

Daftar VI, on fol. 289^b.

Copied in the twenty-first year of—probably 'Âlam-gîr's reign (= A. H. 1089, A. D. 1678).

No. 1954, ff. 1-351, 4 coll., each ll. 23; small, but distinct Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each daftar; a small illuminated heading at the top of each preface; size, 10½ in. by 7 in.

1089

Another copy of the first three daftars of the Nuskha-i-nâsikhalah.

Contents:

Index to Daftar I, on fol. 1^b.

The same elaborate heading as on fol. 9^b in the preceding copy, on fol. 4^b.

The original Arabic preface of Daftar I (with the Persian paraphrase on the margin), on fol. 5^b.

A short account of the reasons why the mathnawî is divided into six daftars (wanting in the preceding copy), taken from 'Abd-allatîf's commentary لطائف المعنوی (see below, No. 1101), and beginning, on fol. 7^a:

شش دفتر این کتاب را علیحدہ و جدا در شش مجلد باین جهت جلد کرده شد الخ.

The editor's introduction to Daftar I, on fol. 8^a, beginning, as in the preceding copy, fol. 1^b: این نسخه ناسخه مثنویات الخ.

1091

Laṭā'if-allughāt (لطائف اللغات).

A special glossary to the mathnawī, compiled by the same 'Abd-allatîf bin 'Abdallāh al-'Abbāsī, who prepared it for his intended revised edition of the text (as exhibited in the three preceding copies), from the Kāmūs (see Bodleian Cat., No. 1674), the Surāh (ib., Nos. 1645-1649), the Kanz-allughāt (ib., No. 1670), the Farhang-i-Jahāngiri, by Mir Jamāl-al-din Ḥusain Injū (ib., Nos. 1734-1746), the Kashf-allughāt, by 'Abd-alrahīm bin Ahmad Sūr (ib., Nos. 1721-1724), the Madār-alafāḍil, by Shaikh Ilāhdād Faḍlī Sirhindī (ib., Nos. 1727 and 1728), the Mu'ayyid-alfuḍalā, by Shaikh Muḥammad bin Lād (ib., No. 1720), and a great number of other dictionaries, etc. It is arranged alphabetically in this way, that the first letter constitutes the bāb and the last the faṣl. In most copies of this work there is stated above every word in red ink, whether it is Arabic, Persian, Turkish, Syriac, etc.; ع signifies Arabic (عربی); ف Persian (فارسی); ت Turkish (ترکی); س Syriac (سریانی); ع common to Arabic and Persian (کلمه که میانه عربی و فارسی مشترک است) لفظی که میانه ترکی و فارسی (لفظی که میانه ترکی و فارسی مشترک باشد) ق common to Persian and Hindūstānī (لفظی که میانه فارسی و هندی مختلط است) and ع common to Arabic and Hindūstānī (لفظی که میانه عربی و هندی ملتبس است). Other copies of this glossary are described in Rieu ii. p. 590^b, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 230 and 231.

Beginning: این فرهنگست مشتمل بر حل لغات غریبه عربیه والفاظ عجیبه عجمیه مثنوی مولوی معنوی الخ

The first word explained in this glossary is استشنا.

Collated and annotated throughout. Dated by دلپت رای ابن جبتر جودهری in Dhū-alḥijjah, A.H. 1051 (A.D. 1642, March). The Laṭā'if-allughāt (which have been lithographed under the title of فرهنگ مثنوی in Lucknow, 1877) end on fol. 182^b. The remaining seventy leaves of this MS. contain different prose-pieces and larger fragments, viz. extracts from Persian dictionaries, on ff. 184^b-227; letters and notes, on ff. 228^a-233; a lexicographical fragment, on fol. 234^a sq.; a collection of Persian poetry with extracts from Hāfiz, Amir Khusrau, Shāpūr (of Rai or Tahrān, died about A.H. 1021=A.D. 1612, 1613, see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1072 and 1073), Jāmi, Shifā'i, Anwari, etc., on ff. 240^a-252.

Jawāhir-alasrār wa Zawāhir-alanwār (جواهر الاسرار وزواهر الانوار).

The first half of one of the oldest commentaries, perhaps the oldest of all, on the mathnawī in form of a detailed analysis of the poem, by Maulānā Kamāl-aldin Ḥusain bin Ḥasan of Khwārizm, who died A. H. 840 (A. D. 1436, 1437) or 845 (A. D. 1441, 1442); the first date is given in H. Khalfā v. p. 375, the second ib., vi. p. 90; comp. on this work, Bodleian Cat., Nos.

666 and 667; Rieu ii. p. 588; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 793 and 794, and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 493. The author had previously compiled a collection of discourses on the mathnawī, entitled كنوز الحقائق في رموز الدقائق. The present copy, which, like all the copies extant, comprises the first three daftars only, contains neither author's name nor date; it only gives the title on fol. 6^a, ll. 7 and 8, and the name of the prince, to whom the commentary was dedicated, Nāṣir-aldin Abū-almanāḳib Ibrāhim Sultān, the ruler of Khwārizm, on fol. 5^b, l. 13. From other copies we learn that the second daftar was commenced A. H. 834 (A. D. 1430, 1431); the author's spiritual guide was Khwājah Abū-alwafā, who died A. H. 835 (A. D. 1431, 1432), see Rieu, loc. cit. There is also wanting in this copy the preliminary discourse in ten makālas, the headings of which in Persian are given in the Bodleian Cat., loc. cit., and the contents in English by Rieu.

Beginning, on fol. 1^b: حمد بجمد وغایت وثنای بیعدّ : ونهایت حضرت پادشاهی الخ.

Introduction (فاتحة الابواب في سبب تأليف الكتاب), on fol. 4^b; containing besides a chapter on the division of men according to their more or less advanced Šūfic stage.

Daftar I, on fol. 8^a; II, on fol. 180^a; III, on fol. 319^b. No date.

No. 2058, ff. 481, ll. 19; irregular Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

Hāshiya-i-Dā'i (حاشية داعي).

Another old commentary on the mathnawī, also styled simply كتاب حاشية مثنوی or شرح مثنوی (the book of glosses to the mathnawī), at the end of the first three daftars (on ff. 72^a, 92^a and 114^a respectively), compiled by Nizām-aldin Mahmūd bin al-Ḥasan al-Ḥusaini of Shirāz, with the takhalluṣ Dā'i, who, according to the statement in A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 387, was born A. H. 815 (A. D. 1412), but according to the more correct wording of the phrase in question in Bodleian Cat., No. 883, A. H. 810 (A. D. 1407, 1408), and collected his diwān A. H. 865 (A. D. 1460, 1461), when he was 55 years old (بنجاه وینج, as is distinctly written there). Other copies of this commentary are noticed in A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 494; Hammer, Handschriften, No. 126 (where the contents are given), and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 792 (a number of fragments only); lithographed at Lucknow, A. H. 1282.

Beginning: اللهم صل على السيد الفتح الخاتم محمد مصطفى وآله المرتضى وبارك وسلم عزيز من اين ناگزير دست معنوی بر موارد مثنوی که از قلم داعي الخ.

Daftar I, on fol. 1^b; II, on fol. 72^a; III, on fol. 92^a; IV, on fol. 114^a; V, on fol. 152^a; VI, on fol. 198^a.

Dated the 12th of Sha'bān, A. H. 1128 = A. D. 1716, Aug. 1 (so correctly هجری سنه 1128; in the additional words یکهزار و بیست و هشت هجری النبوی there is omitted by mistake صد after يكهنزار), by Jân Muḥammad, the son of 'Abd-alfattāḥ Gujarātī Bijāpūrī (the learned expounder of the mathnawī, who died A. H. 1090 = A. D. 1679, see Rieu iii. p. 1090^a), who transcribed the first two daftars from a copy made by one of the most intimate pupils of his father, 'Abd-alfattāḥ, Mir Muḥammad Shāh.

No. 734, ff. 281, ll. 25; excellent Nasta'lik; size, 16½ in. by 9½ in.

1100

Another, but incomplete copy of the same.

This copy contains the first five daftars only; Daftar VI is entirely missing. A complete index of the contents of these five daftars, on ff. 1-22.

Beginning, on fol. 23^b: الحمد لله رب العالمين والصلوة والسلام على خير خلقه محمد وآله وصحبه اجمعين، اما بعد بدان عزيز من كه اين ناگزيرست معنوى بر موارد مننوى كه از قلم الخ.

Daftar I, on fol. 24^a; II, on fol. 181^b; III, on fol. 229^a; IV, on fol. 281^b; V, on fol. 343^b. This copy is collated, but not dated.

No. 663, ff. 424, ll. 15; irregular Nasta'lik; large water-spots on the first leaves; size, 8½ in. by 5 in.

Latā'if-alma'nawī min ḥakā'ik-almathnawī (لطائف (المعنوى من حقائق المثنوى).

A commentary on the mathnawī, by 'Abd-allāṭif bin 'Abdallāh al-'Abbāsī, the compiler of the critical edition of the poem, styled نسخة ناسخ (see Nos. 1088-1090 in this Cat.), and of the special glossary to the same, the لطائف اللغات (Nos. 1091-1097 above). It is dedicated to the emperor Shāhjahan, and explains difficult Persian verses, Arabic phrases, quotations from the Kūrān, etc.; comp. Rieu ii. p. 590; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 494; and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 794 and 795. Lithographed at Lucknow, 1866; at Cawnpore, 1876.

Beginning: شرح بعضى ابيات مشكلة فارسي وترجمة اشعار معضله وديباچهای تازه مثنوى مولوى معنوى و برحق از فوائد الخ.

The original Arabic preface of Daftar I, on fol. 4^a.

Daftar I, on fol. 6^a; II, on fol. 50^b; III, on fol. 88^a; IV, on fol. 135^b; V, on fol. 164^b; VI, on fol. 199^b.

Dated the 4th of Jumādā-althāni, A. H. 1080 (A. D. 1669, Oct. 30). The first owner of the copy was Shaikh Muḥammad Amjad, a descendant of Shaikh Hamid Zaiu-din alja'fari alzainabi. Occasionally glosses and additions on the margin.

No. 382, ff. 227, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 10½ in. by 7 in.

1102

Mirāt-almathnawī (مرآة المثنوى).

Fragment of another commentary on the mathnawī, by the same 'Abd-allāṭif, comprising the fourth, fifth, and part of the sixth daftar of the poem. Title and author's name appear in the preface to Daftar VI, on ff. 55-56. The copy begins with the initial words of the original Arabic preface of Daftar IV, together with a Persian paraphrase: الحمد لله حق حمده والصلوة والسلام

Daftar V, on fol. 31^a; VI, on fol. 56^b.

The arrangement of this commentary is quite the same as in the preceding work, to which the author often refers and from which he gives many quotations. Here, as there, Arabic sentences, traditions, verses of the Kūrān, and difficult Persian baits are translated or explained.

No. 1960, ff. 64, ll. 11; Nasta'lik, written by two different hands (the second from fol. 49 to fol. 64); size, 10-10½ in. by 5½-5¾ in.

Miftāḥ-alma'āni (مفتاح المعاني).

Another complete commentary on the mathnawī, styled مفتاح المعاني (see fol. 2^b, l. 6), by Sayyid 'Abd-alfattāḥ alḥusaini al'askari (see fol. 2^a, l. 10). According to A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 492, this commentary was collected by the author's pupil Hidāyat-allāh, A. H. 1049 (A. D. 1639, 1640); another work of the same 'Abd-alfattāḥ alḥusaini al'askari is the در مکنون or selections from the mathnawī in systematical arrangement with explanations, see ib.

Beginning: حمد وستایش ذاتى را كه بمقتضای احببت ان اعرف فخلقت الخ.

Daftar I, on fol. 2^b; II, on fol. 57^b; III, on fol. 95^a; IV, on fol. 130^a; V, on fol. 166^a; VI, on fol. 209^b. The second and the fourth daftar are dated at Shāh-jahānābād, the 21st of Muḥarram, A. H. 1065 (or rather 1067, as we think, the 0 probably being a closed or contracted 0 in consequence of hasty writing), and the 26th of Šafar, A. H. 1067 respectively (=A. D. 1656, Nov. 9 and Dec. 14). The copy is greatly injured throughout; in most pages parts of the inner corner are entirely torn away.

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2633, ff. 251, ll. 17; careless Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5¾ in.

1104

Sharḥ-i-mathnawī, by Nūr-allāh (شرح مثنوى تصنيف (نور الله).

A commentary on the mathnawī, by Shāh Mir Muḥammad Nūr-allāh Aḥrārī (see fol. 2^a, l. 1), also called Akbarābādī (see Rieu ii. p. 592), who, if he is identical with the Mir Nūr-allāh, mentioned, in Rieu ii. p. 604, as the master of 'Abd-alrasūl alḥurashī, who submitted to him his commentary on the Būstān, composed A. H. 1073 (A. D. 1662, 1663), must have been a younger contemporary of 'Abd-allāṭif, the editor and commentator of the same mathnawī, whom he often quotes and corrects. Other copies of this work are noticed in Rieu, loc. cit.; Bodleian Cat., No. 669, and A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 495 and 496. Beginning: الحمد لله العلى الاعلى الوهاب الذى انزل على عبده الكتاب هدى للمتقين الخ.

Daftar I, on fol. 2^b.

This daftar is incomplete, it breaks off on fol. 67^b in consequence of a lacuna.

Beginning of Daftar II, on fol. 68^b: نا نزايد بخت تو فرزند نو الخ لفظ بخت اگرچه بفتح اول مشهور است اما بضم اول الخ.

Beginning of Daftar III, on fol. 119^b: اى ضياء الحق حسام الدين بيار - اين سوم دفتر که سنت شد سه بار سنت خود مطلق بمراعات عدد طاق است الخ.

Beginning of Daftar IV, on fol. 171^a: دفتر چهارم باقى حکایت آن عاشق گریزان کردم الخ يعنى اگر از وی نمی گریختم مرا میگرفت الخ.

Beginning of Daftar V, on fol. 207^b: شد حسام الدين که نور انجم است - طالب آغاز سفر پنجم است، سفر بکسر اول کتاب و نامه اینجا بمعنی کتاب مناسب است الخ.

Beginning of Daftar VI, on fol. 240^b: شد دهان شان تلخ زان شرم و خجل - که قرین شد نام اعظم با اقل، خجل بفتحتین مصدر است الخ.

The second daftar is dated the 26th of Ramadân, A. H. 1158 (A. D. 1745, Oct. 22); the rest is without a date. All the introductions to the text, written in red on the first 144 leaves, are entirely omitted from fol. 145 down to the end.

No. 723, ff. 282, ll. 15-20; written by many different hands, partly in Nasta'lik, partly in Shikasta; size, 8 in. by 4½-4¾ in.

Mukâshafât-i-Ridâwî (مکاشفات رضوی).

Complete commentary on the mathnawî, compiled by Muhammad Ridâ in A. H. 1084 (A. D. 1673, 1674, see fol. 2^a, ll. 5, 9, and 14); comp. A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 495.

Beginning of the preface of Daftar I: نه حمدي سزاوار آفریدگار جهان و جهانیان است بر هر حامدی کاشف اسرار الخ.

The initial bait of the mathnawî appears on fol. 2^a, introduced like all the baits of the text by the word متن. This daftar is dated the 2nd of Safar, A. H. 1165 (A. D. 1751, Dec. 21).

Daftar II, on fol. 141^b, dated the 21st of the same month (A. D. 1752, Jan. 9).

Daftar III, on fol. 186^b, dated the 14th of Rabi'-alawwal in the same year (A. D. 1752, Jan. 31).

Daftar IV, on fol. 224^b; V, on fol. 248^b; VI, on fol. 272^b.

The last daftar is dated the 19th of Rabi'-althani, A. H. 1165 (A. D. 1752, March 6).

No. 2000, ff. 299, ll. 17; small, but clear Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4¾ in.

Taṣḥīḥ-i-mathnawî (تصحیح مثنوی).

A critical and explanatory commentary on the mathnawî, imperfect at the end. The compiler was Muhammad Hâshim, called Faïdân (فیضان), the son of Muhammad Kâzīm alḥasanī alḥusainī alnâjafî (who may be identical with Muḥammad Kâzīm, the author of the Uṣṣalâḥ, see Nos. 347-357 in this Cat.), and the date of composition is A. H. 1122 = A. D. 1710, 1711 (the title being a chronogram).

Beginning: سبحان العليم الخبير الذى بكمال الحمد والثناء جدير بكل الموجودات بصير و على ايجاد الممكنات قدیر الخ.

The explanation of verses and phrases in the mathnawî begins with the preface of Daftar I, on fol. 2^b.

No date.

No. 2012, ff. 240, ll. 15; Nasta'lik, written by three or four different hands; size, 9¼ in. by 5¾ in.

1107

Makhzan-ulasrar (مخزن الاسرار).

Part of the commentary on the mathnawî by Shâh Wali Muḥammad ibn Shaikh Ruḥm-allâh of Akbarâbâd, which was compiled, as it seems, between A. H. 1140 and 1151 (A. D. 1727-1738); comp. W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 791 and 792, and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 495. The present copy contains the fifth Daftar of the mathnawî only, beginning:

باز میرانم قلم در حمد حق
میکنم ار سرقدم در حمد حق
چه سر وجه پا بحمد آیم بجان
می سرایم حمد اورا بی زبان الخ

There are lacunas after fol. 84 (comprising two leaves), after fol. 85 (comprising four leaves), after fol. 86 (comprising again two leaves), and after fol. 88 (comprising six leaves). The commentary begins on fol. 5^b; ff. 1^a-4^a contain a detailed index of this daftar. A complete copy of this commentary seems not to be extant; the Berlin copy contains the sixth daftar only; the various copies noticed in A. Sprenger, loc. cit., the first, second, and sixth.

No date.

No. 1673, ff. 151, ll. 19; Nasta'lik; size, 10 in. by 5¾ in.

1108

Sharḥ-i-mathnawî, by Na'im (شرح مثنوی تصنیف).

A defective copy of the commentary on the mathnawî, by Mir Muḥammad Na'im, beginning abruptly in the middle of Daftar I: پس این قسم رعایت اسباب که محض برای حفظ دین بود ومدت قلیل الخ.

The first bait commented upon runs thus:

جهد حق است ودوا حق است و درد
منکر اندر نفي جهدش جهد کرد

Daftar II, on fol. 29^a; III is missing; IV, on fol. 44^b; V, on fol. 65^a; VI, on fol. 91^b.

No date. The colophon states that the author compiled this commentary, which merely explains certain difficult verses and does not at all aim at a full and exhaustive treatment of the subject, for the sake of Sûfis (طالبان راه خدا). A few various readings on the margin.

No. 1202, ff. 113, ll. 21; Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 in.

Diwân-i-Shams-i-Tabriz (دیوان شمس تبریز).

An excellent and very rich collection of the minor or lyrical poems of Jalâl-al-din Rûmî, usually styled دیوان شمس تبریز, since the poet uses as takhalluṣ in his ghazals the name of his spiritual guide, Shams-al-din of Tabriz (whose death is commonly fixed in A.H. 645 = A.D. 1247, 1248), but of course known also as دیوان رومی or دیوان جلال الدین رومی; other copies of the whole or of extracts of this diwân are described in Bodleian Cat., Nos. 673-675; Rieu ii. p. 593 sq.; W. Pertsch, p. 69, and Berlin Cat., pp. 798 and 799; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 497; G. Flugel i. p. 522 sq.; Cat. Oodd. Or. Lugd. Bat. ii. p. 113; J. Aumer, p. 16; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 214; Krafft, p. 65 etc. The whole diwân has been lithographed in Lucknow, 1879; one of the Tarji'ât has been printed in Tahrân, A.H. 1274. Select poems have been edited, with metrical German translation, by Vincenz von Rosenzweig, in 'Auswahl aus den Diwanen des grössten mystischen Dichters Persiens, Mewlana Dschelaleddin Rumi,' Vienna, 1838; others have been poetically reproduced in German by Rückert etc.

Contents:

Preface in prose, by the anonymous editor of this collection, who compiled it in Rabi'-al-awwal, A.H. 817 (A.D. 1414, May, June), comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 673; beginning: حمد موفور و ثنائی نامحسور باک از وصمت قفطور و قصور الخ.

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, on fol. 6^b, beginning:

(ای) شاه جسم و جان ما خندان کن دندان ما
سرمه کش چشمان ما ای چشم جانرا توتبا

Tarji'ât, on fol. 482^a, beginning:

شاهد ما زرخ گرفت نقاب - گر خورشید برتوی براب

A few kit'as at the end of this part.

Rubâ'is and some fards, on fol. 494^a, beginning:

در مذهب عشاق قرارى دگرست
وبن بادۀ ناب را خماری دگرست

No date. This MS. was purchased at Haidarâbâd, the 25th of June, 1784, for forty rupees.

No. 203, ff. 505, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 17, and a third on the margin, ll. 34; Nasta'lik; two illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b and 6^b; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 in.

1110

Another copy of the same.

Another excellent, but smaller collection of the same poems (with a few insignificant blanks), containing:

Ghazals, on fol. 1^b, arranged alphabetically, except the first.

Beginning of the initial poem:

الحمد لله الذى قدرانه نعت الازل
الماجد الفرد الذى غفرانه يحمو الذلل

Beginning of the first alphabetical ghazal, on fol. 2^a:

ای دل چه اندیشیده در عذراين تقصيرها
زان سوى او چندان وفا زين سوى تو چندان جفا

One tarji'band, on fol. 242^b, followed by rubâ'is in alphabetical arrangement, on fol. 245^b. Beginning of the first rubâ'i:

از بادۀ لعل ناب شد گوهر ما - آمد بفرغان زدست ما ساغر ما

No date.

No. 3383, olim 19. J. 9, ff. 257, 2 coll., each ll. 21; excellent Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9 in. by 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

1111

The same.

A very old and large, but unfortunately somewhat confused and extremely defective copy of Jalâl-al-din Rûmî's diwân, consisting of several sections, each of which is arranged alphabetically.

First section, ghazals intermixed with Tarji'ât, on fol. 5^b, beginning, like the preceding copy, with the unalphabetical poem: الحمد لله الذى الخ.

The second ghazal (the first alphabetical one) begins: داد وگفت ای پادشا چون بی نیازی تو زما الخ.

A few other ghazals in the middle and also the last one are unalphabetical; two lacunas after ff. 26 and 32, the former breaking off with the fifth bait of a ghazal in ت, beginning: باز رسیدیم زمیخانه مست الخ; corresponding to No. 203 (1109 in this Cat.), fol. 81^a, last line; the latter with the second hait of a ghazal in د, beginning: رفتیم و بقیه را بقا باد الخ; corresponding to No. 203, fol. 100^b, margin, l. 6 ab infra.

Second section, of similar contents, on fol. 210^b, beginning: عقل در یابد ترا یا عشق یا جان صفا الخ.

Lacunas after ff. 266 (267^a filled with a horoscope), 298, 328, and 366; the first breaking off with the second hait of a ghazal in د, beginning: در تابش: خورشیدست الخ; corresponding to No. 203, fol. 124^a margin, l. 19; after the second all ghazals in ر and a number of those in ز are missing; the first complete ghazal, on fol. 299^a, begins: ساقی روحانیان روح شدم خبز خیز, corresponding to No. 203, fol. 200^a margin, l. 1; the third breaking off with the fourth bait of a ghazal in م, beginning: از اصل چو حور زاد باشیم الخ; corresponding to No. 203, fol. 261^b, l. 5, whilst fol. 329^a opens with a poem in ن: ای زهجران تو مردم طرب و راحت : من الخ; the fourth breaking off in a ghazal in ی, beginning: اگر آب و گل مارا چو جان و دل پری بودی الخ, which cannot be traced in No. 203, nor in any of the other copies.

Third section, of ghazals, on fol. 373^a, beginning with a poem in د: ای که بر روی تو خورشید فلک کرده سجود الخ, after which at once ghazals in ر follow. A large lacuna after fol. 387 (fol. 388 filled with scribbling), which breaks off with the second bait of a ghazal in ر, beginning: ای دلیر مهری من الخ, which cannot be traced in the other copies; fol. 389^a begins in the middle of a ghazal in ی. On fol. 407^a sq. a series of rubā'is; at the end some poems without alphabetical order, again with lacunas after ff. 419 and 424.

Ff. 1-5^a contain a story in prose (حکایت) not connected with the diwān at all. At the end of the first section appears the date A. H. 825 (A. D. 1422), and the name of the transcriber of that part of the MS., Muḥammad 'Ādil Kāsimkhān, of Harāt. On fol. 1^a among other entries the date A. H. 1022 (A. D. 1613).

College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2232, ff. 425, 2 coll., sometimes three and four, varying between 11 and 25 lines in a page; written partly in Nasta'liq, partly in Shikasta, by a great number of different hands; size, 11½ in. by 7 in.

1112

The same.

This copy, very large and in good condition, but undated, contains only ghazals in alphabetical order, beginning:

حجاب از چشم بگشائی که سبحان الذی اسرا
هزاران عقل بر بائی که سبحان الذی اسرا corresponding to No. 203 (1109 in this Cat.), fol. 44^a, l. 3 (where the second hemistich of this initial bait is found in the second bait); the diwān concludes on fol. 425, and is followed on fol. 426^a by a qaṣidah, headed: منقبت از شمس تبریز, and beginning:

تا صورت پیوند جهان بود علی بود
تا نقش زمین بود زمان بود علی بود

Copied at Barili at the request of Muḥammadkhān Bahādūr, by Aciutshāh of Lāhūr (اچنت شاه لاهوری).

No. 258, ff. 426, 2 coll., each ll. 11; excellent Nasta'liq; 8 in. by 5½ in.

1113

The same.

Another collection of Jalāl-al-din Rūmī's ghazals in alphabetical order, defective at the end, and forming the second half of the complete diwān of the poet; it begins with poems rhyming in م and breaks off in a poem rhyming in ی. According to the Arabic paging the missing first half of this diwān must have contained 406 leaves (this copy beginning with fol. ۴۰۷).

Beginning of the first ghazal in م:

ای عاشقان ای عاشقان از جان غلام حیدرم
زیرا که اندر راه دین حیدر مرا شد رهبرم

This copy is a little worm-eaten and slightly injured in many places. Occasionally various readings on the margin.

No. 580, ff. 276, 2 coll., each ll. 19; Nasta'liq; size, 12 in. by 6½ in.

1114

The same.

Another defective copy of ghazals in alphabetical order, beginning:

ای طائران قدس را عشقت فزوده بالها
در خرمن سودای تو روحانیان را حالها

corresponding to No. 203 (1109 in this Cat.), fol. 18^a margin, l. 3, and No. 2232 (1111 in this Cat.), fol. 7^b, l. 4 ab infra (in both these copies there is in the second hemistich در حلقه substituted for در خرمن); the initial poem of No. 203 (1109 in this Cat.) is found here on fol. 4^b. Lacunas after ff. 191 (ff. 192-194 left blank) and 196. On fol. 1^a a seal of Abū Sa'id Aḥmad, with the date A. H. 1096 (A. D. 1685).

No. 2478, ff. 196, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 23, and a third on the margin, ll. 48; Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; many pages a little worm-eaten; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

1115

The same.

A smaller collection of ghazals in alphabetical order, defective at the beginning; it opens in the middle of a ghazal rhyming in ا, on fol. 271^b. The second (i.e. the first complete one) begins in l. 5 of the same page: ساقیا در نوش آور شیرۀ عنقود را الخ, corresponding to No. 203 (1109 in this Cat.), fol. 23^a margin, l. 17. Some rubā'is at the end. A few additions on the margin. This copy is written by the same hand as No. 1064 above, i.e. about A. H. 1029 and 1030 (A. D. 1620, 1621).

No. 1386, ff. 271-335, 4 coll., each ll. 27-36; careless Nasta'liq; size, 13 in. by 7½ in.

Diwān-i-'Irāqī (دیوان عراقی).

A collection of lyrical poems by Fakhr-al-din Ibrāhīm bin Shahriyār 'Irāqī, of Hamadān, who died A. H. 686 or 688 (A. D. 1287-1289), or, according to Daulatshāh and Taqī Kāshī, A. H. 709 (A. D. 1309), without any alphabetical order, comprising:

Qaṣidas, tarji'bands, and ghazals, with a few rubā'is and fards at the end. Beginning of the first qaṣidah (the initial bait of which is evidently omitted), on fol. 1^b:

تا کی آخر بر لب دریا نشینم خشک لب
تا کی از دون همتی کردم بگرد آبگیر

comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 680; Rieu ii. p. 593 sq.; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 440 sq.; and Rosen, Persian MSS., pp. 203-205. A small collection of ghazals is noticed in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 700 (No. 32).

The initial poem of the Bodleian, British Museum, and Oudh copies is not found in this collection.

No date. The MS. may be 200 years old.

No. 2788, ff. 88, 2 coll., each ll. 15; clear and distinct Nast'liq; size, 8³/₄ in. by 5 in Sa'di (Nos. 1117-1185).

Kulliyât-i-Sa'di (کلیات سعدی).

The oldest copy extant (transcribed directly from the author's autograph: منقول من خط الشیخ العارف) of the complete works of the greatest didactic poet of Persia, Sa'di, whose original name seems to have been Musharrif-al-din bin Muṣliḥ-al-din (so it appears in the colophon of the خواتیم of the present copy, fol. 310^a: مشرف بن مصلح السعدی; others call him Sharaf-al-din Muṣliḥ bin 'Abdallāh; see, for instance, Haft Iklim, No. 191, col. 392, in this Cat.) of Shirāz, who was probably born about A.H. 580 (A.D. 1184), and died at the age of 110 lunar years, A.H. 690 (A.D. 1291); a slightly later date of his death, viz. A.H. 691 (A.D. 1292), is given by Daulat-shāh, Jāmi, the Butkhāna (Bodleian Cat., col. 199, No. 29), the Mirāt-alkhayāl (ib., col. 208, No. 27), the Ātashkadāh, in one of the Bodleian copies (ib., col. 284, No. 656), the Khulāṣat-alkalām (ib., coll. 297 and 298, No. 34), the Khulāṣat-alafkār (ib., col. 306, No. 121), etc.; comp. on his life and works, Bodleian Cat., Nos. 681-748; Rieu ii. p. 595 sq.; W. Pertsch, p. 88 sq., and Berlin Cat., pp. 800-826; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 545 sq.; G. Flügel i. p. 527 sq.; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 337 sq.; Rosen, Persian MSS., pp. 175-202; J. Aumer, p. 16 sq.; Ouseley, Biogr. Notices, p. 5 sq.; Wiener Jahrbücher, vol. 64, Anzeigeblatt, p. 5 sq.; and especially Cholmogorov, in the 'Gelehrte Denkschriften der Kasaner Universität,' 1865, p. 525 sq., and 1867 (reprinted Kasan, 1867), and Dr. W. Bacher, Sa'di-Studien, in Zeitschrift der D. M. G., vol. 30, pp. 81-106, and Sa'di's Aphorismen und Sinngedichte, Strassburg, 1879 (with Fleischer's critical remarks in Zeitschrift der D. M. G., vol. 34, pp. 389-402); comp. also F. Nève, Le poète Sadi, Louvain, 1881, and Ethé, Die mystische, didaktische und lyrische Poesie etc. der Perser, Hamburg, 1888, pp. 31-37; editions of the Kulliyât (printed or lithographed), Calcutta, 1791-1795, by Mr. J. H. Harington, 2 vols.; Bombay, A.H. 1226, 1267, 1280 etc.; Dihli, A.H. 1269; Cawnpore, A.H. 1280; Lucknow, A.H. 1287; Tabriz, A.H. 1257 and 1264; Tahrān, A.H. 1263 and 1268, etc. The present copy, which is dated the first of Rajab, A.H. 728 (A.D. 1328, May 12), and is consequently fifty-nine years older than the oldest hitherto known (viz. No. 361 in the Imperial Library of St. Petersburg), is unfortunately defective in several places, and contains only the following items:

1. An Arabic ḳaṣidah, rhyming in م, on fol. 1^b; the beginning is wanting, as the first leaf is almost entirely torn away; the first complete bait, on fol. 2^a, runs thus:

جللت مناقبه عزت مناصبه - فاحت مطايبه في الحلل والحرم

2. The second risālah, containing the five homilies. in five majlis, beginning, on fol. 2^a, with the first majlis thus: خبرست از آن مفتدای زمره حقیقت و آن پیشوای

لشکر طریقت و آن نگین خاتم جلال الخ. The second majlis, on fol. 4^a; the third, on fol. 6^b; the fourth, on fol. 8^a; the fifth, on fol. 10^b; the usual introductory ḳaṣidah of other copies (see, for instance, No. 1121 in this Cat., fol. 5^b margin-column) is omitted here; it opens at once with the prose-text. The third and the fourth majlis have been edited with translation and commentary by M. Guedemann, Breslau, 1858; the fifth has been translated by J. Ross, Bombay Transactions, i. pp. 146-158.

3. Būstān (بوستان), on fol. 15^b, beginning: بنام خداوند جان آفرین الخ. Ff. 102^b and 103^a are left blank, but the text seems to be uninterrupted. This mathnawī is styled here (as, for instance, in one of the Vienna copies, G. Flügel i. p. 530; in Ouseley Add. 39 of the Bodleian Library, Bodleian Cat., col. 527, and in the next copy here, comp. Rosen, Persian MSS., pp. 183 and 185, and Bacher, Sa'di-Studien, p. 86, note 5), both in the heading and the colophon, (سعدی نام). Among the numerous text-editions (printed or lithographed) may be mentioned: Calcutta, 1810 and 1828, also 1870 (selections entitled عغد منظوم, etc.; Cawnpore, 1832, 1856 (with commentary, reprinted 1879), 1868, 1887, and 1888 (partly with a farhang or glossary); Lucknow, A.H. 1262, 1263, 1265, 1279, and 1869; Hooghly, A.H. 1264; Lahore, 1863 and 1879; Dihli, 1882; Tabriz, A.H. 1285; see also Zenker i. 520 sq.; ii. 467 sq. Best critical edition, with Persian commentary, by K. H. Graf, Vienna, 1850; another, photographed from a MS. prepared under the superintendence of J. T. Platts, annotated and edited by A. Rogers, London, 1891. Translations: into German, by K. H. Graf, Jena, 1850; by Schlechta-Wssehrd, Vienna, 1852; and by Fr. Rückert, Leipzig, 1882; into French, by Barbier de Meynard, Paris, 1880; into English, by H. Wilberforce Clarke, London, 1879, and by G. S. Davie, M.D., styled: 'The Garden of Fragrance,' London, 1882; selections in English (styled 'Flowers from the Būstān'), Calcutta, 1877, and in S. Robinson's 'Persian Poetry for English Readers,' 1883. A Turkish translation has been printed in Constantinople in 2 vols., A.H. 1288 (1871). The Būstān was completed by Sa'di, A.H. 655 (A.D. 1257).

4. Gulistān (گلستان), on fol. 105^b, beginning: منت خدا را عز و جل که طاعتش موجب قربتست الخ. Among the innumerable text-editions, which, especially in India, follow each other incessantly, may be pointed out: Calcutta, 1806 (Persian and English, by Fr. Gladwin, 2 vols.; reprinted, London, 1809), 1828, and 1851 (by A. Sprenger, one of the best editions), also 1861

(school-edition); Bombay, A.H. 1249 (with illustrations) and 1844; Lucknow, A.H. 1264, 1284 (several editions, some with Urdû translation), 1297 (with marginal notes), and 1882; Lahore, 1870; Dihli, 1870; Cawnpore, 1887; Tabriz, about 1821; Bülâk, A.H. 1249 and 1281; Cairo, A.H. 1261; Constantinople, 1876; best European editions, by E. B. Eastwick (with vocabulary), Hertford, 1850; by Johnson (also with vocabulary), Hertford, 1863, and by J. T. Platts, London, 1874; comp. also Zenker i. 520 sq. and ii. 467 sq. Translations: into French, by A. du Ryer, 1634; by d'Alégre, 1704; by Gaudin, 1789; by Semelet (Le Parterre de Fleurs), Paris, 1828 (lithographed), and by C. Defrémery, Paris, 1858: into Latin, by Gentius (Rosarium Politicum etc.), 1651, second ed., 1655: into German, by Adam Olearius (Persianischer Rosenthal), Schlesswig, 1654, new edition, 1660 etc.; by B. Dorn (Drei Lustgänge aus Sa'di's Rosenhain), Hamburg, 1827; by Ph. Wolff, Stuttgart, 1841; and by K. H. Graf, Leipzig, 1846: into English, by Fr. Gladwin, Calcutta, 1806 (see above under 'editions'), and London, 1833; by Dumoulin, 1807; by James Ross, London, 1823, new ed., 1890; by E. B. Eastwick, Hertford, 1852, new ed., London, 1880; by J. T. Platts, London, 1873; and an English version, privately printed by the Kama Shastra Society, Benares, 1888; select portions also in S. Robinson's 'Persian Poetry for English Readers,' 1883: into Russian, by S. Nasarianz, Moscow, 1857: into Polish, by Otwinowski, edited by Janicki, Warsaw, 1879: into Arabic, Bülâk, A.H. 1263: into Turkish, Constantinople, 1874 (with Persian text) and 1876 (three different versions), also with Sâdi's translation and commentary, A.H. 1286 and 1293: into Hindûstânî, by Mir Shîr 'Alî Afsûs, made under the direction of Dr. John Gilchrist, and entitled, 'The Rose Garden of Hindoostan,' Calcutta, 1802; and by Nizâm-al-dîn, Poona, 1855: into Hindî, by Mihr Chând Dâs, Dihli, 1889, etc. etc. The Gulistân was completed by Sa'di, A.H. 656 (A.D. 1258).

5. Tayyibât (طیبات), or pleasant ghazals, incomplete at the beginning; they open abruptly, on fol. 157^a, in the middle of a poem rhyming in ی, thus:

ماه روبا مهربانی بیش کن - خوب روئی را باید زبوری

(corresponding to No. 1121 in this Cat., fol. 310^a, l. 8). Fourteen of these ghazals have been edited and translated by K. H. Graf in Zeitschrift der D. M. G., vol. 13, pp. 445-467.

6. Badâ'î (بدائع), or ornate ghazals, on fol. 224^b, beginning: الحمد لله رب العالمين على الخ. Ten of these ghazals have been edited and translated by K. H. Graf in Zeitschrift der D. M. G., vol. 15, pp. 541-554.

7. Khawâtim (خواتیم), or signets, i.e. precious ghazals, on fol. 275^b, beginning: با رب از ما چه فلاح آید اگر تو. (corresponding to the initial bait of the same part in No. 782 of the Berlin Cat., p. 805, and to the beginning of the fifty-seventh or last ghazal of No. 45 in Rosen, Persian MSS., p. 195, note 5; in the Calcutta edition this poem is wanting). Seven of these ghazals have been edited and translated by K. H. Graf in Zeitschrift der D. M. G., vol. 15, pp. 554-564.

8. Kašâ'id-i-fârsiyyah (قصائد فارسیه), or Persian kašidas, on fol. 310^b, beginning:

شکر و سپاس و عزت و خدایا
بروردگار خلق و خداوند کبریا

Nineteen of these kašidas have been edited and translated by K. H. Graf in Zeitschrift der D. M. G., vol. 9, pp. 92-135, and vol. 12, pp. 82-116.

9. Marâthi (مراثی), or elegies, on fol. 332^b, beginning: آسمانرا حق بود گر خون بگرد (برزند) بر زمین

بر زوال ملک مستعصم امیر المؤمنین

(corresponding to the initial bait of the same part in No. 682 in the Bodleian Cat., col. 529, and No. 783 in the Berlin Cat., p. 807; see No. 1121 in this Cat., fol. 194^b, l. 1 sq.). Some select elegies have been edited and published by K. H. Graf in Zeitschrift der D. M. G., vol. 15, pp. 564-576; the first half of this initial poem is found there on p. 572 sq. There is a lacuna after fol. 332, and the continuation of this part is found on ff. 337 and 338^a, so that the whole collection here consists of two defective poems and one complete poem only, viz. the elegy on the death of Amir 'Izz-al-dîn Ahmad; but on ff. 335^b and 336^a a second complete elegy is found which has by mistake been included in the مراثیات, see further below, viz. the farewell to Ramadân (فی وداع شهر رمضان), comp. Graf, loc. cit., p. 574, where it is given in full text and translation.

10. Mulamma'ât (ملامعات), or poems with alternate Arabic and Persian verses, on ff. 338^b, 333, and 334^a, beginning, on fol. 338^b: إنا هوى النفس نقد العفال الخ. (corresponding to the Calcutta ed., fol. 101, see Bodleian Cat., col. 529, No. 15).

11. Muthallathât (مثلاثات), or one poem in three languages (Arabic, Persian, and Turkish), which usually forms the last part of the preceding collection, the ملامعات (see Bacher, Sa'di-Studien, p. 88), on ff. 334^b-335^b, beginning: (other copies النجى) حلیلى الهدى انجا (النجى) واصلى الخ.

12. Kašâ'id-i-arabiyyah (قصائد عربیه), or Arabic kašidas, on ff. 336^b and 339^a-345^b, beginning, on fol. 336^b: حسيت لطفی (!) المدامع لا تحرى (تجرى) الخ. (Calcutta edition, fol. 105). Between this and the following part there is inserted a Persian ghazal, rhyming in د, on fol. 346^a, headed: فى المناجات و التضرع الى خداوندی چنین بخشنده. الله تعالى. This ghazal is found in the Calcutta edition (fol. 111^b) and in that of Cawnpore (p. 72) among the طیبات, whereas in No. 782 of the Berlin Cat., p. 805, it is the initial poem of the غزلبات قدیم or early ghazals (which are entirely wanting in the present copy).

13. Tarjī'āt (ترجیعات), or refrain poems, on fol. 346^b, beginning:

ای سرو بلند قامت دوست
وہ وہ کہ جمائلت چہ نیکوست

(corresponding to the ترجیع بند in No. 683 in the Bodleian Cat., col. 530, No. 14). The usual beginning of this part, ای زلف تو آلف, is found here, on fol. 349^a, l. 9. There is a lacuna after the last page, fol. 351^b.

14. Muḳaṭṭa'āt (مقطعات), or ghazals, without the initial bait, on fol. 352^b, beginning:

گوبند سعدیا بچہ بطل ماندہ
سختی مبرکہ وجہ کفافت معینست

(corresponding to the initial bait of the same part in Elliott 220, fol. 399^a, Bodleian Cat., col. 534, No. 19; and in No. 782 of the Berlin Cat., p. 805).

15. Majlis-i-Hazl (مجلس هزل), or the jocose meeting, a parody on the homilies in the second risālah (see No. 2 in this copy), and sometimes called the seventh risālah (see, for instance, Bodleian Cat., col. 530, No. 7; comp. Bacher, Sa'di-Studien, p. 86); in some copies this part is styled هزلیات (see, for instance, Bodleian Cat., col. 528, No. 18), in others it is added to the following part, No. 16 (so in the Calcutta edition, ff. ۴۷۵-۴۸۰). It is divided into three special sittings (مجلس), the first beginning here, on fol. 356^b (quite differently from all other copies), thus: الحمد لله الذى جعل الخائف ذليلاً. وحتى طوبى الخ. The second مجلس begins, on fol. 357^b, with exactly the same words; the third has no special heading.

16. Muṭāyabāt (مطایبات), or jests, also called خبیثات, or obscene poems (see Bacher, Sa'di-Studien, p. 93), on fol. 360^b, beginning with a short preface in prose: قال السعدى الزمنى بعض ابناء الملوك أن اصنف له كتاباً فى اللغو على الطرق السوزنى الخ. The first poem begins: خوش بود عیش با شکر دهنی الخ.

17. Rubā'īyyāt (رباعیات), or quatrains, on fol. 366^b, beginning: یرلغ بدہ ای خسرو خوبان جهان الخ. The usual initial poem هر ساعت اندرون الخ is not found in this collection at all, which is, moreover, without alphabetical arrangement.

18. Mufradāt (مفردات), or detached distichs, on fol. 373^b, beginning: بشکر آنک تو در خانہ و اہلت ببش الخ.

A few of the rubā'īyyāt and mufradāt have been edited and translated by K. H. Graf in Zeitschrift der D.M.G., vol. 18, pp. 570-572. The Mufradāt (or Far-diyyāt) have been edited by Latouche (Zenker ii. 484).

There are wanting in this oldest copy of the Kulliyāt of Sa'di: 1. Risālas 1 and 3-6; 2. the early ghazals (غزلیات قدیم), see above, No. 12; 3. the famous epigrammatic poems, dedicated to the Šāhib-diwān (مصحبات); and 4. the comic pieces in prose (مضحکات).

The name of the copyist is Abūbākr bin 'Alī bin Muḥammad; the date, as stated above, A.H. 728, first of Rajab; a former owner was Sir Harford Jones, who presented this copy to the Library, and whose seal and signature (as Mr. Harford Jones, مستر هرورد جنس), with the date, A.H. 1202 (A.D. 1787, 1788), appear on fol. 373^a.

No. 876, ff. 377, ll. 24; excellent old Naskhī; small illuminated headings at the beginning of each part; size, 10½ in. by 6 in.

1118

Another copy of the same.

This copy of Sa'di's Kulliyāt, the next in age to the preceding one, contains:

1. The preface of 'Alī bin Ahmad bin Abūbākr Bisutūn (or even bin Bisutūn, see Rieu ii. p. 596^b, and G. Flügel i. pp. 529 and 530), who collected and arranged Sa'di's works between A.H. 726 and 734 (A.D. 1326-1334), comp. Bacher, Sa'di-Studien, pp. 82 and 83, and Rosen's remarks about it, Persian MSS., p. 175 sq. It begins, on fol. 1^b: شکر و سپاس معبودی: را جلت قدرته الخ, and has been translated into English by J. H. Harington, in his Introduction to the Calcutta edition of the Kulliyāt, pp. 24-26.

2. Eight risālas, the first of which is wrongly styled here در مجلس بنجگانہ (a title belonging properly to the second), and is simply identical with the usual first risālah در تقریر دیباجہ (comp. the following copies, and see Bacher, loc. cit., p. 84), beginning, on fol. 3^b: سپاس بی غایت و ستایش بی نہایت الخ; the second (in five مجلس, on ff. 6^b, 8^b, 11^b, 13^a, and 15^b) contains, as in the preceding copy, the five homilies, and begins with the introductory ḳaṣidah (which is left out there): الحمد لله الذى خلق الوجود من العدم الخ; the third is the usual one, در سؤال صاحب دیوان or رسالہ صاحب دیوان, beginning, on fol. 21^b: خواجہ زمان نیکو سیرت الخ; it has been translated into English by Harington, Introduction, pp. 14-17, and into German by Graf, Lustgarten. ii. pp. 136-142; the fourth (also the usual one), سالك راه خدا, begins, on fol. 23^b: در نصیحتہ, likewise the usual one), پادشہ ملک الخ, begins, on fol. 25^b: الحمد لله الكافى حسب الخلائق الملوك الخ; the text has been edited by Latouche (Zenker ii. 484), and by Barb (Vienna, 1856); the sixth, on fol. 32^b, is styled here رسالہ ملاقات اباقا, is identical with the first story of the usual sixth risālah, Sa'di's interview with Sultān Abāḳā, and begins: شیخ سعدی: رحمة الله عليه فرمود الخ; it has been translated into English by Harington, Introduction, pp. 17-19, and into German by Graf, Lustgarten, ii. pp. 142-146; the seventh, on fol. 33^b, is styled در نصیحت و رغبت (in the colophon simply نصائح), is identical with the second story (in some copies the third story) of the usual sixth risālah, the رسالہ انکیانو or نصیحت انکیانو, Sa'di's advice to Ankiyānū, the Moghul governor of Fârs, A. H. 667-670 (A. D. 1268-1272), and begins: معلوم شد که خسرو عادل دام دولته الخ; the eighth, on fol. 35^b, is styled رساله در فوائد سفر, is identical with the حکایت ملک شمس الدین تازنگو, or Sa'di's anecdote relating to Malik Shams-al-din, the chief revenue-collector or lord-lieutenant of Fârs since A. H. 676 (A. D. 1277), and begins: در زمان حکومت ملک عادل مرحوم; شمس الدین الخ; it has been translated into English by Harington, Introduction, pp. 19-21, and into German by Graf, Lustgarten, ii. pp. 146-148.

3. Gulistân, on fol. 36^b.

4. Bûstân (here styled again سعدی نامه), on fol. 107^b.

5. Arabic kaşidas, on fol. 207^b.

6. Persian kaşidas, on fol. 214^b, preceded by a فهرست, on fol. 213^b; beginning as in the preceding copy.

7. Marâthî, on fol. 242^b, preceded by a فهرست, on fol. 242^a; they begin here: دل شکسته که مرهم نهد دگر; بارش الخ (Calcutta ed., fol. ۲۴۵).

8. Mulamma'ât, on fol. 247^b, preceded by a فهرست, on fol. 247^a; they begin: تو خون خلق بریزی و روی در; تابی الخ.

9. Tarjî'ât, on fol. 249^b, beginning: ای زلف تو الخ (see the preceding copy, fol. 349^a).

10. Ṭayyibât, on fol. 262^b, preceded by a فهرست, on fol. 256^b; they begin: اول دفتر بنام ایزد دانا الخ (Calcutta ed., fol. ۲۶۴).

11. Badâ'i', on fol. 366^b, preceded by a فهرست, on fol. 363^b; beginning as in the preceding copy.

12. Khawâtîm, on fol. 412^b, preceded by a فهرست, on fol. 410^b; they begin: سپاس و حمد بی پایان خدایا; الخ (Calcutta ed., fol. ۴۱۵).

13. Ghazaliyyât-i-qadim (غزلیات قدیم), or early ghazals (wanting in the preceding copy), on fol. 430^b, preceded by a فهرست, on fol. 429^b; they begin: ای یار ناگزیر که دل در هوای تست الخ (Calcutta ed., fol. ۴۳۰).

14. Şâhibiyyah (صاحبیه), or epigrammatic poems (wanting in the preceding copy), on fol. 437^b, beginning with the prose-introduction: لحمد لله على نعمة الخ (Calcutta ed., fol. ۴۳۸). Initial bait of the first poem:

نگین ختم رسالت محمد عربی
شفیع روز فیامت محمد مختار

In other copies this poem is found among the Muḳaṭṭa'ât, see, for instance, No. 1121 in this Cat., fol. 345^a, first line. These poems have been edited and translated into German by Bacher in 'Sa'di's Aphorismen und Sinngedichte,' Strassburg, 1879.

15. Khabithât (خبثات), or obscene poems, identical with the Muṭâyabât of the preceding copy (as they are styled here too at the end of the part), and beginning with the same lines in prose, on fol. 462^b. Initial bait of the first poem: عارفی چشم دل بروی داشت الخ (corresponding to the seventh poem in the preceding copy, fol. 363^b, and the initial poem in Nos. 681 and 747 of the Bodleian Cat.).

16. Hazliyyât (هزلیات), i. e. the mock homilies, called in the preceding copy مجلس هزل, in three مجلس, on ff. 472^b, 476^b, and 478^b. Beginning of the first: اللعین الشیطان الخ (Calcutta ed., ff. ۴۷۵-۴۸۰).

17. Muḍḥikât (مضحکات), or comic pieces in prose, on fol. 480^b, beginning: شخصی از فقیهی سؤال کرد الخ (Calcutta ed., fol. ۴۸۱).

18. Rubâ'iyyât, on fol. 482^b, beginning: هر ساعت اندرون بجوشد خون را الخ.

19. Fardiyyât (فردیات), or Mufradât, on fol. 494^b, beginning: و رب غلام صائم بطنه خلا الخ (corresponding to fol. 374^a, l. 7, in the preceding copy).

This copy, in which the Muḳaṭṭa'ât are wanting, is dated end of Muḥarram, A. H. 819 (A. D. 1416, March 30), by Firûzbakht bin Işfahânshâh.

No. 287, ff. 499, 2 coll., each 11, 21; small Nasta'liq; a small illuminated heading at the beginning of each part; larger illuminations on ff. 23^a, 214^a, 242^a, 247^a, and 499^b; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

1119

The same.

Contents:

1. The collector's preface, slightly defective at the beginning, on fol. 1^b.

2. Six risâlas; the first, on fol. 3^a (در تقریر دیباجه); the second, in five مجلس, on ff. 7^a, 9^a, 12^b, 14^b, and 17^b; the third, on fol. 23^a (رساله صاحب دیوان), beginning here: خواجۀ صاحب فرمان نیکو سیرت الخ; the fourth, on fol. 24^b (در عقل و عشق); the fifth, on fol. 26^b (در نصیحة الملوك); the sixth, on fol. 34^b, is styled here رسائل ثلاثه, and comprises the three stories, referring to Abâkâkhân, Ankiyânû, and Malik Shams-al-din, which form risâlas 6-8 in the preceding copy. The second story, on fol. 35^b, is headed here نصیحة و بند; the third begins on fol. 37^b.

3. Gulistân, on fol. 38^b.

4. Bûstân, on fol. 110^b.

5. Persian kaşidas, on fol. 205^a, beginning as in the two preceding copies.

6. Marâthî, on fol. 232^b, beginning as in the preceding copy.

7. Mulamma'ât, on fol. 237^a, also beginning as in the preceding copy.

8. Ṭayyibât, on fol. 247^b, beginning: اول دفتر الخ.

9. Badâ'i', on fol. 340^a, beginning as usual.

10. Khawâtîm, on fol. 381^a, beginning as in the preceding copy.

11. Early ghazals, on fol. 396^b, beginning: ای یار الخ.

12. Şâhibiyyah, on fol. 403^b; prose-introduction and initial bait the same as in the preceding copy.

13. Muḳaṭṭa'ât, on fol. 424^a, beginning: تو آن نکرده.

از فعل خیر با من و غیر الخ (corresponding to fol. 355^a, l. 4, in No. 1117 in this Cat.).

14. Rubā'iyāt, on fol. 429^b, beginning: هر ساعت الخ.

15. Fardiyyāt, on fol. 439^b, beginning: ورت غلام صائب الخ.

The Arabic kašidas, the Tarji'āt, the Hazliyyāt or mock homilies, and the Mudhikāt are entirely wanting in this copy, which is besides slightly injured and effaced in many places. It is dated the 26th of Jumādā-althāni, A.H. 951 (A.D. 1544, September 14).

No. 877, ff. 444, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 17, and a third on the margin, ll. 12; small, but distinct Nasta'lik; an illuminated heading at the beginning of each part; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

Contents:

1. The collector's preface, on fol. 2^b.
2. The usual six risālas: the first, on fol. 4^a; the second, in five مجلس, on ff. 7^a, last line, 9^b, 12^a, 13^b margin, and 16^a, last line; the third (here wrongly styled مجلس خامس), on fol. 21^a, beginning: صاحب قران المجلس; the fourth (here wrongly styled المجلس الرابع), on fol. 22^b; it is headed في صفت العقل, and a few lines further down در تعرف عقل وعشق, and begins in the usual way: سالک راه الخ; the fifth, on fol. 24^a; the sixth, containing the three stories, on fol. 31^a (the second story در مدح انکیانو is here designated as رسالة المجلس; and the third شمس الدین دوم الثالث).
3. Gulistān, on ff. 34^b-37^b and 71^b-115^a.
4. Būstān, on ff. 115^b-171^b, 48^a-70^b, and 172^a-175^a (the leaves from 47-172 being misplaced).
5. Arabic kašidas, on fol. 175^b.
6. Persian kašidas, on fol. 183^b.
7. Tarji'āt, on fol. 208^a margin, beginning: غریبان را دل از مهر تو خونست الخ. This initial bait is found in the immediately following copy, at the beginning of the Marāthi, and in No. 683 of the Bodleian Cat., col. 530. No. 13, at that of the ترجیعات و مرثیاتی, a combination of refrain-poems and elegies which seems to be implied here too.
8. Ghazaliyyāt (غزلیات), comprising the four branches, separated in all the preceding copies, viz. the Tayyibāt, the early ghazals, the Badā'i', and the Khawātim, on fol. 223^b, beginning: اول دفتر بنام ایند الخ. Exactly the same combination of the minor lyrical poems of Sa'di is found in the following copy, No. 1121. These collected ghazals have been specially edited (together with the بهار دانش), Calcutta, about 1784, and 1811.
9. Ṣāhibiyyah, on fol. 372^b, beginning with the usual prose-introduction, thus: الحمد لله على فضائل نعمه الخ.

10. Mulamma'āt and Mathnawiyyāt (مثنویات), on fol. 384^b, beginning:

همه را ده چو مبدی مرسوم
نه یکی را ده و دگر محروم

Short pieces in mathnawi-form at the end of the Ṣāhibiyyah are also noticed in Rieu's first copy, on fol. 322 sq., and in Nos. 682 and 692 of the Bodleian Cat., coll. 529 and 539.

11. Muḥaṭṭa'āt, on fol. 389^b, beginning, as in the preceding copy: تو آن نکردی از فعل الخ.

12. Khabithāt, or obscene poems, on fol. 391^a, beginning: قال السعد الومنی (السعدی الزمنی) بعض الخ.

13. Hazliyyāt (here wrongly styled Mudhikāt and Hazliyyāt, since the Mudhikāt appear immediately after as a special item), i.e. the three mock homilies, on ff. 399^a, 401^b, and 403^a, beginning: (read اللعن العن الشيطان الخ).

14. Mudhikāt, on fol. 404^b, beginning: شخصی از فقیهی الخ.

15. Rubā'iyāt, on fol. 405^b, beginning: ای چشم الخ, corresponding to the last but three in No. 1117 in this Cat., fol. 373^a, and to the initial rubā'i in No. 688 in the Bodleian Cat., col. 536. No. 11.

16. Fardiyyāt, on fol. 411^a, beginning: ورت غلام الخ.

Copied A.H. 1034 (A.D. 1624, 1625), by Maḥmūd the scribe of Shirāz.

No. 843, ff. 414, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 19, and a third on the margin, ll. 12; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; luxurious illuminations throughout, the most splendid ones on ff. 2^b, 3^a, 34^b, 35^a, 115^b, 116^a, 175^b, 176^a, 183^b, 184^a, 223^b, 224^b, 372^b, 373^a, 405^b, and 406^a; pictures on ff. 1^b, 2^a, 20^b, 42^b, 48^b, 57^a, 68^b, 86^a, 117^a, 140^b, 151^b, 160^a, 232^a, 246^a, 291^a, 322^a, 339^a, 392^a, 413^b, and 414^a; size, 13 in. by 7½ in.

Contents:

1. The collector's preface, on fol. 1^b, beginning as usual. There is an index, on fol. 2^b, according to which this collection is to be divided into seven risālas and sixteen kitābs, the latter consisting of (1) سعدی; (2) ملامعات ومثلثات; (3) قصائد عربی; (4) ملامعات ومثلثات; (5) ترجیعیند; (6) مرثیاتی وترجیع مرثیاتی; (7) مرثیاتی وترجیع مرثیاتی; (8) غزلیات قدیم; (9) بدائع; (10) خواتیم; (11) طیببات; (12) خبیثات ومطایبات; (13) مقطعات; (14) صاحبیه; (15) مفردات; (16) رباعیات. The preliminary words of this index (comp. on the various modifications of the text, Rosen, Persian MSS., pp. 176-180) run here in a very short and inconsistent way, thus, on fol. 2^a margin: بدان که این دیوان مشتمل است بر هفت (هشت) رساله و شانزده کتاب چنانچه در افواه عوام منتشرست و ازین است که گویند دیوان شیع بیست و چهار کتاب است پس بدین ترتیب بنیاد کرده بولا نهاده شد. In the copy itself no trace of this division is found, beyond the seven risâlas, the Gulistân, and Bûstân.

2. Seven risâlas, i. e. the usual six and the مجلس هزل, or the first of the three mock homilies counted as seventh; first risâlah, on fol. 2^b margin; second (here must be read رسالة دوم instead of رسالة اول), in five majlis, on ff. 5^b, 7^a margin, 10^a, 11^a, and 13^a; third, on fol. 17^a margin; fourth, on fol. 18^b (در عقل وعشق), or as it is styled in the index: در عقل وعشق ورجحان; fifth, on fol. 20^a; sixth, containing in this copy the second story only, در نصیحت انکیانو, on fol. 26^a; seventh, on fol. 27^a margin, beginning (as in No. 683 in the Bodleian Cat., col. 530, No. 7): چنین فرماید صاحب السیف والفرس الخ.

3. Gulistân, on fol. 30^b.

4. Bûstân, or Sa'dinâma, on fol. 86^b, beginning: بنام جهاندار جان آفرین الخ.

5. Diwân (دیوان), consisting of:

a. Kaşidas, the first of which is an Arabic one, beginning, on fol. 167^b: الحمد لله رب العالمین علی الخ. The second, or first Persian one, begins in the usual way: شکر و سپاس و ممتت الخ.

b. Marâthi, on fol. 191^b, beginning like the Tarji'ât in the preceding copy: غریبانرا دل از مهر تو خونست الخ.

c. Tarji'ât, on fol. 200^a, beginning: ای زلف تو الخ.

d. Ghazals, in alphabetical order, comprising the Tayyibât, Badâ'i', Khawâtim, and early ghazals, exactly as No. 8 in the preceding copy, on fol. 206^b margin. Beginning: سپاس و حمد بی بابان خدارا الخ (which is usually the initial bait of the Khawâtim, see No. 1118 in this Cat., fol. 412^b).

e. Muḳaṭṭa'ât, in alphabetical order, on fol. 338^b, beginning:

سخن بذكر تو آراستن مراد آنست
که بیش اهل ادب منصبی بود مارا

This poem is included in some copies in the Şâhibiyyah, see, for instance, No. 694 in the Bodleian Cat., col. 540, and W. Pertsch, p. 97, No. 70. The initial kiṭ'ah of No. 1117 in this Cat., is found here on fol. 340^a, l. 3 sq.

f. Rubâ'is (not separated by a special heading from the Muḳaṭṭa'ât), beginning apparently, on fol. 348^b margin, with a quatrain in the metre of هزج (مفاعیلن) خداوندی است (خداوندیست) تدبیر: (مفاعیلن فعولن) جهانرا الخ (see the same initial rubâ'i further down in No. 1127 in this Cat.); the first rubâ'i, in the orthodox metre, begins, on fol. 349^a, as in No. 687 of the Bodleian Cat., col. 535, No. 23: عشاق بدرگه تو (بدرگهت) اسیرند بیا الخ.

g. Muṭâyahât or Khabithât (here incorrectly styled غزلیات), on fol. 356^a margin; beginning of the prose-preface: قال السعدی الزمینی بعض الخ. The first poem is identical with that in No. 1117 in this Cat.:

خوش بود عیش الخ.

h. Short mathnawis (see No. 1120 in this Cat., in the part of the Mulamma'ât and the remark thereupon), here styled Naş'âih (نصائح), or admonitions, and beginning, on fol. 360^a margin:

سری اندر فیله ما بود - که جهان دنده تر ز عنقا بود

There are wanting in this copy the Arabic kaşidas, except the one at the beginning of No. 5, the Mulamma'ât, the Şâhibiyyah, the Hazliyyât, the Mufradât, and the Muḳhikât. It is dated the 20th of Ramaḍân, A. H. 1039 (A. D. 1630, May 3), by Hasan Muḥammad ibn Shîr Muḥammad ibn Muḥammad Jîw ibn Yûsuf. The copy was formerly in the possession of Sayyid Kuṭbi-khân, who bought it for twenty-five rupees.

No. 178, ff. 364, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 14, and a third on the margin, ll. 13; Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b, 30^b, 86^b, and 167^b; size, 11 in. by 6½ in.

1122

The same.

Another splendid copy of Sa'di's Kullîyyât, very carefully written, and tolerably old, but not dated.

Contents:

1. The collector's preface, on fol. 2^b.

2. Six risâlas of the usual contents; first, on fol. 4^b; second, in five مجلس, on ff. 8^a, 10^b, 14^a, 15^b, and 19^a; third, on fol. 25^a; fourth, on fol. 26^b; fifth, on fol. 29^a; sixth, containing the three stories (حکایات), viz. the رساله ملاقات اباقا, on fol. 38^a; the نصیحت انکیانو, on fol. 39^a; and the حکایت ملک شمس الدین, on fol. 41^a.

3. Gulistân, on fol. 42^a.

4. Bûstân, on fol. 128^b.

5. Arabic kaşidas, on fol. 260^b, preceded by a فهرست, on fol. 259^b; beginning: ملک الهوی قلبی وجاش مغیر: الخ (corresponding to fol. 342^b, last line, in No. 1117 in this Cat.).

6. Persian kaşidas, on fol. 272^b, preceded by a فهرست; beginning: شکر و سپاس الخ.

7. Marâthi, on fol. 311^b, beginning: دل شکسته الخ.

8. Mulamma'ât, on fol. 317^b, beginning: دو خون خلق الخ.

9. Tarji'ât, on fol. 324^a, beginning: ای زلف تو الخ.

10. Tayyibât, on fol. 339^b, preceded by a فهرست, on fol. 333^a; beginning: اول دفتر بنام الخ.

11. Badâ'i', on fol. 464^b, preceded by a فهرست, on fol. 461^a; beginning: الحمد لله رب العالمین الخ.

12. Khawâtim, or as they are called here more fully, Ghazaliyyât-i-Khawâtim (غزلیات خواتیم), on fol. 523^b, preceded by a فهرست, on fol. 522^a; beginning: سپاس و حمد بی پادان الخ.

13. Early ghazals, on fol. 544^a, preceded by a فهرست, on fol. 543^a; beginning: ای نار ناگزیر الخ.

14. Šāhibiyyah, beginning, on fol. 554^a, with the usual short prose-introduction; the first poem begins here thus:

ثنا وحمد بی پایان خدارا
که صنعتش در وجود آورد مارا

(see the same initial bait in Nos. 681 and 683 of the Bodleian Cat., coll. 528 and 530).

15. Muḳaṭṭa'ât, on fol. 586^a, beginning: تو آن نکرده‌ای.

16. Khabithât, on fol. 589^b, beginning with the usual prose-preface; the first initial poem begins thus: عارفی چشم دل بروی داشت الخ (identical with the beginning in No. 1118 in this Cat., fol. 462^b).

On fol. 600^a there are added (as part of the Khabithât) the Hazliyyât, beginning: (read اللعن اللعين) الشيطان الخ.

17. Rubâ'iyyât, on fol. 606^a, beginning: هر ساعت اندرون الخ.

18. Mufradât, on fol. 617^b, beginning: وکلّ بالغ (وکلّ عدوّ بالغ) (corresponding to fol. 374^a, last line, in No. 1117 in this Cat.).

The Muḍḥikât are wanting in this copy. An index on the fly-leaves.

No. 407, ff. 623, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 17; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; the first four pages luxuriously ornamented; splendidly illuminated frontispieces or smaller headings at the beginning of each part; size, 9½ in. by 5¾ in.

1123

The same.

Another excellent copy, splendidly illustrated, without a date; unfortunately this copy is injured and spoilt in many places.

Contents:

A. Centre-column:

1. The collector's preface, on fol. 3^b.
2. The usual six risâlas (کتاب رسائل); first, on fol. 8^b; second, in five مجلس بنجگانه) مجلس, on fol. 18^b; third, on fol. 64^b; fourth, on fol. 68^a; fifth, on fol. 73^a; sixth (without a heading), in three risâlât or stories, in the same order as in the preceding copy, on ff. 95^a, 97^b, last line, and 102^b.

3. Gulistân, on fol. 104^b.

4. Hazliyyât (here wrongly styled Muḍḥikât, see No. 1120 in this Cat., fol. 399^a sq.), beginning, on fol. 296^b: اللعن (اللعين) الشيطان الخ.

B. Margin-columns:

5. Bûstân, on fol. 4^b, beginning: بنام خداوند جان آفرین الخ.

6. Arabic ḳaṣidas, on fol. 96^b, beginning, as usual: حسب الخ.

7. Persian ḳaṣidas, on fol. 104^b, beginning: شکر و سپاس الخ.

8. Marâthî, on fol. 131^b, beginning: دل شکسته الخ.

9. Mulamma'ât, on fol. 135^b, beginning: تو خون خلق الخ.

10. Tarji'ât, on fol. 139^b, beginning: ای زلف تو الخ.

11. Ṭayyibât, on fol. 145^b, beginning: اوّل دفتر الخ.

12. Badâ'î, on fol. 221^b, beginning: الحمد لله ربّ الخ.

13. Khawâtim, on fol. 256^b, beginning: سبّاس وحمد الخ.

14. Early ghazals, on fol. 268^b, beginning: ای یار ناگزیر الخ.

15. Šāhibiyyah, on fol. 273^b, beginning: الحمد لله على نعمه الخ.

16. Muḳaṭṭa'ât, on fol. 292^b, beginning: تو آن نکرده‌ای.

17. Muṭāyabât (or Khabithât), on fol. 294^b, beginning: قال السعدی الخ.

18. Rubâ'iyyât, on fol. 303^b, beginning: هر ساعت اندرون الخ.

19. Fardiyyât, on fol. 313^b, beginning: ورتّ علام الخ.

The real Muḍḥikât are wanting in this copy, which was transcribed by Muḥammad bin Kiwâm of Shirâz.

No. 1391, ff. 316, 1 centre-col., ll. 10, 2 margin-coll., each ll. 24; Nasta'lik; four large pictures, surrounded by gilt frames, on ff. 1^b, 2^a, 315^b, and 316^a, smaller pictures on ff. 21^b, 22^a, 27^b, 47^a, 53^b, 61^b, 62^a, 72^b, 95^a, 148^b, 149^a, 168^a, 175^b, 183^b, 184^a, 215^b, 219^b, 237^b, 251^a, 306^b, and 307^a; ff. 2^b, 3^a, 3^b, and 4^a illuminated in the most luxurious manner, and the finest Eastern workmanship; other almost equally splendid illuminations throughout; particularly grand frontispieces, on ff. 96^b, 104^b, 131^b, 135^b, 139^b, 145^b, 221^b, 256^b, 268^b, 273^b, 292^b, 294^b, 296^b, 303^b, and 313^b; size, 13¼ in. by 8½ in.

1124

The same.

Another exquisitely written and most splendidly ornamented copy, likewise without a date.

Contents:

1. Six risâlas, in the following curious arrangement: the first corresponds to the second of the usual copies, i. e. the مجلس خمسہ or five homilies, on ff. 4^b, 6^a, 9^a, 10^b, last line, and 13^b, beginning: الحمد لله الذي خلق الخ; the second is identical with the usual third, styled here در بیان صاحب دیوان وجواب; the third is the usual fourth (therefore correctly called here (رساله) چهارم), styled here در علم و عشق; the fourth (called correctly (رساله) بنجم) corresponds to the usual fifth, styled here در نصیحت ملوک; the fifth to the second story of the usual sixth (therefore called here در نصیحت ملک انکیانو), beginning: (رساله) دوم در نصیحت ملوک; the sixth to the third story of the same (called here (رساله) سیوم در مدح), beginning: در زمان حکومت (ملک شمس الدین تازیگو), (ملک عادل الخ). There are consequently missing the collector's preface, the usual first risâlah در تقریر دیباچه, and the first story, رسالة ملاقات ابنا, of the usual sixth risâlah.

2. Gulistân, on fol. 34^b.
3. Bûstân, on fol. 96^b.
4. Arabic kašidas, on fol. 166^b.
5. Persian kašidas, on fol. 173^b.
6. Marâthi, on fol. 197^b.
7. Mulamma'ât, on fol. 201^b.
8. Tarjî'ât, on fol. 205^b.
9. Tayyibât, on fol. 211^b. All these parts begin as in the preceding copy.
10. Badâ'i', on fol. 288^b, beginning: ای که انکار کنی (corresponding to No. 1117 in this Cat., fol. 254^a, first line).
11. Khawâtim, on fol. 322^b.
12. Early ghazals, on fol. 335^b. Beginning of both parts as usual.
13. Šāhibiyyah, on fol. 342^b, with the usual prose-preface. The initial poem is the same as in Nos. 1118 and 1119 in this Cat., viz. نگیں ختم رسالت الخ.
14. Muḳaṭṭa'ât, on fol. 357^b, beginning: تو آن نکرده الخ.
15. Muṭâyabât (or Khabithât), on fol. 359^a margin, beginning: قال السعدی الخ.

The Rubâ'iyyât, Mufradât, and Muḍḥikât are wanting here.

No. 332, ff. 366, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 19, and a third on the margin, ll. 14; small, but clear Nasta'lik; the whole copy beautifully embellished throughout; illuminated frontispieces, with luxurious ornaments on the same and the following page, on ff. 4^b, 34^b, 96^b, 166^b, 173^b, 211^b, 288^b, 322^b, 335^b, and 342^b; very carefully drawn pictures on ff. 1^b (Sa'di's likeness), 2^b, 3^a, 4^a, 18^a, 66^b, 100^b, 130^b, 181^b, 209^a, 228^b, 233^b, 250^a, 285^a, 310^b, 359^b, 363^b, 364^b, 365^a, and 366^a; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

1125

The same.

Contents:

1. The collector's preface, on fol. 1^b.
2. Five risâlas, i.e. risâlas 2-6 of the usual copies (the first, در تقریر دیباچه, is wanting here, just as in the preceding copy); the first (second risâlah), in five مجلس, on ff. 5^a, 7^a, 10^a, 11^b, and 14^a; the second (third risâlah), on fol. 18^b; the third (fourth risâlah), on fol. 19^b (here entitled: از سؤال مولانا شمس الدین, and beginning: سؤال مولانا شمس الدین نطنزی از شیخ سعدی منظومه (سالك راه خدا الخ); the fourth (fifth risâlah), on fol. 21^a; the fifth (sixth risâlah), containing the three stories, on fol. 27^b.

A fihrist of the following sixteen parts (or books) of this copy, on fol. 30^b.

3. Gulistân, on fol. 31^a.
4. Bûstân, on fol. 89^b.
5. Arabic kašidas, on fol. 154^a.
6. Persian kašidas, on fol. 160^a.
7. Marâthi, on fol. 184^b.
8. Mulamma'ât, on fol. 189^b, beginning here: وقتها

(corresponding to the initial bait in No. 782 of the Berlin Cat., Pertsch, p. 805, and No. 683 of the Bodleian Cat., col. 530).

9. Tarjî'ât, on fol. 194^a, beginning here: ای سرو بلند (corresponding to the initial bait in No. 1117 in this Cat.).

10. Tayyibât, on fol. 200^b.
11. Badâ'i', on fol. 279^b.
12. Khawâtim, on fol. 332^a, beginning here: گرماء من بر افکند نقابرا الخ.
13. Early ghazals, on fol. 351^b, beginning here: و که گرم من باز بینم روی یار خویش را الخ (corresponding to No. 1121 in this Cat., fol. 208^a margin).

14. Šāhibiyyah, on fol. 367^b, with the usual prose-preface; the first poem begins here: با رب تو هرچه بهتر (see the same initial bait in No. 692 of the Bodleian Cat., col. 539).

15. Muḳaṭṭa'ât, on fol. 378^b, beginning: گویند سعدیا الخ.

16. Khabithât (or Muṭâyabât), on fol. 386^a, beginning with the usual prose-lines; the initial bait of the first poem corresponds to that in Nos. 1118 and 1122 in this Cat. On the margin of ff. 386^b-389^b there are added the Hazliyyât, styled: المجالس الثلاثة فی الهزل.

17. Rubâ'iyyât, on fol. 395^b.

18. Mufradât, on fol. 406^a.

The Muḍḥikât are wanting in this copy. One leaf at the end seems to be missing. No date. The right order of ff. 400-410 is: 400, 409, 402, 403, 407, 404-406, 401, 408, and 410.

No. 775, ff. 410, 2 coll., each ll. 21 (on ff. 89^b-153^b, 3 coll.); Naskhi, many pages injured; an illuminated heading at the beginning of nearly every part; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1126

The same.

A great number of leaves in this copy, especially in the beginning and towards the end, are so firmly glued together, that it is impossible to separate them without tearing them to pieces. The contents, so far as they can be ascertained, are as follows:

A. Centre-columns:

1. The collector's preface, on fol. 2^a.
2. Seven risâlas, as it seems; the first, the beginning of which can be quoted, is the third of the usual copies, on fol. 48^b (رسالة سیوم در جواب صاحب دیوان); the fourth, در عقل و عشق, begins (without a heading) on fol. 52^a; the fifth در نصیحة الملوك, on fol. 56^b; the sixth, containing the second story only of the three, viz. the نصیحت انکیانر (just as No. 1121 in this Cat.), begins on fol. 77^a with the simple heading رسالة ملك; the seventh is the third story (شمس الدین) of the usual sixth risâlah, beginning, on fol. 81^a: در زمان حکومت ملك الخ.

3. Gulistân, on fol. 83^b.
4. Tayyibât, on fol. 230^b.
5. Hazliyyât, on fol. 428^b (first heading: المجلس الأول بالهزل).
6. Rubâ'iyyât and Fardiyyât, on fol. 445^b, beginning: هر ساعت اندرون آید.
- B. Margin-column:
7. Persian qasidas, on fol. 2^b.
8. Marâthi, on fol. 45^b.
9. Mulamma'ât, on fol. 55^b.
10. Tarjî'ât, on fol. 65^d. All four parts begin in the usual way.
11. Bûstân, on fol. 78^b, beginning: بنام خداوند جان آفرین آید.
12. Badâ'i', on fol. 281^b, beginning as in No. 1124 in this Cat.: ای که انکار کنی آید.
13. Khawâtim, on fol. 370^b.
14. Early ghazals, on fol. 401^b.
15. Şâhbiyyah, on fol. 412^b, beginning with the initial poem of Nos. 1118 and 1119 in this Cat.: نگن ختم رسالت محمد عربی آید.

An index on the fly-leaf. There are wanting in this copy the first story of the sixth risâlah, the Arabic qasidas, the Khabithât, Muqatta'ât, and Mudhikât. No date.

No. 1260, ff. 472, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 10, and a third on the margin, ll. 20; Nasta'lik; splendid ornaments throughout the copy; beautifully illuminated frontispieces on ff. 83^b, 230^b, 370^b, 401^b, 412^b, and 428^b; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

1127

The same.

This collection is different from all the preceding ones, since a considerable number of the usual items are entirely missing, and some altogether new parts have been introduced.

The copy contains:

1. Bûstân, on fol. 1^b, beginning: بنام جهاندار جان آفرین آید.
2. Gulistân, on fol. 74^b.
3. Diwân, consisting of:
 - a. Persian qasidas, on fol. 131^b, beginning: اول دفتر آید.
 - b. Tarjî'ât, on fol. 153^a margin, beginning: در عهد تو ای نگار دل بند - بس عهد که بشکند و سگند (corresponding to the second poem in No. 1117 in this Cat., fol. 346^b).
 - c. Ghazals, in alphabetical order, on fol. 158^b, comprising, as the same part in Nos. 1120 and 1121 in this Cat. does, the Tayyibât, Badâ'i', Khawâtim, and early ghazals; the initial ghazal is the second in No. 1121, fol. 207^a:
ای نفس خرم باد صبا - از بریار آمده مرچبا
 - d. Muqatta'ât, on fol. 278^a, beginning likewise as in No. 1121: سخن بذكر تو آید.
 - e. Rubâ'is, on fol. 285^b, beginning, as in No. 1121: (in No. 1121 چهارا دهانرا تدبیر دهانرا).

4. The second risâlah, in five مجلس, on fol. 293^b, beginning: الحمد لله الذى خلق الوجود آید.

5. Another risâlah, on fol. 304^b, which contains, like the usual third risâlah, a story not by Sa'di himself, but referring to the poet's intercourse with renowned personages (see Bacher's remark in his 'Sa'di-Studien,' p. 85), but different in wording from the third in the preceding copies; it begins: ای دل مجرّد طریقت طریقت و سالک کوی حقیقت شهباز جان باز همای ره شیراز مصلح الدین سعدی شیرازی علیه الرحمة والغفران میگوبد بگوش هوش بشنو آید.

6. The fifth risâlah, در نصیحة الملوك, on fol. 307^b, beginning here: الحمد لله وهو الى من حمد ثم الصلوة على رسول الله افضل آید.

7. Pandnâma (بندنامه), or book of counsels, also called, from the word with which it begins, Karimâ (کریم) or Kitâb-i-Karimâ; beginning, on fol. 313^b: کریم! بخشای بر حال ما - که هستم اسر کمند هوا

The authorship of Sa'di with regard to this didactic mathnawî, which is apparently composed after the model of Farid-aldin 'Attâr's Pandnâma, has been much disputed; it is not included in Bisutûn's (or Ibn Bisutûn's) edition; on the other hand, as Rieu ii. p. 865^b has shown, it has been ascribed to Sa'di as early as A. H. 842 (A. D. 1438, 1439), and it is found in the Calcutta edition (fol. r. sq.); other text-editions (printed or lithographed): in Gladwin's Persian Moonshiee (with English translation), 1801; revised edition, by W. C. Smyth, 1840; see also Rousseau, Flowers of Persian Literature, London, 1801, and the Persian Reader, vol. i, Calcutta, 1835, pp. 78-97; Persian and Hindûstânî, ib., 1829; Persian, with Latin translation, by Geitlin, Helsingfors, 1835; Calcutta, A. H. 1242 and 1270 (with Rekhta translation); in the 'Persian Primer,' Lucknow, A. H. 1263, 1264, etc.; Lahore, 1887; Bombay, 1887; Agra, 1887; Cawnpore, 1888, etc. An older English translation, Calcutta, 1788. French translation, by Garcin de Tassy, in his 'Exposition de la foi musulmane,' Paris, 1822, and in the same author's 'Allégories, récits poétiques et chants populaires,' 2nd ed., Paris, 1876, pp. 197-200. A metrical German translation of select passages of the Pandnâma is found in the notes to K. H. Graf, Rosengarten, Leipzig, 1846, pp. 239, 244, 253, 260, 281, 293, and 297-298; comp. besides Zenker i. 418 sq. and 1468, ii. 480 sq.; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 688. 12 and 748; Rieu ii. p. 865^b; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 803 and 825; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 549.

8. Short mathnawîs, on fol. 317^b, beginning:

نامه آغازم بنام ذو الجلال
آنکه بیرون ذاتش از وهم و خیال

9. Khabithât (or Muṭāyabât), here wrongly styled Hazliyyât, on fol. 324^b, beginning with the usual prose-preface: قال السعدی الزمینی آید.

No date. There are wanting in this copy the usual risâlahs, except the second and the fifth; the Marâthi, Mufradât, Hazliyyât, Şâhibiyyah, Mulamma'ât, Muḥbi-kât, and the Arabic ḳaṣidas.

No. 143, ff. 330, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 17, and a third on the margin, ll. 26; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispieces and small headings on ff. 1^b, 74^b, 131^b, 293^b, 304^b, 313^b, and 317^b; size, 11½ in. by 7 in.

1128

A defective copy of the same.

This excellent but defective copy contains:

1. Arabic ḳaṣidas (كتاب القصائد العربی), on fol. 1^b, beginning as usual; they break off on fol. 8^b in consequence of a lacuna after that page, in a poem rhyming in l, which corresponds to the ḳaṣidah, on fol. 345^a, in No. 1117 in this Cat., beginning: با ملوك الجمال الخ. The last bait here is the last on fol. 345^a in that copy.

2. Some ghazals, on ff. 9 and 10, defective both at the beginning and end; the first bait:

گر ما مفقریم تو بسپار رحمتی
عمری که میرود بامید وفای تست

corresponds to No. 1121 in this Cat., fol. 230^a, l. 4, and belongs in fact to the usual initial poem of the 'early ghazals' (which begins: ای یار ناگزیر الخ); it would seem, therefore, as if these two leaves were part of a fuller collection of the غزلیات قدیم but, strange to say, these very 'early ghazals' follow further down, on fol. 145^b sq., in an absolutely complete form with no visible lacuna, into which these stray leaves might fit.

3. Mulamma'ât and Muthallathât, on ff. 143^a-144^b and 11^a-13^a, beginning as in No. 1125 in this Cat., fol. 189^b: وقتها یکدم الخ.

4. Tarjî'ât (or Murabba'ât, as they are called at the end), on fol. 13^b, beginning: ای زلف تو الخ.

5. Tayyibât, in alphabetical order, on fol. 19^b, beginning: اول دفتر الخ. There is a lacuna after fol. 27; the last bait on fol. 27^b corresponds to No. 1121 in this Cat., fol. 221^a, l. 3 ab infra, the first complete poem, on fol. 28^a to fol. 220^b, last line, in the same copy. Ff. 50 and 51 are turned upside down, and must be read from 51^b backward to 50^a.

6. Badâ'i', likewise in alphabetical order, on fol. 83^b, beginning: الحمد لله رب العالمین الخ (see No. 1117 in this Cat.). There is a lacuna after fol. 84; the last bait on fol. 84^b corresponds to No. 1117, fol. 247^a, l. 5 ab infra, and the first complete poem, on fol. 85^a to fol. 263^a, l. 17 in the same copy. There is a second lacuna after fol. 92; the last bait on fol. 92^a corresponds to No. 1121 in this Cat., fol. 286^b, last line but one (in No. 1117 it cannot be traced): the first complete poem, on fol. 93^a to No. 1117, fol. 253^a, l. 14 (this again cannot be traced in No. 1121).

7. Khawâtim, on fol. 96^b, beginning: سپاس وحمد الخ.

8. Şâhibiyyah, on fol. 108^b, with the usual prose-

IND. OFF.

preface, beginning here thus: الله الکافی حسب الثلاثی وحده الحمد لله نعمة الخ. The first poem begins here (as in Rosen, Persian MSS., p. 196): ما هذه الدنيا بدار مخلد الخ.

9. Muḳaṭṭa'ât, on fol. 123^b, beginning: گر اهل معرفتى هر چه بنگری خوشست الخ. The initial poem of No. 1117, گویند سعدیا الخ, is found here, on fol. 130^a.

10. Khabîthât, on fol. 131^b, beginning with the usual prose-preface. The initial poem begins:

آن شنیدی که در بلاد شمال الخ

(corresponding to No. 1117 in this Cat., fol. 362^a). They break off on fol. 134^b in consequence of a lacuna.

11. Kit'as, short mathnawis, rubâ'is, and fards, all mixed together, on ff. 135^a-142^b; the kit'as probably belong either to the Şâhibiyyah or the Muḳaṭṭa'ât (Nos. 8 and 9).

12. Early ghazals, on fol. 145^b, beginning: با جوانی سر خوشست ابن پیری تدبیر را الخ (corresponding to No. 1121 in this Cat., fol. 209^a margin, l. 6 ab infra, where, however, با جوانان is read instead of با جوانی); the second poem here begins like the Khawâtim in No. 1125 in this Cat., fol. 332^a, but in a metrically more correct form: گرماه من برافکند از رخ نقابرا الخ.

13. The end of the Bûstân, on fol. 179^a, beginning: نکو نام را کس نکیرد اسیر الخ. It comprises the last twenty-nine or thirty verses of the ninth and the whole tenth bâb, corresponding to Graf's ed., p. 429, l. 5 to p. 444, l. 5.

No date. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2762, ff. 182, ll. 23; excellent Nasta'lik; small illuminated headings on ff. 1^b, 13^b, 19^b, 83^b, 96^b, 108^b, 123^b, 131^b, 143^a, and 145^b; all the columns framed with gilt edges; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

1129

Another still more defective copy of the same.

This very old copy is unfortunately very incomplete, and only contains:

1. Gulistân, on fol. 1^b.

2. Tayyibât, on fol. 47^b, beginning as usual: اول دفتر الخ.

3. Khabîthât, on fol. 153^b, beginning with the usual prose-preface. The initial poem is the same as in the preceding copy.

4. Şâhibiyyah, on fol. 162^a, beginning with the fiṭh risâlah of the usual copies, which, exactly as in the Gotha copy (W. Pertsch. No. 70. see Bachier's remark on it in his 'Sa'di-Studien,' p. 95), has been prefixed here to the Şâhibiyyah; the first words of this risâlah are identical with those of the same treatise in No. 1127 in this Cat., viz. الحمد لله تعالى وهو لى من حمد الخ.

The first initial poem of the proper Şâhibiyyah, viz. ما هذه الدنيا بدار مخلد الخ, appears on fol. 169^a, and is the same as in the immediately preceding copy, on fol. 108^b. The proper order of leaves in this part is: ff. 162-174, 183-190, 175-182, 191-193, 195-197; fol. 194, which clearly belongs to the same part, cannot be properly located; there are clearly mixed up here with the Sāhibiyyah, as in many other copies, including some of the preceding ones, portions of the Mukatta'āt, Fardiyyāt, short mathnawis, and at the end also fragments of the Tarji'āt. A lacuna after fol. 197.

5. The latter half of the Būstān, beginning abruptly on fol. 198^a. The first bait here corresponds to p. 297, l. 6, in Graf's edition, that is about the middle of the fifth bāb; the sixth begins here on fol. 200^a; the seventh, on fol. 204^b; the eighth, on fol. 213^a; the ninth, on fol. 219^a; the tenth, on fol. 225^a; this last bāb breaks off, on fol. 227^b, with the bait: گنه عفو کرد آل يعقوب را اله, corresponding to p. 443, last line in Graf's edition, so that the last six verses of the latter are wanting here; on fol. 228^a, one fragmentary and one complete ghazal by Sa'di are added; fol. 228^b contains in a very bad handwriting two ghazals by فرطوسی (sic! perhaps فردوسی!); but they are partly injured, and partly quite illegible.

The really very old character of the copy is evident from the use of ذ instead of د almost always at the end of words, as ندارد, سپارد, گمارد, باز آمد, نشاید, آبزد, افتاد, نرزد (together with نرزد in the same poem, on fol. 104^b etc.).

No date.

No. 465, ff. 228, 2 coll., each ll. 23; good old Naskhī; vignettes on ff. 1^a, 47^a, 153^a, and 162^b; small illuminated, but rather effaced headings, on ff. 1^b, 47^b, 153^b, and 162^b; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

1130

A small fragment of the same.

This fragment comprises only a part of the collector's preface and a defective set of the usual risālas, viz. Bisutūn's (or Ibn Bisutūn's) preface, beginning as usual, on fol. 1^b; but already on the margin of the next page, fol. 2^a, the copyist has suddenly jumped from this preface into the middle of the first risālah, در تقریر دیباجه; ll. 8 and 9 belong likewise to the preface; but the words in l. 14, که دل شخص انسان بود اله, are part of the first risālah, corresponding to No. 1121 in this Cat., fol. 3^a margin, l. 13. A second jump from the middle of the first risālah into that of the second (the five مجلس) is made on fol. 5^a margin; l. 2 also belongs to the first risālah, corresponding to No. 1121, fol. 5^a margin, lin. penult.; l. 3 already forms part of the first majlis of the second risālah, corresponding to No. 1121, fol. 6^b, l. 9. The second majlis begins on fol. 6^a, the third on fol. 8^b margin, the fourth on fol. 10^a margin, the fifth on fol. 13^a; the third risālah, on fol. 18^b margin; the fourth, on fol. 20^a; the fifth, on fol. 21^b; the sixth, comprising the first story only (نصیحت حضرت شیخ سلطان اباقا), on fol. 31^a; the seventh, comprising the third story of the usual sixth risālah, حکایت ملک شمس الدین, on fol. 32^a; towards the end of this story the copy breaks off, the last words corresponding to No. 1126 in this Cat., fol. 82^b, l. 6.

No. 1725, ff. 32, centre-col., ll. 12; margin-col., ll. 26; small Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; the first two pages splendidly adorned; small illuminations throughout; a picture on fol. 18^a size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

Diwān-i-Sa'di (دیوان سعدی).

Sa'di's minor poems, arranged in a way which differs from all the other collections of the same title, both in the preceding copies (see Nos. 1121 and 1127) and in those of other libraries (see, for instance, Bodleian Cat., Nos. 692-697, and Rieu ii. p. 601^b). It contains merely the usual parts of a common diwān, i. e. kašidas (on ff. 1^b-44^a), tarji'bands (on ff. 44^a-48^a), and ghazals in alphabetical order, with a few mathnawi-baits at the end (on ff. 48^a-232).

The so-called kašidas practically agree with the Tayyibāt of other copies, beginning in the usual way: اول دفتر بنام ایزد دانا اله.

The tarji'bands begin: در عهد تو ای نگار دل‌بند اله (corresponding to the initial bait in No. 1127 in this Cat.).

The ghazals open with the rhyme-letter ب, and begin:

زمن مهرس که از دست او دلم چونست
ازو مهرس که انگشتهاش بر خونست

No date.

No. 59, ff. 232, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece, the margin sprinkled with various colours; size, 9½ in. by 5¼ in.

1132

Intikhab-i-diwān-i-Sa'di (انتخاب دیوان سعدی).

Short extracts from Sa'di's minor poems, consisting of kašidas and ghazals, with a few kit'as and rubā'is at the end.

Beginning: شکرو سپاس و نعمت و منت خدا را! (the usual beginning of the قصائد فارسیه, see the preceding copies).

No date.

No. 609, ff. 215^b-244, 2 centre-col., each ll. 15, and a third on the margin, ll. 24-28; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; the first two pages richly ornamented; a drawing on fol. 244^b; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1133

Three works of Sa'di.

This splendid copy, illuminated throughout in the most gorgeous style, contains:—

a. In the centre-column of ff. 1^b-144^b, Sa'di's Gulistān, slightly imperfect at the end (a few lines of the conclusion being missing in consequence of a lacuna after fol. 144). Bāb I, on fol. 12^a; II, on fol. 44^b; III, on fol. 69^a; IV, on fol. 97^a; V, on fol. 101^a; VI, on fol. 117^a; VII, on fol. 122^a; VIII, on fol. 129^b.

b. In the margin-column of ff. 1^b-144^b, Sa'di's Bûstân (at the end fifteen verses missing according to Graf's edition, in consequence of the same lacuna). Bâb I, on fol. 8^a; II, on fol. 41^a; III, on fol. 58^b; IV, on fol. 71^b; V, on fol. 89^b, last line; VI, on fol. 97^a; VII, on fol. 103^b; VIII, on fol. 119^b; IX, on fol. 129^b; X, on fol. 141^a.

c. In the centre-column of ff. 145^a-155^a, Sa'di's Pandnâma, defective at the beginning (owing to the before-mentioned lacuna). There are five baits wanting; the first that appears here corresponds to the last on fol. 1^b in the following copy.

On the margin of ff. 145^a-155^a there is found the well-known religious mathnawî on the duties of a Muslim, styled رسالة نام حق (as it is called here), likewise defective at the beginning; the first bait, which is the eighth in the usual copies (for instance, No. 1345 of the India Office Collection, fol. 56^b), runs thus:

روز و شب طالب قبول ویم - ببری امت رسول ویم
comp. on this poem, which is usually styled مقدمة القلوب, Bodleian Cat., Nos. 1767 and 1768. The date of composition, viz. 693 of the Rihlat, or A.H. 703 (A.D. 1303), is contained in the last verse.

The whole MS., written throughout by the same hand, was transcribed at the request of Nawwâb 'Abd-almuhsinkhân, son of Nawwâb 'Abd-alnabikhân, by Mihr 'Ali, son of Muhammad Ibrâhim, and finished the 12th of Rabi'-alawwal, A.H. 1165 (A.D. 1752, Jan. 29). On fol. 1^a is a seal of John Henry Peile, جان هنری پیل, with the date A.H. 1220 (A.D. 1805), and a statement in English, 'that this MS. was the gift of Mr. Sanders, 1811, that it was presented by J. H. Peile, Esq. (of the Madras Civil Service), and received 19th September, 1818, transferred to Civil College (i.e. Haileybury), 9 Aug., 1819.'

No. 3299, ff. 155, ll. 11, and an additional margin-col., ll. 30; large and distinct Nasta'lik; splendid frontispiece on fol. 1^b, every page, from first to last, adorned with gold borders round each line of the centre-column, and three corner-vignettes in various colours and designs; size, 10 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Pandnâma.

Another copy of Sa'di's Pandnâma, beginning:

کریم بخشای بر حال ما - که هستم اسیرکمند هوا
comp. Nos. 1127 and 1133 in this Cat.

Dated the 14th of Shawwâl, A.H. 1209 (A.D. 1795, May 4).

No. 1345, ff. 1-10^b, 2 coll., each ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 4 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

1135

The same.

Beginning:

کریم به بخشای بر حال ما
که هستم اسیری (!) کمند هوا

Quite modern copy, dated the 16th of Rajab (without any year), by a scribe with the name of Muhammad.

No. 3083, ff. 1-9, ll. 14; Nasta'lik; size, 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

1136

Bûstân.

Another copy of Sa'di's Bûstân, not dated, but old, probably belonging to the end of the tenth century of the Hijrah.

Beginning: بنام خداوند جان آفرین الخ.

Bâb I, on fol. 5^b; II, on fol. 40^a; III, on fol. 58^a; IV, on fol. 70^b; V, on fol. 88^a; VI, on fol. 95^a; VII, on fol. 101^a; VIII, on fol. 115^b; IX, on fol. 124^b; X, on fol. 131^b.

No. 3485, olim 20, J. 10, ff. 135, 2 coll., each ll. 15; very neat and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1137

The same.

Dated A.H. 1019 (A.D. 1610, 1611).

No. 286, margin-col., ff. 1-116, ll. 36-38; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece.

1138

The same.

This copy was written by Kamâl; one half of the date is torn away, but what is left, viz. ۴۳, seems to indicate A.H. 1043 (A.D. 1633, 1634).

No. 472, ff. 150, 2 coll., each ll. 14; excellent Nasta'lik; illuminations on the first two pages; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1139

The same.

Beginning, the usual one: بنام خداوند جان آفرین الخ. but the various reading of جهاندار for خداوند (as in fact many copies read) has been suggested on the margin. The last bait of Graf's edition is here the last but two; the additional two baits are:

هزاران درود و هزاران سلام - زمان بر محمد علیه السلام
ترافتی و دولت همیشه مدام - بحق محمد علیه السلام

Copied A.H. 1081 (A.D. 1670, 1671) by 'Abd-alrasûl ibn Maulânâ 'Ali. Collated. Bibliotheca Leydeniana. On the fly-leaf at the back the following note: 'The Bostan of Sadi; Palgatacherri, Aug., 1805; J. Leyden.'

No. 2713, ff. 150, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{5}{8}$ in. by 5 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

1140

The same.

Another excellent copy, written A.H. 1082 (A.D. 1671, 1672) by Muza'ffar Husain alhusaini; the poem begins on fol. 2^b. Instead of the usual ten bâbs this copy contains eleven, the ninth bâb having been split into two, the second headed on fol. 169^b: در موعظه و تنبیه.

No. 154, ff. 179, 2 coll., each ll. 12; very large and distinct Nasta'lik; the margin sprinkled with various colours; two large pictures on ff. 1^b and 2^a; illuminated frontispiece on fol. 2^b; size, 12 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 7 $\frac{1}{8}$ in.

1141

The same.

This copy is dated the 21st of Dhû-alhijjah, A. H. 1156 (A. D. 1744, Feb. 5), the 26th year of Muḥammadshâh's reign, by Rûḥ-allâh ibn Shaikh Zind ibn Shaikh Muhibb 'Ali Mâlik. A few various readings and annotations on the margin.

No. 1561, ff. 134, 2 coll., each ll. 15-17; Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1142

The same.

A most splendid copy, written at the request of Nawwâb Ahmadrâh Bahâdur bin Ghadānfar-aldaulah Bahâdur by Râm Pirshâd, and finished at Shâhjahânâbâd the 14th of Rabî'althâni, A. H. 1171 (A. D. 1757, Dec. 26).

No. 1779, ff. 58, 4 coll., each ll. 21; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; large illuminated frontispiece; very fine and carefully executed illustrations on ff. 2^b, 3^a, 3^b, 5^a, 8^a, 21^a, 27^b, 47^b, 50^a, 54^a, 57^b, and 58^a; size, 12½ in. by 8½ in.

1143

The same.

Beginning: بنام جهاندار جان آفرین الخ.

Dated the 19th of Dhû-alḥa'dah, A. H. 1197 (A. D. 1783, Oct. 16) = 3rd of the month آسن, of the year 1190 of the Bangālî era, by the محرر مکرّم of Bahila (بهيله). in the Parganah of Amirpûr Balanda (امیرپور بلنده). Bibliotheca Leydeniana. Occasional notes in English on the margin.

No. 2743, ff. 130, 2 coll., each ll. 17; clear Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 6½ in.

1144

The same.

A modern copy, dated the 7th of January, 1804. Beginning: بنام جهاندار الخ.

College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2317, ff. 168, 2 coll., each ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 7½ in. by 5½ in.

1145

The same.

Splendid copy, without a date. On the first and the last page of this MS. there is an index of—as it seems—Farîd-al-dîn 'Aṭṭâr's Pandûnâma and Ḥusainî's Kanz-alrumûz.

No. 1288, ff. 50, 4 coll., each ll. 23; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 10½ in. by 6 in.

1146

The same.

Another copy without a date. Many marginal and interlinear glosses, for the greater part written in red ink. The Bûstân concludes on fol. 137^a; a few lines in prose are added by the transcriber on fol. 138^a. Fol. 12 must be read after fol. 13.

No. 390, ff. 138, 2 coll., each ll. 15-16; Nasta'lik; size, 10 in. by 6½ in.

1147

The same.

Good copy, not dated.

No. 209, margin-col. on ff. 1^b-148^b, ll. 26, and an additional centre-col. on ff. 136^a-149^a, ll. 11; clear Nasta'lik; illuminations on ff. 1^b and 2^a; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1148

Extracts from the Bûstân.

Select verses from Sa'dî's Bûstân, beginning with the usual initial bait: بنام خداوند جان آفرین الخ.

Similar extracts were made by Shâh Kâsim-i-Anwâr (died A. H. 837 = A. D. 1433, 1434), see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 743 and 744. As title to these extracts is given, on fol. 1^a: جزوی از بوستان سعدی.

Copied in Shawwâl, A. H. 959 (A. D. 1552, Sept.-October).

No. 268, ff. 24, 2 coll., each ll. 11; excellent Nasta'lik; beautiful illuminations on the first two pages; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1149

A fragment of the Bûstân.

Beginning: بنام جهاندار الخ; it breaks off, on fol. 38^b, in the second half of Bâb I, with the bait:

بخاک اندرش عقد بگسیخته - گهرهای دندان فرو رخته corresponding to p. 118, last bait, in Graf's edition.

This MS. belonged formerly to Sir Barry Close, Bart.

No. 1340, ff. 1-38^b, 2 coll., each ll. 11-15; large, unequal Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1150

Sharḥ-i-Bustân (شرح بوستان).

'Abd-alwâsi' Hânsawi's commentary on the Bûstân, beginning, on fol. 41^b: رتبًا لا تواخذنا إن نسینا أو اخطانا; وصل علی نبیک ورسولک محمد سیدنا و مولانا وعلی آله واصحابه الخ میگوید معترف بعجز و نادانی در فهم الفاظ و درک معانی عبد الواسع هانسوی که الخ. comp. A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 552. 'Abd-alwâsi' of Hânsi (see above, col. 403) is also the author of the غرائب اللغات, an alphabetical glossary of Hindi words with Persian explanation, improved and re-edited by Sirâj-al-dîn 'Ali Ârzû, and of a Persian Grammar, printed 1851 in Cawnpore, comp. Rieu iii. pp. 1030^a and 1096^b.

The text of the Bûstân (introduction) begins, on fol. 42^b: بنام جهاندار جان آفرین; Book I, on fol. 61^a; II, on fol. 106^b; III, on fol. 130^a; IV, on fol. 149^a; V, on fol. 171^a; VI, on fol. 182^a; VII, on fol. 188^b; VIII, on fol. 206^b; IX, on fol. 216^a; X, on fol. 218^a. Fol. 50^b is left blank, but there is no lacuna.

Not all verses, but only the difficult ones, are explained by the commentator.

This copy was finished after a careful collation by Muḥammad Naṣîr, the son of Sayyid Luṭf-allâh, who was also an inhabitant of Hânsi, the 8th of Şafar, A. H.

1140 (A. D. 1727, Sept. 25). On fol. 220 a fragment in Hindūstānī: خيال بزبان هندی.

No. 530, ff. 41-220, ll. 11; large and distinct Nasta'lik; the first two pages sprinkled with gold; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

1151

Kalid-i-Bustān (کلید بستان).

A short glossary to Sa'di's Bustān, arranged alphabetically, except the five first words; beginning: حلب نام مقام ماخولیا خلل دماغ غور مقام . . . اقواء دهنها استعانت یاری خواستن آگنده بر شده الخ.

The whole letter l from اقواء to the beginning of the letter b quite agrees with the short glossary to Hāfiz' diwān, contained on ff. 38-48 of this same MS., see the second glossary further down in this Cat. under 'Hāfiz'; but all the rest from b down to the end of ی is different from that. It concludes on fol. 97^b, and is dated the 12th of Dhū-alka'dah, in the first year of Jahāndārshāh's reign (= A. H. 1124, A. D. 1712, Dec. 11). As this little glossary follows in the same MS. immediately upon the مفتاح گلستان, by Uwais bin 'Alā-aldin Ādam (see Nos. 1176-1179 in this Cat.), it may be due to the same author, who flourished about A. H. 900 (A. D. 1494, 1495).

This is followed, on ff. 98-106^b, by another short glossary, likewise to the Bustān, arranged without alphabetical order, according to the single chapters of Sa'di's poem; but there are quoted only eight chapters; the last two seem to be missing. Beginning: پوزش عذر (عزیز). MS. ومعذرت الخ. At the end a fragment of a تعمیر نامه.

Copied A. H. 1148 (A. D. 1735, 1736).

No. 1840, ff. 91-107, ll. 13; clear Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 6 in.

1152

Sharḥ-i-Bustān (شرح بوستان).

A very short commentary on Sa'di's Bustān, in which only the difficult verses and phrases are explained, by an anonymous author, who, however, judging from the immediately following commentary on the Gulistān in this same MS. (see No. 1180 in this Cat.), seems identical with Muḥammad 'Abd-alrasūl bin Shihāb-aldin, who wrote both his small explanatory works on Bustān and Gulistān in the same year, viz. A. H. 1073 (A. D. 1662, 1663), see Rieu ii. p. 604; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 552, etc.

The present copy begins, without any introduction, at once with the initial bait of the poem: بنام جهاندار

جان آفرن . . . جهان بمعنی روزگار مصحح است از خدمت امر شهاب الدین حکیم الخ.

Bāb I begins on fol. 231^a.

No date.

No. 212, ff. 225-254, ll. 20; Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

1153

Gulistān.

Another copy of Sa'di's Gulistān, not dated, but old and especially valuable, as, according to the statement in the colophon, it has been copied from and collated with the poet's autograph.

No. 1598, ff. 92, ll. 14-15; ff. 1, 2, 32, and 56 supplied by a modern hand; Nasta'lik; size, 9 in. by 5 in.

The same.

This copy, rich in marginal and interlinear glosses, was transcribed from a good old copy of A. H. 805 (A. D. 1402, 1403) at Lakhnau, A. H. 1183, and finished the 24th of Rabi'-althānī in that year (A. D. 1769, Aug. 27). It ends on fol. 90^a, and is followed on the same and the following page by the transcriber's report about the source of his copy.

No. 820, ff. 1-90, ll. 16; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

1155

The same.

This copy was transcribed from one of Miyān Muḥammad Ṣāliḥ, which through several intermediate transcripts traced its origin back to an autograph of the poet himself, by Muḥammad Murid bin Muḥammad Rashid, for his son Rashid Muḥammad, in the first or tenth year of Shāh 'Ālam's reign (A. H. 1173 or 1182 = A. D. 1760 or 1768, 1769). On ff. 1^b-2^b a full index of the Gulistān, supplied by another hand; the work itself begins on fol. 3^b.

No. 235, ff. 135, ll. 11; clear Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece on fol. 3^b; size, 9 in. by 5½ in.

1156

The same.

Dated the 15th of Jumādā-alawwal, A. H. 1019 (A. D. 1610, Aug. 5).

No. 286, centre-col., ff. 119, ll. 15; distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

1157

The same.

This copy, rather uncouth and dirty, but provided with numerous interlinear paraphrases in Hindūstānī, is dated the 10th of Ramaḍān, A. H. 1138 (A. D. 1726, May 12). Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2735, ff. 112, ll. 14; written in a very peculiar style of Nasta'lik, mixed with Shikasta, by several hands, as it seems; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1158

The same.

Dated the 5th of Rabi'-alawwal, in the thirteenth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign (= A. H. 1144, A. D. 1731, Sept. 7).

Miftāḥ-i-Gulistān (مفتاح گلستان).

Short commentary on and glossary to Sa'di's Gulistān, composed by Uwais bin 'Alā-aldin, known as Ādam, a pupil of Khwājah Abū-alfaiḍ Abū-alfadl Amir-aldin Shāh Nīmat-allāh Muḥammad bin Muḥammad al-Hasani, and dedicated to the Bahmanī Sultān of the Dakhan, Maḥmūdshāh bin Muḥammadshāh (who reigned A. H. 887-924 = A. D. 1482-1518, see above, No. 449). According to the last words in No. 3338 (1179 in this Cat.), the work was completed by the author on the day عاشور, i. e. the 10th of Muḥarram, A. H. 900 (A. D. 1494, Oct. 11). It is divided into two kisms, the first kism being a glossary, arranged alphabetically, of the difficult words (قسم اول مبوّب از حروف مقطعات در بیان لغات), the last letter constituting the bāb, the first the faṣl or subdivision; the second kism containing an explanation of the difficult phrases, verses of the Kurān, traditions and sayings of Shaikhs, Arabic baits and invocations of God, etc., which occur in the Gulistān (قسم دوم در تفسیر و معانی آیات و کلام قدسی و احادیث و اقوال و ادعبات و اشعار تازی که در کتاب گلستان مذکور است).

Beginning: فاتحه مرفتاحی را که افتتاح کلام خود بفاتحه: الکتاب مخصوص گردانید الخ.

First kism, on fol. 6^b; second kism, on fol. 57^b.

The copy ends on fol. 69^b, and is dated the 6th of Sha'bān, A. H. 1052 (A. D. 1642, Oct. 30). On ff. 71^b-

75^a there are written by another hand some fragments of theological tracts in Arabic, on Muḥammad, the Kurān, etc.

No. 104, ff. 75, ll. 13; Naskhi; size, $7\frac{1}{2}$ in. by $4\frac{1}{4}$ in.

1177

Another copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy; first kism, on fol. 5^b; second kism, on fol. 49^b. Copied A. H. 1070 (A. D. 1659, 1660).

No. 103, ff. 56, ll. 12-13; carelessly written in a mixture of Nasta'lik and Shikasta; size, $7\frac{5}{8}$ in. by $4\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1178

The same.

This copy begins: کتاب مفتاح گلستان حضرت سعدی شیرازی، فاتحه مرفتاح (sic!) را که افتتاح کلام خود الخ.

First kism, on fol. 55^b; second kism, on fol. 83^b.

On fol. 51^a another title is given to this work, viz. کلید گلستان. Dated the 24th of Jumādā-alawwal, A. H. 1148 (A. D. 1735, Oct. 12).

No. 1840, ff. 51-90, ll. 13; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, $8\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6 in.

1179

The same.

This copy, written rather incorrectly and not dated, begins: فاتحه مرفتاحی که افتتاح کلام خود الخ.

First kism, on fol. 151^b; second kism, on fol. 192^a. last line. The date A. H. 900, 10th of Muḥarram, appears on fol. 203^a, ll. 5 and 6.

Purchased by J. H. Peile, Esq., at Mysore, 1800; received at the Library Sept. 19, 1818; transferred to Civil College, Aug. 9, 1819.

No. 3338, olim 20. J. 6, ff. 147-203, ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, $8\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6 in.

Sharḥ-i-Gulistān (شرح گلستان).

Another short commentary on the Gulistān, by Muḥammad 'Abd-alrasūl (or, as he is called here, by a confusion with his brother 'Abdallāh, 'Abdallāh alrasūl) bin Shihāb-almillat (Shihāb-aldin) bin Shaikh 'Abdallāh bin Shaikh Tāhir bin Shaikh Ḥasan alḡuraishī (or alḡuraishī) alḡashimi, who began this work after having completed his commentary on the Būstān (see No. 1152 in this Cat.) in A. H. 1073 (A. D. 1662, 1663): comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 724; Rieu ii. p. 604 and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 550. It was printed in Lucknow. A. H. 1264.

Beginning: ساس بی قاس عیسی را که علم علم الاسماء کُلّها (Sūrah 2, v. 29) حرفی است از تخته تعلیم او الخ.

Every bāb of the Gulistān comprises in this commentary five explanatory parts, viz. 1. verses of the Kurān (آیات الهی); 2. traditions of the Prophet, sayings of the Shaikhs, and Arabic proverbs (احادیث); 3. Arabic verses (نیموی و اقوال مشایخ و امثال عرب); 4. Persian verses (ابیات فارسیه); 5. difficult Arabic and Persian words and phrases, in alphabetical order (لغات عربیه و فارسیه برعادت ترتیب حروف). Occasional notes and additions on the margin.

Dated the 2nd of Ramadān, in the seventeenth year of 'Ālamgir's reign (= A.H. 1085. A.D. 1674, Nov. 30).

No. 212, ff. 255-284, ll. 20; Nasta'liq; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

Sharḥ-i-Gulistān (شرح گلستان).

Another commentary on the Gulistān, by Muḥammad Nūr-allāh Aḥrārī, see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 550, beginning, on fol. 24^b: مست مر خدا را عز وجل که زبان گویند را. بشکار دل دانا ساخت الخ.

The author's name appears on fol. 25^a, l. 8. It is the same Nūr-allāh Aḥrārī who wrote a commentary on the mathnawī (see No. 1104 in this Cat.).

This copy is incomplete, one leaf seems to be missing at the end; it breaks off in the eighth chapter (which begins on fol. 96^a); the last words of the text are: ... پادشاه از برای (or rather: پادشاه از بهر ستمگاران دفع ستمگاران, see No. 2797 (1174 in this Cat.), fol. 95^b, l. 7).

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2787, ff. 24-103, ll. 15; Shikasta; size, 8¾ in. by 6 in.

1182

Farhang-i-Gulistān (فرهنگ گلستان).

A short Persian paraphrase of the difficult Arabic and Persian verses, the sentences of the Kurān, traditions of the Prophet, sayings of other great Shaikhs, and a great many single words, especially of Arabic origin, which occur in Sa'di's Gulistān, composed by Junaid bin 'Abdallāh, and beginning: الحمد لله على نعمائه والصلوة على رسوله والسلام على اصحابه قال الخ.

It is divided into three kisms:

قسم اول اشعار عربی و بعضی فارسی مشکل

قسم دوم در مرکبات معانی بعضی اقوال اکابر و حدیث نبوی و کلام ربّانی

قسم سوم در لغات مفردات و حروف تهجی

The third kism begins on fol. 158^a.

The Persian paraphrase is an interlinear one, and written in much smaller characters than the original words and phrases. Finished the 15th of Rajab, in the fourteenth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign (= A.H. 1145, A.D. 1733, Jan. 1).

No. 1481, ff. 149^b-171, ll. 18; Nasta'liq; size, 6¾ in. by 3½ in.

Farhang-i-Gulistān (فرهنگ گلستان).

Another small glossary of the Gulistān, with the same title, chiefly explaining Arabic words by an interlinear Persian paraphrase; it is divided into two portions, the first of which is arranged alphabetically according to the last letter, viz. لغات مفردات بترتیب رضا, on fol. 1^a, beginning with رضا (= خشنودی); the second is headed لغات متفرقة, on fol. 18^b, beginning with انابت (= توبه).

No compiler's name appears. Dated, as it seems, the 9th of Šafar (? the word is entirely misspelt here), in the first year of Aḥmadshāh's reign (= A.H. 1162, A.D. 1749, Jan. 29). A seal, however, of the first owner, Ghulām Muhyi-al-din Rafi, bears the earlier date A.H. 1155 (A.D. 1742, 1743), on fol. 18^b, another of the same is found at the end of the copy.

No. 1605, ff. 21; careless Nasta'liq; size, 7¼ in. by 4¾ in.

1184

Tarjuma-i-Ash'ār-i-Gulistān (ترجمة اشعار گلستان).

A Persian translation of all the Arabic verses and sentences which occur in Sa'di's Gulistān, by an anonymous author, beginning: الحمد لله المعبود که مناشیر تناسیر الخ.

This paraphrase is divided into five faṣls, the first of which comprises the verses of the Kurān (در کتاب و آیات); the second, the traditions (در احادیث عظیم); the third, the sayings of the Shaikhs (در قول مشایخ); the fourth, all the rest of the Arabic verses (در اشعار); and the fifth, whole Arabic phrases and sentences (در لغات و کلمات تأملات). The third and fifth of these faṣls are entirely missing in this copy. The first begins on fol. 250^b, the second on fol. 252^a, and the fourth on fol. 253^b.

No. 2650, ff. 250-257, ll. 17; Nasta'liq; size, 12½ in. by 7 in.

Risāla-i-duwum dar majlis-i-panjgāna (رساله دوم در مجلس پنجگانه).

Another copy of the second risālah or prose-treatise of Sa'di, containing the five homilies, see above, No. 1117, 2 sq.

It is divided into five majlis, and begins, on fol. 93^a: خبرست از آن مفتدای زمره حقیقت و آن پهبشوی لشکر طریقت آن نگین خانم جلال الخ.

Dated at Lakhnau the 24th of Rabi'-althāni, A.H. 1183 (A.D. 1769, Aug. 27), see No. 1154 in this Cat.

No. 820, ff. 93^a-114, ll. 16; Nasta'liq; size, 8½ in. by 4¾ in.

Poets who died between A.H. 700 and 800.

Amīr Khusrau (Nos. 1186-1222).

1186

Kulliyāt-i-Amir Khusrau (کلیات امیر خسرو).

The oldest collection of poetical works, by the greatest Persian poet of India, Yamin-al-din Abū-alḥasan Amīr

Khusrau, son of Lâjin (who afterwards assumed the title of Amir Saif-al-din Mahmūd Shamsi), born A.H. 651 (A.D. 1253) in Patyâli or Patiyâli, died in Dihli A.H. 725, either the 18th of Shawwâl, as the Matlûb-altâlibin states (see No. 3 in the list of Nizâm-al-din Auliya's pupils, col. 324 in this Cat.)=A.D. 1325, Sept. 27, or the 29th of Dhû-alka'dah=A.D. 1325, Nov. 6, as Rieu and Sprenger assert; comp. on his life and works Rieu i. pp. 240-242, and ii. p. 609 sq.; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 753-799; W. Pertsch, p. 74 (No. 43, 6), and Berliu Cat., p. 831 sq.; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 465 sq.; Onseley, Biogr. Notices, pp. 148-163; Elliot, History of India, iii. pp. 524-566; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, pp. 350-352; G. Flügel i. p. 542; J. Aumer, pp. 21 and 22; comp. also Haft Iklim, No. 391 (coll. 404 and 405 in this Cat.); Butkhâna, No. 30 (Bodleian Cat., coll. 199 and 200); Âtashkada, No. 754 (ib., col. 288); and Khulâsat-alkalâm, No. 23 (ib., col. 297).

This collection, which was written A.H. 866 and 867 (A.D. 1462), contains the following parts:

A. Centre-columns.

1. Dībā'ca (ديباچه), or prose-preface to the third diwân, containing notices on the earlier Persian literature, and a detailed account of the poet's life and works, beginning, on fol. 1b: اطلع الله (other copies الله) ان العزيز (الغرر) من مطالع غرة الكمال الخ غرة كمال انسان از ديپاچه حمد مختصر عيسيت كه مطلع ديوان الخ.

2. Ghurrat-alkamâl (غرة الكمال), or the poems of maturity, the third of Amir Khusrau's diwâns (and the only one which is found complete in this copy); according to Rieu (ii. p. 610^a) it contains the poems written between A.H. 685 and 693 (A.D. 1286-1294), but according to No. 754 in the Bodleian Cat. it was not completed before A.H. 702 (A.D. 1302, 1303), and the latter date seems more correct, as this diwân contains, among others, kaşidas in honour of 'Alâ-al-din Muḥammadshâh Khilji, who reigned from A.H. 695 to 715 or 716 (A.D. 1296-1316).

Beginning, on fol. 45^b:

چون آفتاب روشن توحيد ذو الجلال
بنمود رخ زمطلع اين غرة کمال

The various distichs of this initial poem, which is not found in other copies (except No. 2073, 1192 in this Cat.) in its complete form, serve as introduction to each of the following poems, and represent the various links of the chain or 'silsilah' which binds the separate kaşidas, etc., together (see Rieu ii. p. 609, and Bodleian Cat., col. 554). The first two baits appear as heading of the second kaşidah, on fol. 48^a, which, in most other copies, is the first, beginning:

چو زهره خاک مسكين را كه توحيد خدا گوید
بدین آلودگی ذات مقدس را ثنا گوید

The third bait introduces the third kaşidah, on fol. 54^a; the fourth bait the fourth kaşidah, on fol. 60^a; and so forth. This diwân consists of kaşidas (ff. 45^b-135^b), tarjībānds (ff. 136^a-145^b), beginning as in No. 754 of the Bodleian Cat.: ای دل جا مانده خیر الخ, and muḥaṭṭa'ât (ff. 146^a-164^b), beginning likewise as in the Bodleian copy: هر كه گوید كه من از عقل الخ. Other copies in Rieu ii. pp. 610^b, 613^b, and 614^a; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 754 and 755, and A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 468.

IND. OFF.

3. Ghazaliyyât (غزلیات), a collection of minor lyrical poems, gathered, as is usual in copies of Amir Khusrau's works, from all the four older diwâns of the poet (see similar collections in Rieu, W. Pertsch, Bodleian Cat., G. Flügel, etc., loc. cit.), introduced by a kaşidah, beginning, on fol. 164^b: حمد رانم بر زبان لله رب العالمين الخ. This is the initial poem of the second diwân (وسط الحیوة); see the following copy and A. Sprenger, p. 468; and of the general ديوان امير خسرو in No. 1193 below, in Rieu ii. p. 614^b, and Bodleian Cat., Nos. 758 and 759. From fol. 175^b onwards they are arranged in alphabetical order; beginning of the first alphabetical ghazal: بشكافت غم اين ريش جگر خواره مارا الخ.

4. Rubâ'iyât (رباعیات), on fol. 477^b, beginning:

صانع احدى كه ساخت نه چرخ كهن
نی عقل رسد بكنه وصفش نه سخن

This is the initial bait of the rubâ'is of the fourth diwân (بقية نقيّة) in No. 756 of the Bodleian Cat. and of the general selection from Khusrau's diwâns in No. 759 of the same.

5. Kīrān-i-Sa'dain (قران سعدین), usually called Kīrān-alsa'dain (قران السعدین), the conjunction of the two lucky planets, i.e. the meeting of Sulṭān Mu'izz-al-din Kaikubād of Dihli (who reigned from A.H. 686 to 689=A.D. 1287-1290, see col. 320 in this Cat.), with his father, Sulṭān Nāṣir-al-din Bughrākhān of Bangālāh. in A.H. 688 (A.D. 1289), at Dihli; it was completed in the month of Ramadān, in the same year (A.D. 1289, Sept., October); comp. Rieu ii. pp. 611^b and 612^a; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 773-775; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 470; W. Pertsch, Berliu Cat., pp. 838 and 839; Elliot, History of India, iii. pp. 524-534 (where extracts in English translation are given), and Cowell's account of the poem in the Journal of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, 1860, vol. 29, pp. 225-239. The mathnawī has been lithographed in Lucknow, A.H. 1259 and 1261 (the latter edition compiled by Maulawī Kudrat Aḥmad and accompanied with glosses). Three commentaries of the same are described in A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 471, one by Nūr-allaḥ, styled نور العین (see another copy in Rieu ii. p. 617^b), and composed A.H. 1014 (A.D. 1605, 1606); another by 'Abd-alrasūl Kāsim, and a third by an anonymous writer.

Beginning of the mathnawī, on fol. 506^a:

حمد خداوند سرانم نخست
تا شود این نامه زنامش درست
y y

This is the third bait in most copies where two initial verses in a different metre are prefixed to the poem (beginning: شکر گویم که بتوفیق خداوند (جهان الخ). From fol. 506 to fol. 514^a this poem is only written in the centre-columns, like the preceding parts, but from fol. 514^b to the end (on fol. 520) also on the margin.

B. Margin-column.

6. Maṭla'-alanwār (مطلع الانوار), or the rising of the lights, a mystical mathnawi in imitation of Nizāmi's Makhzan-alasrar, being the first part of Amir Khusrau's Khamsah, and beginning, on fol. 1^b:

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم - خطبة قدسست بملك قدم

This poem was composed A.H. 698 (A.D. 1298, 1299), and dedicated, like the second, third, and fifth part of the Khamsah, to 'Alā-aldin Muḥammadshāh (see above under No. 2).

7. Shirīn u Khusrau (شیرین و خسرو), or the loves of Khusrau and Shirin, completed in the beginning of Rajab of the same year, A.H. 698 (A.D. 1299, 4th of April); it was written in imitation of Nizāmi's Khusrau u Shirin and forms the second part of Amir Khusrau's Khamsah.

Beginning, on fol. 91^b:

خداوندا دلم را چشم بگشای - بمعراج یقینم راه بنمای

8. Majnūn u Lailā (مجنون و لیلی), or the loves of Lailā and Majnūn, an imitation of Nizāmi's Lailā u Majnūn, forming the third part of Amir Khusrau's Khamsah. It was composed, like the two preceding poems, in A.H. 698, and begins, on fol. 203^b:

ای داده بدل خزینۀ راز - عقل از تو شده خزینۀ پرواز

This poem has been printed in Calcutta 1811, 1818, and A.H. 1244 (A.D. 1828, 1829), in Lucknow A.H. 1286 (A.D. 1869); it is also published in Lumsden's Persian Selections (Calcutta, 1828); Zenker (ii. 550) cites besides an edition of 1848, without any specification of place.

9. Hasht Bihisht (هشت بهشت), or the eight paradises, containing the love-adventures of Bahrām-gūr in imitation of Nizāmi's Haft Paikar. It forms in some copies the fourth part of Amir Khusrau's Khamsah, in others the fifth, and was composed A.H. 701 (A.D. 1301, 1302).

Beginning, on fol. 274^b:

ای گشاینده خزائن جود - نقش پیوند کارگاه وجود

10. Ā'ina-i-Iskandari (آئینۀ اسکندری), or the mirror of Alexander, composed A.H. 699 (A.D. 1299, 1300) in imitation of Nizāmi's Iskandarnāma, and forming the fifth (or more commonly the fourth) part of Amir Khusrau's Khamsah.

Beginning, on fol. 359^b:

جهان پادشاهما خدائی تراست

ازل تا ابد پادشاهی تراست

Other copies of this Khamsah (besides the five described below in Nos. 1196-1200) are noticed in Bodleian Cat., Nos. 766-771; Rieu ii. pp. 611 (Nos. VII-XI) and 615 sq.; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 834-838; A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 468-470, etc.

11. Miftāh-alfutūḥ (مفتاح الفتوح), or the key of victories, a mathnawi in praise of the first campaigns of Sultān Jalāl-aldin Firūzshāh, from his accession in A.H. 689 to his return to Dihli in Jumādā II, A.H. 690 (A.D. 1290 to June 1291), completed immediately after the latter event; this poem was originally included in the third diwān (غزوة الکمال), see Rieu ii. pp. 611^a and 614^a; Bodleian Cat., No. 754 (where it is styled نامۀ فتح), and No. 1190 below in this Cat.

Beginning, on fol. 478^b:

سخن بر نام شاهی کردم آغاز
که بر شاهان در دولت کنم باز

An account of this poem is given in Elliot, History of India, iii. pp. 536-544. The margins are left blank on ff. 285^b, 378^b, 379^a, and 463^b-472^a. There are two dates, viz. 1st of Dhū-al-ḥijjah, A.H. 866 (A.D. 1462, Aug. 27), on fol. 91^a margin, at the end of the مطلع الانوار, and 8th of Šafar, A.H. 867 (A.D. 1462, Nov. 2), on fol. 359^a margin, at the end of the هشت بهشت.

No. 51, ff. 520, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 21, and a third on the margin, ll. 38; excellent Nasta'liq; illuminated headings at the beginning of each part; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

1187

Another copy of the same.

This copy of Amir Khusrau's Kulliyāt is much younger than the preceding one, but considerably richer in contents. It consists of the following parts:

A. Centre-columns.

1. Tuḥfat-al-sighar (تحفة الصغر), or the poems of youth, the first of Amir Khusrau's diwāns, which was completed about A.H. 670 or 671 (A.D. 1272), with a preface in prose.

Beginning of the preface, on fol. 1^b: حمدی که از اول زادن زاد وجود بود و تنای که از شیر خوارگی الخ

Beginning of the poetry, on fol. 4^b:

خدای عز و جل ذو الجلال کن فیکون
بری زحیرت و مستغنی از چرا وجون

It consists of ḡasidas, kit'as (beginning on fol. 48^b), and a short mathnawi, which begins on fol. 50^b: هی ای تیرۀ رای الخ; other copies are described in Rieu ii. pp. 609^b and 613^a, and A. Sprenger, p. 467.

2. Wasaf-al-hayāt (وسط الحیات), or poems of middle life, the second of Amir Khusrau's diwāns, which was completed about A.H. 685 (A.D. 1286), with a preface in prose.

Beginning of the preface, on fol. 55^b: نفضل الله قد سطر هذه الصفحات وجعلتها واسطة لبقاء الذات بعد الممات الخ

Beginning of the poetry, on fol. 63^b: حمد رانم بر زبان لله رب العالمین الخ; see the preceding copy, No. 3.

This diwân consists of kaşidas, tarkilbands (beginning on fol. 123^b), and kit'as (on fol. 139^b). Blanks on fol. 83. Other copies are described in Rieu ii. pp. 610^a and 613^a; Bodleian Cat., No. 753, and A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 467 and 468.

3. Ghurra-alkamâl (غرة الكمال), or the poems of maturity, the third of Amir Khusrau's diwâns, see Nos. 1 and 2 in the preceding copy; the preface begins here thus, on fol. 145^b: (read ديباجة احمد (حمد) مستخرج است الخ

Beginning of the poetry, on fol. 194^b: چه (چو) زهره: خاك مسكين را الخ, agreeing with the second kaşidah of this diwân in the preceding copy. It contains kaşidas, tarkilbands (on fol. 292^a sq.), and kit'as (on fol. 302^a sq.). A blank on fol. 149^a.

4. Bakīyya-i-nakiyyah (بقية نقيّة), or the poems of old age, the fourth of Amir Khusrau's diwâns, completed A. H. 718 (A. D. 1318), with a preface in prose.

Beginning of the preface, on fol. 317^b: حمدی که بقية حيوۃ در تحرير آن بر جرائد وجود بشمار آيد و ثنای حليه الخ.

Beginning of the poetry, on fol. 328^a:

زبان که بر در معنی کلید گفتار است
زهر شکر و سپاس یکی جهاندار است

This diwân (which is called in A. Sprenger, Catal., کتاب بقية نقيّة, and in Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes کتاب بقية نقيّة) contains kaşidas, tarkilbands (on fol. 377^a sq.), short mathnawis (on fol. 385^b sq.), kit'as (on fol. 390^a sq.), and a very extensive collection of ghazals, followed by a series of rubâ'is. The ghazals (which have here the special heading of بقية نقيّة) are arranged alphabetically, except the first twelve poems, and begin, on fol. 407^b:

ای زخیال ما برون در تو خیال کی رسد
با صفت تو غفل را لاف کمال کی رسد

This initial poem is the first ghazal of the غرة الكمال, or third diwân in Nos. 754 and 755 of the Bodleian Cat., and of the various selections from Khusrau's diwâns and ghazals in Nos. 760 and 763-765 of the same; it appears likewise as beginning in the general collections, described in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 714, 831, and 832, and in J. Aumer, p. 21. The rubâ'is begin, on fol. 824^b: پاکست خداوند کریم اکبر الخ, likewise agreeing with the initial quatrain in the third diwân in Nos. 754 and 755 of the Bodleian Cat., and in the general collection, No. 758, of the same. Blanks on ff. 323, 341, 489^b, 611, and 629; a lacuna besides after fol. 781. Other copies of this diwân are described in Rieu ii. pp. 610^b and 613^a; Bodleian Cat., No. 756; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 468; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 833, and Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 351. These four diwâns have been printed, Lucknow, 1874.

The fifth diwân, styled نهاية الكمال, and containing poems of the last years of Amir Khusrau's life (see Rieu ii. p. 613^b, and Bodleian Cat., No. 757), is not found in the India Office Collections.

B. Margin-column.

5. Matla'-alanwâr (مطلع الانوار), on fol. 1^b, beginning:

خطبة قدسست بملك قديم - بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم see No. 6 in the preceding copy. Fol. 83 is left blank.

6. Khusrau u Shirin (خسرو و شیرین), on fol. 97^b, beginning as in No. 7 of the preceding copy. Fol. 149 left blank.

7. Lailâ u Majnûn (للی و مجنون), on fol. 217^a, beginning as in No. 8 of the preceding copy.

8. Hasht Bihisht (هشت بهشت), on fol. 292^b, beginning as in No. 9 of the preceding copy.

9. Ā'ina-i-Iskandari (آئینه اسکندری), on fol. 391^a, beginning as in No. 10 of the preceding copy. The greater part of fol. 489^b is left blank, but there seems to be no interruption in the text.

10. Kirân-alsa'dain (قران السعدین), on fol. 520^b, beginning as in No. 5 of the preceding copy.

11. Nuskha-i-Khidrkhâni (نسخه خضرخانی), i.e. Kissa-i-Khidrkhân u Duwalraui (قصه خضرخان و دولرانی), or as the author himself styles it: Duwalraui Khidrkhân (دولرانی خضرخان), see Rieu ii. p. 612^b, the love-story of Khidrkhân, son of Sultân 'Alâ-aldin Muhammadshâh Khilji (reigned A. H. 695-715 or 716 = A. D. 1296-1316, see No. 2 in the preceding copy), with Duwalraui, the daughter of the Râjah of Gujarât, completed A. H. 715, 6th of Dhû-alka'dah (A. D. 1316, Feb. 1). It is often merely called قصه خضرخانی, or even خضرخانی, and also bears the title of 'Ishkiyyah (عشقیه), see below, No. 1216. Beginning, on fol. 623^a:

سر نامه بنام آن خداوند
که دلها را بخوبان داد پیوند

Ff. 629 (partly), 646^a-653^b, and 678^a-701^a are left blank. Comp. on this poem Rieu ii. pp. 612, 617, and 618; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 777-779; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 470; J. Aumer, p. 22; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 351; Elliot, History of India, iii. pp. 544-557, where extracts are given in English translation; Elphinstone, History of India, 5th ed., p. 395, and E. Thomas, Pathan Kings, p. 176.

12. Nuh Sipihr (نُه سپهر), or the nine spheres, another mathnawi which gives a poetical description of the court of Kutb-aldin Mubarakshâh Khilji (who was killed A. H. 720 or 721 = A. D. 1320 or 1321, see col. 320 in this Cat.), and of certain events of his reign. It was completed end of Jumâdâ II, A. H. 718 (A. D. 1318, Aug. 28), comp. Rieu ii. p. 612^b; Bodleian Cat., No. 776, and Elliot's History of India, iii. p. 557, where an analysis of the poem is given. Beginning, on fol. 701^b:

خدا را کنم بر سر نامه یاد
کد بر بنده درهای معنی گشاد

It breaks off on fol. 781^b in consequence of a lacuna.

13. Miftah-alfutûh, incomplete at the beginning, in consequence of the same lacuna; the first bait which appears here, on fol. 782^a:

همی زد تیره سر بر آسمانها
ستاره چشم میزد بر سنانها

corresponds to the first distich on fol. 483^a margin in the preceding copy.

14. A series of short mathnawis, containing poetical descriptions of various kinds; the first, on fol. 798^a, is headed: این نامه بر کسیست که جانرا زدوستیش (supplied from No. 2073, 1192 in this Cat.), and begins:

این نامه که جان درو سرشتم
هر حرف بخون دل نبشتم

corresponding to the first mathnawi in the third diwân of the Bodleian Cat., No. 754, fol. 216^a; the second, on fol. 805^b, is headed: این بیتهای قصر که مهر خانه کرد. Other headings on ff. 806^b, 811^b, 812^a, 813^a (bis), 813^b, 814^b, 815^a, 815^b, and 817^b; the last of these mathnawis concludes on fol. 825^a; the remaining leaves are left blank.

This copy is dated the 2nd of Rabi'-alawwal, A.H. 1008 (A.D. 1599, Sept. 22). A fihrist on the fly-leaf.

No. 412, ff. 845, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 19, and a third on the margin of ff. 1-825, ll. 38; clear and distinct Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1188

The same.

This copy of Amir Khusrau's Kulliyât is much older than the preceding one, but defective both at the beginning and end.

Contents:

A. Centre-columns.

1. Tuhfat-al-shighar, the first diwân, defective at the beginning; it opens abruptly in the middle of a kaşidas: گفتم درین گرنه بیابم امید عفو الی: corresponding to No. 356 (1190 in this Cat.), fol. 5^a margin, last bait, and consists of kaşidas, tarkibbands, muqatta'at (on fol. 44^b sq.), and the same mathnawi as in the preceding copy, beginning, on fol. 46^b: هی هی ای تیره: رای الی.

2. Wasat-al-hayât, the second diwân, with the prose-preface. Beginning of the preface, on fol. 51^b (different from that in the preceding copy): حمدی که از میان جان بر آید و نثائی که از وسط دل گره گشاید حکیم حاکم را الی.

Beginning of the poetry, on fol. 60^a: حمد رانم بر: زبان الی. This diwân consists of kaşidas, tarkibbands, tarji's, and kit'as (on fol. 136^b sq.).

3. Kitâb-alkamâl (کتاب الکمال), that is the third diwân, usually styled Ghurrat-alkamâl, with the prose-preface. Beginning of the preface, on fol. 142^b: غرّة کمال انسانی از دیباجه حمد الی.

Beginning of the poetry, as in the preceding copy on fol. 193^b: چه زهره خاک مسکین را الی. It consists of kaşidas, tarkibbands, and kit'as (on fol. 282^b).

4. Baqiyya-i-Naqiyyah, the fourth diwân, with the prose-preface. Beginning of the preface, on fol. 296^b: حمدی که بقیه نقیه الی.

Beginning of the poetry, on fol. 306^b: زبان که بر در: معنی الی. It consists of kaşidas, tarkibbands, and kit'as (on fol. 385^a).

5. Ghazaliyyât and ruhâ'iyyât, a very large collection, gathered from all four diwâns, but incomplete at the end. The ghazals are arranged alphabetically, except the first twelve. Beginning of the initial ghazal, on fol. 402^b: ای زخیال ما الی, corresponding to the first ghazal of the fourth diwân in the preceding copy and that of the third diwân in No. 356 below (1190 in this Cat.), in Nos. 754 and 755 of the Bodleian Cat., etc., see the full references in No. 4 of the preceding copy.

Beginning of the first alphabetical ghazal, on fol. 405^b:

چه اقبالست این یا رب که دولت داد رو مارا
که در کوی فراموشان گذر شد یار زیبارا agreeing with the first in a smaller selection from Amir Khusrau's ghazals in No. 763 of the Bodleian Cat.

Beginning of the rubâ'is, on fol. 874^b: پاکست خداوند الی, see No. 4 in the preceding copy; they break off on fol. 877^b with a quatrain, beginning:

قدرت ملکا زآسمان بیشتر است
هر لحظه دل دشمن تو بیشتر است corresponding to No. 356 (1190 in this Cat.), fol. 405^b, l. 3.

B. Margin-column.

6. Maṭla'-alanwâr, defective at the beginning; the first verse on fol. 1^a is not found in No. 51 (1186 in this Cat.), but the second, مردمک چشم قمر شد ز نور الی, corresponds to fol. 6^b margin, first line, in that copy.

7. Khusrau u Shirin, on fol. 94^b.

8. Majnûn u Lailâ, on fol. 214^b.

9. Hasht Bihisht, on fol. 274^b.

10. Iskandarnâma (اسکندرنامه), i.e. Â'ina-i-Iskandari, on fol. 388^b.

11. Qirân-alsa'dain, on fol. 516^b.

12. Kitâh-i-Khidrkhânî (کتاب خضرخانی), i.e. Khidr-khân u Duwalrânî, on fol. 623^b.

13. Nuh Sipîhr, on fol. 702^b.

14. Fath-alfutûḥ (فتح الفتوح), i.e. Miftâḥ-alfutûḥ, on fol. 827^b.

15. The same series of short mathnawis as in No. 14 of the preceding copy, the first of which, on fol. 848^a, has the same heading and beginning as there.

This copy is dated A. H. 933 (A. D. 1526, 1527); the right order of ff. 82-88 is: 82, 87, 83-86, 88; that of ff. 224-370: 224, 361-369, 352-360, 256-263, 248-255, 241-247, 233-240, 225-232, 264-351, 370; and that of ff. 413-418: 413, 416, 417, 414, 415, 418.

Nos. 1950 and 1951, first vol. ff. 1-401, second vol. ff. 402-877, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 19, and a third on the margin of ff. 1-875^a, ll. 36; good Nasta'lik; an illuminated heading at the beginning of each part, except the first, the sixth, and the last; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

Amir Khusrau's four diwāns.

Another copy of the four diwāns of Amir Khusrau, viz.:

1. Tuhfat-alsighar, the first diwān; beginning of the prose-preface, on fol. 1^b, as in No. 412 (1187 in this Cat.): حمدی که از اوّل النّج. Beginning of the poetry, on fol. 8^a margin: خدای عزّ وجلّ النّج.

It consists here of qasidas, ghazals, and kit'as; the same mathnawi as in the two preceding copies, beginning, on fol. 48^b margin: همی ای تیره رای النّج; and a series of rubā'is (on fol. 51^b sq.). The right order of ff. 1-9 is: 1-3, 8, 4-7, 9.

2. Wasaf-alhayāt, the second diwān; beginning of the prose-preface, on fol. 63^b: بفضل الله قد سطر النّج. Beginning of the poetry, on fol. 68^b margin: شاید از هنگام نقش این ثنای کبریا النّج.

It consists here of qasidas, kit'as, ghazals (on fol. 125^a sq.), and two series of rubā'is (on ff. 158^b-164^b margin, and 182^a-188^a margin).

3. Ghurrat-alkamāl, the third diwān, without the prose-preface. Beginning of the poetry, on fol. 189^b: چه زهره خاک النّج.

It consists here of qasidas, short mathnawis, kit'as, ghazals, and rubā'is (on fol. 292^a margin).

4. Bakiyya-i-Nakiyyah, the fourth diwān; the prose-preface here is the usual one of the third diwān, beginning, on fol. 305^b: الله اطلع الغر من مطلع النّج. Beginning of the poetry, on fol. 337^b:

بقیّه ایست نقیّه زفیض طبع من این

که چون طبائع افلاک محکم است متین

As a comparison with No. 756 of the Bodleian Cat. and Rieu ii. p. 613^a shows, this is the introductory distich or verse of the 'Silsilah,' see above, No. 1186, 2.

This diwān consists of qasidas, ghazals, a series of short mathnawis, kit'as, and rubā'is (on fol. 476^a).

Both the margin and the inner side of the pages are injured in many places. Two dates appear, viz. 16th of Shawwāl, A. H. 1011 (A. D. 1603, March 29), at the end of the first diwān, and 24th of Rabi'-alākhar, A. H. 1012 (A. D. 1603, October 1), at that of the third; the transcriber's name was Madārī, son of Hājī Shāhin of Dihli (العبد الكاتب مداری ولد حاجی للرمین الشریفین) (حاجی شاهن دهلوی).

No. 338, ff. 481, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 17, and a third on the margin, ll. 26; clear Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b, 63^b, 305^b, and 337^b; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

1190

Another copy of the same four diwāns.

Contents:

1. Tuhfat-alsighar, the first diwān, preceded by the usual prose-preface of the second, beginning, on fol. 1^b: بفضل الله قد سطر هذه الصفحات النّج. Beginning of the poetry, on fol. 4^b: خدای عزّ وجلّ النّج.

The first poem has the following introductory quatrain (or first instalment of the 'Silsilah'):

لوحی که بر صحیفه گردون مصوّست
توقيع آن بنام خداوند اکبرست
شد تحفة الصغر چو خطاب این سواد را
از ذکر ذو الجلال سوادى منوّست

The diwān consists here of qasidas, kit'as, the usual short mathnawi (beginning, on fol. 33^a: همی ای النّج), ghazals (which begin, on fol. 35^b margin: تیره رای النّج), and rubā'is (on fol. 52^b margin).

2. Bakiyya-i-Nakiyyah, the fourth diwān, without a preface. It consists of qasidas and ghazals, begins, on fol. 65^b, زبان که بر در معنی النّج, and is incomplete at the end, in consequence of a lacuna after fol. 91.

3. Wasaf-alhayāt, the second diwān, defective at the beginning, in consequence of the same lacuna; it opens on fol. 92^a in the middle of the same prose-preface, which in No. 1950 (1188 in this Cat.) is prefixed to the second diwān, and which differs entirely from the usual one; the first words, میان چندین غوّاصان گوهر سخنم, correspond to No. 1950, fol. 53^b, l. 4 ab infra. Fol. 95 must be placed before fol. 94. Beginning of the poetry, on fol. 94^b: حمد رانم بر زبان النّج.

This diwān consists here of qasidas, ghazals, kit'as, short mathnawis (the first of which begins, on fol. 142^b: (چون همای رایش پرواز کرد النّج), a second large collection of ghazals (beginning, on fol. 151^b margin: ای بدرماندگی پناه همه النّج, see Bodleian Cat., top of col. 554), and rubā'is (beginning, on fol. 223^b: صانع ملکی: الله اطلع الغر من مطلع النّج, see Bodleian Cat., loc. cit.).

4. Ghurrat-alkamāl, the third diwān; beginning of the preface, on fol. 232^b: الله اطلع الغر من مطلع النّج.

Beginning of the poetry, on fol. 264^a: چه زهره خاک : مسکین را الخ.

This kašidah is preceded by the same two initial baits of the 'Silsilah' as in No. 1186, 2: چون آفتاب روشن الخ. This diwân consists here of kašidas, tarkibbands, kit'as, mathnawis (the first of which, on fol. 343^a, is the مفتاح الفتوح, see Nos. 1186, 11; 1187, 13; and 1188, 14; the second, on fol. 355^b, agrees with the first short mathnawi in No. 1187, 14), ghazals (the first of which, on fol. 369^b margin, begins: ای زخیال, see the remarks in Nos. 1187, 4, and 1188, 5), and rubā'is (beginning, on fol. 403^a: پاکست خداوند الخ, see ibidem).

No date; but a seal from A.H. 1167 and an entry from A.H. 1168 (A.D. 1753-1755) are found on fol. 1^a. The title given to this copy, کتبات امیر خسرو, is incorrect, as it only contains the four diwāns.

No. 356, ff. 418, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 17, and a third on the margin, ll. 26; Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of the first, second, and third diwān; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

1191

Wasaf-alhayât (وسط الحیات).

Another copy of Amir Khusrau's second diwân, containing:

Kašidas, on fol. 1^b, beginning: حمد رانم بر زبان الخ.

Tarjifât, on fol. 62^a; kit'as, on fol. 80^b. A lacuna after fol. 85.

Short mathnawis, on fol. 86^a; the first begins: چون همای رایش پرواز کرد الخ. See No. 3 in the preceding copy.

Ghazals, without alphabetical order, beginning: ای بدزماندگی بنه همه الخ, agreeing with the initial poem of the second collection of ghazals in No. 3 of the preceding copy.

Rubā'is, on fol. 228^b, beginning: صانع ملکی الخ, see ibidem.

No date. Worm-eaten. The last page injured.

No. 1457, ff. 242, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

1192

Ghurrat-alkamâl (غرة الکمال).

Another copy of Amir Khusrau's third diwân, with the usual prose-preface, on fol. 1^b, beginning: غرة کمال انسانی الخ.

There is a large lacuna between ff. 31 and 32, which comprises, according to the Arabic paging, eight leaves, and corresponds to ff. 28^a, first line, to 34^a, l. 5 ab infra, middle, in No. 51 (1186 in this Cat.).

Beginning of the poetry, on fol. 44^b, with the same chain-kašidah as No. 51: چون آفتاب روشن توحید ذو: اللیل الخ, written throughout in red ink. All the following kašidas have, as in No. 51, as headings the various distichs of this poem; the second kašidah is identical with the second in that copy, and so forth. The diwân consists of kašidas, tarkibbands (on fol. 153^b), kit'as (on fol. 166^b, with a large lacuna after fol. 168, comprising six leaves and corresponding to ff. 147^b, lin. penult., to 154^a, l. 5 in No. 51), and short mathnawis, the first of which, on fol. 181^b, is the مفتاح الفتوح, see Nos. 1186, 11; 1187, 13; 1188, 14; and 1190, 4; the second and third, on ff. 203^b and 211^b respectively, are identical with the first two mathnawis in No. 1187, 14. No date.

No. 2073, ff. 225, 2 coll., each ll. 17; distinct Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

Diwân-i-Amir Khusrau (دیوان امیر خسرو).

A large selection of ghazals, with some kit'as and fards at the end, made from all the four diwāns, as in Rieu ii. pp. 610^b, 614^b, and 615^a; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 758-765; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 831 and 832; G. Flügel i. p. 542; J. Aumer, p. 21 (Nos. 63 and 64), etc. It begins, on fol. 1^b, with the same kašidah as the Ghazaliyyât in No. 1186, 3: حمد رانم بر زبان الخ; then follow a few ghazals without alphabetical order, and on fol. 80^a the alphabetical order begins.

First alphabetical ghazal:

ای باد برقع بر فگن آن روی آشنایک را الخ corresponding to the first alphabetical poem in No. 759 of the Bodleian Cat.

No date. The proper order of the leaves is: 1, 2, 75-82, 3-74, 83-164, 166, 165, 168, 167, 169-526, 529, 528, 527, 530-619; a few pages injured.

No. 512, 2 centre-coll., ff. 619, ll. 12; Nasta'lik; the first two pages richly illuminated; size, 7½ in. by 5½ in.

1194

The same.

A similar, but much smaller collection of ghazals, kit'as, and rubā'is, from the four diwāns of Amir Khusrau, beginning, as in Nos. 1187, 4; 1188, 5; and 1190, 4: ای زخیال ما برون در تو خیال کی رسد الخ.

From fol. 2^b onwards the ghazals are arranged alphabetically. Beginning of the first alphabetical poem:

ایرمی یارد و من می شوم از یار جدا
چون کنم دل بچنین وقت زلدنار جدا corresponding to the first alphabetical ghazal in No. 762 of the Bodleian Cat. This copy was transcribed near Akbarābād by Munshi کنکاش عبودیت مقترن for Mr. Robert Watherston, and finished the 10th of Shawwāl, A. H. 1204 (A. D. 1790, 23rd of June). It came into Mr. Watherston's possession the 30th of July, 1790. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2470, ff. 91, 2 coll., each ll. 15-19; the last bait of each ghazal usually written in red ink; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

Kašida-i-Amir Khusrau (قصیده امیر خسرو).

Amir Khusrau's great kašidah on the subject of Firdausi's Shāhnāma (قصیده امیر خسرو دهلوی متضمن)، introduced and concluded by a rubā'i.

Heading: بنام انزد بخشایندۀ بخشایشگر مهربان دادگر.

Beginning of the qasidah:

آمد نگار من بسر از ناز افترا
با قامتی چو از چمن خلد عرعر

No date.

No. 183, ff. 21, 2 coll., each ll. 15; large and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 11½ in. by 6½ in.

1196

Khamsa-i-Amir Khusrau (خمسة امیر خسرو).

Another copy of the five mathnawis which Amīr Khusrau wrote in imitation of Nizāmi's Khamsah:

1. Matla'-alanwār, on fol. 1^b.
2. Shirin u Khusrau, on fol. 42^b.
3. Lailā u Majnūn, on fol. 94^b.
4. Ā'ina-i-Iskandari (or as it is here styled at the beginning, in analogy to Nizāmi's poem: خردنامۀ اسکندری), on fol. 126^b.
5. Hasht Bihisht, on fol. 181^b.

Dated the last of Dhū-alka'dah, A. H. 980 (A. D. 1573, April 3), by کتاب الله بن کیومشاه.

No. 345, ff. 223, 4 coll., each ll. 21; Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each mathnawī; the first two pages luxuriously adorned; size, 11½ in. by 7½ in.

1197

Another copy of the same.

Contents:

1. Matla'-alanwār, on fol. 1^b; the conclusion of this mathnawī is found on ff. 383-387, the leaves being misplaced.
2. Shirin u Khusrau, on fol. 61^b.
3. Lailā u Majnūn, on fol. 140^b.
4. Hasht Bihisht, on fol. 212^b.
5. Ā'ina-i-Iskandari, on fol. 304^b; this poem concludes on fol. 382^b margin.

A short account of Amīr Khusrau's life in English on the fly-leaf. This copy is dated by 'Abd-alkā'if Sayyid Kāsim ibn Sayyid Jalāl, the 1st of Muharram, A. H. 1004 (A. D. 1595, Sept. 6). Many headings are omitted.

No. 2381, ff. 387, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 19, and a third on the margin of ff. 1-138 and 304-387, ll. 16; Nasta'lik; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

1198

The same.

Contents:

1. Matla'-alanwār, on fol. 1^b.
 2. Shirin u Khusrau, on fol. 67^b.
 3. Lailā u Majnūn, on fol. 146^b.
 4. Ā'ina-i-Iskandari, on fol. 198^b.
 5. Hasht Bihisht, on fol. 284^b.
- Copied A. H. 1081 (A. D. 1670, 1671) by Taqi bin Mahmūd Kādiri (the name of the scribe appears only at the end of the fourth mathnawī). Large waterspots throughout.

No. 3336, olim 7. J. 1, ff. 347, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 13, and a third on the margin, ll. 28; small Nasta'lik; size, 10¼ in. by 6 in.

1199

The same.

Contents:

1. Matla'-alanwār, on fol. 1^b.
2. Lailā u Majnūn, on fol. 48^b.
3. Shirin u Khusrau, on fol. 84^b.
4. Ā'ina-i-Iskandari, on fol. 142^b.
5. Hasht Bihisht, on fol. 202^b.

A few pages a little injured, especially the last one. No date.

No. 3436, olim 7. J. 2, ff. 248, 4 coll., each ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each mathnawī; size, 11½ by 6½ in.

1200

The same.

Contents:

1. Matla'-alanwār, on fol. 2^b.
2. Shirin u Khusrau, on fol. 90^a.
3. Lailā u Majnūn, on fol. 206^a.
4. Hasht Bihisht, on fol. 281^a.
5. Ā'ina-i-Iskandari, on fol. 380^b.

The last mathnawī concludes on fol. 454^b, and on ff. 455-468 some parts of the same are repeated; but these parts are not coherent (comp. No. 976 in this Cat.). No date.

No. 387, margin-col., ff. 468, ll. 34; beautiful Nasta'lik; a small illuminated heading at the beginning of each mathnawī.

Matla'-alanwār.

Another copy of the first part of Amīr Khusrau's Khamsah, dated the 12th of Shawwāl, A. H. 989 (A. D. 1581, Nov. 9), by Mahmūd bin Ahmad Zāhidī. A few various readings on the margin.

No. 418, ff. 98-243, 2 coll., each ll. 12; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1202

Another copy of the same.

This copy is dated the 14th of Dhū-alka'dah, A. H. 1169 (A. D. 1756, Aug. 10); it was written for Amīr Sirāj-al-din.

No. 279, ff. 99, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 7½ in. by 4 in.

Shirin u Khusrau.

Another copy of the second (in No. 1199 above the third) part of Amīr Khusrau's Khamsah, not dated. An entry on fol. 1^b margin (and also at the end) gives A. H. 1124 (A. D. 1712) as the year in which this copy was bought at 'Abbāsābād by 'Abdallāh ibn Hāji Maḥsūd. More recent owners of the same were Edward Galley and Sir Barry Close, the latter of whom presented it to the Library.

No. 1946, ff. 149, 2 coll., each ll. 14; very clear and distinct Nasta'lik; several blanks left for pictures; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1204

Lailâ u Majnûn.

Another excellent copy of the third (in No. 1199 above the second) part of Amir Khusrau's Khamsah, dated by Sultân 'Alî almashhadi the first of Şafar, A. H. 912 (A. D. 1506, June 23). The right order of ff. 89-94 is: 89, 91, 90, 93, 92, 94.

No. 383, ff. 111, 2 coll., each ll. 12; very large and distinct Nasta'lik; the first two pages splendidly illuminated; the margin throughout speckled with gold; size, 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 7 in.

1205

Hasht Bihisht and Â'ina-i-Iskandari.

Another copy of the fourth and fifth parts of Amir Khusrau's Khamsah, without a date.

1. Hasht Bihisht, on fol. 270^b.

2. Â'ina-i-Iskandari (here simply styled اسکندر نامه), on fol. 306^b.

All the chapter-headings are left blank.

No. 736, ff. 270-353, 4 coll., each ll. 25; distinct Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of either mathnawî; size, 15 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1206

Another copy of the Hasht Bihisht.

This copy is dated the 9th of Muḥarram, A. H. 1030 (A. D. 1620, Dec. 4).

No. 64, ff. 1-39, 2 centre-coll., each ll. 17, and a third on the margin, ll. 34; small Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1207

The same.

This copy, many leaves of which are worm-eaten or otherwise damaged, was finished the 8th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 1102 (A. D. 1690, Dec. 10). The first three pages have been supplied by another hand.

No. 96, ff. 141, 2 coll., each ll. 12-13; Nasta'lik; size, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Kirân-alsa'dain.

Another copy of Amir Khusrau's mathnawî, 'the conjunction of the two lucky planets,' dated, as it seems (the colophon is a little injured), Sha'bân, A. H. 907 (A. D. 1502, February).

It begins with the introductory rubâ'i (see the remark in No. 1186, 5):

شکرگویم کہ بتوفیق خداوند جهان
بر سر نامہ زتوحید نوشتم عنوان
نام این نامہ والست قران السعدین
کز بلندیش بسعدین سپهرست قران

after which the initial bait of all the preceding copies, viz. حمد خداوند الخ, follows. College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2252, ff. 138, 2 coll., each ll. 14; distinct Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1209

Another copy of the same.

Good copy, dated the 17th of Rajab, A. H. 1072 (A. D. 1662, March 8), and beginning with the same introductory rubâ'i as the preceding copy.

No. 1633, ff. 155, 2 coll., each ll. 13; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 4 $\frac{5}{8}$ in.

1210

The same.

Beginning as in the two preceding copies. It is dated at Shâhjahânâbâd the 27th of Şafar, in the 28th year of 'Âlamgir's reign (which is called by mistake A. H. 1099, instead of 1096=A. D. 1685, Febr. 2).

Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2840, ff. 117, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

1211

The same.

Dated the 10th of Dhû-alka'dah, A. H. 1135 (fourth year of Muhammadshâh's reign)=A. D. 1723, Aug. 12, at Aurangâbâd. Beginning the same as in the three preceding copies. This copy belonged formerly to Sir Barry Close (with the date 14th March, 1813). Collated.

No. 3350, olim 19. J. 5, ff. 118, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 4 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

The same.

This copy, although not dated, is extremely valuable on account of the endless number of elaborate glosses and annotations, both marginal and interlinear, that it contains. Beginning as in the four preceding copies.

No. 1334, ff. 147, 2 coll., each ll. 13 (on ff. 1-106), ll. 15 (on ff. 107-147); Shikasta; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1213

The same.

No date. Collated and annotated; but unfortunately there is a lacuna of two leaves after fol. 7. The mathnawî ends on fol. 116^b; the last two leaves are filled with a detailed pedigree of all the Shi'ite Imâms, descendants of 'Alî. Beginning as in all the preceding copies.

A seal from A. H. 1183 (A. D. 1769, 1770), on fol. 1^a. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2396, ff. 118, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

1214

The same.

A very bad copy, without a date. Beginning as in all the preceding copies. Many various readings, both marginal and interlinear. College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2262, ff. 1-133, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Shikasta; size, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 in.

Khidrkhân u Duwalrâni.

Another copy of Amir Khusrau's love-story of Khidrkhân and Duwalrâni, beginning as in No. 1187, 11. No date. Eleventh century of the Hijrah. The proper order of the leaves is: ff. 1-52, 56-95 (lacuna of one leaf), 96-102, 53-55, 103-162.

Bibliotheca Leydeuiana.

No. 2796, ff. 162, 2 coll., each ll. 14; some of the first leaves slightly injured; ff. 158-162 added by a later hand; Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1216

Another copy of the same.

This copy, which is dated the 8th of Dhû-al-hijjah, A. H. 22. (i. e. 1220=A. D. 1806, Feb. 27), bears the title of عشقیة امیر خسرو (see No. 1187, 11).

No. 188, ff. 128, 2 coll., each ll. 18; Nasta'lik; size, 9 in. by 5 in.

A fragment of the same.

This fragment of Amir Khusrau's Kişsa-i-Khidr-khāni (as it is styled here) comprises less than one third of the whole poem; it begins with the following heading (corresponding to No. 2796, 1215 in this Cat., fol. 25^a): قلم زدن نخست در شرع تیغ زدن جمهور: سلاطین ماضیه علی الخصوص در آثار ذو الفقار محمد علاء الدنیا و الدین.

First bait (not found in No. 2796):

کنون از باغ اصلی نوکنم بر- زشاخ خشک ریزم میوه نر

گرم شدن (on ff. 72^a and 76^b): چشم دولرانی در روی شمس الحلق و الدین خضرخان واز ناب مهر آب در چشمش گشتن و مهربان گشتن آن چشمه مهربان نیلوفر هندی و چون شعاع خورشید چشمه مهربان زمین افتادن (=No. 2796, ff. 48^a and 57^a).

The initial bait of the latter is:

بمهمانی بزی شد کهنه میشی
ببھلو خارش بر پشت ریشی

The final bait of the fragment (not found in No. 2796) is:

بفردوس حرم با غیب دلکش
که فردوس ارم نبود چنان خوش

No date. Eleventh and twelfth centuries. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2511*, ff. 32^b-78^a, 2 coll., each ll. 15; small, but distinct Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1218

Nuh Sipihr.

Another copy of Amir Khusrau's mathnawi, 'the nine spheres,' introduced by a so-called chain-distich:

اول نگر نگارش توحید کردگار
کین نه سپهر گشت بفرمانش آشکار

Beginning of the mathnawi itself as usual: خدا را کنم
بر سر نامه یاد الی

IND. OFF.

The date of composition, viz. A. H. 718 (see No. 1187, 12 above), appears here on the last page:

در گشاده کنم این نقش و نگار
سال بر مقصد و هزده بشمار

No date. Two seals of former owners from A. H. 1179 and 1180 (A. D. 1765-1767), on fol. 1^a.

No. 386, ff. 132, 2 coll., each ll. 17; clear Nasta'lik; size, 10 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Rasā'il-al-i'jāz (رسائل الاعجاز).

Amir Khusrau's famous work on epistolography and elegant prose-writing, with numerous specimens both of official documents and of the author's own letters, entitled رسائل الاعجاز or اعجاز خسروی, and completed according to the statement in Rieu ii. p. 527, A. H. 719 (A. D. 1319); an earlier date, at least for the completion of the second risālah, is given in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 1006, viz. A. H. 716, 7th of Shawwāl (A. D. 1316, Dec. 23); see besides these two references, No. 1337 of the Bodleian Cat., and Elliot, History of India, iii. p. 566. It consists of a preface, an introduction (دیباچه), and five risālas, each of which is subdivided into several khaṭṭs (خط), harfs (حرف), etc.

Contents:

Preface, on fol. 1^b, beginning: هذا الكتاب بفضل الله
ذی الکرم انشأت سحرًا لصید الخ

Introduction, on fol. 10^a, last line (ديباچه كتاب) رسائل الاعجاز).

First risālah, in ten khaṭṭs (الرسالة الاولى في المفردات), on fol. 15^a.

Second risālah, in nine khaṭṭs (الرسالة الثانية في المركبات), on fol. 53^b. In the Berlin copy (W. Pertsch, loc. cit.) this risālah has ten khaṭṭs, like the first.

Third risālah, in two khaṭṭs (الرسالة الثالثة في اللطائف من المصنوعات يشتمل على خطين), on fol. 149^b.

Fourth risālah, in five khaṭṭs (الرسالة الرابعة في البدائع من المعنويات تشتمل على خمسة خطوط), on fol. 182^b.

Fifth risālah, in six khaṭṭs (الرسالة الخامسة في السوابق من المنشآت تشتمل على ستة خطوط), on fol. 277^b. Numerous marginal glosses and additions, written by the same hand as the text. The headings, given here, are taken from the following copy. Dated Shawwāl, A. H. 1084 (A. D. 1674, January-February), by Sayyid Ja'far ibn Sayyid Tāhir Kādiri. The first risālah of the رسائل الاعجاز has been lithographed in Lucknow, 1865; the whole work, under the title of اعجاز خسرو, in the same place, 1876.

No. 570, ff. 324, ll. 21; careless Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispieces at the beginning and at the top of the last four risālas; size, 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1220

Another copy of the same.

Preface, on fol. 1^b, beginning as in the preceding copy.

Introduction, on fol. 16^a.

First risâlah, on fol. 23^b; second, on fol. 88^b; third, on fol. 255^b; fourth, on fol. 309^b; fifth, on fol. 449^b.

Many valuable glosses, various readings, and other additions on the margin. No date. The proper order of ff. 337-341 is: 337, 339, 340, 338, 341.

No. 1024, ff. 531, ll. 15-17; irregular Nasta'lik, written by different hands; illuminated frontispieces at the beginning and at the top of the last four risâlas; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

Inshâ-i-Amir Khusrau (انشاء امير خسرو).

Letters on Sûfic topics, mystic love, Persian and Indian music, and similar subjects, written in a very flowery prose style, intermixed with numerous verses, by Amir Khusrau, forming a sequel to the preceding work on epistolography, the رسائل الاعجاز.

The first letter is headed (on fol. 2^a): عجیب و غریب نامه که خود قاصد شده و اظهار حال عاشق بمعشوق نموده و پاسخ از زبان معشوق شنوده الی.

Occasional short interlinear glosses. The copy appears to be incomplete at the end. The first owner was Muhammad Darwish.

No. 1786, ff. 83, ll. 13; Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1222

A biography of Amir Khusrau, with specimens from his diwâns (احوال امیر خسرو و معه اشعارها), beginning: خواجه امیر خسرو دهلوی امیر شعرا و خسرو بلغاست شرح کمالاتش زناده از آنست که درین اوراق الی.

No date.

No. 3337, olim 14. J. 13, ff. 33-43, ll. 17; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

1223

Diwân-i-Hasan Dihlawi (دیوان حسن دهلوی).

Lyrical poems by Amir Najm-al-din Hasan Sanjari of Dihli, the friend of Amir Khusrau, and, like him, a pupil of Nizâm-al-din Auliya; he was called the Sa'di of India (see Haft Iklim, No. 392, col. 405 in this Cat.), and probably died A.H. 727 (A.D. 1327); later dates of his death are A.H. 738 (A.D. 1337, 1338), see Khulâsat-alafkâr, No. 73 (Bodleian Cat., col. 305), and A.H. 745 (A.D. 1344, 1345) according to Takî Kâshi; the date given in the Mirât-alkhayâl, No. 31 (Bodleian Cat., col. 208), viz. A.H. 707 (A.D. 1307, 1308), is due to a mistake, as the poet began in this year the memoirs of Nizâm-al-din Auliya, styled فوائد الفوائد, which he completed A.H. 720 (A.D. 1320); comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 780-783; Rieu ii. p. 618; W. Pertsch, p. 73, and Berlin Cat., p. 841; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 18, No. 70, and p. 418; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 356; J. Aumer, p. 22, etc. According to the preface in prose, on fol. 1^b sq., in this copy, the author collected the poems of this diwân in his sixty-third year, A.H. 715, and completed it the 20th of Dhû-alka'dah of that year (A.D. 1316, Feb. 15), see fol. 2^b, l. 3. He tells us moreover, that he began composing poetry already in his thirteenth year, and continued it for fifty years, writing works both in prose and verse. He was consequently born A.H. 652 (A.D. 1254).

Contents:

Preface in prose, on fol. 1^b (the heading prefixed to it, کتاب قصائد سعدی, seems to refer to the poet's epithet of the Indian Sa'di).

Kāşidas, on fol. 2^b, beginning:

ای حاکم جهان و جهان داور حکیم
محدث همه بدائع و تو مبدع قدیم

From the sixth kāşidah onwards (on fol. 8^a, last line) the arrangement is alphabetical.

Ghazals, on fol. 57^b, beginning:

ای سرهر نامه نقش نام تو - نام ما در دفتر انعام تو

The alphabetical order begins, on fol. 60^b, with the thirteenth ghazal, the same which is quoted in Bodleian Cat., No. 783; A. Sprenger, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat.: ای بر فراز سرو بر آورده ماه را الی.

At the end a few kit'as. Some of these ghazals have been edited by Bland in his 'Century of Persian Ghazals.' pp. 5-8.

Rubâ'is, on fol. 228^a.

Copied A.H. 943 (A.D. 1536, 1537), according to the colophon on fol. 230^a. Another date appears on fol. 227^a, viz. 903 (سنه ثلاث و تسعمائة), no doubt a mistake for 943 (ثلاث و اربعین و تسعمائة). College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2174, ff. 230, 2 coll., each ll. 15; very clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece on fol. 1^b; a smaller illuminated heading on fol. 57^b; pictures on ff. 22^b, 34^b, 62^a, 133^a, 149^b, and 190^a; size, 9 in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1224

Another copy of the same.

This copy, which is injured and greatly effaced in many places, contains no kāşidas, but has instead a series of short mathnawis which are not found in the preceding copy.

Contents:

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, except the first, which begins, on fol. 1^b:

مطلع دیوان بنور غیب بین آراسته
یکبیک ابوابش از فتح مبین آراسته

The second (or first alphabetical) ghazal is identical with the initial ghazal in No. 782 of the Bodleian Cat., viz.: با رب بکش خط کرم الی.

Rubâ'is, on fol. 65^b; the third rubâ'i agrees with the initial one in No. 780 of the Bodleian Cat.: ای فضل تو: تخته شوی نادانیه الی.

Mathnawiyât, on fol. 71^b; the first, in honour of Sulţân 'Alâ-al-din Khilji, begins: شما ای گهرجوی دریای

غیب الـ (see Rieu, loc. cit., and No. 783 of the Bodleian Cat.); another mathnawī, in honour of Shaikh Nizām-aldīn Auliya, noticed in No. 780 of the Bodleian Cat., is found here on fol. 85^a, and begins: بنام پادشاه بنده پرور الـ.

No date. Tenth century of the Hijrah. This copy was bought at Lucknow and formerly belonged to Mr. Richard Johnson.

No. 3314, olim 19. J. 8, ff. 86, 4 coll., two in the centre, each ll. 25, and two on each side in diagonal lines, ll. 18; Nasta'liq; a small illuminated frontispiece, slightly injured; size, 10½ in. by 6½ in.

1225

The same.

This copy, a few pages of which are injured, contains only:

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, except the first two, with some kit'as, rubā'is, and a short mathnawī at the end. Beginning of the initial ghazal, on fol. 2^b, corresponding to No. 2174, 1223 in this Cat., fol. 57^b:

ای رقم رانده بر سپید و سیاه - وز درون و برون ما آگاه

The right order of ff. 1-83 is: 1, 2, 75-82, 3-74, 83; and of ff. 164-169: 164, 166, 165, 168, 167, 169. No date.

No. 512, margin-col., ff. 1-226^a, ll. 24-26; small Nasta'liq; illuminated heading on fol. 2^b.

1226

The same.

Another undated copy, containing:

Ghazals in alphabetical order, except the first three. Beginning of the initial ghazal, on fol. 1^b:

بنامت می گشایم نامه را بند
که جانم را بیاد تست پیوند

The second ghazal corresponds to the initial one in the preceding copy.

Beginning of the first alphabetical ghazal, on fol. 2^b:

ای خط خوش از مشک تر انگیخته مه را
در دفتر طاعت رقم رانده گنه را

The first alphabetical ghazal of No. 2174 (1223 in this Cat.) is found here on fol. 5^a, but with some modifications in the first hemistich, viz.: ای بر فراز مهر روان. برده ماه را الـ.

Rubā'is, on fol. 157^b.

Colophon: هذا دیوان من تصنیف حضرت حسن دهلوی همعصر حضرت امیر خسرو که از خلفای رشید حضرت سلطان الاولیا نظام الدین محبوب الهی است.

No. 1639, ff. 161, 2 coll., each ll. 12-13; Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; large waterspots throughout; size, 7½ in. by 5 in.

1227

The same.

No date. Contents:

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, except the first two;

the initial ghazal, on fol. 1^b, agrees with that in No. 512 (1225 in this Cat.): ای رقم رانده بر سپید و سیاه الـ.

The first alphabetical ghazal, on fol. 2^b, begins:

ای روی تو ماه محفل را
جز عشق تو نیست در دل ما

Rubā'is, on fol. 270^a.

No. 1637, ff. 275, 2 coll., each ll. 9-10; Nasta'liq; size, 7½ in. by 5½ in.

1228

Jām-i-Jam (جام جم).

The cup of Jamshid, a mathnawī in imitation of Sanā'is Hadīkah (see Nos. 914-925 in this Cat.), by Rukn-aldin Auhadi Marāghī Iṣfahānī (so according to the majority of authorities, i.e. a native of Marāgha near Tabriz and resident of Iṣfahān; comp. Butkhāna, No. 31, Bodleian Cat., col. 201; Ātashkada, No. 136, ib., col. 266; Khulāsat-alkalām, No. 4, ib., col. 295; Khulāsat-alafkār, No. 29, ib., col. 303; Makhzan-algharā'ib, No. 32, ib., col. 317; only in the Haft Iklim, No. 874, coll. 441 and 442 in this Cat., it is distinctly stated that he ought to be designated Iṣfahānī, and not Marāghī, and that view is followed in the Safinat-alauliyā, No. 349, col. 309 in this Cat.), who died in Marāgha, A.H. 738 (A.D. 1337, 1338); comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 785-789; Rieu ii. p. 619; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 713 and 839-841; A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 362, 363; G. Flügel i. p. 543; Hammer in Wiener Jahrbücher, vol. 65, Anzeigeblatt, p. 67; H. Khalfa ii. p. 498, No. 3856, etc. Auhadi was a pupil of Shaikh Auhad-aldin Kirmānī (who died A.H. 697 = A.D. 1298), with whom he is often confounded. Besides the present mathnawī, he composed a diwān (copies of which are described in Rieu ii. p. 619; W. Pertsch, p. 72, etc.; see also H. Khalfa iii. p. 264) and a deh name (see Rieu, loc. cit., and H. Khalfa iii. p. 239). The Jām-i-Jam was composed A.H. 733 (A.D. 1332, 1333), see here, fol. 137^b, l. 3 (in one copy of the British Mus. Or. 333 there appears as date A.H. 732), and divided into three daurs, viz. dawr-awāl در مبداء, and dawr-dum در کیفیت معاش جمهور; āf-rīnīsh on fol. 21^a; and dawr-dum در معاش اهل دنیا, on fol. 34^b; (b) dawr-dum در شرح معاد, on fol. 79^b; dawr-dum در شرح معاد, on fol. 79^b; khālātīq و احوال آخرت, on fol. 121^b.

Beginning:

قال (قُلْ) هو الله لامره (لامرء) قد قال
من له الحمد دائما متوال

On fol. 8^b the praise of Sultān Abū Sa'īd Bahādur-khān, the reigning sovereign (A.H. 716-736 = A.D. 1316-1335), begins, and on fol. 14^a the dedication of the poem to the wazīr Khwājah Ghiyāth-aldin Muḥammad bin Rashid.

Dated by Mir Najm-aldin alḥusaini, who transcribed this excellent copy for his friend Mir Sirāj-aldin, the 23rd of Rabi'-althānī, A.H. 1169 (A.D. 1756, Jan. 26).

College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2223, ff. 138, 2 coll., each ll. 17; small, but very distinct Nasta'lik; size, 7½ in. by 4 in.

1229

Another copy of the same.

Beginning: قل هو الله امرء قد قال الخ.

Daur I, on fol. 29^a; II, on fol. 47^b; III (در شرح خلائق و احوال اهل آخرت), on fol. 171^b.

No date.

No. 1222, ff. 195, 2 coll., each ll. 12; large Nasta'lik; size, 7 in. by 4½ in.

Diwān-i-Ibn Yamin (ديوان ابن يمين).

An incomplete copy of the poetical works of Amir Fakhr-al-din Mahmūd bin Amir Yamin-al-din Muhammad Mustaufi of Faryūmad (three days' journey from Sabzwār), commonly known as Ibn Yamin, who died in Faryūmad, A.H. 745 (A.D. 1344, 1345); see Haft Iklim, No. 770 (col. 434 in this Cat.); Bodleian Cat., Nos. 790-792; A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 433, 434; G. Flügel i. p. 545; Rieu ii. p. 825^b; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 86, etc.; and Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 358. The statement made in the last-named Catalogue, that the poet (according to the preface of his diwān) wrote or collected his poems in A.H. 756 (A.D. 1355) is probably due to some kind of error, as according to one of Sprenger's copies already in A.H. 753 (A.D. 1352) one of the poet's friends compiled a preface to the collected diwān.

The present collection contains:

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, on fol. 1^b, beginning, Ghazals, in alphabetical order, on fol. 1^b, beginning, غزلیات، به ترتیب الفبائی، از ابتدای مکتبم بنام خدا (the second hemistich is torn away), agreeing with the beginning of No. 791 in the Bodleian Cat.; the second bait of this initial ghazal, viz.

ای خداوند قادر یکتا - مبداء کون خالق اشبا corresponds to the beginning of No. 790 in the Bodleian Cat., and of the second copy in Sprenger's Catal., p. 434, l. 12.

One tarji'band, on fol. 91^a, beginning (as in No. 790 of the Bodleian Cat.):

چو نور ذات در تابد زذرات
دو عالم محو گردد در بکی ذات

A few rubā'is, one mukhammas, and some fards, on fol. 94^b; beginning of the first poem:

طلب کن تا خبر از گنج یابی
تو کی این گنج را بی رنج بابی

Three mystical mathnawis, the first of which begins, on fol. 99^b:

بیش از آندم که نبود (نَبْد) کون و مکان
بود آن گنج گرانمایه نهان corresponding to the first mathnawī in No. 791 of the Bodleian Cat., and seems to contain six majlis; the second, on fol. 111^a, is headed:

نسخه دلفریب جان سوز است
نام ابن نسخه مجلس افروز است

from which it is evident that its title is مجلس افروز (which also appears in the last bait on fol. 124^a); the third, on fol. 124^a (like the first without any heading), begins with the initial bait of the preceding section (on fol. 94^b), viz. طلب کن تا خبر از گنج یابی الخ; this mathnawī breaks off on fol. 125^b; there are besides two lacunas, one after fol. 2 and the other after fol. 51, and some leaves are severely injured.

No. 466, ff. 125, partly 3 coll., the first and third ll. 10, the middle in diagonal lines, ll. 6; and partly 2 coll., each ll. 13; irregular Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

1231

Another copy of the same.

This collection of Ibn Yamin's poems, styled اشعار ابن يمين, and considerably smaller than the preceding one, contains principally the famous Kit'as of the poet (which have been translated into German by Schlecht-Wssehrl, 'Ibn Jemin's Bruchstücke,' Vienna, 1852; new ed., Stuttgart, 1879), preceded by a few short mathnawis.

Beginning of the first mathnawī, on fol. 1^b:

بنام خدای که هستی ازوست
زبردستی و زبردستی ازوست

Beginning of the first kit'ah, on fol. 7^b:

الهی مرا چون سرای سپنج - سرانجام باید بغیری سپرد

No date.

No. 277, ff. 49, 2 coll., each ll. 12; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

1232

Diwān-i-Badr-i-Cāc (ديوان بدر جاج).

The lyrical poems of Badr-al-din (or according to Khwashgū, Fakhr-al-din) Muhammad of Cāc or Shāsh (the modern Tāshkand, also called Banākit), usually called Badr-i-Cāc, the full moon of Cāc, who was the panegyrist of Sultān Muhammad bin Tughluq (A.H. 725-752 = A.D. 1325-1351), and died after A.H. 746 (A.D. 1345, 1346); see Haft Iklim, No. 1532 (col. 495 in this Cat.); Bodleian Cat., No. 793; Rieu iii. pp. 1031^b, 1032^a, 1046^a; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 367; Elliot, History of India, iii. pp. 567-573 (where some of his poems are translated). Besides his lyrical poems, he composed a شاهنامه in honour of the exploits of his patron, completed A.H. 745 (A.D. 1344, 1345), see Rieu iii. p. 1032^a; the same date occurs in his diwān. see A. Sprenger, loc. cit.; the last date that can be traced in his ḡasidas is A.H. 746, see Rieu iii. p. 1046^a.

The diwān contains chiefly ḡasidas, with a few ghazals, kit'as, and rubā'is at the end; beginning:

حمد آن سلطان عالم را که عالم پرور است
 انس او در راه وحدت انس و جانرا رهبر است

According to A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 368, the whole diwân has appeared in a lithographed edition, with glosses and a vocabulary, Lucknow, A.H. 1261; the kaşidas have besides been lithographed in Cawnpore, A.H. 1261, and (with a commentary) in Râmpûr, A.H. 1289.

No date. Some marginal glosses on the first pages.

No. 90, ff. 96, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5 in.

1233

Another copy of the same.

A smaller collection of the kaşidas of Badr-i-Câc, without any rubâ'is; the special value of this copy lies in the numerous marginal and interlinear glosses which elucidate the text. Beginning as in the preceding copy.

Dated the 26th of Muḥarram, A.H. 1077 (ninth year of 'Ālamgir's reign) = A.D. 1666, July 29, at Patna, by Muḥammad Sharif, who made this copy for the Nawwâb Lashkarkhân.

No. 2697, ff. 57, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 11 in. by 6½ in.

Humâi u Humâyûn (همای و همایون).

One of the famous mathnawis of Kamâl-al-din Abū-al-aṭā Maḥmūd bin 'Alī Murshidi, usually called Khwājū Kirmāni (or Bammi, see Haft Iklim, No. 286, col. 398 in this Cat., where his name is given as Muḥammad instead of Maḥmūd), who was born A.H. 679, the 5th of Shawwâl (A.D. 1281, Jan. 28), and died probably A.H. 753 (A.D. 1352); the usual date of his death, viz. 745, is impossible, see Rieu ii. pp. 621^b and 623^a. On the poet's life and works, comp. Erdmann in Zeitschrift der D. M. G. ii. pp. 205-217; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 794-796; Rieu ii. p. 620 sq.; A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 471-473; W. Pertsch, pp. 6 and 70; G. Flügel i. pp. 544, 545; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 357; Schefer, Chrestomathie Persane, vol. ii, Paris, 1885, pp. 251, 252. This mathnawi was composed in Baghdād, and completed A.H. 732 (A.D. 1331, 1332). Beginning:

بنام خداوند بالا و بست
 که از هستیش هست شد هر چه هست

No date.

No. 77, ff. 149, 2 coll., each ll. 15-16; unequal Nasta'lik, occasionally mixed with Shikasta; size, 9 in. by 5½ in.

1235

Sâmnâma (سامنامه).

This strange mathnawi, which is styled on fol. 1^a (afterwards changed into سام نامه), and in the colophon سامنامه, a full account of which has been given by Spiegel in Zeitschrift der D. M. G. iii. pp. 245-261, is like the poem of the same title and contents, described in Rieu ii. pp. 543, 544 (where, however, the beginning differs, comp. also ib. iii. p. 1089^b), merely a close imitation or rather reproduction of Khwājū Kirmāni's همای و همای in the preceding copy, in which, simply for the purpose of deceiving the reader, the names of Humâi, Humâyûn, etc., have been changed into Sâm, son of Narīmân, Paridukht, etc.; comp. also Khulâsat-alkalâm, No. 24 in Bodleian Cat. (col. 297). With the real Sâmnâma this work has nothing whatever to do. Beginning the same as in the preceding copy:

بنام خداوند بالا و بست
 که از هستیش هست شد هر چه هست

Dated the first of Rabi'-alawwal, A.H. 1085 (A.D. 1674, June 5).

No. 190, ff. 148, 2 coll., each ll. 17; inelegant and careless Nasta'lik; size, 9 in. by 5½ in.

1236

Sindbâdnâma (سندبادنامه).

The extremely rare poetical version of the book of Sindbâd, which closely agrees with the Greek Sintipas (see 'Essai sur les fables indiennes,' by Loiseleur de Longchamps, pp. 93-137) and the prose-version of Bahâ-al-din Muḥammad (see Rieu ii. p. 748 sq.), and has been fully described by F. Falconer in the Asiatic Journal, vols. 35, p. 169 sq., and 36, pp. 4 sq. and 99 sq. The present copy is undoubtedly the same which Falconer describes so minutely, and has on the second fly-leaf the following entry:

'Purchased at an old bookstall for £1, June 1857, by me.' Edwin Greenwood.

'It is called Sindibad Namah. It is a collection of exceedingly interesting tales. An analysis, accompanied with extracts, appeared in the Asiatic Journal, vols. 35 and 36, 1841. Neither the East India House nor the British Museum possess a copy. I am told this is the only copy in Europe, therefore it is very valuable.'

To rectify Mr. Greenwood's statement, H. H. Wilson has added, March 1859, to the above remarks the following of his own, proving that this copy originally belonged to the India House, and must have been stolen from there and sold:

'A curious fiction—the MS. belongs to the Library of the East India House, as is evident from Mr. Falconer's description.'

Mr. W. A. Clouston, who has based his 'Book of Sindibâd from the Persian and Arabic, with introduction, notes, and appendix' (privately printed, 1884), to a great extent on this copy, and given a description of it in the Introduction, p. xi sq., has added on the first fly-leaf, April 1884, a list of the lacunas and the misplaced leaves in this MS., according to the original Arabic paging. This Persian version was composed A.H. 776 (A.D. 1374, 1375), see fol. 8^b, l. 5 (جو بر هفصد) (افزود هفتاد و شش), and begins, on fol. 2^b:

بنام خداوند لوح و قلم — که زو نام اول بنامش رقم

No date.

Lacunas after ff. 16, 26, 41, 44, 56, 61, 85, and 155.

No. 3124, ff. 166, 2 coll., each ll. 16; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece on fol. 2^b, ff. 2^b and 3^a luxuriously adorned; excellent pictures (some of full size) on ff. 1^b, 2^a, 11^b, 13^b, 14^b, 18^b, 20^b, 21^b, 22^a, 23^b, 28^a, 29^b, 31^a, 32^b, 34^b, 35^a, 36^b, 40^b, 43^a, 45^a, 47^b, 48^a, 48^b, 50^b, 54^b, 57^b, 60^b, 64^b, 68^a, 69^a, 73^a, 74^b, 75^a, 76^a, 78^a, 80^a, 82^a, 85^b, 87^b, 91^b, 94^b, 97^a, 99^a, 102^a, 106^a, 108^a, 109^b, 114^b, 116^b, 119^b, 120^a, 121^b, 123^b, 125^a, 126^a, 128^b, 129^b, 132^a, 134^b, 135^b, 137^a, 138^a, 138^b, 142^a, 143^b, 149^b, 151^b, 154^a, 158^a, 163^b, and 165^b; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Diwân-i-Salmân (دیوان سلمان).

The fullest copy in the India Office Collection of the lyrical poems of Khwājah Jamāl-al-din Muḥammad Salmân of Sāwa, the son of Khwājah 'Alā-al-din Muḥammad, see Haft Iklim, No. 1008 (col. 452 in this Cat.). He was born about A.H. 690 (A.D. 1291), enjoyed the favour of the Ilkânî rulers, Amir Shaikh Ḥasan Buzurg (A.H. 736-757 = A.D. 1335-1356) and his son, Shaikh Uwais (A.H. 757-776 = A.D. 1356-1374), and died A.H. 778 or 779 (A.D. 1376 or 1377); see Erdmann in Zeitschrift der D. M. G. xv. pp. 758-772; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 807-810; Rieu ii. p. 624 sq.; Ouseley, Biogr. Notices. p. 117; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 555; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 842, 843; Schefer, Christomathie Persane, vol. i, Paris, 1883, pp. 114, 115. Some select poems are published in Bland's 'Century of Persian Ghazals,' No. 4, and in Erdmann's article in the Zeitschrift, loc. cit.; the ḡasidab, edited there on pp. 760-762, has been metrically translated into German by K. H. Graf, in 'Festgruss an die Mitglieder der Philologen und Orientalisten-Versammlung in Meissen,' 1863.

Contents:

Ḡasidas, tarjībānds, and ḡas, mixed together without any alphabetical arrangement, on fol. 1^b, beginning:

هر دل که در هوای هویت مجال یافت
عنقای همیش دو جهان زربال یافت

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, on fol. 201^b, beginning:

اگر حسن تو بگشاید نقاب از چهره دعوی را

Muḡaṭṭa'āt (including some ḡasidas and ghazals), on fol. 302^b, beginning:

حلقهٔ عنبر و بازار گل آشفته کنی

Rubā'is, on fol. 330^b, beginning:

ای دوست کجائی که نئی کجائی

No date. A great number of leaves severely damaged, and consequently some poems destroyed. Ff. 304 and 305 left blank.

No. 2778, ff. 335, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'liq; small illuminated frontispiece; size, 8 in. by 4 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

1238

A somewhat smaller copy of the same.

Contents:

Ḡasidas, tarjībānds, ḡas, and ghazals, all mixed together, on fol. 1^b, beginning:

هر دل که در هوای الح
ای کارگذاران درت
شمس و زحل الح
part, in No. 807 of the Bodleian Cat.

On ff. 230^b-244^b a complete index of the poems contained in this copy, styled (somewhat insufficiently) فهرست قصائدات سلمان.

Fol. 180 and a part of fol. 182^b left blank. Various readings and additions are occasionally found on the margin.

No date.

No. 1041, ff. 244, 2 coll., each ll. 19; Nasta'liq, written by three different hands (as it seems), viz. ff. 1-56 by the first, ff. 57-229 by the second, and ff. 230-244 by the third; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 in.

1239

The same.

This copy is again smaller than the preceding one, but is the only one which has an exact date, viz. 4th of Rajab, A.H. 1023 (A.D. 1614, August 10); the transcriber's name is Hārūn 'Abd-alsalām.

Contents:

Ḡasidas, tarjībānds, tarkībānds, and ḡas, for the greater part (ff. 10^a-114^b) in alphabetical order, on fol. 1^b; beginning as in the preceding copies.

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, on fol. 146^b, beginning:

اگر حسن تو بگشاید

A few rubā'is and fards at the end, on ff. 222-225.

College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2236, ff. 225, 2 coll., each ll. 15-16; Nasta'liq; size, 11 in. by 6 in.

1240

The same.

This splendid copy contains:

Ḡasidas and tarkībānds, on fol. 2^b, beginning:

شمس و زحل الح

Fards, on fol. 254^b, beginning:

خدانرا بطلب هر کجا
که می باشی الح

No date.

No. 407, margin-column, ff. 1-261^b, ll. 44; small, but clear and distinct Nasta'liq; illuminated headings at the beginning of each poem, and other ornaments throughout.

1241

The same.

This copy, which appears to have been made from one of the earliest collections of Salmân's poems, but has unfortunately a lacuna after fol. 11, begins with a long artificial kaşidah (قصیده مصنوعه), on fol. 1^b, of the same manner of taushih as those poems of Ahlī Shirāzī, described at length in the Catalogue of the Bodleian Library, coll. 652, 653. The chief subtlety is, that all the words of two and two, or three and three baits, written in red ink, form together a new distich, usually a mathnawi-bait, and every bait of this kind represents a different metre and a different tropical figure; for instance, from the first two baits of the kaşidah:

صوای صفوت روبت بر بخت آب بهار
هوای جنت کویت بمیخت مشک تزار
اگر خبر صفای تو گلستان دارد
گل از حیای رخت جاودان ندارد بار

there springs this mathnawi-bait in the metre of هزج الترمیع و الاشتقاق, and representing مثنیٰ سالم

صوای صفوت روبت صفات گلستان دارد
هوای جنت کویت حیات جاودان دارد

Besides, (1) all the initial letters of the baits give a kit'ah of three distichs, containing a dedication to the Wazir Ghiyāth-al-dīn Muḥammad; (2) from the hushu, i.e. specially-selected letters, of the words in all the first hemistichs springs a kit'ah of eight distichs, in which no alif appears; (3) from the hushu of the words in all the second hemistichs springs another kit'ah of seven distichs, in which no diacritical point appears; and (4) by another arrangement of select letters, a ghazal of five distichs is formed. Comparing this kaşidah of Salmān's with the above-mentioned three kaşidas of Ahlī Shirāzī, it is evident that the latter based his poems on that of his predecessor to such an extent that it may almost be called a plagiarism.

The other contents of the diwān are:

Kaşidas, *tarji'*bands, and kit'as, without any order, beginning abruptly, on fol. 12^a, in the middle of a poem (one leaf being left blank); the initial poem of the following copy (No. 2458), viz. در درج در عقبی الخ, is found here on fol. 30^a. Ghazals, likewise without any order, on fol. 202^b, beginning:

تا تو دل در بند جان داری و جان در بند تن
چون مرا در خویش گیری در کنار خوبستن

ای کار گزاران الخ: Rubā'is, on fol. 266^b, beginning:

Some words and whole lines are occasionally left blank, on ff. 19^a, 19^b, 84^a, and 268^b-274^a.

No date. A seal from A. D. 1799 on the last page.

No. 3213, ff. 274, 2 coll., each ll. 19; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece on fol. 1^b; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

1242

The same.

All the parts of this copy, which is likewise defective, begin with poems, different from the initial ones in the preceding copies, viz.:

Kaşidas, *tarji'*s, and tarkibbands, without any order, on fol. 1^b, beginning:

در درج در عقبی لبث نقد جان نهاد
جنس عزیز یافت بجای نهان نهاد

see Erdmann in Zeitschrift, xv. p. 763. A lacuna after fol. 109.

Kit'as, on fol. 170^b, beginning: ی زانار گرد موکب تو الخ.

Rubā'is, on fol. 194^b, beginning: شاها زو کار ملک و دین با نسق است الخ.

No date. Slight injuries here and there.

No. 2458, ff. 198, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1243

Two mathnawis by Salmān of Sāwa.

1. Khwurshid u Jamshid (خورشید و جمشید) or Jamshid u Khwurshid (جمشید و خورشید), the love-story of the prince of China and the princess of Rūm, completed in Jumādā II, A. H. 763 (A. D. 1362. April), at the request of Sulṭān Uwais. Beginning, on fol. 261^b:

الهر برده بندار بگشای - در گنجینه اسرار بگشای

Extracts from this mathnawi are given in the Khulāṣat-alkalām, No. 35 (Bodleian Cat., col. 298).

2. Firāḡnāma (فراقنامه), the book of separation, completed A. H. 761 (A. D. 1360); beginning, on fol. 369^b:

بنام خدای که از تیره خاک
بر لمیخت این جوهر جان پاک

No date.

No. 407, margin-column, ff. 261^b-396^a, ll. 44; clear Nasta'lik; ornaments throughout.

1244

Mihri u Mushtari (مهر و مشتری).

A good and tolerably old copy of the romantic mathnawi 'Sun and Jupiter,' by Maulānā Shams-al-dīn Muḥammad 'Aṣṣār of Tabriz, who died A. H. 784 (A. D. 1382. 1383); the poem was completed the 10th of Shawwāl, A. H. 778 (A. D. 1377, Febr. 20); comp. expressly Fleischer's excellent treatise on the lifetime of the poet, and the date of the composition of this work, in: Zeitschrift der D. M. G. xv. pp. 389-396; Rieu II. pp. 626 sq. and 817; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 843-845 and 1066; Bodleian Cat., Nos. 811-814; A. Sprenger, Catal. p. 311; G. Khalfa VI. p. 277, No. 13471; Haft Iklim, No. 1321 (col. 476 in this Cat.); Khulāṣat-alkalām, No. 45 (Bodleian Cat., col. 298), etc. A Turkish translation of this poem is noticed in the Paris Cat., No. 313, 1, and in J. Aumer, Turkische Handschriften, No. 178.

Beginning:

بنام پادشاه عالم عشق
که نامش هست نقش خانم عشق

Dated the 27th of Dhū-alkā'dah, A. H. 969 (A. D. 1562, July 29), by Ākājan ibn Ḥāji Amir Husain, known as Arash Oghlū Arashi, of Arash, a town in Shirwān.

No. 107, ff. 213, 2 coll., each ll. 12; distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece, the first two pages ornamented; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

1245

Another extremely defective copy of the same.

The leaves of this copy, which is dated the last of Rajab, A. H. 1021 (A. D. 1612, Sept. 26), are in a most bewildering confusion, and there are nine lacunas of considerable contents. A careful comparison with the preceding copy shows that the proper order of the leaves is as follows:

1. lacuna (=fol. 1^b, l. 3 ab infra, to fol. 9^b, lin. penult. in No. 1244), 38, 30-36, lacuna (=fol. 21^a, first line, to fol. 21^b, l. 4 in No. 1244), 87-90, lacuna (=fol. 26^b, l. 4, to fol. 27^b, lin. penult. in No. 1244), 42-58, lacuna (=fol. 47^a, l. 3 ab infra, to fol. 49^a, l. 7 in No. 1244), 59-61, lacuna (=fol. 52^b, last line, to fol. 54^b, l. 3 ab infra in No. 1244), 62, 63, 70-86, 91-147, lacuna (=fol. 146^a, l. 5, to fol. 146^b, l. 3 ab infra in No. 1244), 39-41, 11-16, lacuna of four baits (=fol. 157^b, lin. penult., to fol. 158^a, l. 2 in No. 1244), 17-29, lacuna (=fol. 175^b, l. 3 ab infra, to fol. 184^a, l. 5 in No. 1244), 2-10, 67-69, 64-66, 37, lacuna (=fol. 206^a, l. 7, to fol. 207^b, l. 6 in No. 1244), 148-152. On the other hand, this defective copy contains in several chapters a series of baits not found in the preceding copy; for instance, between ll. 6 and 7, on fol. 46^b in No. 1244, there are wanting forty-five verses (=fol. 57^a, l. 1, to fol. 58^a, last line in the present copy), and between ll. 1 and 2 of fol. 141^a in No. 1244 there are wanting twenty-three baits (=fol. 142^a, l. 4 ab infra, to fol. 143^b, l. 7 in the present copy).

Several pages of this copy are besides a little effaced or otherwise injured.

No. 1238, ff. 152, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; the first page richly adorned; three miniature paintings on ff. 3^a, 19^a, and 111^a; size, 8 in. by 4½ in.

1269

Sharh-i-Diwān-i-Hāfiz (شرح دیوان حافظ).

A Persian commentary on the ghazals of Hāfiz, by an anonymous writer, compiled A.H. 1026 (see fol. 248^b, l. 7) = A.D. 1617. It is the same commentary which is noticed by A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 416, l. 20, beginning: الا یا ایها الساتی . . . دانا و آگاه باش ای

رعنا كه الا حرف تنبيه است و يا حرف ندا ايها كلمه
ايست كه معرّف بلام الـح

The explanations given are very elaborate and of a decided Sûfie character.

No date. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2490, ff. 249, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; worm-eaten in several places; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

1270

Kashf-alastâr 'an wujûhi mushkilâti alash'âr (كشف
(الاستار عن وجوه مشكلات الاشعار).

Another commentary on Hâfiz' diwân, by Muḥammad Afḍal of Ilâhâbâd, who flourished under Shâhjahân, forming the seventh risâlah out of eighteen (not sixteen as Sprenger asserts), dealing with the interpretation of Persian poetry, except the mathnawi and the ḥadiqah. The immediately preceding sixth risâlah was a commentary on Nizâmî's Sharafnâma or Iskandarnâma, as we learn from the very heading of this copy, on fol. 1b: خاتمة شرح شرفنامه مشهور بسکندر: نامه و فاتحه شرح ديوان خواجه حافظ قدس سره.

Beginning:

زبان میگشایم بشکر خدا
که از کشف استار آن بیتها

The title appears on fol. 2b, and in the same page begins the introduction (مقدمه) to the commentary. The commentary itself opens, on fol. 21b (شروع در شرح) (ابیات), with the verse: در همه دبرمغان نیست چو من شیدائی الـح.

The work is especially interesting, on account of its long extracts from older and contemporary writers, particularly on mystical matters; comp. A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 415. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2482, ff. 153, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 87 in. by 6 in.

Khulâṣat-albaḥr fi iltikât-aldurar (خلاصة البحر في
(التقاط الدر).

Part of a third detailed commentary on Hâfiz' diwân, composed by 'Abdallâh, known as 'Ubaid-allâh, with the epithet Khalifah Hayy bin 'Abd-alḥaḳḳ (known as 'Abd-alkâdir alkhwishî alcishti). The author states in the preface, that he had already compiled, before this work, another commentary on the difficult passages of Hâfiz' diwân, styled بحر الفراسة, that he was for a time attached to the Shaikh Maṣlânâ 'Abd-alrashîd (known as Muḥammad Rashid) Yuwânjî, and afterwards in the service of Shaikh Pir Muḥammad of Lakhnau, and that he then resolved upon writing a larger and fuller exegetical work on Hâfiz. But this copy contains only a small portion of the poet's diwân; it comprises only the ghazals as far as the rhyme-letter ت, all the rest is missing, perhaps never completed by the author.

Beginning: سپاس و ستایش خداوندی که اولیاء خود را بکلامی مخصوص ساخت الـح.

The ghazals of Hâfiz are not only, as is usual in diwâns, arranged according to the last rhyme-letter, but there are also subdivisions according to the first letter of the first bait of each ghazal, which are called bâbs. The larger divisions according to the rhyme-letter are styled kitâb.

The right order of ff. 79-113 is: 79, 87, 88, 81-86, 80, 89-104, 112, 106-111, 105, 113.

No. 1029, ff. 256, ll. 19; careless Nasta'lik; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1272

Kalid-i-diwan-i-Hâfiz (کلید دیوان حافظ).

Explanation of the difficult words and phrases in Hâfiz' diwân, arranged alphabetically, and preceded by an introduction (مقدمه) on the mystical terms which frequently occur in the poems of Hâfiz, for instance, معشوق, عاشق, عشق, etc. The author's name does not occur; as title appears, on fol. 1a: کلید خواجه حافظ و فرهنگ حافظ.

Beginning of the preface, on fol. 1b: حمد بیکد و ثنای بیعد و سپاس بی قیاس حضرت خداوندی که جمیع دیوان حافظان الـح.

Beginning of the alphabetical key (کلید) or glossary, on fol. 10a: آغاز لغات دیوان خواجه حافظ شیرازی: باب الف الـح.

No date. Copied by Fakhr-al-din.

No. 1840, ff. 1-21, ll. 13; very careless Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 6 in.

Another key to Hâfiz' diwân.

This little work is, like the preceding one, entitled at the beginning کلید خواجه حافظ, and in the colophon, on fol. 38a, فرهنگ حضرت دیوان حافظ. It also consists of two parts, for although the colophon appears already at the end of the first part, there cannot be any doubt that the following alphabetical glossary belongs, as second part, to the same work. The author's name seems to be Nûr Muḥammad (see fol. 21b: فغیر حقیر: نور محمد), who may be identical with Mir Muḥammad Nûr-allâh Aḥrâri, the commentator of the mathnawi (see No. 1104 above). The first part contains, like the muḥaddimah of the preceding کلید, an explanation of mystical terms and phrases in twenty short bâbs, beginning, on fol. 21b: حمد و ثنای مر حضرت الهی: خالق را که الـح.

The second part, an alphabetical glossary for the difficult and rare words, especially the Arabic ones, which are found in Hâfiz' poems, begins, on fol. 38b: افواه دهنها استعانت یاری خواستن الـح.

No date. Copied by the same Fakhr-al-din.

No. 1840, ff. 21-48, ll. 13; very careless Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 6 in.

1274

A third key to Hāfiẓ diwān.

This glossary to Hāfiẓ diwān is arranged alphabetically according to the first letter, and begins, without any introduction, immediately with the explanation of the word آشوب = شور و غوغا, after which follows افسانه = حکایتها گذشته, and so on. No title occurs anywhere.

No date. Some pages badly injured.

No. 678, ff. 211-235, ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

1275

Diwān-i-Jalāl (دیوان جلال).

Lyrical poems by Sayyid Jalāl-al-din of Yazd, the son of Sayyid 'Aḡud-al-din, who was a wazir of Muḥammad Muẓaffar; according to Takī Kāshī (see A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 18, No. 71) he died A.H. 793 (A.D. 1391); comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 854; Butkhāna, No. 32, ib., col. 200; Ātashkāda, No. 623, ib., col. 283; Makhzan-algharā'ib, No. 490, ib., col. 326; Rieu ii. p. 869b.

Contents:

A preface in prose, on fol. 496^a, beginning: بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ وَبِهِ نَسْتَعِينُ جَوَاهِرُ زَوَاهِرِ حَمْدِ وَسِيَّاسِ بِي حُدِّ وَ قِيَّاسِ الْخ.

Kaṣidas, on fol. 499^a, beginning:

بمغن گلشن گیتی زاعتدال بهار
صبا بساط زمرد فگنده دیگر بار

Ghazals, on fol. 509^a, beginning:

عاشقان آول قدم برهر دو عالم میزنند
بعد از آن درکوی عشق از عاشقی دم میزنند

Kiṭ'as, on fol. 566^a, beginning: خداوندا توئی کارواد
مدحت الخ.

Rubā'is, on fol. 568^a, beginning: ای بارگهت ز چرخ
گردون برتر الخ.

Good copy, not dated.

No. 407, margin-column, ff. 496^a-571^b, ll. 44; illuminated throughout; clear and distinct Nasta'lik.

Tuḥfa-i-Naṣā'ih (تحفة نصائح).

A didactic poem, in form of a kaṣidah, on all the various topics of ethics and practical philosophy, somewhat on the lines of Nāṣir bin Khusrā's Rūshanā'ināma (see No. 904 in this Cat.), by Yūsuf Gadā (Yūsuf the dervish) or according to the colophon of the following copy, Muḥammad Yūsuf, who intended these admonitions for his son Abū-alfath. The poet's spiritual teacher was Shaikh Maḥmūd (or, with his fuller designation according to the following copy, Shaikh Nāṣir-al-din Maḥmūd), whom he celebrates, on fol. 2^a: شایخ معظم بفرمان محمود صاحب قران into forty-five bābs, and comprises in this copy 786 baits (هفصد هفتاد و شش), in the following one 781 (هفصد هفتاد و یک). As date of composition, there appears both here and in the following copy, A.H. 795 (هفصد نود و پنج), the 10th of Rabi' II = A.D. 1393, February 23, whereas the St. Petersburg MS. (see Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 440, compare also Rehatsek, Catalogue raisonné, p. 129, No. 11) contains as date, A.H. 752 (A.D. 1351); it is hard to say which of the two is the correct one; if the Shaikh Nāṣir-al-din Maḥmūd is really identical with the great Shaikh of the Cīstī order, Nāṣir-al-din Maḥmūd Cīrāgh of Dihli (who died A.H. 757 = A.D. 1356, see Safinat-alanliyā, No. 116, col. 287 in this Cat., and Sawāṭī'-alanwār, No. 22, col. 331 above), A.H. 752 has decidedly the better chance. An incomplete copy of this poem is also noticed in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 124, 125; it is mentioned besides in H. Khalfa ii. p. 242, No. 2684. A lithographed edition of it has appeared in Bombay, A.H. 1283. Beginning:

حمدی بگویم بیعدد مر خالق جن و بشر
کرده معلق آسمان هم اختران شمس و قمر

On the margin a great number of Kūrān verses and traditions are quoted as references for the text.

Dated Jumādā-alawwal, A.H. 1173 (A.D. 1759, Dec., to 1760, Jan.), by Nūr-al-din 'Alī alḥusainī.

College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2194, ff. 29, 2 coll., each ll. 15; careless Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

1277

Another copy of the same.

Beginning as in the preceding copy. The author's name appears on fol. 2^b, l. 3, and in the colophon; the title, on fol. 2^b, l. 8.

No date. The proper order of ff. 31-39 is: 31, 38, 32-37, 39. College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2342, ff. 39, 2 coll., each ll. 11; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

Poets who died between A.H. 800 and 900.

Diwān-i-Kamāl Khujandī (دیوان کمال خجندی).

The lyrical poems of Shaikh Kamāl-al-din Mas'ūd of Khujand in Transoxania, who died in Tabriz, according to the best authorities, A.H. 803 (A.D. 1400, 1401), see Haft Iklim, No. 1525 (col. 494 in this Cat.). Other, less trustworthy, dates of his death are A.H. 792 (A.D. 1390), according to Danlats'hāh, the Safinah, the Ātashkāda (see Bodleian Cat., col. 209, No. 41), etc., A.H. 793 (A.D. 1391), see Rosen, Persian MSS., p. 119 and note 2 ib., and A.H. 808 (A.D. 1405, 1406), see Bodleian Cat., Nos. 857, 858; Rieu ii. p. 632; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 855; G. Flügel i. p. 557; J. Aumer, p. 27; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 454; Fleischer, Dresden Cat., p. 7; J. C. Tornberg, p. 103; Ouseley, Biogr. آباد شد از من طرب آباد سخن

Dated A. H. 971 (A. D. 1563, 1564), at Marw, by Muḥammad Ḥusain bin Ghiyāth-al-din 'Alī Jāmi. On several pages one or two hemistichs are omitted.

No. 906, ff. 237, 2 coll., each ll. 14; Nasta'lik, the first two pages richly illuminated; size, 9½ in. by 6 in.

1279

Another copy of the same.

This copy of Kamāl's diwān contains :

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, on fol. 1^b, beginning :

اینها العطشان فی وادی الهوا
جوی جویان جانب دریا بیا

This initial ghazal is found in the preceding copy, on fol. 12^a, but there is written اینها العطشان instead of اینها العطشان.

Kit'as, on fol. 206^b, and

Rubá'is, on fol. 212^a, both beginning as in the preceding copy.

Dated the 16th of Rabi'-al-awwal, A. H. 1085 (A. D. 1674, June 20), by Shaikh Kālī.

No. 925, ff. 214, 2 coll., each ll. 15; clear Nasta'lik; size, 9 in. by 5½ in.

Diwān-i-Maghribi (دیوان مغربی).

The lyrical poems of Mullā Muḥammad Shirin Maghribi of Nā'in, in the province of Isfahān, who was a friend of Kamāl Khujandī, and died at Tabriz, A. H. 809 (A. D. 1406, 1407); comp. Bodleian Cat., No. 859; Rieu ii. p. 633; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 719, 720, and 856; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 476; Ouseley, Biogr. Notices, p. 106. His diwān has been printed in Persia, A. H. 1280.

Contents :

A preface in prose, on fol. 1^b, beginning : الحمد لله الذى انشاء عروض الكون بسى الجسم الثقيل والروح الخفيف الخ.

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, except the first, preceded by a short mathnawi (dedicated to Shābrukh).

Beginning of the mathnawi, on fol. 2^b :

بس اربینی درین دیوان اشعار
خرابات و خراباتی و خمار

Beginning of the first (unalphabetical) poem, the first three baits of which are written in Arabic, on fol. 3 :

Beginning of the first alphabetical poem, on fol. 3^b :

خورشید رخت جو گشت پیدا
ذرات دو کون شد هوبدا

Tarji'āt and rubá'is, on fol. 74^a, beginning :

آفتاب وجود کرد اشراق - نور او سر بسر گرفت آفاق

At the end of the diwān, on fol. 92^b, there are some prose-lines, beginning : زیرا که علوم و معارف ایشان ذوقی الخ :

Dated the 10th of Shawwāl, A. H. 1151 (A. D. 1739, Jan. 21), by Ghulām Muḥyi-aldīnkhān of Gilān. Some mathnawi-baits on the fly-leaves.

No. 230, ff. 1-92, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Shikasta; size, 8½ in. by 5 in.

1282

Another copy of the same.

This copy, which is somewhat older than the preceding one, contains only ghazals in alphabetical order, except the first, with a few mathnawi-baits and rubá'is at the end. Beginning both of the initial (unalphabetical) and the first alphabetical ghazal the same as in the preceding copy. Occasionally various readings on the margin. Dated by Gisūrāi, the 7th of Rabi'-al-awwal, A. H. 1139 (eighth year of Muḥammadshāh's reign)=A. D. 1726, Nov. 2.

No. 254, ff. 277-382, 2 coll., each ll. 12-15; careless Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

1283

An incomplete copy of the same.

Contents :

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, on fol. 1^b, beginning :

هیچ دانی که ما کثیم وشما - سایه آفتاب ونور خدا

The first alphabetical poem of the preceding copy is here the second (on fol. 2^a).

Rubā'is, incomplete at the end, on fol. 61^b, beginning:

ای گشته عیان رویتو از جام جهان
بیدا شده از نام خوست نام جهان

The last rubā'i corresponds to fol. 91^b, last two lines, in No. 1281.

No. 1086, ff. 63, 2 coll., each ll. 16; distinct Nasta'liq; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

Khamsa-i-Jamāliyyah (خمسة جمالية).

Five mathnawis, in imitation of the five famous poems of Nizāmī, composed by a poet with the takhalluṣ Jamālī, who is not mentioned anywhere (his fuller title given in the frontispiece of the first poem is حضرة الجمالية الاحمدية). He flourished at the end of Timūr's reign, and under his first successors. The five poems of this khamsah are:

1. تحفة الأبرار, in twenty maqālas, an imitation of the Makhzan-alarār, on fol. 1^b, beginning:

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم - هست سرآغاز کتاب کرم

2. مهر و نگار, an imitation of Khusrau and Shirin, on fol. 29^b, beginning:

بفضل بی کران یا ذی المعالی
در توحید بگشا بر جمالی

Composed A.H. 805 (A.D. 1402, 1403), see fol. 85^b, l. 14.

3. محزون و محبوب, an imitation of Lailā and Majnūn, on fol. 86^b, beginning:

ای ذات ترا بدایتی نی - اوصاف ترا نهایتی نی

Composed A.H. 814 (A.D. 1411, 1412), see fol. 132^a, l. 20.

4. هفت اورنگ, an imitation of the Haft Paikar, on fol. 132^b, beginning:

ای جهان جمله آفریده تو - سقف افلاک برکشیده تو

Composed A.H. 820 (A.D. 1417), see fol. 178^b, last line but one.

5. Another mathnawī, incomplete at the end; the title of this last poem cannot be made out, as no headings are found, and the only place in which the author himself enumerates his mathnawis, viz. fol. 134^a, ll. 10, 11, occurs already in the beginning of the هفت اورنگ, that is in the fourth poem. Beginning of this mathnawī, on fol. 179^b:

الهی ز مه تا بهای تراست
همه بندگانیم و شاهی تراست

No doubt it is an imitation of the Iskandarnāma. Many leaves are a little injured; the last page is very severely damaged. The second mathnawī is dated the 8th of Ramadān, A.H. 869 (A.D. 1465, May 4), the third in the month Muḥarram, A.H. 870 (A.D. 1465, Aug.-Sept.). We learn from the colophons of both, that this copy was made in Baghdād.

No. 138, ff. 210, 4 coll., each ll. 25; Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each poem; pictures on ff. 14^a, 24^a, 75^a, 101^b, 125^b, and 205^a; size, 12½ in. by 7½ in.

Diwān-i-Kāsim-i-Anwār (دیوان قاسم انوار).

The lyrical poems of Sayyid Mu'in-al-dīn 'Alī Kāsim-i-Anwār, with the two takhalluṣes Kāsim and Kāsimī, born in Sarāb, near Tabriz, A.H. 757 (A.D. 1356), died at Kharjird, near Jām, A.H. 837 (A.D. 1433, 1434); see Haft Iklim, No. 1314, col. 476 above, and comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 862-866; Rieu ii. p. 635 sq.; W. Pertsch, p. 101, and Berlin Cat., p. 860 sq.; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 532; G. Flügel i. pp. 558, 559; J. Aumer, p. 28; Bland, Century of Persian Ghazals, No. 6; etc.

Contents:

Daulatshāh's account of Kāsim's life and works (ذکر در دریای (سید قاسم انوار), on fol. 1^b, beginning: حقیقت الخ. Daulatshāh is the only biographer who, with his usual inaccuracy, fixes the poet's death in A.H. 835 (A.D. 1431, 1432).

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, except the first two, on fol. 9^b. Beginning of the initial ghazal:

من بیچاره سودازده سرگردانم
که باوصاف خداوند سخن چون رانم

Beginning of the first alphabetical ghazal, on fol. 10^b:

ای صبح سعادت ز جبین تو هویدا
این حسن چه حسنست تبارک و تعالی

Tarjībānds, kiṭ'as, short mathnawis, and rubā'is, on fol. 209^a, beginning:

بیا ای عشق عالمسوز بی غم
قدم برچشم من نه خیر مقدم

(see No. 863 in the Bodleian Cat.).

This copy is dated the 4th of Jumādā-althānī, A.H. 1028 (A.D. 1619, May 19), by 'Abd-allatīf al-'Abbāsi (the learned editor and commentator of Sanā'i's Hadiqah and Jalāl-al-dīn Rūmī's mathnawī, see above, Nos. 923, 924, 1088-1091, 1101, 1102), who wrote it for Mirzā Muḥammad Ashraf.

No. 495, ff. 227, 2 coll., each ll. 11; Nasta'liq; two small pictures, the first rather effaced, on ff. 18^b and 39^a; blanks on ff. 140^b and 200^a; size, 6½ in. by 3½ in.

1286

Another copy of the same.

This copy seems to be older than the preceding one, but is not dated; it is injured in many places, and has the first sixty-two leaves in this most bewildering order: ff. 1-20, 29, 22, 23, 30, 21, 24, 25, 47-53, 54, 32-38, 27, 28, 26, 55-60, 39-46, 31, 61, 62.

Contents:

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, except the first two, on fol. 1^a. Beginning, both of the initial and of the first alphabetical ghazal, the same as in the preceding copy. At the end of the ghazals, on fol. 163^b, four rubā'is.

One tarji'band, ghazals, kit'as, short mathnawis and rubā'is, all mixed together, beginning, on fol. 164^a: الا ای عشق الـ (see the preceding copy, fol. 209^a). The last mathnawī, on fol. 178^a, begins:

الا ای شاهباز قدس لاهوت - مقید مانده در دام ناسوت
(identical with the امیر تیمور گورگان, in No. 862 of the Bodleian Cat.).

No. 2831, ff. 179, 2 coll., each ll. 21; small Nasta'lik; size, 6½ in. by 4 in.

1287

The same.

This copy is not dated; but a seal, bearing the date A. H. 1174 (A. D. 1760, 1761), appears on fol. 1^a.

Contents:

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, except the first two, on fol. 1^b; beginning the same as in the preceding copies.

One tarji'band, kit'as, short mathnawis and rubā'is, on fol. 189^b, beginning: بیا ای عشق الـ.

No. 489, ff. 199, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

1288

The same.

This copy, which has some lacunas after ff. 37, 38, and 39, contains:

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, except the first two, on fol. 1^b, with a few rubā'is at the end.

No date. This MS. came into the library of Khān-ṣāhib Ḥabīb-allāh Khānṣāhib Bahādur, A. H. 1213 (A. D. 1798, 1799).

No. 2577, ff. 160, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'lik; the first page supplied later; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

1289

The same.

This very defective copy contains:

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, except the first (which begins in the usual way), on fol. 1^b. Between ff. 1 and 2 a lacuna; the abrupt beginning of fol. 2^a: زاهد; از چشم یقین باز گشاید الـ, corresponds to No. 2831 (1286 in this Cat.), fol. 8^b, l. 3. The next complete ghazal on the same page corresponds to fol. 4^a, l. 1, in the same copy. This part breaks off, on fol. 169^b, with the fourth bait of a ghazal rhyming in ی; the last verse corresponds to fol. 146^a, l. 7, in No. 2831.

Kit'as, one tarji'band, and short mathnawis, on fol. 170^a, defective both at the beginning and end; the first bait occurring belongs to a kit'ah, corresponding to fol.

IND. OFF.

169^b, l. 9, in No. 2831; the first complete kit'ah on the same page to fol. 172^b, l. 4 ab infra. in the same copy.

This part breaks off in a short mathnawī, on fol. 179^b.

The right order of ff. 33-42 is: 33, 41, 35-40, 34, 42; and of ff. 73-82: 73, 80, 81, 76-79, 74, 75, 82. A little worm-eaten here and there.

No. 3459, olim 13. J. 15, ff. 179, 2 coll., each ll. 15; careless Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

Kulliyyât-i-Kâtibi (کلیات کاتبی).

Complete poetical works of Shams-al-din Muḥammad bin 'Abdallāh Kâtibi, who was born in Tarshiz, studied in Nishâpûr, and died at Astarâbâd A. H. 838 or 839 (A. D. 1434-1436), see Haft Iklim, No. 753, col. 433 in this Cat.; and comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 867-870; Rieu ii. pp. 637-639; W. Pertsch, p. 76, and Berlin Cat., p. 862; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 457; G. Flügel i. p. 561; Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. ii. p. 119; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 366; J. C. Toruberg, p. 104; H. Khalfâ iii. p. 302, No. 5625; Ouseley, Biogr. Notices, p. 188 sq.; Bland, Century of Persiau Ghazals, No. 5; etc.

Contents:

Ghazals, arranged alphabetically, on fol. 1^b, beginning:

*آفاق بر صداست زکوه گناه ما
کوه گناه چند بود سنگ راه ما*

Kit'as, on fol. 83^b, beginning:

*شی بمجلس میر اردشیر در رستم
به بنده بود یکی قطعه بهتر از طبقی*

Rubā'is, and some fards, on fol. 90^a, beginning:

*ای خنده حسن گلعداران از تو
وی گریه ابر نوبهاران از تو*

This part is dated by the copyist Nî'mat-allāh bin 'Ināyat-allāh the 14th of Rabi'-al-awwal, A. H. 1007 (A. D. 1598, Oct. 15).

First mathnawī, the Gulshan-i-Abrâr (گلشن ابرار), or 'Rose-garden of the Pure,' an imitation of Nizāmi's Makhzan-al-asrâr, incomplete at the beginning, on fol. 100^a. The first bait found here runs thus:

*جذبۀ لطفت چو کمند افکند
هر دو جهانرا ز سمند افکند*

This is the 214th bait of the poem, corresponding to fol. 193^a, l. 15, in No. 223 (1292 in this Cat.).

Second mathnawī, entitled Si Nâma (سی نامه), or the 'Thirty Epistles,' on fol. 116^b, beginning:

*زهی سی نامه ام نامی ز نامت
حدیثم حرفی از جزو کلامت*

Copied the 19th of Muḥarram, A. H. 1007 (A. D. 1598, Aug. 22).

Third mathnawī (or risâlah, as it is styled in the colophon), on fol. 152^b, entitled Dilrubâi (دلربای), or 'the Charmier,' an allegorical poem, beginning:

زهی روح را رحمت رائحه - کلام مرا حمد تو فاتحه

Fourth mathnawi, entitled Majma'-albahrain (مجمع البحرين), or 'Combination of the two seas or metres,' also styled Nâzîr u Manzûr (ناظر و منظور), on fol. 166^b, beginning:

ای شده از قدرت تو ما و طین
لوحه دبایچه دنیا و دین

Fifth mathnawi, entitled Dah bâb (ده باب), or the 'Ten Chapters,' on fol. 198^b, beginning:

ای برحمت عالمی را کار ساز
جمله عالم را برحمت کار ساز

This mathnawi is identical with the Tajnisât (تجنیسات) of W. Pertsch, pp. 76, 77 (comp. A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 458).

Kasidas, interspersed with tarji'bands, musaddasât, etc., on fol. 231^b, beginning:

سپاس و حمد ترا زبید ای محقق برحق
که حامدند ترا مطلقا مقید و مطلق

The initial kasidah of No. 867 of the Bodleian Cat., of the British Museum copies, Sprenger's copy, etc., is here the second, on fol. 232^b. Ff. 22-38 are misplaced, the right order is: 21, 24-30, 22, 23, 32-37, 31, 38.

No. 52, ff. 312, 2 coll., each ll. 19; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b, 116^b, 152^b, 166^b, 198^b, and 231^b; ff. 1^b, 2^a, 116^b, 117^a, 152^b, 153^a, 166^b, 167^a, 198^b, 199^a, 231^b, and 232^a richly adorned; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

1291

Another copy of the same.

Contents:

Kasidas, intermixed with tarji'bands, on fol. 1^b, beginning as in all the usual copies: ای گیل آدم بخمر الخ (the second poem in the preceding copy, on fol. 232^b).

Ghazals, arranged alphabetically, on fol. 78^b, beginning as in the preceding copy.

Kit'as, on fol. 179^a, beginning: ای دل ار خواهی الخ (see Nos. 867 and 868 of the Bodleian Cat.).

Rubâ'is and riddles, on fol. 186^b, beginning: ای وعده دیدار تو میعاد بهشت الخ.

The five mathnawis in the following order:

1. Gulshan-i-Abrâr (= 1 in the preceding copy), on fol. 190^b, beginning:

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم - تاج کلامست و کلام قدیم

2. Dah bâb (= 5 in the preceding copy), on fol. 211^b.

3. Majma'-albahrain (= 4 in the preceding copy), with a preface in prose, on fol. 249^b, beginning: مدام از حضرت مبلغ الهام الخ; the poem itself begins on fol. 251^a.

4. Si Nâma (= 2 in the preceding copy), on fol. 285^b.

5. Dilrubâi (= 3 in the preceding copy), on fol. 330^b.

This copy is dated the 15th of Dhû-alhijjah, A. H. 1087 (A. D. 1677, Feb. 18).

Sitta-i-Dā'i (ستۀ داعی).

Six mathnawis, by Nizām-al-din Maḥmūd bin al-Ḥasan al-Ḥusaini of Shirāz, with the takhalluṣ Dā'i, who was born A. H. 810 (A. D. 1407, 1408), and collected his complete poetical works for the first time in A. H. 865 (A. D. 1460, 1461), see above, No. 1099, where his commentary on the mathnawī is described and the different dates of his birth are duly weighed; comp. also No. 883 in the Bodleian Cat., where the contents of his Kulliyyāt are given in full; Rieu ii. p. 791b, and

A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 387. This copy contains only his mathnawis, viz.:

1. Kitāb-i-Mashāhid (کتاب مشاهد), or 'Book of Assemblies,' on fol. 2b, beginning:

بلبل اگر ناله برآرد رواست
خاصه که از طرف گلستان جداست

Composed A. H. 836 (A. D. 1432, 1433).

2. Kitāb-i-Ganj-i-rawān (کتاب گنج روان), or 'Book of the Soul's Treasure,' in ten maḳālas, on fol. 29b, beginning:

نخستین که آید قلم در زبان
بحمد خدا به که گردد روان

Composed A. H. 841 (A. D. 1437, 1438).

3. Kitāb-i-C'ihl Šabāḥ (کتاب چهل صباح), or 'Book of the Forty Mornings,' on fol. 63b, beginning:

بنیاد سخن بنام حق نه - کز هر چه بهست نام حق به

Composed A. H. 843 (A. D. 1439, 1440).

4. Kitāb-i-C'ār Cāman (کتاب چار چمن), or 'Book of the Four Meadows,' on fol. 97b, beginning:

میوه باغ جان ما سخن است
چه سخن هر چه از خدا سخن است

Composed A. H. 842 (A. D. 1438, 1439).

5. Kitāb-i-Cashma-i-Zindagāni (کتاب چشمۀ زندگانی), or 'Book of the Fountain of Life,' on fol. 139b, beginning:

ستایش را سزاواری خدایا - که بخشیدی مرا یاری خدایا

Composed A. H. 856 (A. D. 1452).

6. Kitāb-i-Ishk-nāma (کتاب عشقنامه), or 'Book of Love,' on fol. 174b, beginning:

از ازل گرگوش داری تا ابد - بشنوی از هر زبان حمد احد

Composed A. H. 856 (A. D. 1452).

To these six mathnawis there is added, on ff. 247b sq., a seventh mathnawī without any title, a kind of Sākināma, dealing with the various topics of Šūfism, beginning, on fol. 247b:

الحمد لواهب الانابه - والشکر لمن له الاجابه

It ends on fol. 284b, and is followed by a series of Tarj'āt, beginning:

عشقم از خویشتن ندامت داد - سرم اندر ره ملامت داد

A short preface in prose, on fol. 1b, opens the Sittah.

No date. An entry, dated A. H. 1059 (A. D. 1649), on the fly-leaf.

No. 1887, ff. 299, 2 coll., each ll. 12; Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each mathnawī; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

Diwān-i-Riyādi (دیوان ریاضی).

The lyrical poems of Maulānā Riyādi of Samarkand, who was drowned A. H. 884 (A. D. 1479, 1480), comp. Bodleian Cat., Nos. 890 and 891; Rieu iii. p. 1074; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 894; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 20, No. 140; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 311.

The diwân contains only ghazals, in alphabetical order, beginning:

ای بری از رخ بر افکن طرّه طرار را
تا بکی بر روی مصحف می نهی زتار را

No. 895, ff. 23, 2 coll., each ll. 14; Nasta'liq; an illuminated frontispiece; size, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Jâmi (Nos. 1300-1389).

Kulliyât-i-Jâmi (کلیات جامی).

A very old, but somewhat defective, copy of the complete poetical works of Nûr-al-dîn 'Abd-alrahmân Jâmi, usually styled the last great classical poet of Persia, who was born in Kharjird near Jâm the 23rd of Sha'bân, A. H. 817 (A. D. 1414, Nov. 7), and died at Harât the 18th of Muharram, A. H. 898 (A. D. 1492, Nov. 9); see on his life and works. Rosenzweig, Biographische Notizen über Mawlana Abdurrahman Dschami, etc., 1840; Jourdain, Biogr. Universelle, vol. xi. p. 431; De Sacy in Notices et Extraits, vol. xii. p. 287; Journal Asiatique, vi. p. 257, and 5^{me} série, xvii. p. 301; Ouseley, Biogr. Notices, pp. 131-138; W. Nassau Lees, A Biographical Sketch of the mystic philosopher and poet Jâmi (being the preface to his 'Lives of the Mystics'), Calcutta, 1859; E. Fitzgerald, Notice of Jâmi's life, in his English translation of 'Salâmân and Absâl', London, 1879; S. Robinson, Persian Poetry for English Readers, 1883, p. 511 sq.; Rosen, Persian MSS., pp. 215-261 (where a most elaborate account of the precious autograph of the poet's Kulliyât is given, and many old errors have for ever been removed); Bodleian Cat., Nos. 894-976; Rieu i. p. 17, and ii. pp. 643-650; W. Pertsch, p. 102, and Berlin Cat., pp. 867-883; A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 447-451; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 369 sq.; G. Flügel i. pp. 564-575; J. Aumer, pp. 30-33, etc. Nearly all collections of Persian MSS. contain a certain number of Jâmi's works (see besides on the printed literature, Zenker ii. pp. 38 and 39).

The present copy, which was written only twenty-five years after the poet's death, contains:

A. First portion.

I. Two centre-columns on ff. 1-463.

1. The first diwân (otherwise styled فاتحة الشباب, 'The Beginning of Youth'; the title کتاب دیوان اول is here wrongly prefixed to the second part, on fol. 65^b), in two parts, viz.:

a. Kasidas, tarji'ât, marâthi, and short mathnawis, preceded by the usual preface, which is defective at the beginning, the first leaf being missing; the first words on fol. 1^a: که سیاحان بحر شعرند جمع ساخته الخ, correspond to Rosen, Persian MSS., p. 228, l. 4, and No. 2628 (1301 in this Cat.), fol. 1^b, last line; the date of composition, A. H. 884 = A. D. 1479, 1480 (بر روی صدف نهاد يك دانه گهر), appears here on fol. 3^b, l. 6. Immediately after that the kasidas and tarji'bands begin on fol. 3^b, l. 8, the first being headed:

زان پیش : تحمید خداوند تعالی و تقدس; the first bait : کز ممداد دهم خامه را مدد الخ; the mathnawis begin, on fol. 61^a:

بنام خدای که پست و بلند

ز خورشید فقلش بود بهره مند

b. Ghazals, kit'as, and rubâ'is, beginning, on fol. 65^b, with the same six unalphabetical poems as in Rosen, loc. cit., p. 234; first bait:

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم - اعظم اسماء عليم حكيم

The first alphabetical ghazal begins, on fol. 67^b:

یا من بدا جمالك فى كل ما بدا

بادا هزار جان مقدس ترا فدا

The proper order of ff. 1-141 is: 1-38, 61-140, 39-60, 141. After ff. 206 and 239 there are lacunas; the first comprises some poems in ن, all in و, and a considerable number in ه (the last bait, on fol. 206^b, corresponds to fol. 254^b, l. 10, in the following copy; and the first, on fol. 207^a, to fol. 273^a, first line, in the same copy); the second comprises all the baits of the last ghazal in ی, except the first two, and six kit'as (corresponding to fol. 307^a, l. 13-fol. 308^a, lin. penult., in the following copy); the first kit'ah that appears here begins: درای نعمت دنیی که خاک بر سر آن الخ (= fol. 308^a, last line, in the same copy); the rubâ'is, on fol. 243^a, begin as in Rosen, p. 238: سبحانك لا علم لنا. This first diwân is dated by the transcriber (whose name, Sultân Muhammad of Harât, appears on fol. 463^b) the 3rd of Ramadân, A. H. 923 (A. D. 1517, Sept. 19). Printed Constantinople, A. H. 1284. Other copies of this diwân are noticed in Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 22; No. 895, 24; No. 896, 9 and 10; and Nos. 947-954; Rieu ii. p. 643; W. Pertsch, pp. 102 and 103, and Berlin Cat., Nos. 867-870; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 448, No. 1; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, No. 422, ff. 407^b-570^b, centre; A. F. Mehren, p. 41; J. C. Toinberg, p. 106; Cat. Codd. Or. Lugd. Bat. ii. p. 120; Krafft, p. 68; G. Flügel i. pp. 570 and 571. Nos. 595 and 596; J. Aumer, p. 30, etc.

2. The second diwân (کتاب دیوان ثانی), otherwise styled واسطة العقد, 'The Middle of the Chain'), containing:

A preface in prose, on fol. 252^b, beginning: بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم - املی حمد المتان الکرم الخ, see Rosen, p. 239. The date of composition, A. H. 894 = A. D. 1489 (contained in the ta'rikh چو تهمت), appears here on fol. 253^a, lin. penult., whereas the wrong date, A. H. 884, which has caused so many mistakes, appears in the same page, l. 6; see on the question of this date, Rosen, p. 256.

Kasidas, on fol. 253^b (with one tarkibband, on fol. 260^a), beginning as in Rosen, p. 240, with a kasidah, درین صحیفه چو; initial bait: فی توحید باری عز اسمه آغاز کردم املی را الخ.

Three unalphabetical ghazals, on fol. 269^a, beginning:

آئما الله اله واحد الخ

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, on fol. 269^b: دی

گذشتیم بدان دلبر و کردیم دعا الخ see Rosen, p. 241.

At the end the same musammat as in Rosen, p. 244:

سقاك الله الخ

Mukatta'at, on fol. 375^b, beginning: جامی سخن بر

آئنۀ دل بود چو زنگ الخ

Rubā'is, on fol. 379^b: تا ما ره تسبیح و ثنا می

بویسم الخ

Other copies of this diwān are described in Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 36; No. 896, 11; and No. 955; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 448, No. 2; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, No. 422, ff. 407^b-537^b, margin, etc.; wrong dates of composition are given in Bodleian Cat. and Sprenger, viz. A. H. 884; in Dorn, p. 372, viz. 885; in Krafft, viz. 889, etc.

3. The third diwān (کتاب دیوان ثالث, otherwise styled 'The Conclusion of Life'), containing:

A short preface, on fol. 383^a, beginning:

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم - طرفه خطابیست ز سفر قدیم

The date of composition, A. H. 896 = A. D. 1490, 1491 (در شهر سنۀ ست و تسعین و ثمانمائه), appears here in l. 9 of the same page.

The three introductory poems, noted in Rosen, p. 246, viz. (the last without a title here), followed by qasidas, on fol. 383^a, last line; first bait: آنکه تسبیح حصا بر صدق

او آمد گوا الخ One tarkibband (on the death of Khwājah 'Ubaiddallāh) on fol. 392^b, and two ta'rikhāt, see Rosen, p. 247.

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, on fol. 395^a, preceded by the same two short pieces described in Rosen, viz. (on fol. 394^b), and the praise of the prophet.

Beginning of the initial ghazal:

بر آمد شاه عشق از طور سینا

وز آنجا زد علم بر دیر مینا

Mukatta'at, on fol. 458^a, beginning: درین نشیمن

ادبار جامیا کاری الخ

Rubā'is, on fol. 460^b, beginning: معشوق ازل که هر

که دل بست بدو الخ

The two mathnawi-baits (نیست در راه الخ), and the last two baits of the معنیات (بر حاشیۀ لوح الخ), described in Rosen, pp. 251 and 252, followed by one bait more, viz. هر کس که ازین جهان دلگیر بجست الخ, are found here on fol. 463^a.

This part is dated by the same Sulṭān Muhammad of Harāt (see fol. 252^a in this MS.), the last of Muḥarram, A. H. 924 (A. D. 1518, Feb. 11).

Other copies of the third diwān are described in Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 37, and No. 896, 12; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, No. 422, ff. 327^b-406^b, margin; Mélanges Asiatiques, vi. p. 104; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 448, 3; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 870, No. 873, etc. Selections from the various diwāns have been translated into German by Rosenzweig, Biogr. Notizen, etc., nebst Proben aus seinen Diwanen (persisch und deutsch), Vienna, 1840; Rückert, in Zeitschrift für die Kunde des Morgenlandes, v. p. 281 sq., and vi. p. 189 sq.; and in Zeitschrift der D. M. G. ii. p. 26 sq., iv. p. 44 sq., v. p. 308 sq., vi. p. 491 sq., xxiv. p. 563 sq., xxv. p. 95 sq., xxvi. p. 461 sq., and xxix. p. 191 sq.; Wickerhauser, Leipzig, 1855, and Vienna, 1858; Schlechta-Wssehrd (see Zenker ii. 496).

II. Margin-column, on ff. 1^b-438^b.

4. Tuhfat-alahrār (تحفة الاحرار), 'The Gift to the Free,' a religious mathnawī, completed A. H. 886 (A. D. 1481); it begins abruptly in the prose-preface, on fol. 1^a (the first page missing); the mathnawī itself opens, on fol. 1^b:

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم - هست صلاى سر خوان کریم

It comprises ff. 1^b-38^b and 61^a-68^b (see above on the order of ff. 1-141). Edited by F. Falconer, London, 1848; printed, Lucknow, 1869; extracts in German translation are found in Tholuck's 'Blüthensammlung,' p. 297 sq.; see Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 6; No. 895, 19; No. 896, 3; No. 897, 3; No. 898, 3; No. 899, 3; No. 900, 1; No. 901, 3; and Nos. 933-939; Rieu ii. pp. 645, No. 7, and 646-648; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 449, No. 3; Rosen, Persian MSS., pp. 221, 259, and 260; W. Pertsch, p. 74, No. 44, and Berlin Cat., No. 876, 5; No. 877, 1; and Nos. 883-884^a; G. Flügel i. pp. 563, No. 3, and 566, No. 1; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, pp. 374 and 375; J. Aumer, p. 31, etc.

5. Subḥat-alabrār (سبحۃ الابرار), 'The Rosary of the Righteous,' another religious mathnawī, with a prose-preface, on fol. 69^b: بخون گر خفتم بکچند

چو غنچه عاقبت شکفتم الخ

the mathnawī itself opens, on fol. 70^a:

ابتداء بسم الله الرحمن

الرحيم المتوال (المتوالی) الاحسان

It comprises ff. 69^b-140^b and 39^a-60^a. Printed, Calcutta, 1811 and 1848, lithographed, ib. 1818; it is also included in vol. 6 of the 'Persian Selections,' and vol. 2 of the 'Classic Selections,' see Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 7; No. 895, 20; No. 896, 4; No. 897, 4; No. 898, 4; No. 899, 4; No. 900, 2; No. 901, 2; and Nos. 940-946; Rieu ii. pp. 644, No. 2, and 646-648; A. 6. Yūsuf u Zalikhā (یوسف و زلیخا), a romantic mathnawī, completed A. H. 888 (A. D. 1483), and beginning, on fol. 60^b:

الهی غنچه امید بگشای - گلی از روضۀ جاوید بنمای

It comprises ff. 60^b and 141^a-248^a. Two lacunas after ff. 206 and 239 (see above in the first diwân); the first comprises p. 101, l. 13, to p. 124, l. 5 ab infra in Rosenzweig's edition; the second, p. 170, l. 4 ab intra, to p. 172, l. 8 in the same. Edited with German translation by Rosenzweig, Vienna, 1824; English translations by Ralph T. H. Griffith, London, 1881, and by A. Rogers, London, 1892; the introductory part of the poem translated into German by H. Barb, 'Die Schönheit,' Vienna, without date. Printed, Calcutta, 1809, A.H. 1244 and 1265; lithographed, ib. 1818; Bombay, 1829 and 1860; Lucknow (with notes), A.H. 1262 and 1879; in Persia, A.H. 1279; in Tabriz, A.H. 1284, etc.; it is also included in vol. 1 of the 'Persian Selections,' and vol. 1 of the 'Classic Selections;' see Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 8; No. 895, 21; No. 896, 5; No. 897, 5; No. 898, 5; No. 899, 7; No. 900, 5; No. 901, 1; No. 902, 2; and Nos. 903-923; Rieu ii. pp. 645, No. 3, 646, 648, and 649; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 450, No. 5; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., No. 876, 4, and Nos. 888-893; G. Flügel i. pp. 565, 5; 566, 3; and 568; J. Aumer, pp. 31 and 32, etc.

7. Lailâ u Majnûn (لایلی و مجنون), another romantic mathnawi, composed A.H. 889 (A.D. 1484), and beginning, on fol. 248^b:

ای خاک تو تاج سر بلندان - مجنون تو عقل هوشمند
Translated into French by Chézy, Paris, 1805; into German by Hartmann, Leipzig, 1807; see Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 10; No. 895, 22; No. 896, 6; No. 897, 6; No. 898, 6; No. 899, 5; No. 900, 4; and No. 924; Rieu ii. pp. 645, No. 4, and 646; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 450, No. 6; Rosen, p. 223; G. Flügel i. pp. 565, 6, and 567, 4; J. Aumer, p. 31, etc.

8. Sikandarnâma (سکندرنامه), more correctly styled: خردنامه سکندری, 'The Wisdom-book of Alexander,' an ethical mathnawi, beginning, on fol. 366^b:

الهی کمال الاهی تراست - جمال جهان بادشاهی تراست
see Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 13; No. 895, 23; No. 896, 7; No. 897, 7; No. 898, 7; No. 899, 7; No. 900, 3; and No. 925; Rieu ii. pp. 645, No. 5, and 646; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 451, No. 7; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., No. 894; Rosen, p. 224; G. Flügel i. pp. 565, 7, and 567, 5; J. Aumer, p. 31, etc.

B. Second portion, containing three centre-columns and one margin-column together, on ff. 464-555:

9. Silsilat-aldhahab (سلسلة الذهب), 'The Golden Chain,' a religious mathnawi, composed A.H. 890 (A.D. 1485), and beginning, on fol. 464^b:

للہ الحمد قبل کُلِّ کلام - بصفات الجلال والاکرام

It is divided into three books or daftars; the first, on fol. 464^b; the second, on fol. 509^b; the third, on fol. 528^a. The contents of this poem are given in Wiener Jahrbücher, tom. 66, Anzeigeblatt, p. 20 sq.; see Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 1; No. 895, 17; No. 896, 1; No. 897, 1; No. 898, 1; No. 899, 1; No. 902, 1; and Nos. 926-932; Rieu, pp. 644, No. 1, 646, and 647; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 449, No. 1; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., No. 876, 1, and Nos. 878-882; Rosen, pp. 218-220; G. Flügel i. pp. 565, No. 1, and 569; J. Aumer, p. 30. This part is dated end of Sha'bân, A.H. 925 (A.D. 1519, Aug. 26).

10. Salâmân u Absâl (سلامان و ابسال), an allegorical mathnawi, beginning, on fol. 541^b:

ای بیادت زنده جان عاشقان
ز اب لطفت تر زبان عاشقان

Edited by F. Falconer, London, 1850; translated by the same, London, 1856; another English translation by E. Fitzgerald, London, 1879; comp. also Garcin de Tassy, in Journal Asiat., 1850, ii. p. 539 sq.; see Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 5; No. 895, 18; No. 896, 2; No. 897, 2; No. 898, 2; No. 899, 2; No. 901, 4; and No. 902, 3; Rieu ii. pp. 645, No. 6, 646, and 647; A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 449, No. 2; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., No. 876, 6; Rosen, p. 220; G. Flügel i. p. 565, 2, etc.

No. 800, ff. 555, 2 centre-coll. on ff. 1-463, 3 centre-coll. on ff. 464^b-555, each ll. 19; an additional margin-column on ff. 1-438^b and 464^b-554^b, ll. 34; Nasta'lik; illuminated headings at the beginning of each part; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 6 in.

Jâmi's first diwân.

Another copy of Jâmi's first diwân, arranged exactly as in the preceding Kulliyât, and containing:

Preface in prose, on fol. 1^b, beginning:

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم - هست صلاى سر خوان کریم

Kāshidas, tarji'ât, marâthi, and short mathnawis, on fol. 5^b, beginning: زان بیش کر الی; the mathnawis begin, on fol. 54^a: بنام خدای که الی.

Ghazals, the first six unalphabetical, on fol. 59^b; beginning both of the initial and the first alphabetical ghazal as in the preceding copy. At the end the same musammât: الا ای ماء الی, as noticed in Rosen, p. 238.

Muḳaṭṭa'ât, on fol. 307^b, beginning:

دلا منشین درین ویرانه چون چغد
سوی مرغان قدسی آشیان بر

see Rosen, p. 238.

Rubâ'is, on fol. 312^a, beginning: سبحانک لا علم الی.

This very fine and old copy is not dated; it belonged formerly to Mr. Edw. Galley (ادورد گلی). Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2628, ff. 323, 2 coll., each ll. 17; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b, 5^b, and 59^b; the first two pages with gold stripes; all the headings in gilt letters; neat and clear Nasta'lik; good eastern binding; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1302

A defective copy of the same.

This copy of Jâmi's first diwân, in two parts, like the one in No. 1300, but with this peculiar arrangement, that the second part (the ghazals, muḳaṭṭa'ât, and rubâ'is) precedes the first.

Contents:

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, defective at the beginning; the copy opens abruptly with this final bait: آن سرو سهی قدرا شد خاک قدم جامی الخ, corresponding to fol. 64^b, lin. penult., in the preceding copy. Between ff. 221 and 222 seven blank leaves are inserted, but as a comparison with the preceding copy shows, there is no lacuna. At the end the musammat: الا ای ماء الخ.

Mukatta'ât, on fol. 232^b, beginning: دلا منشین الخ.

Rubâ'is, on fol. 237^a, beginning: سبحانک لا علم الخ.

The usual prose-preface of the first diwân, on fol. 249^b, beginning:

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم - هست صلی الخ

Kašidas, tarji'ât, marâthi, short mathnawis, etc., on fol. 253^a, beginning: زان پیش الخ.

No date. Presented by J. H. Peile, Esq., and received Sept. 19, 1818; transferred to Civil College, Aug. 9, 1819.

No. 3359, olim 7. J. 19, ff. 299, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece on fol. 249^b; size, 9½ in. by 5¾ in.

1303

The first part of Jâmi's first diwân.

Contents:

Prose-preface, on fol. 1^b, beginning as usual.

Kašidas, etc., on fol. 5^b, beginning: زان پیش الخ.

No date.

No. 3360, olim 7. J. 21, ff. 56, 2 coll., each ll. 15; large and clear Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9¾ in. by 5¾ in.

1304

A defective copy of the same first part.

The proper order of leaves in this copy is: ff. 16-39, 2-15, 40-50.

Fol. 16^a opens at the end of a kašidah, corresponding to No. 2628 (1301 in this Cat.), fol. 7^b, l. 10; the first complete kašidah on the same page begins: بانگ رحیل = No. 2628, fol. 7^b, lin. penult.; the mathnawis begin, on fol. 46^b: بنام خدای الخ (= No. 2628, fol. 54^a), and go down to the end. The copy comprises therefore fol. 7^b, l. 10 to fol. 58^b of No. 2628. The first leaf (fol. 1^b), written by a more modern hand, contains a repetition of the first nine baits of a kašidah, beginning: ای سر از قدر الخ, corresponding to fol. 39^b, l. 8 sq. in this copy and to No. 2628, fol. 31^b, l. 10 sq.

No date.

No. 884, ff. 50, 2 coll., each ll. 17; distinct Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, 10 in. by 6¾ in.

1305

The second part of Jâmi's first diwân.

Contents:

Unalphabetical ghazals, on fol. 1^b, beginning: بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم.

Alphabetical ghazals, on fol. 3^b, beginning: یا من بدا الخ; at the end the usual musammat.

Mukatta'ât, on fol. 236^b, beginning: دلا منشین الخ.

Rubâ'is, on fol. 238^b, beginning: سبحانک لا الخ.

Dated 1st of Dhû-alhijjah, A. H. 932 (A. D. 1526, Sept. 8), by Luṭf-allāh bin Ḥasan Ma'ād alḥusaini. College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2153, ff. 247, 2 coll., each ll. 17; distinct Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9¾ in. by 5¾ in.

1306

The same second part.

Contents:

Unalphabetical ghazals, on fol. 1^b.

Alphabetical ghazals, on fol. 3^b; at the end the usual musammat.

Mukatta'ât, on fol. 271^b.

Rubâ'is, on fol. 276^b. All the beginnings as usual.

The last six leaves seriously injured.

Dated the 15th of Rajab, A. H. 988 (A. D. 1580, Aug. 26).

No. 3281, olim 7. J. 18, ff. 289, 2 coll., each ll. 15; Nasta'liq; small illuminated frontispiece; size, 10 in. by 5¾ in.

1307

An earlier collection of Jâmi's minor poems, afterwards embodied in the first diwân.

This copy, which is unfortunately defective, is of quite an exceptional value, as it was written ten years before the final redaction of the first diwân, dated, on fol. 219^b, the 10th of Sha'bân, A. H. 874 (A. D. 1470, Feb. 12), by Darwish 'Alî, known as Waisi (درویش علی), and must contain therefore that earlier collection of lyrical poems which Jâmi, when about fifty years old, dedicated to Sulṭân Abû Sa'id, and which he afterwards included in both parts of his first diwân; the usual preface: موزون ترین کلامی الخ, is wanting here (see the following two copies), but the contents quite agree with those in the best copies of this earlier collection in Rieu ii. pp. 644 and 646; Bodleian Cat., No. 947 (there incorrectly represented as first diwân); G. Flügel i. pp. 570-572; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 379 (No. 439), etc.; see about this collection, Rosen, p. 257.

Contents:

The usual initial ghazal of the second part of the first diwân, on fol. 1^b:

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم - اعظم اسماء عليم حکيم

the second poem corresponds to the usual second one; the third is headed: فی نعت نبی الخ, and begins:

ای ذات تو الخ, agreeing with fol. 192^a, l. 10, in No. 2628 (1301 in this Cat.); with the sixth bait of this poem the copy breaks off, on fol. 2^b, in consequence of a lacuna between ff. 2 and 3; on fol. 3^a, l. 2, appears the tarji'band: ماء معین چیست الخ, corresponding to fol. 36^a, l. 7 ab infra, in No. 2628; the next following poem, on fol. 6^a, is a kašidah, چو بیوند با دوست الخ, agreeing with fol. 23^a, l. 11, in the same copy; these poems therefore were afterwards included in the first part of the first diwân.

The usual alphabetical ghazals of the second part begin here, on fol. 7^b: یا من بدا جمالك الخ.

Another set of tarji'ât and marâthi (later included in the first part), on fol. 202^a, beginning: صبحدم بادۀ صبح; corresponding to fol. 41^a, l. 3 ab infra, in No. 2628; on fol. 209^a the usual musammaṭ of the second part: الا ای ماه الخ.

Mukatta'ât, on fol. 213^b; the first is not a proper kiṭ'ah, but a short ghazal; the second is the initial kiṭ'ah of the first diwân: دلا منشین الخ.

Rubâ'is, on fol. 216^a, beginning: یا من ملکوت کلّ صبحدم بادۀ صبح, corresponding to fol. 321^b, l. 4, in No. 2628.

On ff. 1^a, 220^a, and 220^b there are written by the same hand some abrupt pieces in prose and verse, probably belonging to Jâmi also.

No. 1824, ff. 220, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'liq; size, 8 in. by 4½ in.

Another copy of the earlier collection.

This copy contains about the same miscellaneous poems as the preceding one (ghazals, tarji'ât, kiṭ'as, rubâ'is, etc.), and—in addition to them—the earlier preface with the dedication to Abû Sa'id, on fol. 226^b: موزون ترین کلامی که غزال (غزل) سرایان انجمن انس و محبت و قافیه سنجان الخ.

The usual initial ghazal (as in the preceding copy), on fol. 229^a; the first alphabetical ghazal, on fol. 238^a, begins here: هر دم افزونی چو گل رخسار آشنایک را الخ, corresponding to fol. 71^a, l. 1, in No. 2628.

The right order of ff. 526–530 is: 526, 529, 528, 527, 530.

No date.

No. 512, margin-column, ff. 226^b–619, ll. 26; Nasta'liq; illuminated heading on fol. 226^b.

1309

The same.

The second or larger half of this copy represents the same earlier collection, but in a shorter form; it begins, on fol. 55^a, with the same prose-preface as the preceding copy: موزون ترین کلامی که غزل سرایان الخ, and contains ghazals, tarji'ât, kiṭ'as, rubâ'is, etc.

The usual initial ghazal, on fol. 57^b, l. 10; the alphabetical ghazals, on ff. 62^b–174^a.

The first fifty-four leaves of this copy contain miscellaneous pieces in verse and prose, partly taken from Jâmi's Bahâristân (see further below, Nos. 1383–1386), as is stated in several places. The whole seventh raudâh of that work is found on ff. 33^a, l. 3 ab infra, to 54^b روضۀ هفتم در داستان مرغان قافیه سنج سرایستان (سخنوری الخ). This miscellaneous portion begins with a kašidah of Sa'di, on fol. 1^b.

No date. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2471, ff. 180, ll. 13–15; Nasta'liq, in a large, uncouth handwriting; size, 9 in. by 4½ in.

1310

Similar selections from both parts of the first diwân. Contents:

Three unalphabetical ghazals, on fol. 1^b, beginning: سبکان من تخیر فی ذاتہ سواء الخ, corresponding to the second ghazal in No. 2628 (1301 in this Cat.), fol. 60^a.

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, beginning, on fol. 3^a: بکعبه گر نمای جمال خود مارا الخ, corresponding to fol. 67^a, l. 10, in No. 2628.

One tarji'band, on fol. 140^b, beginning: صبحدم بادۀ صبح, see No. 1624 (1307 in this Cat.), fol. 202^a.

A few kiṭ'as and rubâ'is, on fol. 148^a (turned upside down), beginning: دلا منشین الخ.

Some leaves are misplaced, viz. fol. 73 must be inserted between ff. 144 and 148.

On the margin of ff. 10^a–16^a appears a کتاب اختلاج از قول حکیمان; on that of ff. 56^b–80^b a series of 'Umar bin Khayyâm's rubâ'is (see above, Nos. 906 and 907); on that of ff. 81^a–86^a a تلخیص البیان فی علامات مهدی آخر الزمان, in four fasṡs; and on that of ff. 98^a–103^a a tract on the interpretation of dreams (در علم تعبیر).

No date.

No. 3504, olim 7. J. 17, ff. 149, 2 coll., each ll. 14; Nasta'liq; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

1311

The same.

This copy contains:

Ghazals, in two series, both arranged in alphabetical order, except the first four ghazals of the first series. Beginning of the initial poem of the first series, on fol. 1^b: ای ذات تو از صفات ما پاک الخ, see No. 1624 (1307 in this Cat.), fol. 2^b, and No. 2628 (1301 in this Cat.), fol. 192^a, l. 10; the first alphabetical ghazal is the usual one: یا من بدا الخ.

The second series begins, on fol. 120^b: ای غمت نغم شادمانیها الخ, corresponding to No. 2628, fol. 67^a, l. 1.

One tarji'band, followed by a few kiṭ'as, rubâ'is, etc.; beginning of the tarji'band, on fol. 135^b: ای بروی تو چشم جان روشن الخ, corresponding to fol. 44^b, l. 6, in No. 2628; beginning of the rubâ'is, on fol. 139^a: یا من ملکوت الخ, see No. 1624 (1307 in this Cat.), fol. 216^a.

No date. The right order of the leaves is: ff. 1-47, 53-57, 48, 58-95, 49-52, 96-145.

No. 1613, ff. 145, 2 coll., each ll. 14; Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, $7\frac{7}{8}$ in. by $4\frac{1}{4}$ in.

1312

Shorter selections from the first diwân.

Contents:

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, on fol. 1^b, beginning: يا من بدا جمالك الخ.

Tarji'ât, on fol. 90^a, beginning: مخدم بادء الخ.

Dated by Shaikh Ghulâm Naṣir-al-din ibn Shaikh Muhammad Ṣalāḥ Balgrāmī, the 13th of Muḥarram, in the third year of Shāh 'Ālam's reign (=A.H. 1176, A.D. 1762, Aug. 4).

No. 875, ff. 1-93, 2 coll., each ll. 17; careless Nasta'liq; size, $10\frac{1}{4}$ in. by $5\frac{3}{8}$ in.

A defective copy of the same.

Ghazals, qaṣidas, tarji'ât, short mathnawīs, and a few rubā'is, beginning with the usual initial ghazal of the second part; there is a lacuna after fol. 2; fol. 2^b ends with the sixth bait of the third unalphabetical ghazal (corresponding to No. 2628, fol. 60^b, l. 3 ab infra), and fol. 3^a begins with the fourth bait of the fifth alphabetical ghazal (=No. 2628, fol. 62^b, l. 3 ab infra). Some leaves are misplaced, viz. fol. 17 must be followed by 23, and fol. 23 by 19-21. Sometimes a line or two are omitted.

No date. Copied by Sultān 'Alī of Mashhad (who died A.H. 919=A.D. 1513, see Bodleian Cat., No. 1896).

No. 1701, ff. 51, 2 coll., each ll. 17; clear Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; another highly embellished ornament at the end of the last page; a little worm-eaten throughout; size, 10 in. by $5\frac{3}{8}$ in.

1314

Jāmi's second diwân.

Another copy of Jāmi's second diwân, arranged exactly in the same way as in No. 1300, fol. 252^b sq.

Preface in prose, on fol. 1^b, beginning:

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم - املى حمد المثنان الكريم الخ

Qaṣidas, etc., on fol. 2^b, beginning: دربن صکیفه چو آغاز الخ.

Three unalphabetical ghazals, on fol. 19^b, beginning: اتما الله اله الخ.

Alphabetical ghazals, on fol. 20^a, beginning: دی گذشتیم الخ. At the end the usual musammat.

Muḥaṭṭa'ât and rubā'is, on fol. 115^a, beginning: جامی سخن الخ.

No date.

No. 3425, olim 7. J. 20, ff. 1-122, 2 coll., each ll. 18; Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispieces on ff. 1^b and 19^b; size, 9 in. by $5\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1315

A defective copy of the same second diwân.

This diwân is wrongly styled on the fly-leaf دیوان جامی

IND. OFF.

جلد سوم, as if it was the third diwân; this mistake is simply due to the first page (fol. 1^b) actually containing the beginning of the prose-preface of the third diwân:

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم - طرفه خطابيست ز صفر (!) قديم

but this preface breaks off at the end of the same page (corresponding to fol. 123^b, l. 4 ab infra in the following copy), in consequence of a lacuna after fol. 1, and all the rest of the MS. contains the second diwân, at least from fol. 2^b, last line onwards, where a qaṣidah begins:

چيست آن شامد الخ, corresponding to fol. 12^b, l. 4, in the preceding copy; fol. 2^a opens in the middle of a qaṣidah, having باشد as دبف, which cannot be traced in other copies. The qaṣidas (with one tarkibband) are continued as far as fol. 9^b, l. 3 (ending exactly in the same way as the preceding copy); and on fol. 9^b, l. 5, the first of the three unalphabetical ghazals begins: اتما الله الخ.

The alphabetical ghazals begin, on fol. 10^a: دی

گذشتیم الخ. At the end the usual musammat.

Muḥaṭṭa'ât and rubā'is, on fol. 128^a, beginning:

جامی سخن الخ; one half of fol. 3 and the whole of fol. 138^a are supplied by a later hand.

No date.

No. 3471, olim 7. J. 16, ff. 138, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, $9\frac{1}{2}$ in. by $5\frac{3}{8}$ in.

1316

Jāmi's third diwân.

Another, but rather incomplete, copy of Jāmi's third diwân, arranged exactly in the same way as in No. 1300, fol. 383^a sq.

Preface in prose, on fol. 123^b, beginning:

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم - طرفه خطابيست ز صفر قديم

The three introductory poems, on fol. 123^a, the first beginning: آنکه تسبیح حما الخ, after which the qaṣidas follow. The tarkibband, and the two ta'rikhāt, noticed in the above copy, appear here on ff. 129^b and 131^a respectively.

Ghazals, in alphabetical order, preceded by the same two pieces as in No. 1300; beginning of the initial ghazal, on fol. 132^a: بر آمد شاه عشق الخ.

The ghazals end on fol. 196^a; of the muḥaṭṭa'ât, which begin on the same page in the usual way, only five are found, the copy breaking off on fol. 196^b; besides, the last six leaves are so seriously damaged, that whole portions of the text are torn away.

No. 3425, olim 7. J. 20, ff. 123-196, 2 coll., each ll. 18; Nasta'liq; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9 in. by $5\frac{3}{8}$ in.

Haft Aurang (هفت اورنگ).

Another excellent, but undated copy of the seven mathnawīs of Jāmi, with the usual prose-preface, quoted in full in Rosen, pp. 216-218, and beginning, on fol. 1^b: حمدًا لرب جلیل من عبد ذلیل و سلامًا علی حمیب فائق الخ

The mathnawis are arranged in the following order:

1. Silsilat-al-dhahab, first book, on fol. 3^b; second book, on fol. 89^b; third book, on fol. 124^b.
2. Salâmân u Absâl, on fol. 149^b.
3. Tuhfat-alahrâr, on fol. 175^b.
4. Subhat-alahrâr, on fol. 213^b margin.
5. Yûsuf u Zalikhâ, on fol. 277^b.
6. Lailâ u Majnûn, on fol. 363^b.
7. Khiradnâma-i-Sikandari, on fol. 445^b.

The right order of ff. 439-443 is: 439, 441, 440, 442, 443; fol. 412 is turned upside down.

Complete copies of the Haft Aurang are described in Bodleian Cat., Nos. 897-899; Rieu ii. pp. 645 and 646; A. Sprenger, Catal., pp. 449-451; G. Flügel i. p. 564; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 368; J. C. Tornberg, p. 107, etc.

No. 3141, ff. 496, 2 coll., each ll. 12, and a third on the margin, ll. 24 (on a few pages also a fourth column on the margin); beautiful Nasta'lik; the first two pages luxuriously adorned; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each mathnawi, and also at the beginning of each book of the first poem; size, 10½ in. by 7 in.

1318

Another copy of the same.

Another good, but modern copy of the seven mathnawis of Jâmi, beginning with the same prose-preface as the preceding one, on fol. 1^b.

1. Silsilat-al-dhahab, first book, on fol. 3^a; second, on fol. 56^b; third, on fol. 81^b.

2. Salâmân u Ahsâl, on fol. 97^b.

3-7. The five principal mathnawis of Jâmi, usually called Jâmi's Khamsah (خمسة جامی), or Jâmi's Panj Ganj (پنج گنج جامی), with a short general preface, on fol. 114^b, beginning:

قبله همت خدای شناس
هست بر نعمت خدای سپاس الخ

see Rosen, p. 220; Rieu ii. pp. 645^b, 646^a; G. Flügel i. p. 566, etc. In Bodleian Cat., Nos. 896, 901, etc., and in Rieu ii. p. 645^b, No. 7, it is prefixed to the Tuhfat-alahrâr.

3. Tuhfat-alahrâr, with a short prose-preface, on fol. 115^a, beginning: حامداً لمن جعل جنان الخ, see Rieu ii. p. 647^b; Rosen, p. 259, and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 877. Beginning of the poem itself, on fol. 115^b.

4. Subhat-alahrâr, with the prose-preface, on fol. 139^b.

5. Yûsuf u Zalikhâ, on fol. 181^b.

6. Lailâ u Majnûn, on fol. 236^b.

7. Khiradnâma-i-Sikandari, on fol. 288^b.

Some pages a little injured, especially the last one. This copy was made for Sir Barry Close, 1810, by Munshi Mir Ibn 'Ali, at Haidarâbâd.

No. 1317, ff. 319, 4 coll., each ll. 21; Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each mathnawi, and also at that of the general preface of the Khamsah; the first two pages richly adorned; fine pictures on ff. 5, 39, 42, 60, 66, 74, 108, 135, 144, 150, 167, 202, 225, 230, 244, 256, 281, 285, 290, and 309; headings are wanting on ff. 27^a-29^a; size, 9½ in. by 6½ in.

Silsilat-al-dhahab.

Another copy of the first mathnawi of the Haft Aurang, dated A.H. 977 (A.D. 1569, 1570), by Muḥammad Husain ibn Khwājah Saif-al-din 'Alī. First book, on fol. 1^b; second, on fol. 121^b; third, on fol. 172^b (this last one beginning here as in A. Sprenger, Catal., p. 449, and Rosen, p. 219: حمد ایزد تہ کار تست ای، instead of زکار, as other copies read, for instance, No. 1322 below).

No. 193, ff. 207, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'lik; an illuminated frontispiece at the beginning of each book; the first two pages richly adorned; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1320

The same.

This copy, which is dated A.H. 1051 (A.D. 1641, 1642), has no subdivision into three books; all the headings besides are left blank.

No. 1945, ff. 69^b-180, 3 centre-coll., each ll. 17; careless and unequal Nasta'lik; worm-eaten; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1321

The same.

Contents:

Yûsuf u Zalikhâ.

Another very good and correct copy of the fifth mathnawi of the Haft Aurang, dated the 24th of Rajab, A.H. 1007 (A.D. 1599, Feb. 20).

No. 737, ff. 150, 2 coll., each ll. 15; very large and distinct Nasta'lik; a vignette on fol. 1^a; large pictures on ff. 1^b, 9^b, 46^a, 57^b, 61^a, 91^a, and 102^b; illuminations throughout; almost all the margins adorned with arabesques; size, 14½ in. by 9½ in.

1343

The same.

Dated the 23rd of Rajab, A.H. 1138 (A.D. 1726, March 27), by Shaikh Muḥammad ibn Pir Muḥammad Sûfi.

No. 2254, margin-coll., ff. 2^b-141^a, ll. 30; Nasta'lik.

1344

The same.

Copied by Muḥammad alkiwâm of Shîrâz, without a date. But on fol. 1^a there appears a seal of Mir Abû 'Alikhân Bahâdur, bearing the date A.H. 1174 (A.D. 1760, 1761).

No. 3426, olim 7. J. 3, ff. 175, 2 coll., each ll. 12-13; clear Nasta'lik; the first two pages luxuriously illuminated in ultramarine, gold, and other colours; pictures on ff. 37^b, 62^a, 73^b, 117^b, and 147^b; size, 8½ in. by 5½ in.

1345

The same.

Dated the 12th of Muḥarram in the 4th year of the reign of صاحب قران ثانی عزیز الدین (perhaps Shâh 'Âlam, that would be A.H. 1177=A.D. 1763, July 23). Various readings on the margin.

No. 624, ff. 142, 2 coll., each ll. 13-16; written very unequally by different hands, partly in careless Nasta'lik, partly in Shikasta; size, 9 in. by 5½ in.

1346

The same.

Dated the 15th of Sha'bân, A.H. 1185 (A.D. 1771, Nov. 23), by Muḥammad Ramaḍânî. A little worm-eaten.

No. 3463, olim 7. J. 5, ff. 123, 2 coll., each ll. 17; Nasta'lik; size, 8½ in. by 4½ in.

1347

The same.

Dated the 17th of Rajab, A.H. 1209 (A.D. 1795, Febr. 7), by Muḥammad 'Alî, at Farrukhâbâd.

No. 729, ff. 137, 2 coll., ll. 15; Nasta'lik; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

1348

The same.

This copy was purchased by J. H. Peile, March, 1817, presented Sept. 19, 1818, and transferred to Civil College, Aug. 9, 1819.

No date. At the end a few baits from the pen of the transcriber. On the eight fly-leaves miscellaneous verses, excerpted from various diwâns.

No. 3508, olim 7. J. 6, ff. 1-140, 2 coll., each ll. 15; careless Nasta'lik; occasionally various readings on the margin; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

1349

The same.

Another, tolerably old and good copy, undated. It is a little injured and effaced in several places. College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2321, ff. 122, 2 coll., each ll. 17; clear Nasta'lik; pictures on ff. 19^a, 34^b, 44^a, 46^b, 55^a, 63^b, 79^b, 83^a, 97^a, and 104^b; on other pages blanks are left, to be filled in with pictures afterwards; size, 8½ in. by 5 in.

1350

The same.

Good and correct copy, not dated.

No. 907, ff. 161, 2 coll., each ll. 13; distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; a few other illuminations; most of the headings written in gold, the text also sprinkled with gold; size, 9 in. by 6 in.

1351

The same.

No date. Collated throughout.

No. 3507, olim 7. J. 4, ff. 139, 2 coll., each ll. 15; large Nasta'lik; the last two leaves supplied later on modern paper; size, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{3}{8}$ in.

1352

The same.

No date. The first thirteen verses supplied by a later hand, on ff. 1 and 2. The original MS. begins on fol. 3^a. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2492, ff. 122, 2 coll., each ll. 17-18; Nasta'lik, mixed with Shikasta; size, 8 $\frac{3}{8}$ in. by 6 in.

1353

The same.

Modern transcript without date, by Ghulâm 'Alî; on fol. 1^a the following note: بمقابلۀ اصل رسيد و حتى

الوسع صحيح گرديد باهتمام احقر الانام غلام حسين الحسينى عفى عنه ربه المغنى.

1354

The same.

A rather uncouth and soiled copy, the original portion of which, on brown paper, begins on fol. 8^a, and ends on fol. 136^b. Ff. 1-7, 137-141, and fol. 64 are supplied by later hands on white paper. Collated. On ff. 1-7 a number of interlinear paraphrases.

No date. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2719, ff. 141, ll. 15 (in the original part); large Nasta'lik; size, 9 $\frac{3}{8}$ -9 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1355

A defective copy of the same.

Another very uncouth copy, soiled and injured in many places, with a lacuna of one leaf after fol. 134, comprising exactly p. 144 of Rosenzweig's edition. Occasionally various readings on the margin.

No date. Bibliotheca Leydeniana.

No. 2832, ff. 1-172, 2 coll., each ll. 12; Nasta'lik, ff. 1-3 and 171-172 added by other hands, the last three pages in Shikasta; size, 7 in. by 4 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

1356

A Pushtû translation of the same.

This Pushtû translation of Jâmi's Yûsuf and Zalikhâ begins:

عنايت رب په ماکړه - د اميد غنجه مې واکړه

Large extracts from this translation are given in Dorn, Chrestomathy of the Pushtû or Afghan language, ff. 104-283, corresponding with fol. 11^b, l. 4, to fol. 45, last line; fol. 46^b, first line, to fol. 64^b, l. 3; fol. 68^b, l. 6, to fol. 70, l. 6; fol. 88, last line, to fol. 107^b, l. 5; and fol. 157, l. 4, to fol. 159^b, l. 3; comp. also the preface, ibidem, p. xi.

No date.

No. 2818, ff. 169, 2 coll., each ll. 10-13; Nasta'lik; size, 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. by 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

1357

A collection of Jâmi's prose-works.

This large and beautifully written collection is introduced by a few preliminary lines, on ff. 2^b and 3^a, beginning: حمدى كه لوائح اشعة لمعات معرفتش دل گوشه نشينان الخ

1. تفسير سورة فاتحة الكتاب, a commentary on the first Sûrah of the Kurân, on fol. 3^b, beginning: بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم رب وفق بالانعام الحمد لله رب العالمين ومن الاولين الاقدمين الخ; see G. Flügel iii. p. 375, No. 8.

2. ترجمة منظومة چهل حديث. A paraphrase in Persian verses, of forty sayings of Muhammad, on fol. 10^a, beginning: صحيح ترين حديثى كه راويان مجالس دين الخ. It was composed A.H. 886 (A.D. 1481); see Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 20; No. 895, 14; and Rieu i. p. 17, and ii. p. 828, No. i.

3. رسالة مناسك حج, on the rites of the pilgrimage, on fol. 12^a, beginning: الحمد لله الذى جعل الكعبة البيت الحرام الخ. Composed A.H. 877 (A.D. 1472, 1473); see Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 26; No. 895, 16; and W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 166, No. 21.

4. رسالة در فاخر (or الدرّة الفاخرة), usually called رسالة, on the definition of Sûfism, on fol. 23^b, beginning: بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم ووبه الثقة الحمد لله الذى تجلّى بذاته لذاته الخ; see Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 25; No. 895, 15; G. Flügel iii. p. 409; H. Khalfa iii. p. 207, No. 4952.

5. رسالة وجيزه, with its full title: رسالة وجيزه, در تحقيق واثبات واجب الوجود, proof for and definition of the absolute, on fol. 30^b, beginning: الوجود اى ما الخ; بانضمام الى الماهيات الخ; see Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 24.

6. كتاب شواهد النبوة, the evidence of Muhammad's divine mission, on fol. 31^b, beginning: بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم الحمد لله الذى ارسل رسلاً الخ. It is divided into a مقدمة, seven ركن, and a خاتمه, and composed A.H. 885 (A.D. 1480); see H. Khalfa iv. p. 82, No. 7689; Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 4; No. 895, 2; Nos. 967 and 968; Rieu i. p. 146; W. 22. شرح کافیۀ نحو, an Arabic commentary on the kāfiyah of Ibn-al-ḥajjib (died A. H. 646 = A. D. 1248, 1249), usually styled الفوائد الصائبة, on fol. 538^b, beginning : الحمد لله و الصلوة على نبيه الخ. Composed A. H. 897 (A. D. 1492), see Bodleian Cat., No. 894, 2; and No. 970; G. Flügel i. p. 167; Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 158, No. 64; printed Calcutta, 1818, Constantinople, 1820; lithographed, Lucknow, as شرح ملام جامي, 1887; the glosses of Muḥarram Efendi to the first part of this commentary, entitled كتاب المحرم جامي حاشية جامي, were printed, Constantinople, A. H. 1226 (A. D. 1811); a حاشية شرح ملام جامي also appeared, Lucknow, 1879 and 1880. 'Abd-alghafūr al-Lâri's (see below in No. 1362) glosses to Jâmi's commentary are noticed in G. Flügel i. p. 21, and H. Khalfa v. p. 10.

The first treatise is dated A. H. 960 (A. D. 1553); the third, Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 968 (A. D. 1560, Nov.-Dec.); the sixth, the last of Muḥarram, A. H. 979 (A. D. 1571, June 24); the eighth, the 14th of Rajab, A. H. 980 (A. D. 1572, Nov. 20); the fourteenth, the 7th of Rabi'-alawwal, A. H. 968 (? perhaps 986?).

No. 842, ff. 613, ll. 27; beautiful Nasta'lik; two splendid vignettes with the titles of all the treatises on ff. 1^b and 2^a; ff. 2^b and 3^a most brilliantly illuminated; illuminated headings at the beginning of each treatise; excellent eastern binding; size, 14 in. by 9 in.

1358

Three prose-treatises by Jâmi.

This copy contains:

1. On fol. 79^b: لوامع مولوى جامي در شرح قصيدة خمرية فارسية, the same commentary on Ibn al-Fārid's 'wine-qaṣidah' as in No. 16 of the preceding copy.

2. On fol. 122^b: لوائح مولوى جامي, see No. 15 in the preceding copy. Beginning: لا احصى ثناء عليك الخ.

3. On fol. 141^b: شرح رباعيات مولوى جامي, see No. 12 in the preceding copy.

Dated the 22nd of Jumādā-althāni, A. H. 1176 (A. D. 1763, Jan. 8).

No. 1234, ff. 79-175, ll. 18; Naskhi; size, 8 in. by 4½ in.

Nafahāt-aluns.

Another very excellent and useful copy of Jâmi's famous 'biographies of Sūfis' (see No. 8 in the collection of Jâmi's prose works, No. 1357 above), with valuable marginal glosses and a complete index in alphabetical order, on ff. 443^b-453^a. This is not the oldest, but the richest copy in the India Office Collection, the number of biographies here amounting to 620. It is not dated, but on fol. 1^a there are entries from A. H. 1162 (A. D. 1749), A. H. 1183 (A. D. 1769, 1770), and A. H. 1196 (A. D. 1782). Beginning as usual.

No. 2082, ff. 453, ll. 15; splendid Nasta'lik, small but very distinct; illuminated frontispiece; size, 8½ in. by 5 in.

1360

The same.

A third very full and complete copy, containing, like the one in No. 1357 above, 612 biographies (578 men and 34 women), with copious marginal glosses and additions. There is inserted between the fly-leaves a double index, the first following the order of the biographies in the text, the second arranged alphabetically like that in the preceding copy.

No date.

No. 3118, ff. 419, ll. 15; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; worm-eaten throughout; size, 10½ in. by 5½ in.

1361

The same.

A fourth excellent copy, containing 611 biographies according to the detailed index on ff. 1^b-9^b, with very large additions and highly useful notes and explanations on the margin. Beginning of the text on fol. 10^b.

Dated in Jumādā-althāni, A. H. 1023 (A. D. 1614, July-August), by Khwājah Tāhir bin Khwājah Darwish alḥisāri.

No. 1412, ff. 298, ll. 21; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; the last pages a little damaged by worms; illuminated frontispiece; size, 10½ in. by 7 in.

1362

The same.

A fifth excellent copy of the Nafahāt-aluns, older than the preceding ones, but without a full index, dated Rabi'-althāni, A. H. 990 (A. D. 1582, April-May), collated by the same hand which wrote the text, and annotated according to a note at the end of the MS. by another hand in A. H. 1042 (A. D. 1632, 1633). These notes, which cover the margin to a great extent, are taken from the حواشى غفورية or the تفحات الأنس. That is the commentary compiled by 'Abd-alghafūr al-Lâri, Jâmi's disciple, who died A. H. 912 (A. D. 1506, 1507), see Bodleian Cat., No. 960; Rieu i. p. 350 sq.

Ff. 1^b-3^b contain the fragment of an index to the Nafahāt-aluns, only going as far as fol. 104^a (101).

No. 3097, ff. 566, ll. 15; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 7½ in. by 4½ in.

1363

The same.

A sixth excellent and well written copy, also containing 611 biographies, but no index at all.

Not dated. College of Fort William, 1825.

No. 2160, ff. 400, ll. 18; clear and distinct Nasta'lik; illuminated frontispiece; size, 9½ in. by 5½ in.

1364

The same.

This copy contains, according to the index on ff. 1-16, like No. 1360 above, 612 biographies (not 645, as is stated by mistake at the end of the index), but the last page is missing, and several leaves are slightly injured, others rather effaced. Beginning of the text on fol. 17^b.

No date. Collated.

No. 1880, ff. 334, ll. 19; Naskhi; ff. 1-16, 33-43, 144-146, and 333 supplied by other hands in Nasta'lik and Shikasta; ll. 16-19; size, 8 in. by 5½ in.

1365

The same.

This otherwise excellent and annotated copy is much smaller than the preceding ones, and contains only 597 biographies; many marginal glosses and additions; all the Arabic quotations are translated into Persian.

Dated A.H. 1065 (A.D. 1654, 1655). Some leaves are misplaced; the right order of ff. 123-126 is: 123, 125, 124, 126; and of ff. 130-135: 130, 134^b, 134^a, 132, 133, 131^b, 131^a, 135.

No. 394, ff. 286, ll. 25; Nasta'lik; size, 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1366

The same.

This copy is the oldest of all, dated the 8th of Rabi'-althâui, A.H. 987 (A.D. 1579, June 4), but it contains only 549 biographies, and has no index; besides on ff. 46-50 all the names are omitted. Partly collated. On ff. 1^a and 1^b a double repetition of the first twelve or thirteen lines of the preface, which begins on fol. 2^b.

No. 946, ff. 406, ll. 17-18; Nasta'lik; irregularly written by different hands; size, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 4 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.

A very defective copy of the same.

An incomplete copy of the Nafahât, which breaks off on fol. 355^b at the end of the biography of تلميذة سري سقطي (a female disciple of Sari Sakati), corresponding to No. 1412 (1361 in this Cat.), fol. 292^a, l. 3 ab infra. There are besides a great number of lacunas, usually marked by blank leaves, viz. fol. 267 (comprising ff. 210^a, l. 1 to 210^b, l. 14 in No. 1412), ff. 270 and 271 (comprising ff. 212^a, last line, to 213^a, l. 13 in the same copy), fol. 280 (comprising ff. 219^b, l. 13, to 220^b, l. 3 in the same copy), ff. 284 and 285 (comprising ff. 222^b, last line, to 224^b, l. 4 in the same copy), after fol. 301 (without a blank leaf, comprising ff. 238^a, l. 6 ab infra, to 240^b, l. 7 ab infra in the same copy), after fol. 307 (likewise without a blank leaf, comprising ff. 245^a, lin. penult., to 246^a, l. 7 in the same copy), and fol. 354 (the largest of all lacunas, comprising ff. 277^b, l. 7, to 291^b, l. 7 in No. 1412). Ff. 326-328 must besides be inserted after fol. 288. Parts of several pages are torn away, others are injured by worms.

No. 1597, ff. 355, ll. 17; Nasta'lik; ff. 1, 3-6, 88, 160, 161, 168, 210, 244, and 245 supplied by a later hand; size, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. by 4 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.
